

TARIFF REVISION GOES THRU HOUSE AT 2 O'CLOCK TODAY

Final Vote on the Measure Last Night Was Blocked by a Republican Parliamentary Trick.

LAST HOURS OF DEBATE PACKED THE GALLERIES

Party Leaders Hurling Their Defies Across the Chamber. Speaker Clark Spoke Last Words for the Measure.

Washington, May 7.—After all of the fireworks preparatory to passage of the Underwood bill in the house had been set off, a republican parliamentary maneuver blocked progress by the democratic majority, and the house was forced to adjourn until tomorrow with the bill still pending.

When the valedictory speeches on the floor had been delivered and crowded floor and galleries were prepared for the final action, Republican Leader Underwood moved that the house adjourn until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the vote on the bill will be taken.

Amended Income Tax Section.—In the closing hours of the session the ways and means committee amended the income tax section of the bill so as to exempt from its provisions the citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Party leaders, primed for the final political thrust of the tariff debate, hurled their defies across the chamber with alternating currents of applause reverberating through the chamber.

When the echoes of approving cheers had died away after the defeat of the last republican amendment, while the house was in the company of the whole, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, turned the gavel over to Speaker Clark.

Majority Leader Underwood and moved its passage. Debate on this motion was being hastened as rapidly as possible, with prospect of a roll call about midnight.

Prior to the vote on the last amendment, Minority Leader Mann and Speaker Clark were given rousing orations.

With an overwhelming democratic majority on hand to send the bill on its way to the senate, the republican right wing, by an exuberant spirit to triumph on the democratic side of the center aisle.

GAIN OF $250,000 IN CITY'S INCOME

"Atlanta Will Have a Nice Income to Fall Back Upon in June," Says Tax Commissioner Chas. W. Smith.

REJECTION OF HARDY OCCASIONS SURPRISE

Bel Will Try to Get Wilson to Reconsider—Hardy Was Strongly Opposed by E. T. Brown, of Atlanta.

The city's increase in income available when the June apportionment is made up by the finance committee, will be $250,000.

Chairman Charles W. Smith, of the tax committee, has already been assured an addition of $250,000 to the city's income from the tax assessor's report showing that up to the present time the income from real and personal assessments nearly reached $185,000.

Tax assessments on banks have increased $1,000,000 this year, according to an unofficial statement made in response to reports which have gained circulation around the city hall.

The increase is the largest ever imposed on Atlanta banks in one year. At the tax rate of $1.25 per $100, or .125 per cent, the increase gives the city an additional $125,000.

The increase in personal assessments will exceed $3,500,000, and realty assessments, according to authentic sources, will exceed $11,500,000, bringing the grand total up to $15,000,000.

Tax Chairman Smith told The Constitution that he was working out his plans for equalizing tax rates in Atlanta. He explained that he had asked for and had received a statement from the tax assessors in order that he might start the committee right before making plans for the June budget.

Chairman Smith was recently appointed chairman of the committee by Mayor Underwood. He took the place vacated by Alderman John E. McClellan, who has been relieved of most of his committee assignments because of ill health.

Chairman Smith said that he was in conflict with work on the tax committee. Councilman Smith has resigned from the claims, ordinance and library committees. Mayor Woodward believes that the tax equalization scheme will require most of Councilman Smith's time.

MRS. LONGSTREET LOSES HER OFFICE; MRS. HAM NAMED

Nomination of Mrs. Ham Also a Defeat for Editor Hardy, Who Was Backed by Congressman Tom Bell.

Mrs. N. P. Powell Secures an Order Restraining the Police From Carrying Out Threats.

Washington, May 7.—(Special.)—Representative Thomas M. Bell's nomination of A. S. Hardy, editor of The Gainesville Eagle, to be postmaster at Gainesville, was today turned down and President Wilson sent in the name of Mrs. H. W. J. Ham, widow of "Snollygoster" Ham, to succeed Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet.

The rejection of Mr. Bell's nominee has caused the liveliest interest here, not only among Georgians in congress, but representatives from other states. They are all up in the air tonight and don't know what it means or where they will come out.

The question now is who is going to name postmasters, representatives in congress, senators, Postmaster General Burleson or the president?

In the list of 200 postmaster nominations sent in today by the president there were several which had not been chosen by the representatives who are presumed to have the selection.

Nobody is willing to talk as yet, as all hope is to be able to get the postmaster general and the president to reconsider the action in the cases which they opposed. Whether Mr. Burleson or President Wilson is responsible for disregarding their wishes they are unwilling to venture a guess.

Mr. Bell had an appointment with President Wilson for tomorrow morning to discuss the Gainesville office and the opposition to Mr. Hardy. He will still fill the engagement and details of the discussion in this matter until he has talked with the president.

Representative Bell said he had the assurance of Senator Hoke Smith that he would offer no objection to Mr. Hardy, although the latter was not his supporter and did not support President Wilson in the next presidential campaign. He went to Senator Smith today and was told by the latter that the nomination caused him great surprise, as he was not looking for it for several days.

Senator Smith would not discuss the nomination when asked about it by The Constitution's representative further than to say he was surprised. While disclaiming any responsibility for the Hardy nomination, he said he had told Mr. Bell he would offer no objection to it.

The Shadow of a Coming Event

Mrs. N. P. Powell Secures an Order Restraining the Police From Carrying Out Threats.

Declaring that she had been given orders to vacate her home at 95 Spring street or be ejected by the police, and that such orders resulted from her refusal to accede to improper advances made to her by Kirke, a detective-policeman, or other employee of the city, Mrs. N. P. Powell secured from Judge George L. Bell, of superior court, yesterday an order temporarily restraining the city and the police from carrying out their alleged threats.

The case in which highly damaging claims are made against the police department was set for a hearing on May 19.

Mrs. Powell, in her suit filed by Attorneys Gober and Jackson, states that on January 15, 1913, Kirke, whose first name she says she does not know, but whom she claims is employed as a policeman or detective or in a similar capacity by the city, came to her house while her husband was away and made proposals to her which she rejected.

Upon this the man grew enraged, so the petition states, declared that he would have her arrested every night until he could break her up.

Letters and telegrams have been sent to senators, democrats and republicans, and resolutions from Confederate Veterans camps have poured in upon congress in her behalf.

She has charged that a water power trust existed in Georgia which was attempting to oust her from office as revenge for her work in wrestling Tallulah falls from their control.

Boy Dies of Wound But Fails To Tell How He Was Hurt

Parents of Carl Bartlett Believe That He Received Fatal Injury at Hands of Another Youth.

Mystery surrounds the death of Carl Bartlett, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Bartlett, of Forest Park, who died yesterday morning at Wesley Memorial hospital while being operated upon for a fractured skull supposed to have been sustained about ten days ago.

The parents say that they believe that he was struck in the head with a soda bottle by another boy April 26. All efforts to find the boy who struck him, however, have failed.

Dr. Frank Boland, who was called in to perform the operation, is not inclined to believe that the blow was inflicted by a bottle.

Case Enveloped in Mystery.—"It did not look that way to me," he told a reporter for The Constitution shortly after the operation. "I do not understand at all how the base of the skull could have been fractured in the way that it was with a bottle."

The body was removed to the Hemphill undertaking establishment. The funeral will be conducted at the residence at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment will be at Forest Park cemetery.

The boy is survived by two brothers and three sisters, besides the father and mother.

TAMMANY'S FOE NAMED BY WILSON

John Purroy Mitchell, Opponent of Murphy, Nominated New York Collector—Suits O'Gorman and McAdoo.

Washington, May 7.—President Wilson went to the capitol today for the fourth time and after an hour of conference with a score of senators came away wearing a happy smile at having cleared up to his own satisfaction a number of troublesome situations that had arisen over appointments.

In New York and Kentucky factions of the democratic party for several weeks had carried their fights on appointment to the white house. By the nomination of John Purroy Mitchell to be collector of the port of New York the president satisfied Senator O'Gorman as well as anti-Tammany democrats here who look upon Mr. Mitchell as an aggressive opponent of the Tammany organization.

In Kentucky the president stood by Ben Marshall to be collector of internal revenue for the seventh district of Kentucky. A vigorous contest had been waged by former Governor Beckham, who supported for the place Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, a cousin of the assistant secretary of war, Henry C. Breckinridge. The selection of his chief brought keen satisfaction to Senator James.

The nomination of Gaylord M. Saltgaber to be commissioner of pensions ended a long contest in which petitions and political pressure was exerted from many sides on the president.

Mr. Mitchell, named to succeed William Loeb, Jr., as collector of the port of New York, is an independent democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York city.

This selection brought out the white house termed "a happy solution" to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months.

STAINS OF BLOOD ON SHIRT FRESH, SAYS DR. SMITH

City Bacteriologist Makes His Report After Examination of Garment of Negro Which Was Found in Trash Barrel

LEE'S CELLMATE MAY TESTIFY AT INQUEST

Witness Spent 24 Hours in Same Cell With Phagan Prisoner—Body of Girl Exhumed for Second Time.

DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS IN PHAGAN MYSTERY

Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, completes examination of negro's blood-stained shirt, and finds that the blood stains are new.

Body of Mary Phagan was exhumed shortly after noon on Wednesday for the purpose of making a second examination.

Mrs. Mattie Smith, wife of one of the mechanics who were last men to leave pencil factory, tells detectives that shortly before 1 o'clock, when she left building, she saw strange negro near elevator.

Bill Bailey, negro convict who was placed in cell with Newt Lee for twenty-four hours, now at liberty, and was probably be called upon at inquest today to testify.

Leo Frank will be placed upon the stand again today at 9:30 o'clock, when the coroner's inquest is resumed.

Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey holds a long conference in cell with Newt Lee, but declines to tell what passed.

Detectives announce they are searching for a Greek, who is now believed to be in Alabama.

Chief Lanford declares that somebody is blocking Phagan investigation, silencing witnesses, and "planting" evidence.

The report of Dr. Claude A. Smith's analysis of the bloodstains on the shirt found in the home of Newt Lee, who is held in connection with the Mary Phagan murder, has been submitted to the detective department. It reveals that the stains were caused by human blood, not more than a month old.

The report is brief. The examination was thorough, but no comparison was made with the stains on the garment and with other stains. The only specimen possessed by Dr. Smith beside the shirt were small shavings, flecked with blood, which were clipped from the flooring at the spot near the machine, where the girl is supposed to have received her death blow.

ALASKA IS INJURED BY DELAY OF CONGRESS

Washington, May 7.—"Responsibility for the condition of Alaska squarely on the shoulders of congress and no place else," declared former Secretary of the Interior Fisher today before the senate territories committee.

The necessity for legislation to open up the territory has been pointed out time after time," continued Mr. Fisher, "but nothing whatever has been done."

GAME COLUMBUS WON MAY BE THROWN OUT

Charleston, S. C., May 7.—The game which Columbus won from Charleston Tuesday by the score of 7 to 2 may be thrown out as Manager Needham has wired President Corliss that he protests the game on ruling made by umpire Barr who declared Ridgeway out under the latter and ruled that Hurley third, in the ninth inning, after Fox purposely allowed Ridgeway's high fly to drop safe. Fox was trying a trick play, but owing to a bad bounce of the ball it failed. No one but at the time, and it was his aim to make a double play. Fox and the Columbus players rushed at the umpire and claimed an infield fly. Barr in confusion declared Ridgeway out, but allowed Hurley to remain on third.

ship were impossible because of the rain. Dr. Smith said to a reporter for The Constitution that he had not been given the bloody garments which Mary Phagan wore to the factory for the purpose of comparison. The shirt has been returned to police headquarters. It will be used in the inquest today.

When the negro was confronted with the tall-tale garment Tuesday a week ago he admitted its ownership, but said he had never worn it. He declared, for two years. He said it was not bloody when he discarded it in 1911. Lee said he knew no manner in which the stains could have been made.

Shirt Found In Trash Barrel.

The shirt was found by Detective Scott and Black in the bottom of a barrel filled with trash, which stood in the back yard of Lee's home on Henry street. The sleuths never would tell the crew which led them to search for it.

Dr. Smith states that his inspection revealed the fact that the garment was not being worn when the stains were made. It had been used to mop up the blood, he said, and could not possibly have been worn at the time. He could not determine whether or not the blood was that of a white person or a negro.

He will probably be summoned to testify at the inquest.

Mary Phagan's body was exhumed shortly after noon Wednesday. Profound secrecy surrounds the action and it probably will not be known until the inquest today why the disinterment was made. Dr. H. P. Harris of the state board of health, was the only official at the graveside in the Marietta cemetery when the corpse was unearthed.

Body Exhumed For Last Time.

After an examination lasting two hours the body was again buried and, according to a responsible report, some organ removed and brought by Dr. Harris to Atlanta. When the body was reburied it was consigned forever to its last resting place. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the dead girl's parents, objected so strenuously to further exhumations that it will never be removed again.

Until late at night Dr. Harris labored in the hope of removing the capitol over the examination. He was reached by a reporter shortly after 10 o'clock.

"I am pledged to secrecy," he said. "It was under the condition that I make public nothing whatever pertaining to the examination that I was selected for the work. I cannot disclose the object of the analysis or its nature until allowed to do so by Solicitor Dorsey."

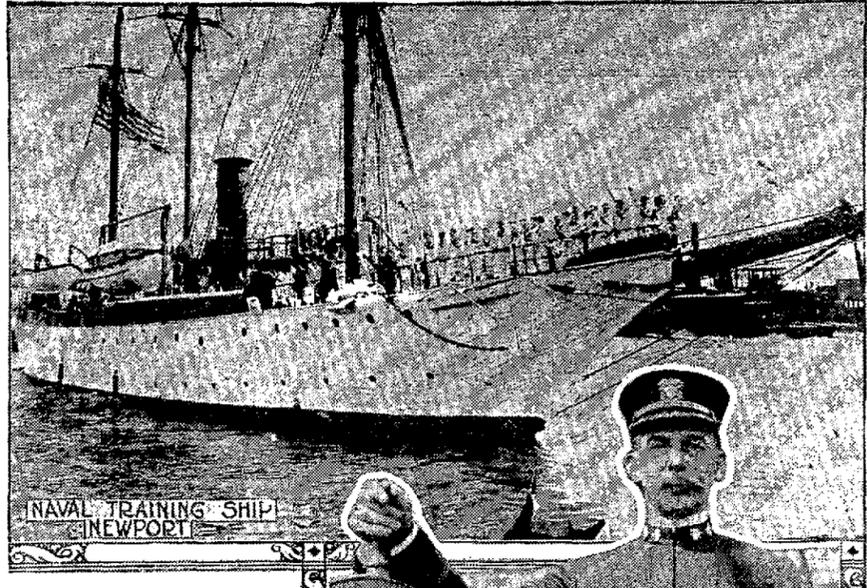

Solicitor Dorsey said about 9:30 o'clock that he was not prepared to talk of the exhumation. He admitted, however, requesting Coroner Doneho and Dr. Harris to remove the body and make certain examinations which he expected to result in new and valuable evidence.

Reliable reports are to the effect that one motive of the disinterment was for the purpose of obtaining some hair from the victim's head with which to compare the strands found on the latching machine in the pencil factory.

Another rumor is that a chart was made of the cuts and bruises on the face and body and that photographic plates were made of the finger prints on the throat.

No one outside the solicitor's staff, Dr. Hurl, Dr. Harris and Coroner Doneho are aware of the motive for NAVAL TRAINING SHIP NEWPORT. The naval training ship Newport, under command of Captain B. H. Tillman, U. S. N., is on its annual cruise. Half-fax was scheduled for the first stop. Then it was planned to go to Bermuda. The ship is chartered yearly by the New York board of education to enable young men to learn to become sailors. Last year she went to England and then took her amateur sailors to Stockholm to see the Olympic games. Secretary of the Navy Daniels believes in the policy of encouraging young men to learn practical seamanship, and it is likely that other big coast cities will be thus aided by the government.

the exhumation. Even Chief Lanford and the Pinkerton men expressed their lack of knowledge. They have not been taken into the confidence of the officials supervising the mysterious move.

His Work Hampered Says Lanford.

Accusing mysterious forces of blocking his work, Chief Lanford said Wednesday that the work of investigation is being seriously hampered. In many instances, he declared, his men have been refused evidence which they sought, and had encountered a number of prospective witnesses, who refused to divulge the information it was believed they could give.

"I cannot account for the situation," he told a reporter for The Constitution. "We are being sorely handicapped. Not only are we being opposed, but, as has been shown many times, evidence is being planted. We have discovered numerous signs of plants in the past few days, and are not surprised at any 'frame up'."

The chief also hinted that arrests would probably result from the discovery of planted evidence. A number of men have been detailed to run down clues pointing to guilty persons. They are finding their task a baffling one. Although he would say but little, Chief Lanford also hinted of efforts he had made to frustrate the work of the detective department. "It seems that we are being opposed," he said.

Lee's Cellmate May Testify.

Imprisoned for twenty-four hours in the same cell with Newt Lee, this nightwatchman suspect in the Mary Phagan mystery, Bill Bailey, an ex-convict, will probably be called to the stand in the coroner's inquest this morning to testify to certain admissions he is believed to have got from the negro.

Bailey is a negro youth, apparently 20 years old. He served eight years in the Fulton chain gang on a charge of shooting, during which time he was bunkmate of the suspected watchman. Lee was serving sentence at that time on a charge of gambling.

The negroes were intimate friends. Bailey is working with J. Mayo, Sewell days ago Mr. Mayo brought him to police headquarters and conferred with Chief Lanford on a plan to imprison the two ex-convicts. Monday night Bailey was sent to the Tower and locked in Lee's cell.

He was released twenty-four hours later. Chief Lanford nor any of his detectives will disclose the result of the scheme, but it is freely rumored around headquarters that the Bailey negro succeeded in obtaining valuable evidence, which he is expected to deliver at the inquest.

Did Negro Write Notes?

After minute examination of the mysterious notes found beside the body on the morning of discovery, A. M. Richardson, inspector of service with the Adams and Southern Express companies, told a reporter for The Constitution yesterday morning that he was fully convinced that the negro nightwatchman did not write them.

"They were written by a white man," he said, "and an educated man at that. The letters are formed too expertly, and adhere too closely to the ruling of the paper on which they were written. In my opinion, they were written by the murderer, a shrewd man, with intention of reflecting guilt upon an illiterate negro."

Mr. Richardson has made a lifetime study of handwriting. He is thoroughly acquainted with detective methods and operations and has taken a decided interest in the Phagan mystery. Most of his investigation in the case has been concentrated upon the notes. He hopes to trace their origin by means of comparing suspected script under strong microscopic examination.

New Witnesses Summoned.

Another new witness summoned yesterday for the inquest this morning was Miss Grace Hicks, of 100 McDonough road, an intimate acquaintance of the murdered girl, and the woman who identified the body before it had been removed from the cellar of the pencil factory.

The sleuths will not disclose the character of the testimony she will be expected to render. She stated to reporters, however, that she held out evidence and that the last time she saw the girl of tragedy alive, was on the Monday preceding her death, when she left the pencil plant.

Miss Hicks was called for an hour Wednesday morning in the office of Chief Lanford. She operated a tipping machine adjoining the machine operated by the Phagan girl. She came at 6 o'clock Sunday morning in answer to summons to the factory building. The moment the tragic face of the slain girl was revealed in the dim, flickering light of the watchman's lantern, she exclaimed:

"That's Mary Phagan—Oh, my God!" falling into a swoon in the arms of her brother-in-law, Boots Rogers.

TEACHERS TO TESTIFY IN THE HEETER CASE

Pittsburg, Pa., May 7.—The 2,000 teachers in the Pittsburg public schools are to be asked to appear before a committee of the board of education to investigate charges of alleged immorality against S. L. Heeter, superintendent of the city's public school system.

Chief Lanford stated that when city detectives following clues they had obtained from girls of the factory, sought to interview him, they found him missing. Later, it was reported that he was in Anderson, Va., in which city Pinkerton men are making a search. He was employed as a waiter at the cafe, and had been in America for a good many years. The officers will not give his name.

The theory on which suspicion is directed toward the Greek, is that the girl was murdered on the outside of the factory building, probably in the alley way facing Madison avenue, and that her body was carried down the basement through the rear door which was broken open.

Walking Arm in Arm.

(From The New York Evening Sun.)

Another burning question has come up for solution. Paris and London are wrangling their brows and looking thoughtful. And the important matter which demands their close attention is this: Shall a man and woman walk through our public thoroughfares arm in arm? Truly, a serious question, one not to be treated too lightly!

When our grandmothers were young—perhaps in our mothers' youth, too—it was the custom for the timid, trusting, trusting, trusting, trusting, trusting hand upon her escort's arm whenever she ventured abroad. She really didn't need her hands for anything other than to handle her commodious silk bag holding handkerchiefs, keys, and powder puff and mirror, too—hung by dainty ribbons from her arm.

Nowadays the custom is rapidly dying out. Women have too many other uses for their hands. There is the smart little hand bag to be held, the valise case which the twentieth century woman carries so openly, the dog's leash, and, perhaps, a handful of Votes for Women lead.

The woman of today can't spare one of her two busy hands to lay gently upon a strong masculine arm, unless she is walking in a church aisle at a wedding or making slow dignified progress along the receiving line at a reception.

In London and Paris the walking arm in arm question may be one of propriety; here in America there seems to be little or no question about it; the custom as such seems to be dying a natural death. Not that men, even in these crowded subway days, are losing all ideas of chivalry. No, indeed, but instead of bowing low and graciously offering his arm, as in our grandmothers' days, when about to cross a busy street, he will walk, the manly comrade, of today, so calmly at her side without such a thought until the street crossing is reached, when he grasps her firmly by the elbow or upper arm and steers "plucky" her to the other side. Seldom in these days do we see the old-fashioned "happy pairs" strolling down the avenue arm in arm, but when we do, doesn't one word pop into our heads and bring a smile of sympathy to our lips?

London may long for the lady of "one arm" timidity who prefers to walk with her hand on her escort's arm; Paris may disapprove of the custom except for father and daughter—or the country—as they say; but Germany, judging from a recent picture of the Kaiser's daughter, Princess and her fiancé, not to mention the queen at all. The lovers hold hands and walk arm in arm in public with utmost unconcern. Just because they are lovers.

Why You Sink in Water.

(Outing.)

The non-swimmer, leaving the water, very naturally tenses his muscles as he struggles to keep his head above the water, until he is as hard as a rock, and like a rock he sinks. Whereas the swimmer, having by the sure laxes his muscles, and hence becomes buoyant. The explanation is a simple physical one. Tense, taut muscles increase the specific gravity of the body and make it sink in water. Loose, relaxed muscles, given an ordinary supply of air in the lungs, will make the body float.

FRANK WILL TAKE STAND AT INQUEST

Mrs. Mattie White Tells Details That on Afternoon of Killing She Saw Negro in Factory.

Leo M. Frank will probably be the first witness to take the stand in the Mary Phagan murder inquest to be resumed this morning at 9:30 o'clock in police headquarters. He will be examined separately alone, the chief, neither the chief of detectives, coroner nor solicitor general will disclose.

He was resting comfortably at midnight, and, according to reports, he is in fit condition to undergo the ordeal. In the first interrogation to which he was subjected, he was on the stand for a trifle more than an hour. It is not thought that the examination today will last that long.

Headquarters was given a surprise yesterday afternoon with the report brought back by Detective Rosser and Haslett, who were sent early in the afternoon to interview Mrs. Mattie White, wife of Arthur White, the mechanic who was in the pencil factory during the time Mary Phagan entered the building to draw her pay envelope.

Saw Negro in Factory.

Mrs. White stated that she went to the plant to see her husband shortly before 10 o'clock and that as she came downstairs a few minutes later, she noticed a stalwart, black negro, sitting on a box on the first floor only a few feet from the shadow of the staircase, and was almost out of view.

This is the first time she has told of seeing the negro. It also is the first time it has been revealed that a negro was in the building between the hours of 12 noon and 1 o'clock, the fatal afternoon. Mrs. White told the sleuths that she did not recollect the incident at first.

Her statement was written and placed on record at headquarters. She will be summoned to the inquest. Her residence is at 58 Bonnie Brae avenue, where she has resided several years.

"The negro was a big man," she said to Haslett and Rosser, "and was apparently too well-dressed to be a workman. He was sitting on a box in the shadows of the staircase, and I noticed him as I stepped into the shaft. I thought nothing of his presence, and hurried on out of the building. I don't know whether or not I will be able to identify him. I possibly could, though."

Searching for Greek.

Detectives are searching for a young Greek, who is supposed to have disappeared the day the body was covered. It was an attaché of the cafe adjoining the pencil factory, a popular establishment with girl employees of the plant, at which many of whom ate their lunches.

Chief Lanford stated that when city detectives following clues they had obtained from girls of the factory, sought to interview him, they found him missing. Later, it was reported that he was in Anderson, Va., in which city Pinkerton men are making a search. He was employed as a waiter at the cafe, and had been in America for a good many years. The officers will not give his name.

The theory on which suspicion is directed toward the Greek, is that the girl was murdered on the outside of the factory building, probably in the alley way facing Madison avenue, and that her body was carried down the basement through the rear door which was broken open.

The bursting of the door would have been an easy matter, as the staple door has been taken care of by the detectives, with the fingers.

It is advanced, too, that the slayer was in love with his victim, and that the deed was inspired by insane jealousy.

Added energy was injected into the search for the missing Greek at dusk Wednesday, when W. T. Hunter, a youth living at 350 Grant street, came to police headquarters and told Chief Lanford a story of a scene he had witnessed at 3:30 o'clock on the Sunday morning the body was found.

Hunter told of the appearance of three Greeks in a club at Broad and Hunter streets at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning of the discovery. One of the trio, he said, carried a mysterious package under his arm, which contained clothing and shoes, upon entering the club, went into the wash-room, where they cleaned their faces and hands. Detectives have been detailed to look for the three Greeks answering Hunter's descriptions.

Dorsey Talks With Lee.

Solicitor General Dorsey held a lengthy interview with Newt Lee in the Tower Wednesday afternoon. It was the first opportunity he had gained to talk with the suspect. He would not divulge the result nor tell of the lines along which the negro was questioned, immediately after leaving the jail. Mr. Dorsey hurried away in an automobile.

The negro watchman, Chief Lanford says, will also go on the stand today. It will be the second examination: He will be questioned more closely regarding his private interview held with him by Frank Tuesday, a week ago, when both were allowed to talk in the privacy of the negro's cell.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL WANTED FOR TOBACCO

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—Tobacco growers of eight states at a meeting here tonight, indorsed a plan looking to government control of the purchase, sale, manufacture and handling of tobacco.

All indorsed by the growers and to be presented by Representative Glass, of Virginia, at the next session of congress provides for the immediate creation of a bureau of tobacco industry, subordinate to the treasury department, empowered to purchase, the equipment and plant of any persons or corporations now engaged in the purchase, handling, manufacture or sale of tobacco. After July 1, 1913, bill states, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in these branches of the industry except "as the duly appointed special officer of the United States government." A fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for from one to ten years is provided for violators of this provision.

The meeting today was called by officers of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of Kentucky to perfect a national selling system. This matter was referred to a committee which will report to the nation of the various states. States represented at today's meeting were Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, Nebraska and Georgia.

Mitchell by telegraph, however, to accept the collectorship and he did so. Wilson wires Mitchell.

The president sent this telegram to Mr. Mitchell:

"I am with great pleasure sending to the senate this afternoon your name as collector of the port of New York, a sincerely trust you will serve the public interest by accepting the appointment."

The nominations sent to the senate by the president follow:

Commissioner of pensions—Gaylord M. Saltzgeber, of Ohio.

Ambassador to Japan—George W. Guthrie, of Pennsylvania.

Congress for the district of Georgetown, S. C.; Frederick C. Peters, of South Carolina, for the district of Charleston.

Collector of Customs for Port of New York—John Purroy Mitchell.

Collector of Internal Revenue for the Seventh Kentucky District—Ben Marshall.

In a four-minute executive session tonight the senate referred the name of George W. Guthrie, democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania, and former mayor of Pittsburgh, as ambassador to Japan, to the foreign relations committee. Chairman Bacon is expected to call a meeting of the committee at once to report Mr. Guthrie's nomination and it was believed tonight it would be confirmed in short order.

Change of Name Opposed.

Charleston, S. C., May 7.—At its session today in Grace church, the Episcopal Diocesan council, of South Carolina, went on record against any change in the name of the church by the triennial general convention to be held in New York city. Four clerical and four lay deputies to the general convention were elected. They were not specifically instructed, but the council's action will probably influence their votes. The council will adjourn tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Abner McKinley Allen.

Tampa, Fla., May 7.—News was received here today of the death of Mrs. Abner McKinley Allen, former wife of Abner McKinley, the dead president's brother, at Mount Vernon, N. Y. Mrs. Allen was the widow of Captain W. A. Allen, former captain of the steamship Oliveette. The remains will be carried to Somerset, Pa. for interment.

Minimum Wage Bill.

Sacramento, Cal., May 7.—A minimum wage bill providing for an industrial welfare commission with full power to fix wages for women at a rate that will cover "the necessary cost of proper living" was passed by the state senate today, 26 to 8, and goes to the governor for his signature. This was one of the measures advocated by Governor Johnson, who has announced he would sign it at once.

WOMEN USE BOMB ON A CATHEDRAL

Attempt to Wreck St. Paul's in London—Bomb Found Under Chair by the Throne of the Bishop.

London, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the cathedral of St. Paul's, London, by a bomb early today is attributed to militant suffragettes. The verger who conducts sightseers through the massive edifice was making his rounds at about 8 o'clock this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar.

More Bombs Found. Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral the police found a similar bomb-like package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street and a tin canister believed to contain explosives was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

The dean conducted the song service near the bishop's throne last evening, but he noticed he had not noticed the package or heard the ticking. Plain clothes policemen have been on duty in St. Paul's for several weeks for the express purpose of preventing any such explosion.

AIRSHIPS TO AID MEXICAN REBELS

Aeroplanes Will Be Used to Drop Bombs on Guaymas Today—The Airships Were Smuggled Across Border.

Nogales, Ariz., May 7.—In the expectation of the assistance of aeroplanes, state troops are mobilizing tonight before Guaymas in greater numbers than ever. A train arrived from the Cananea district with 400 men, artillery and much needed rifle ammunition. The men of the state troops lines below Ortiz are being deployed into advancing formation.

The effect of the new flying machines is expected to affect the value of the Mexican gunboat Guerrero which lies in Guaymas harbor ready to assist the federal garrison. Passengers arriving here tonight reported that the federal advance was only a few miles north of Empalme.

Major Fleming, of the United States border patrol, tonight sent out a detachment of cavalry along the line to the west on a report that an effort was being made to smuggle over the missing aeroplane by wagon.

The aeroplane expedition is reported to be arranged by a promoter with the assistance of a Los Angeles aviator of well-known fame. The guaranteed pay for the aerial expedition is said to be $15,000.

The aeroplane sought was shipped from Los Angeles arriving last night at a desert station 20 miles of Tucson where it was delivered to unidentified persons and taken away in a wagon. Since then the military and deputy sheriffs have been unable to locate it.

It is reported that the intention was to fly over the border. American aviators and mechanics having been ready on the ground when the machine arrived. How the second machine was smuggled over is not known.

It is said that high explosive shells have been secured which the aviator could drop over the heads of the government troops.

American Arms for Huertistas.

Washington, May 7.—The United States will continue the policy adopted in the last administration of permitting the shipment of arms from this country into Mexico for use by the Huertista government, provided officials here are sure such arms will not fall into the hands of rebels.

This became known at the state department today when inquiry was made as to what action was proposed on the claim made in New Orleans by Ernesto Fernandez Artega, representative of the constitutionalists, that Huertista is not entitled to immunities under the American neutrality laws which are not afforded the constitutionalist government he represents.

His protest against the shipment of 2,000 more rifles and 3,000,000 cartridges to Mexico on a vessel now at New Orleans has not yet reached the state department. His receipt will cause no change in policy on the part of the present administration.

Many arrests for violations of neutrality laws of the United States by shipments of munitions of war to revolutionists in Mexico are expected by the department of justice, as a result of the supreme court's decision on Monday that the mere starting of arms and ammunition to forbidden territory was a violation of law.

Copies of the court's decision reached the department today, and preparations were made to instruct government agents on the border to enforce rigidly the president's proclamation, prohibiting exports to the Mexican rebels.

Orphans Till the Soil for Prize Watch

A scene in West End, within the busy city of Atlanta, showing two orphan boys of the Southern Christian Home for Orphans, 209 Lee Street, being instructed in the art of making the earth fruitful. The boys' instructor is Roscoe Erwin, and their plot of ground is at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets.

"Here's where I win that watch!"

With this exclamation, a 12-year-old orphan boy eagerly dug his spade into the ground, on a lot at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets, in West End. Zealously he began turning the sod of this little patch of earth in the little row of beanstalks on which he was working was wrapped up more of his heart's ambition than he had ever thrown into any other undertaking in his sad young life. He was digging in the earth to make something grow—to "create" something—and the idea thrilled him all over. While he was at it he was going to win that prize watch, or make another fellow blister his hands off beating him.

Garden Instruction Plan.

By thus inspiring the little orphan children to industrious and creative work, the plan of garden instruction recently begun by the Southern Christian Home for Orphans has been a splendid success. Located at 209 Lee street, West End, this orphanage is within the city limits of Atlanta, and the problem has been a hard one to keep the children occupied in a healthful as well as a beneficial line of recreation. They go to the public school in West End during the morning, and every afternoon they are now eagerly at work on their gardenings.

They are being taught the art of making the earth bear forth fruit by two men, members of the First Christian church, who have become interested in the orphan children. They are Roscoe Erwin, a business man, connected with Durand's restaurant, and Professor E. B. Martindale, a member of the Tech faculty. The large vacant lot at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets was loaned to the orphan boys by J. G. and E. F. Bell. With the opportunity for healthful and pleasant labor thus supplied, the orphans began work a few weeks ago, and are now watching with delight the tiny little sprouts as they appear and begin to grow upward.

Erwin Furnishes Watch.

Mr. Erwin, who is on the field actively instructing the orphans several days every week, has furnished a watch which is used in timing them for the work they do on their plot of ground, and the same watch he is offering as a prize for the orphan who does the best work during the next two months.

While the boys are the main enthusiasts, several of the girls are also interested in gardening, and have begun planting flowers around the orphanage on Lee streets, and watching the little green slips grow. Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, matron of the home, says that since the garden work began the discipline of the home has been increased, and the spirit prevailing among the orphans has been uplifted, because of something being added to their lives that grips their attention and inspires them to effort.

home of ex-Governor Don Luis Torres at Hermosillo, Sonora, has been confiscated by the insurgent state government and will become a hospital. The building is considered one of the finest specimens of Spanish architecture on the continent, and long has been one of the show places of Mexico.

By funds to be raised through a lottery, projected by the state government, the old mansion, set in its grove of tropical trees, will become a public state institution.

Ex-Governor Torres was governor of Sonora for twenty years, during which time it was his penchant to beautify his home and its surroundings. He left the country during the Madrazo revolution, and has since resided in California.

and bolts on their houses grew rusty through disuse.

Americans Redeem Property.

El Paso, Texas, May 7.—American owners of half the gold and silver bullion taken from a passenger train in Mexico some weeks ago by Pancho Villa and his band of constitutionalists, are said to have redeemed their property, paying $50,000 for ninety-seven bars today, receiving the metal at Buñillos, west of Chihuahua City. The bars are valued at $60,000. The remainder of the plunder, which is owned by Mexican mining men, is retained by Villa.

Interesting People of Samoa.

(From the Sydney Herald.)

The most interesting thing about Samoa is not its fair scenery and tropic flora, but its people, who have often been described as the most noble race in the Pacific—simple, honest, affectionate, and above all, hospitable. Judge Dwyer, of Pago-Pago, who is visiting Sydney, stated recently that all the natives were now Christians, and evinced a very marked devotion to their church, even though they did not always adhere to its tenets.

Taking them as a whole, their contributions to religious enterprises far exceeded the Biblical tale, and with the exception of the Mormons, whose adherents were few, the missions in Samoa were self-supporting. The people were generous to a remarkable degree, and my transcripts—white, brown, yellow, or black—was received in any house, supplied with food and sleeping accommodation, no questions being asked about compensation. As far as American Samoa was concerned, there were to few foreigners there that this admirable trait had not been stamped out by imposition or abuse of confidence. In morality, they were superior to many other branches of the Polynesian race and were excelled by none. Petty theft was very rare, and foreigners found that the locks

ECZEMA BROKE OUT LIKE RASH

Itched So Could Not Rest Without Scratching. Scales in Hair and on Coat Collar a Slight. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Box 46, Nichols, S. O.—

"For nearly ten years my husband was troubled with eczema on his head. It broke out like rash in a small place and itched so badly that he could not rest without scratching it. It would anger up, itch and burn, and be about an inch thick. When the fever cooled down it would break out. He would scratch the skin off. The scales in his hair and on his coat collar were a sight. In a few days it would be better, then after a few days it would be worse and in a larger circle. About seven years the circle was as large as a tea-cup.

"I procured one cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed it with the Cuticura Soap and warm water, then applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for a week. It improved so far that I only used them once a week. In six months it was entirely well. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him." (Signed) Mrs. E. V. Blanton, Apr. 18, 1912.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexion, red, rough hands, itching scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

600,000 ACRES BOUGHT FOR FOREST RESERVE

Latest Purchase 93,000 Acres in Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

Washington, May 7.—Approximately 93,000 acres of mountain land in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and West Virginia, was approved for purchase today by the national forest reserve commission. This will make almost 600,000 acres bought by the government up to date for the Appalachian and White mountains forest reservation.

The largest of today's group of tracts comprises 38,400 acres in the Mountain region in Page, Warren and Shenandoah counties, Virginia. The present purchase practically rounding out what the government needs in that section. In the Potomac purchase area, a group of 32 tracts, totalling 32,560 acres in Frederick and Shenandoah counties, Virginia, and Hardy county, West Virginia, was approved, about half of which adjoin lands already bought. In the Nantahala purchase area in Macon county, North Carolina, 31 tracts, containing 6,466 acres, was approved, filling out tracts previously purchased there. The only purchase in a new area was in Unicoi county, Tennessee, where control of the water—a new area was in Unicoi county, Tennessee river. The six tracts bought today contain 15,460 acres.

Money already has been appropriated sufficient for the purchase of about 1,000,000 acres of the southeastern mountain land, although it is estimated that eventually the purchases needed to protect the Appalachian and White mountain watersheds will total about 5,000,000 acres.

is not favored, according to officials. The two conventions will come to a close tomorrow with a boat ride on Mobile bay and a fish fry on the eastern shore. There was a dance at the convention hotel this evening. The national association will choose a meeting place at the fall session.

Brandeis, of Boston, against officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Boston and Maine railroads.

CUBA MAY CONTRIBUTE TO MAINE MONUMENT

Havana, May 7.—Whether the Cuban government will make a contribution of $5,000 to the Maine monument in New York, and whether a detachment of Cuban troops will be sent to take part in the dedication ceremonies were questions which came up for debate in congress today. Objection was raised by Representative Marquette, a negro, because of the report that the government desired to send only white troops. The house adjourned without reaching a decision.

AFTER HALF-MILE RUN BOY SAVES A TRAIN

Weston, W. Va., May 7.—After a run of half a mile, Robert Brinkley, aged 10, flagged a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train in the mountains near here today, and probably saved the train from meeting with disaster by crashing through a burning trestle. The under prying of the structure had burned away when the boy discovered the fire. The train with 150 passengers was halted near the trestle until a support was erected.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

England may as well make up its mind that "votes for women" is soon to be a thing of fact instead of a subject for debate and agitation. The small vote by which the bill looking to this end has just been defeated in the house of commons is indication of that climax.

It is, indeed, probable that the women are themselves responsible for failure of the measure to reach passage at the present time. Speaker after speaker declared he had voted against it because of disapproval of the violent militancy of the suffragettes. It is fair to assume that had the women all along pursued a more pacific course their demands would have been enacted into law.

And it seems also that nothing can prevent the ultimate triumph of woman suffrage the world over, in the United States, the countries of Europe, even in China and Japan. We all know the wonderful strides the movement has made in America. Sweeping over from the west it has invaded the eastern states, and in only one or two instances has it experienced a serious rebuff.

The day is rapidly approaching when statesmen the world over must make their calculations with an entirely new element included in the electorate. What tremendous readjustments that change will bring with it may now only be surmised. That the change itself is swiftly encroaching no observant man will deny.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

As it is at present drawn and as it will soon go to the senate, the income tax feature of the tariff bill threatens an unfair discrimination against holders of life insurance policies. The bill now exempts fraternal organizations, but lays a tax of 1 per cent on mutual life insurance companies.

Theoretically, the bill as it now stands exempts all persons with incomes of less than $4,000. But if the measure become a law, unamended, it must in reality tax several million people with incomes of considerably less than $4,000.

Important human instincts—the instinct of protection of dependent ones. The finance committee of the senate will, we hope, hesitate long before committing itself to a course that exempts one class of policy-holders from government taxation and penalizes another that belongs, substantially, in the same class.

CONSERVING CHILDREN

President Wilson's strong indorsement of the mission of the Playground and Recreation Association of America should find a nation-wide echo. Addressing a letter to the convention of this body he characterizes the movement to provide playgrounds for children, especially in cities, as among the most important of our day.

The president has not overstated the case. The past fifteen years has witnessed a wonderful awakening in America to the importance of caring for the child. We used to prate glibly that "the child is father" to the man, without reflecting that with due and intelligent conservation and development of the father we could assure that it would enter its adult heritage strong physically and mentally.

In this connection it is encouraging to observe that Atlanta's park board is co-operating with Councilman Ashley to secure an appropriation of $5,000 for music in Grant and Piedmont parks during the coming summer. These two parks are the great playgrounds of Atlanta and, in a way, of the state.

The smaller parks and playgrounds of Atlanta are discharging their destined function with notable efficiency. The part they have played and will play in conserving child life in this city would be difficult to estimate.

HONORING UNDERWOOD

A man must loom large in current history and in personality to have the national house of representatives forget partisanship to pay him spontaneous honor. That is what happened recently to Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, democratic house leader and chairman of the ways and means committee.

Republican Floor Leader Mann, among the bitterest partisans on the floor, told the speaker he wished to put aside partisanship and "talk personally." He told the house that fifty-one years ago "one of the ablest men in public life first saw the light of day." And he congratulated "the democratic party and the American people that during the fifty-one years of his life there had grown to greatness and vigor the able gentleman from Alabama, Mr. Underwood."

Mr. Mann's estimate was not only graceful, but accurate. Underwood is now one of the best assets of the party and the nation.

AN OPPORTUNITY

An international commission is now at work planning the celebration of the approaching hundred years of peace between America and Great Britain. Various spectacles and pageants have been suggested, and it is certain that the occasion will be observed with much ceremony and expressions of mutual good will.

Why not seize the opportunity to remove the last cause for friction between the two nations by repealing the Panama canal tolls, which now discriminate in favor of American coastwise shipping? There is, of course, no danger of war between the two countries over this particular issue.

Eminent authors have consented to act for the moving picture shows. Some of them need the limelight. Three thousand miles of speechmaking are small matters to Mr. Bryan.

An exchange says "the trusts will die hard." Well, death comes pretty hard even to human beings. Over 300 lawyers in congress, and every one with a brief!

So few will be running for office after the tariff is settled to the satisfaction of all! Next will be the announcement of Sarah Bernhardt making her tenth farewell vaudeville tour.

How California objects to coming into the union! The New York Sun calls The Congressional Record "a dropical old fraud"—and this, too, at a time when we thought it was taking on new life!

Don't believe that they will send George Ade to congress, for this congress is not a joke.

JUST from GEORGIA

The Face on the Money. Life will have more of sunny—whatever may befall. For a girl's face on the money is the sweetest face of all.

(But, to say the truth, good people, No matter what's the face, When the dollar is in the pocket, Life knows amazing grace!)

Yet the face that's on the money of the present or the past Will never long be with us—the money fades so fast!

(Still, forever and forever, In every time and place, The face that's on the money Is still the finest face!)

A Note From the Tollers.

The tollers in the vineyard are all a-feeeling prime; It's come the tariff's time now—it's come the tariff's time! We're looking fat and hearty, and this is all to say: The high cost of living is where you can see it today!

Come to the Table.

The hungry poet of The Baltimore Sun gives us these appetizing lines: "Strawberries deepen, on ye brave! Already where the shortcakes wave They're four abreast across the slice. And no one knows but in a trice There'll be enough to taste real nice!"

Says the Old Philosopher.

It's sad that Trouble never comes single, but brings his entire family connections with him and they take their places at our fireside as uninvited guests.

A Dream of Sorrow.

One day my soul was dreaming in the light Alone—save for the light's sweet company. When Sorrow came, and smiled, and spoke to me Softly, as winds that whisper of the Night, Sorrow—but O, the lovely-orbed and bright Unutterable eyes! as if the trace Of tears had made them sparkle! Was it right Sorrow should seek me with that strange, sweet face? The light seemed lovelier to my soul: the grace Of rose-sweet dawns and tearful twilights blended.

Fell like a benediction on the place, And Night was Light—the beautiful—the splendid! And when she left me all the light grew less And came a sense of loss and Loneliness.

No Record for Texas.

This is the testament of Colonel George Bailey, of The Houston Post: "Fifty-eight sets of twins were born in Texas during March, according to incomplete figures of the bureau of vital statistics. It is not a good showing. We hope to see the day when the stork will deal pairs and triplets exclusively. One at a time is not enough."

The Dreamers.

Let dreams be with us ever In love and joy impregnated: Behold the heights Where shine the lights!—The dreamers made a world!

Frank L. Stanton

Moral—Raise 'Em Yourself.

(From The Sandersville Georgian.) The western floods have already had the effect of raising the price of corn, oats and hay and other feed stuff, as many of the warehouses and granaries which were filled with products were swept away. The damage to the railroads also make it impossible for them to handle shipments promptly, and those who are dependent upon the west for supplies will feel the effects of the flood.

But Atlanta Is an Unusual Place

(From Commerce Observer.) A pet dog in Atlanta broke up a home and caused a divorce suit because the wife loved the little canine more than she did her husband. It's common for a pet dog to break up a hen's nest, but to destroy a home is something unusual.

A Better Crop.

"Why don't you raise something on that vacant lot, potatoes, for instance, or beans?" "I am raising good citizens," said the owner. "Don't you see those boys playing ball?"—Washington Herald.

Would Be Better.

"The one thing that we had better put off until tomorrow, we seldom do." "What is that?" "Worry."—Washington Herald.

Farmers, Please Notice.

(From The Tattall County Advertiser.) Mr. William Hodges, one of our most prosperous farmers, was in town Wednesday and sold about $1,000-worth of cotton to Mr. M. A. Smith, our local cotton buyer. Mr. Hodges usually has some product from his farm to sell, either butter, eggs, chickens, vegetables, honey or something to turn to profit.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—(Special.)—Former Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon, has made all other apostles of good roads look small. He has literally left them in the high road and demonstrated he is a real leader.

Since his retirement from the senate, Mr. Bourne has been working on a scheme of federal aid in building highways and he proposes to his associates on the joint congressional committee a plan providing for the expenditure of $3,000,000,000 in the next fifty years.

There is no doubt in the Oregonian's mind as to what the government ought to do. He wants Uncle Sam to raise the money on fifty year nontaxable 3 per cent bonds and loan it to the states. One-third of the total amount would be spent for construction and two-thirds for maintenance.

In defending his scheme from the charge of being visionary, he shows there are 890,000 acres of farm land in the United States, worth $33,000,000; and on these farms mules and horses whose feed and keep amounts to $1,760,000,000 a year. With good roads, traction engines could supplant horse power, the cost of hauling to market be reduced three-fourths what it now is, and the total value of farm lands double.

Wherever improved highways have been built, property has enhanced in value, and it has not always stopped with doubling. Senator Bourne is an enthusiast. He is also a dreamer. He dreamed of the way for clearing up the parcels post difficulties and made that system an established fact. He is dreaming about federal aid to good roads and raking the known earth with a fine tooth comb to get facts and arguments to help solve that problem.

Overhauling the Consular Service.

What is the matter with the consular service? In line with the general overhauling of republican housekeeping the democrats propose to find out.

It is generally admitted that the service is not everything it ought to be. Although there are many capable men representing the United States in foreign countries, the consuls generally have not rendered that service that a business house would expect from its commercial agents.

Business men in the south do not call upon our consuls for trade information and advice very often, and when they do have not always found the reply either prompt or satisfactory. Since 1896 appointments in the consular service have been by competitive examination and the merit system has prevailed instead of the old spoils system. Applicants must be able to use one language in addition to their own, and must stand a rigid oral and written examination on various subjects.

To encourage young men to enter this field, advancement on merit has been provided for, and the effect of political influence eliminated as far as possible. However, it is a fact that today there are more republicans than democrats in the service and more northerners and easterners than southerners.

Lindsay Johnson an Applicant.

Colonel Lindsay Johnson, of Rome, who is mentioned for consul-general at Shanghai, was talking to Mr. Bryan, secretary of state, about the qualifications for the office. "Can you speak Chinese?" asked Mr. Bryan.

"I can answer any question in Chinese you can ask me!" was the reply.

Georgia's Consuls.

Georgia is now credited with appointments in the consular service, as follows: North Winship, of Macon, now located at Tahiti, Society Islands, was the latest to receive an appointment from Georgia. He receives $2,000 a year. Nathaniel E. Stewart was appointed from Butler, Ga., and is now stationed at Durban, Natal. He is in the $3,500 class. He graduated from the University of Georgia.

Marion Letcher, was born in Alabama, but lived in Georgia three years, at Conyers and Douglasville. He is now in the trouble district of Mexico, being located at Chihuahua in the northern part of Mexico where General Salazar is operating.

J. G. Carter is a Brunswick negro who is now stationed at Tamatave, Madagascar, and his salary is $2,500 a year. He is a graduate of Tuskegee.

David J. B. Myers, of LaFayette, Ga., is consul at Puerto Cortez, Honduras, and receives $2,500 a year. He graduated from the University of Georgia. William A. Haygood, of Atlanta, is now at Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope.

INFLUENCE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Just as soon as you begin to think or do something, you begin to have influence. Influence is something you can't keep at home. And when it gets away from you, you can never recall it.

Your Influence makes you something of somebody else. Influence has no boundaries. Once started, though it may seem ever so trifling, yet it may have as its destination the father-most corners of the Earth. If you would get a conception of Power, realize the influence of a Strong Man.

It is well to remember that what you have that you can't help but give away is your Influence. Bear in mind that your Influence is never wholly absorbed, nor does it disappear into Nothingness. It Counts again and again. Influence has no end.

The three greatest objects in life—Friends, Happiness, Success—are each dependent upon proper Influence. So it is good to know that even the humblest person is, after all, master of his own Influence. He can send it out to scatter Sunshine or Shadows. It's his Choice.

A man's greatest Responsibility in this world lies in the way he acquires and gives out—his Influence. Your Influence today is sure to have a tremendous bearing upon the total work of the world. Your Influence upon other people and the Influence of other people upon you is sure to become a Force and a Factor in the complete work of your day and theirs.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES OF LITERATURE

VILLON, THE "GUTTER GENIUS"

Who was Francois Villon? That is the name by which the great French "genius of the gutter" is known in literature. It is a name he adopted for more reasons than one, and was the one he used as a writer. He had very many others that he appropriated at various periods of his life, for he was of such a villainous character that he was almost continually in trouble and assumed one name after another to throw the authorities off his track.

The real name of the man who won great fame as a poet in the fifteenth century has never been ascertained. It is said that he assumed the name of Francois Villon because his friend and benefactor was named Guillaume de Villon. It was Guillaume who took the young renegade into his home and tried to reform him, recognizing his wonderful genius. Among the other names by which he was known at various times, as far as recorded, are Corbier, Pitou, De Montcorbier, Des Leges and Corbeull.

Which, if any of these names, was really his own is uncertain. About all that is known of his early life is that he was born of poor parents, and, as it seems, certainly in Paris. His father died when he was young, and it is evident that he was devoted to his mother for some of his boyhood days were spent in the low taverns of Paris among the riff-raff of the underworld. In spite of the marvelous genius that he exhibited in very early life, he seemed to be most at home among the sordid criminal class, where he exhibited as much iniquity as they did. He fought, stole, caroused and killed with ruffians, and he would then turn around and write such wonderfully beautiful and musical poems that even his scottish comrades loved them.

The first murder that was laid at his door was that of a priest whom he stabbed to death in the streets of Paris while returning from a drunken revel. He sought shelter in the slums where his criminal admirers kept him secreted for close to two years. Through wealthy friends, who were admirers of his genius, he secured a pardon. Hardly had he emerged from his hiding place when he became embroiled in a fight in a cheap tavern of Paris and was so badly used up that he fled from the city out of disgrace at his appearance. To the doctor who dressed his wounds he gave the name of Michael Moulton, another one of his many aliases.

Then he became a student at the College of Navarre, near Angers, France. It is supposed that his object was more for the purpose of robbery than for the acquiring of further education. Only a short time after his arrival the treasure chest of the college chapel was broken open. A band of student-thieves were arrested, and one of them gave evidence that Villon was the ringleader of the party, and that he was planning further robberies.

Villon was put to the torture and then sentenced to be hanged. As he lay in prison waiting execution he wrote one of his greatest poems, a grim, wonderful bit of verse entitled "Ballade of the Hanged." The influence of his friends secured the setting aside of this punishment and he was banished from the country and for many years thereafter he drifted from one country to another, sometimes living in the palaces of royalty on account of his wit, and again robbing and making narrow escapes from being confined in prison.

Finally, he was caught robbing a church and was imprisoned for the crime of sacrilege. For this crime Villon owed his release to a general gaul-delivery at the accession of Louis XI. Free once more, his wild spirit of adventure seemed to desert him, and he wrote the "Grand Testament," the work which has immortalized him. He was thirty years old at this time.

Here the next mystery of his life begins. What became of him? In the autumn of 1462 he is found, broken in health and spirits, living in the cloisters of Saint-Benoit. His dissipation, it would appear, had undermined his health and he is said to have died there of consumption in 1463. Certain historians doubt this fact, and believe that he lived a number of years thereafter, but if such be the case nothing definite was heard of him after 1463.

The obscurity, unhappiness and the evil repute of Villon's life would not be in themselves a reason for the minute investigation to which the events of that life have been subjected, but his poetical work, scanty as the certainly genuine part of it is, is of such extraordinary quality, and marks such an epoch in the history of European literature, that he has been at all times an interesting figure.

CALIFORNIA MUST NOW TAKE ITS OWN RACE MEDICINE

Editor Constitution: Referring to the California-Japanese land question wherein the Japanese government is protesting the passage of the California anti-alien land law, which the government is being so strenuously seconded in its protest by the president and his gifted secretary, it is very probable the Japanese government is right in its protest.

A number of the men of the south can yet vividly call to mind the brutal insistence of California and the remainder of the northern states who fought the south in the war between the states, that as a condition precedent to their readmission to the American union, and the turning over to them unfettered with military domination of their state government, the southern states must ratify the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States.

The last clause of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is as follows: "Nor shall any state deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." The supreme court of the United States, construing this clause of the fourteenth amendment in the case of Yick Wo, a Chinaman, vs. Hopkins, 118 U. S. 355, said:

Nor are the provisions of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution confined to the protection of citizens. These provisions are universal in their application to all persons within the territorial jurisdiction, without regard to any difference of race, color or of nationality; and the equal protection of the law is a pledge of the protection of EQUAL LAWS.

To more fully afford this protection U. S. Rev. Stat. Sec. 1977, was passed.

The passage of the fourteenth amendment was the greatest blow to the doctrine of state sovereignty suffered during the war, and was forced upon the American union over the protests of the south and was passed to prohibit the southern states from legislating directly concerning the negro population by name without including the remainder of the people in the law.

It will be readily observed that from the wording of the fourteenth amendment and the decision above cited that it is very probable the legislature of the state of California has not now the power to prohibit aliens from owning land in the state, but the question is one for congress. California deprived herself of this right when she was eager to deprive the old south of this simple right of police protection, to prohibit certain classes from doing that which her own citizens are allowed to do.

The proper thing to do is for California to take the lead in asking for the repeal of the fourteenth amendment, and to admit that it was wrong in joining in the movement to fix it on the south. Until this is done California ought to be required to live up to the constitution and give to Japs and Chinks the full measure of their rights as she expects the south to accord to the negro population. To my mind the Japanese treaty has nothing to do with the question, but the constitution is controlling and the supreme court will declare the California statute void.

What Will You Do With Her?

By Philip Welner.

The heavy gate of the jail swung open to receive the miserable wreck of a woman. She knew she had tasted of the dregs of iniquity, and the foulness of her past stifled her cries and choked her sob. It was only a week before that she had finished a thirty-day sentence in the city prison. In order to clothe herself decently, she borrowed of her fellow-inmate a hat, coat and shoes, promising to return them as soon as she could provide herself otherwise. No sooner did she get to the streets than the lure of the drug got her in its grip, and she pawned the clothes to buy the drug her system craved. It was for this crime that she received a three months' jail sentence. There she is, a pitiable derelict, diseased in body, mind and soul.

The following is the record of this one woman from 1908 to the present time:

Table with columns: Year, Charge, Days in Prison, Fines, Stockade, Paid. Includes cases 1908-1910 with various charges like 'Disorderly conduct' and 'Drunk and disorderly conduct'.

1911. Case 16—Drunk and disorderly conduct 10.75

1912. Case 17—Drunk and disorderly conduct 30

" 18—Disorderly conduct ... 5.75

" 19—Contempt of court... 10.75

" 20—Disorderly conduct ... 19 6.50

" 21—Burglary over for Sodomy.

" 22—Disorderly conduct ... 20

" 23—Bound over for larceny (3 months' jail sentence).

The fines in this one case total $196.15, but does that compensate the state for the other lives she has dragged down into the mire of her saturnalian round of debauchery and crime? How many other girls has she destroyed? Behind her every touch lurks the danger of a dread disease. Did the $196.15 pay for its merciless ravages?

She was brought up in poverty and rags. From infancy on she was made the familiar of the degraded. Why was not her progress checked? Why was not the warning chance given her when a child to attain to a right womanhood? What is the state going to do with its girl problem? The situation is of urgent gravity. Are the girls worth less than the boys? Thirty-four states say not. Backing up their assertion by excellent training schools for wayward girls. These states know that these children do not go to their doom alone, that they drag down countless others with them. They have learned the folly of not preventing prostitution from witnessing the repetition of the story of the babies within their own borders. These two fallen girls left behind them a progeny whose scarlet flame of disease, insanity and crime cost the state of New York well up into the millions of dollars.

The children's court of Fulton county has on its calendar over seventy girls, whom it is helpless to save. Every day they see fresh evidences of their increasing viciousness. The next legislature must and will provide for them an industrial training school. Any amount of money spent in this behalf would be a tremendous saving.

LABOR UNIONS EXEMPT FROM THE SHERMAN LAW

Also Farmers' Organizations. Congress Forbids Use of Funds to Prosecute.

Washington, May 7.—By a vote of 41 to 32 the senate tonight refused to accept an amendment to the sundry civil bill by Senator Gallinger striking out the clause exempting labor and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the anti-trust law with funds appropriated by the bill.

On several of the amendments proposed were beaten by a loud chorus of "noes," and without requiring record votes. Before the final vote was taken the senate spent three days in debate on the labor clause and scores of senators spoke on the subject.

Senator Root declared the exemption tended to lessen respect for law. "The real meaning is that congress gives notice to the executive that laboring men and farmers may violate the law as criminals, but they shall not be prosecuted."

THIRD FEDERAL JUDGE WANTED FOR GEORGIA

Savannah Bar, Working for a Judicial District in South Georgia.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, May 7.—(Special.)—An additional federal court judge for Georgia may be created as the result of the campaign set on foot by the lawyers of Savannah. At a conference with the members of the Georgia delegation held here today the necessity for another judge was stressed by representatives of the Savannah bar.

Representatives from north Georgia were very positive that none of their counties in their districts were ready to be cut off and put in another district. The indications are that Atlanta, Athens and Augusta will be in the same district, and that the territory between Columbus, Macon and Savannah will be in the middle district, and a new district created in south Georgia.

CIVIL SERVICE CHIEF WILL HAVE BUSY TIME

Beginning Monday, June 2, Secretary Jennings, of the civil service commission for the fifth district, and ending on Thursday, June 5, will hold thirteen examinations to fill vacancies now existing in the government service, however, there will be no examinations on Tuesday.

On Wednesday, the 4th examination will be held for machine operator in the bureau of standards at Washington, the salary being $1,800, while the assistant testing machine operator for duty in the same place will be paid from $1,500 a year.

PARDON IS GRANTED TO NEGRO RAVISHER

RAPID ACTION OF POSLAM IS AMAZING

Columbus, Ohio, May 7.—Louis H. G. H. S. Alumnae Vote For Scholarship Student

The Alumnae association, Girls High school, will vote this afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock for the Agnes Scott scholarship student.

All members are entitled to vote whose dues of one dollar for the year have been paid. Proxies must be in writing. No votes will be taken over the telephone. The election will be held in the music room at the High school.

The candidates are Misses Jeannette Victor, Isabel Dew Frances Anderson and May Robinson.

At 4 o'clock there will be a called meeting of the executive board, when a number of important matters will be decided including the alumnae fellowship for the summer school, and the plan recently formulated at a meeting of class chairmen to establish a course of study which would hold a universal interest to bring the alumnae together once a month during the fall and winter.

The latter suggestion was met with a general approval, informally expressed by many members, and will probably be passed upon favorably by the board.

Third Ward Civic Club

A bright meeting of the Third Ward Civic club was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewis, 170 Sydney street.

This club is doing a splendid work in organizing junior civic leagues in the public schools, realizing that the school children are the most valuable asset to the state. The entire ward is interested in the two prizes, the club prize for clean yards and the Truxax prize for beautiful flowers. It was decided to divide the money into two prizes of $3 and $2 in order to allow more people to participate in the distribution. Attention is called to the fact that the entries for these prizes close on May 15, and all who wish to compete are requested to mail name and address before that date to the secretary Mrs. A. S. Wilson, 79 Augusta avenue. Believing in primary prophylaxis, the club went on record as opposed to uncovered loaves of bread and passed a resolution urging bakers to wrap and seal all loaves before leaving the bakery.

The Third Ward women are working for the Women's Edition and hope to turn in a good report of both advertising and subscriptions.

Five dollars was pledged to Tallulah Falls school and in order to meet such calls the club is actively engaged to be prepared for a large entertainment to be given in the immediate future. A delightful surprise is in store for those who attend the artists. Date, place, etc., will be announced soon.

After the annual election and installation of officers, dainty refreshments were served and a pleasant hour was enjoyed over the tea cups.

The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. J. Justice, 618 Woodward avenue.

Recording secretary, Mrs. A. S. Wilson, 79 Augusta avenue.

Corresponding secretary, Dr. Florence E. Truxax, 308 Atlanta avenue.

Treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Crossland, 57 Park avenue.

Mrs. Spiker Presents Drama.

The meeting of the Atlanta Women's club on Monday afternoon, May 11, will be of unusual interest.

The regular business meeting at 3 o'clock will conclude with the annual election of officers, which would hold a universal interest to bring the alumnae together once a month during the fall and winter.

The latter suggestion was met with a general approval, informally expressed by many members, and will probably be passed upon favorably by the board.

DIVORCE EVIDENCE BARRED TO PAPERS

Watertown N. Y., May 7—Justice E. C. Emerson, of the state supreme court inaugurated an innovation here today when he forbade newspaper reporters from printing evidence given in divorce cases. The justice said it was the policy of the court to have as little publicity as possible in divorce cases, and inasmuch as the evidence is always needed he did not believe that it should get into the newspapers.

Daniels in Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels who is making an inspection tour of southern naval stations, passed through here today en route from Pensacola to Key West, Fla. Mr. Daniels and his wife were entertained by city officials this morning and made a trip on the St. John's river on the government yacht stationed here.

"Complexion Secrets Of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title the author says: "Contrary to the use of grease paints, rouge and the like, which make my complexion so colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores in England, the use of the virtues of mercolized wax, my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics I had ever used. No matter how complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of the best vasoline, and retire to bed next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the dirt and oil from the skin, leaving it healthier, younger-looking skin appears."

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores, I began using a solution of salicylic acid, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint with hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for a while soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR WAITING FOR BRYAN

When Secretary Reaches Washington Today He Will Face the Land Question.

Washington, May 7—First among Secretary Bryan's callers when he reached Washington from Sacramento tomorrow morning probably will be Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador. It has been assumed that the ambassador has been awaiting this opportunity to deliver personally to the secretary of state a protest from his government against the California alien land legislation, but it is believed now the first effort of the ambassador will be to get from the secretary some idea of what the administration proposes to do after Governor Johnson signs the land bill, as it is generally expected he will do before answering this question, however Mr. Bryan must report and confer with President Wilson regarding his California mission so he probably will suggest that his conference with Viscount Chinda be postponed for a short time.

It is well understood that the effect of this will be simply to delay the presentation of the Japanese protest unless Secretary Bryan is able to suggest some means of dealing with the present phase of the question that will make the protest unnecessary. It has been suggested that this might take the form of the proposal to negotiate a new treaty to replace the existing one. A new treaty expressly disclaiming the right of citizens of either country to acquire real property in the other might meet the needs of the case and save Japanese pride by removing the charge of discrimination. This it is pointed out would work hardship upon American missionary interests and some large business concerns which now hold real estate in Japan under the "superficial" law a modified form of the American ground rent system.

Some of the legal minds of the administration have come to the conclusion that in the event the California law is contested in the courts, the case must rest not upon the existing treaty, which they say the law does not technically violate but upon the broad principle of international law. No treaty specifically describes all of the rights which an alien may enjoy in the country of his residence and in the opinion of some of these international lawyers the disregard or violation of a right common to all civilized peoples is as much a discrimination as a willful disregard of a treaty provision.

CHINA IS PREPARING TO FIGHT LAND LAW

Washington, May 7—China is preparing to follow Japan in protesting against the California alien land bill.

Ownership of lands in California by Chinese has diminished considerably within the last few years, but many Chinese land owners still are there, and it is with the purpose of protecting them against loss of their property that the Chinese government is contemplating a protest.

Sales of Women's Coats and Hats

Two sales today!

We have blue-penciled the prices on women's coats and hats very vigorously, to the end that their disposal today shall be quick and sure.

No half-way methods, no slight reductions and large hopes—but great reductions and certain knowledge that women with an eye and mind for economy will be compelled to heed the new prices. Here—

Women's $20.00 to $35.00 Coats Are $17.50

And a happy collection, too, affording a wide choice. The materials are storm serge, French serge, whipcord, eponge, covert cloth, basket weave and mixture in black, navy and grays and tan. Many styles; plain mannish coats, belted coats, smartly trimmed coats with turn-back cuffs and satin revers and great ornamental buttons. All spring weights, three-quarter length, lined to waist with mesaline—often of Dresden pattern.

Splendid coats sure to find new owners at these new prices.

Women's $6.75 to $20.00 Hats Are $4.00 to $14.50

Milans and panamas. They come under the general head of tailored hats, which very poorly tells their attractiveness. The Milans are bedecked with wings, feathers, snowy white ribbons and navy and then you see a tiny cluster of flowers on a brim. Shapes—so varied that you will quickly find one becoming to you.

The panamas are very plain—shirtwaist panamas with no other trimming than the ribbon band.

All bear the Burgessier mark.

BOISCLAIR REPORTS ON ILLEGAL FISHING

Mayor of Nashville, Who Was One of the Defendants, Led Threatening Crowd, He Says.

Game Warden M. F. Boisclair, who reported to Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer about trouble he had at Milltown regarding alleged illegal fishing has made a full statement about the matter. In his statement he says: "I went to Milltown and the Banks pond April 22, and for several days I busied myself studying the situation and the people without disclosing my mission or identity."

"Before I made an arrest or announced my mission I realized that there was a conflict and a controversy of long standing between the owners of the Banks pond and mill site, and the people who owned the land covered by the water of the pond. Fish a Great Temptation."

"I soon realized also that the great abundance of fish in the large pond was a sore temptation to the people in that section, many of whom had no rights or claims as to land ownership. After I had secured the names and necessary data on which to base prosecution in 13 instances, I probably made the mistake to include in the number two or three parties who may have legal rights in the pond; of this I am not sure, but as a stranger, did what appeared to be my duty in the case."

"There are certainly some very tough and lawless people about the pond, and they, of course, are the instigators of all the trouble. As soon as I announced my purpose they set about inflaming the public mind, and I was constantly cautioned that my life was in danger, that I would be shot from ambush or mobbed at night in the home of Mr. Derryhill or assassinated openly on the streets or road. At first I did not take the reports seriously, but I soon realized that there was a sufficient number of the desperate characters to warrant caution on my part."

"It was told by several, at least one of them an official, that the justice of the peace, before whom I had sworn out the warrants, had announced that he would not bind any of the parties over, and I, of course, understood then that it would be folly to go to trial before him. When the mayor of Nashville began to abuse me, I did not know who he was, but he was one of the defendants. In a moment after I approached the justice two or three hundred people gathered around where I stood, and with the mayor leading the assault on me with gestures and vile epithets, the crowd became menacing. The mayor, realizing that discretion was the only sensible course, he ordered with me to stand by, and I immediately searched me. Nobody had seen my pistol or had reason to believe that I had one."

"But for the timely arrival of County Warden T. L. Lusk, of Fitzgerald, I would have been put in jail, as they required two names on the bond, and I knew only one man in the crowd. At Nashville, after leaving Milltown, I swore out the warrants before the justice in that district, where I am sure the law will be vindicated."

TALKING PICTURES NOW AT THE SAVOY THEATER

Yesterday, the Savoy theater inaugurated a new feature, singing and talking pictures, in connection with their regular program. This is the first time Atlanta has had an opportunity to enjoy this feature. If one will concentrate their mind on the picture and forget the mechanical workings that produce such a wonderful show, they will find a new enjoyment in motion pictures. The words and music harmonize with every action, and especially the movement of the lips. Neg talking and singing pictures will be shown each day, with no advance in price.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE PROMISED FOR TODAY

Only a few drops of rain fell yesterday when local showers were predicted, but the rainfall, slight as it was, sufficed to cool off the atmosphere, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon the temperature was down to 78 degrees above zero, which was eight points lower than on the previous day.

No rain is forecasted today, although cooler weather is promised for 2 days or two. At the same time with the cooler spell in Georgia comes a cool wave in Ohio, due possibly to a region of high temperature passing over the great lakes region.

"I have never seen a more promising young actress," declared Miss Long Wednesday, "and it is going to mean much for the effectiveness of our productions that we are to have her with us for the balance of the season. Miss Harrison is undoubtedly possessed of marked ability, and she has a very bright future ahead of her on the stage. The ease and confidence with which she has portrayed her part during the first week of her career as an actress is nothing short of wonderful."

Miss Harrison has been cast for a prominent part in "Are You a Mason?" which will be the offering of the Billy Long Stock company next week.

WHITEHALL OWNERS CONSIDER REGRADING

Everything Points to Success of Movement, Is Report Made.

The Whitehall street property owners who have been at work with the plan to regrade the street between Trinity avenue and Forsyth street reported yesterday that everything now points to success. The committee appointed by the property owners to look after the details met Wednesday morning and the statement was given out that the small opposition to the big improvement, which cropped out at first, because the plan was not thoroughly understood, is fast dwindling away.

"We now have everything in good shape," stated the chairman of the committee, Robert R. Otis, "and the improvement of Whitehall street is now assured."

When Whitehall is regraded, as proposed, almost the entire street will be opened up for retail trade, and both the lots and the store houses will be greatly increased in value.

V. L., NOT H. M., THE STANLEY THAT WANTS P. O. JOB

V. L. Stanley, a brother of Harris M. Stanley, state commissioner of commerce and labor, is a candidate for the office of postmaster of Dublin, Ga.

But there are some people who think the commissioner is the Stanley who it after the postoffice plum, and every now and then the question is asked him: "Well, how are you getting along at the Washington pie-counter?" Commissioner Stanley says he has his hands quite full looking after such of the state's affairs as fall in line with his official duties without getting mixed up in national politics.

CADETS OF THE G. M. A. ENCAMP AT LAKEWOOD

On Monday morning of this week the Georgia Military academy, consisting of three full companies and band, went into camp for the week at Lakewood. This encampment is an annual affair at the academy, and it is always looked forward to with great pleasure by both the cadets and their friends. While a great part of the week is spent in doing military work of a different nature from that done on the campus, yet it is in the brightest social week of the school calendar.

On Monday evening, the young ladies from Atlanta and College Park were most delightfully entertained at a dance given in the large pavilion. On Tuesday evening, the Washington seminary was also entertained and this proved to be most delightful for both schools. On Wednesday evening, the cadets were hosted by Woodbury school, and on Thursday and Friday the young ladies from the Girls High school and Washington seminary will be invited. On Friday the governor and his staff and the officers of the Fifth regiment will be visitors to the camp. A dress parade will be held on Friday afternoon and the customary salute of seventeen guns will be fired in honor of the governor's presence.

ASK FOR CO-OPERATION OF CHAMBER MEMBERS

In an effort to increase the usefulness of the chamber of commerce, Wilmer L. Moore, president of that body, is sending letters to every member in which is a list of probable undertakings of the chamber, and asking co-operation toward the accomplishment of such.

Among the prominent features are the establishment of an art museum, publicity bureau, a Georgia corn show and especially the development of the railway system about Atlanta. Since the present administration has been in office, a permanent home has been bought, the work of remodeling which will soon commence, a movement for better city planning has been put on foot, the convention bureau has been put under way and the industrial bureau will be an established institution within the next few weeks.

FLORIDA WOMAN GETS BIG DAMAGE VERDICT

Mrs. Mattie R. Cash Is Given $7,500 Damages From the S. A. L. Railroad.

In awarding $7,500 damages for personal injuries to Mrs. Mattie R. Cash, of Pensacola, Fla., a jury in the superior court yesterday afternoon rendered what is said to be the largest damage suit of its kind ever made in Fulton county. The suit was against the Seaboard Air Line railway and arose from Mrs. Cash's claim that on December 1, 1911, she slipped and fell upon an orange peel on the Birmingham-Atlanta train near Parsons, Ala.

Mrs. Cash is the wife of Hugh M. Cash, a traveling man, and now that his wife has recovered from the road, Mr. Cash states through her attorney that he will bring suit for the time that she was in the hospital. The suit, which has taken up several days before Judge George L. Bell, was hard fought on both sides and it is possible now that the railroad will fight it in higher courts. Mrs. Cash was represented by Attorney Howlett & Dennis and J. J. Hastings, while W. G. Loving was counsel for the Seaboard.

The claim of Mrs. Cash is that while she was on the train she stepped upon an orange peel and slipped and fell in such a way as to cause serious internal injuries. She was taken to a hospital in Birmingham after the accident and claims to have suffered severely.

CHAMBER WILL AID TECH CELEBRATION

At a meeting of a special committee in the chamber of commerce yesterday it was recommended that the board of directors direct the chamber of commerce to participate in the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Georgia School of Technology, which will be held during commencement week in Atlanta, June 8 to 11, inclusive.

At this time a number of the old boys will return to their alma mater, and it is thought that one of the largest college celebrations in the history of the state will be held. Many of the members of the chamber are Tech men, and it is thought that this body will enter into the spirit of the occasion with enthusiasm.

DODD HEIRS MAY FIGHT AGAINST GIFT TO MERCER

Macon, Ga., May 7.—(Special).—Dr. S. Y. Jameson, president of Mercer university, in an address before the student body this morning discussed the $100,000 bequest to the Baptist institution by Mrs. Barbara Dodd, of Atlanta.

Dr. Jameson states that while there is a possibility that the will will be contested by Mrs. Dodd's brother and sister, who were left practically nothing, still under the Georgia law he does not believe they will be successful in breaking the will. It had been hoped by local Baptists that the money would be in the nature of an endowment fund, but while in Atlanta yesterday, Dr. Jameson learned that the money is to go to ward the support of worthy students. The fund will provide tuition and board for about twenty-five students.

SCENE CHANGES TO MONTGOMERY

Face Georgia Sluggers at Athens This Week

Two Jacket pitchers and a catcher snapped by The Constitution's staff photographer at Grant field during practice this week. These are the men on whom the bulk of the work of trying to stop the University of Georgia team will fall. In the center is Withrington, the bustling little catcher. On the left is "Smookey" Eubanks, who will hurl Friday's game, the first of the series. Pitts will work in the game against them Saturday, playing in the outfield of the Tech team. Jacket fans rely on these three men and Captain Montague as the quartet that will bring home the victories for them.

WHIFFS

In Ho Sabet
FRANK CHANCE had better be examined as to his sanity, if he made the statement that he would not trade Hal Chase for Ty Cobb or Sam Crawford or both. We always thought pretty highly of Mr. Chance, but such a statement reduces estimation of him 100 per cent, granting, of course, that he has not been misquoted.

Did Not Take Loan
BILL SMITH did not take long in finding out that he would have to strengthen his pitching staff if he expected to stay in the fight. The rest of the team is O. K., but Bill, like every other student of the game realized quickly that if poor pitching was going to kick away games after the attack had won them, the attack would eventually get disgusted and quit too. Thus his hustling for some new twirlers.

Will Improve
GEORGIA and Tech will tie up in their first game of a four-game series tomorrow in Atlanta at fever heat, and if the dope runs true to form, the Red and Black ought to win handily. They have the better hitters and base runners and their pitchers appear to outclass Tech's also. But dope as a general run does not figure very strong when these two are meeting.

Judge Is Coming
PRESIDENT Kavanaugh, of the Southern League will be in Atlanta shortly after the Crackers return from the present road trip. The league head will present to the Crackers the trophy won by the locals the opening day of the season, for the largest paid attendance of the day. Gulls Make a Clean Sweep; Brady Wednesday's Victim Daily Home Run Secured

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—(Special.)—Mike Finn's league-leading Gulls made a clean sweep of the series with the Crackers by winning today's game 5 to 3.
Tim Brady, the only unbeaten Atlanta pitcher in the series, was given a good drubbing, besides being wild as all the other pitchers that preceded him during the series.
Robertson, the Gulls' big right-hander, started the game for the locals, but after pitching the first inning and retiring the Crackers in one, two, three, four, he was taken ill and had to retire.

Caveat Twists Well.
Pug Caveat twirled the remainder of the game for the locals and with the exception of the fifth inning, held the Crackers helpless. Three of their four hits came in this round and they scored all of them.
Caveat had the honor of hitting the daily home run of the Gulls, polling a fast one of Brady's over the right field fence.
No features of any moment marked the contest.
Brady walked Stock to start the game. Starr got a life on Bisland's error. After O'Dell and Jacobsen had been retired, Brady failed to locate the plate for Clark and Robertson and a run was forced over the plate.
Schmidt singled to center to start the Gulls' second. Caveat beat out an infield hit and when Smith threw wild to first Schmidt scored.
With one gone in the third, Clark walked, stole second and went to third on Graham's and Graham doubled. Robertson had thrown to second to catch him. Robertson walked and stole second and both men scored when Campbell singled.

Crackers' Big Round.
Welchome opened the Crackers' fifth by beating out a slow one to third. Smith singled to center. Bisland doubled, scoring Welchome and sending Smith to third. Robe sacrificed out to right. Smith scored and Graham doubled. Robertson's stunt, scoring Bisland. The final run of the game was made in the sixth inning, when Caveat hit one over the fence in right field.

WADDELL SUFFERS FROM BLOOD POISON
Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—"Rube" Waddell, veteran ball player, who recently announced he had quit professional baseball forever, is suffering from blood poison in his right leg. Waddell received a slight bruise on his knee while playing with the Minneapolis team of the Northern league, here Friday. Today a physician said Waddell was in a serious condition, but that the leg would not necessarily be amputated.

MUST FURNISH SEATS AT ALL BALL GAMES
Chicago, May 1.—State Senator Beall's bill demanding that seats must be furnished to all ticket-holders at baseball games passed the senate at Springfield today.

The bill is aimed chiefly at President Murphy, of the local National league team, at whose grounds Senator Beall was unable to get the seats called for by his coupon. Murphy left today for New York to attend the Cub-Broklyn game tomorrow and Friday.

Eubanks To Face Corley In Georgia-Tech Battle; Red and Black Favorites

The Japanese question, the Phagan case, the tariff measure and other wide-wide counts, pale into insignificance in interest beside the great Georgia-Tech baseball games which begin at Athens tomorrow afternoon. The Classic city is all agog over the approaching games. Atlanta college fans are on the anxious seat, especially those whose leanings are toward the Yellow Jackets.

Eubanks v. Corley.
"Smookey" Eubanks and "Kid" Corley will be the opposing twirlers in Friday's game from all indications, though the rival coaches may switch their plans at the last moment. The switch would be Pitts for Tech and Morris for Georgia, though the chances are that they will work Saturday's game. At any rate they will be held in reserve.

Tech enters the series a 1 to 2 shot. All the while the Red and Black in every department of play they size up as having it on the Jacket contingent.

Up to Pitchers.
After all, the series rests on two factors—the pitchers and the stability of the teams.

If both teams keep on the ground and their pitchers hurl the kind of ball that their team mates expect them to hurl, the series is going down in baseball history as the greatest college series of baseball ever fought out in Georgia.

The tremendous hitting of the Red and Black team must not be discounted. Tech has an outside chance, only on the ability of her pitchers, Eubanks and Pitts, to stop the Georgians with a reasonable degree of thoroughness. If the Georgia batters pummel the sphere in these games as viciously as they have been hammering it for the past seven games—good night.

Presuming that both teams played to their true form in their last two series, a comparison of what they did in those might be of interest to the fans of the two teams.

Tech trounced Sewanee twice, and in doing so compiled ten hits in each game, while here pitchers held the Tigers to four hits and five hits. Georgia walloped Washington and Lee twice, compiling 13 hits and 12 hits, while her pitchers held the Virginians to 2 hits and 4 hits.

Arguing, therefore, that this is the true form of the two teams, then the series this close in advance sizes up as a real bear cat, with both pitchers hurling a splendid article of ball and the batters of both teams striving their utmost to deliver the wallop.

Reverting to the dope, however, again, Corley and Morris have a better chance of stopping the Tech batters than Eubanks and Pitts have of stopping the Georgia sluggers.

This is explained in this way. But two Jackets are batting over 500, while with the exception of one man, every Georgia regular is in the select class.

For the sake of argument, presume that the pitchers are able to stop the rain of hits and the games develop into pitcher's battles. The answer will then be—

STABILITY.
The team that stays on the ground will win the series.

Georgia ought to win the series and the southern title an even break for the Jackets would be a moral victory.

The team that gets the jump in the first game can be played straight across the board to win.

Crackers Play Billies; Price To Pitch Opener; Bailey To Rejoin Team

THE CRACKERS' showing of an even break on the present road trip is all that can be expected. They have eleven more games before coming back home. They ought to break even with Montgomery and take the odd game at New Orleans and Memphis, provided, of course, some pitchers are secured that can keep the opposition from making from six to ten runs a game. The team can be expected to grab off a good share of hits and runs, if the pitchers will only check the opposition. Their first game of a four-game series will be at New Orleans when they hit the night train for Montgomery, where they open a series with the Billiken of Johnny Dobbs this afternoon.

The contests will be staged for four days, the concluding game of the series being set for Sunday Monday the team opens up in Memphis for four games, then go to New Orleans for three and back home again.

Gilbert Price, the Crackers' south-paw, will draw the hurling assignment in the opening battle this afternoon with Joe Dunn behind the bat. Harry Bailey will probably join his teammates in Billikenville this afternoon, his injured foot having mended sufficiently to permit him to put his weight on it and he thinks that he will be able to play, although he will probably figure very strong when these hit the night train for Montgomery, where they open a series with the Billiken of Johnny Dobbs this afternoon.

GEORGIA STATE SHOOT

Americus, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—The first day of the annual tournament of the Georgia State Gun Club upon the grounds of the American Country club today proved a splendid success, resulting in the making of excellent records by many of the forty gunners participating. Among these are many of the crack shots in the United States in the high professional class.

In the first event for high score professional class, Homer Clark, 1st, led with 192 birds out of possible 200. E. R. Holt scored 190, with H. D. Freeman and G. W. Maxwell scoring 189 each.

In amateur class, the winners were: G. H. Waddell and J. W. Hightower, who tied with 189 birds out of possible 200. J. M. Barrett, E. H. Eubanks and Henry Jones tied with 188 birds each out of possible 200. Those handsome trophies will be awarded upon the result of the shooting tomorrow.

CLEMSON TIGERS TO PLAY AUBURN

Second Place Ranking in the S. I. A. A. Will Be Decided by Series Which Begins Today.

Auburn, Ala., May 7.—(Special.)—Auburn plays her seventh and last series on the campus this week, when the championship of Carolina, the Clemson Tigers, who have just won, come to Auburn for a three-game series.

The games ought to be close and the pitching duel between Davis and Ezel ought to be an interesting one.

Auburn so far has played six series and has won them all except the one in Athens in which the odd game was lost to the strong Georgia team.

Since then Auburn has won eight out of nine S. I. A. A. games, including such teams as Mercer, Florida and Georgia Tech.

A victory over Clemson would round out a very good season for the Auburn team, much better than was anticipated.

If Auburn did excellent work in the game, it would be a real triumph for the Auburnites, and, if by any chance they should defeat Georgia or even tie them, then Auburn could put in a very strong claim to be the champion of the first ring of the ladder.

SOUTH ATLANTIC.

Macon, Ga., May 7.—Prysock's failure to return the throw to home plate when the double attempt was made in the sixth and his failure to throw in the relay from Matthews, who made a pretty catch, with a runner on third, allowed Savannah to score the winning run today by 5 to 4.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7.—Albany won a surprising contest from Jacksonville this afternoon, the score at the finish being 5 to 4.

Charleston, S. C., May 7.—Columbus won the final game of the series this afternoon from the Sea Gulls in a well-played game, 5 to 1.

BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL WALLOPS MARIST

Practically Cinches the Local Prep League Rag—Callahan Is Given a Fine Lacing.

The Boys' High nine added another game to their list of Prep League victories yesterday afternoon on the Marist campus by defeating the Marist team 13 to 4.

The game was close and interesting up until the fifth, when the High school boys got busy with their bats and from then on the only question was how large the score would be.

Callahan twirled a great game up until the fifth inning. Up to this time he had not faced him. He apparently wore himself out in doing this, as after the fifth, the High school players hit him all over the lot.

Furchner Bought; Chappelle Signed; Bausewein Fired

Manager Billy, Disgusted With Work of Players, Slips Fine to Some of Them.

Pitcher Al Furchner was signed today by the Crackers, and left with the team for Montgomery. He was formerly with Sioux City, in the Western league, and was brought here for a try-out by Manager Finn. Bill Chappelle, as was predicted by The Constitution, was also added to the staff today.

The Mobile manager has permitted Furchner to leave, owing to the splendid showing of the present staff. Manager Finn believes that he will make the Crackers a good team.

Pitcher George Bausewein was released by Manager Smith today, and sent back to the Charlotte, Carolina association club, from whom he was purchased.

Pitchers Brady and Price and Catcher Graham are reported to have been fined $25 by Manager Smith, but the latter would not admit this tonight.

Manager Smith is very much disgusted with the showing of his pitchers in the series with the Gulls, and intimates that unless there is a marked improvement in the work of the remaining members of the staff, they will follow Bausewein.

Chappelle Is Signed. Chattanooga, Tenn., May 7.—(Special.) Chappelle leaves tomorrow to report to Bill Smith in Montgomery. He has been working out daily since being left at home by Elberfeld and is ready to go in. The big pitcher claims that much of his lack of effectiveness this spring has been due to not using his spitter, the saliva ball being his principal asset.

RED SOX AND THE NAPS ENGAGE IN FISTICUFFS

Melee in the Clubhouse in Which Fourteen or Fifteen Players Take Part.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 7.—Various incidents of accident and roughness in the Boston-Cleveland American league game today caused some ill feeling which culminated in a melee in the clubhouse after the game, in which fourteen or fifteen players of both clubs were engaged, according to a report tonight.

Outfielder Graney was stunned for a moment when Fitcher Leonard tagged Graney on the forehead while putting him out at home. Various accusations of abusive language on the coaching lines and intentional roughness were made by both teams.

Immediately after the game, it is said, a Cleveland player and a Boston player came to blows in the clubhouse because of some abusive language which each claimed the other had used. After a dozen or more players of both teams had entered the argument, some as peacemakers, the difference was settled with no very lasting damage done.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP CAPTURED BY CLEMSON

Victorious in Singles and Doubles—Erwin and Erwin Won for Clemson.

Columbia, S. C., May 7.—Clemson college today won the championship in singles and in doubles in the southern intercollegiate tennis championship, which closed here today. J. W. Erwin and J. O. Erwin, representing Clemson in the doubles, defeated Oates and Chambers, of North Carolina, 7-5, 8-4, 6-4.

In the singles J. O. Erwin, of Clemson, defeated Oates, of North Carolina, in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

BRIDE AND DIAMONDS STRANGELY MISSING

San Francisco, May 7.—A search of all the bay cities was begun early today for Mrs. Robert Saxe, 18 years old, bride of two weeks. Mrs. Saxe left her home yesterday morning to go shopping, taking $2,000 worth of diamonds to be cleaned by a jeweler. The police are working on a theory that Mrs. Saxe was murdered.

MAN KILLED EVERY DAY BY NEW YORK GUNMEN

New York, May 7.—Gunmen of the east city killed their fifth man within four days today. Edward Antonio Scamaroni, formerly of Dayton, Ohio, the assassin used a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway, and escaped. The four other recent murders include that of David Minsor, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburg bridge.

Johnson Used Women AS SPARRING PARTNERS

Witnesses Tell of Brutality of Negro Pugilist at His Trial for Violating Mann Act.

Chicago, May 7.—White women who associated with Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight champion of the world, were used as sparring partners, according to charges of government attorneys today in the trial of Johnson, charged with violation of the Mann law.

Harry A. Parkin, assistant district attorney, declared the evidence would show that Johnson directed his fistie acquaintances to treat the women.

"As a result of his treatment of these girls," Mr. Parkin said, "they were frequently sent to hospitals with blackened eyes and bruised bodies."

Mr. Parkin, in addressing the jury, declared that while playing a vaudeville engagement he was living with three white girls in the same city and that he took them about the country with him. These women, he declared, were Belle Schreiber, a girl named "Battie" and Betty Burkes, whom Johnson later married and who subsequently killed herself while dependent over the ignominy of her life with the negro.

W. Jacobowski, Johnson's chauffeur, was the first witness. His testimony was that Johnson introduced evidence to show the character of Johnson. He said he would bring out detrimental facts which occurred previously to his fight at Reno in 1909, and would prove that while playing a vaudeville engagement he was living with three white girls in the same city and that he took them about the country with him.

Johnson's meeting Belle Schreiber, the woman he is charged with having transported from Pittsburgh to Chicago, in Cleveland, and again in Detroit, and of Johnson having sent his automobile to take the woman from a hotel to the theater where Johnson was appearing. Lillian Henderson, of Pittsburgh, the second witness, told of Belle Schreiber's leaving Pittsburgh in August, 1910.

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—Manager Jack Hayden, of the Louisville American association team, announced today that he had sold Pitcher Roger Salmon, a left-hander, to the New Orleans team, of the Southern league.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS
ACCUSED OF ANARCHY

Paterson, N. J., May 7.—The first of the trials of Industrial Workers of the World leaders arrested on charges growing out of the silk mill strike riots, was begun today when Patrick Quinlan, accused of preaching anarchy, faced the bar. William D. Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig will also be tried separately, the prosecutor announced. Quinlan, according to this indictment, the first of four pending against him, addressed a meeting of strikers the day they walked out, February 26, and urged them to parade to a silk mill and "bring the scabs" out of the building. On that day there were riots. Prosecutor Dunn told the jury today that Quinlan used violent and incendiary language and has been a ring leader since the strike was begun.

Several police officers, including Chief Elmsom, testified for the state today. They heard Quinlan speak an hour prior to the mill rioting, they swore. Tomorrow, other officers and citizens will be called to give similar testimony. The state will seek to prove that strikers went to the mills and caused disorder immediately after being addressed by Quinlan. The defense has indicated that an alibi will be offered. Quinlan's counsel contends Quinlan did not arrive here until about the time the riot began.

Robison Is Out Again.—Charles E. Robison, president of the Robison Furniture company, with places on East Hunter and South Pryor streets, and who has been a patient at the Grady hospital for nearly two months, is now able to be on the streets for a short time, though he is yet extremely weak.

MYSTERY STILL SHROUDS
AFFAIR OF MRS. ELLIS

Cordale, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—The theory that Mrs. W. K. Ellis jumped from the sleeper of an Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic train early yesterday morning at Ross in an attempt to commit suicide now appears probable as being correct. Though the affair is still shrouded in mystery, she has been very despondent since her confinement at the sanitarium here and still refuses to divulge the place of her residence. It is thought now that she has not given her correct name.

In a statement today she claims that her last story of yesterday, that she was traveling with her husband, though she says that they had been separated. A burden seems to be weighing heavily in her mind. It is thought by railroad officials that they have located the man who held the other ticket to the double berth occupied by the woman and who left the train and walked to Fitzgerald. There are conflicting reports as to the man's name, though it is known that it is not Ellis.

According to official reports the train was running not less than 35 miles an hour at the point where Mrs. Ellis states that she fainted and fell from the platform. The report of yesterday that both floors of the sleeper were locked between Montezuma and Cordale is reiterated today.

COMMON SENSE
President
Woodrow Wilson
Said: "If a man does not provide for all who are dependent upon him and if he has not that vision of conditions to come and that care for the days that have not yet dawned, which we sum up in the whole idea of Thrift and Saving—then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life."
