

800 MEN ARE SLAIN IN MEXIC BATTLE; FEDERALS FLEEING

Sonora State Troops Are Victorious in a Desperate Battle That Lasted for Hours Near Guaymas.

MANY MACHINE GUNS CAPTURED BY REBELS

Guaymas Proper Is Being Bombarded by Insurgents. Fifteen Hundred Federal Troops Abandon Parral.

Nogales, Ariz., May 10.—After an estimated loss of 409 men on both sides in fighting which lasted from 3 o'clock yesterday morning until midnight 2,500 federal war-driven back into Guaymas, the California gulf port by 3,000 in size at Nogales. Heavy machine guns captured reported today from Ortiz the state troop base indicated that the attack on Guaymas proper had begun.

The official insurgent report states that 150 federal soldiers and officers were captured and the machine guns abandoned to the state troops. Among the killed was Colonel Martinez chief of the federal artillery. To assist in the actual attack on Guaymas 250 cavalry were on the way from Agua Prieta opposite Douglas Ariz. All Sonora border towns today celebrated the victory.

Eight hundred insurgents under Juan Cabral took the aggressive in the center of the states advance last night. They moved along the right flank, the Yaqui Indians who pressed against the federal position with a wicked rifle fire. Five hundred cavalry moved down from the right wing under Majors Trujillo and Cutierrez, with General O'Brien commander of the state forces directing the advance from the center rear.

Federalists Forced to Retreat.

No persistent was the insurgents advance, forming a semi-circle of fire, that soon they were ordered to retreat despite their artillery defense.

Official state advice relate that during the fighting insurgents under Major Carlos Felix executed a flank rear movement striking the federal lines at Mayaguez between Ortiz and Guaymas. A train bearing 80 soldiers and three officers was captured and in the fighting 60 federalists were killed and seven privates and four officers captured.

The rebels under Colonel Benjamin Hill also struck the rear in a retreat in from points south of Guaymas.

These surprises led to a disorderly retreat of the government troops. Fifty federal prisoners were sent to Hermosillo. Chief of State and Major Cutierrez are reported killed.

PARRAL TAKEN BY THE REBELS; 1,500 HUERTA SOLDIERS EVACUATE

El Paso, Texas, May 10.—Parral rich mining center of southern Chihuahua state is in the hands of constitutionalists. The federal garrison of 1,500 having evacuated, according to the reports of an American mining man reaching here on a motorcycle today.

After leaving Parral the federal column proceeded toward Chihuahua City the state capital where all state forces were ordered mobilized two weeks ago. General Pancho Villa, who has recruited 400 men in the Guerrero district, is hurrying overland to assist other groups of insurgents in cutting off the retreating federalists.

Official confirmation of the evacuation of Parral has been admitted by General Antonio Rabago commander.

CONGRESSMAN YOUNG REFUSES TO KEEP SEAT

Michigan Man Says He's Convinced His Opponent Was Elected.

Washington, May 9.—Representative H. Otis Young republican, of Ishpeming, Mich., announced in a speech in the house today his intention of resigning his seat. He discussed the contest instituted by William J. McDonald a progressive, saying 458 votes counted for McDonald had not been counted for him and he did not feel justified in holding his seat.

The state board of canvassers issued a certificate to Mr. Young, declaring he had received an apparent majority of 281, after 428 ballots cast by mistake for Sheldon William J. McDonald.

Mr. Young declared the 458 electors intended to vote for McDonald and that he did not feel justified in holding the seat.

Mr. Young discussed at length the legal question involved in the canvass of the vote, saying the board of canvassers in throwing out 458 votes cast and the state courts, in upholding the decision, had acted in accordance with the Michigan election laws. He said he had delayed taking action to await a full investigation of the case.

"I am now convinced," he said "that if the 458 votes in dispute were counted for the contestant, the verdict would not be in my favor. I am convinced that those 458 electors intended to vote for William J. McDonald and, while under the law he is not entitled to these votes, I do not care to hold a seat that may be questioned by honorable and disinterested men. I therefore have prepared my resignation and will forward it to the secretary of state of Michigan and will file a copy with the speaker of the house."

In a hasty voice Mr. Young reviewed his associations during his ten year service in the house and expressed his regret at leaving.

Progressive Leader Murdock and Representative Hinesbaugh of Illinois, a progressive republican, Mr. Young argued in favor of giving Mr. McDonald the seat. In the discussion several members declared Mr. Young's resignation would in no way affect the right of Mr. McDonald to prosecute his contest.

HALL KILLED BY HALL AFTER LIE IS PASSED

I B Hall Charged With Murder of Dennis Hall by Coroner's Jury at Tifton

Tifton, Ga., May 10.—(Special)—Dennis Hall was shot and instantly killed by I B Hall this afternoon after a quarrel, in which the former is alleged to have called the latter a liar. The coroner's jury investigated the case and returned the verdict that Dennis Hall came to his death as a result of gunshot wounds at the hands of I B Hall and ordered that the slayer be held on a charge of murder.

Several weeks ago I B Hall rented the house that he was living in to Dennis Hall and moved to Florida. Recently he returned to Tifton and moved into the house he had sublet. I B Hall tried to force Dennis Hall out and took out ejectment papers against him. The men had quarreled frequently and each was expected at any time by the neighbors.

Dennis Hall had made arrangements to move from the house next Monday but the two men had a quarrel after dinner today the neighbors calling the police to quiet them. Dennis Hall is reported to have called I B Hall a liar and when he did I B Hall went into the portion of the house which he and his family were occupying for his pistol. Dennis went to town and on the way met Chief of Police Thrasher. He told Thrasher he did not want to have any more trouble with I B and was going to move to Florida Monday.

The chief had a talk with I B at the house, I B saying, it is alleged, that if Dennis returned a corpse would be carried away from the house.

Dennis returned to the house about half an hour later and was seen by neighbors to shoot a pistol which indicated something as he was going up the walk. It is said he walked through the house and back and sat down on the banister. I B Hall was sitting in a window that opened upon the porch and, after Dennis sat down, it is reported, he opened the door and fired two shots. One went wild. The shot which took effect entered just above the left breast, coming out a few inches below and back of the right arm pit. When shot, Dennis Hall ran into the house through the hall and into his room, where he opened the door and shot.

Both men are married and have families. The wife of Dennis Hall has been hysterical since the shooting and is under the care of a doctor. Dennis Hall's father, Toke Hall, lives near Moultrie. He has a large number of relatives. The parties in the shooting are not related.

I B Hall stated that the dead man was advancing on him with a pair of scissors when he shot him. Testimony of some alleged witnesses does not bear out his statement, however.

Hall has a brother living in Tifton and other relatives in Laurens county.

MANAGER OF CAFE STABBED BY YOUTH

"Didn't Like Way Gilbert Talked About My Mother," 18-Year-Old Boy Tells the Police After His Arrest.

Owen Gilbert, manager of Scherrer's cafe, was stabbed and probably fatally wounded at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Georgia pool room, at 40 Peachtree street, by Arthur Bridwell, an 18-year-old boy, whose mother was formerly employed by Gilbert as waitress at Scherrer's restaurant.

Bridwell was arrested shortly afterwards at the Atlanta theater by Plain Clothes Officers Green and McKibben. He refused to make any statement other than to say that he didn't like the way that Gilbert talked about his mother.

According to J. F. Grogan, manager of the poolroom, Gilbert came in his establishment shortly before 5 o'clock and asked him if he knew an Arthur Bridwell. Grogan replied in the affirmative saying that he did not know him personally, but that he frequently played pool there.

Gilbert and Bridwell Meet.

Shortly after this according to Grogan, Bridwell came in and asked the pool room keeper pointing him out to him Gilbert called him over to his side.

Grogan says that he left them then, and gave the matter no more thought until he saw Bridwell stab the other in the side with a long knife.

He then ran up to them and grasped with Bridwell managing to keep out of reach of the knife. He declares that, Bridwell struggled with him and that seeing that he could not get away said "like you Grogan you're a fine fellow and all that, but if you don't let go of me I'll do to you just what I did to the other fellow."

Grogan then let go of him and Bridwell ran out into the street. Gilbert had fallen on the floor blood flowing copiously from the wound just below his heart.

He was rushed to Grady hospital and placed on the operating table. The wound penetrated through the side into the kidneys nearly six inches and was causing internal hemorrhages. Doctors expressed the belief that he would not live through the night. Officers in the meantime were looking for Bridwell. After an exhaustive search, he was found asleep in the bill room of the Atlanta theater. He was captured without any fight.

Mrs. Bridwell Figures.

Mrs. Bridwell is employed at the Brittain hotel as waitress. It is believed that her name figured in the controversy that led to the stabbing. Gilbert lives at 45 1/2 Auburn avenue. Bridwell when formally charged with assault to murder gave his address as the Peachtree hotel. He said that he did not do any work.

In his cell he maintained an air of indifference and refused to make any statement further than the one that he had already made to detectives. "I guess you'll find out Monday morning," was all he would say when questioned for his motive in stabbing Gilbert. Gilbert was in no condition to tell what the trouble was about and it seems that there were no persons there who actually heard the conversation leading up to the trouble.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA FAILS TO SAVE SHORT

Found Guilty of Murdering J. D. Bass at Sylvester—Jury Out for 39 Hours.

Sylvester, Ga., May 10.—(Special)—Alva F. Short, charged with killing J. D. Douglas Bass, was today found guilty of murder with the recommendation of the jury for mercy. The verdict was returned shortly before noon after the jury had been out since 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Short and Linwood W. Lundy his brother-in-law, were jointly indicted for the crime the trial of Lundy having been continued until June 18. The killing occurred on April 9 in the rear of the principal business block of town, to which place Bass the deceased, had been called by Short.

In his statement the accused alleged that Bass for three years or more had been trying to run after his wife and was talking about her. He also stated that he told Bass that he must leave the county but that he failed to do so and that he called him to the place of the killing to warn him to leave at once. He claims that Bass then attempted to shoot him but that he was not quick enough and he killed him. The accused claimed that he had no intention of killing Bass when he called him aside.

When found Bass had gripped in his hand a pistol that had not been fired and he had been shot once in the back of the neck and three times in the front and side of the body. In the pockets of the dead man were found two letters urging him to go out on a road in the direction of Short's home to a certain spot at a certain time. Short admitted writing these letters which were not signed and stated that he did so in order to determine whether or not there was any improper intimacy between his wife and Bass. The letters requested Bass to reply as to his intention of coming to the spot stated and gave a fictitious address to which to write.

The state alleged conspiracy between Short and Lundy, though Lundy alleges an alibi and states that he was not present until after the killing. The two were conflicting and will be threshed out in the trial of Lundy in June.

WOMAN IN THE CASE TELLS ABOUT O'HARA

Miss Robinson Says That Her Relations With the Lieutenant Governor Have Not Been "Unduly Intimate."

Chicago, May 10.—Maud Robinson, accuser, and Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara, respondent, in accusations of immorality presented in the Illinois senate against the latter, today offered before the senate investigation committee testimony which differed in one detail but agreed in essential matters.

He denied improper intimacy, and differed in the single statement made by Miss Robinson that on the night of January 17 O'Hara visited the suites at the Hotel Sherman occupied by Miss Robinson and another woman. According to Miss Robinson, O'Hara called at the apartment after the Thomas Weddenburgh, Harry Gibbons, a Chicago court bailiff, Miss Robinson and another woman had visited the cafe of the Hotel Sherman, and the Lamb's cafe across the street.

O'Hara stated and in this testimony he was supported by Frank J. Jackson an advertising man, that after leaving the Lamb's cafe, the second one visited that evening, he met Jackson at the Press club, took a midnight lunch with the latter at a short-order restaurant, and then went home, accompanied by Jackson. In this connection he offered to produce as witnesses his mother and his father.

Played Poker at Press Club

He accounted in similar detail for his public appearance on the next day, January 18, at a luncheon, banquet and at the theater. He named numerous witnesses who would confirm his testimony on these points. On the remainder of the 18th he played poker with members of the Press club, naming a number of them, until 1 o'clock Sunday morning. In support of this story he offered to produce checks against him at the Press club. This was the morning of the 19th. The rest of the day he spent at his office and the home of his parents. He attended the Olympic theater late in the afternoon and sat in a box alone. His appearance at the theater was explained by him as follows:

The manager of the theater, a friend, had given him a box to attend the first performance of a play on the night in question. In support of this story he offered to produce checks against him at the Press club. This was the morning of the 19th. The rest of the day he spent at his office and the home of his parents. He attended the Olympic theater late in the afternoon and sat in a box alone. His appearance at the theater was explained by him as follows:

A special force of policemen and detectives called from the station by Harper scoured the neighborhood, and finally chased a small body of negroes under the impression that they might have been in the party.

O'Hara dropped in at the play late because the manager of the theater desired to obtain his opinion of the production. Leaving the theater O'Hara met Vredenburg and the two women, and, being urged "look a sandwich" with them at a cafe. He then returned to his home.

In his testimony O'Hara said he could not remember the name of the woman who was with Miss Robinson. He stated, however, that Vredenburg had told him that he had registered the women as having husbands, at the request of the women who had a parlor in common. Vredenburg explained.

Detective Is Shot Through Jaw While Raiding Crap Game

Ten Negroes Are Placed Under Arrest, But the Lookout, Badly Wounded, Stumbles Away to Safety.

Detective Sam Webb was shot through the jaw last night about 12 o'clock when he and Detective W. B. Harper raided a negro crap game on Alexander street, between the Peachtree trees.

The negro who did the shooting escaped up an alleyway. There were supposed to be nearly a dozen men in the game, and all of them escaped in the excitement following the shooting of the detective.

Webb's wounds, which are painful but not fatal, were dressed by Dr. J. A. Alley, of Peachtree Inn, and he was rushed to Grady hospital in G. C. Dugan's automobile.

A special force of policemen and detectives called from the station by Harper scoured the neighborhood, and finally chased a small body of negroes under the impression that they might have been in the party.

OFFICER SWEARS HE FOUND FRANK WITH YOUNG GIRL

Robert House, Now a Special Policeman, Tells the Atlanta Detectives of an Incident of Over a Year Ago.

SEES FRANK IN TOWER AND RECOGNIZES HIM

Three More Pinkertons Are Put on the Phagan Case, Under the Supervision of Harry Scott.

Detectives have procured in Robert P. House, a special policeman, a witness who has testified that he once apprehended Leo M. Frank, the suspect in the Mary Phagan mystery, and a young girl in a desolate spot of the woods in Druid Hills Park.

The policeman declares he obtained admission from Frank that he and his companion had come to the woods for immoral purpose.

House is a special officer in the employ of the Druid Hills Land company. Several days ago, he went to the tower in which the suspected superintendent was imprisoned to identify him. When he emerged from the jail, he declared he recognized the prisoner as the man he had apprehended in Druid Hills.

Volunteers His Testimony.

He volunteered his testimony upon first reading of the Phagan murder, he recalled the incident in the woods. Recollecting that the man had told that he was superintendent of the National Pencil factory, he says he went immediately to the detective department, and an officer escorted him to Frank's cell in the Tower.

The policeman says the incident occurred a year or two ago, some time after 2 o'clock one summer afternoon. He declares he had seen Frank enter the park frequently with a girl, and on that particular occasion decided to shadow him. As the superintendent and his girl companion stepped from the Ponce de Leon to Druid Hills trolley car at the end of the line, House says he followed them to a swampy section of the woodland, considerable distance from the roadway.

House says that the girl was apparently young, and wore a dress slightly above her shoe tops. Frank and she, he says, entered a spot concealed from view by trees and shrubbery.

House declares he watched them several minutes, then stepped into sight. Frank, he states, jumped up and came forward before the policeman could reach the girl. House quotes him as having said:

"I admit that we came here for immoral purpose. Please don't make a case against us or arrest us. It would disgrace us both. We will leave instantly."

Both Leave the Park.

The policeman says that he assured him that no case or arrest would be made, but ordered both the man and girl to leave the park. Frank, he avers, was profusely grateful.

House states further that he watched Frank and the girl leave the woodland and disappear over the hill, although they were going to catch the Clifton car for town. He did not see the girl's features clearly he says, and would not be able to recognize her.

He was county policeman for five years. For the two past years, he has been employed with the Druid Hills Land company, and lives on their property in Druid Hills. He says that Frank showed no sign of recognition when he went into the Tower to identify the prisoner, and neither spoke, as it was the intention of the

M'ADOO MAY VALUE ALL THE IMPORTS

Amendment Proposed to Tariff Bill to Prevent Undervaluations—G. O. P. Wants Public Hearing.

Washington, May 10.—Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, sees merit in an amendment to the tariff bill suggested today by Assistant Attorney General Denison and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis to authorize the secretary of the treasury to proclaim valuations on imports. It is claimed that would prevent undervaluations and to avoid confusion resulting from fluctuating foreign market values and ad valorem rates.

After the department officials had explained their proposed amendment to the senator today he declared it a worthy proposal, and said that it would receive the most thorough consideration by the committee. The plan seemed to him to be of chief value as an absolute preventive of fraud on the part of importers in wilful undervaluations to reduce duties they would be required to pay.

"The bill, as it is," said Chairman Simmons, "has many safeguards against undervaluations, but the proposed amendment to the secretary of the treasury to fix import valuations in the American market would be an additional check. It would answer the principal objection advanced toward an ad valorem tariff for the reason that question will be given the most serious consideration." The plan will be taken up by the committee next week. Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, also was consulted by Mr. Denison and Mr. Curtis.

Would Lessen Litigation.

President Wilson has been apprised that such an amendment would cut down litigation, take much work from the board of appraisers, and is believed by its proponents to be absolutely necessary for the successful working of an ad valorem tariff bill.

Another amendment proposed would make it unlawful for any person to take up appeals from appraised valuations on a contingent fee basis. Assistant Attorney General Denison said today that the amendment with the provision already in the bill requiring a fee of $1 for all protests and appeals would curtail customs litigation 50 per cent.

The proposed amendment, which injects a complete revision of the administration of the tariff law, was conceived by Assistant Attorney General Denison, who was chairman of the presidential commission that investigated the board of general appraisers several months ago. The recommendations of the commission for sweeping changes in the present methods of appraisement and classification recently were submitted to the congress by President Wilson.

Contest Over Public Hearing.

Chief interest in the tariff now lies in the contest over the question of public hearings precipitated by Senator Penrose. There is a possibility the republicans may rally enough democratic support to their plan to defeat the majority party in its tariff program at this juncture. Such a development undoubtedly would result in giving up consideration of the measure in the senate. That is the chief objection. They feel that hearings would not result in material alterations of the bill that the country is entitled to the new law as soon as it possibly can be made ready for the statute books.

BARNESVILLE, GA.

On Wednesday afternoon the Civic club held the first regular business meeting in the new clubhouse in Stafford park.

Mrs. S. W. Jones entertained the Philathetas at her home on Stafford avenue. Quite a number of ladies were present to enjoy the hospitality of the charming hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. J. E. Bush and Mrs. M. B. McClain.

Inman Park Girls Will Work for the Woman's Edition

Inman Park club which will aid the Woman's Edition of The Constitution.

The Inman Park club is the latest addition to the city federation of women's organizations, and their first work after federation is in the interest of the Woman's Edition of The Constitution, which will be published by the Georgia Federation in June. They will secure subscriptions for the edition, and made their first campaign trip in Mrs. Otley's automobile Tuesday.

The officers of the club are: Mrs. S. C. Dobbs, president; Miss Lucie Coulter, vice-president; Miss Lucy Stockard, recording secretary; Miss Rosabelle Chapman, corresponding secretary; Miss Lois Pattillo, treasurer.

The office of "major" was created for the work for the woman's edition, which Miss Lucie Dennis will efficiently fill.

The members of the club are: Mrs. Dobbs, Mrs. Victor Kriegshaber, Miss Lucie Dennis, Miss Jennie Lee Bell, Miss Mary Goodrich, Miss Lucie Goodrich, Miss Louise George, Miss Marion Fordus, Miss Emma Perry, Miss Rosabelle Chapman, Miss Inez Perkle, Mrs. J. G. Leon, Miss Louise Pattillo, Miss Pearl Coulter, Miss Martha Smith and Miss Mamie Quillian.

These thirty girls have worked in various ways, making money to aid many of Atlanta's worthy charities. They have helped, from time to time, the Students' Aid fund, Associated Charities, different orphan homes and other organizations. At present they are making linen bibs, at $1 a piece, for dentists.

Their gifts since September follow: Deatur Orphans' home, $5; Inman Park Methodist church, $20; Needlework Guild, $10; Mountain family, $5; penny lunch fund, $5; Georgian empty stocking fund, $5; Wesley Memorial hospital, $20; Associated Charities, $5; Rescue home, $10; Travelers' Aid, $10.

Miss Lucie Dennis is chairman of the committee directing work for the woman's edition.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION SHATTERS A VILLAGE

Three Men Killed Outright and Forty Persons Injured, Twenty Seriously.

Uniontown, Pa., May 10.—The explosion of 600 sticks of dynamite in the magazine of the Sunshine Coal and Coke company's mine, No. 1, 3 miles from Masontown, Pa., at 1 o'clock today practically wiped out the little mining settlement, killed three men and injured forty persons, twenty of them seriously. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Of the dead only one has been identified. His name is given as Harry Bossa. His head was blown off. The other two men were in the magazine when it exploded, and were blown to pieces.

The general store, the residence of Francis Rocks, an official of the company, and twenty-five small dwellings were made uninhabitable, and tonight the residents were forced to move to another mining settlement.

It is said that the body of Bossa was thrown 200 yards. Mrs. Ella Barnhart, who is blind, was blown across a room and was found beneath a pile of debris.

There were freight cars near the magazine, one of which was loaded with dynamite. According to reports received in Uniontown this afternoon the cars were blown through the general store. Later it was ascertained that the roof was blown off one car and the others were hurled from their tracks.

Physicians were sent to the settlement from Masontown, and gave medical attention to those who were not brought to the hospital in this city.

NEWMAN, GA.

The marriage of Miss Lizzie Belle Farmer and Mr. J. T. Bohannon, which will occur on June 4, will be an interesting event. Several parties have been planned in compliment to the attractive bride. Wilder, by Mrs. S. C. Daniel, selections by Mrs. C. T. Foy, a magazine review by Mrs. J. W. Drewry and booklets by Mrs. Foy.

A brilliant dance was enjoyed Tuesday evening at the armory following the reception of the Smith-Foy wedding. Many out-of-town guests were entertained by the young people of the city at the dance.

Miss G. G. Wilkerson, who attended the grand opera at Atlanta, had returned home, accompanied by her sister, Miss Dorothy Ezell, of Atlanta.

One of the most elegant social affairs of the spring was the bridge party given Saturday in honor of Miss Mary Wilson Foy, a bride of the week, by Mrs. Albert Moulthrop, Miss Marie Locke won the prize, while Miss Foy was presented with a sash of favor.

A sash shower was given Friday by Miss Sarah Rose, in honor of Miss Mary Wilson Foy, a bride of the week.

Mrs. Stella Guice and Mrs. Lucie D. Mitchell entertained with a reception Monday night in honor of the bridal party and chorus of the Smith-Foy wedding, delightful refreshments being served during the pleasant hours of the evening.

Mrs. E. R. Brannen, who has been visiting Mrs. A. J. Miller, has returned to her home in Troy.

Miss Janet McDowell entertained the Sewing club Thursday evening, which was presented in a reception room prettily adorned with roses. After several pleasant hours a salad course was served.

A party of twenty-five little girls, chartered by Misses Orsile Blair and Marjorie Long, enjoyed a picnic at the pump station Saturday.

A brilliant reception was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. A. J. Miller and Mrs. E. W. Vance, at the residence of the former, in honor of their guests, Mrs. E. R. Brannen, of Troy, and Mrs. E. L. Norton, of Perry, Ga.

Miss L. E. R. was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. W. S. McCormick.

The Music Lovers' club was entertained by Miss Janie McNab Wednesday night.

The Tuesday Card club was entertained this week by Mrs. W. S. Brit, whose home was attractive for the occasion with a profusion of sweetpeas in varied colors. The game prize, a pair of silk hose, won by Mrs. Ed Dantzer. A salad course was served after the games.

The May meeting of Barbour County chapter, U. D. G., was held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. M. Thompson, who welcomed her guests at her pretty home on Sanford street.

BAINBRIDGE, GA.

The most delightful social event of the season was the fancy dress masque ball, given Tuesday night by Mr. Charles K. Caldwell, at his beautiful country home, Lincoln.

White and red carnations in profusion decorated the parlors, ball room and dining room, and numerous Japanese lanterns lighted the gardens, forming a picturesque setting for the masqueraders. Miss Gertrude Philpot served punch. There were about 200 guests present.

Mrs. Laurel Tonge entertained the Monday Afternoon Sewing club last week.

Mrs. Charles Parker was hostess for the Junior Aid Wednesday afternoon.

The young men of the dancing set complimented the visiting girls with a dance at the Elks' club rooms Wednesday night.

The play, "Maid's Bachelors and Matchmakers," given Friday night by the High School Dramatic club, was an affair of unusual interest, the occasion being the formal opening of the school auditorium.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell has as his house guests, Mrs. W. H. Dyer and Miss Beross Dyer, of Valdosta; Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Ogleby, of Milledgeville; Mrs. Jones, of Montgomery; and Miss Sara Towers, of Americus.

Mrs. John Donelson, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter Thompson, of Philadelphia, for the past several weeks, returned Sunday.

"It's Old Dobbin for Me, And No More Joy Rides" usher at the theater, escaped with slight bruises.

"Supper in the wee sma' hours and breakfast in bed at noon the next day may seem a whole lot pleasanter than this 'early to bed and early to rise' stunt, but just the same it's better to be tucked in between the covers just as soon as the show's over. And, believe me, he may not look as stylish, but Old Dobbin, hitched to the shay, is a whole lot safer than the finest French limousine that was ever invented."

This may not sound much like the philosophy of a real, honest-to-goodness chorus leader, just the same, it is the "back-to-nature" advice that pretty Miss Adele Reilly, one of the show girls at the Old Mill, who was hurt in the auto smash-up on Peachtree road at an early hour Saturday morning, is dispensing now.

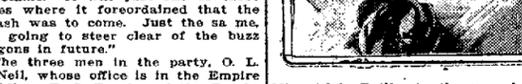

Dropped up on white pillows, attended constantly by a nurse and physician, Miss Reilly told of the accident yesterday, not without shuddering as she graphically described how the car had plunged into the embankment, tossing out her and Miss Ethel Ray, another chorus girl. Miss Ray, who has been at Grady hospital since the accident, and is badly, but not fatally, hurt.

"I don't know who to blame for accident," said Miss Reilly. "I really don't believe that any of us were. We were going pretty fast, but it just seemed like the car itself wanted to go into the bank. We hadn't skidded, making any of the other turns, but just then we rode straight into the side of the road.

"I didn't realize what had happened until, before I was thrown entirely out of the machine. That's about all that I remember about it.

"No, I don't think that anybody was to blame. It was just one of those cases where it foreordained that the smash was to come. Just the same, I'm going to steer clear of the buzz wagons in future."

that this was because the women desired to receive their friends, including several men, without having their guests annoyed by possible questioning on the part of the hotel management. The lieutenant governor also stated that he was in the city during the period under investigation did he take a drink of anything intoxicating.

In interviews at Madison, Wis., with Mrs. Mabel Davidson Inbusch, daughter of former Governor James G. Davidson, of Wisconsin, whose name had been brought into the story as the companion of Miss Robinson, Mrs. In-

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, to matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, removing the cause and curing the troubles. It makes right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid used against Mr. O'Hara by stool keepers and dive keepers, who resent his investigation. He declared she admitted the possibility that she might have been in Chicago at the time in question, but declared if she was, she was staying with friends, and not at any hotel.

After a Number of Drinks.

After a number of drinks, witness declared that she, Mrs. Inbusch and Vredenburg went to the Hotel Sherman, leaving Gibbons and O'Hara in front of the cafe.

Later in the evening she said O'Hara called at the apartment.

Miss Robinson testified she went to the hotel on January 17 and remained there three days.

Witness said that she signed the affidavit at the request of Samuel Davis, a liquor dealer of Springfield, who assured her that it never would be made public, but would be used only to coerce O'Hara into steering his vice investigation away from Davis.

Later Davis asked her to sign a second affidavit against O'Hara, but upon the advice of a lawyer friend, she declined to do so.

"Why didn't he want you to sign it?" "Because he said Davis might not keep his promise to keep the affidavit secret," replied Miss Robinson.

Miss Robinson testified she had been married, then divorced, and that she and her mother were in the dressmaking business in Springfield.

Mrs. Inbusch Denies.

"I have nothing to do with this affair," she never stayed at the Hotel Sherman, nor do I know Mr. O'Hara, and I never knew Maud Robinson," declared Mrs. Inbusch today, according to a special dispatch from Madison.

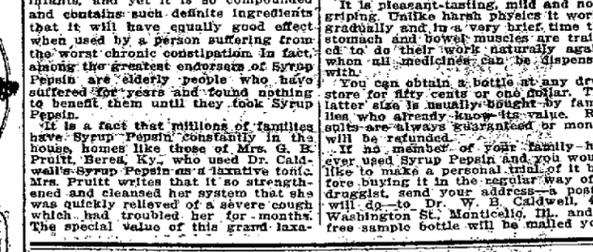

Mrs. Inbusch said she believed the bringing of her name into this is a safe-keeping. He declared that there had been only $167 in it when he found it.

LOOKING FOR WORKMEN, HE LOSES HIS PURSE

W. F. Brooks, a saw mill superintendent from Meansville, Ga., came to Atlanta yesterday to secure additional laborers for his plant. He obtained the promise of one man to go to work on Monday, and while he was searching for other prospective sawmill operators, he found that his purse, which he says contained $200, was missing.

His first thought was of the man who had promised to work for him, and he reported the case to police headquarters. Officers got on the lookout, and about 10 o'clock last night Detective Vickary and Hamby plucked off from the rods of a freight car a man who had the purse, and also $154.50.

At headquarters the man gave his name as James Brennan. He declared that Brooks had dropped the pocketbook on the floor, and that he had picked it up and taken it with him for the bringing of her name into this is a safe-keeping. He declared that there had been only $167 in it when he found it.

Pomp and Glitter to Mark Second Tour of Old Guard; Entertainment at White House to Be Feature of Trip

Old Guard Battalion as it will appear in its second tour of the north.

The Old Guard battalion of the Gate City Guard will have distinguished military escort when it marches from the Piedmont hotel to the Terminal station next Monday morning, May 19, at 9:30 o'clock, to take the special train which will be waiting to convey the command to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

The officers of the Seventeenth United States Infantry from Fort McPherson and the local officers of the Georgia national guard have been invited to form the escort. There will also be a band. The Old Guard will march in full dress uniform. Over 100 of its members will take part in this parade, though only between fifty and sixty will go on the trip.

The purpose of this tour is to meet again the military and other organizations that so warmly indorsed the "mission of peace" of this command, when the Old Guard visited the above named cities thirty-four years ago. The party will leave Atlanta on Monday morning over the Southern railroad and will arrive in Washington early Tuesday morning.

To be entertained at White House. The command will be received by President and Mrs. Wilson in the east room of the white house. At this special reception the Old Guard will present Mrs. Woodrow Wilson with a bouquet of roses picked from the lawn of her old home in Rome, Ga.

While in Washington they will also be entertained by military organizations. They will go from Washington to Baltimore over the Pennsylvania railroad, spending a day and night in Baltimore, entertained by the Fifth Maryland regiment. From Baltimore, they go to Philadelphia, New York and Boston, spending a day or two in each city, returning to New York May 31 and leaving by boat the same day for Savannah. They will arrive in Savannah on the morning of June 3 and will spend the day there, coming back that night by rail to Atlanta, arriving here over the Central of Georgia railway on the morning of June 4 at 8:25 o'clock.

The Old Guard will go north this year under command of Colonel

Joseph F. Burke, who led them in 1879 on their historic and patriotic peace mission. In many of the cities they will be entertained by the same organizations that met them and indorsed their peace mission and many of the members of the Old Guard who are going north this year will be veterans who took part in that other trip.

The Fifth Maryland regiment, Baltimore; the State Fencibles, Philadelphia; the Old Guard, of New York; the Twenty-first Infantry, New York national guard; the Putnam Phalanx, at Hartford; the Governor's Foot Guard, at Hartford; the Ancient and Honorable artillery company, of Boston; the Washington Light Infantry, are among the northern military organizations which have extended the hand of brotherhood to the Old Guard. Many of these were present in Atlanta in October, 1911, when the Peace monument of the Gate City Guard was unveiled in Piedmont park.

Instructions issued.

Captain and Quartermaster Bolling H. Jones has issued the following circular of instructions to all members of the battalion who are going on the trip:

"All baggage must be plainly marked with the owner's name and delivered at 10 a. m. Monday, May 19, 1913. Do not use tags on your baggage.

"Each member will take a suitcase and a shako case for his full dress military suit, belt, sabre, shako and cap. A citizen's (business) suit also, if there should be space for it in your suitcase.

"Whenever it may be necessary to transfer baggage notice will be given to the members in ample time. A transportation agent will accompany the battalion.

"No laundry work can be done en route, except at New York.

"A daily bulletin will be posted in the offices of the hotel, stating the hours for the battalion to assemble."

Membership of Old Guard.

The present membership of the Old Guard of the Gate City Guard is composed as follows:

J. F. Burke, colonel; E. J. Sprattling, captain and adjutant; Bolling H. Jones, captain and quartermaster; A. McD. Wilson, captain and commander.

Staff—W. M. Crumley, captain; Dr. E. L. Connally, Louis Gholstela, colonel; Benjamin B. Crew.

First Company—George M. Napier, captain; Charles P. Byrd, first lieutenant; John W. Murrell, second lieutenant.

Second Company—F. J. Cooleage, captain; P. F. Clarke, first lieutenant; A. H. Davis, second lieutenant.

Non-Commissioned Line Officers—W. E. Hancock, first sergeant, first company; Harrison Jones, first sergeant, second company; W. O. Wilson, second sergeant, first company; F. M. Berry, second sergeant, second company.

Privates—W. W. Austell, F. M. Akers, C. L. Anderson, Milton N. Armstrong, J. Epps Brown, A. M. Bancker, C. B.

Woodward, G. A. Wright and C. G. Winn.

DOG MUZZLING LAW VETOED BY MAYOR

Conflicts With Other Good Laws Which Van Dyke Measure Would Repeal.

Because the Van-Dyke-Nutting ordinance, passed at the last meeting of council, repeals every other ordinance on the subject of dogs, Mayor Woodward has vetoed the celebrated "dog muzzling" measure over which the city council has squabbled at the last two meetings.

Mayor Woodward says there are a number of good laws in the code which gives the police and city authorities the power to free the streets of stray dogs, but if the Van Dyke-Nutting ordinance is approved and made a law all the other ordinances will be wiped out.

The mayor points to the ordinance which authorizes the city clerk to collect a license as one of the laws which will be repealed by the Van Dyke-Nutting measure.

Crap-Shooters Drop Bones For Razors and Pistols; One Dead and One Dying

During an exciting "crap" game in the rear of 202 Washington street, last night, a crowd of darkies suddenly abandoned the "bones" and reached for razors and guns. By the time that officers were summoned to the place by the volley of shots and the screams of the aroused neighborhood, John Smith had been shot to death, John Henry Adams' throat was gashed from ear to ear, and Brantley Pitts had a bullet hole through his wrist.

Adams, the negro who is said to be in a dying condition, is held as the slayer of Smith, and also as the man who shot the other negro in the wrist, Charlie Pitts, a brother to Brantley, is held for cutting the throat of the Adams negro.

"We was er shootin' craps an' some nigger reached for his razor," was the explanation given by one of the darkies. Other than that the general melee started from words passed when one of the darkies "crapped out," the officers can assign no reason to the general fight.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK FAST TRAIN ON ERIE

Paterson, N. J., May 10.—Westbound train No. 5 on the Erie railroad, known as the Chicago express, had a narrow escape from wreck tonight when the locomotive crashed into a pile of rocks on the tracks, evidently placed by would-be train wreckers. The engineer sighted the obstruction in time however, to slow down so that only the locomotive pilot was smashed. No one was hurt.

Last Monday the Erie board of directors in New York received a letter of the black hand type, which read: "If you continue to stop trains for the accommodation of scabs at Paterson we will cause an accident which will cause the Erie railroad to have damage and a loss for amounts running into millions."

Work Starts Monday on Three-Story Apartment House

NEW APARTMENT HOUSE.

Work will start on Monday on a new three-story apartment house at the corner of Washington and Bass streets. The building will be erected by S. S. Selig, Jr., at a cost of $25,000.

A. F. N. Everett, the architect, has just completed the plans, which call for a building with nine apartments of six rooms each. Each apartment will have private front and back porches, as well as a sleeping porch and sun parlor. The building will be equipped with steam heat, electricity and all modern conveniences.

Buff pressed brick will form the exterior. The roof will be of tile.

The contract for the construction of the building has been let to the Graham Manufacturing company. The building will be ready for occupancy by September 1, and when completed will be one of the handsomest and best equipped of the smaller apartment houses in the city.

MISSOURI METHODISTS OPPOSE BISHOP DENNY

For That Reason He Was Not Reassigned to Hold St. Louis Conference.

St. Louis, May 10.—It developed here today that the failure of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, to re-assign Bishop Collins Denny to preside over the St. Louis conference is attributed to a petition against Bishop Denny presented by official members of nearly all the churches of the denomination in St. Louis.

The board of bishops, at their meeting in Dallas, a few days ago, assigned Bishop E. E. Hines to the St. Louis conference, which meets next September. The petition against Bishop Denny contained a complaint that in 1911 he appointed the Rev. C. S. Hawkins, a leading elder of St. Louis over the protest of leading laymen.

As a result of the appointment of the Rev. Mr. Hawkins, it was said the aggressive work of the church in St. Louis has languished and three building projects were not assured of success. It was stated to lack of cooperation, the result of a feeling on the part of laymen that under the administration of Rev. Mr. Hawkins they had been slighted.

Roosevelt to Speak

Raleigh, N. C., May 10.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, has accepted the invitation to make the commencement address before the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, Tuesday, May 16. Mr. Roosevelt has announced his subject in coming to the state college here, he speaks to the boys whom his chief, Josephus Daniels, has taught many years in the Sunday school department of the Methodist church. It is the first visit of an assistant secretary to a North Carolina college.

SCALP COVERED WITH MILK CRUST

Across Top of Head and Behind Ears. Head Mass of Sores. Lost All of Hair. Itching Terrible. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 3 Weeks Place Healed.

Bowling Green, Va.—"My baby when one month old broke out on her scalp as I thought with heat. In a day or so the pimples had spread from one to the other until her scalp was covered across the top of her head and behind her ears with what we called milk crust. Her head was a mass of sores. Every day it got worse. She lost all of her hair wherever there was a scab. The itching was terrible as she couldn't get much sleep sometimes. Her face was covered with blood. It seemed as if nothing I could do would give her relief as she cried for hours at a time.

So great was her agony when she was three months old I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them twice she slept better and her scalp began to heal. In three weeks' time the terrible crust had come off leaving the place healed. I continued to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment daily and when she was six months old her hair had grown out and there was no sign of a return of milk-crust. Now she has a lovely suit of hair." (Signed) Mrs. Chas. A. Seal, Aug. 2, 1912.

No other ailments do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scales, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and chapped nails. Cuticura Soap 25c and Cuticura Ointment 50c are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Woman Shown By Mrs. Trask In Role of Peace Emissary

By Emma Deady.

At the very moment of time when the boat of civilization becomes almost humorless in the prevailing clouds of war which hover over the nations of two continents, it is hopeful-inspiring, to hear the voice of woman raised in a prayer for universal peace.

For centuries, her voice, in heroic spirit, has blended with the notes of martial music, leading the soldier on, in her traditional ideal of patriotism, she has smiled as the lover, taking his colors from her trembling young hands, spurred his horse on to mortal combat.

She has smiled and waved adieu to the soldier-husband whom she saw no more in life, and she has stood nobly the sobe that broke in upon the blessings she murmured when her first born—her son—answered the bugle call of his regiment.

Tragedy of Centuries. This scene of the woman and the soldier has furnished the tragedy of centuries. It represents one of the last and most clinging of pagan traditions, and with its awe-inspiring music, its test of the depth of human emotion, its glamour in the spirit and fire of arms, it has relentlessly beat back the spirit of rationalism, even in the last and this—two centuries.

Peace and arbitration has become an organized cause, and among the first individuals of society to commit the message to world events have been two women—the Baroness Von Suttner, an Austrian gentlewoman and philanthropist, and Selma Lagerlof, the great Norwegian woman writer.

And now comes the American woman raising her voice in positive utterance and proclaiming the justice of peace when in her third drama, "In the Vanguard," Katrina Trask (Mrs. Spencer Trask) puts the philosophy of the most rational of world movements in a charming literary production.

Critics Will Differ. The dramatic critics, some of whom would question the liberty Mrs. Trask has taken in certain forms of dramatic construction; others would reason with her that there are times when peace and arbitration cannot fulfill the purpose of war, but the dominant thought—the philosophy—which Mrs. Trask has put in the spirits of her drama—stands invincible in the proclamation of peace—peace as the only principle which can solve the most dominant problems which confront today's part in the making of higher civilization. There is an optimism, a clearness, a tolerance of opposition, as gentle as the May day scene with which the drama opens, working through the production, which is marked by the convinced attitude of the writer as she penned the lines which make of this contribution to literature one which fills more than the usual purpose of the drama. In it, Mrs. Trask may be one of the first to answer the oft-asked question, "What will our national drama be? Will it be the drama with the hero, the heroine, or the group of people?" She has made it "In the Vanguard," the drama of the man and the woman, with the beauty and the spirit, and tradition of both sexes held to; with mutual sacrifices, and the final ending by both, and acceptance of the supreme ideal.

The popular arguments of the war vary have been noted by the gifted American dramatist, and she meets them gently, concisely, almost soothingly.

Present Spirit of Rational Thought. She presents the spirit of rational thought, in the good citizen of the drama. She helps along the flippant talk and tottering arguments of the superficial thinker and would-be teacher who mistakes worldly tradition and pagan valor for Christian philosophy, and she brings out as clear as the sun the light of applied religion, and the relation to it, of universal peace.

The observer of women's activities of today, with their strenuous, their oft-time too militant forms of expression, and she brings out as clear as the sun the light of applied religion, and the relation to it, of universal peace.

Peace in this country of ours should be worked for in our industrial, commercial and social complications. There is not an hour of the day, as the faces of good women appear before me, working for one good cause after another, that I do not wish that they and I could but with draw from it all long enough to let our spirits touch with, and be influenced by, the spirit of peace—that we might draw from it the calm, and the tolerance, and the patience, that I feel and know we all need, to do what we believe is our duty and God's will.

NO TREATY IS SOUGHT TO MENACE GERMANY

Boston, Mass., May 10.—"We are here to seek no treaties of any understanding with which to menace any people or any nation," said Sir Arthur Lawley, one of the British members of the international conference that is arranging the celebration of one hundred years of peace among the English-speaking peoples.

He was speaking at a banquet held here tonight in honor of the delegates to the conference and his statement was in reply to remarks by Professor Hugo Munsterberg, of Harvard University, who presided at yesterday's meeting of the conference in New York.

Professor Munsterberg said that there were many "non-English people" who regarded the movement as a forerunner of an alliance between England and America antagonistic to Germany.

"We are here simply to further the arrangements for celebrating the centenary of peace," said Sir Arthur Lawley, Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, who presided said that in forceful utterances of the Panama canal are a challenge of war. A statue of Jesus, like the one on a lofty mountain overlooking Chile and Peru, would be a challenge to peace if erected at Panama, he said.

Guest of Honor Absent.

New York, May 10.—The guest of honor was absent tonight from a dinner which thirty editors of The Harvard Advocate in past years and at the present time, attended at the Harvard club. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who was an editor of The Advocate back in 1879, sent his regrets that he was prevented by a previous engagement from being present at the dinner. The toastmaster was W. C. Peckham, '67, a lawyer of this city, one of The Advocate's founders, and speeches were made by several of the former editors.

Peru to Use Canal.

Lima, Peru, May 10.—Steps to facilitate Peruvian commerce through the Panama canal were taken by the Peruvian government today, when it issued a decree fixing at one-half of one per cent. of their value the monthly storage charge for goods warehoused in the custom houses at the Peruvian seaports of Payta, Callao and Mollendo.

The Kaiser Is Robbed.

Same Principle.

"My grandfather," said the old-timer, "used to put all his money in his stockings."

"The old things ain't changed much," said his old friend. "My grandson, who's takin' a course in modern department at one of them eastern colleges, puts most all his money into socks."

ATLANTA AGENCY CO. HAS FOUR YEARS OF SUCCESS

The remarkable success attained by the Atlanta Agency Company during its four years of life is a source of no little pride to the officers and directors of the company. This is also true of Atlanta's most substantial citizens who do not fail to appreciate the fact that one of the most popular and successful financial institutions in the Southern states is of Atlanta origin, whose dominant success is directly attributable to the "Heart Spirit."

The indomitable will, the inflexible purpose of looking to the future good and constantly the protection of policyholders has ever been the keynote of the Atlanta Agency Company. It has begotten confidence, and necessary policy would never relieve the company from existing trouble nor provide against its recurrence.

The Atlanta Agency Company was organized in January, 1908. It is capitalized at One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000) and has a surplus of fifty-five thousand dollars ($55,000). In January 1912 the company paid to its stockholders a dividend of eight (8) per cent. in 1910 and 1911 ten (10) per cent. in 1912 a six (6) per cent dividend during each of the four years a proportionately large amount to surplus.

In addition to the several dividends on stock, a substantial increase in the value of the stock insured to the shareholders of the company, in the premium renewals of business now on the books of the company, in the financial condition and exceptionally superb working organization render peculiarly well equipped for effecting record-breaking results in writing life insurance.

The company's connection with the Amicable Life Insurance Company, of Waco, Texas, as agent for the sale of all of North and East Georgia, has been of tremendous value to the Agency. It has given unlimited success to the financial condition and has provided a backbone of the Agency during its existence.

The Amicable Life Insurance Company's wonderful record during its years of existence has never before been equaled by any company in the same length of time. The company owns the 22-story, steel, fireproof building in which its general offices are located, and is now planning the erection of a new and more modern building in the city of Atlanta.

The splendid advantage offered the Atlanta Agency Company by so strong an ally cannot be overestimated, and will contribute largely to the company's future success, which, in the completion of the present policy, will place it upon the most prosperous and substantial basis ever attained by an insurance agency.

Marcellus M. Anderson, one of the most successful and experienced real estate dealers in the city of Atlanta, is president of the Atlanta Agency company and manager of the real estate department. Mr. J. L. Jessup of Macon, Ga., president of the J. L. Jessup Trust Company, and recognized as one of the leading financial experts of the south, is vice president of the company. A. J. Shropshire, Jr., a leading insurance man, and who for the past several years, is secretary and treasurer of the Atlanta Agency Company and general manager of the insurance department.

The directors of the company are: Marcellus M. Anderson; Professor G. R. Glenn, Dalton, Ga.; J. L. Jessup, Macon, Ga.; Aldine Chambers, Harry G. Pool, J. W. Maddox, John M. Nichols, A. J. Shropshire, Jr., R. Porter Stokes and Wallace T. Dancy are special agents of the company, and all are well known insurance men of proven ability, whose assistance to the field men will add materially in the further development of the insurance department.

The Atlanta Agency Company, from its history, and from the experience gained during its four successful years of life, is confident that the acknowledged ability of the men composing its personnel, bids fair to attain the highest standard of efficiency demanded by the leading financial institutions of the south, as set for it by its officers and directors—(adv.)

MORGAN GAVE $500,000 TO ST. JOHN THE DIVINE

New York, May 10.—A gift by the late J. Pierpont Morgan of $500,000 to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in this city, at a crucial period in the history of the massive building's construction, was revealed in a statement today by a speaker at the annual meeting of the cathedral league of the Episcopal diocese of New York. Geo. MacCulloch Miller, secretary of the cathedral board of trustees, made the announcement in referring to a "book of remembrance" in connection with the cathedral building, which was finished for eight years.

DETECTIVE IS ACCUSED OF TORTURING A NEGRO

Asheville, N. C., May 10.—Claiming that he had been hung up by the thumbs and otherwise tortured by W. S. Adams, a South Carolina detective, in an effort to make him give perjured testimony against John Huff, a negro acquitted here today on the charge of murder, John Walker, a negro from Anderson, S. C., made a sworn affidavit before a local magistrate here today which resulted in the arrest of the detective. In his statement, Walker claimed that he was called from church at Anderson last Sunday taken to Stag, a nearby town, and turned over to Adams, who, with two other white men, took him into the woods, hung him up by the thumbs and beat him until he agreed to give the required testimony. The negro exhibited scars on his thumbs and head to confirm his statement. Adams will be tried here Monday.

FURCHNER BEATEN IN DEBUT PARTY

New Hurler Has One Bad Inning When Billikens Bunch Five Hits for Five Runs.

Today's Batteries. Montgomery, Ala., May 10.—(Special)—Bill Chappelle or Paul Muser, for Atlanta, and Elmer Brown and Donahue for Montgomery, are the batteries for the final game of the series Sunday.

By B. G. Betty. Montgomery, Ala., May 10.—(Special) With Furchner the pitcher secured by Billy Smith from Mobile in the box, opposed by Manning, Montgomery took the third game of the series this afternoon by the score of 5 to 2.

Tommy Long received quite an ovation for a beautiful catch of Wares' line drive in the eighth inning, catching it right up against the left field fence.

He also had to doff his cap when he scored in the sixth inning on Arler's three-base hit to deep right, as he had opened the inning by hitting the ball in left field and getting two bases on the hit.

Rabbit Gets $50. The next time he comes to the bat on the local grounds he will be presented with a check for $50 from the Bull Durham Tobacco company.

The Atlanta players on the bench were constantly talking to Pat Wright, who was umpiring balls and strikes, and he called the game in the seventh inning and told Billy Smith that if he couldn't make them keep quiet that he would put the whole bunch out of the park. He wasn't given any further trouble by them.

Coming back to the game itself. It might be well to state that Furchner showed an awful lot of stuff and but for the one bad inning he pitched wonderful ball. The only hit made by Montgomery, outside of the sixth inning, came in the second, when Elwert hit a scorcher through the pitcher's box for one bag.

Graham and Grubbens both caught nice games only one base being stolen on each. Three were thrown out by Graham and two by Grubbens.

In the eighth inning, Welchance was thrown out at the plate when he tried to score from second on Bisland's clean hit to left. Jantzen threw the ball to Elwert, who relayed it to Grubbens and Welchance was nabbed by inches.

Rally is Checked. Bisland and Smith were still on first and second, both getting there on hits, and when Robe hit a long drive to left that seemed impossible for Jantzen to meet, Smith went to third but stopped just before touching the bag, while Bisland crossed second.

When Jantzen caught the ball Smith went back to second and Bisland to first, Jantzen threw the ball to Spratt, who touched Smith while he was standing on the bag and Dretzenstein called him out as Bisland had crossed the bag while it was occupied, making a forced out. This play stopped what chance Atlanta had for a rally, for in this inning, although the first three Atlanta batters hit for clean singles, they did not cross the rubber.

One unique feat of the game was that Kutina, the Montgomery first baseman, had only one put out during the entire nine innings.

Montgomery, as in yesterday's game, went to bat first.

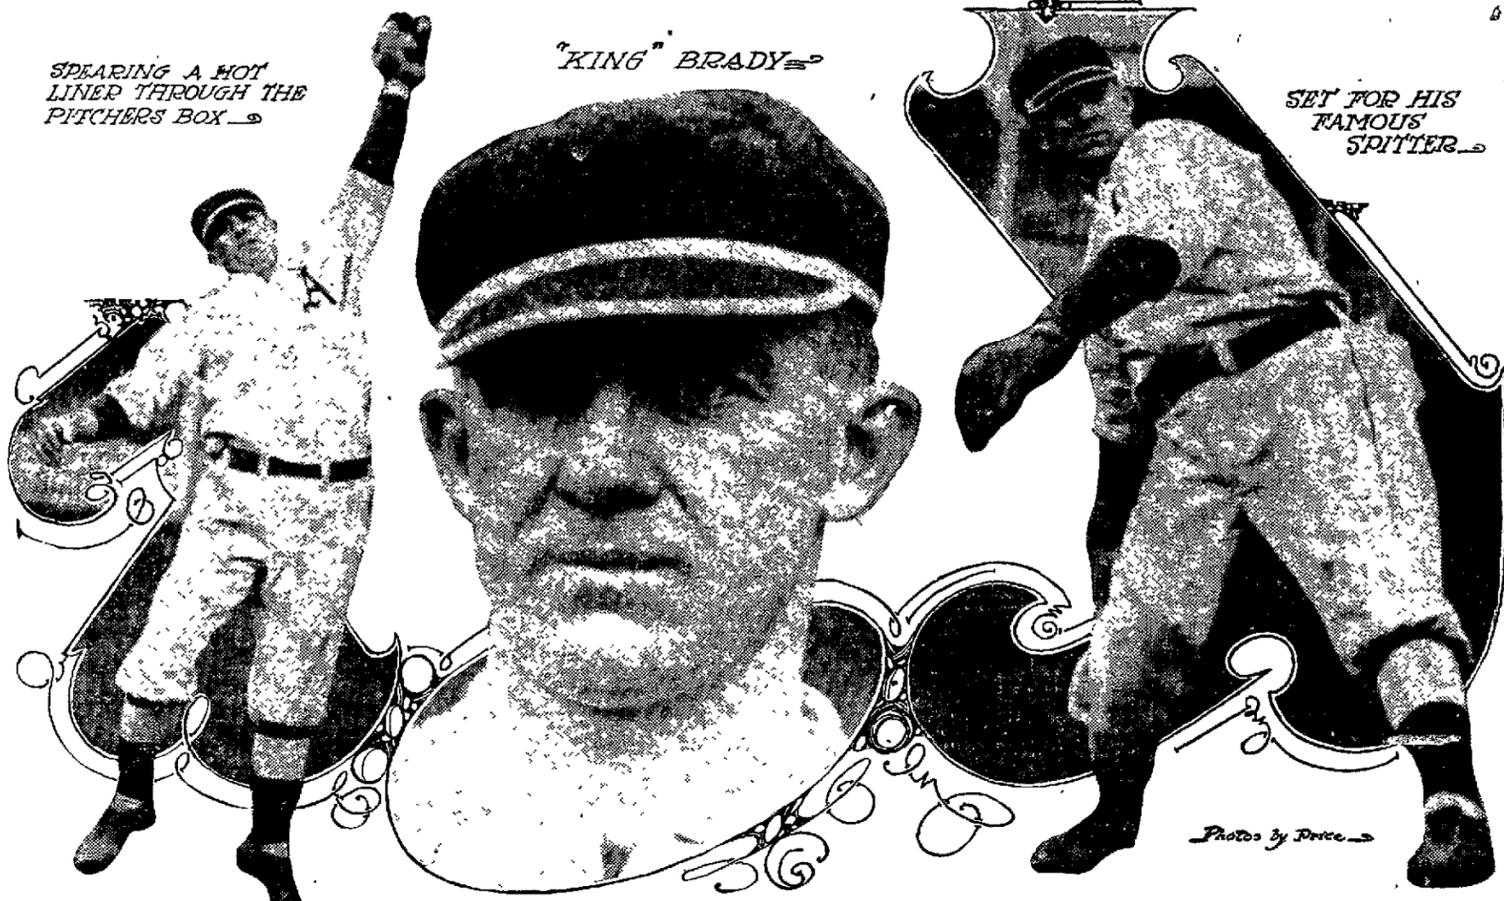

There was nothing doing for either side in the way of runs until the sixth inning for each club and nothing after that.

In the first half of the sixth Spratt the first up for Montgomery, hit to Alpermann and was out at first. Gribbens then hit to deep center, the ball bugged and scored when Manning hit by first for one. Manning went to third on Wards safety to right and scored on Breen's bouncer over Alpermann's head.

Breen went to third and scored on Jantzen's drive to center. Wares' roach-bag then hit to deep center, the ball bugged and scored when Manning hit by first for one. Manning went to third on Wards safety to right and scored on Breen's bouncer over Alpermann's head.

Atlanta came right back in the half of the sixth when Long hit to left for two bases. This was the time that he hit the ball. Akier hit down just base line for three bases and Long scored. Alpermann was passed and forced at second on Welchance's grounder to Spratt. Agler scored on the fielders' choice and Welchance beat Wares' throw in attempting for a double. Welchance was forced at second on Smith's bouncer to Elwert and Smith went to second on Bisland's single to center. Robe ended it by hitting a high fly to Jantzen.

ington was safe on Amason's error of the throw to first.

There are many different visions as to how whosoever the Tech victory, all depending on the point of view.

The big nose for the Jackets came in the eighth period when three runs were scored on one hit, one error, two bases on balls, a man hit by pitcher and a sacrifice.

Several nlp and tuck plays fell to the lot of Holland to arbitrate, while Harman's decisions were seldom decisions of the close variety but in justice to Holland it appears that he exercised equanimity in all his judgments.

At this point Morris was relieved by Corley, who forced Pound on Pitts' nelder's choice, walked Amason and fanned Donaldson.

The star of the game and of the series for the Yellow Jackets was Wooten, the first-footed left fielder, who drove out three bingles out of five attempts.

Georgia got another in the fourth, Hutchens singled to second on Donaldson's boof of Henderson's bouncer and on Covington's roller to October 7—St. Louis scored in the second inning.

Johnson's record to date, which total 52 2-3 innings, is as follows:

April 10—New York scored an unearned run in the first inning, but were blanked for the remaining eight.

Here are the dates and the scores of White's performances.

August 23, New York failed to score in the eighth inning of the game and did not go to bat in the ninth, having won the game.

LaGrange, Ga., May 10.—(Special)—Obediah Hill, of Greenville, Ga., former crack catcher and captain of the University of Georgia baseball team, has been elected manager of the team.

Princeton, N. J., May 10.—Yale today won the annual track meet with Princeton, 56-1-2. The victory was not won until the next to the last event had been decided.

CRACKERS RETURN HOME NEXT WEEK

Turtles and Pelicans on Bill Beginning Monday—Final Billiken Game Played Today.

The final game of the present series between the Billikens and the Crackers will be played this afternoon at Billikenville.

Monday the Crackers move over to Memphis and open up a four-game fracas with Boss Bernard's Turtles at Red Elm.

This will be the first meeting between the two teams this season and the game will probably be a battle between the two best right-handers of the league, Jim Brady for Atlanta and Ruben Klesinger for the Turtles.

Both these veterans are traveling at a nice clip now and the game ought to develop into a pitchers' battle.

New Orleans Last Stop. From Memphis the Crackers will move on to New Orleans, where they will spend the present road trip with games Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Returning home next Monday the Crackers will be on the local lot for two weeks, playing thirteen games, a double-header being scheduled for Federal Decoration day.

Memphis will be the first opponents of the Crackers. Mobile follows, then New Orleans and then Montgomery.

After this home stay the Crackers start their juggling act, and return again between Chattanooga, Nashville, Birmingham and Atlanta.

Up to Hurlers. If the Cracker pitchers can strike a winning stride by the time the team gets back home, the locals ought to mop up on the home grounds.

Brady and Price are sure to deliver. If Chappelle and Muser come through, it will leave only Furchner in doubt, and then there is Buok Weaver, who is in Atlanta now trying to work the kinks out of his salary arm and get back into harness once more.

Things do not look so bad as they really seem. They might be lots worse.

The Crackers' first sacker, who is playing his usual brilliant game around the initial cushion, though at the present he is in a batting slump. But if Joe never hit a lick "we should worry." His fielding is sufficient. But the "Hal Chase" of the Southern league will regain that batting eye before long. Then watch out.

Riders Arrive This Week For Motorcycle Races

Atlanta is the point of destination for twelve of the best motorcycle riders in America.

They will begin to getting into Atlanta by next week and bringing with them their racing machines.

The main races are already in position and the cross timbers are being put in place to allow the laying of the track surface.

CITY LEAGUE HAS ONLY FOUR TEAMS

But the Class of Ball Played Promises to Be as Fast as at Any Time in Its History.

The City league is easily the strongest in Atlanta. It has been recognized as such for many seasons. Some seasons the league is composed of six clubs, sometimes eight and sometimes only four as is the case this year according to their strength.

The Georgia Railway and Power company, Southern shops, East Point, and Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company compose the league this year. The teams are represented by Harry Holland, Benjamin Williams, Frank Cook and C. A. Smith respectively.

Charles M. Grist is president of the league, J. L. Harrison vice president, and Shelley Ivey is the secretary-treasurer as he has been for seasons.

Fast Diamonds

A Brisbane park the league has the fastest diamond in the city. It has been the scene of many great amateur games, and is known to the thousands of persons who have played amateur baseball in Atlanta. The league also has two other first class diamonds.

The City league is the oldest amateur league in Atlanta. It has successfully weathered eleven seasons and is now entering its twelfth. A few of the ex-presidents of the league are: Preston Hudson, Major Preston, Dr. W. H. Freeman, Walter Taylor, H. L. McCord, Shelley Ivey, and Uncle Ben Martin of the line department of the Railway and Power company.

The pennant in the City league has been won more times by the Georgia Railway and Electric company than any other team. I won the bunting in 1909, 1910 and in 1911. The Moose club won the championship in 1912. The league was organized in 1901.

In 1911 it was composed of the following teams: Georgia Railway and Electric company, Southern shops, Moose club, Bean & McGill, Inman Yards, and Red Seal company.

Saturday Afternoon League Is Composed of Truest Sportsmen

William E. Bradley who was vice president of the Saturday Afternoon league in 1912 is president of the league this season. He is a member of the Whitner Mills team. J. T. Webb Jr. of the Fulton Mills is the secretary-treasurer. No vice president was elected, as it was evident that one would not be needed.

The board of directors and the organizations they represent are: G. A. Bates, Exposition Mills; J. T. Webb Jr., Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills; W. E. Bradley, Whitner Mills; I. F. West, Auto Top company; B. L. Hightower, North Atlanta Stars.

J. F. Purnam, Atlanta Gas Light company.

It will be seen that three of the teams represent cotton mills and the others concerns of similar nature. It may be inferred from this that real baseball with plenty of ginger is played in this league. The boys are real sports and more enthusiasm is probably displayed at the games in this league than any other.

Representing permanent institutions, the teams composing this league are about the same year after year. That is why the Saturday Afternoon league is the most soundly and permanently organized league in the city. There are five teams in the league which were in it last year. The Atlanta Gas Light company secured the franchise which was held by Frank E. Block company last season.

Junior Sunday School League Opens Season With Bright Prospects

H. H. Sutton heads Atlanta's highest junior baseball league—the Junior Sunday school. This league has splendid record and grows stronger each season. Over a certain age are not allowed to play in this league as is implied by its name. It is for the juniors.

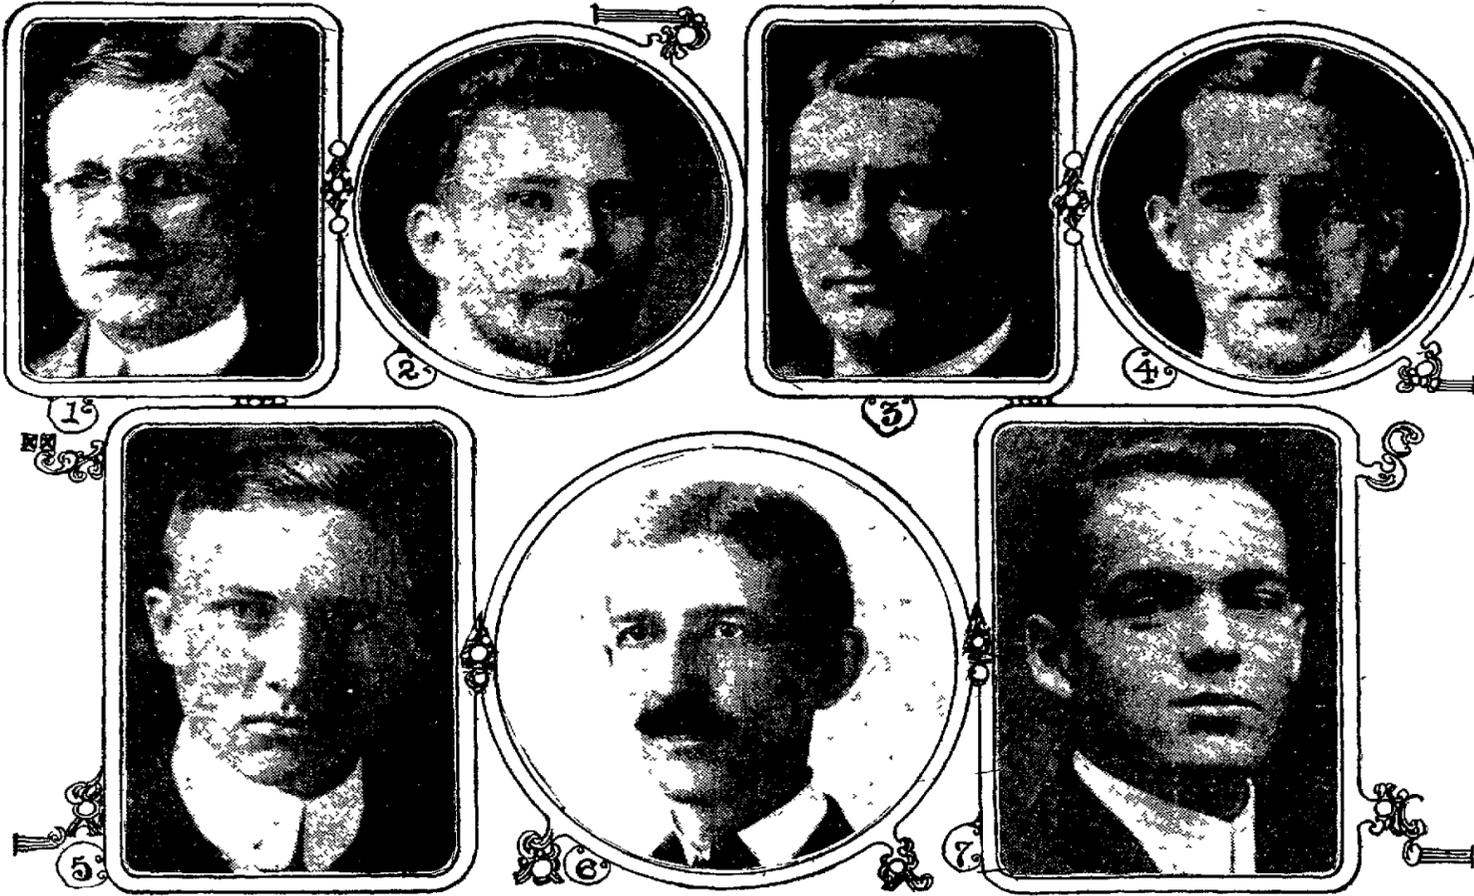

The league had a very successful season last year and has already started again with the outlook very encouraging. The season has now been on three weeks, and much interest is developing.

Six strong clubs constitute this league. Excellent ball is played by the youngsters, and the games are always witnessed by large and enthusiastic crowds.

The six teams in the Junior Sunday School league are: Central Baptist church, Trinity M. E. church, Wesley Memorial church, Grace M. E. church, Asbury M. E. church, and Capitol Avenue Baptist church.

Lyman Murphey, of Grace, is vice president of the league, and Rufus Monk, of Central Baptist, is the secretary-treasurer. He is

Some Leaders In Local Amateur World

(1) H. H. Sutton Jr., president of the Junior Sunday School league; (2) Dr. Theo Toepel, first vice president of the Amateur federation; (3) R. M. Forester, president of the Baraca league; (4) E. H. Thomas, director in the Amateur federation and president of the Fulton Basketball league; (5) L. O. Grice, secretary and treasurer of the Amateur federation; (6) Shelley Ivey, the "father" of amateur sports in Atlanta, organizer of the Amateur federation, of which he is first vice president, president of the Manufacturers' league and secretary and treasurer of several others; (7) G. Lester Forbes, president of the Sunday School league.

Sunday School League Has Twelve Fast Teams This Year

The Sunday School league is as near ideal as any amateur baseball league that ever existed in Atlanta. This condition is largely due to the masterful leadership of the present president. In previous years the league was one of the ordinary kind. It had its ups and downs, at times was at the point of going to pieces.

But this has all changed this season. Indications are now most favorable. It claims to be the strongest in the city, with one exception. It is one of the few eight team leagues now existing here.

Its present high standing is the result of the untiring work of Lester Forbes, its president. Last year he was vice president of the league. A few months ago it developed that the league's president had left the city, and the work of reorganizing the league for the 1913 season fell upon the vice president.

He began work early. Months ago his plans were laid. And months ago he called an organization meeting. Honesty and fair dealing was in plain evidence. Many teams desired admission into the league.

Twelve Teams Bid.
At the second meeting twelve teams actually sought membership in the league. This came as a result of much persistent work of the vice president. And this fact is the real reason of the great strength of the league this season. With twelve teams applying for membership it was possible to select the most desirable, and not have to take some scrappy undesirable team. The teams were chosen with wisdom.

Hence the Sunday School league was formally and permanently organized weeks in advance of the other leagues and with eight strong teams composing it.

It is necessary for leagues to adopt new rules at the opening of each season. This year a model constitution and by laws was drafted by the Amateur Athletic federation and these were adopted by the Sunday School league. The organization was thus accomplished without any undue wasting of time, and the league was in possession of the best playing rules of its history.

Numerous committees were appointed at these early meetings to look after the league's interest. Among other things one of the committees secured from the city the finest diamond in Piedmont park, the Plaza. A schedule was adopted, and other league affairs arranged far in advance of the opening of the season. And with its organization perfected, the team managers had full time to dispose of to the upbuilding of their individual teams. Hence the league got under way under ideal conditions, and with a favorable outlook.

Railroad Personnel Shows Eight Teams New to the Circuit

As a usual thing a baseball league changes but little from season to season. One or two teams may drop out at the end of a season and new ones enter at the opening of the next. But it is seldom that a league's personnel changes completely in one season. But that is the condition of the Railroad league this year.

The eight teams composing the Railroad league in the 1912 season have either gone to other leagues or disbanded. The whole crew of 1912 officers disappeared at the end of that season. Had not the Amateur Athletic federation come to its rescue, the Railroad league would have completely expired. But the name is a good one, and one that will last.

The secretary of the federation got busy during the early spring and called eight or ten independent teams together and completely reorganized the league, or organized a new one by the same name, which is just the same thing. The life of a league is one year. It must be completely reorganized before the start of each playing season. So it was with the Railroad league.

Four Outside Men.
It was the original intention that this should be known as a "closed league," but an outside player limit of four men was finally decided upon. Outside talent is also barred from battery work. Thus it occurs as a matter of course that rivalry in this league is intense.

A very unique feature to the Railroad league is that it is composed of seven teams, being the only league in Atlanta of an uneven number of teams. It was organized this way so that each team would have an off Saturday every six weeks, or about two for the season. An off day means much to many of the players, as it is very exacting to expect one to devote every Saturday afternoon throughout the entire summer to baseball.

League's Personnel.
The teams in the league are: Woodward Lumber company, the West Point route, the Pressmen, Standard Oil company, Texas company, Gulf Refining company, and Smyrna. Thus the league is composed of teams representing three great oil concerns, a large lumber concern, a small city and a popular railroad, from which the league no doubt derives its name.

Among the directors of the league are C. H. Jones, who is also the secretary-treasurer of the league; W. W. Snow, of the West Point route; A. P. Dockendorf, of the Pressmen; L. J. Welner, of Standard Oil company; C. S. Campbell, of Texas Oil company, and Roy Millican, of the Gulf Refining company. Shelley Ivey is vice president of the league. Owen Phelan is president. He has played no little part in the successful organization of the league and presides at league meetings with much ability.

The league's moral is "Upbuild clean sportsmanship, develop true sportsmanship among your members while on the playing field, and develop fellowship in the Sunday school room."

Amateur Federation Power In Local Amateur Affairs

The members of the board of directors of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Fulton county are:

E. H. Thomas, H. H. Sutton, G. L. Forbes, W. E. Bradley, Shelley Ivey, C. M. Grist, Owen Phelan, and R. M. Forester.

The officers of the federation are: Shepard Bryan, president; Dr. Theo Toepel, vice president; S. Ivey, second vice president; L. O. Grice, secretary-treasurer.

Every baseball league in Fulton county is a member of the federation, and is known as a "unit." The units composing the federation are Fulton Basketball league, and the following baseball leagues: Junior Sunday School, Sunday School, Saturday Afternoon, Manufacturers', City, Railroad and Baraca.

The Amateur Athletic Federation of Fulton county was organized in the summer of 1912, after several years of preliminary work. The federation began actual operations in October, 1912. The first unit to feel the effect of its organization was the Fulton Basketball league. The federation prevented that league from becoming disorganized, and caused the explosion of two undesirable teams, and raised its standard greatly, and paved the way to a successful season for it.

Power in Local World.
The federation is the power which has caused the amateur leagues to organize with such uniform success this spring. Its position on amateur matters, and on conditions relating to amateur athletics in general, has been adopted by all the leagues, and they have each organized along the same general lines.

The provision in the constitution of the federation relative to appeals from a league president's decision has met with signal approval by the scores of team managers, constituting the various leagues. Heretofore, an arbitrary league president has been in position to work sufficient evil upon his league by unfair and sometimes prejudiced decisions to practically destroy it.

Inasmuch as it takes the unanimous vote of the board of directors to override a president's decision, the president's power is supreme over that of his leagues. But under the new state of affairs such is not the case.

Now, should a president render a ruling relative to a protested or disputed game and should such ruling seem unfair to the team or teams involved, a protest can be made if desired, to the secretary of the federation, who calls a meeting of the executive committee of the federation, which in turn appoints a board of arbitration consisting of experts in that particular sport, and who will not be disposed to treat either party unfairly, and to settle the question involved as it should be, according to established rules.

Thus every team in every unit constituting the federation is sure of a square deal at all times. The same thing applies to players, and should one be given an underhand deal, or illegally barred in any way, such a player has a right to protest to the federation, which then investigates his case, and disposes of it in the best and proper way.

The Federation's Object.
The objects of the federation as set out in its constitution are herewith presented:
1 To unite in the county of Fulton all leagues and organizations of a permanent character conducting amateur athletics, and to promote and regulate such sports.
2 To uphold high standards in amateur athletic competition.
3 To place amateur competition upon a physiological basis.
4 To unify methods, rules, regulations and standards wherever possible and consistent with efficiency.
5 To place the competitive play activities within the reach of the many.
6 To give moral support to the various groups in the federation and assist them to attain their ideals.

A Few Clauses.
A few of the clauses of the constitution of the federation are herewith given, as they show to a certain extent just what the federation is and stands for:
"The federation desires to serve those who stand for sport for sport's sake who desire to acquire those many virtues cultivated in same competition and who furthermore will be loyal to the ideals of the organization they represent. For the men who are looking merely for notoriety, for medals and cups, or are ever ready to shift their allegiance wherever offered (to them) material inducement to do so, the federation has nothing to offer except to encourage such to come in and co-operate on this other, higher basis."
"Discourage the unattached athletes and encourage such to become attached to some group in the federation."
"The spirit of amateurism as expressed in the rules of the A. A. U. A. L. of N. A., and S. I. A. A. shall govern this federation. The object is that it is unwise to adopt for a federation the rules and regulations of a particular organization."

The present outlook for the success of the federation is extremely bright. The league presidents and team managers have seen in stantly the great need of the independent units for the federation which unites them into one great body. It gives protection to the individual player, to the teams, and to the leagues. And as it is a united force, it strikes forward for the upbuilding and broadening of amateur athletics in Atlanta, and Fulton county.

The members of the board of directors of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Fulton county are: E. H. Thomas, H. H. Sutton, G. L. Forbes, W. E. Bradley, Shelley Ivey, C. M. Grist, Owen Phelan, and R. M. Forester.

BARACA LEAGUE'S BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Eight Strong Teams Bid Fair to Make the Race This Season Close—Harmony Prevails.

The 1913 season of the Baraca Baseball league opened May 3 with three good games. Indications now point to a most successful season.

The meetings of the board of directors are always held in a thorough, business like way, and good feeling is evidenced.

One of the most praiseworthy notes which could be made of the Baraca league is that each team in the league takes a personal interest in its brother teams, and seeks in no way to secure an advantage. Absolute square dealing is the object of all, and such a course has placed the Baraca league right at the top in point of perfect league organization.

Harmony Prevails.
Harmony has prevailed at all league meetings, and the success or failure of an amateur league—whether baseball or basketball—is determined at directors' meetings.

When these meetings are marred by the displaying of violent temper, and where petty politics creeps out, and where points up for discussion are disposed of in such a way that one or more are displeased, that league's failure is sure to follow. But where good feeling is la vogue success follows. The league meetings are but reflections of conditions existing in the league as a whole. The Baraca league is particularly fortunate in possessing its present officers and board of directors. Many of them have sacrificed much to devote their time to the upbuilding of clean athletics, with the hope that many young men of the city would be benefited thereby.

League Officers.
R. M. Forester, superintendent of the Eggleston Memorial Sunday school, and who is connected with a large business concern here in an official capacity, is the president of the league. He has presided at league meetings with rare ability, and it is partly due to his efforts that the league is in such excellent condition.

M. B. Crosby was chosen vice president of the league at a meeting last week. The secretary-treasurer of the league is one of the best known men connected with amateur athletics in Atlanta—Everett L. Abernathy, of the Agogas. He has had many seasons experience managing various teams, in both baseball and basketball leagues, and has a clean record in every respect. He led the championship team last season.

The teams composing the league represent Baraca classes of the following churches: Wesley Memorial Methodist, Gordon Street Baptist, Jonathans of Eggleston Memorial Methodist, McDonald Baptists and Grant Park Baptists.

The Directors.
The members of the board of directors are: A. Stephenson, J. R. Curtis, T. Evans, H. R. Krother, M. B. Crosby and Everett L. Abernathy.
The 1913 season opened May 3, and closes August 9—in time for the league champs to meet other league's champions in a scheduled post season elimination or ranking contest. Each team is entitled to a reserve list of fifteen players. Players must attend Sunday school twice monthly, at least. "Good, clean baseball" is the motto of the league.
The league diamonds are fairly good. The northeast field at Piedmont Park, and the waterworks diamonds are used. There is a probability that the league will secure one of the diamonds at Tech flats.

Manufacturers Born April 26;—The Baby of Amateur Leagues

The Manufacturers' league has only been organized a few weeks. It is the only league in Atlanta that is not one season or more old. But, notwithstanding that it is the "baby" league in point of age, it ranks with the best of them as to the class of ball played.
Manufacturers' league corresponds closely to the Railroad league of 1912. The teams composing the league have proved to be very evenly matched, and interesting games have occurred each Saturday since the league opened on April 26.

The board of directors and the teams represented are as follows:
C. C. Chamberlain—Atlanta National bank.
David Unger—Southern Railway locals.
G. J. Lee—Murray company.
R. M. Everitt—Pittsburg Plate Glass company.
G. L. Armstrong—Red Seal Shoe company.
F. Jeter—Hallett & Davis Piano company.

The officers of the league are: Shelley Ivey, president; C. C. Chamberlain, vice president, and F. Jeter, secretary-treasurer.
The league has three excellent playing fields, the best of which is the Marjst college diamond, the others being located at Hill park and Tenth street and North Boulevard.

$300,000 ORDER FOR BUICKS IS CLOSED IN HALF HOUR

Two men chanced to meet in the Auditorium lobby in Chicago last Sunday, and before they had parted had closed a deal for $300,000 worth of Buicks. The thing was done in half an hour, a bona fide sale for over $250,000. And it was done with less talk than the average woman would buy a spring hat. The only records made were the citations the buyer noted in his pocket memorandum and that the salesman scribbled on the back of a business card. The salesman was "Trainload" Collins, general sales manager for the Buick Motor company at Flint, Mich., and the buyer was H. E. Fene, of the Fene Automobile company, at Minneapolis.

"The order is one of 100 cars," said "Trainload," "and aside from the fact that it is a nice little bunch of Buicks for a company standpoint, it goes even farther. Time was when bankers shied at the automobile game and predicted dire calamity because so much money was being put into motor cars the country over. Automobile concerns kept their eyes on the calculation, and that is always a sign of good times. I think that I am safe in saying that there is no other line of business that a deal of this size could be put through with such utter absence of red tape, price haggling and questioning of goods. Confidence is the explanation in a nut shell.

"Big men developed the automobile game and the automobile game has developed big men. For the first few years there was a lot of four flushers, but four-flushers are being rapidly weeded out. Today you look at the automobile dealers in any city or town in the United States and you will find the men who stand high in the community, who are trusted by their bankers and who live up to the reputation of the cars they are selling. Their business creates and expands the business of the old saying exemplified of two blades of grass growing where one had grown before.

"You know I think sometimes that we motor car men distribute more happiness than people give us credit for. Take this one order as an example. Figuring on the basis of three to a family for every man that will buy one of these 300 Buicks, and there are 300 people happier than they were before. Suppose that in addition to that, each of these owners give 200 friends a lift or pleasure ride during the year. There are 60,000 people, a total of 60,000 benefited by this one trainload shipment alone. On the same basis of reckoning for our 150,000 users, there would be a total of 30,000,000 people riding in Buicks during the year.

"It is worth consideration, too, that there is an automobile building company so big that a shipment of this kind can be made in a single day without interfering with the routine orders we are taking care of every day."

CRACKERS BEST ON DOUBLE PLAYS

The Atlanta team leads the Southern league teams in double plays through the game played Monday, May 5, with 23. The others are as follows: Nashville, 18; Montgomery, 16; Mobile, 15; Memphis, 14; Birmingham, 13; Chattanooga, 12; New Orleans, 11.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKET TEAM EN ROUTE HERE

New York, May 10.—With the announcement that the Australian cricket team which is to make a tour of the United States this summer, had called from Sydney Monday on the Niagara due in Victoria May 27, dates arranged for their matches in this country and Canada, were given out today. The Australians will first be seen in the United States at Philadelphia, where they will play June 20, 21 and 22.

Among the more prominent contests scheduled in the east is one against an all-American team at Philadelphia July 4, 5 and 7. The team will visit Bermuda and returning here, another all-American contest will be played at New York August 1 and 2.

The players who will comprise the team are: Bardsley, whose name is a household word in cricket; Arnett, Campbell, Coby, Collins, Crawford, Diamond, Dawn, Emory, McCartney, Melley and Mayne.

Crawford—I never see Henpeck any more out in his eye.
Crabtree—I understand his wife insists on running it.

FAMOUS MICHIGAN END HERE IN VAUDEVILLE

Paul Dickey, who was the star end of the University of Michigan in 1907 and 1908, and was one of the stars of the track team of that college, will be in Atlanta this week.

He appears in vaudeville at the Forsyth theater this week, in the headliner, "The Comeback," a college playlet that in which football plays a prominent part.

Mr. Dickey will be entertained by the Michigan alumni of the city and by his "frat" mates during his stay in the city.

DESCRIBES INSIDE OF AN AUTO TIRE

Fabric is Keystone and Backbone of Motor Industry, Declares H. S. Firestone.

By Wylie West.

Local Manager the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

It is a fact and not a strange fact, that the vast majority of tire users think little of any part of the tire except the tread. They figure on the design of the tread, they consider whether the tread will prevent skidding, or they are attracted by the shape of the tread, and the type of life tire.

In reality, however, the tread, while an important part of a tire, is far from being entirely responsible for the service the tire gives. Even that part, from the fabric to outer surface must be of proportionate strength and quality, or service suffers.

This point was never more strongly brought out than in an interview with H. S. Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. Mr. Firestone dwelt particularly on the fabric and its relation to tire values, and touched lightly on other points of like worth.

"Fabric is more than the foundation of the tire," Mr. Firestone said. "It is the keystone and the backbone of automobilism and the automobile industry. Think what a tire must stand. From the outside there is the weight of the car and the load. Then there is additional weight from a stone, a ridge or rut is struck. If the car is going fast the tire gets a pile-driver blow.

"From within the strain is as great and constant. Thousands of pounds of pressure are exerted against the fabric, searching for a weakness. If only a poor thread, a tiny pinch or a bubble. Looked at in this light, it seems that there should be but one grade of fabric for tires—the strongest and best that can be produced.

"Yet there are more than fifty grades. Sea Island combed, in different qualities. Egyptian, combed in many more grades. Egyptian carded in still cheaper grades. This accounts in part for many grades of tires—the different degrees of quality.

"All that car owners have heard about fabric is that Sea Island cotton is used. That makes a good talking point. The best fabric possible to buy is made from Sea Island cotton. This cotton, grown on the islands off the coast of the Carolinas or from seed produced there, has a long, strong fibre, just suited for making a tough, strain-resistant tire body. But even this is sold in many grades.

"The highest grade and most expensive Sea Island combed fabric—such as is used in Firestone tires—is made of that same tough material which is used for making first quality sewing thread.

"Twist eleven pieces of this thread into one, and you have an idea of Firestone warp. Weave twenty of these warps into each square inch, with the cross threads in such a way as to withstand a test several times more than any possible service strain, and you have an idea of the strength of our fabric.

"All tires should be made of this quality of fabric, particularly the larger sizes, but they are not. Furthermore, even the best fabric should be tested at least twice to every roll and inspected inch by inch for uniformity. As proof of the need of this inspection, a load after carload of the highest-priced fabric made is returned by our factory because it is not up to the standard.

"With the right kind of fabric, quality and quantity of rubber, care in workmanship and skill in application and inspection are also required. Complete adhesion is accomplished, as in the case of Firestone building, by the use of enough up-river fine Para rubber. Every mesh of fabric must be completely and evenly filled, and an extra layer must be applied between each layer of fabric.

"The next vital question is the number of layers or walls of this rubber-filled fabric to use. Even the low grade is costly, and every wall added means more cost. Temptation again steps in and suggests that three layers might do on a size where four are essential, and so on. The number of layers won't prevent the sale. But where quality is the standard, where security, length of service and final economy for the user is the aim, walls of fabric cannot be spared."

THE 'BUS IN LONDON

Just as that famous old London institution, the horse-drawn 'bus, gave way before the march of progress in the form of the motor-bus, the latter is undergoing a change which has already shown a decided improvement in service. As rapidly as possible the old motor buses are being replaced with machines equipped with the Knight type sleeve-motor.

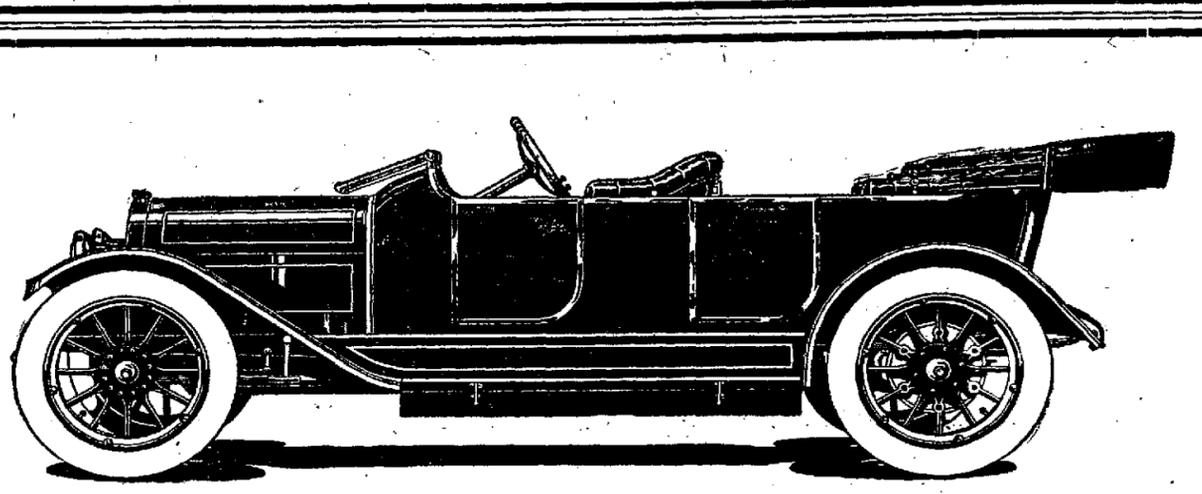

In a letter to the F. B. Stearns company, manufacturers of the Stearns-Knight car, the inventor, Charles Y. Knight, gives details of the chassis used for this service, and states that some 250 have been put into commission up to this time. Continuing he says: "Forty of these buses have now run an average of 20,000 miles each upon the London streets, carrying their average load up to forty passengers each and stopping and starting almost every minute of the day. The gear ratio is 7 to 1 and these buses are frequently called upon to do 25 miles an hour which means about 1,500 revolutions per minute of the engine.

"The success of the sleeve valve for this work has been as startling as it has been gratifying. Where poppet valve motors in the same garages, doing the same amount of work, required an enormous amount of adjustment and tinkering with valves, cleaning carbon from cylinders, and presented almost certain loss of power after having been in use for a considerable time, the sleeve-valve motors have continued to improve, gained power, cut down petrol consumption and required almost no care beyond the more attentive setting of the tanks with lubricant and fuel. The average daily run of these buses is 100 miles."

The Daimler company of Coventry, who were the first manufacturers to adopt the Knight motor, are building 40 of these Knight-motored omnibuses. The chassis was designed by Mr. Searle, head of the Daimler Commercial Vehicle department, who, as Mr. Knight says, solved the question of mechanical traction in London by the perfection of omnibuses to their present stage.

A Sure Thing.

"Yes," said Dumplings. "And I suppose the lord loved the cheerful girl, as usual."

The Mighty Michigan

is the car your wife can drive with ease, in comfort and safety

Man no longer considers self alone when buying his car. "Can my wife drive it?" That's the dominant question. She can if it's a Michigan. This beautiful and powerful forty, by its ease of operation, comfort and convenience, has increased the number of women drivers; has sold and is selling where other cars fail because their makers overlooked the "woman in the case."

Not only in appearance and comfort does the Michigan excel, but also in safety. You need not fear a breakdown, if it's a Michigan. This car is built to and does carry far above its rated capacity. Every driving part is sufficient for a 60-h. p. motor. Axles are strong enough for an 80-h. p. car, and so is transmission. The propeller shaft has a tensile strength of 130,000 pounds to the square inch. The pressed steel frame is larger and stronger than ever before and the easy riding springs are wider than those of any car selling under $2,000.

And the brakes do work when they should. The average car has a braking surface of one square inch for every 8 or 9 pounds. The Michigan has one square inch for every 6.88 pounds. Over capacity is one of the main features of the Michigan. You have a 50 per cent margin of safety in this powerful forty under all conditions. That is one reason why more men are buying Michigans for more women to drive. As to ease of operation and comfort, note the following brief descriptions of

A few features that make the Michigan an ideal car for women drivers

- Extra-Wide Doors give easy access into and out of the car. No danger of a woman soiling or tearing her gown.
- Clear Running Boards. No toolboxes or other obstacles to stumble over. Nothing to catch or soil a woman's clothes.
- Electrically Started. Comfortably seated at the wheel, one moves a little lever with the tip of one's shoe and the starter cranks the car, which can be propelled quite a distance on the power of the starter alone.
- Electrically Lighted Throughout. A slight touch on the buttons right at your hand lights the lamps. The rays from the powerful headlights are thrown a thousand feet ahead.
- Light Under Cowl. The nickered doors at rear of side lamps are hinged and when opened form reflectors which throw the light on the space under the cowl showing clearly speedometer-face, switches and pedals.
- Wide, roomy seats. The roomiest seats ever put in a car of this price. The rear seat is full 50 inches inside the upholstery. Equipped with 14-inch Turkish cushions of beautiful leather stuffed with fine quality curled hair. Measurements are practically the same as those of the rear seat of $6,000 seven-passenger cars.
- With this seat's generous room, the 14-inch cushions, the car's long wheel-base, the big flexible springs, big brakes and oversize tires, ease of riding and safety is assured under the most trying conditions.
- Left-Hand Drive and Center Control is a big feature of the 1913 Michigan. It is being adopted by the most expensive cars, such as the six-cylinder Packard, Lozier, White, and others. It enables the one riding with you in the front to get into the car without stumbling over levers or wading through mud to the other side of the car.
- The left-hand drive positions the driver on the high-side of the road and enables her to see how close she is to other cars passing her in the opposite direction. It gives twice the safety of the right-hand drive.
- Four-Forward-Speed Transmission is another feature found on few cars at any price. It contributes much to the easy operation of the Michigan.
- The Strong, Silent Motor and driving mechanism are of special construction, and offer all the power one needs for the steepest hill and deepest sand—minus noise.
- Foot-Rest Accelerator. The foot actually rests on the bracket, and by a slight rocking motion operates the accelerator. This prevents the muscles of the foot from becoming tired.
- Big Leather-Faced Cone Clutch of special design. Will not grab or slip under any circumstances. It operates so easily that clutch pedal can be pushed down by hand. This makes the Michigan especially inviting to women drivers.
- Electric Horn of Penetrating Power gives its warning at a gentle push of the pearl button right at your finger tips. The easiest signal to operate of all used on motor cars.

The Michigan—Premier Forty of the World—

$1710 With 100% Efficient Electric Starter

This is an unusually low price for such a car containing features that are found in the most expensive cars made here and abroad. The price is due to the fiercest fight ever witnessed in the motor industry—the fight among 72 makers of forties for supremacy in the forty field. Six of the 72 are finishing the fight and the Michigan leads the six. The price will soon advance. It is now far below the actual value of the car; far less than the public would pay—and must pay ere long—for the Michigan. In the meantime shrewd judges of value are ordering Michigans—not only here, but everywhere in America, Europe and Asia. Their experience, no matter how scant, has shown that it is impossible to obtain the features offered in the Michigan in any other car selling for less than $2,000.

SPRING BUSINESS IN AUTOS IS FINE

Demand for High-Priced Cars Becoming Greater Each Season,
Says C. A. Benjamin.

"The spring business in high-priced motor cars has never opened quite so well as this year," says C. A. Benjamin, general sales manager of the American Locomotive company automobile department. "It is a fulfillment of the promise held out earlier in the season when all indications pointed to a record-breaking spring season. In our own experience it was the largest month we ever had and the increase in sales for the past month over the corresponding period a year ago was 31 per cent."

"It simply goes to show that the demand for high-priced cars is becoming greater each season. Those who can afford the best will always buy the best, regardless of price, because they realize it is the wisest purchase in the end."

"This is the day when the demand is for the thing of superior quality and workmanship, whether it is an automobile or jewelry, furniture or all the way up to the display of the most elaborate and the willingness to pay more to travel comfortably by steamship or railroad, this year will surpass those that have gone before. Moreover, the fame of American cars is spreading abroad. There was a time when our engineers sat at the feet of those of Europe; this year a record is being set in the exportation of American automobiles to Europe. Among our recent sales, for instance, was one of a 5-cylinder Alco to a man in Florence, Italy."

Qualification.
"And have you music in your church?" I asked the rural squire.
"Not as I know on," he replied.
"Jes' singin' by the choir."

SELLING AUTOS NOW IS QUITE DIFFERENT FROM WHAT IT WAS

Selling motor cars today is entirely different from ten years ago, says W. H. Mahoney, manager of Carter-car company, Atlanta branch. According to this executive the arguments and features which were most important then are fading into insignificance today.

"People no longer buy automobiles merely for the pleasure of owning them," said Mr. Mahoney. "They use their heads and the salesman who makes the sales today are those who can show the goods. Just few years ago the buyer would pick out the car that looked best to him, and perhaps if he were usually deliberative he would see if the seats were comfortable. It was such a luxury to have any kind of a motor car at all that he did not think it right to expect very much in the way of service. Then if his car fell down, he would think that it was only a mechanical affair any way, and he ought not to expect more."

"Talk to any prospect today, and in ten minutes he will bring out all you know or ever hope to know about transmissions, differentials, gear ratios, self-starters, and he knows. He looks at your car and knows exactly what you are selling him. The motor car salesman of today does not merely talk, he explains. It is up to him to see that his prospect does not overlook any good feature of his car. There are very few sales made today by simply taking the prospect out riding over a smooth road."

"Very frequently we make sales by simply showing our chassis. Only last winter, at Philadelphia, we sold a Sedan to William Jennings Bryan, after he had simply looked at the chassis, and he had never seen this model in operation. He said that the principle was right and that was what he was after. And if more buyers were particular in getting cars with the right construction there would be fewer complaints about service. A car to give satisfactory service must be built right and the wise buyer will make certain of this before he invests his money."

Do You Want Smashing Arguments Why You Should Use Goodrich Tires?

The fact that practically half the 1913 output of new automobiles is equipped by the makers with Goodrich Tires strengthens your own decision with the judgment of automobile manufacturers.

They know what tire is best, and they select Goodrich Tires for the service and riding advantage they give—a car manufacturer's preference based as it is in many instances on 10 years uninterrupted profitable use of Goodrich Tires.

Goodrich Tires have stood up to their work in fair and foul weather, winter and summer, on country roads and city pavements, on tours and in endurance contests.

Year by year the sales of Goodrich Tires have increased.

Year by year the reputation of Goodrich Tires with car manufacturers and tire users has grown stronger.

Today Goodrich Tires are by a large majority the most popular with the motoring public.

Last year we could not make enough Goodrich Tires to meet the demand for them. This year we have vastly greater facilities for producing more Goodrich Tires, and this without cheapening their construction or hurrying their manufacture. The production of Goodrich Tires has never been increased at the cost of quality.

It is because of the fact that all Goodrich Tires are of only one kind and quality that this continuous growth in popularity, sales, and satisfaction can be recorded.

The Goodrich principle of unit-molding—unchanged since we made the original American Clincher Tire—is one of the reasons for the long, uniform wear, and consistently satisfactory service of Goodrich Tires.

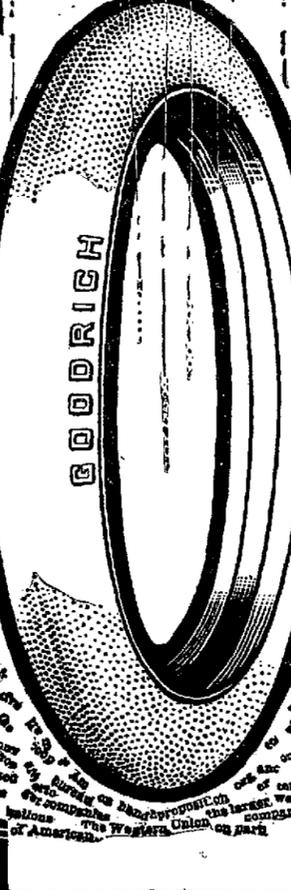

The extra layer of pure rubber on the sides, where the wear and strain is heaviest, prevents blowouts and insures freedom from rim troubles.

The thick, tough Goodrich tread, being of the tire and not simply put on it, naturally does not strip or peel from the body.

Your dealer will supply you with whatever style of Goodrich Tire is best for your needs. We will send you free our set of folders, telling you how to get the most and best tire service, and how to avoid the common tire injuries.

DEALERS STAMPEDE WORRYING FORSTER, OF THE MAXWELL CO.

C. A. Forster, commercial manager, in charge of sales of the new Maxwell Motor company, is having his baptism of fire—and he says he likes it.

Having come into the automobile business from a more conservative line, Mr. Forster is having his first experience with a dealers' stampede—a phenomenon for which there is no parallel in other lines of business.

The stampede is the direct and the logical outcome of the announcement last week of the new Maxwell Model "25," at a price previously unheard of for a car of this power and passenger capacity.

"I have been accustomed to selling—to pushing the product," says Mr. Forster. "And to have a horde of dealers swoop down on one and try to take it away is a novel experience."

"The new '25' is a success from a selling as well as a mechanical standpoint—that's certain now. Our only problem is to allot the possible output of 25,000 cars for the first year, equitably, and to keep the clamorous dealers satisfied."

"Thanks to our splendid factory facilities and production organization, we will be delivering demonstrators of this model within a week and which we cannot hope to supply the full demand, we do hope to keep dealers in good humor by delivering a goodly proportion of the cars ordered."

"The demand for the new Maxwell '25,' details of which are as yet only known to dealers, is almost equal to that for the '25.' This '25' model will, I expect, precipitate another stampede when we announce it publicly, as we will see demonstrated by the fact that cars are in the hands of our dealers in the more important centers."

PEERLESS COMPANY HAS OFFERED BONUS IF CAR IS DELAYED

A pressure of business upon the Peerless Motor Car company, such as has not existed in the high-grade motor car field since the early days of the industry, is revealed in a bulletin issued by E. J. Kulas, general manager of sales, to the dealers and branches of the company. The company offers all customers whose orders are on the books for delivery before July 15 for delay, the delivery until after that date if the delay amounts to thirty days, and $200 if it amounts to sixty days.

It was evident several months ago that the number of Peerless cars sold this year would be greater than it had been for several seasons. The company will make time by the forelock and made special preparations to turn out a larger number of cars. Additional factory facilities were provided and the organization made ready for the rush. But the volume of sales, beginning early in January, has increased constantly ever since, until the demand is considerably in excess of the immediate output.

In order to give deliveries to those who require them at once and still to show its appreciation of those customers who can conveniently wait a little longer for their cars, the company has made this unusual offer to buy delivery dates.

In the early days of the industry many high-grade manufacturers, by reason of the great demands for their product, were forced to stifle their demand, but a condition of this kind has not developed in the high-grade motor car business for several years.

This increase in the Peerless business is attributed to the exceptionally satisfactory performance of the 1913 car.

EUROPE OUTCLASSED, SAYS JOHN WILLYS

Years Before They Can Compete With Us in Making Medium-Priced Cars.

Though they are fast awakening to the importance of quantity production, it will be years before European automobile manufacturers can hope to compete with the American maker of medium-priced motor cars. This is the word brought by John A. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, of Toledo, Ohio, on his return from a tour of Europe extending over several months.

"Europe, and especially England, is well aware of the fact that without quantity production, they are far outclassed when in competition with the United States in the manufacture of medium-priced but high-grade cars," said Mr. Willys, on his arrival in Toledo, Friday morning. "The conservatism of centuries of intensive farming and intensive manufacturing methods has done a wonderful amount of work in the really progressive makers of the Old World are keen to give the Americans an argument along quantity production lines, they are finding it difficult to interest sufficient capital to launch their enterprise on a really aggressive basis. And, from all appearances, it will be several years before they can accomplish their purpose."

"The motor car industry in Europe is not advancing in the motor car industry. She is, and that rapidly. In my tours of various plants in Italy, France and Germany, especially I gathered a number of excellent ideas which will be adapted to American manufacture with good results. I will devote much of my time in the immediate future to the development and improvement of these ideas, and I am sure American motorists will welcome them."

"I am more than glad to be back at home, for no matter how much enjoyment and knowledge one may gain in traveling and studying, there is nothing like being in harness to keep a man happy. Europe is all very well as a playground and an occasional study place for the purpose of keeping in touch with the whole industry but the United States leads in every way, just as in the automobile business."

"I was able to find one point in which the old world motor car has the advantage over the American, and this is in the matter of roads. European highways are among the best in the world, but, with the spirit of progress that is now being manifested in road building in this country, we should soon catch up with the procession. And then it is but a matter of time before we will force ahead in this respect, just as we have in every other."

FOSDICK LEAVES HUPP.

Position of Director of Sales Is Abolished.

The Hupp Motor Car company announces the resignation of Harry Fosdick as director of sales.

According to Frederick A. Harris, assistant general manager, who has active supervision over the field policies of the company, the above position has been abolished. Mr. Harris said yesterday: "The abandonment of the position of director of sales in connection with the policy of this company will entail no further changes or additions to the sales department. Mr. E. G. Neighbors, the present sales manager, will continue in charge with his present force. Mr. Neighbors is now returning from a three months' trip to the coast, during which he visited all of the distributing cities and many of the smaller towns, and also interviewed hundreds of owners throughout the west."

He reports that he has not met a single dissatisfied owner on the entire trip and has statements of Hupp mobile enthusiasm throughout the country are verified by the fact that last month's sales nearly doubled the best previous record of any month in the history of the Hupp Motor Car company.

FEDERAL TIRES

The Federal Rugged Tread is a distinctive type. Its heavier and stancher construction places it in class by itself.

The exceptional heavy tread means many miles of "extra service"—those heavy bulging studs mean maximum traction and perfect safety—the thorough construction assures unusual durability and economy.

Though a "higher quality" tire and heretofore sold at a higher price, tire users will appreciate that the Rugged Tread now costs no more than ordinary non-skid tires. Made in all types for standard rims by the Federal Rubber Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee.

WHITE HOPE CROP LEMON VARIETY

Jess Willard All That's Left. McCarty Goes Wrong. "Gunboat" Smith Is Not a Possibility, Says Corbett.

By JAMES J. CORBETT.
(Former Heavyweight Champion of the World, Written Exclusively for The Constitution.)

New York, May 10.—(Special.)—One of these fine days—perhaps sooner than we think—some strapping young fellow will come along and make us forget such fighters as McCarty, Willard and "Gunboat" Smith ever boasted championship pretensions. It looks as if the present "white hope" crop is a big bust.

McCarty is generally accredited the best of the pale face boxers. But if we are to pass judgment on the bunch by Luther's recent exhibition with Frank Moran it is a case of looking for new material. Possibly Jess Willard may show a flash of form in the bout with "Gunboat" Smith at San Francisco next Saturday which will restore our confidence. I sincerely hope so, for the "Gunboat" has already been tried and found wanting. If Smith can beat Willard and follow it up with a victory over McCarty it will be the cue to holler for a new deal all around. As a championship possibility the "Gunboat" does not look like the goods.

Willard, therefore, appears to be the last resort in the ranks of the white heavies now before the public. He may be a better man than we think. Certainly he has not been extended in any of his bouts and what little he has shown is of a higher order than that of his rivals. In the New York engagements Willard did not seem to take his work seriously, yet he managed to outpoint McCarty and knock out the tough Soldier Kearns, he of the mighty wallop, in eight rounds. If Jess can be persuaded to look upon fighting as a serious proposition his chances would appear much brighter. So far in his short career he has not been badly hurt in a bout and it remains to be seen how he will behave after taking a few good punches. In Smith he is meeting a fighter who can hit every bit as hard as Willard and with a better general feel of where the punch is going to land after it has been started. If the "Gunboat" succeeds in putting over his justly famous right swing and Jess survives the operation there will no longer exist a doubt of his gameness and coolness under fire.

McCarty Goes Wrong.
Luther McCarty looks like a good thing going wrong. As a result of the experience gained during the California campaign, where he defeated Kaufman, Flynn and Palmer, it was thought Luther would show New Yorkers a greatly improved style. But in this he has disappointed. He has picked up a little here and there in his boxing, but has lost the aggressiveness that characterized his work in the matches with Stewart and Willard last year.

Physically this young giant is a picture of the ideal fighting machine. But the resemblance ends right there. In the Moran bout Luther had every physical advantage and was much the better boxer. Still he had a tight fit to earn the popular verdict over a man who knows scarcely anything of the game other than to put up his hands and strike in attitude. Furthermore Moran, a 16-pound fighter man, was handicapped with a crippled hand and forced to rely altogether on his left throughout the ten rounds. Consequently it would be unfair to condemn the Pittsburgher for his failure to make a better showing. Moreover Frank is not claiming any championship titles. He is a big, strong and willing fellow who is doing the best he can and is probably cognizant of his shortcomings as a pugilist. His best is not not claiming any championship titles by championship standards of the past; still it is enough to enable him to stick the full routes with the prosed headlines whenever he makes the attempt. Frank went twenty rounds with the "Gunboat" not so very long ago and had no trouble staying ten with McCarty, crippled as he was.

Smith Talking.
"Gunboat" Smith, who was among those present, was heard to remark that he could "put either McCarty or Moran away in less than ten rounds." Talk is a cheap commodity. Smith couldn't knock Moran out in twenty rounds in California. The best he could do was to get the decision, and a close one at that. Since the "Gunboat" failed to stop the slow-moving and slow-thinking Rodel his stock has taken a decided slump. Any boxer who can dodge his wild swings for a few rounds stands an excellent chance of trimming Jim Buckley's candidate.

"Gunboat" will have his work cut out in the Willard bout next Saturday if there is anything in the dope. That match will decide who is to get first crack at McCarty—after Luther goes through with the easy marks he is hunting up Calgary way. Consequently it behooves "Gunboat" to get himself in the best possible condition to fight his best possible fight, else he may find his name in the "has been" column Saturday evening. Willard may look like a boob—some say he acts like one—but he has so far proved fully equal to the task of protecting himself against the assaults of the "Gunboat" type of fighter.

A recent dispatch from Calgary, Alberta, possibly inspired by Tommy Burns, who promoted the match, reads as follows: "By reason of his good showing against Andy Morris of Boston, Arthur Polky looms up as a formidable opponent for Luther McCarty." etc.
When Luther's engagement to box at Calgary was announced it was given out that Carl Morris was to fight Polky and that McCarty would meet the winner. Since learning that Boston Andy, and not Oklahoma Carl, was one of the contestants, we can better understand Manager Billy McCorney's eagerness to grab the bout for Luther.
To illustrate how carefully McCarty is managed, it is only necessary to recall that a purse of $10,000 to box Bombardier Wells at Madison Square Garden was turned down cold. Then came an offer of $12,500 to meet "Gunboat" Smith. That was also refused. Right on top of those offers McCarty agreed to box Frank Moran for $4,000, and to take the long hike to Calgary on a percentage basis. But in the "deal once" he is to box in Canada there is little danger—also less money.

Palmer Was Sick.
When Al Palmer left New York for California last winter to box McCarty he was a sick man. In fact, he was in such shape that his friends advised him to remain at home and call the fight off. This Palmer refused to do, as he believed the only thing wrong with him was a stubborn case of grip, and the sunshine of southern California would bring speedy relief. But the change did Palmer no good; he entered the ring against McCarty in poor shape, and was beaten. At that, he was not even knocked off his feet, and was fighting his best when the referee stopped the mill.

Since then Palmer has spent a great deal of his time abroad, where Tom O'Brien took him on the long chance of getting right with J. A. McKenna, and only returned to this country a few weeks ago. As the big boxer failed to show any physical improvement, Manager O'Brien decided to have a specialist examine him, with the result that Al is now in the hospital convalescing from an operation which is said to have removed the source of all his trouble. The odds against his having Palmer in condition to jump on the trails of the heavies within the next six weeks.

And gladly will his return to the ring be welcomed by the boxing enthusiasts, with whom Palmer is a great favorite. It has always been a puzzle to those who have seen both McCarty and Palmer in action just how the former managed to score over the latter farmer. While the stories of Al's illness were figured as the usual "alibi," recent developments have proved that he was in no shape to fight at the time, and that he was not so lucky as to have due to his marvelous stamina and gameness.

One thing must be said in favor of Palmer: He is as game as they come. He never backs out, and he is always tearing in. That is hardly the system most productive of good results, but it is all Al knows. He is simply a big piece of fighting machinery. If he learns some other method of defense than that of stopping blows with his jaw or other parts of his anatomy he might get by. But, as it is, when he takes more punishment as a general rule than the man he beats, and it would take a physical of iron to stand the gaff in such alaphatic doses.

McKourke says the Palmer-Johnson battle will take place next fall, if the negro escapes punishment by the federal authorities. Well, I don't know how far the coin has gone back since the time of the battle, but it is true, if he has been leading as true, it would not take a Langford or Jeannette to lick him. And, if he can prevent it, it is not likely that either of these colored boys will ever get the chance to box the champion. Johnson is foxy enough to realize that he is the only black champion this country has ever known, as such is an idol of his race. He would scarcely take the chance of letting another member of the colored family rob him of those honors. Particularly as there would not be a great deal of money in the transaction, while a battle with the best white heavyweight for the title would mean a fortune, win or lose, and even in defeat would mean no great loss of prestige among the people of his own color.

EBBETTS IS FEASTED BY BROOKLYN FANS

Brooklyn Club Owner Celebrates Thirtieth Year in Professional Baseball.

New York, May 10.—Charles H. Ebbets, of the Brooklyn National League club, today celebrated his thirtieth year in professional baseball as an employee, secretary and club president, successively. He was the guest tonight at a dinner tendered to him by citizens of Brooklyn. Plates were laid for 600, the largest dinner ever given in Brooklyn borough.
Borough President Alfred E. Steers was the honorary toastmaster and the speakers included Supreme court Justice Crane, the Rev. Dr. James M. Farber, pastor of the First Reformed church; John A. Heydler, secretary of the National League, and Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago club.

Regatta Postponed.

Cambridge, Mass., May 10.—A stiff northeaster that swept the lower reaches of the Charles river prevented a race today between the varsity crews of Princeton University of Pennsylvania and Harvard. The referee, Lieutenant Jonas Ingram, of the battleship "Nebraska," postponed the struggle until Monday afternoon, subject to faculty approval.
The three crews waited all afternoon for the gale to subside while several thousand persons shivered on the river bank. Just before sunset the referee ran down the course and found conditions prohibitive.

Yatesville 13, Zebulon 11.

Yatesville, Ga., May 10.—(Special.) The Yatesville team broke Zebulon's winning streak by the score of 13 to 11. The Zebulon boys got rattled in the first inning, allowing six runs. In the seventh inning the Zebulon boys led the score. Things began to look bad for the Yatesville boys until the eighth, when Jones batted the ball over the fence for a home run.

SEVENTEEN STRAIGHT FOR RIVERSIDE TEAM

Stone Mountain, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Riverside Military Academy gave the University School for Boys a sound drubbing here today, winning 17 to 4.

It was the seventeenth straight win for Frank Anderson's great little ball club and eight wins in the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic association. Riverside got eighteen hits off of Vondereau and Hautman, while Ross Haynes, an Atlanta boy, held Stone Mountain to eight hits and four runs.

"Burr" and Bass, Atlanta boys, did most of the hitting for Riverside, the former getting four hits and the latter three. Norton and Vondereau, with two hits apiece, starred for the locals.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Riverside.....300 000 842—17 12 5 Stone Mountain 110 100 001—4 8 3 Batteries: Williams, Haynes and McNeil; Vondereau, Hautman and Monahan.

St. Louis Fans Ask Ban Johnson to Reinstate Manager Geo. Stovall

St. Louis, May 10.—Petitions requesting President Johnson of the American League, to reinstate George Stovall as manager and first baseman of the St. Louis team, were circulated here today. Several thousand persons, it was claimed, had signed the petition, which states:
"If extreme punishment should be visited on Stovall for an impulsive act, which he himself sincerely deprecates, the team that he has built up would be left without a leader and the favorable sentiment created by his efforts would go for naught. His suspension alone has been a heavy punishment, both to him and to the St. Louis team."

PRINCE HENRY AVIATION CONTEST STARTS TODAY

Berlin, May 10.—The Prince Henry aviation contest will start from Wiesbaden tomorrow with thirty-two officers and pilots contending with a number of amateurs. The emperor, Prince Henry, the Bavarian prince regent and several grand dukes have offered special prizes. In addition there will be cash prizes of 70,000 marks ($17,500).
The route has been fixed as follows: Sunday, Wiesbaden to Cassel; Monday, Cassel to Cologne; Tuesday, rest; Wednesday, Coblenz to Carlsruhe; Thursday, rest; Friday, Carlsruhe to Strassburg; Saturday, Strassburg to Freiburg and return.

Tennis Trials.

New York, May 10.—G. F. Touchard and R. L. Pell, candidates for places on the American international lawn tennis team, were beaten here today by W. M. Wall, Jr. and J. H. Barrett, English professionals, who replaced Karl Behr, in four straight sets.
The day was cold and windy, which seriously interfered with good play.

Before the trial match the Australian players, who will meet the American team next month, held the courts. It being the first time they have played here.

Tuxedo, N. Y., May 10.—H. H. Hackett and R. D. Little, together with N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney, the Boston pair, were the winners here today in the continuation of the Boston and Robb tennis doubles. The former pair, which is favored for a place on the American international team, defeated William A. Larned, former national champion, and R. D. Wrenn. Then the Bostonians defeated W. J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, and C. F. Watson, Jr.

Southern Shops Defeat Buford.

Buford, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—In one of the best played games of the season, the Southern shops of Atlanta defeated the locals today, 9 to 5.

The game was featured by three home runs and the hitting of Elzer, getting four hits, three of them good for two bases.

Griffin, of the shops, played a fast game at second base, accepting eleven chances.

Ed Johnson's hit in the ninth, with two on bases, gave the visitors the game.

S. Allen, J. Allen and N. Brogden starred for the locals.

Batteries—Shaw, Greening and Jones; Buford, Robinson and S. Allen.

This is the second game won by the visitors. The former by the score of 11 to 8.

Thirteen For Yale.

Philadelphia, May 10.—By defeating the University of Pennsylvania baseball nine on Frankford field, Saturday noon 9 to 2 in a nerve-racking fourteen-inning struggle, Yale added another victory to her long string, the total now being thirteen straight.

United States Tires

are good tires

One or two strong points can no more make a strong tire than a good carburetor or a good transmission can make a good car.

The ideal tire is a combination of all the desirable features it is possible to put into a tire.

United States Tires have gained the enviable reputation among the trade and among the men who know tires of being good tires in every respect.

These good qualities can be summed up in a single phrase—

They cut down tire bills

Four-factory co-operative methods of manufacture have combined in this one tire all of the qualities that go to make up a good tire in a way that has never before been approached by any tire maker.

Mileage has been raised to an unprecedented point.

The fabric strength has been increased practically 50 per cent. by a process used exclusively by the United States Tire Company.

The tread is made of the toughest rubber stock known to the industry.

Flexibility and resiliency has been increased to a marked degree.

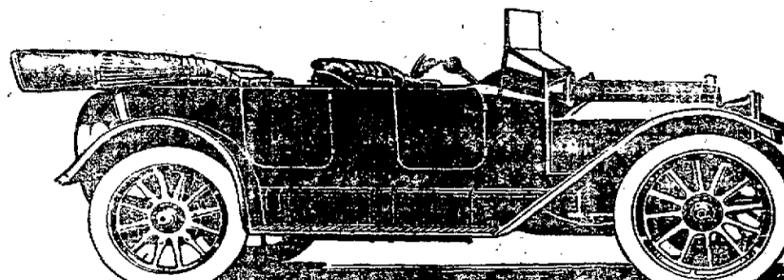

In fact United States Tires are giving a character of service that is a revelation to those who are using them for the first time.

Made in three treads, Plain, Chain and Nobby, and in three styles of fastening, including the famous Dunlop, straight side.

Cost no more than you are asked to pay for other kind.

St. Phillips Wins

St. Phillips defeated Grace in a slow five inning game. The game was featured by the all-round playing of the St. Phillips. The entire team played up to 1912 form. The game was featured by the hitting of Harrison and Adams, who connected for three runs. St. Phillips still leads the league with the number of fair fans present. Umpire Hawkins deserves credit for the way he handled the game.

Atlantic Beach Hotel

FORMERLY

HOTEL CONTINENTAL

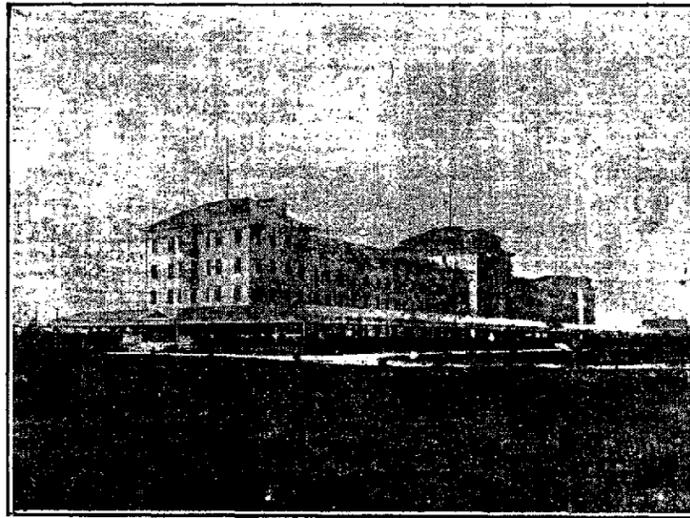

The South's Finest Summer Resort

Open Saturday, May 31st

Under the Management of Mr. H. M. Stanford of the Tampa Bay Hotel, One of the Best Known and Most Popular Hotel Men in the Country

Among the attractions will be a grill room, open air cafes, a garage and a livery stable with a specialty of fine saddle horses. A cuisine will be established regardless of expense, which will make the Atlantic Beach Hotel known throughout the country. The best stewards and chefs in the country have been engaged with a corps of skilled assistants. The kitchen is being rebuilt and completely refitted. The electric light and power plant is being renewed and doubled in capacity; the elevator service improved and the entire hotel is being renovated for the comfort and convenience of guests.

The ocean beach here being unequalled anywhere else, no expense is being spared to make surf bathing a leading attraction. The bath houses are being doubled in capacity; life guards and swimming instructors have been engaged. Rafts and life lines are being installed, and hundreds of the best and most expensive bathing suits obtainable have been purchased. There is no finer course in the world for automobile driving than at Atlantic Beach. It affords a longer uninterrupted drive, it is absolutely safe and at low tide there is no wider beach on the entire Atlantic coast.

The Atlantic Beach Hotel will be operated hereafter continuously and not merely for a few months during the late tourist season. Summer and winter it will extend hospitality and a quality of service that will secure the comfort of its guests and insure their return. It will be operated on a modified European plan. The grill room and dining room service will be as nearly perfect as skill and experience can make it and it will win for the hotel a reputation national in extent.

Twenty Thousand Dollars Are Being Expended to Make This Splendid Resort Better and More Popular Than Ever

Already, in advance of this announcement, an unusual number of reservations has been made for the entire season, from all sections of Georgia, Eastern Alabama, the Chattanooga territory and Florida. The capacity of the hotel unquestionably will be taxed. It is strongly urged that old patrons and new ones shall make their reservations immediately, in person, by letter, by telephone or by telegraph.

EMORY WILL HAVE NOTED SPEAKERS

Commencement Exercises to Be Marked by Splendid Addresses—Judge Palmer to Deliver Alumni Address.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Emory College, has been quite fortunate in the speakers selected for the approaching commencement. The preacher for commencement Sunday is Dr. Frank M. Thomas, of Louisville, one of the leading ministers in his state and of the southern Methodist church.

The literary address will be delivered by Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the United States senate, and pastor of Epworth church, Washington city. Dr. Prettyman is an alumnus of Washington and Lee, and received the degree of doctor of divinity from Randolph-Macon college, Ashland, Va. As a pastor, Dr. Prettyman has served important charges in Virginia, West Virginia, Baltimore and Washington. He has twice been a delegate to the general conference of his church. He was sent as a delegate to two ecumenical conferences—London, England, 1901, and Toronto, Canada, 1911. He was appointed fraternal messenger to the general conference of the Methodist Protestant church, Baltimore, 1912, and is a member of the commission on the congress of universal faith and order. He served as chaplain in the United States senate, as a substitute for Dr. W. H. Milburn, and was elected chaplain for the first sessions of the present congress.

The alumni address will be delivered by Judge Howard E. W. Palmer, 72, of Atlanta, former president of the Alumni association.

Reunion of Class of 1883

One of the most interesting features of commencement week will be the reunion of the class of 1883. There were 26 members in the class, of whom 19 were living in 1910. The class will place a wrought-iron settee, of special and original design, under their class tree. Attached to the settee will be a bronze plate containing the 26 names of the members of the class, the members of the class who are living, and many of whom will be present, are as follows: L. O. Benton, Monticello, Ga.; Dr. A. Blalock, Madison, Fla.; Rev. W. B. Burke, Seeshow, China; Professor C. H. Carson, Ruston, La.; John Conn, Milledgeville, Ga.; John H. Cotter, Canal Zone, Panama; John Farraz, Haddock, Ga.; W. H. Ferguson, Gibson, Ga.; Rev. R. E. Lee, Folsom, Ala.; Dr. G. R. Glover, Monticello, Fla.; Wilbur P. Haygood, Fort Hall, Idaho; S. H. Jones, Waynesboro, Ga.; Edwin C. Merry, Atlanta; C. E. Nall, Lutheraville, Ga.; William H. Shaw, Carrollton, Ga.; Cecil H. Smith, Sherman, Texas; Professor Joseph S. Stewart, Athens, Ga.; Edward L. Tappan, White Plains, Ga.; Bartow S. Williamson, Forsyth, Ga.

The Emory alumnus are now voting for an alumni trustee. Professor H. H. Stone, secretary of the Alumni association, is conducting the correspondence, the result of which will be announced at commencement.

BABY COMMANDERY TO LEAD TEMPLARS

LaFayette, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—An event of interest locally is the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the state of Georgia, which meets in Columbus on May 14 and 15, from the fact that Charles Martel Commandery, located at Chickamauga, has been given the place of honor in the parade and has been specially designated by the grand commandery to give an exhibition drill in sword exercises and general military movements for the benefit of the other commanderies.

Charles Martel is the "baby" commandery in the state, and Chickamauga is the smallest town, according to census report, in the United States where a commandery of the Templars is located. Although hardly three months old, this order has sprung to the front and now ranks eighth among the twenty-nine commanderies in Georgia.

Charles Martel has among its members a number of officers from Fort Oglethorpe, as well as many graduates from the state military schools, and with these as a nucleus has organized one of the crack drill teams of Georgia.

A former Walker county boy, Past Grand Commander George M. Naylor, is to deliver the principal address.

SPRING SCHOOL FAIR FOR NEWTON COUNTY

Oxford, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Newton county spirit, which is locally claimed to equal if not exceed the far-famed Atlanta spirit, will show itself on May 15 by the introduction of a novel contest for the county schools. It will be called the Spring School Fair, and will be held in a tent erected in Oxford.

The children will be given fifty prizes for their displays of the many phases of school work. The contest promises to be far more than the literary contests which are held in some county schools each year.

The work done for its schools, Newton county is probably unequalled by any county in Georgia. One-seventh of the standardized schools of the state are in this county, and the oratorical contests, now throughout the state, were started here, as was the first boys' corn club.

Young Harris Commencement.

Young Harris, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Young Harris college commencement, just closed, proved in many ways the most successful in college history. For the first time a quorum of trustees met to hold regular business sessions were held.

A bequest of $5,000 was announced by Rev. H. F. Branham, financial agent of the college. At the elections, Colonel W. L. Peel, of Atlanta, was chosen to head the board of directors in place of Rev. M. J. Carr.

On the class rolls this year there were 475 names of students, and the following were announced as winners of medals and prizes: R. T. Harrison, Maidsa Griffin, John Johnson, Myrtle

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS EXAMINATION MAY 21

Joel Hunter, chairman of the Georgia state board of examiners of public accountants, has called the regular half-yearly examination, to be held in Atlanta on May 21 and 22.

This examination is held in accordance with the law known as the certified public accountants law, provided for by a board of examiners of public accountants, which was passed in 1908. It is acknowledged that the most proficient auditors carry the degree of C. P. A., and these letters can be written after one's name legally only after this examination has been successfully passed.

There are now about twenty-eight certified public accountants registered in Georgia, but it is expected this number will be increased after the examination closes. The subjects in examination are theoretical and practical accounting, auditing and commercial law, as affecting accountancy.

The candidates to stand this examination will be drawn from every section of the state.

ELECTRICS WILL RUN TO STATE SANITARIUM

Milledgeville, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—It has been definitely announced in a letter from the railroad commission to interested citizens that within the next few months electric cars will be put in operation on the Milledgeville and Hudson River lines. They will be the Georgia depot here through the city and to the state sanitarium, Oconee River mills and other points. Electric storage battery cars will be used, of the type used on the Pennsylvania and Hudson River lines. They will be put on just as soon as they can be obtained.

LABOR LOCAL FORMED IN CITY OF CORDELE

Cordele, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—A local of the State Federation of Labor was organized here last night with a very healthy membership. The work of organization was done by C. A. Cone, general state organizer.

Application for a charter has been made to the American Federation of Labor, and it is expected that the local will be instituted on Friday night, May 15.

Officers elected last night are as follows: President, J. P. Meahan; vice-president, J. L. Barrow; recording secretary, J. E. Haverfield; financial secretary, J. H. Weathers.

Carpenters and joiners' union, No. 1755, was organized here several months ago with a good membership, and a barbers' union will be organized between Cordele, Fitzgerald and Douglas, with headquarters at Fitzgerald. It is expected that a painters' union will be organized in a short time. That 260 members will come into the federation of trades within the coming three months is anticipated at this time.

CLAIRVOYANT TRUST HAS NETTED $500,000

Chicago, May 10.—The clairvoyant ring, working in conjunction with a gang of wire-tappers, has netted $500,000 in Chicago by swindles during the last eighteen months, according to evidence said today to be in the hands of State's Attorney Byrne.

Incidentally the evidence brings in the name of Dr. William T. Kirby, an investigation by Federal Judge Landis into the failure of a private bank, of which Dr. Kirby was the head, developed that $20,000 was missing, and Kirby explained that he had been swindled out of that sum by wire-tappers. Judge Landis disbelieved this story and a federal grand jury recommended that Kirby held for perjury.

Included in the evidence are records of telephone calls from the headquarters of a gang of alleged wire-tappers to Dr. Kirby. Records of calls between clairvoyants and the wire-tappers also were obtained.

WOMEN ARE WARNED THEY ARE GAMBLING

Waxahatchie, Tex., May 10.—There was consternation among the members of the Women's Social clubs here today, when the Ellis county grand jury, just before its adjournment, declared where members of the ladies' organizations played "42" or other card games for prizes, they were violating the law. Nor did they stop with the expression of their opinion, but recommended to the succeeding inquisitorial body that such alleged violations be taken up for investigation and "treated as the law demands."

The women had presented a petition to the grand jury in which they condemned the operation of pool halls in this city. The grand jury commended the clubs for their interest in the pool hall matter, and then made its

TONSILLITIS EPIDEMIC; CANTON IS SCARED

Canton, Mass., May 10.—The state board of health today took full control of Canton in an attempt to check an epidemic of tonsillitis, peculiar manifestations of which have puzzled the authorities.

Within a few days 357 persons, or about one to every ten of the population, have been stricken, and of the number, thirteen cases have proven fatal. Schools and all other places of public assembly have been closed and public funerals are prohibited.

The state board cut off the local supply

WOMEN BIG FACTORS IN MANCHESTER'S GROWTH

Manchester, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—That women are big factors in the growth of this wonderful advancement to its noble women is a fact that is gallantly conceded by the men. There are no evidences of a leaning toward ultimate demands for suffrage, but Manchester's women are making their influence felt in countless ways along the lines of sound upbuilding. There are a number of local organizations of women which seem imbued with a spirit of service and activity such as is rarely found. Rummage sales, special dinners and entertainments in behalf of the various Christian charities and civic enterprises are events of frequent occurrence, and always receive hearty co-operation.

BRIDE WAS DESERTED ON HER WEDDING DAY

New York, May 10.—Mrs. Harry Cahoon, daughter of David Bellmore, a wealthy New York manufacturer, obtained a divorce today from her husband, formerly a Lieutenant in the United States army. Miss Bellmore left school in England to marry Cahoon, when he was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, with the Thirtieth infantry. His offenses, she says, began on their wedding day, when he left her to spend the night at a New York hotel and afterward explained that he had been seduced by party officers. Cahoon did not defend the suit.

NEGRO ODD FELLOWS TO MEET AT AUDITORIUM

The negro Odd Fellows will meet at the Auditorium at 10 o'clock this morning. The meeting will probably last until 12:30 p. m. The different lodges will form at Bell street and Auburn avenue, before the meeting, and march to the Auditorium.

WATER CROSS MAY CANCEL ITS LIGHTING CONTRACT

Waycross, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—At the next meeting of the city council a resolution by Alderman S. T. Beaton calling for the abrogation of the city's contract for street lighting with the Ware County Light and Power company will come up for passage, and from present prospects there is a sufficient number of aldermen in sympathy with the measure to pass it.

Mr. Beaton's resolution is almost the same as one previously introduced by Alderman Fred Brewer. The latter's efforts of the plan to make improvements and Mr. Brewer states that he is satisfied the company is doing its best to remedy conditions. It is contended, however, that the light company has done nothing but promise improvements for months and months. Mr. Beaton insists that the city is not getting service and should not longer put up with such uncertainty. His idea is to enter into a new contract with the light company as soon as the plant is able to furnish efficient service.

Lately the lights have been on more regularly than usual, but no one depends upon them. Lamps and candles have been sold in larger quantities in recent months than ever before in Waycross and many retail establishments have been forced to install their own lighting systems.

NINETEEN CHILDREN NOT ENOUGH FOR HER

Los Angeles, May 10.—Nineteen children, seventeen of her own blood, and two adopted, have been reared by Mrs. May C. Koch, of this city, yet she has undertaken the task of "bringing up" another. A petition signed by Mrs. Koch for the adoption of an 18-month-old girl, Helen Shirley, was made before Judge McCormack today.

"While I believe I already have done my duty," said the petitioner, "I might as well rear an even score of them."

Lecture on Earthquakes.

Athens, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Wednesday evening "Earthquakes" will be the subject of a lecture delivered by Dr. Harry F. Reid, of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, before the science department of the University of Georgia. Dr. Reid is one of the leading geologists in the world.

EUGENE BLACK SPEAKS AT GEORGIA REUNION

Commencement Speakers for the University, Lucy Cobb and State Normal Are Named.

Athens, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Hon. Eugene B. Black, of Atlanta, was today announced by Prof. Sylvanus Morris for the University of Georgia Alumni association as the orator for the alumni reunion at commencement this year. Mr. Black has consented to make the place which was first filled by the acceptance of Mr. Justice Lamar of the United States supreme court, whose official engagements have developed so as to prevent his being in Georgia in June.

The other commencement speakers are Judge Emory Speer, of Macon, to deliver the baccalaureate address on graduating day, and Dr. W. W. Alford, pastor of Moberly street Methodist church, Macon.

This morning it was announced that Mr. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Atlanta, will preach the commencement sermon at the Lucy Cobb institute. Rev. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, Atlanta, has been chosen to deliver the annual literary address.

At the State Normal school, Rev. A. J. Moncrief, pastor of the First Baptist church of Barneville, Ga., will be the commencement preacher, and President S. C. Mitchell, of the University of South Carolina, Columbia, will make the address.

REHEARING IS GRANTED STANDARD OIL TRUST

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—The Missouri supreme court today granted a rehearing in the ouster proceedings against the Standard Oil company of Indiana and appointed John Montgomery, of Sedalia, commissioner to take testimony as to the good faith of the company in severing its connection with any trusts.

The court made an order suspending the writ of ouster against the company.

The court's action today brings relief to the village of Sugar Creek near Kansas City, whose existence was threatened by the ouster, because the inhabitants drew their sustenance from the company's refinery there.

Application for a rehearing of the ouster was made by the Standard Oil company. One of the reasons that the court in its decision ousting the company stood five to two, the three new judges who had been elected since arguments were heard, in the case voting to oust the company. The Standard also set up that it had severed its connection with the "oil trust" in good faith.

Under today's order the taking of testimony by the commissioner must begin within ten days and be terminated by the 10th inst. Attorney General Barker is directed to cross-examine any witnesses produced by the company to show that it is conducting its business legally.

Today's decision is the latest development in a fight instigated by Governor Frank S. Hildreth, then attorney general, about eight years ago. On December 23, 1905, the Missouri supreme court fined the Standard Oil company of Indiana and two other oil companies $50,000 each and issued orders against the Standard and the Republic Oil companies. These two companies appealed to the United States supreme court, where the Missouri judgment was affirmed April 1, 1912.

The Waters-Pierce Oil company was fined $50,000, which it paid, and on the promise to be good in future, was permitted to remain in the state.

In May, 1912, the Standard and Republic companies paid their fines and the Standard asked for a modification of the recent order, which it could continue business in the state, so long as it obeyed the laws. This was denied by the Missouri supreme court February 12 last. A majority of the judges at that time held that the Standard had elected when the company could seek relief.

The Standard company has property in Missouri valued at more than $2,000,000. Its Sugar Creek refinery is valued at $1,750,000 and more than 400 persons are employed there.

MYSTERY OF 14-YEAR-OLD MARY PHAGAN'S TRAGIC END ADDS ONE TO LONG LIST OF ATLANTA'S UNSOLVED CRIMES

BY GORDON NOEL HURTEL.

The mystery surrounding the murder of Mary Phagan, the young factory girl who met a tragic and a terrible death in the heart of a city whose streets were thronged with holiday crowds, may add another chapter to Atlanta's record of unsolved and unpunished crimes.

Can such things be? is asked. Can murder, red-handed, find a victim in the midst of a populous city when the sun is smiling in God's skies of blue and where the protecting power of the law and the vengeance of justice are near, and the criminal go uncaught and the crime unpunished? History answers "Yes," for Atlanta's criminal annals show that there have been ever since the city was a village, murder mysteries that remained unsolved, despite the tireless efforts of human ingenuity to bring the murderers to justice.

Murder Will Not Always Out.

That "murder will not always out" is shown by the tragedies that are here recited, for of tragedies that left unfulfilled the mandate of Jehovah, "who sheds man's blood by man shall his blood be shed," Atlanta has had its full quota. Nor is this city more floored with the blood of unavenged victims than other communities. Ever since the first murder of the world, when only the fratricide's God knew of the crime, punishment has come alone from some power greater than that of man.

The stories here recorded of "Atlanta's Murder Mysteries" had all the elements of boldness and brutality to defy the skill of Gaborian's "LeCoo" or Conan Doyle's "Sherlock Holmes." Many clues were followed up and arrests were made. In some of the cases the officers were positive they had caught the guilty criminals, and the evidence appeared convincing and conclusive, but in the end the mystery still remained a mystery.

The cases recited are not given to rake up blood-stained ashes of the past, but to point out the unerring truth that murder can go unwhipped of justice, and that if the grave of Mary Phagan must forever hide the secret of her tragic death it will not be the only rain-washed mound that holds a victim of unpunished crime.

The First Murder Mystery.

In 1856, when Atlanta had a population of only 7,000 people, the first murder mystery went on record. In murder mystery went on record, a young man who belonged to one of the leading families, was foully murdered and in order to conceal the crime the murderers had carried the body to the yards of the Macon and Western railroad in the dead of night and placed it across the tracks. An incoming train mangled the body, but did not destroy the evidence of murder, for the bullet-hole through the brain was detected by physicians.

Who killed Amos Hammond, and why he was murdered was a mystery. No cause could be assigned for the deed, and despite every effort of the officers of the law the guilty parties could not be found.

The Defoor Double Murder.

Possibly the greatest murder mystery that ever shocked the people of this community and baffled the skill of detectives was that which surrounded the brutal slaying of his wife, Defoors. Martin Defoor and his wife, Susan, an elderly couple, lived in a two-story house on the banks of the Chattahoochee river at what was known as Defoors ferry. The place was seven miles from Atlanta and only a few hundred yards from where the trolley railroad bridge is now located. The couple had lived there in peace since 1853. They had not an enemy in the world. On Saturday night, July 26, 1879, some person or persons entered the house by breaking open a door on the lower floor and used an ax to murder both Defoor and his wife. Their heads were crushed and almost severed from their bodies. No articles of value were missing from the house robbery could not have been the cause.

Detectives worked long on the case, bloodhounds were used to track the murderer, and several arrests were made; but all to no avail, and the murderer remained a mystery.

The Defoors lived in the first house that was ever built in Fulton county. It was a two-story, frame structure, and was destroyed only a few years ago. A full account appeared in The Atlanta made; but all to no avail, and the following words were written by Henry W. Grady:

"Side by side they had walked down the checkered path which leads from youth to old age. Side by side they had sunk into that guiltless cany where which none but the guileless can know. Side by side they had passed down the dark valley, and side by side on this peaceful Sabbath morn side on their spirits are walking in that bright and better land where God hath led the red hand of murder shall never come."

A Young Wife of the Victim.

In 1885 there was in Atlanta a man of alleged wild habits and well known to the police. That man was Charlie Rose, and it was a common saying of those days, no matter what the offense was, that "Charlie Rose did it." He was never convicted and he always treated the charges against him and his arrests as a joke on the part of the police.

There was one bright spot in his checkered career. He had a beautiful young wife whom he idolized, and who worshiped him, wild and wayward though he may have been.

In 1884 there was in Atlanta a man named Charlie Rose, who had been arrested on the charge of murdering someone entered through the head, by shooting her dead in her crimson bed, and there was never a clue by which the detectives could even point a finger of suspicion at man or woman.

Charlie Rose, with his spirit broken and the devil gone out of his life, disappeared from Atlanta and was never seen again.

Shot Down on the Street.

The "Bass murder" has long been referred to by the police of Atlanta as one of the most mysterious crimes that has ever been committed in the street. He was a man of quiet manners, and had not an enemy in the world, so far as was known. He went back and forth to his business daily, beloved at home and honored and respected in commercial circles.

It was his custom to walk down Ivy every morning about daylight while going to his work. On the morning of August 30, 1885, he left home at his usual hour. It was about 4 o'clock in the morning, just as the early morning light was brightening the eastern sky and before the gas lamps had been extinguished. He was alone, and when he reached a point on Ivy street in the rear of where the Aragon hotel now stands two shots were fired by some unknown person hiding in a vacant lot, and Bass staggered and fell dead in the street.

There were police investigations, plenty of them, and the detectives left nothing undone that could have helped on the crime, but after weeks and weeks of arduous work the "Bass murder" took its place in the list of "Atlanta's Murder Mysteries."

Three Policemen Were Victims.

A remarkable thing about Atlanta's mysterious murders is that three policemen were shot to death and no trace of the murderers ever found. Here were officers of the law whose duty it is to punish crime and solve crimes of mystery who were themselves the victims of murders that would not out.

On May 12, 1897, a wholesale liquor store on Wall street, opposite the union depot, had been closed and placed in the hands of a receiver, the Policeman J. T. J. Ponder, of the depot officer. He was a man of great courage, and there was no member of the force respected with more esteem and respect. While patrolling his beat he discovered a light burning in the closed liquor store, and he knew that something was wrong. He stepped across the street, tried the front door and found it had been unlocked. He walked into the building, and what happened after that no person could ever tell, save that the policemen found shot to death. His body was found but a few paces from the front door and a bullet had penetrated his brain. There were all sorts of theories, and three or four arrests were made, but the slayer of Officer Ponder was never found. Whether he fired upon a burglar and the burglar fired upon him, or whether some person wishing to interfere with the receiver killed Ponder when he was discovered, or whether the officer was murdered by someone in the alley in the rear of the building were questions that the police raised, but never answered. The policeman had been murdered and justice did not come.

R. L. Albert, a policeman, was waylaid and shot to death while he was walking on the Broad street bridge at daylight in the morning of July 17, 1897, but two months after Officer Ponder was killed. The mystery surrounding the assassination of Officer Albert was so complete that the detectives never even attempted to advance a theory. It could not have been that he was attacked by burglars; it could not have been that some enemy of his sought revenge, and he could not have been that he was trying to make an arrest, for what little evidence was secured contradicted any of these theories. It was a case at which officers of the law merely threw up their hands and said, "We don't know."

Thomas Carl Mills, another policeman, was waylaid and murdered, Whitehall street, at Turner alley, some time during the night of August 5, 1898. He was found next morning in a dying condition with a bullet hole through his head, and died at the hospital without regaining consciousness, and without being able to make a statement. Mills had been on the police force only a few days, having served prior to that time as a stock side official. He was a bright, handsome young man, and had no enemies, so his friends or relatives had ever heard of.

Choked to Death With Tongue.

Mrs. Mary Lilly, an aged woman, was found murdered in her home on West Hunter street, where she lived alone, on May 12, 1906. Around her neck was twisted a pair of iron tongs, the weapon having been used to choke her to death. Her relatives could assign no cause for the crime and the police found themselves utterly at a loss to secure a tangible clue. It was impossible for her to have committed suicide in the manner described, and the way in which the tongs had been used showed that a strong arm had twisted them about her throat.

Her relatives assisted the police in trying to solve the mystery and both time and money were spent in vain. Mrs. Lilly was assigned to her grave and her murderer went free.

A Triple Murder Mystery.

The boldest double murder that ever occurred in Atlanta, and one which was never avenged by the law, was that of W. H. Briley and his wife. The elderly couple had a store at 75 West Humphries street and their home was in a dwelling adjoining the store.

Late one Saturday night, probably about 11 o'clock, on March 26, 1898, while the couple were still in the store, some person entered and murdered them with a meat-ax and cheese knife which had been picked up from the counter. At the same time there was killed in the store Robert Wilkinson, a negro.

The murderer, after completing his triple crime, set the store afire and fled. Early Sunday morning the police entered the partially burned building and found the dead bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Briley and the negro. It was at first believed that the negro was one of the murderers and had been killed by Mr. Briley in the conflict, but later it was shown that he had gone to the store to make a purchase, and he had probably come upon the murderer, who killed him so that he could not tell what he had witnessed.

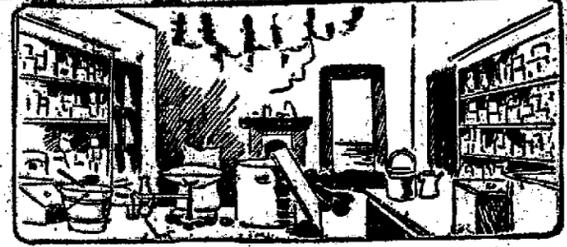

Not a thing in the store was stolen, not even the money in the cash

Some of the Principals and Instruments of Death in the Murder Mysteries of Atlanta.

Mary Phagan, whose recent tragic death may add another chapter to the mysterious murders committed in the city—The tongs with which Mrs. Mary Lilly was strangled to death on May 12, 1906—The ax with which the Defoors were murdered on June 26, 1879—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Briley, who were murdered in their store on March 26, 1898.

was suspected, as the aged couple had some property, but this was a mere suspicion without any proof to substantiate it. Several negroes were arrested, but there was so little evidence against them that they were released on their own recognizance and were never tried. Months were spent on the case by the detectives, but the mystery of the triple murder was never solved.

The Case of Miss Kloecker.

There are doubtless many people in Atlanta who remember the great mystery surrounding the death of Miss Sophie Kloecker. Her dead body was found floating in the lake at Lake-wood park on May 24, 1904. So mysterious was the affair that the coroner held two inquests with two separate juries, a thing that had never been done before.

Because the hand of the law could not be laid upon any person who was suspected of causing Miss Kloecker's death there were those who tried to dismiss the case by making it one of self destruction, but there was too much evidence to prove that she did not commit suicide to let such a verdict stand. She was a beautiful young girl of an excellent family and there was not any possible reason in the world why she should wish to take her own life. When the coroner's first jury rendered a verdict leaving her in doubt, a second jury was empanelled in order to satisfy a public demand for a more thorough investigation. The Constitution secured the services of a Pinkerton man, and he, with the city detectives, worked diligently on the case for several weeks. There were many clues that were run down, but suspicion was never strong enough to warrant an arrest. The second coroner's jury did as the first had done, rendered a verdict of death from drowning with the cause unknown.

Neither of the mysterious deaths of the two Chinamen was ever solved. The body was carried off. Now comes the most mysterious of all the inquestary murders that have been recorded in the city. About four years ago W. E. Gathright, a shoemaker on Decatur street, was murdered while he slept in bed in a room in the rear of his shop. He was a quiet, inoffensive old man who had never had so much as a cross word with a neighbor. The police slept in a bloody bed where he had slept and in the room there was every indication of a foul murder; but the body was not there and it was believed that it had been carried off in a wagon. Some years afterwards a skeleton was found in a box in a ravine fifty miles from Atlanta and near Gainesville, Ga., and there were many who believed it was the remains of old man Gathright, but this was never proven. The Gathright murder was a great mystery because there had not been even a body left upon which the coroner could hold an inquest.

Of very recent date is the murder of J. A. Appelbaum, which occurred on February 25, 1913, in a hotel in the business center of the city. So every recent is this crime that the facts are still too fresh in the minds of the public to require recital here. It is true that Mrs. Appelbaum was charged with the murder, but after a full and fair trial a jury exonerated her and that left the murder still a mystery.

There were other murder mysteries, mostly negroes, and some of which were of recent date, charged to "Jack the Ripper." These stories of crime and mystery only go to show, as stated, that murder will not always out, and that the case of Mary Phagan may be added to the list of murders that must forever remain unsolved.

Atlanta Actors Are Putting on Atlanta Motion Pictures; Jack Lamey and Joe Combs Are in 'Canned Mellerdrammer'

A horrible, horrible thing happened in the ruins of the old Howell mill, out on Peachtree creek, last Thursday. Oh, it was atrocious!

Mr. Hezekiah Hicks, a farmer and wealthy stockman, was coming around the corner of the mill when his pretty little 16-year-old daughter, Lucy, ran into him from the opposite direction. Her hair was streaming in the wind and her eyes typified terror. She threw herself in her father's arms and screamed:

"Oh, daddy, daddy, there's a terrible man down there by the creek and he's got a gun and is shooting at me!"

Right on little Lucy's heels came Archie, her youthful sweetheart, who was unarmed and powerless before the villain with the gun.

Better Lookout, Bad-Eye Pete.

But Mr. Hicks is a brave man and is, moreover, the constable in those parts, so when the pursuing villain came lurching around the corner with his eyes glaring and a terrifying revolver in his hand, Mr. Hicks stepped in front of him and pulled back the lapel of his coat revealing to the startled bad man the star of the law.

"In the name of the law," commanded Mr. Hicks, "halt!"

The invocation of so mighty a thing as the law was too much for even a man with murderous intent and the villain, whose name is Bad-Eye Pete, a notorious outlaw stopped in his tracks.

In an instant though, he took courage and was about to shoot little Lucy anyhow when brave Mr. Hicks drew his own revolver and opened fire. Bad-Eye Pete took to his heels and tumbled over an embankment.

Several of the shots from Mr. Hicks' revolver are believed to have taken effect, but Bad-Eye Pete's injuries were probably not serious, as he has since been seen lurking about the premises.

No one need feel any alarm over the fact that Bad-Eye Pete is still at large, though, because he will not try to do any more damage. Little Lucy is perfectly safe and Mr. Hicks has not attempted an arrest since.

It's Constable Jack Lamey.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Hicks, who in real life is none other than our old friend, Jack Lamey is again charming the public with his melodious ballads, entitled, etc.—down at the Vaudeville theater. Little Lucy, who is Mrs. Roy Butler, has forgotten the terrors of the brink of death, and Bad-Eye Pete is once more only George Perfect, who probably at this minute is busy developing the moving picture films which he helped to pose at Howell's mill.

This means that within a week or ten days Atlanta will see a home-made moving picture play with some folks taking the parts. Or, as Jack Lamey calls it, "canned mellerdrammer."

The Scenic Film company, recently organized in Atlanta by Roy E. Butler and C. B. Rountree, is producing a side-splitting comedy called "A Thousand Dollar Bet."

The whole laughable trouble centers around one Hezekiah Hicks, who is "the boss of Hicksville ranch" and constable.

Hicksville ranch, which is the abiding place of Hezekiah and his little daughter, Lucy, with Bad-Eye Pete and the cowboys, is located at Howells mill.

Poor Hezekiah has been a widower for many long years which of late has begun to distress him sorely. One day admiring himself in a mirror and instantly becomes jealous of the boss' charm. Much argument arises between the two as to which is the better looking and the upshot is that a wager of $1,000 is made the Hezekiah Hicks can't get married inside of one week.

Old man Hicks, as soon as he has made the bet, comes to the cold realization of the fact that there is not a woman except his little daughter, Lucy, within thirty miles of the ranch. Something has to be done—and done quickly.

So Hezekiah sets out Atlanta-ward in search of a wife.

The first thing he does upon his arrival is to insert an advertisement in The Constitution for boarders on his ranch.

By the time he gets back home the Widow Smith, a city youth named Archie and one Izzy Cohen, a gentleman of Hebrew extraction, have arrived.

The widow and Hezekiah fall in love at first sight, and Pete has painful visions of a vanishing $1,000, which leads him to protect himself by a wager with Archie to the effect that this young man cannot turn the trick of matrimony in a week.

But Pete is destined to hard luck, for Archie and Lucy elope. Old man Hicks and the widow, in hot pursuit of the truant couple, arrive at the parson's just too late to stop the wedding, with the result that they forgive the young people and get married themselves.

Mr. Cohen Enters Without a Word.

Pete pays up both bets and mentally kicks himself for a boob.

Here enter Mr. Cohen. The sight of so much money excites him beyond measure.

When upon, as luck would have it, he discovers a maiden forlorn sitting beneath the shade of a tree and finds her agreeable to his proposal of marriage. Her face is covered by such a large bonnet that her features are invisible, but Mr. Cohen is marrying a bet and not a face. So he proceeds to make wagers with everybody. All take him except Bad-Eye Pete, whose shattered nerve from his recent experience has not yet sufficiently recovered.

True to his wager, Cohen turns up at the parson's and meets the lady. But this time she has no bonnet, and Cohen discovers for the first time that she is a lady of color—just a few shades darker than midnight.

The marriage is declared off and everybody collects his money except the unfortunate Pete, who once more administers mental correction to himself.

The parts of Hezekiah Hicks, the country constable, and Archie, the dashing young city chap, were written especially for Jack Lamey and Joe Combs.

Here is the all-Atlanta cast, which is producing the play:

Hicks Jack Lamey
 Archie Joe Combs
 Izzy Cohen Roy Butler
 Pedro George Perfect
 Bad-Eye Pete Dick Shindler
 Ward Ward Day
 Shorty C. Chamberlayne
 Lucy Hicks Mrs. Roy Butler
 Widdy Smith Miss Grover Layfield
 Cowboys, extras, etc.

They Are Having Films of Fun.

The play is funny, but the production of it is equally as much fun.

For the last week the whole cast have been meeting at the Vaudeville at 7 o'clock in the morning and then going out to make pictures until noon.

They are a bizarre looking group when they jump into the waiting automobiles. Painted and rigged out for the fray, they startle the early passers-by on Whitehall with a barve display of cowboys, Mexicans and wildwesterners which would almost persuade one that a circus had come to town.

By 8.30 they are out at Howell mill, Grant park, at The Constitution, or on some street in the city.

The machine is set up and lines showing the limits of the imaginary stage are laid off. The director stands to one side and calls the names of the players for the particular scene which is being made.

With the scenario in his hand he quickly drills them through the scene several times and then they go through with it before the camera.

Half the time, no one knows just what is the meaning of what he is doing except the producing manager.

But thus with laughter and jokes and all manner of fun the work goes on until noon and all are off for the theater again.

"A Thousand Dollar Bet" is the first play to be produced by any company in Atlanta.

Atlanta's Moving Picture company at work. It is not difficult to recognize Jack Lamey as sheriff and Joe Combs protecting the "goil" from the desperadoes in front of The Constitution building.

The Scenic Film company plans to set up a studio here and produce plays. It will not, however, confine itself to this particular line, but will make motion pictures of general interest to the public for news weeklies. The company will also make pictures for the advertisement of cities over the United States, showing their places of interest, manufacturing plants, etc.

Already they have made pictures of several towns in Georgia. In Atlanta they have made pictures of the opening of the baseball season, the game between Atlanta and Ty Cobb's former team, and the Memorial day parade, all of which have been shown in Atlanta.

Twice As Many Autos in Georgia As Any Other Southern State

That Georgia has nearly twice as many automobiles as any other southern state is a fact made known by the Southern Press Clipping Bureau of Atlanta, in their second annual automobile statement, just issued, which shows the number of automobiles owned in each southern state having registration. Georgia leads with 20,000 and the next nearest number is 11,225 in Tennessee, then Florida, with 9,978.

Nine southern states require state registration; two, South Carolina and Texas, require county registration, and in Louisiana, each county or township does its own registering.

The statement is complete to May 1, and is based on information furnished by the automobile registrar in each state. The total registration to May 1, also for same date last year, follows:

Georgia, 20,078; last year, 14,000.
 Tennessee, 11,225; last year, 7,181.
 Florida, 9,978; last year, 4,896.
 Alabama, 4,260; last year, 3,360.
 Arkansas, 4,590; last year, 2,900.
 North Carolina, 7,000; last year, 4,000.
 Virginia, 6,894; last year, 4,000.
 Mississippi, 3,078; last year, 2,000.
 Kentucky, 7,500 (estimated); last year, 4,000.

From the above it will be seen that Georgia made the greatest increase within the last year, with Florida second, that state having made greatest increase compared by population. The increase of Florida is rather remarkable when compared with the increase of the other states.

Where Georgia Leads.

S. A. Martin, manager of the clipping bureau, who prepared the statement, says:

"The statement issued by us a year ago showed that Georgia had twice as

BOOR NAMED TO HEAD ORDER OF CONSTANTINE.

Dallas, Texas, May 10.—Kansas City was selected as the 1914 convention city by the grand imperial council of the Imperial Eclectic and Military Order of Constantine, one of the most exclusive of all Masonic organizations, which closed its forty-first annual convention here today. The following officers were elected:

$250,000 TO BE RAISED TO BUY CHURCH SITES

Dallas, Texas, May 10.—In view of the difficulty experienced in securing church sites out of the income of the general board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, that organization, on recommendation of the foreign committee, today decided to inaugurate a movement among laymen to raise $250,000 to be applied toward purchasing sites. The board also decided to use a larger sum annually from missionary funds in doing strictly evangelistic work.

The board expected to complete its labor late today.

BAN PLACED ON ELY BY COTTON EXCHANGE

Memphis, Tenn., May 10.—J. A. Ely, junior member of the Lesser-Ely cotton firm which recently failed after the disappearance of the president, Lee Lesser, today was expelled from the Memphis Cotton Exchange. Lesser was expelled about a week ago. The board of directors of the exchange has also ordered the suspension of Will Phillips, junior member of the Martin-Phillips cotton firm, which failed several weeks ago after the mysterious disappearance of its president, Joseph W. Martin, in London.

License to store cotton for members of the Memphis exchange also was withdrawn from D. W. McLemore, warehouse man, the board deciding that while there had been no participation between McLemore and the Lesser-Ely company in connection with warehouse receipts, gross carelessness had been shown.

B. H. S. BALL TEAM MAY WIN PENNANT

Boys Are Playing Good Ball, Although Team Was Not Coached.

Boys' High School swamped Mariet College Wednesday by the score of 18 to 4. The game was attended by a large number of rooters from both schools, but the purple and white boys had a decided edge after the fifth inning. This game gives B. H. S. team a certainty of winning the pennant, as it has only a few more games to play, and has not yet lost a game. The team deserves commendation if it wins the pennant this year, as it has played against many formidable foes, most of whom had a campus, a coach and other advantages, while B. H. S. has neither a campus nor a coach, though it is allowed to practice at the Piedmont park diamond.

Boys' High will not enter the inter-prep track meet this year unless a substitute team is secured, and at present there seems to be no chance of such a team. B. H. S. would stand a good chance for winning the trophy in this meet, but the track team does not wish to enter the meet and B. H. S. will probably not be represented.

The sophomore baseball team defeated the freshman team Tuesday by the score of 9 to 3. The game lasted for ten innings and was very close. This is the first time the freshman team has been defeated, and they have a good chance for the class league pennant.

The final examinations will be held in two weeks and many boys will have holidays in the final week. The date of the finals coincides nicely with the date of the opening of Piedmont park lake. The lake will open on the 15th and the boys who have to take the finals will be enviously thinking of their classmates swimming in the lake.

PRACTICING FOR FIELD DAY

Young boys and girls of the sixth grade, Ira Street school, practicing in the schoolyard.

LETTERS FROM THE SCHOOLS

Peoples Street School.
This week seems to be a week of practice for us. The fourth grade is practicing on their butterfly drill, the fifth and sixth grades the flag drill, and the seventh and eighth grades are going to practice their songs Friday for the concert Friday night.

Jean Cantrell, James Hargrove, Katherine Goddard, Jack Egan, Mildred Smith and Robert Brownlee received head-marks in reading last week in second grade A.

In second B, Edwin Hollinsworth and Frances Turner received head-marks in spelling last week.

Henry Britain won the picture in the third grade last week.

Monday, Miss Millidge gave the fourth grade a star in music.

The eighth grade is discussing a picnic, and want to have one very much some time soon, but no definite date has been set.

The Junior Civic club held a meeting last Friday. After the business was disposed of, we had a debate the subject was, "Resolved, That public scholars are preferable to private ones." Those on the affirmative side were Rosa Nash and Grace Cook. Those on the negative side were Ed Gunn and Raymond Bourne. The judges, Thomas Stokes, Ethelene Deater and Elizabeth Lovett decided in favor of the affirmative side. We usually have three debaters on each side, but on account of one of them being absent, we had to cut it down to two on each side. There were several citations and the meeting was adjourned.

Our baseball team defeated South Fryor last Friday, 12 to 4. This was the first game in which our fielders have given us proper support, none making an error. Tuesday, Fraser street beat us 18 to 5. This is about the worst game we have played this season. Just because four runs were made by Fraser in the first inning, every one seemed to lose confidence, and little can be done by a team without confidence.

It seems as if no team on the south side can defeat Formwalt, and we wish them luck when they play for the championship against the best team on the north side.

WARREN R. POLLARD.

Howell Station School.
Mrs. Osgood paid us a delightful visit last week.

Our boys did not take part in the Memorial Day parade, but we enjoyed seeing the other children march.

We are sorry to lose one of our sixth grade pupils who had to stop school last Friday.

RUTH FEEPLES.

Hill Street School.
The spelling banner for last week went to the fourth grade A three days and to the second grade A two days. These two grades seem to be working harder than the rest. The boys and girls of the second grade A received the reward for the best lines in the lower grades last week. These little folks have been doing very good work this year at school, and as a reward their teacher, Miss Williams, took them after school last Monday on a picnic to Grant park. They enjoyed their outing very much.

Lilla Hardigree, a pupil of the third grade, who has been out of school a long time on account of serious illness, returned to school last Monday. We are glad to welcome her back to school. Last week our school enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Osgood, drawing director, and her assistant, Miss Smith.

Macion Williams, one of the sixth grade pupils who have been corresponding with the pupils of the Woolwich schools, a suburb of London, received a letter from her English friend last week and with it also a Woolwich newspaper. The paper gave an account of the visit of King George to the schools of Woolwich and it stated that about two hundred and fifty dollars was spent on decorations before the king visited them. It was very interesting to the sixth grade pupils.

In this piece I will try and write a short article on "Why Penny Lunches Should Not Be Sold in the Schools."

There are several reasons why penny lunches should not be sold in our schools. In the first place the mother of a child knows better than the child needs and should have than the child or anyone else. What agrees with one child does not agree with another and besides if we study hygiene closely it tells us that cold victuals are much more easily digested and are therefore bound to be more healthful. It costs more than a penny to prepare a penny lunch, therefore it is almost giving it away to sell it for a penny, and if the board of education has money to spend on preparing penny lunches for the school children why not use it for the purpose of bettering the school and let the mothers at home fix lunches suited to the proper nourishment of their children? There are school rooms that are overcrowded and should be enlarged, there are desks in some rooms that are so rough a child can hardly write on them; there are yards that are broken by ditches that should be filled; there are trees and shrubbery that should be planted to beautify the school premises and, most of all, there are the hard working teachers and principals who do not receive enough pay for their work. Georgia, "The Empire State of the South," ranks at the bottom of all the states in the union in the payment of her school teachers and I am sure the teachers of Georgia work as hard as the teachers of any other state in the union. This is a matter that should be attended to before trying to introduce penny lunches to the schools, for I think that there is not a child in the Atlanta schools that does not have enough to eat. Anyway, the trouble of the majority of American people is that they eat too much.

Penny lunches in the schools would get the children in the habit of spending money which should be saved for in after life it would be needed in some respects it would tend to encourage laziness on the part of the children when at home. Besides, after recess, it would be hard to study on a full stomach and the children would become dull and drowsy.

SANFORD K. BELL.

Oakland City School.
We are all very glad that we won one of the prizes for clean-up day. Some of the children worked very hard. Our total amount of names was 2,810. Louise Macire succeeded in getting the greatest number. She had 486 names.

Dr. Toepel and Miss Graves came last week to see how our fourth and sixth grades were getting along in their drill for field day. They have worked very hard. Miss Graves thought that they were one of the best in the city.

Miss Millidge visited our primary grades. She was delighted with their music. She reported the first, second and third grades excellent.

Miss Harralson also came to hear the fifth and sixth grades sing their songs for field day. She seemed very much pleased with their work.

We hope that some of our healthy boys and girls will carry off some of the prizes at the field day exercises.

MAMIE TABLER.

Aahby Street School.
The fourth grade got the highest in attendance last week.

The little second grade boys were rewarded for getting the most stars for good lines on the yard.

The first grade had a spelling match last Friday and Thelma Jewell's side did not have a single miss, while the other side had only three misses. Lillian Watts, Abraham Shamos and Ernest Roberts got the prizes for getting the most gold stars in reading this year.

The field day exercises are going to be next Saturday. The fourth grade is going to be in it. They are going to dance the butterfly dance. All of the class are going except two.

The doctors came to examine us Monday. They found most of the children in very good health.

BLANCH LYLE.

Fraser Street School.

Our girls played their first match game of basketball with Lee Street school, and won, the score being 17 to 9.

We received a very pleasant visit from Mr. Slaton this week. He seemed very much pleased with our school, especially the eighth grade. The eighth grade has been practicing throwing the basketball, running broad jump, chinning the pole, etc. The best record for basketball throwing was made by Alberta Prager. Harry Florence was considered the best all-round athlete.

Here's a poem written by "Baseball Ike":

Our Baseball Team,
We have three catchers in our nine,
But Buesse Garner is the best in that line;
In the box we have the same number,
But neither is worth a cucumber.
Manager Johnson at the first sack,
Is a good felder, and at the bat a crack-a-jack.
Ed Thompson plays second every once
In a while,
Bats for Ty Cobb and fields like a child.
J. Collins, at short, bats well every day,
But sometimes he throws the ball away.
At third we have Irving—gallant, not to be
Ouch he told the umpire he'd better dig his grave.
J. C. in left, sure does like apple pie,
But that don't hurt his batting eye,
Because we've never seen him miss a fly.

In center we have Spilberger, surnamed "Swallow."
I never saw him miss but one ball.
Happy Bronnack covers the outfield to the right;
He knocked a home run and then said "good night."
As this completes our nine, I now to you say "adieu."
Our boys beat Peoples street at a game of baseball 18 to 2.

GLADYS McLEAN.

The Mothers' association met on Wednesday afternoon, April 26, to discuss the affairs of the school in general, on which occasion refreshments were served. Mr. Lawton E. Evans, superintendent of the schools in Augusta and Richmond county, made an interesting and instructive talk on the relations between parent, teacher and child. Miss Collins, state organizer of the Mothers' association, was present and made a very helpful talk. The opportunity of hearing these two progressive people was given by Mrs. Frank Spain, who was on the committee for that day.

The children of the fifth and sixth grades are making a success of the flag drill for field day at Ponce de Leon. The children of the fourth grade also do their part well in dancing the roundel for the same occasion.

The eighth grade expects to show

WHO'S WHO AT B. H. S.? ASKS CORRESPONDENT

Cut Desks Come in for Investigations, But Mystery Is Unsolved.

When reading the heading of this article one would naturally think that the writer is to tell of some brilliant, popular boys who have created a great deal of sensation in the high school world.

The words "Who's Who" have many meanings, both of the good and bad spirits. In connection with Boys' High school, however, these words have formed many funny excuses for boys who have been found guilty of a cut in their desk, broken window glass, peanut shells in their desks and many other like offenses.

As the city of Atlanta lacks much money for educational purposes, the Boys' High school holds their classes in the high school building. Consequently there are many classes alternating the use of the rooms, desks and other such things. There has hardly been a case this year where the defendant of an accused cut desk has not gotten out of all punishment, like Silder got to have a large and common that the appearance of all school horses, mules, ponies and all like animals found in desks, on blot- ters or up sleeves is blamed on the absent members of the night school.

So to return to the members of the night school, who are the punishment by telling "who is who" did it. It is almost impossible to find the one or the ones who are constantly "diminishing" the desks of the Boys' High school. The only thing that is left to do is for the city to build two new buildings, one each for the usual caught defacers of its school property.

W. D. ELLIS.

woods on the same day to celebrate Miss Dally's birthday.

The first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades went out to Miss Rhodes' home on Peachtree road a few days ago. All the children enjoyed it very much.

Last Tuesday the seniors had a picnic in the pine grove. The lunch was prepared by the girls of the domestic science class, as Miss Hoffman wishes to teach them how to prepare dainty picnic baskets.

Miss Louise Ware's graduating recital "Mrs. Wicks of the Cabbage Patch" was given before a large and appreciative audience on Friday evening, May 2.

The successful contestant for the U. D. C. medal was Martha McRea. Helen Crandall and Margaret Duncan received honorary mention.

WILLIE O'NEAL.

Lee Street School.
Our seventh and eighth grades are ready for the concert on May 3.

Our fourth and fifth grades are also ready for the pennant. It looks as if still practicing very hard. They have arranged to have a moving picture taken of this beautiful drill.

The ones in the fourth grade A who have made the best marks in deportment and their studies for the whole year are Leon Newton, Herbert Burnett, Wattie Burns, Virginia Jones, Mary Dodge and Annie Anderson.

The fifth grade has been given a star every day for two weeks for having a neat room. They are very proud of this work.

The fourth grade B won an extra star last week for having a neat room. The first grade B is very proud to see their teacher back at school after an absence of a week.

The second grade A had an arithmetic match. The ones who stood up were Genevieve Taylor, Alice Chapman, Mary Warner, William Floyd, Jack Vickery, Jesse Denton, Wirtie Martin, Harold Smith, Martha Jones, Alice Stewart, Clark Troy, William Booth, Bernice Bray and Luette Kleiboh.

We were honored by a visit from Mr. Dan Green yesterday. We always enjoy his visits, and we hope he will come to see us again soon.

HAROLD JORDAN.

Fryor Street School.
We had a grand debate on Wednesday. The subject was, "Resolved, That Queen Elizabeth was justified in signing Mary Stuart's death warrant." Both sides made excellent arguments. The leaders, Addie Coleman, affirmative, and Gracie Burton, negative, had exceptionally fine speeches. The judges had a hard time deciding the victors of such a close game, but finally they came to the conclusion that the negative side had put up the best argument.

We have a Paul Nero rose in bloom, and it is a beauty. As it lifts its magnificent face up to the sky it attracts the attention of all the passersby. All the little boys flock up and gazed by it, each spelling it in his turn.

The eighth led in attendance last week with 99.2 per cent. First B followed close behind. Since September the eighth has made above 99 per cent for twenty-four weeks. They rarely ever fall below 99 per cent and often get 100 per cent.

Several of our teachers went to High school on Friday, the 2d, and the seventh and eighth grade boys went to the woods to get ferns and daisies for our yard, while the girls cleaned up in general at school.

The fifth grade had a contest in orthography. Miss "Hearns, their teacher, gave out the word consanguinity and Margaret Grainger spelt the most words from the letters in this word.

DRY GOODS MEN IN CHATTANOOGA

The Southern Wholesale Dry Goods Association Meets. Officers Elected—Mobile 1914 Meeting Place.

MURRAY BROWN, President of the association. The Southern Wholesale Dry Goods Association held their annual meeting last week in Chattanooga. The meeting was called to order on Wednesday morning and adjourned Thursday afternoon after a most successful and enjoyable session.

The business of the association was satisfactorily carried through and, while there was some discussion on some points, every motion was carried unanimously. Much enthusiasm was shown and the interests of the south as a market for dry goods and the kindred lines were considerably boosted as a result of the meeting.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CREDIT MEN ASSO.

Important Association Will Hold Annual Meeting at Piedmont Tuesday. Secretary Harry T. Moore, of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men, has sent out the following notice to members of the association:

GEORGIA MERCHANTS' ASSO. MEETS HERE

Retail Merchants' Association of Georgia Will Meet in Atlanta the Week of July 21.

The Retail Merchants' Association of Georgia is now sure to make Atlanta their meeting place next July, when they will hold their annual meeting. Enough votes have already been secured to give Atlanta this convention, and while the date has not been officially set it is practically certain to be the week of July 21.

"Peek-a-Boo" admits that on account of the difficulty he has in locating the place of his birth and nativity in the minds of his friends and acquaintances, who make frequent and numerous inquiries as to its location, he begs to submit the following as authentic and reliable and, besides, while this place is quite unlike any other in and around this community, still it offers more happy and sweeter remembrances than the whole world combined.

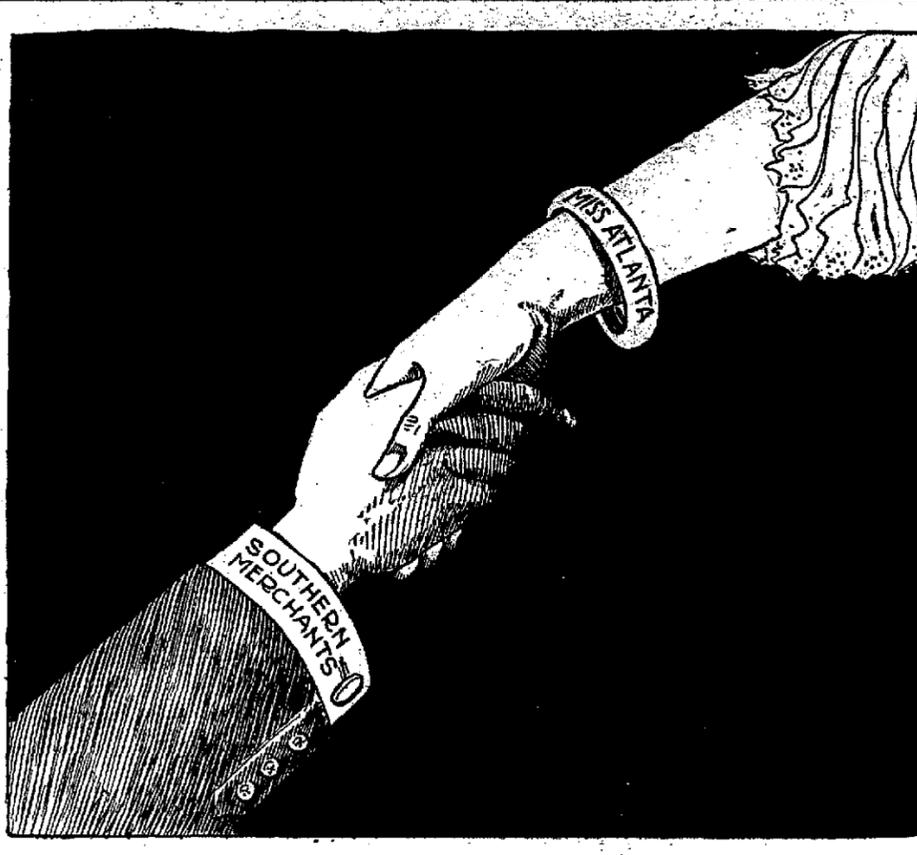

In order to keep your mail in constant transit and arrive at its destination without stagnation and delay, it will require that you direct it to the "Woodstock, Oglethorpe County, Ga., Philomath postoffice, Woodville, Greene County, Ga., shipping point, and express office, Lexington, Ga., S. GIDDENS WILL BE BUSY IN COLUMBUS

Salesman J. M. Giddens, with the Atlanta Paper Company, wrote his house last week that he would be in Columbus, Ga., during the coming meeting of the grand council of the U. C. TO OUR MUTUAL PROSPERITY!

T. P. A. JOTTINGS

The national convention of the Travelers' Protective Association convenes in Richmond, Va., June 8. Delegates selected from Post "B," Atlanta, are F. B. Florence, M. M. Anderson, Paul Toland, W. M. Jenkins, E. D. McDonald, W. P. Anderson, H. M. Ash, C. J. Balsdon, W. F. Egan, A. J. Swann and Hon. J. H. Andrews.

The legislative committee of the T. P. A. have been instructed to prepare a bill to be presented to the next legislature for passage. The bill is to be modeled after the effective Hotel Inspection law now in force in Nebraska.

The T. P. A. membership continues to grow, and we wish to thank The Constitution Firing Line for the splendid promulgation of our efforts in this respect. Elbert Hubbard says, "The unpardonable sin is to neglect to close the screen door." Well, Mr. Hubbard, what are you going to suggest when there are no screen doors? If the Sage of East Aurora could but make a trip now with one of the southeastern men, inspecting the general hotel appointments for protection, he would surely change his admonition, to "It will be an unpardonable sin not to pass the Hotel Inspection bill!"

From present indications the T. P. A.'s future is exceedingly bright, so much so, that it is safe to say that its membership will reach the remarkable figure of 75,000 before the next annual convention.

The writer, having traveled some north, east, south and west, has known many kinds and different sorts of people. He has dined with millionaires and paupers; men, big, little, thin and stout, and admires them all, but has found that he who is compelled to earn his living by honest methods and hard work, is the best of the bunch. He is truly the pick of all the flowers, for his mind is broad and liberal; his heart big and expansive. He wants all men to have an equal share, equal privileges and rights before the law, men and God.

It is true that we cannot be much to ourselves and others unless we believe in ourselves and in one another. First, be true to yourself, and the rest will follow. We are told that during the dark ages—a space of some thousand years—men forgot everything that made for good and happiness; there was little love, laughter and song; there were no inventors, poets or orators, painters nor architects, but there was plenty of hate, revenge, malice, treachery, war, larkness and gloom. History has shown us that these men were not true to themselves or to anyone else. The world is getting better all the time; we must be doing our part; let's keep trying.

In the glow and beauty of a certain morning on the Mount of Olives, a great multitude of people—the rich and the poor—followed a very wise and good man, some were in search of riches, power, fame and pleasure, while others sought bread and water; all were hungry and thirsty. This Good Man, with infinite capacities, greater than all others for the discernment of thought, said: "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled." No other man ever spoke as Jesus did, and we should let His Spirit be our comforter and guide, at home or on the road, at work or at play.

Right at this time, when others who are no better off than you are yourself, set themselves aloft to gaze pity-

KISER CO. SHIPS SHOES TO CHINA

Prominent Wholesale Shoe House of Atlanta Sent a Shipment to Shanghai Last Week.

The markets which the Atlanta wholesalers are constantly adding to their list are dotted all over the known world. This is daily evidenced to the man who is at all familiar with the Atlanta manufacturers and jobbers and the business they are doing. One of the leading houses in the city, the M. C. Kiser Co., proprietors of the famous "Shield Brand" shoes, illustrated this in goodly fashion last week. They sent a shipment of their goods to Shanghai, China. This is reaching out after trade with a vengeance and the name of Atlanta on a shipment will soon be familiar in all parts of the globe, from Kamtschatka to Buenos Ayres and from Greenland to Timbuctoo.

Secretary Sullivan, of the Kiser Co., remarked: "You see, the sun never sets on Shield Brand shoes."

It is the blessed sunshine of hope for this world and the world to come to see people contented in a home of their own. It creates a deeper feeling of love for family and friends, law and order.

We believe you can make glad the heart and cheerful the countenance of him who is striving for better ends, but is you have by thoughtless deed or action put a sorrow there, the spirit is broken.

The deeds of the T. P. A. upon this earth are for the sake of mankind, his good, his fellowship, his friendship and his love.

Justice: plain, simple justice, is more acceptable any time than sacrifice. Who can say that his heart is clear and that he is pure from sin?

Confidence in an unfaithful person in the time of trouble is like a broken tooth or a foot out of joint, causing heartache, pain and sorrow.

There was a gentleman whom we slightly knew that stopped us in busy moments and pinned a flower on our lapel; God bless him. He would say, "Here is a flower for the living." We want him to know it was appreciated and that the memory of his kindness is sweeter than the flower.

This endless chain of sin and its power; you may have repented for having wronged a fellow man, blasting his hopes and reputation for good, but the sin travels on and on, growing as it duplicates and reduplicates, extending until the person you have sinned against stands condemned in the sight of all. Would you, if you could, redress that wrong? Then why don't you go about to do it?

RAMBO IS ELECTED DIVISION CHAIRMAN

For the Third Division of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods Association.

R. K. RAMBO. R. K. Rambo, of John Silvey & Co., who represented his company at the recent meeting of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods Association in Chattanooga, has been elected division chairman for the third division of the association. This division includes the district comprising the cities of Atlanta, Charlotte, Augusta, Macon, Albany, Columbus, Jacksonville, Tampa, etc. Mr. Rambo is one of the best known men in the wholesale dry goods business in Atlanta and is exceedingly popular with the trade. He is buyer and sales manager for his company. He is an old traveling salesman, a member of the U. C. T. and a Past Senior Councillor of Atlanta 18. Speaking of his recent trip to Chattanooga, Mr. Rambo said: "They surely gave us a dandy time. The boys in Chattanooga are well versed in the arts of hospitality, and no one could have looked after us better than they did. "But you can say this for me: The more I see of other cities the better I like Atlanta."

More About the Garnishment Bill

(By John Bratton, Secretary Retail Merchant's Association of Georgia.) The laws of nature and of the universe tell us that all things come to an end, that there is somewhere, at some place, an end, and sometime we come upon a stone wall that says "Stop!"

The end of some things is to be regretted. On the other hand, there are things whose approaching end is hailed with delight and gladly welcomed. When things go well with us it is our duty to prolong the end, but when they go wrong it is also a duty to hasten the end.

When vice is rampant and graft is abroad in the land it behooves all good people to take up arms against these things and accomplish their end, thus establishing a new era in morality and civic righteousness. So it is in the business world. When conditions become such that the best interests of the country are put in jeopardy it is the duty of all good citizens to come forward in support of every good move having for its end the bettering or changing of these conditions. The man who does not come forward at such a time is a knave at heart and a traitor to humanity.

It is a sad commentary on right and justice, but there are many of these. In our commercial life of today we are confronted with various problems that need to be solved, and especially is this true of the retail merchant. For years past he has been made the goat of vicious legislation and various other things of a nature for which we say vicious, we do not mean to say that this legislation has been aimed directly at him, but indirectly, and in its effect has been vicious, and he has been made to bear the brunt of laws that have failed in meeting the requirements which they were enacted. Principal among these is our present garnishment law. This law, as it stands, is a most iniquitous one. Primarily it was designed for a splendid purpose, but before being enacted into law a joker was slipped in and it became a law which is a class legislation of the rankiest kind. As proof of this statement we print herewith an extract from the present law: "All journeyman mechanics and day laborers shall be exempt from the process and liabilities of the garnishment on 60 per cent of their daily, weekly or monthly wages or income, in excess of $1 per day, whether in hands of their employer or others."

After reading the above extract it is at once seen that this is class legislation in that a line of distinction is drawn through the debtor class, or, in other words, one class is made amenable to the law while another is exempt from its operation. The injustice of such a law is at once seen and it is not to be wondered at that the retail merchants all over the country are protesting against it. There is no just or logical reason why one class of debtors should be exempt from the process of garnishment and the other subject, as is provided in this law, and especially is this true when it exempts the highest paid employees and makes subject those who draw the smallest salaries.

What the retail merchant wants is a just and equitable law, one that will bear with equal force upon all, one that will give them the means of protecting themselves against it, that will make the cheer. No matter whether of the large or small salaried kind. At the same time they are not asking for a law that will be burdensome or oppressive to the needy, or that will work a hardship upon the worthy, but they are insisting that they be

Notes of the U. C. T. Atlanta Council 18

Atlanta Council 18 sorrows over the death of Brother W. Harry Anderson, who died last Monday at St. Joseph's hospital.

Brother C. D. Montgomery has been seen with his smiling countenance around the Terminal station lately. He is greeting the incoming commissioners to the Presbyterian general assemblies. Brother Montgomery is a busy man these days. He would have gone to Dallas but for this, and also states that he hopes to be in Columbus at the U. C. T. grand council meeting.

Miss Lewis, assistant secretary of Atlanta 18, is visiting for the weekend in Bowden, Ga.

Brother L. M. Lyle is in the city this week after a two or three months' trip through the Carolinas. He states that he is glad to be back home.

The members are glad to see that Brother W. W. Scott is sufficiently recovered from his recent participation in a railroad wreck to be out amongst his friends again.

Brother C. K. Ayer is out of the city on a business trip this week. 18 will send a live delegation to the grand council to be held at Columbus on the 23d and 24th instant.

NOTES OF THE CITY SALESMEN

The meeting yesterday morning was well attended and much important business was handled.

The committee who went to Charleston to see about the annual excursion, made their report, and it is probable that the Isle of Palms will be the spot selected for this year's trip. The association is only waiting to hear from the railroad, which will come in next Monday.

Chairman W. G. McNauff, of the finance committee, made his report relative to the financial side of the trip, and everything in this line is also entirely satisfactory.

There were three or four applications for membership, and the growth of the C. S. A. goes on by leaps and bounds.

The hour of the weekly meetings was changed, and henceforth it will be from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m., as heretofore.

O. W. Stamps, of Fain & Stamps, was present at the meeting.

After the meeting adjourned, the association went over to a body to Jones Bros. & Co.'s plant, where they were royally entertained with preserves, pickles, olives, drinks, smokes, etc. They went all over the plant and saw a modern pickling, preserving and vinegar plant in operation.

Among the visitors this week with the Lamar & Rankin Drug company were Dr. E. L. Tye, McDonough, Ga.; Dr. D. W. Scott, McDonough, Ga.; Dr. Cousins, Jonesboro, Ga.; George T. Smith, Covington, Ga.; Dr. Smith, of Smith & Roberts, Marietta, Ga.; Grand Culbreath, of the Culbreath Pharmacy, Grantville, Ga.; Drs. Bowdoin and Franklin, of the Bowdoin Drug company, Adairville, Ga., and Mr. Beasley, of the Beckmark Drug company, Rockmart, Ga.

The last week with the S. F. Richards company are Ed E. Harrison, James R. Thornton, John E. Huff, J. M. Bennett and L. S. Sloan. They will be busy for some time on their new line of same taking.

In The Trenches

Vice President M. L. Minor, of the Warren Manufacturing company, has been busy all week working on the new ideas in Bulgarian and Persian neckwear, which his firm is showing for the fall trade. They are some times, too.

J. L. White, representing the A. M. Robinson company in Mississippi, will leave for his territory tomorrow instead of last Wednesday as originally announced. Mr. White was unavoidably delayed in getting off, but promises to make up for its shortly.

Ridley-Williamson-Wyatt company report that their men are all too busy to come in this week and consequently the unusual sight was seen yesterday of a wholesale house without a road man in on Saturday. However, they all sent in enough business through the mails to justify their absence.

R. A. Hawkins, north Georgia salesman for the E. L. Adams company, was in the house yesterday for the first time in a number of weeks. He reported a big improvement in business this week and a little rain in some parts of his territory, but said the farmers need more rain yet.

R. J. McCowan, the north Georgia salesman with the Warren Manufacturing company, has been combing his territory for orders of late and the result shows in the business he is sending in.

John R. Brown, who travels North Carolina for the M. C. Kiser company, is always a hustler. But of late he has been setting a pace in his sales that some of these youngsters will have to work mighty hard to overcome.

M. J. Bernhard, sales director for the Atlanta Paper company, is back in his office after a two weeks' wedding trip. The company state that it is mighty good to get him back again

$500.00 SODA FOUNTAIN RECENTLY INSTALLED

The above attractive looking soda fountain was recently installed by Robert M. Green & Sons. It is in the new store at the corner of Broad and Alabama streets, and has already attracted much attention from passers-by. The value of this fountain is $5,000 and the company state that it is a good sample of the splendid line of fountains they are nowadays installing all over the country.

J. L. Shipp, the southern sales manager for the agency, is particularly well pleased with the way in which his customers have expressed their satisfaction with the fountains he has put in, and he states that their business shows a remarkable increase every month in this territory.

SELLING POWER OF GOOD DISPLAY

Salesman Writes Clever Story of Value of Silent Selling. Gives Some Very Amusing Examples.

By Walter Clayton.

There is no better way to keep goods moving than by an attractive window, show case or any other kind of a display you can invent.

There isn't any personal salesmanship required in the display business. Your customers sell themselves. They stop, look and listen, talk to themselves, feel their own pulse, and in other mysterious ways convince themselves that they need, want or must have a part or all the goods your silent salesman is offering. (Don't use, "We need the money" signs. Use, "You need the goods" signs.)

My first experience with selling on display goes back a few years to my boyhood days in a small town in the middle west. A small town, but a big day for me, for it was my first circus day.

I reached the grounds fully one hour before show time with the exact price of general admission in my pocket, and was immediately attracted by a loud voice and about fifteen glasses of the prettiest, juiciest, richest red lemonade I ever saw. It was most beautifully displayed in tall slim glasses, with a selling talk that almost choked me to death before I could reach the stand, by telling of the advantage of three glasses for a quarter. I was soon relieved of my thirst and my money.

Through the kindness of a family friend I managed to get in the big show in time to see the trick which kick three slats loose in a prize clown and count the old malds in the reserved seats for the ring master.

My next experience happened after my 21st birthday. While walking down the street one afternoon I was attracted by one of those electric window hammers. Looking up I saw a most beautiful window display of cut flowers with a neatly printed sign, "American Beauties for American Beauties."

Enough said. I was to make my initial trip to the theater that night with an American beauty, who was somewhat skilled in the art of display herself. The florist lost the address of my sugar lump and sent the roses to my home address. My big sister met me at the door with an unusual kiss and said, "Oh, you dear, sweet brother, how thoughtful of you. They are beautiful. Jim never thinks of anything like that."

A few weeks ago I got my next shock due to the value of selling by display. I reached home about 8 o'clock one night after a three weeks' trip. After the usual greeting my wife led me to our room, where she assured me she had a grand surprise for me. (It was!) On the dresser was a safety razor, a box of shoe polish and a reversible collar with a little tag reading, "Economic ideas."

"Honey," I said, "How did it happen?" "Well, it's this way. Mr. Sellall had a beautiful window display of money-saving ideas yesterday. You are always talking about wanting to save up for old age, so I thought you could start economizing with these."

"Very suggestive," I said. "Did you get anything for yourself?" "Oh, yes. Come out on the back porch and see the most wonderful money-saver on earth—an iceless refrigerator. They were displayed in the hardware store window yesterday with a big sign reading, "How to reduce the high cost of living." You know you have always talked against the ice trust, but it took me to put them out of business."

There isn't a salesman on earth that can outsell a good window display. You can sell anything from an eyeless needle to a threadless sewing machine.

City Salesmen With Lamar & Rankin Drug Co.

J. D. LEE

The Lamar & Rankin Drug company are very proud of the amount of business they do in the city. This business has shown a steady increase for years and it is now a matter of surprise to the layman that the city of Atlanta does such a business as they show in this line in one week.

They have two city salesmen, J. D. Lee has been with them in this capacity for years and is known as the old dependable war horse of the team. He has made an enviable record for himself in this work. J. B. Pendergrast, the junior member of the team, has only been on this job for the past twelve months, but he has already proven to be a worthy side partner.

J. B. PENDERGRAST.

for Mr. Lee. These two gentlemen are daily increasing the city sales of their company and they are making a record of which they may well be proud.

THE JOB HOLDER.

With one eye on his work and the other on the clock as its hands approached quitting time, a clerk in the office of the Philadelphia contractor, made an error in an estimate which was not detected until a contract had been made involving the firm in a loss of $150,000.

The clock-watching clerk gave the excuse that he was only half-paid. But results show that though only half-paid, he was over-paid. One eye is not half as good as two eyes. Half a mind is not half as good as an undivided mind. Half pay is too much for half a man.

It is not only the errors which cause great disaster which occur, but even more costly still in the long run, are the frequent little errors that call for constant supervision of a man's work. The listless worker wastes more than his own time, he wastes a lot of the more valuable time of the man above him, who in order to make good his deficiencies, has to keep a watchful eye on all his work. A careless, inefficient worker may actually cause more work to others than he does himself.

Many an employee seems to be satisfied to starve just within the line of safety zone discharge. He is interested in nothing all day so much as in the clock at quitting time. He works not to get his work done right, but to put in his time and get his pay. His work does not mean to him occupation—his service, but only his "job." He is a mere job-holder. He is not a worker but a shirker.

On the other hand, there are employees—hosts of them—to whom their work means their best possible service, their fullest enthusiasm, their keenest joy, their highest life. These are the men, who in order to make good his deficiencies, has to keep a watchful eye on all his work. A careless, inefficient worker may actually cause more work to others than he does himself.

Here is a sound aphorism. "If you never do more than you are paid for, you will never get paid for more than you do."

Edward Glaser, representing the Grand Lake company, of New York, manufacturers of paper bags, was visiting his company's distributors for this territory, the Consolidated Paper company, last week. Mr. Glaser stated that they had been attracted to Atlanta when looking for a central distribution point and were very well pleased with the results. They carry a stock of about eight carloads of bags with the Consolidated Paper company.

The Ragan-Malone company report one salesman who has sent in orders this week totaling over $5,000. This is going some and the company states that they are well pleased, for this time of the year especially.

N. A. Morse, who travels in Alabama for the M. C. Kiser company, is at present in the city, arranging about taking his family to Selma, Ala. where he will henceforth make his permanent headquarters.

N. Y. Bailey was an in with Fain & Stamps this week. He reports his business as looking up nicely.

N. P. Cannon, secretary and treasurer for the Atlanta Casket company, returned Saturday after being out of the city for several days on business.

one's position may be, so long as one fills it well. The main thing is to fit into one's place, whatever the place may be, and when one does that all other things take care of themselves. There is no superiority but in superiority of service.

The enthusiast who put his life into the making of the first rude lens did an humble thing, yet he lifted mankind nearer to myriads of new worlds. The man or woman who only adds columns of figures, if they be always added right, is a very bulwark of successful business.

Atlanta Manufacturers' Exposition

The matter of holding a "Made-in-Atlanta" exposition here in August, similar to the one held last year, has not yet been decided upon.

The splendid success of the 1912 exposition was such that in all probability another exposition will be held this year. Last year about seventy-five manufacturers took part in this exposition, and from the sentiment expressed by the manufacturers of the city it is undoubted that many more will enter this year than last.

Conceded to be one of the best advertisements the city ever had, it would be a pity to miss it this year. The Merchants and Manufacturers' association have decided to hold their Merchants' Week in August, and with the thousands of visitors who will be in the city, it would be shortsighted not to hold this exposition.

Traveling men, boost for a "Made-in-Atlanta" exhibit, and let us get together and make it double the size and quadruple the impressiveness of the one held last year. We can do it.

CHILE CON CARNE GET IT WHILE IT'S HOT

G. W. Little, brother of Jim Little, of the Dougherty-Little-Rodwin company, returned to his home in Baltimore last Monday after a visit to his friends in Atlanta. Mr. Little is always glad to come here and says it is good to renew acquaintances around his old home.

E. E. Shyer, with the Consolidated Paper company, came in Saturday from Augusta. He reports good business as usual.

Walter C. Baranwell, of the Ragan-Malone company, reports business as picking up considerably. Merchants are buying fill-in goods more freely and also the fall trade is opening up in good fashion.

The A. M. Robinson company report business as improving and state that they have just concluded a particularly good week.

The Capital City Tobacco company are handling a line of pipes of which they are particularly proud these days. This is the "Gladstone" line, which is well known through the extensive advertising which has been done in the national magazines. This is a $1 French briar pipe and is extra good goods. They are also giving away a nice out glass arrangement of soda counter supplies to their customers these days.

C. F. Webb, with the Warren Manufacturing company, left for his territory in Alabama last Monday after a few days on the sick list.

O. W. Stamps, of Fain & Stamps, spent Monday last with Cliff Edwards, visiting the trade in Marietta and Smyrna.

E. F. Malone, of the Capital City Tobacco company, has recently purchased himself a new automobile. He states that while it is chiefly for pleasure, he will also be able to use it a little in his business.

P. J. Henderson, the Florida man for the Warren Manufacturing company, is at present spending his vacation at Sylvester, Ga.

Where Location Counts

Somewhere the other day we saw this bit of wisdom: "A boil doesn't have to be very big if it's well located."

We thought this a very good way, in a negative sense, to show the value of location.

The Hotel Inspector Law

The Georgia division of the T. P. A. are working hard to get a hotel inspector law passed by the legislature in this state similar to the one now in force in Nebraska. The legislative committee has been instructed to prepare a bill similar to this one to be presented to the next legislature for passage.

The need of such a bill is known to every man who has traveled to any extent. The condition of some hotels which the traveling men are compelled to patronize is deplorable, and the passage of this law will make possible the enforcement of the laws relative to the question which are now on the statute books, and also any others which may be passed from time to time.

Fortunately, the hotels which are in this condition, and which make the passage of this law so necessary, are few and far between, but that they do exist cannot be denied. The hotels of the state compare favorably with those of any state in the union. But the good hotel man will be the first to support the passage of this bill, because he will realize that it will be a protection not only to his patrons, but to him also. For it will protect him from that small class of patrons who have no regard for the property of others when staying in a public hotel. The hotel inspector will help to place the blame in the right place, and, while he will compel the improperly kept hotels to either comply with the laws or cease from doing business, he will also help the hotel men who are anxious to take the best of care of their guests, to insure this, and will work in co-operation with them to keep the hotels of the state in as perfect condition as possible.

W. E. Rhumph, traveling South Carolina for the Warren Manufacturing company, has been in all week, working on his samples for his new fall line. He will probably get out to his territory again about June 1.

The Gramling-Spalding company report better business than they had anticipated for May so far. The sales of "Premium Brands" are holding up well, and the company is much gratified by the showing their men are making.

A. L. Diehl, the south Georgia man with the M. C. Kiser company, has just finished a splendid week. He sent in one order totaling over $2,000. But good business is a regular story with Mr. Diehl any way.

The Dougherty-Little-Redwine company have been busy all week with an inventory of their stock. They report business as good, and also that the plans for their new home are progressing nicely.

WHAT THE WILD WAVES ARE SAYING

Without self-confidence the race is lost before it is begun.

You know yourself better than others know you. If you have no confidence in yourself, how can you expect those who know less of you to have any?

Self-confidence cannot rest on bluff. You must know that you have some ability before you can possibly have any confidence in yourself.

All the confidence in your goods in the world is of no avail unless you have some confidence in your own ability to sell them.

When you present a dollar at a store you know that it is worth one hundred cents. When you engage to work for so much per day, you should know as confidently that you are worth every cent of that money to the people who have to give you value for it in currency.

Then it will not take them long to realize that they are sure to get one hundred cents worth of work out of you for every dollar you present to them in the way of salary.

Your brain is the manager of the plant which you call your body. If the manager has no confidence in his employees he quickly gets new ones. You cannot change the members of your body. Therefore train them to do the work so that your brain, the manager of the works, can have confidence in them.

The person who says "I cannot help doing that, for it is my nature," acknowledged that habit is stronger than he is. He will never be able to get out in any competition until he has proven to his own satisfaction that he is stronger than habit.

You can have no confidence in yourself until you know that you are capable of controlling your fate. Therefore be sure that you are the master of all your habits and that they are not the master of you. In other and better words "He that conquers himself is greater than he who takes a city."

But how can he who is subservient to his own habits have enough confidence in himself to direct the taking of a city, or even to run a elevator?

Self-control is the basis of self-confidence, and without self-confidence we can do nothing surely. And the world is crying out for men who can do one thing surely.

The business of the world is really handled by half-competent people. The man who knows his own job well is in demand all over the world, and it is easy for such a man to rise to overprominent prominence because a man who really knows his job is a rarity.

When you know your job perfectly you will have such confidence in yourself that you will inspire all those with whom you come in contact with such confidence in you that they will readily give you high positions of great trust and influence and thank the chance which sent you their way!

CHILE CON CARNE

A. W. Rosenfeld, senior member of the Rosenfeld company, is at present in New York buying the north Georgia territory, and both Mr. Malone and Mr. Tallchot report that "Lewis is certainly a star salesman."

Among the ins this week with the Ward-Trullitt company are W. W. Scott, from southwest Georgia; Lewis Parker, from northwest Georgia and Alabama, and D. P. McDaniel, from northeast Georgia. They report business as showing a nice improvement, but a good rain would help all around.

R. F. Head, salesman with Conley & Ennis, is not only a success in selling produce, but has recently developed unusual oratorical powers.

E. F. Malone, of the Capital City Tobacco company, is taking a trip this week with T. B. Lewis and R. M. Tallchot. They are working the north Georgia territory, and both Mr. Malone and Mr. Tallchot report that "Lewis is certainly a star salesman."

Colonel Johnson, sales manager of the K. K. Orr shoe company, returned this week from a three or four weeks' trip to White Springs. He has benefited by the trip, and is looking very well and vigorous.

W. E. Park, city salesman with the Capital City Tobacco company, has been laid up at his home for a day or two this week, but hopes to be out on the job again Monday.

C. M. White, Jr., cashier for Conley & Ennis, says stag dinners are great alarm clocks. He reported for duty Saturday morning at 2 o'clock.

Russ Bates, who is well known as a J. K. Orr shoe company salesman, was in the shoe Saturday, and gave his impressions of conditions. He seems to think that prospects are good for the year, and reports good business himself.

The ins this week with Dobbs & Wey are J. W. O'Donnell, E. E. Fulton, E. E. Jones, and E. L. Keavon. They report business as opening up nicely.

R. W. Johnston, city salesman with the Dixie Pickle and Preserving company, is having particularly good business these days. He has only been connected with his house for a short while, and his firm express themselves as very well pleased with his business.

W. W. Curtis, who is sales manager for the Mississippi valley division for Sharp & Dohme, was a visitor with the Lamar & Rankin Drug company last Friday. Manager Lynn Fort remarked that he got his first tip on traveling salesmanship from Mr. Curtis, and the fact is undoubtedly a boost for them both.

Sales Manager A. L. Woodruff, of the Woodruff Machinery Manufacturing company, was found busy last week putting his official O. K. on a bunch of contracts. He reported business as booming, and looked particularly happy.

Montag Brothers report all their men out, and business coming in nicely. The season is opening up well for them.

BUSINESS BUILDERS

THE SALESMAN'S MOTTO: I will accomplish everything within the power of energy, tact and resourcefulness; nay, more, I will attempt and overcome the impossible.

SALESMANSHIP.

In another column of The Constitution Firing Line there will be found an interesting article relative to the power of displays in selling goods. It is written by Walter Clayton, and is worthy of the closest attention of every merchant who wants to sell his goods. But there is an application to the story which can be taken to heart by the traveling salesman, and which should not be overlooked. That is the importance of the samples in making a sale.

Many salesmen are inclined to attribute a little too much credit to their little to the attractiveness of the goods they have to sell. Every man should remember that as a general rule the main thing in selling goods is the quality and nature of the goods themselves. This question of salesmanship is a big one, but the fact remains that no man can sell poor goods in competition with good goods, whereas good goods go a long way towards selling themselves. The goods must be given a chance to sell themselves. And to sell themselves they must be shown to the prospective buyer and shown right. In other words, they must make a sale through display. The better the display the better the chance they have.

For this reason it is a prime factor in a salesman's sales that his samples be fresh and attractive at all times. He is chiefly responsible for this condition himself and he must never overlook this factor in his success.

In selecting samples the salesman should select those which best represent the goods he is going out to sell. Make them give a fair idea of the quality of the goods which the merchant will receive in his shipment, and then make them show up as well as possible to the merchant. Select a good sample and goods half sold and when you can call forth an involuntary burst of admiration from the merchant when he enters your sample room you have gone over the hardest part of the sale without a word. Take full advantage of the power of silent selling that lies in good goods well displayed.

THE RETAIL MERCHANT.

It used to be said that no two retailers engaged in the same line of trade and drawing their custom from the same territory could be business friends. In some places that spirit still prevails. But, happily, it is rapidly disappearing among the white business men, and today the retailers are finding that a working co-operation for their mutual benefit is far better to all concerned than the shortsighted ostrich policy which was formerly in existence.

If there are two retail grocers located in the same territory, there is probably enough business for them both. If there is not, one of them is bound to get out sooner or later and the sooner he does the better it will be, not only for his competitor, but for himself also, in that he will then be at liberty to build up a trade in a locality where there is a bigger need for his line of business.

But neither of these two men will profit by staying continually at loggerheads with each other, and the business of each should be to work together as much as possible in order to see that their trade gets the best possible service. That the modern man and woman is looking for chiefly in their business dealings is service and the question of price is fast becoming a secondary consideration. The best service can only be secured by intelligent co-operation and by the wholehearted work of both to increase the usefulness of the trade in general. Co-operation is also necessary to the modern retailer for the purpose of mutual protection. In many respects the retail merchant is open to the mercy of the dead beat more than any other class of business men. To overcome this, the advantage of their business they should work together for their mutual protection and the result will be seen in the pressure they will be able to bring to bear to pass laws and enforce them—laws which will protect them from the aforementioned dead beats.

THE CREDIT MAN.

In this column last week the value of frankness on the part of a debtor was strongly expressed. The same virtue has an almost equal value to the maker-up of a creditor or credit man. When a representative customer comes to a credit man to arrange about terms, that credit man has to get his information about the standing of the man largely from the individual himself. Of course, there are many sources through which information is gained, but after all is said and done, the personal factor enters a great deal into the making of the decision. Each credit man has a different method of drawing out the information he desires and of gaining the confidence of the customer. But there are a few lines along which every credit man will be wise to work. The chief and most important of these is that of frankness.

When a customer talks with the credit man, he should feel that he is talking with the one man of all others in the firm who is interested in his success and who is desirous of helping him to win out in his business. The credit man should be so perfectly frank in his desire to state all the credit possible that the customer will feel that here is one of those rare characters to whom he can freely and frankly state all about his business, feeling sure of sympathy and understanding from the man who is in a position to give him a proper appreciation of his situation. And it is only through frankness on his own part that the credit man can hope to induce frankness on the part of the customer.

PUBLICITY POINTERS.

The question of continuity in advertising has been brought forward again and again, and invariably the men who understand the power of publicity have advocated the continuous advertising campaign in place of the spasmodic advertiser.

The man who spends $200 on an ad in one issue of a medium in nine cases out of ten is not going to get one-half the results that the man who spends the same amount of money over a series of issues will get. It is the constant hammering away of the same suggestion in the mind of the public which brings results and the trouble with the big ad which "he who runs may read" is that he generally keeps right on running.

The ad which draws is the one which repeats the same story over and over again until the runner is compelled, from curiosity, to stop and see what this thing is which has been attracting his eye so often, and even if he does not stop the very fact that he sees it so often while running impresses it upon his mind.

The big advertisers of the country have all realized this and it is strange that so many of the small men have not learned this lesson from seeing the way in which the masters of publicity do their work. Surely if there is any business under the sun which the observer can learn for himself it is that of publicity, for the examples of the work done by the best and the worst are constantly before us. No matter how little is the amount of money the man may have to spend on advertising, divide it up. Make it cover a number of ads instead of one, and the results which will come will surely demonstrate the wisdom of this course.

City Salesmen With Ridley-Williamson-Wyatt Co.

W. J. HAYES. The Ridley-Williamson-Wyatt company are doing an exceptionally large business in the city these days, and are very well pleased with the trade.

Asked the other day as to the chief reason which they attributed for this good business, they mentioned the two city salesmen who are handling this trade. They are W. J. Hayes and C. S. Shifflett. These two gentlemen rapidly developing this trade into a splendid proposition for their house.

JOE WILSON MAKES HIT WITH GREETERS

Rumor has it that congenial big Joe Wilson, manager of the Dinkler hotel, Macon, Ga., made such a "greeting reply speech" to the opening address of welcome by the mayor of Chattanooga last week, when the Greeters met there, that he was proclaimed the second best public orator of the land. Of course everybody knows, especially the boys of the trunk and grip, that "Joe" is the president's favored male relative. A nephew, we think, Joe and his "Dinkler" are two essentials to the traveling public that the new hotel inspection law will not harm. His place is always well within the line of everything that is best for the traveler.

The E. L. Adams company report business as better all around this week. The farmers' need rain, but on the whole prospects look good.

C. S. SHIFFLETT.

J. Getz Addy, with the M. C. Kiser company, was in for a day or so this week, but left again for his territory. He states that business is too good to neglect at all and that he is keeping right on the job selling Shield brands.

Fruit & Stamps report the largest city business they have ever had for the week past. Their out-of-town business is also very much improved, although rain is needed by the farmers.

J. A. Cook and A. W. Murphy, salesmen for the Atlanta Casket company, will both spend their Sunday in Atlanta this week.

"Atlanta 1914"

Two weeks ago the request was made in these columns that the Atlanta traveling salesman register in the hotels with the figures "1914" after the word Atlanta. This was to advertise the city and gain publicity for the campaign on foot to bring the Shriners' convention here for 1914.

Many letters have come into this department since the publication of this story concerning the idea, and the traveling men in general seem to have taken hold with their accustomed energy and enthusiasm and registered "Atlanta, 1914" all over the length and breadth of the land.

Doubtless there have been a few who have overlooked this in the rush of their business. The average traveling man is such a busy individual that it is surprising that they can remember to take hold of an idea like this, and it is all the more creditable to them that they do.

It is now almost certain that the Shriners will come here in 1914, and the traveling men will do more to boost the fame of Atlanta by telling of how she went after this convention in a spirit which would brook no opposition and so secured it. This wonderful "Atlanta spirit" is capable of most anything on earth, and it finds its best expression through the men on the road who carry its meaning into every city, town and village in the country.

Possibly, after the Shriners have decided to come here, there will be some other thing to work for the benefit of the city, and maybe we will all be registering "Atlanta 1915" soon. Let every man resolve to give all his influence to every good cause for his home city, at any rate, and the Atlanta spirit will come to mean more and more as the years go by.

The Successful Merchant

Princely fortunes are being amassed by many shrewd retail merchants in the Southern States. One general rule is followed by each of these merchants--give your customers full value for every dollar they spend with you.

Every man who opens a store cannot do this. Only well informed intelligent buying makes this possible.

Take shoes for instance--the merchant who displays a complete line of Shield Brand Shoes is giving his trade the greatest value in shoe leather--shoe service--shoe comfort--and shoe looks--that any market affords.

Shield Brand Shoe prices are low, because skill in manufacture, organization in factory and capital in production work in complete harmony to produce Shield Brand Shoes on a basis of high quality and low cost.

Mr. Merchant, you can increase your shoe sales and your shoe profits by pushing Shield Brand Shoes and taking all the co-operation we are so glad and willing to give you.

Send for samples---express prepaid, or salesman.

The hard-working bunch in the above picture are the men who sell the goods of the Hirschberg company, of Nelson street.

This picture was snapped while they were at work in the sample rooms fixing up their samples for the fall trade. The men are all in at present getting ready for the coming season. They claim that after their road work this job is a rest, but this is a fact hard to believe by the person who sees them at work here. The immense variety of goods carried by this concern renders it a huge job to arrange samples for the men, and there are hundreds of items which have to be taken care of. When the picture was taken they had just reached the pipe line in their course through the stock and, as connoisseurs of smokers' supplies, they are revelling in the line they will have to present to their customers in the fall.

D. J. Revell, of the Jacob-Dold Packing company, of Atlanta, came in Friday night.

M. H. Merry, of Crawford & Merry, states that their May collections are fine and business is good.

Julian Schloss, of Schloss Bros & Co. of Baltimore, was here last week.

L. N. Johnson, of the McCaskey Register company, with headquarters in Jacksonville, was in Atlanta, recently on a visit.

H. S. Johnson, of the Chattanooga Tire company, was in Athens last week on a business trip.

Lon Hancock, of the Oglesby Grocery company, of Atlanta, makes his headquarters in Athens.

J. D. Burton is just back from south Georgia, where he reports good business for the Deep Rock Ginger Ale company.

There are three families in Athens, which boast of the fact that all their male members are traveling men. The Weir family number C. K. Weir, with the Lynchburg Shoe company, A. W. Weir, with the Calloway Grocery company, and Emmet and Ed Weir, with the Webb & Crawford company. The Thornton family has Ben and Frank Thornton, with Talmadge Bros & Co., Ralph Thornton, with Armour & Co., and George Thornton, with the M. C. Gregor company. There are four Jacksons who pack grips and they are E. B. Jackson, with the Dinkins-Davison Hardware company, and Hugh,

Clarence and Ed Jackson, with the Athens Hardware company.

John Roberts, traveling salesman for the McGregor Book company, came in Thursday for the week.

H. D. Moore, who makes his headquarters and travels for the E. C. Simmons Hardware company, has had more territory given to him this week including Mason and several other surrounding points.

H. H. Gordon, M. S. Hodgson, Ralph Hodgson, Roy Finch, and H. R. Sparks, salesmen for the Empire State Chemical company, all came in Friday reporting good business.

Sidney Boley and Henry Doolittle, salesman for the Johnson Shoe company, made automobile trips last week and had good sales on their shoes.

Prof. J. D. Severus, of the Athens Business college, was in Jefferson last week enrolling several new students.

Part one under this topic dealt with the writer of letters on business subjects.

Part two dealt with the recipient of business letters.

Few people seem to realize that when they receive a letter about an account or pertaining to any business matter, it is the same as if the writer had called in person and was talking to them. They will often lay a very important letter aside and not answer for several days. Now, if the writer were there in person they would answer any questions that might be asked relative to all matters of business and at once.

Credit men say that the most difficult accounts to handle are those who will not extend the common courtesy of an immediate reply to business letters. They write upon a five topic account due or past due, and they do not know anything about the condition of the customer at the time, and when they fail to receive a reply to a courteous business letter they hardly know how to proceed. As a matter of fact, if a customer happens not to be in position to pay his account at the time he receives a letter on the subject, if he would at once write the facts in the case, in proper manner, he would receive almost any indulgence within the bounds of reason. Business today is based on confidence, or rather, credit is based on confidence, and the selling of goods on time is very nearly the same as borrowing money, and no man would disregard a formal notice from his bankers that his note was due or would be due at a certain time.

A certain house not long ago sent out from the office a person to collect some slow accounts. In one instance this collector found upon calling at a merchant's store, that there were four letters from their office lying unopened on the man's desk. After a short talk on the subject, the account was arranged to the satisfaction of both parties, and could have been just as easily arranged if the merchant had attended to his correspondence properly.

When receiving a letter the person should feel like the writer of the letter in person and extend the same consideration and courtesy that would be given were he there in fact, by answering the letter in the proper manner, fully and completely replying to every question asked.

While on this topic it is not out of place to state that the buying of goods from a multitude of houses selling the same class of goods often causes so much correspondence that some men in business neglect them all. It amounts to a great deal of work and worry, in fact, the want of judgment in this direction has led to the downfall of many a merchant.

If a merchant can get a long line of merchandise from one reliable house that has a reliable, high-class salesman representing them who has been with them for a long time, who must be posted on the wants of the trade and able to direct them in buying, and who is a man of known character, then it will pay any merchant to give him the business. Instead, many merchants buy a little handful of goods from every man that comes along, many of whom they have never seen before, and many they

In Memoriam.

The many friends of W. Harry Anderson will learn with sorrow of his death at St. Joseph's infirmary last Monday.

Mr. Anderson was one of the best-known traveling men who worked out of Atlanta. He had been traveling for his firm, the Gramling-Spalding company, for over twenty years past, and in that time he had won a host of friends both on the road and in the city. He was one of those men whom everybody liked, and his nature was such that he simply could not help being kindly and considerate to all with whom he came in contact.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. L. R. Root, of this city.

Mr. Anderson had been in poor health for some months, but had recently shown signs of improvement. He had left the hospital some weeks ago, but went back there a few days before his death.

He leaves hundreds of friends who sincerely mourn the passing of a fine gentleman.

W. Wolf, Florida salesman for the Business should be built up with reputable houses and reputable men on the road on the same principle that a merchant seeks to build up his own business, by getting the best people to trade with him and by giving them a fair deal, and holding on to them. If some one tried to do business on the same plan in selling to their trade that they pursue in buying they would never sell the same customers twice. Buy from as few houses as possible, then you will have fewer bills to pay, fewer letters to write, fewer notes to sign and fewer of the many ills to contend with.

When you do get a letter, though, answer it and answer it at once. You will feel better and you will make the other fellow feel better, too.

CHILE CON CARNE

Chif Edwards, with Fala & Stamps, reports business as much better in his territory. He states that the farmers need rain, but that on the whole the outlook is encouraging.

The Consolidated Paper company report a new man on their South Carolina territory. He is C. S. Harley, and will make his headquarters at North, S. C., where his home is. He started with his new connection last Monday.

Walter C. Barnwell, with the Ragan-Malone company, returned Friday from Chattanooga, where he had attended the annual meeting of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods Association. He reports an enthusiastic meeting, and that the association is doing much good work for the benefit of the business in the south.

The Ins this week with Brown, Perryman & Green company are C. D. Dickinson and J. O. Chambers. The rest of the men are all out, but there are ample evidences in the mail that they are all on the job with both feet.

J. W. Crawford, with the A. M. Robinson company, left yesterday for his territory in South Carolina.

C. D. Harris, city salesman with the Capital City Tobacco company, has done such good business that his firm have decided to add to his territory. He is now working a number of the smaller towns immediately surrounding Atlanta, and has already opened up a number of good new accounts in these places.

S. E. Baylis and J. J. Eley, salesmen with the Dixie Pickle and Preserving company, were both in Athens during the past week. They report good business.

J. L. Forrest is a recent addition to the sales force of the Ward-Trutt company. He is a man of wide experience in the line, and has been traveling for dry goods out of St. Louis for years past. He will cover the middle Georgia territory for the Ward-Trutt company.

Wolf complained that he never saw his name in these columns. His

Sales Manager Holt Is Adopting Big Gun Tactics.

Sales Manager C. F. Holt, of the Dixie Pickle & Preserving Co., is selling goods by the car load lot these days. He has recently taken orders for several bills of this dimension and states that he is thinking seriously of making it a habit for all time. He was in Rome last week and added another of these "Big Gun" orders to his record and states that he has lined out for several more of the same kind shortly.

"Old Man" Holt, as he is affectionately known to his contacts, is one of the most popular men who ever belonged to the ranks of the city salesman. His genial, whole-hearted smile makes friends for him everywhere, and the man who would not show out under the weather of his sunny temperament ought to go and live in the tropics--he would need blankets in the Fiji Islands in summer time.

Mr. Holt is now sales manager for the newly organized Dixie Pickle & Preserving Co., and if he only keeps up his good work (which he couldn't help doing) he will make his firm's brand known in every grocery store and every home in this territory. More power to your good right hand, Mr. Holt, and may you shake hands with many a fellow who needs encouragement in the years to come.

ED HARRISON WILL WRITE VIEWS SOON

Ed "Sunshine" Harrison, the popular and well-known traveling man who represents the S. P. Richards Co., was talking about several interesting conditions he had discovered in his travels of recent date. He has much to say about the condition of some of the hotels he visited in his trips and also about certain injustices in their methods of charge. Mr. Harrison is very heartily in favor of a hotel inspector law (like the rest of the men who know), and he has made an exhaustive study of conditions which make such a law imperative. He is also much interested in the excess baggage charges and the laws as to the handling of baggage, etc. All of Mr. Harrison's views are eminently correct, and he has been requested to write them for the readers of the Constitution Firing Line. This Mr. Harrison has promised to do and he will send in a letter telling of these things at an early date.

These columns are always open to traveling men. They are all requested to send in letters on the various topics which today demand the earnest attention of the travelers. The T. E. A. and other organizations are working hard for the passage of the hotel inspector law and all good travelers should support them in their fight for this necessary piece of legislation. Send in letters to this department of the Constitution and help the good cause along.

GIVE STAG DINNER TO THEIR FORCE

The salesmen and office force of Conley & Ennis were delightfully entertained at a stag dinner given at the home of Mrs. John M. Conley, on Friday evening last. After an enjoyable course was served, followed with delicious toasts, impromptu speeches were made by John M. Conley and John M. Conley, highly complimenting the men, and congratulating them on the magnificent showing which each had made during the present year.

Beautiful responsive talks were made by J. C. Chandler, J. S. Everett, J. C. R. E. Head, J. N. Parsons furnished music for the occasion.

Those present were John T. Ennis, John M. Conley, J. S. Everett, J. C. Chandler, R. E. Head, J. N. Parsons,

H. T. M'INTOSH HEADS BARACAS OF GEORGIA

Delegates Attending State Convention at Athens Will Fill Pulpits of That City.

Athens, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—After some close and exciting races, the Georgia State Baraca convention elected its officers this afternoon as follows: H. T. McIntosh, of Albany, president; E. P. Clark, of Athens, now in college, but of Augusta originally, first vice president; Ernest Flink, of Augusta, second vice president; C. H. Beard, of Rome, third vice president; C. C. Teague, of Columbus, fourth vice president; G. M. Williams, of Macon, treasurer; J. J. West, of Albany, re-elected secretary.

This morning's session brought out another spirited debate on the question of adjourning in time to witness the Georgia-Tech ball game, and after some bright speeches and witty debate, the matter was dropped, the session going through part of the time occupied by the ball game this afternoon.

Ernest Flink, of Augusta, this morning delivered a fine address on "How to Win and Hold Members." Colonel R. L. Ferrell, of Albany, spoke on "The Young Man Busy Seven Days in the Week." President Jere Pound, of the state normal school, spoke at the afternoon session on "True Teachers," and Rev. J. M. Long, of Cartersville, addressed the convention on "The Bible in the Home."

The evening session heard an able paper from Dr. H. L. Henry, read by A. R. Merry, of Augusta; an exposition of "What the Baraca-Philathea Stands For," by C. C. Teague, of Columbus, and a unique and effective address by Engineer D. J. Fant, of the Southern railway, Atlanta, on "The Emergency Run." Rev. C. H. Butler has had charge of the music, and gave a number of solos, as did A. B. Allen, of the Boston conservatory, and Miss Glenn Allen, of the New York College of Music.

Sunday the Baracas will have charge practically of every church in Athens, and a Bible conference being held just outside the city at Bessemer, with the organization of a band of "Gideon" here tomorrow, among the traveling men, will make the Sunday about the busiest one in many months.

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM AT THOMASTON

Thomaston, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Arrangements have been completed for the holding of the second annual session of the Thomaston Chautauqua. The program is one of the strongest that will be held in Georgia this year. The people of Thomaston are enthusiastic over the outlook, having made such a success of the 1912 session. The attractions have been guaranteed by fifty of the city's leading business men. The Chautauqua will begin on Wednesday, June 11, and continue with two daily sessions for seven days. The program is as follows:

Wednesday, June 11—Afternoon, grand concert by Chicago Ladies' orchestra; evening, Chicago Ladies' orchestra and Ralph Parlette, lecturer. Thursday—Boston Lyric, musical program; evening, Boston Lyric and Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in illustrated lecture. Friday—Grand concert by Grace Rihelhafer, soprano; Mary Galley, violinist; Louise Milligan, pianist; evening, musical program and entertainment by Alton Packard, cartoonist-humorist. Saturday—Entertainment by Cambridge Players and Miss Mary Duncan and company, in "The Lady of the Decoration"; evening, music and playlet by Cambridge Players. Sunday—Sermon (to be supplied); concert by Thomaston Concert band. Monday—Prof. Famaahaska and his trained pets, with music by Iroquois Indian orchestra; evening, grand concert by Iroquois Indian orchestra. Tuesday—Entertainment by Lyric Glee club; evening, music by Lyric Glee club and lecture by Dr. Thomas B. Green.

SUDDEN DEATH COMES TO MRS. HORACE POWERS

Mrs. Horace Powers, many years a resident of Atlanta, died unexpectedly yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. H. Martin, 103 Windsor street. She was apparently in good health Friday evening, but early Saturday morning was found dead in her bed from a stroke of apoplexy.

Mrs. Powers was 70 years of age and was a sister-in-law of the late Virgil Powers, of Macon, one of the most prominent railroad men in the south for many years. She is survived by four children, Mrs. J. R. Gormley, Mrs. O. H. Martin and Clem Powers, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. M. Fulton, of Shellman.

MANAGER OF BEAVERS FINED AND BOUND OVER

H. R. Pitts, manager of the Beavers' club, was fined $500 by Recorder Broyles Saturday morning for violating the liquor laws. He was also bound over for the state courts under bond of $1,000. W. T. Brownlee, of Lawrenceville, swore that he bought liquor at the club although he was not a member, and did not exhibit a card. His story was denied by Pitts and attacked by the club.

BETTER CAR SERVICE PROMISED ATLANTA

Improvement Will Result From Co-operation of Company and Railroad Commission.

A better street car service, it is believed, will be brought about by a co-operation of the officials of the Railway and Power company and the state railroad commission. The commission has about completed its investigation of the report furnished by the company, and while no formal statement has been given out, it is understood that the commission has decided that some improvements are needed in the service, and the company's officials have expressed a willingness to make any improvements that may be necessary to accommodate the travel.

Nine out of the twenty-seven routes in the city, it is said, will be given better service, and among the routes to be benefited are those on Whitehall, Peachtree, West Peachtree, South Pryor, Edgewood avenue and Decatur streets, and the suburban lines to Decatur, East Point and College Park. The commission thinks that the congested travel can be relieved by the company providing larger cars and the operation of small 28 passenger cars as soon as possible.

CHAMBER TO HAVE A JUNIOR ORDER AT EARLY DATE

The junior order of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will soon be a reality. A special committee of the chamber met Friday afternoon, and with Ivan E. Allen acting as chairman, threshed the question from all angles, and decided that it would be a wise step to take, and unanimously recommended that the board of directors of the chamber take active measures for its establishment.

The special object of the Junior Chamber will be to encourage a spirit of civic pride and good citizenship in the coming generation, and especially emphasize the importance of proper city planning. Wilmer L. Moore showed several text books on such things as are now being used in the public schools of Chicago, and the suggestion was made that it might be possible to provide such for Atlanta in paper covers in the near future. R. L. Foreman, Jr., representing the school element, was present, and when called upon to speak in behalf of the school boys, said that he thought that it would be a good idea to have athletic events, school debates, etc., in conjunction with the work of the Junior Chamber in order to encourage interest.

FREE CONCERT TODAY

Varied and Delightful Program Arranged at Auditorium.

The regular free Sunday afternoon concert will take place at the Auditorium-Armory this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival association. The program will be one of the most delightful Atlantas have heard this spring. Several of the numbers are being repeated by request. All persons who attend are urged to be there promptly by 3:30 o'clock. The program is as follows: Flotow—Overture to "Martha." Friedrich Frober von Flotow was the son of a landed nobleman of the archduchy of Mecklenburg and was educated with a view to the diplomatic service. He wrote the opera of "Martha" in 1847. The composition being modeled from ballet written in 1844. The great success of the work must be mainly attributed to the melody which pervades it. His early French experience taught him the virtue of lively and well-accentuated rhythm and gave him dexterity in the construction of extended pieces, to which he wrote pleasing harmony and piquant orchestration. Chamade—"Scarf Dance." Starved for material upon the German folk song, "Die Lorelei." Puccini—Intermezzo, "The Journey to Havre" (Manon Lescaut). Wagner—Overture to "Die Meistersinger."

THIS PEDDLER'S WAGON PROVED A BARROOM

Just as all that glitters is not gold, neither are all "truck" peddlers' wagons just what they seem. In one case at least, one of them is an important barroom. Saturday morning, James Crawford, a negro, stepped into a peddler's wagon on Haynes street, and extracted a sack from the bottom. Other negroes, thinking him a thief, gave chase. When they finally cornered him, with the assistance of policemen, they found in his sack a large quantity of "corn" in liquid form. When arraigned before Recorder Broyles, he said that he had bought the whiskey from the peddler for $3, and that the vegetables in the wagon were simply a blind, the peddler selling little "truce" that is not in liquid form. The negro was fined $50.75. All efforts to locate the peddler have failed.

CINCINNATI WALKING BECAUSE OF STRIKE

Not a Wheel of Traction Company Turning—All Traffic Blocked.

Cincinnati, May 10.—Not a wheel of any car operated by the Cincinnati Traction company is turning tonight. The strike of the newly organized union of street car employees thus far has been successful beyond even their own hopes, inasmuch as they have completely blocked all traffic and the citizens late today were using every other mode of conveyance available to reach their homes in the suburbs. As yet the strike has been a decidedly peaceful affair, not a case of rioting has been reported by the police. Traction officials, while admitting that two-thirds of their men had suspended work, contended that they could have operated some cars had they desired to subject their men who had remained loyal to insults and jeers of the crowds as well as possible violence. The strikers, on the other hand, contend that not only have they two-thirds of the workers of the company but they also have the remaining one-third quit work late today of their own accord. Rumors that strike-breakers from various other cities are on their way here are current, but unverified. The street car employees are striking for longer hours, a 10-hour day, an increase in wages and shorter working hours.

BACKERS OF U. S. JUDGES ARE TO BE MADE KNOWN

Washington, May 10.—Carrying an endorsement of the policy of having the president make public endorsements of candidates appointed to federal judgeships, the house today passed a bill creating a new district judgeship in the eastern district of Pennsylvania. The purpose of the bill is to take care of one of the present judges, incapacitated by ill health. Republican Leader Mall sought to embarrass the democrats by offering an amendment that the "president shall make public the endorsements of the persons appointed to the new judgeship. During the Tatt administration the democrats voted for bills carrying similar clauses. On today's vote the democrats divided, and the amendment was adopted on a roll-call vote, 189 to 84.

WRONGDOING IN OFFICE CHARGED TO JORDAN

Sacramento, Cal., May 10.—Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state of California, is unanimously charged with malfeasance in office by the joint legislative committee, which recently investigated charges in his department and in its reports to the legislature today the committee recommended that the case be turned over to the attorney general. The collection of money for copies of automobile registration forms and the insurance companies and others during the time Jordan has been at the head of the department is the basis of the finding against him. According to the report, the investigation brought out that at least $7,700 was collected in this manner during the first sixteen months of Jordan's incumbency, and that none of it was turned into the state treasury.

No Loot for Yeggmen.

Fort Smith, Ark., May 10.—Reports to the contrary, yeggmen who attempted to rob the First State Bank of Arkansas, 18 men, today secured no loot. The safe was badly battered by successive charges of explosives, but resisted all efforts to open it. Because of the damaged condition of the safe, it could not be opened today. Local banks supplied the funds necessary for the bank to continue business. The robbers have not been apprehended.

MOTHERS' DAY GIVEN RECOGNITION BY HOUSE

Washington, May 10.—Mother's day was officially recognized by the house today, in a resolution calling upon the president, his cabinet, senators, representatives and other federal officials to wear a white flower tomorrow as a token of our love and reverence for the mother. The resolution was presented by Representative Hedlin, of Alabama, and was passed without debate.

BRONZE MONUMENT IN HONOR OF SCHURZ

New York, May 10.—A bronze memorial monument to Carl Schurz was unveiled on Morning Side drive, today in the presence of many distinguished German and American citizens and members of the family of the former cabinet officer and first German-born citizen to enter the United States senate. Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador; Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain; Mayor Gaynor and other city officials and Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, were among those who addressed a large throng gathered at the monument's base and reviewed a military parade, in which army and navy bands were represented. President Wilson sent a letter paying tribute to Schurz, the type of foreigner who, having chosen America for their permanent home, "have caught the real spirit of our institutions and have lent themselves and all the fine force that is in them to patriotic service in the cause of liberty and justice."

Joseph H. Choate, describing Schurz's career in public life, declared he did more than any other one man while in the national senate to raise the tone of American politics and to promote the welfare of the American Indian while secretary of the interior under President Hayes. Ambassador Von Bernstorff said his presence was "a symbol of the ever increasing friendship between Germany, the fatherland of Carl Schurz, and America, the land of his adoption." The monument was paid for by subscriptions raised in all parts of the country. A memorial of some kind will be placed at Hampton Institute, Virginia, whether the first Indians selected by Schurz for government education were sent.

WAY OPENED TO GRAFT BY BUYING METHODS

Washington, May 10.—Charges that the present methods of making purchases of supplies for the federal government opens the way to graft "for parasites of large and small degree," were made in a letter which Representative Bathrick, of Ohio, filed today with a plea for his measure, recently introduced, to provide authority for a special committee on buying and selling. Mr. Bathrick named forty bureaus and bureau chiefs that, he says, should be investigated at once by a committee on buying and selling, with a view to reforms. Mr. Bathrick stated there should be one central point and authority for the purchasing of the million dollars or more of government supplies. "I believe we are wasting millions of dollars," said he.

ORDER TO SUBMARINES SPOILED THE BALL

Washington, May 10.—The little fleet of submarines has started from Newport, R. I., for Norfolk to execute in Chesapeake bay and off the Virginia capes some of the drills and exercises they omitted when last in those waters. The "hurry-up" on the submarines being shown about by members of the board of regents of the Ladies' Mount Vernon association, who deferred the business of their annual meeting during the visit. He expressed unstinted praise of the manner in which the estate had been preserved through the efforts of the association. Mrs. Wilson expressed admiration of the beautiful gardens, with their high boxwood hedges, planted, it is said, by Mrs. Washington's direction, and tenderly cared for ever since. The board of regents transacted only routine matters today.

WILSON BARES HEAD AT WASHINGTON'S TOMB

Mt. Vernon, Va., May 10.—President Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, paid his first visit since becoming president to the former home of George Washington, and stood for some minutes with bared head before the tomb of the first chief executive. The president motored from Washington and spent a couple of hours wandering over the old homestead and estate, being shown about by members of the board of regents of the Ladies' Mount Vernon association, who deferred the business of their annual meeting during the visit. He expressed unstinted praise of the manner in which the estate had been preserved through the efforts of the association. Mrs. Wilson expressed admiration of the beautiful gardens, with their high boxwood hedges, planted, it is said, by Mrs. Washington's direction, and tenderly cared for ever since. The board of regents transacted only routine matters today.

BIG BARBECUE BOOSTS CANDLER COUNTY MOVE

Crowd of Over Seven Thousand Entertained by Citizens of Metter.

Metter, Ga., May 10.—(Special).—The executive committee on the organization of Candler county, R. B. Jones, A. J. Bled and H. Sills, have great reason to congratulate themselves and the people of the three corners which focus at Metter on the success of their great gala day. Large crowds poured in from the sections of Dublin and Statesboro, while Statesboro, especially, sent a large delegation in sympathy for the Candler county move. Large crowds came in by private and automobiles. The spirit of good will prevailed throughout the day. The large crowd was well fed and had a splendid time. Music was played by the Metter Concert band. Editor F. H. Sills introduced the speakers. Col. W. J. Willitt of Cairo, Ga., made a strong address, showing how Grady county had prospered and how other new counties prospered and proved great blessings to the people in them. Col. Willitt stated that he believed that Candler county would be created this year. During the afternoon Milton and Metter played a splendid game, which resulted in 6 to 3 in favor of Metter. The gala day closed with a performance of "Hearts and Diamonds" at the auditorium by home talent. The crowd was estimated at from 7,000 to 8,000. It was a great day for "Candler county," named for Governor Allen D. Candler.

PINCHOT IS ACCUSED OF TYING UP ALASKA

Washington, May 10.—Gifford Pinchot, more than any other man, has been responsible for tying up Alaska," James F. Calbreath, secretary of the American Mining congress, told the senate territories committee today. He added that former President Roosevelt's executive order of 1896, withdrawing Alaska, and from entry "warranted a revolution" and favored the bill before the committee for government aid in the construction of Alaskan railways, had opposed a system of government lease of coal lands. George H. Bathrick, sponsor for the Alaskan Northern railway, assailed the Tatt administration, which, he said, "used its whole power to crush" the Alaska Northern.

TARHEEL DRUMMERS OPPOSED TO TIPPING

Greensboro, N. C., May 10.—The North Carolina division of the Travelers' Protective association, in annual session here, this afternoon selected Rocky Mount, N. C., as next year's meeting place, elected officers for the ensuing year and adjourned. Officers elected were: E. C. Chnard, Winston-Salem, president; A. L. Byrd, Asheville, first vice president; G. S. Edwards, Rocky Mount, second vice president; R. J. Corbett, Henderson, third vice president; C. C. McLean, Greensboro, secretary and treasurer. A resolution was adopted by the association to use every legitimate means and to cooperate with all other traveling men's organizations to bring about a legislative act against tipping.

"STONEWALL" JACKSON DIED FIFTY YEARS AGO

Lexington, Va., May 10.—The fiftieth anniversary of the death of "Stonewall" Jackson was observed today at the Virginia Military Institute, where he once a professor, and the battery used by the famous Confederate general in the valley campaign of Virginia was trooped and four of the guns were fired by Confederate veterans, members of the Rockbridge artillery. The flag in the valley campaign fired by Sergeant David E. Moore was fired again by him today. The gun caisson which bore General Jackson's body to the grave was decorated with wreaths of white and by the cadet battalion to the cemetery, where appropriate ceremonies were held.

GEN. CARR IN A FIGHT WITH MAJ. HAMILTON

Durham, N. C., May 10.—A sensational incident featured Memorial day exercises when General Julian S. Carr, millionaire tobaccoist, and Davidson, commander of the United Confederate Veterans, and Major Hamilton, commander of the Webb camp of Confederate Veterans in Durham county, engaged in a fist fight in the courthouse. It seems that trouble between General Carr and Major Hamilton grew out of differences of opinion concerning the list of march of the veterans. Following a meeting of the veterans, at which Major Hamilton presided, General Carr ordered the major under arrest. After the fight General Carr picked up Major Hamilton's glasses and handing them to the major, reminded him that he was still under arrest. The men later "made up."

Charlotte Plumbers Strike.

Charlotte, N. C., May 10.—The local Charlotte plumbers, numbering approximately 50 men, went on a strike today, demanding a wage scale of four dollars for eight hours' work. The local Master Plumbers' association, the employing organization, which includes in its members all the shops in the city, refused to grant the increase demanded, hence, the strike.

THREE "R'S" REQUIRED OF FOURTH-CLASS P. M.'S.

Scope of Examinations Set Forth by the Postoffice Department.

Washington, May 10.—Fourth class postmasters must be able to read, to accurately the money they receive, to measure the cloth on the floor of their offices, and to write at least a decipherable letter once in a while, if they are taken under the wing of the civil service. In effect, they must have a reasonable understanding of "reading" and "rithmetic," according to regulations issued today by the postoffice department. Persons to take the civil service examination must be a citizen of the United States over 21 years old, and must reside in the community served by the office he aspires to fill. No one will be eligible who is crazy, an idiot, or a convict, who has been dishonorably discharged from the army or navy, or who is disposed, even occasionally, to reduce the visible supply of strong drink. All examinations will be conducted by the civil service commission and will be not for appointment generally but for a particular office. The eligibility for appointment after examination will be for one year only, except in special instances. The examinations will not be severe, but will be sufficient to test the business capacity of the applicants.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE TO MEET IN SPRING

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 10.—The congress of the International Olympic committee found the exchange of ideas on sporting psychology and sporting physiology so instructive that the members decided today to hold another congress in Paris next spring. The congress then adjourned.

MORE BOMBS PLACED BY THE SUFFRAGETTES

One Missile Found in Railroad Station and Another in Postoffice.

London, May 10.—Two more of the new familiar bombs, with which the militant suffragettes are attempting to scare the British parliament into giving the parliamentary franchise to women, were discovered this morning. One of them was found in the passenger waiting room at the busy Lime street railroad station in Liverpool, and the other in the sorting room of the postoffice at Reading.

The fuse of the Liverpool bomb had been lighted by the perpetrator of the outrage, but had died out before it reached the gunpowder. The instrument of intended destruction consisted of a tin tobacco box filled with gunpowder and iron nuts, and the long fuse was laid in the center. The Reading machine was wrapped in a bulky parcel, to which the attention of the postoffice employees was attracted by the sound of ticking. The police were called in and an examination found the parcel contained an electric battery connected with explosives and accompanied by quantities of suffragette literature.

The parcel was addressed to a mu-

LESSONS IN COURTESY

We are just as careful to teach our Operators to be courteous as we are to teach them to answer calls rapidly.

In our weekly efficiency tests, speed and courtesy both count.

official official of Reading now on his vacation. The police expressed the belief it was timed to explode in his residence during his absence. The clock work arrangement was in perfect working order. Because of the possibility of further attacks by the "wild women" on the churches, many historical edifices throughout the country, which, during the season, are usually visited by thousands of American and other tourists, have been ordered closed except during hours of service.

Militant suffragettes placed a bomb, surrounded by inflammables, in the Cambridge football pavilion this afternoon, but when the bomb exploded the rags were scattered and the buildings escaped destruction.

An "arson squad" fired a large unoccupied house at Newcastle-on-Tyne, but they were frightened away before they had time to complete their work, and the fire was extinguished.

Printer is Arraigned.

Manchester, England, May 10.—James Whiteley, secretary of the printing firm responsible for the last issue of The Suffragette, was brought up in police court today and remanded to jail. The magistrate allowed him bail on his promise not to publish any further editions of the militant newspaper.

Suffragettes Burn Residence.

Dundee, Scotland, May 10.—Farrington hall, the residence of Henry McGrady, former lord provost of Dundee, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Indications point to the militant suffragettes as the authors of the outrage. Flames broke out simultaneously in half a dozen places in the great mansion, which was a beautiful specimen of architecture.

Cartridges in a Theater.

Dublin, May 10.—A tin canister containing two gunpowder cartridges was found tonight in the lavatory of the Empire Palace theater. The cartridges were padded all around with cotton saturated with oil. A cotton cord, also oil-soaked, was attached to the canister and the cord was burning when the bomb was found.

A girl, formerly employed at the theater, was arrested. Nothing is known, however, to connect her with the recent movement.

Late in the evening an alarm clock, to which a small box was attached, was found in the telephone box of the postoffice on College green. An examination failed to disclose any explosives.

MISS CLAYTON'S FUNERAL IS HELD AT GREENSBORO

Greensboro, Ga., May 10.—(Special.) The funeral of Miss Ava Clayton, who died very suddenly in Atlanta yesterday morning, occurred here this afternoon from the Episcopal church. Rev. J. Fields Saumlin, of Atlanta, conducted the funeral services and the interment was in the City cemetery.

Until about seven years ago Miss Clayton made her home here, where she was a member of one of the most prominent families. For the past five years she has been matron of the Confederate Soldiers' home in Atlanta. While attending to her duties Friday morning she dropped dead of heart failure and her death came as a great shock to her relatives and friends here.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Norah Townsend, of Greensboro; Miss Kate Clayton, of Atlanta; Miss Mattie Clayton, of Maryland; and brothers, George Clayton, of Greensboro; Robert Clayton, of New York; two nieces, Miss Maude Townsend, of Greensboro; Mrs. Julian Weems, of McDonough; and three nephews, Robert and Philip Townsend, of Atlanta, and Duncan Townsend, of Florida.

SECRETARY DANIELS VISITS STATE TODAY

Savannah, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Gorgeous flags and pennants of all nations will float from the spars and halcyons of every vessel in the Savannah harbor tomorrow afternoon, upon the occasion of the visit to Savannah of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, concluding his first official tour of the naval stations on the South Atlantic and Gulf coast.

Secretary Daniels is expected to arrive between 8 and 7 o'clock. The torpedo boat destroyer on which he will make the trip from Port Royal, S. C., will dock at the foot of Bull street. The trip from Port Royal will be made through Callaboga sound. Owing to the uncertainty of a journey by water, it is not known precisely when the secretary will arrive.

ATLANTA GETS BANKERS BELIEVES MR. McCORD

"I feel that Atlanta will have the honor of playing host to the American Bankers' association in 1914," declared James A. McCord, vice president of the Third National Bank, who, with J. K. Otley, vice president of the Fourth National, returned from a meeting of the executive council of the association held in Briarcliff, N. Y., Saturday. The two bankers extended the invitation of the clearing house for the association to hold its convention here next year. No other towns have yet asked for the convention.

Confederate Memorial Day.

Charlotte, N. C., May 10.—Confederate memorial day was generally observed throughout the state today by dinners to the veterans, addresses, parades and other ceremonies. In this city Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, widow of the confederate veteran, who resides here, pinned a cross of honor on confederate veterans. At Asheville, Mrs. C. B. Vance, widow of North Carolina's first governor, was presented with a cross of honor, her distinguished husband never having been given one of these mementos during his life time. At Raleigh the oration was delivered by Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes.

Little Girl Killed.

Mobile, Ala., May 10.—Running over a stump on a country road, a team drawing a wagon load of picknickers took fright this afternoon, and turned the vehicle over, killing the 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. A. D. Purifoy, of Wilmer, a suburb, and seriously injuring the mother, Mrs. C. Roberts, the driver, was also slightly injured. The mother, brought to this city, is still unconscious of her baby's death. It is not known whether or not she will recover.

Princeton Gunners Win.

Princeton, N. J., May 10.—Princeton won the intercollegiate gun championship here today over Yale and Dartmouth. The team scores were: Princeton, 407; Yale, 312; Dartmouth, 294.

Dartmouth 70 1-2, Penn 46 1-2.

Hanover, N. H., May 10.—Dartmouth defeated the University of Pennsylvania in the track meet here today by a score of 70 1/2 to 46 1/2.

CURRENCY MEASURE FAVORED BY WILSON

President Confers With Underwood About the Prospects For Money Legislation.

Washington, May 10.—President Wilson today discussed with Mr. Otis Underwood the general situation in congress and the prospect for currency legislation, which the president is anxious to have passed at this session if possible. The president was particularly interested in the organization of the committees of the house. He was anxious to learn the complexion of the democratic side of the banking and currency committee which the ways and means committee, acting as a committee on committees for the democratic caucus, is now preparing to select.

Mr. Underwood told the president that Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, ranking remaining member of the banking and currency committee of the last house, would be selected chairman. Representative Glass was chairman of the subcommittee on banking and currency which made an extensive investigation last session of currency reform measures, with particular attention to the so-called Aldrich currency plan endorsed by the national currency commission.

The president believes the make-up of the house banking and currency committee should be finally decided upon as soon as possible, so members may begin work on a currency bill to be brought in soon after the house resumes active sessions early in June.

The committee has been tentatively selected by Mr. Underwood and his committee colleagues, but the names are still subject to shifting before finally announced. As now shaped up, these members who were on the committee in the last congress will remain:

Representatives Glass, Virginia, chairman; Korbly, Indiana; Bulkley, Ohio; Neely, Kansas; Byrnes, South Carolina; Brown, West Virginia, and possibly Stephens, Mississippi, democrats, and Hayes, California, and

MARKED MONEY TRAPS THIEVING EMPLOYEE

Americus, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Henry Simpson, a trusted colored porter for the Holiday book store, was neatly caught this afternoon with a decoy letter mailed by Postoffice Inspector McKew.

For some time Simpson had been suspected of tampering with letters for the firm containing money, and the trap was set for him. He fell easily, the marked coins placed in the decoy letter being found in his pocket when arrested.

Fighting White Plague.

Sacramento, Cal., May 10.—A senate bill appropriating $155,000 for the establishment of state tuberculosis sanitariums was passed by the assembly today and sent to the governor. While buying the land and erecting the buildings, the state does not propose to pay for their upkeep. Cities and counties sending patients will be required to pay for their support.

Daniels Leaves Charleston.

Charleston, S. C., May 10.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, accompanied by Mrs. Daniels and Captain T. K. Palmer, his aide, left tonight aboard the 5500 boat destroyer Reid. Mr. Daniels went over the navy yard this morning, escorted by Rear Admiral James M. Helm, and other officers. He made many notes of the various phases of the work. Tonight he was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the municipal government and commercial bodies. Mr. Daniels will spend a few hours in Savannah before returning to Washington.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 10.—Governor Tener today signed a bill prohibiting the sale or gift of cigarettes or cigarette papers to persons under 21 years of age. Such sale or gift is made punishable by a fine of from $100 to $300. A minor in possession of cigarettes is required to tell where they were obtained. Refusal to do so is made a misdemeanor.

Mrs. Walter R. Dye, Americus.

Americus, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—

Mrs. Walter R. Dye, formerly of Americus and prominently connected here, died this morning at Lincoln, N. C., where her husband is rector of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Dye was formerly Mary Lou Bone, of Americus. She was forty-three years old. She was the niece of the late Uriah B. Harold, of Americus.

The body will be brought here tomorrow for funeral services from Calvary Episcopal church.

VACATION

Recreation under guiding supervision is the vacation planned for the boys who attend Riverside Naval Academy.

Riverside is located on the bank of the Chattahoochee River, as it winds its way "out of the hills of Habersham, down thru the valleys of Hall," and is in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains. Just outside of Gainesville, but connected by trolley, it has a combination of advantages to offer which has won for the title of the "Culver of the South."

RIVERSIDE NAVAL ACADEMY

Water and mountains afford opportunity for aquatic and woodland sports, the cleanest, healthiest exercise possible, and that which instills in each boy that courage, agility, strength and determination which mould the character of after years.

Out-of-door sanitary camp life furnishes one of the chief claims of Riverside Naval Academy. Out in the open, they are drilled, and slept; but there are also ample accommodations in the magnificently equipped military dormitories for those preferring barrack life.

Summer and swimming are synonymous to every boy, whether it be the "old swimmin' hole," or the bosom of the broad Atlantic. At Riverside, every boy is taught to swim. A graduate naval instructor is in charge of all aquatic sports, which include all swimming strokes, plain and fancy diving, life saving drills, rowing, sailing and motor boat driving. Lake Warner forms a splendid body of water, free from treacherous currents and eddies. Constant water patrol robs the aquatic sports of all danger. In addition to the aquatic diversions, there are lawn tennis courts, a baseball diamond, with class and company teams, horseshot, rifle, trap shooting and mountain climbing. Life in dry floors and water proofed tents is one of the healthful and picturesque features of this school. Riverside's perfectly equipped dining hall is daily supplied with North Georgia's famous fruits, vegetables and fowls.

All play and no work is a vacation wasted. At Riverside mental progress keeps pace with physical development. The faculty works out a course of study which makes up those deficiencies the boys are anxious to overcome before re-entering school in the fall. It also makes advanced standing possible, thus assuring earlier graduation.

He will be better off, mentally and physically, for a Summer spent at Riverside, under careful physical and mental supervision, free from idleness and out in the open. Summer course of eight weeks including naval instruction and class work, $100; uniforms, $20. No extras. Summer session begins June 28. For Catalog Address:

MANY COUNTY ROADS ARE ORDERED OILED

Prison Association Asks That Convicts Be Given Easier Sundays.

Fifty miles of Fulton county roadway will be oiled with petroleum asphalt in order to lay the dust this summer, by order of the roads committee of the county board, at its regular meeting yesterday.

Sam E. Finley, who has a four-year contract with the county, will supervise the work.

Prison Association Asks That Convicts Be Given Easier Sundays. Superintendent Tom Donaldson replied to this argument by saying that if such liberty was granted the guards would have no day off. As it is, he said that they had to alternate Sundays.

Negroes Are Bound Over.

Frank Griffin and Watson Reed, the two negro youths who have been identified as those who were robbing a grocery store at Ivy and Richardson streets last week when they were disturbed by police, were bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $1,000 each.

SIMMONS BESIEGED IN REGARD TO TARIFF

Callers Wish to Convince Senate Finance Chairman Rates Are Wrong.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(Special.)—Senator Simmons is the busiest man in the capitol since the tariff bill has reached the senate. As chairman of the finance committee he is besieged with callers from daylight to dark, men who wish to convince him that the tariff rates provided for their industries need correction. Today representatives of the treasury department and the department of justice held a lengthy conference with him on the administrative features of the bill. Mr. Redfield, secretary of commerce, was also closeted with him for over an hour, discussing the 5 per cent exemption allowed on goods imported in American bottoms.

W. C. Newland, former lieutenant governor of the state, is here in the interest of F. H. Deal, a North Carolina boy, related to the Deals of Wadesboro, who wants to be postmaster at Fairbanks, Alaska.

M. L. Shiman, state commissioner of labor and printing, stopped over here today en route home from Chicago, where he attended the meeting of the International Institute of Labor Commissioners. He was elected first vice-president of the association.

Other North Carolina visitors were J. W. Ragland, of Elk Park; H. B. Varner, editor of Southern Good Roads, and J. L. Patterson, of the Raleigh cotton mill man of Roanoke Rapids.

Attorney General McReynolds will take no hand in securing a pardon for W. E. Breesee and Dickerson, of Wills, convicted in connection with the failure of the Asheville bank. The sentence of the North Carolina courts must be served out. W. E. Breesee, Jr., called at the department of justice today and was refused an interview by Attorney General McReynolds. Breesee has an appointment with President Wilson for 11 o'clock Monday morning, and will then make a final effort to secure a pardon for his father.

CHICAGO MILLIONAIRE PASSES AWAY IN MACON

Macon, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—David Tolbert, of Chicago, once a millionaire and at one time one of the heaviest stockholders in the Ocean Steamship company, died at the Macon hospital today at the age of 84 years. For several years he had devoted his life to adding the poor, traveling about the country from state to state. Much of his money he had given away in his efforts to better the poorer classes and the remainder he gave to members of his family. During the time he was a patient at the hospital relatives in other parts of the country sent him large sums of money with which to provide him with everything that he needed.

A son who resides in Kansas City will come here for the body. One son, John H. Tolbert, is a well-known San Francisco lawyer, while another, R. M. Tolbert, is a wealthy merchant in Chicago.

Exercises on Field Day Witnessed By Thousands

EXERCISES ON FIELD DAY. Field day winners: Highest girl jumper, Estelle McQueen, of the Davis street school, and Katie Leach, of the W. F. Slaton school.

Best girl standing jumper, Alma Hicks, of the Boulevard school. Fastest girl runner, Elizabeth Vaughn, of the North avenue school. Highest jumper, among the boys, Mitchell Benton, of the Peoples street school, and Russell Amated, of the Edgewood avenue school. Best broad standing jumper among the boys, Ben Montgomery, of the Oakland City school. Fastest boy runner, Robert Scott, of the Forrest avenue school. Best basket-ball thrower, Katie Leach, of the W. F. Slaton school.

The Field Day exercises of the grammar schools of the city, held at Ponce de Leon yesterday, proved a great success. Three or four thousand children enjoyed the outing, some five or six thousand spectators were present with the entertainment. Dr. Teopel, director of physical culture, was the recipient of hearty congratulations, and Professor William M. Slaton, superintendent of the schools, was given a great ovation when he appeared on the grounds.

The exercises, aside from proving pleasing to the children and entertaining to the spectators, demonstrated what is being done in the city's schools in the way of developing the children physically and was convincing as to the wisdom of the school system should be headed.

Dr. Teopel deserves much credit for the excellent manner in which he handled the exercises. There was a hit and a dash and the afternoon contained features which were not only interesting to the participants, but enjoyable to the large audience.

It was clearly shown that among the city school children there are several very excellent athletes and that the young folks are not being neglected physically while their minds are being trained.

The exercises began at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the first contest, a 100 yard dash, was held at 9:30 o'clock. Then there came the afternoon part of the program at 2:30 o'clock, which lasted until 5 o'clock.

In the morning there were individual athletics and contests between the schools presented. There were, by both the boys and girls, high jumps over poles, standing broad jumps, running races and "chinning the bar." The results were not announced until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when the following were shown to be the winners in the four events:

Winners of Prizes.
Class A, boys over 13 years of age: Russ Russell, Edgewood avenue school, first prize, gold button, 71 points; Mitchell Benton, Peoples street school, second prize, silver button, 69 points; Robert Scott, Forrest avenue school, third prize, bronze button, 65 points.
Class A, boys over 13 years of age: Katie Leach, William F. Slaton school, first prize, gold pin, 55 points; Elizabeth Vaughn, North avenue school, second prize, silver pin, 54 points; Clyde Webb, Ira street school, third prize, bronze pin, 50.5 points.

Class B, boys under 13 years of age: Benjamin Holmes, Calhoun street school, first prize, gold button, 45.5 points; Morton Donaldson, Formwalt street school, second prize, silver button, 49.5 points; Albert Jordan, Tenth street school, third prize, bronze button, 47 points.

Class B, girls under 13 years of age: Estelle McQueen, Davis street school, first prize, gold pin, 60 points; Arcadia Near, Tenth street school, and Lillie Harrington, Formwalt street school, who tied, second prize, silver pin, 55 points; Jeanie B. Slaton school, and Lucie McDavid, Edgewood avenue school, who tied, third prize, bronze pin, 39.5 points.

The result of the class athletics, with handsome plaques as prizes, was as follows: North avenue school, fifth grade, boys, 228 points. Peoples street school, fifth grade, girls, 184.07 points. Edgewood avenue school, sixth grade, boys, 254.28 points. Edgewood avenue school, sixth grade, girls, 204.11 points. Formwalt street school, seventh grade, boys, 293.26 points. Formwalt street school, seventh grade, girls, 209.85 points. Peoples street school, eighth grade, boys, 279.13 points. Peoples street school, girls, 202.25 points.

The boys of the Formwalt street school made the highest points. The individual records. In the individual contests Estelle McQueen, of the Davis street school, and Katie Leach, of the W. F. Slaton school, made the highest jumps over the pole, each scoring three feet and ten inches.

Alma Hicks, of the Boulevard school, made the longest standing broad jump, her score being 6 feet 9 inches. Elizabeth Vaughn, of the North avenue school, won the 75-yard dash her time being 9 4-5 seconds. Mitchell Benton, of the Peoples street school, and Russell Amated, of the Edgewood avenue school, made the best score in high jumping over the pole, each scoring 4 feet and 5 inches. Ben Montgomery, of the Oakland City school, made the longest broad jump, his record being 8 feet and 6 inches.

Robert Scott, of the Forrest Avenue school, won the running race of 100 yards, his time being 1 2-5 seconds. In the contest of "chinning the bar" the boys were limited to 20 times, and over forty boys made the record. Katie Leach, of the W. F. Slaton school, won the contest of throwing the basket-ball. With one trial she threw the ball a distance of 37 feet and 4 inches.

Do Teopel was well pleased with the records made. He said they were the best that the children have ever made.

SHEDD WILL NOT APPEAL

Begins Serving Sentence For Killing "Sonny" Collins.

Augusta, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—That no appeal or motion for new trial will be made in the case of Marshall Shedd, convicted and sentenced as for a misdemeanor for the killing of Edward Collins, was evidenced today when Shedd donned the stripes and began service on his sentence of twelve months on the gangster, six months in jail. He will serve only sixteen months if he wins the allowance of two months for good behavior.

Shedd was an engineer on the Georgia road and Collins, known generally through the state as "Sonny" Collins, was for years a political leader and prominent Irishman. The jury was out a day and two nights.

At the same term of court a negro was sentenced to nine years, nine months and a day for hitting a Chinaman on the head, but not rendering him unconscious.

TWO BROTHERS DIE

In Different Towns at the Same Time.

Macon, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—A short time after F. Donald Williams, a well-known young Macon man, had died at his home, 308 Church street, today, word came from Cork, Butts county, that his brother, Ernest Williams, had also died there about the same time.

Mrs. Williams, mother of the two young men, had been at the bedside of Don Williams, who had been stricken with appendicitis, and was called to look to the bedside of her other son. Just after she reached there she received word of Don Williams' death in Macon. She returned to Macon tonight, bringing the body of Ernest Williams, and a double funeral will be held here at 12 o'clock on Monday in a adjoining graves in Riverside cemetery.

THE BEAUTIFUL COBB PARK ON TENTH STREET

WE HAVE FOUR LOTS finished and ready for sale in the new COBB PARK, which is one of the most beautiful and picturesque residential sections of Atlanta, and when this park is completed there will be nothing in the city of Atlanta prettier or more valuable. We will sell these four lots at once at a price 20 to 30 per cent under any property being sold in that section. These lots adjoin three beautiful homes which were erected before this park development started. The lots have been finished up and building fronts filed in, and a glance at them will convince you that what we say are FACTS. Kindly call us up and let us drive you out and show you these, together with other developments that are being made in this park.

If you want a home in the most beautiful part of Atlanta, fronting on some of the most beautiful streets, let us take you out and show you through the developments we are making in the COBB REALTY COMPANY PARK. We are getting this in excellent shape, and are offering a few lots for sale, and the person who buys first will undoubtedly get advantages that won't be offered later on.

OPPORTUNITY IT'S A MISTAKE to say it comes but once. Opportunity knocks constantly at every man's door.

TO SEE OPPORTUNITY IS THE THING

To those who can see, and have the nerve to grasp, Fortune comes.

LAND IS AMERICA'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Most of our fortunes have come from the land. And generally around big cities. Big population bidding for location send values up, whether central or suburban.

You can fit the opportunity to your pocket by buying to suit your ability.

If your funds are modest, buy good lots on easy terms. But DON'T TRY TO GET TOO LOW IN PRICE. Buy something good, something that's coming in before you die.

We have in mind some splendid lots a client of ours has asked us to sell. Lots that we can strongly recommend to anyone.

These lots are on Bedford Place, between Eighth and Seventh. Elevated, overlooking Ponce de Leon avenue one way. Near Peachtree another, with Piedmont Park right at hand. Other lands that can be bought will cost you much more money, and there is absolutely no difference in quality. All are splendid lots, and are certain to be in demand before long for building.

We believe it a real chance to make a modest speculation safely. The lots will cost you $2,750 on terms of 10 per cent cash and 10 per cent per year for four years, with balance due in five years. That means that only $275 cash will turn the deal. These lots held two years should bring $1,500 profit. Anyone will tell you this is SAFE stuff to buy.

Think this over! $2,750 for a lot 51x160 in the heart of Atlanta's best residence section.

LOU A UNIVERSITY IS RISING FROM THE DEAD

Sons Today Are Reconstructing the Work of Their Fathers, Shattered by War.

By Rev. Thornwell Jacobs. On March 31, 1837, the Presbyterians of the south dedicated an institution that they loved. Since the spring of 1862 it has been looking for that day. They had, by sacrifices, labor and prayer, succeeded in collecting money to build the structure.

On March 31, 1912, seventy-five years to the very day from the memorable occasion above referred to, first public announcement was made in the streets that Oglethorpe university was to be re-founded. In the meantime the Presbyterians had learned many things. They had learned, for example, that if an educational institution is to succeed it must be supported by the people.

Ranked With Yale and Harvard. When Oglethorpe university was opened in 1837 it had the finest chapel in the United States, and it was built on a site which was paralleled in the history of American education in the south. On March 31, 1912, seventy-five years to the very day from the memorable occasion above referred to, first public announcement was made in the streets that Oglethorpe university was to be re-founded.

Atlanta a Perfect Site. The situation in the city of Atlanta has become such that something had to happen. Every other state in the south has a Presbyterian college except Georgia. Every other city of the nation, in Atlanta's class, has a classical college for boys, except Georgia. The strong denomination in the south has a university except the Presbyterians. Yet here is the commercial capital of the south, the distributing center of the south, the strategic focus in the south, and the largest Presbyterian city in the south.

W. W. Watts Heads Directors. At the meeting on the evening of September 17, the names of the first one hundred men were announced and a complete organization was effected. Mr. George W. Watts, of Durham, N. C., a man loved for himself and for his philanthropy to himself, was chosen president. Senator Hoke Smith is first vice president; C. E. Graham, Greenville, S. C., second vice president; Henry K. McHarg, of Stamford, Conn., is third vice president, and Smith is fourth vice president. John K. Ottley was elected treasurer, and Thornwell Jacobs, secretary.

The executive committee includes the president, the first vice president, the treasurer, Frank M. Luman, Belmont, Moors, Dr. Hugh Walker, Edgar Watkins, E. G. Jones, Thornwell Jacobs, Captain James W. English, James R. Gray, Hugh Richardson, J. T. Anderson, Marietta, and J. W. Hammond, Griffin. The relationship of this institution to our existing colleges will be a particularly happy one. It is proposed and determined that every effort shall be made to place the president of every one of the colleges on the board of directors of the university. In this way it is planned to co-ordinate our entire educational system.

The Name a Gem of History. Particularly striking is the name chosen for the institution. Before there was a Davidson, before there was a Clinton, before there was a Clarksville, before there was an Austin, before there was a Batesville, before there was an Anliston, before there was a Palmer college, old Oglethorpe was founded by the Synods of the Southeast, a rival of Princeton, the first and strongest Presbyterian school in the south. In the day when there was no such place on the map as Atlanta, Oglethorpe university boasted the finest chapel in the United States. Fifty years after the war had swept her from the land of the living she is being revived under the administration of a governor who is one of her alumni.

Preparing for Anglo-American Peace Centenary

PEACE DELEGATES AT CITY HALL, NEW YORK

This picture of the peace envoys from Great Britain and her colonies and from the city of Ghent, Belgium, was taken on the steps of the city hall, New York, and shows also Mayor Gaynor and his welcoming committee.

The unanimous passage of a resolution calling upon all the other southern states to unite with the Presbyterians of Georgia in founding a great southern Presbyterian university. This resolution was introduced by Major J. O. Varndoe, of Valdosta, Ga., an alumnus of old Oglethorpe.

All Georgia Heeded Movement. At this meeting one of the most amazing stories of generosity, perhaps the most marvelous ever told in this country, was rehearsed. One hundred men and churches had each given $1,000 or more for the above purpose.

Georgia is going to put 125 men on the board of directors—that many or more. These 125 men will give not less than a quarter of a million dollars each, and another quarter of a million dollars or more will be added by the city of Atlanta.

They determined to add another hundred to the board, gathered in from all over the state, upon some terms and conditions as the first hundred. Each one of these men will give $1,000 or more to their institution. Among the first hundred are some who have already said that they will give from $5,000 to $25,000 each. The completed board of 200 Presbyterian men will give approximately a half million dollars. The civic subscription of Atlanta, including the site, will raise the amount to three quarters of a million, and it is believed that another three quarters of a million may be secured by popular subscription and from other sources outside of the state.

Indications of restricted money supplies have the proportion of investment demands for new security issues, which is keeping the difficulty of investment demands. The urgent necessity also spurred on the railroads, summed definite freight rates, which are being increased. Investment demands are affected by the general accumulation of gold thus promised by the central banking institutions abroad, little prospect is shown of a return to New York of gold sent from there.

Atlanta Will Give $250,000. That inasmuch as it is highly desirable and expedient that a definite statement of the intentions of Atlanta concerning the popular subscription of the city to Oglethorpe university should be made, the secretary of the board, on April 2 last, the following resolution was unanimously passed by a rising vote:

It is particularly interesting to know that we no longer have on our board of directors representatives from the following states: Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Florida, Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Alabama and Connecticut. The plan of our campaign was to begin first in Atlanta and we now have from this city some 87 directors. In Georgia, outside of Atlanta, we have directors from the following communities: Decatur, Conyers, Covington, Dalton, Rome, Marietta, Elberton, Newnan, LaGrange, Griffin, Macon, Valdosta, Carrollton, Columbus, Savannah, Quitman, Waycross, Blackshear, Augusta and Waycross. In South Carolina where the next largest amount of work has been done, we have representatives from the following points: Greenville, Westminster, two from Alabama, but the remarkable part about the entire record is that while this story has been told in something like 40 different churches under as many different sets of circumstances, not one single church has

Lord Weardale is chairman of the English committee, which came to the United States to arrange with the American committee for the celebration in 1915 of 100 years' peace among English speaking people. The visiting delegates were feted with dinners and receptions in New York and planned to visit Washington before they returned.

Industrial dividend reductions. This explanation involved the uncertain conditions under prospective tariff changes. The trouble over the Union Pacific dissolution plan came under the general topic, as did the measure directed against the New River system and the announced intention of the department of justice to take further steps under the anti-trust law against certain coal owners.

COTTON. New Orleans, May 10.—It was rather a dull week for the cotton market, a spot trade was displayed by the future department and the net results of the week's trading was an advance of 15 to 20 points. The high prices were made on Friday and the low prices on Monday.

STOCK. New York, May 10.—New York in common with all world markets, felt the benefit of the resumption of the European peace by Montenegro's submission of Serbia to the disposal of the powers but this particular step was not considered conclusively a step toward the resumption of production on markets and by the renewal of hostilities proved that financial strain, whether due to the political position, to preparations for increased armaments or to credit inflation, had not been relieved.

IRON AND STEEL. New York, May 10.—The steel output during the last week has been heavy, but there has been a shrinkage in the volume of new business, which is being compensated by the disappearance of premiums, although the supply of pig iron has been a more plentiful supply than in the past few weeks.

BRENAU COLLEGE NOTES

The musical event of the week occurred Monday evening when Mrs. T. Simmons, of Brena, presented a recital of music, including a solo recital Miss Lucie Ferguson, soprano, of Beaumont, Texas, and Miss Blanche Eleanor Lottain, contralto, of Asheville, N. C. The program given by these young ladies was such as only artists can render.

Miss Ferguson in coloratura work was exquisite, and in Mozart's "Vol Che Sappo" (Figaro), her tone work was faultless. The rich contralto quality in Miss Lottain's voice was splendidly maintained through a heavy program, and her aria from Sampson and Delilah was a fine medium strength of interpretation.

The Eta Sigma Phi sorority, of which Miss Ferguson is a member, and the Choral club, of which both these young ladies are members, formed box parties and the continuous and hearty applause, and many lovely vocal solos, which were the result of the achievements of the singers and the college spirit and appreciation of art and talent which is the dominating force at Brena.

Mrs. H. E. Slocomb, of Plain View, Minn., and Misses G. W. G. of Lexington, Ky., have returned to their home after a pleasant visit at Brena, where they officiated at the installation of the Alpha Delta Gamma sorority that occurred May 5, and which converted the Eta Sigma Phi association into the national fraternity of the Alpha Gamma Delta. The Alpha Gamma Delta is one of the foremost literary fraternities in America, and one of the four at Brena.

On Tuesday, Miss Elmer Zoller presented at a study, the vocal solo, Miss Augusta Mathews, soprano; Miss Rosa Rogers, mezzo soprano, and Mr. Miam, tenor. The program was exceptionally well selected, giving each voice an opportunity for revealing power and purity of tone. Miss Rogers gave a cycle of songs by Mrs. H. A. Beach, which was followed by Mr. Miam in a group of ballads. Miss Mathews gave among other beautiful things Carmen's "Mission of the Rose," which was beautifully rendered.

Miss Helen Carr, of Miami, Fla., was heard Tuesday evening in her junior song recital. This program included Mendelssohn's "St. Paul Aria" and the "Spring Song" from Sampson and Delilah. Her vocal and artistic power as a singer, this demand was met with ease by Miss Carr, and the entire program was given grace and poise. Miss Carr is a brilliant and popular student in the school of oratory, and her beautiful voice and charming personality have won her many friends at Brena.

Professor Newcomb, of the University of Tennessee, who was director in the school of oratory at Brena last summer, gave a lecture in the auditorium on Monday evening, when he met with an ovation from his many friends here. Professor Newcomb read the "Fortune Hunter" on Monday evening and at the noon hour gave a lecture on Mark Twain's "The Illustrations" with readings from "Huckleberry Finn."

Miss Sadie Morgan, of Vienna, Ga., and Miss Louise Tuten, of Jessup, Ga., have returned from Boston, where they went to represent the Epworth chapter of the Mt. Phi Epsilon sorority in the national convention there. At a concert given by the national convention, Miss Tuten was selected to give several piano recitals.

To honor Mrs. Slocumb and Miss G. W. G., Mrs. Ernest Houseman entertained at a studio reception on Saturday afternoon.

SYLVESTER, GA.

A lovely affair of the season was the reception given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. F. E. Bell, in honor of Mrs. R. C. Bell, of Cairo. The entire lower floor was thrown together and beautifully decorated with cut flowers. The hall in the rear was the living room in roses, and the dining room in quantities of sweet peas and fern.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. G. F. Alford, wearing white voile, trimmed in real lace, and Mrs. Clifford Hay, gowned in a dainty dress of lace over blue messaline. They were introduced to the receiving line by Miss Lovelace Westberry, wearing pink charmeuse draped with lace.

In the receiving line were Mesdames F. E. Bell, R. C. Bell, G. R. Nottingham and Miss Florence Hill. Mrs. F. E. Bell wore Copenhagen blue charmeuse; Mrs. R. C. Bell wore pale blue embroidered chiffon; Miss Hill wore white lace over pink messaline; while Mrs. Nottingham wore yellow crepe de chine over blue messaline. They were introduced to the receiving line by Miss Lovelace Westberry, wearing pink charmeuse draped with lace.

Mrs. P. E. Bell was hostess at an informal party to a few of the young folks Tuesday evening at her pretty home on Pope street in honor of her guest Miss Florence Hill, of Cairo. The home was attractively decorated with pot plants, roses and sweet peas. Punch was served, followed by dainty ices and cakes in pink and white.

DAVISBORO, GA.

Miss Mabel Hendricks, of Macon, is visiting her sister, Miss Leonora Hendricks. Miss Ora Jordan is spending a while in Sandersville, the guest of Mrs. C. D. Thigpen. Mrs. C. M. Brown and Miss Eva GDBs were recent visitors to Sandersville.

Mrs. Ellis Howard and daughter have returned to their home in Macon. Mrs. A. E. Lovett, of Sandersville, was the guest of Mrs. Jack Aldred last Tuesday night. Mrs. C. Johnston and daughter have returned to their home in Macon after a visit to her mother, Mrs. V. Grubb. Mrs. Gary, of Atlanta, was a recent visitor to Mr. R. P. Thompson and family. Mrs. Noble, of Midway, visited Mrs. H. W. Warnock last week. Mrs. Berta Harman has returned to her home in Terrell after a visit to relatives here. The "Sewing Circle" was most delightfully entertained by Mesdames Clark and John C. Jones at a social affair on Monday. After a hour of work, delicious cream and cake were served. AT THEATERS THIS WEEK

"Are You a Mason?"

(At the Atlanta.)

An average of over one laugh a minute is guaranteed in "Are You a Mason?"

"Are You a Mason?" was adapted from the German by Leo Dittichstein, who played the principal comedy role in the original production.

The scheme works smoothly until the return home of Amos Bloodgood, Perry's father-in-law.

Complications increase with the arrival of Ernest Morrison, a genuine Mason, on the scene.

Miss Long will play the role of Mrs. Perry, the trusting wife, while Edwin Vall will be cast as the husband.

At the top: Clarence Wilbur and the Sunny Folks, at the Forsyth. At the bottom: Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, with Billy Long stock company, in "Are You a Mason" at the Atlanta.

Dickey and his own company in "The Come Back," a story of college life that is true to life.

Another feature on the bill will be the Apollo Trio, native Italians, who will pose as living bronza statues.

Billy K. Wells, a character comedian, who does a remarkable impersonation of the Hebrew, will be another feature.

The special headline feature of the bill will be the four Wilhat Troupe, composed of two men, two women and a dog.

The bill will also include the Misses Bartales and Lucas, a charming sister act with character changes, singing and dancing.

The bill stands out prominently as diversified, full of novelty, and should make one of the best shows that the Bijou has offered in a long time.

During the week matinees will be given as usual during the week at 3 o'clock, except on Monday and Saturday.

At Warren will be the farmer from up-state, and Joseph Kirkham, Kathryn Sheldon, Lillian Triplett and Helen Fredwin will all be assigned roles well suited to them.

The many friends of Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison will be pleased to learn that she is to be in the cast again this week and will play the part of one of Amos Bloodgood's daughters.

The matinees have been proving so popular that the management of the company has decided to open with a Monday matinee during the rest of the engagement.

Following "Are You a Mason?" the company will present "The Deep Purple," which will be seen for the first time in Atlanta.

Keith Vaudeville. (At the Forsyth.) For this week the Forsyth management is to offer a bill of real vaudeville, that is to be in thorough keeping with the excellent and clever bills of the past.

It has been a noticeable fact that since vaudeville was brought back to the Forsyth, theatergoers have shown a decided interest, and that the theater is being crowded to its limit of capacity at all performances.

The bill that is to be seen at daily matinees and evening performances commencing with the matinee on Monday afternoon, is made up of a variety of acts that will make a program of unusual merit.

It is a powerful germicide and preventive of disease, and does away with the use of dangerous and noxious disinfectants.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS ASK FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Conditions Severely Criticized in Resolutions Adopted by Atlanta Meeting.

Expressing an earnest desire to make the new administration of the postal service the national postal clerk known, the Railway Mail Association for the fourth division, composed of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee and South Carolina, with full representation in the National Railway Mail Association, at its annual session in Atlanta, a few days ago asked the head of the service, the postmaster general, to extend his aid by assisting in the uplift of the work whereby this grade of clerks might be made higher.

The resolutions ask for an improvement in the register service and tender a number of suggestions by which improvements in many ways can be effected. The resolutions also touch on the working life of the railway mail clerk on duty, of which no one but the clerk himself knows.

AMERICAN TEACHERS ARE VERY POORLY PAID

They Don't Receive Enough to Carry Adequate Life Insurance.

Washington, May 10.—"Public school teachers of the United States don't receive enough salary to have money to carry adequate life insurance, or to proceed with further professional training," announced a report of the United States bureau of education today.

Most of the teachers of the country have, in effect, had their salaries reduced since 1897, says the report.

Despite an apparent increase in money received by them, the high cost of living has cut into their salaries just as definitely as if a school board had sliced them. A teaching position which paid $600 in 1897 is paying in purchasing power the equivalent of about $415 today, if measured by 1897 prices; the teacher on the $1,000 salary gets no more for his money than he would have procured fifteen years ago for $698.

The report shows that wholesale prices in 1911 were 44.2 per cent higher than in 1897; that retail prices had increased 50.2 per cent in the same period; while in June, 1912, retail food prices were 61.7 per cent higher than in 1898.

Teachers spend more than workingmen for some things, the report states, "though their pay is about the same. Rent and clothing are bigger items in the teacher's budget than in the laborer's, indicating more exacting commodity demands. Teachers also spend relatively more than workingmen for life insurance, religious purposes, charity, amusement, vacations and care of the health."

Conference on Education. Washington, May 10.—President Wilson was authorized to send delegates to the International Conference on Education at The Hague this year by a joint resolution passed today by the house. No appropriation was made for expenses.

CHASTITY IS MENACED BY THE DRESS OF WOMEN

Charleston, S. C., May 10.—That the styles in women's dress are tending to "break down chastity and purity" and that the general convention of the church to be held at New York should take action, were features of a resolution passed during the recent session of the Episcopal diocesan council of South Carolina. The resolution, though an oversight was not given to the press until tonight.

BUSINESS IS GOOD

---EDWIN P. ANSLEY

MAN said coming down on the street car this morning--

"Atlanta is wonderful."

I don't believe he knows how great it really is. I say business is good. It has been good for ten years or more and it is going to be better. Facts and figures in our office show that it is good, and reports received by our organization show that it is going to be better. The eyes of America's investing public are on Georgia today and that means Atlanta. Never before in the history of our country have investors from every section been so interested in Southern farm lands, and particularly in Georgia farm lands. And never before has the Southerner been so interested in Atlanta.

The South in the past twenty-five years has grown away from the scars of the Civil War, blooming out like a new flower. This course of development has made many millionaires all over the South. In their little hamlets the facilities for taking care of and manipulating large fortunes are inadequate.

This brings to Atlanta a host of rich men who must use our railroads, extensive telephone connections, telegraphic equipment, together with our banking facilities and our professional men in the many avenues for assisting men of this caliber.

And only in Atlanta can you find office buildings to house them, beautiful subdivisions for their homes, operas and society for their families, good roads and parks and clubs for entertaining their friends.

Consequently from this period on Atlanta will reap a harvest of these capitalists, for this is what they are. This means the concentration of money. Atlanta has only really begun to grow. Our real strength in the next twenty-five years will surpass any of our greatest expectations in the increase of values, in the increase of growth and in the increase of population.

This outside money coming into Atlanta and Georgia has helped make business good, and will help make it better. Conditions in Georgia have never been better. Year before last we had a bumper cotton crop. Last year we had an average crop and good prices. Georgia is entitled to only 1,500,000 bales, and we had it last year.

EDWIN P. ANSLEY

This year farmers have been favored with good weather conditions to get a better start and reports received in our office from every section of the State show that grain crops are in a flourishing condition. Cotton has been planted and the prospects for a good crop are booming.

Atlanta is no place for the pessimist. Neither is Georgia. There may be other places where "business is rotten," but that place can not be found in Georgia. Figures and statistics as a rule are uninteresting, but when they are so colossal as those which apply to Georgia they are astounding.

The value of the products of Georgia's factories, farms, forests and mines last year reached the astounding total of over Five Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars! Georgia people had on deposit last year in the banks over the State nearly One Hundred and Twenty Million Dollars and the value of property in Georgia amounted to over one and one-half billion dollars!

Get that. Can you? You just can't-- Think it over. Study it. And believe me when I say--

Business is good.

And Atlanta is due to grow for fifty years yet.

Within the past few months our office has sold Four Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars worth of property. Of this amount about Three Hundred Thousand Dollars was in Atlanta Real Estate and the balance in Georgia farm lands.

The figures are being swelled daily, and I fully believe that the present year will be the greatest in our history, and all sane, careful, conservative buying, too.

Recently we sold small farms to farmers from the North and they are making enough out of the land to pay for it in a few years. We had just as much land in cultivation years ago as we have now in Georgia yet by improved methods and scientific farming the output from the soil has increased fourfold since 1880. We are just learning how to get from the soil all that nature will give. And we are doing this without increasing our capital and with less effort. And the farms and other products are the backbone for all our values.

In other words, we are using brains.

Facts and figures in our office back me up in this statement.

Just to give you an idea of what people think of Atlanta Real Estate and Georgia Farm Lands, I am submitting a list of transactions our office has made recently of the small parcels showing plenty of buying and in amounts that can and will be paid for.

Business is good. It is going to be better. Don't let anybody tell you differently.

Don't forget how rich and prosperous Georgia really is. I am walking on the sunny side of the street, and so is every member of our organization. We know what is here and we want others to know.

We know that Atlanta does things and will continue to do things. We needed $90,000 to take care of Shriners from all over the country. We went out and got it in a day. And we could get it again if we needed it.

Keep remembering continually how rich Georgia is in natural resources and how rapidly Atlanta real estate values are enhancing.

And remember-- Business is good!

BRITISH EMPIRE RULED BY OLIGARCHY All Power In Cabinet

(Copyright 1913, by Curtis Brown.) London, March 15.—England is the most democratic country in the world, and in no other country in the world is the will of the people better expressed through its legislative assemblies...

his resignation, he has devoted much time to fighting the caucus system, but without making much apparent impression on it.

The fact is that England today is an oligarchy ruled by a small group of politicians and although it looks like a paradox this state of affairs is due to the destruction as a branch of the legislature of the hereditary house of lords.

Following the announcement made last Sunday that Professor Sandy Beaver of Stone Mountain had bought a large block of stock in Riverside Normal Academy at Danesville and had been elected president of that institution he has been the recipient of hearty congratulations by his host of former students throughout the state.

Professor Beaver has a number of interesting plans on foot the details of which he will announce shortly whereby Riverside is to be put into the forefront of preparatory schools. Riverside now enjoys the distinction of being the only preparatory school in the south at which there are combined the military and naval features which always prove so attractive to boys.

Already the outlook is for the largest attendance upon summer schools.

Mrs. Clarke wore a becoming lingerie gown elaborate with lace. Mrs. A. D. Adair, Jr., receiving with her mother, wore pink crepe de chine, the corsage of chiffon and lace.

Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R.
On Thursday afternoon, May 15, at 3:30 o'clock, the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., will hold a delightful meeting. As this will be very interesting from both a business and social standpoint, all the members are urged to be present. A delightful program has been prepared for the afternoon, and reports from the delegates to the conference at Augusta and to the Continental congress in Washington will be given. This will be the last regular meeting until fall.

Superfluous Hair Truths

Stop Experimenting
No matter what claims are made to the contrary, De Miracle is the only preparatory that will immediately, and without the slightest injury to the most delicate skin, remove superfluous hair.
Insist on Proof
When makers of questionable depilatories make similar claims. The mere fact that such preparations are offered on the bare word of the makers should alone be sufficient warning to avoid their use.

Atlanta women, rested now after the excitement of opera week, are planning for their summer campaigns of travel and pleasure, and many pretty gowns are being made for them. Two costumes planned for a young matron who always wears smart things, include a black charmeuse suit and a chiffon and foulard gown.
The black charmeuse has a draped skirt and a smart coat, while to be worn with it was a waist of black and white net, combined in one fashion. The net is embroidered in threads of gold, and there is the combination of the thin and the thick lace in vogue this season. The second gown is of dark blue chiffon, with a broad stripe in it of blue foulard, showing a dot in Alice blue. The skirt shows a pattern of lines and the corsage is draped to show a plastron of cream-colored embroidered batiste, and finishing touches of chiffon.
A smart traveling gown in dark blue to be worn at Carlsbad, has a beautifully fitting skirt tailor fashion and trimmed in black braid applied in unique fashion. The coat is medium length, and similarly trimmed in the braid. The waist completing it is of the blue cloth, several inches above the waist line. It becomes blue chiffon collar over violet satin, with a row of lines and the corsage is draped to show a plastron of cream-colored embroidered batiste, and finishing touches of chiffon.
The blue silk is a coat and skirt model, the skirt made dressy but in straight lines, while the coat is of the same design, and the whole is trimmed in bands of Cluny lace.
A foulard silk which illustrates extreme daintiness is of white with a little black ring applied on it. It is made in graceful lines with pipings of black, and the corsage with yoke of net has trimmings in little Val lace ruffles, finish given in a touch of turquoise blue.
In white chiffon voile is a charming

Official Notice.
On account of the recent floods in Kentucky the home of Mrs. Roy McKinney, recording secretary general, Paducah, Ky., has been inundated and her papers confused and damaged. She will send to me the certificates for membership and the other papers just as soon as she is able to resume business with her office. The Atlanta members of our chapter will understand the nature of the delay, and I hope to soon deliver the papers to every applicant here.

Greatest Collection of Summer Dresses Ever Shown in South to Be Seen Now at Allen's

And such a season of washables never was! Cotton fabrics now exhibit so much variety and originality that they are positively pushing the finer ones of linen or even silk for popularity. Women wear the curiously beautiful new stuffs with most evident appreciation. For both beauty and practical qualities the finer grades have a strong rivalry in the less expensive ones. There are ratines and eponges of unusual tints, crepes and voiles in printed designs, or with wool embroidered flowers or colored ratine borders, and colored voiles with white ratine stripes, and so on, with combinations of fabrics and decorations till your bewildered admiration finds the checking point and says, "Enough!"

The charm begins with our very chic "jacket and skirt" frock of white and colored linen at $5.95—then the variety of fabrics quoted at the very comprehensive range of prices as follows:

$5.95, $8.75, $10, $12.50, $15, $18.50, $20, $25, $30, $35 and up to $50

These Eleven Drawings Show Our Styles

200 New Silk Dresses, Values $12.50, $25, $30 and $35 $12.50

We advertised a sale of Dresses and Suits throughout the month of May, and we came near to putting an end to this special Silk Dress Sale last Monday—when we sold an even fifty—all we had of the Street Dresses, and very many women went away disappointed that they did not get one. We were encouraged to order more—two hundred more—and they shall be ready for Monday selling. They are made of charmeuse silk poplin, crepe meteor and crepe de chine, in white, black and all colors, and really are a big value for the price asked.

Evening Dresses of white, blue, pink, yellow, green, American Beauty and Nell rose, trimmed with handsome shadow lace and rhinestone buckles—beautiful draped models—also $25 and $30 values—will be included in the sale at $12.50.

Good Wool Suits $11.85
We have chosen to give you for this sale the 56 wool suits remaining from the lot offered last Monday at the special price of $15—these having been formerly $20 and $25. We consider 56 a small lot, though there are all sizes and very many chic models to be sold Monday for only $11.85

An Array of Lovely New Lingerie Blouses, $1.95

Models in voile and batiste, enlivened by effective embroidered combinations and fine laces, with touches of velvet and fancy buttons.

Values $2.50, $3 and $3.50, $1.95

New Summer Hats $5 and $10

It would be hard to find a daintier, prettier hat at any price than these new midsummer models that we have now for your choice at the very small cost of $5 and $10. Divided between the summer favorites—pink, blue and white—the only difficulty is in choosing, for you will surely not fail to wish for one of each color.

Fine hemp braids, veiled with French crepe and shadow lace, trimmed with soft, crushable silk ribbons, dainty rose wreaths and sprays, fancy ostrich effects and every graceful touch known to the artistic fingers of our designers. Best materials used, and best shapes assure becomingness.

They are all trimmed models, the newest designs of summer hat fashions. Some of these are of a style and quality that you have many a time paid $25 for. Select yours early Monday morning—

$5.00 and $6.00 Tan Pumps $4.00
Also Patent Leather, Gun Metal and Satin

These are what might be termed as "remnants" in shoes, and every woman knows what remnants are. It means that the pattern or style cannot be or is not duplicated exactly; or the maker has advanced the price, so it is advisable to close out the odds and ends. These shoes that we offer tomorrow at $4.00 a pair are all worth $6.00, by every standard of value that we know, except the simple one of size. If we started out this week to duplicate them they would cost us $1.50 to 75c a pair more than we paid for them. Not every one can share in this fortune, but if you can find a pair of these pumps or oxfords in the size and width and the style that you are looking for, you will be just $2.00 better off by doing so. We also offer unrestricted choice of over one hundred pairs of salesmen's "sample" pumps, colonials, button and lace oxfords, at $3.50 a pair. Some of these shoes were made to sell as high as $7.00 to $8.00 a pair, and are made to stand the test of critical examination by expert shoe buyers. They are mostly in sizes 3½, 4 and 4½. Tomorrow ought to see the last pair of the hundred gone by nightfall, and they will go if we can fit everybody in them. Stop in early in the morning.

Washington Seminary Announces Commencement Program for 1913

The thirty-fifth year of the Washington seminary, Atlanta, will close on the 31st of May, with the graduation exercises at the Atlanta theater.

The faculty and students announce an interesting program of the closing days, and extend a cordial invitation to the public.

Thursday, May 15, 8:15 P. M.—Violin recital, Alexander von Skibinsky; accompanist, Miss Eila Bartholomew, Washington seminary auditorium.

Friday, May 16, 8 P. M.—Alumnae reunion, seminary parlors (by invitation).

Sunday, May 18, 11 A. M.—Baccalaureate service, Saint Luke's church, sermon by Dr. C. E. Wilmer.

Monday, May 19, 8:15 P. M.—Annual concert, seminary auditorium.

Tuesday, May 20, 8:15 P. M.—Senior class exercises, seminary auditorium.

Wednesday, May 21, 8:15 P. M.—Thirty-fifth commencement, Atlanta theater; address by Dr. Hugh K. Walker.

The following young ladies are members of the senior class:

Misses Jeannette Baggett, Elizabeth Black, Janet Brantly, Grace Davis, Helen Douglas, Katherine DuBose, Elizabeth Dyson, Yvonne Virginia Farr, Elizabeth Hancock, Faith Johnson, Nellie McCraver, Lillian L. Mitchell, Gertrude Richardson, Elizabeth Shippen, Ruth Shippen, Grace Stephens, Dorothy Traynham, Mary Lynn Entertainments in Honor of Seniors.

The first date of the social calendar of the Class of 1913 of the Washington seminary was May 8. Miss Ida Winship entertained members of the class at an afternoon tea. A delightful informality marked the occasion.

May 9 the juniors complimented the seniors and the members of the faculty with a beautiful reception at the home of Miss Willie Smith in Druid Hills.

White roses and carnations with sprays of ferns were used most effectively in decorations. The junior colors of white and green were also brought out in the candies and the refreshments.

The delicate white and green of the spring blossoms seemed but to emphasize the freshness and beauty of the boys or young girls.

On May 13 Miss Emma Scott will give her girls a "Senior Party." Miss Scott's annual class parties are the social events of the school year to the girls.

On May 14 Miss Grace Stephens will entertain at an afternoon tea. A number of Miss Stephens' friends will be invited to meet the seniors, who will be the guests of honor.

On May 15 the senior class will be entertained at Five O'clock tea by Miss Virginia Farr.

On May 19 Miss Dorothy Traynham, the popular president of the class, will be the hostess at an afternoon reception to be given by her to the members of her class and the faculty.

For the first time the alumnae of the Washington seminary will meet socially as an organized body.

Although a young organization, it is a member of both the city and state federation. It is in full sympathy with all that stands for the uplift of the city.

The reunion will usher in the program of the commencement season.

On Tuesday morning the seniors of the Washington seminary and a few of the faculty enjoyed a picnic in "The Pines." A most delicious luncheon was prepared by the members of the Domestic Science class. Coffee and bacon were cooked in the woods. The occasion was one of great pleasure.

Art Study Club.

A bright social and intellectual event of the week was the meeting of the Art Study club with Mrs. Louis Macchioni Friday afternoon to hear Father Corley's lecture on the "History of Architecture." Father Corley's deep insight into the history of art combined with his love of architecture, gave his lecture a personal impression that was delightful.

Farewell Party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Puckett gave an enjoyable "farewell party" Wednesday evening to about thirty young people in honor of their daughter, Miss Annie Crouch, who left the following afternoon for an extended visit with the Rev. and Mrs. E. Dean Ellenwood, now of Elgin, Ill.

The home was beautifully decorated with roses and the young people were entertained with games and music. Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Crouch will take a course of kindergarten work at the Chicago university during the summer.

A Country Fair.

On Friday, May 23, the ladies of the St. Elizabeth guild of St. Luke's church are to have something new in lawn fetes. On the beautiful shaded lawns of Mrs. Doris Pardue and Mrs. G. M. Taylor, at 19 Ponce de Leon avenue, there will be booths of many kinds, depicting an old-fashioned country fair. In the afternoon there will be amusements for the little folks, and in the evening there is promised something of interest for the older ones.

Mrs. H. N. Hurt is chairman, and a few of her able assistants are Mrs. John Slater, Mrs. Ulric Atkinson, Mrs. Don Farber, Mrs. Ernest Dallas, Mrs.

John Phillips Mrs. Fitzhugh Knox, Mrs. Louis Magid, Mrs. Chessley Howard and the Misses Ollinger.

This entertainment promises to be both unique and delightful, and the guild extends a very cordial invitation to all their friends to be present.

Stag Dinner.

The salesman and office force of Conley & Ennis were delightfully entertained at a stag dinner given at the home of Mrs. John M. Conley on Friday evening.

Impromptu speeches were made by John M. Ennis and John M. Conley, highly complimenting the men and congratulating them on the magnificent showing which each had made during the present year.

Beautiful responsive talks were made by J. G. Chandler, J. S. Everett and R. F. Head.

J. N. Parsons furnished music for the occasion.

Those present were: John T. Ennis, John M. Conley, J. S. Everett, J. G. Chandler, R. F. Head, J. N. Parsons, G. M. White, Jr., Francis Head and J. A. Dyer.

Afternoon Bridge Party.

Mrs. James Thompson and Mrs. Earl Doyle entertained delightfully at bridge Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thompson.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and a profusion of garden flowers, roses and peonies. Punch was served during the game and delicious refreshments after the game.

Mrs. H. H. Fudge won the first prize for top score, a handsome leather bound bridge set, and Mrs. Walter Caroux cut the consolation a cut glass perfume bottle.

Those present were: Mesdames Elmer E. Fulton, H. H. Fudge, Walter E. Carson, Van Orsdale, Woodberry, Gillespie, Carl Faires and Ella Moring Chisholm.

Miss Stephens to Entertain.

Miss Grace Stephens will entertain at a tea Wednesday afternoon at her home in Druid Hills in compliment to the senior class of Washington seminary.

Flexibility Queen Quality SHOE

Not only have they the most flexible soles in the world, but the vamps and uppers and everything about them is made with a knowledge of foot requirements that spells "PERFECTION."

The Girl Graduate and Her Jewelry

While good taste abbreviates the amount of it she may wear at any one time, we have a world of pretty jewelry designed especially for girlish appropriateness.

The prevailing style of low necks and short sleeves gives point to the suggestion of necklaces and bracelets, and their own charm as we show them seems almost to single out the girls they would suit.

The variety of materials makes a similar range of price.

May Festival at Wren's Nest.
May Festival at the Wren's Nest, which has passed into an annual custom, promises to be more beautiful and delightful than ever this year.

Mrs. Brevard Montgomery, who inaugurated it, is in charge, and is busy training and drilling the little boys who are to take part.

There has been great excitement to know who would be queen of the May, and Miss Catherine Vickers is now announced as the little maiden fair who fills the little role.

The children who take leading parts are as follows, and they are earnestly requested to meet at Mrs. Montgomery's Monday next at 2 p. m.

Queen—Catherine Vickers.
Maid of Honor (last May's queen)—Frances Stokes.

Sceptre Bearer—Clifford Smith.
Knights—Newton McEachern, Brevard Montgomery, Thomas Stokes, Warren Pollard, Howard Crumley, Tom Longino.

Maid—Katherine Hackett, Kirby Williamson, Lucile Peice, Margie Curfies, Mary Casselle, Sarah Colcord, Chandler Harris and Leonard Troy.

Will carry the canopy over the queen, and Charles Ward will carry the queen's crown of roses on a white satin pillow.

The Flower Girls—Cynthia Ward, Helen Wesley, LaRoy Wakener, Elizabeth Body, Angel Allen, Ruth Johnson.

Chairman of Comantees.
Mrs. F. S. Cox—Ice, tea and sandwiches.

Mapole No. 3—Mrs. W. M. Jenkins.

Do-as-You-Please Club.
Miss Leth Shannon, Miss Mary Reile Gordon and Miss Nancy Grisham entertained the Do-as-You-Please club at City park in East Point yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The program consisted of three contests taken from nature, viz. the bird contest, seed contest and picnic contest.

After the program a salad course was served.

The guests were Miss Osee Willis, Miss Annie Ricketson, Miss Jettie Egan, Miss Anna Jarrett, Mrs. Catherine Spear, Miss Nettie Lu Bagwell, Miss Fannie May Schell, Miss Anne Lamar, Miss Olive Barnore, Mrs. J. W. McKensie, Miss Sadie Chambers, Miss Kathleen Hudson, Miss Eula Rogers, Miss Edith Belle McMillan, Miss Maude Cobb.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. W. A. Shannon.

To Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
A very pleasant event of Thursday evening was the al fresco party given on the church lawn by the members of the East Point League.

Games were enjoyed after which all repaired to the parsonage and complimented Rev. and Mrs. Frank Hudson with an old-fashioned punch party.

Peabody-Burgess.
Mrs. C. Lebus announces the marriage of her daughter, Minnie Elizabeth Peabody, to Mr. John Grady Burgess, which occurred Monday afternoon, the 8th, at 3 o'clock, in St. Anthony church, West End.

Father Jackson performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess will make their future home in Paducah, Ky.

Woodberry School Notes.
The Georgia Military academy entertained a large party of the Woodberry girls at a dance at camp last week. About thirty attended, chaperoned by Miss Rosa Woodberry, Miss Lucile de Le Johnson and Miss Frances Woodberry.

The lawn fee to be given on next Saturday afternoon will be complimentary to the alumnae. Miss Woodberry will receive assisted by the faculty and the senior class. The lawn will be a scene of merry party. A musical will follow in honor of the alumnae. The first part will be given by some talented members of the school. The second part will be four violin numbers by Miss Margaret de Purucker, of the faculty.

The graduating reception on Monday evening and senior promenade is the great social event of the year. An unusually large class will graduate, lending additional brilliancy to the occasion.

The school was most honored in the awarding of a Daughter of the Confederacy medal to Miss Harriette Broyles, one of this year's popular seniors.

MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS OF HANNA SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

Miss Broyles is a gifted writer and speaker, and has been a prominent worker on the college annual, "Leaves From Peachtree and Pine."

A very beautiful memorial service will be held on Sunday evening next at 6 o'clock, when the Rev. Dr. Pise will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Mrs. Julian de Bruyn Kopp, Miss Phoebe Elliott and Miss Louise Reese, all of Savannah, who have been Miss Rosa Woodberry's guests, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Johnston will arrive to be the guests of their sister, Miss Woodberry, next week.

McKay-Warren.
The wedding of Mrs. Lillian Rosalie Warren of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and Captain James McKay, who is now stationed at Galveston, marine superintendent of army transports, church Saturday at high noon, Rev. Edward Stubblefield officiating.

The church was prettily decorated with palms, potted plants and spring blossoms. The nuptial music was given by Miss Sadie Phillips. Miss Phyllis gave several selections while the guests were assembling, the bridal party entering to the strains of the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony "Call Me This Own" was given, and as a recessional Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played.

Mrs. Phillip Theodore Muller, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Muller was gowned in violet charmeuse crepe. With this was worn a large white picture hat, with black velvet facings ornamented with princess plumes. A bouquet of bride-maids roses and sweet peas was carried.

The bride wore an imported gown of pearl gray crepe charmeuse, with trimmings of duchesse lace. Her hat was fashioned of gray tagel straw, ornamented with delicately shaded gray princess plume and large, pale pink rose. The bouquet carried was fashioned of bride roses, with valley lilies and maiden in shower effect. The bride wore the groom's gift, a diamond brooch.

The groom's best man was his nephew, Mr. James M. Lykes, of this city.

The bride is the daughter of the late POWELMAN Ellis Nimmo and Mrs. Nimmo, of Norfolk, Va., and granddaughter of Captain John Ingraham Nimmo, an officer of the United States navy during the Mexican war in 1848. She is also sister of Lieutenant H. LeRoy Muller, of the Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. A.

Captain McKay is a prominent citizen of Tampa, Fla., and is well known through the state, having served several terms as state senator in the Florida legislature, was United States marshal, southern district of Florida, under President Cleveland, and mayor of Tampa.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Tremont hotel, the personnel of the party being the bride and groom, Mrs. Theodore Muller and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Lykes.

Captain McKay is now stationed at Galveston as marine superintendent of the army transports, and he and his bride will make this city their home during the stay of the troops in Galveston, and will have apartments at the Tremont hotel. Later movements will be at home at Valentine Villa, Atlantic Highlands, N. J.

The bride was accompanied by Texas by her sister, Mrs. Phillip Theodore Muller.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wells, Dr. Wells is a retired physician of Washington, D. C., and Hyattsville, Md.

Mrs. Phillip Theodore Muller, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., mother of Lieutenant H. LeRoy Muller, of the Coast Artillery, U. S. A., is the guest of Captain and Mrs. James McKay at the Tremont hotel.—From Galveston News, May 4.

Mrs. Haden Writes of Big Edition To Atlanta's Organized Women

To the Presidents of the Eighty-Two Women's Organizations in Atlanta: The woman's edition is now ready for the reports from each organization of the city federation. It is the desire of those getting up the magazine to give the city federation a very conspicuous place.

First, they desire the picture of each club president. Won't you help to lessen the work by phoning Mr. McCarty, The Constitution photographer, and make an appointment with him for a sitting for these pictures? The same reports as sent in for the year book will be used unless you desire something else. If so, kindly send in just such matter as you prefer, to me at your very earliest convenience.

Please give some attention at once to this. Ascertain from your club just how many papers each club will take, and be ready to report to central committee Tuesday.

Let us prove the vigor of the organized and federated women of Georgia by the advanced subscription upon which depends the complete and final success of the woman's edition.

Let it be possible that each president can proudly say, "My club has done full duty."

MRS. CHARLES J. HADEN,
President City Federation.

To Mr. and Mrs. Alfriend.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of this week was the kitchen shower given by Miss Mortie Hays at her home on Oakland avenue, to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Alfriend, whose marriage was a recent event.

Pink and white carnations and sweet peas were used to adorn the house, the fragrant blossoms being most gracefully arranged. The color theme of pink and white was carried out in the rooms and refreshments.

Miss Hays was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. A. W. Wilder, and Mrs. Ruth Hays presided at the punch bowl.

One of the features of the evening was progressive heart-dice, the ladies' prize, a hand-painted fan, was the gentleman's, a silver pencil, by Mr. H. L. Parr.

Those invited were Miss Ruth Beam, Miss Mamie Walker, Miss Myra Andrews, Miss Carrie Lee Jernigan, Miss Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilder, Miss Gladys Hays, Miss Blanche Hendrix, Mrs. V. W. Hays, Miss Mattie Ivey, Miss Ethel Lee Rock, Miss Lou Davis, Miss Ruth Hays and Mrs. G. H. Alfriend, Mr. Delma Stanley, Mr. G. H. Alfriend, Mr. Levi Boynton, Mr. Hugh Moss, Mr. H. L. Parr, Mr. Sam Beam, Erbrook, Mr. Earl Wilder and Mr. Paul Beam.

Confederate Tea.
One of the prettiest events of the week will be a confederate tea given by the Julia Jackson auxiliary at Miss Hanna's school, Friday, May 19, from 5 p. m. to 6. A large number of invitations have been sent to young ladies eligible to membership in the auxiliary.

This organization is made up of young ladies from the ages of 14 to 29, and their sole work is to aid the younger division of C. of C. children, and to make their monthly meetings pleasant and profitable.

Many pleasant meetings will be held throughout the year, both in the evening and afternoon, and young gentlemen who so desire may become members of the organization.

Apron Party.
A delightful affair of the past week was an apron party given by Miss Lottie West at her home, 182 McAfee street, Thursday evening, the 8th inst. Miss West wore pink silk mull over satin, trimmed with Rhinestones bands.

Mrs. West wore a white lingerie gown.

The young people enjoyed an hour in games and music before hemming the aprons. The judges were Mesdames Wise, Quinn, Chambers and Bedford. The prizes were awarded by Miss Alys

King and were won by Mr. Bob O'Sheids and Mr. Carl Carlson. The first prize was a beautiful silver coin purse and the booby prize a rubber ball. The prizes in the contest were won by Carl Didschmit and John Bedford, Jr.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred West, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. John Bedford, Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Quinn, Misses Alys King, Vera Johnson, Misses Alys Carroll, Lulu Miller, Georgia Steyon, Ellen Crouley, Louis Bedford, Agnes Johnson, Nell Kenney, Julia Ramey, Lottie West, Clara Johnson, Kathleen and Lucile Quinn, Messrs. Carl Carlson, Paul Jones, Herbert Elder, Gus Nashdrom, Carl Didschmit, Bob O'Sheids, Louis Cleibourn, John Bedford, Jr., Floyd Brown and Horace Farnelley.

Mrs. Springer Entertains.
Mrs. I. Springer entertained at a delightful musical on Thursday evening at her home, 370 South Pryor street, in compliment to Miss Annie Diamond, of Asheville, N. C., who is the guest of Mrs. M. Fordon.

The house was artistically decorated with flowers and ferns. A beautiful musical program was given during the evening by Miss Nettie Newman, Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Fordon.

Delicious refreshments were served after which games were played.

Mrs. Springer was gowned in white charmeuse satin trimmed in lace and Rhinestones.

Birthday Party.
Master C. Hubert Smith, Jr., entertained at a delightful party Wednesday afternoon at his home on Rawson street, in celebration of his sixth birthday. The house was attractively decorated with sweet peas and the centerpiece of the table in the dining room was a birthday cake, surrounded by sweet peas and asparagus ferns, and decorated with rose buds holding pink candles. Pink and white tulle was drawn from the chandelier to the four corners of the table and at each end of the table was a bowl of sweet peas.

The favors for each guest was a little split basket filled with pink and white candies. Those present were: Masters Hubert Smith, Jr., J. Morris Smith, Olin Weaver, Gordon Pulliam, Jr., G. B. Adair, Jr., Francis Irwin, Misses Francis Baugher, Nell Rogers, Annie Adair, Mary Lillian Dean, Rose Mary Honker, Clarice Glass, Mildred Ormond, Miss Beattie Morris, Miss Emma May Laney, Mrs. W. B. Weaver, Mrs. Will Dunn, Mrs. Charles Dean, Mrs. G. B. Adair, Mrs. Frank Irwin, Mrs. C. Hubert Smith, Mrs. Drury Pulliam.

Club Program of Interest.
Too much credit cannot be given to one who works toward the attainment of higher standards in the fine arts. This is what Mrs. William Clara Spiker is doing as chairman of the literary committee of the Atlanta Woman's club.

Monday afternoon will be full of interest for the members of the club. The feature of the business meeting will be the election of officers. The nominating committee consists of Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mrs. F. J. Spradling, Mrs. M. M. Davies, Mrs. Wm. L. Percy.

At 4 o'clock Mrs. Spiker will present Dr. Henry Van Dyke's lovely drama, "The House of Broomfield." This reading will be an ornamental illustration of the genius and glory of a great American writer of today. Such productions as this drama will preserve in our time that ideal which makes the drama a moral regenerator—something to remove us apart from life, purge our souls, and send us back again into the daily round, enriched in experience.

In no other department of art is the relation of art to life so vital as it is in plays.

With natural endowments in literature, Mrs. Spiker is playing a large part in stimulating a knowledge and taste for classic literature.

Woman's Missionary Meeting.
The Woman's Missionary society of the Atlanta district held its regular annual meeting in St. Mark's church Thursday and Friday. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. W. Brogdon.

The first day's session was given to organization and reports from the conference and district officers. The Woman's Missionary conference, which recently convened in Birmingham, was reported by Mrs. W. A. Albright.

There were present at this meeting seventy returned missionaries and deaconesses, who made pleas for more workers and more money to carry on the work.

The noon hour each day was given to the study of the life of Moses by Mrs. T. R. Kandal.

Mrs. D. G. Henderson, the conference organizer, led the devotional Thursday morning.

Social service was the topic for discussion and those participating were Miss Mary Daniel, head resident at the Wesley house, and Miss Claude Muse.

There are thirty-five city mission boards and 112 deaconesses and city missionaries. Four scholarships await those who will avail themselves of the opportunity. "Social Service in the Church" was discussed in an able manner by Mrs. A. H. Spain.

"A Survey of the Home Field" was made by Mrs. McEachern in her clear, concise way. Mrs. Albright spoke on "The Child's Place in the Kingdom of God." Beautiful solos were rendered by Mrs. Paul Key and others.

The ladies of St. Mark's delightfully entertained the delegates. The next district meeting will be held at Druid Hills church.

In The Pines.
The pines back of the Washington seminary form a most convenient picnic grounds. There, on Friday, at request, the freshmen had a "spread." They made this a happy occasion for Miss Scott by presenting her with two climbing roses for the court.

A Happy Occasion.

One of the prettiest parties of the season was that with which the juniors of the Washington seminary complimented the seniors and members of the faculty on Friday afternoon.

The beautiful home of Miss Willie Smith, in Druid Hills, was thrown open for the occasion. Misses Mae Holland, Roberts, Harriet Haynes, Leland Hughlett and Martha Whitner, officers of the junior class, received, assisted by Mrs. Smith.

An orchestra furnished music. The punch bowl, presided over by Miss Estelle Mercer and Miss Marie Shippen, was pretty to look at as the punch was good. The table was massed with sweet peas, while the ice in the bowl was covered with bunches of May cherries.

The great bowl of pink peonies formed a most effective centerpiece for the handsome table in the dining room. The picnic was seen again in the rows and in the mints. In the dining room Misses Marcellus Hollman, Edwina Harper, Theodosia Andrews, Willie Williams and Ruth Hinman looked after the guests.

Delicious refreshments were served.

To Mrs. McClure.
Mrs. William Eugene Cantrell has issued invitations for a reception on Friday afternoon in compliment to her niece, Mrs. J. Doris McClure, a recent bride.

Horton-Blackstone.
Mrs. C. E. Horton announces the engagement of her daughter, Lorine Stiles, to Mr. Lester J. Blackstock, the wedding to take place Saturday, July 6, at home, Colonial Hill. No cards.

You Only Buy A Player Piano Once

Ever stop to consider that the right player piano should satisfy you for a lifetime?

Furniture—some of it—wears out and has to be replaced—but the right player piano never wears out either materially or musically.

But be sure you select the right instrument.

Make sure of all modern improvements—all musical essentials. Take the 1913 Model Apollo as a pattern. That is an instrument that will keep pace with the development of your musical taste—with your artistic desires—it will satisfy your music hunger for all time—develop the artistic taste of your children—make dull evenings pleasant—entertain your visitors and fill to perfection that want you've felt so long.

And it offers absolutely every fundamental of music—every detail necessary to musical and artistic perfection. In its production nothing has been forgotten—nothing overlooked. It accents the melody or omits it altogether playing only the accompaniment or plays the accompaniment alone.

To suit the voice or accompanying instrument, you can readily transpose the composition into any desired key. And with the Apollo Player Piano, music rolls are rewound without pedaling by the wonderful Metronome Motor.

Come in and compare Apollo Music with human music. It is the same because it is produced in the same way and by the same methods.

Exhibition of Pictures.

Exhibition of oil painting and water colors by Mr. Harold H. Osgood is being held at the Cole Book company's for a few days.

These works have been painted in Savannah, St. Augustine and Jacksonville, and comprise examples of delicate and vigorous oil painting effects, in landscape, and striking street scenes.

This exhibition shows a distinct advance in Mr. Osgood's work and the soft atmosphere in color of the southern coast is well rendered.

Mothers' Day.

The board of managers of the "Home for Old Women" earnestly request that today being Mothers Day the mothers of their institution will not be forgotten. Mothers' day was adopted by the board as a suitable day to make a public appeal to the public, and many generously contributed last year to the little boxes placed in hotels, clubs and other public places.

Balance on hand May 1, 1913, $1,283.79. Financial Secretary Mrs. Oscar Ragland reported nineteen names added to membership roll, making a total of 139 members. This has been a busy and interesting year. The home is in a fine condition and the grounds are attractive and afford much pleasure to patients who are able to be carried to the lawn.

It is hoped at some time to have an elevator so that all who are not too ill may enjoy the sunshine and fresh air. A much-needed trunk room is the only addition to the home this year, though many small improvements have been made to make it more attractive and comfortable for the patients.

An a board, hard work has been done to raise funds to meet the increased cost of living and supply enough nurses for helpless patients, and all are much gratified that the pure food shop and cooking school will net about $1,200.

In closing the board wishes to express deep appreciation of the many kindnesses extended in efforts to make money for this work, and gratitude for the added sunshine and cheer that has gone into the lives of the inmates of the home.

This report was made by Mrs. Whiteford Russell, recording secretary.

MRS. R. L. COONEY SOCIETY EDITOR OF WOMAN'S EDITION

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney has accepted the appointment of Mrs. A. P. Coles, city editor, as editor of the society department of the Woman's Edition of The Constitution, which will be published by the Georgia Federation on June 4.

Mrs. Cooney is one of the most popular of the younger society matrons and she will have to assist her in making her page of the edition a success. A group of society belles, who are planning many bright and breezy features. The department will be illustrated by pictures of famed beauties, and no department of the edition will be of more marked interest.

SOCIAL ITEMS.

Her Engagement Announced

MISS MAGNOLIA BOSTWICK. Of Bostwick, whose engagement to Mr. J. Edwin Kerr is announced today, Miss Bostwick has been a frequent visitor to Atlanta, and has made many friends here.

Woman's Danger Period From 45 to 50

This is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form, and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation from hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are all just so many calls from nature for help. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. No other medicine is so universally successful, and so favorably known. It invigorates and strengthens the organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

Interesting Experience of Two Women.

ASHEVILLE, N.C.—"I suffered for years while going through the Change of Life. I tried a local physician for a couple of years without any substantial benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I quit my physician and commenced using it with the happiest results. I am today practically a well woman and anxious to contribute my mite towards inducing others to try your great medicine, as I am fully persuaded that it will cure the ailments from which I suffered if given a fair chance. If you think this letter will contribute anything toward further introducing your medicines to afflicted women who are passing through this trying period, it is with great pleasure I consent to its publication."—Mrs. JULIA A. MOORE, 17 East St., Asheville, N.C.

CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO.—"I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life."—Mrs. ALICE KIRKIN, 358 West Mill Street, Circleville, Ohio.

A HANDSOME REWARD WILL BE GIVEN to any person who will prove that any of our testimonial letters constantly being published in the daily newspapers are not genuine and truthful, or that any of these women were paid in any way to give their testimonials or that the letters were published without their permission or that all the original letters did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

THE LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. W. L. Houser Entertains
Beautiful in every detail was the elegant reception given by Mrs. Lee Houser, at her home on Church street, in Fort Valley, Thursday afternoon, to Mrs. Russell Hollinshead, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Frank Cater, of Perry, Ga.

HARRIS HARWELL PAYNE, JR.
Handsome 22-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Payne, of Madison, Ga., and grandson of Mrs. J. W. Payne, matron of the Terminal station, Atlanta.

The decorations in the dining room were very artistic, carrying out a decorative scheme of rose and silver. Each corner of the room was banked with masses of pink roses and ferns, in graduation. The centerpiece, of the table, was a large mirror, reflecting a silver vase of rose-colored carnations outlined with maiden hair ferns. The rose and white tapers, in silver candlesticks, lent a soft glow to the scene. Misses Janet Westcott, Ruby Harris, Ruth and Hazel Houser, who were charming in dainty white, Marie Brooks, assisted in entertaining.

NATIONAL CONGRESS OF MOTHERS AND PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS GEORGIA BRANCH

DAYS FOR CHILDREN AT PICTURE SHOWS

Movement to This End May Be Started by Georgia Branch.

The Georgia Branch of the Mothers' congress and Parent-Teachers' associations has had in mind for some time a work which it recommends to all the clubs of the state—the establishment of regular children's days at all the moving picture shows, when only such films as have been passed on by a selected committee of prominent men and women will be presented.

About two years ago an effort was made by the congress to accomplish this end, but the effort was not successful at that time, because the moving picture shows did not receive their films far enough in advance to permit their being passed upon by a committee.

Conditions are different now, and the Georgia branch feels certain if there is concerted action by the Parent-Teacher clubs, that one or two children's days a week can be established.

Educational Value of Movies.
The great educational and moral value of the movies is beyond question, but in a promiscuous bill, there are often pictures unsuitable for children. If, from the great mass of films that are sent to each show, only those which are educational, which contain stories, or which are otherwise appropriate for young folk, are given on certain days, the movies would be a great power for good among the children.

Such pictures should be selected by a committee composed of those working for the welfare of the child, so that the parents would feel assured that only "children's" only beneficial films would be presented at the much beloved shows.

PARENT-TEACHER CLUB IDEA GIVEN FRESH IMPETUS

At the recent convention of the Georgia Educational association, held in Atlanta, the Parent-Teacher club idea received a fresh impetus from the enthusiasm and hearty co-operation expressed by the representatives of public schools throughout the state, who were present.

A table of literature from the National Mothers' congress and Parent-Teacher association was arranged in the convention hall, so that those not familiar with the work had an opportunity of informing themselves.

The work of organization will continue in the fall, and many clubs have already arranged their dates with Miss Mary Collins, the state organizer, who will start out again by September 1, forming new clubs.

Beautifying School Grounds.
Now that the summer vacation period is approaching, many of the Parent-Neighborhood clubs are doing active work towards beautifying the school grounds. The Park School, of Brunswick, is doing much of its energy to this work at present, and the members are also trying to develop civic pride among the children, so that they will keep the grounds attractive and well tended in their own yards, the public parks, streets, etc. The members are also trying to develop a spirit of honesty among the children in their home and school work, and are meeting with marked success.

WORK OF GA. BRANCH ATTRACTING ATTENTION

The work of the Georgia branch of the National Mothers' congress and Parent-Teacher associations is attracting attention from neighboring states, and many inquiries are received regarding the state organization. Mrs. James E. Little, state president, has recently received a request from the president of the Mothers' club, of Jacksonville, Fla., asking for literature regarding the forming of a state branch of the National congress in Florida.

It will probably not be long before all the southern states have progressive organizations.

CALHOUN SCHOOL CLUB GETTING FINE RESULTS

Since the organization of the mothers and teachers of Calhoun school into a Parent-Teacher club, the very significance of which is co-operation between the home and the school, there has gradually grown a splendid array of these women which speaks higher ideals and a moral uplift in the community, for we are beginning to understand that both mother and teacher are one in the forward movement for the welfare of the child.

The Parent-Teacher club has been an experiment in this school district, and its year's work is not prolific with great deeds, but that main object, to create "the want of a want," has been accomplished and much enthusiasm aroused.

Through mistakes we have been taught wisdom, and we are planning for a much larger extension of the work for another year.

The need of material improvement was so evident in the past year that our first act was to go before the city fathers and plead for the necessary funds for this much needed work, and before our school opens for the fall session the grounds surrounding our school building will be filled in, graded and made safe and sanitary.

The mothers have listened to lectures by our best physicians on most important subjects, those being delivered in such simple manner as to reach those of every class, and have been helped and inspired.

The story telling has been conducted by our very best story tellers, and only such stories as tend to elevate and ennoble have been told.

AUTOS WORTH $500,000 DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Chicago, May 10.—Three south side garages containing 134 automobiles, were burned yesterday and today with a loss of nearly half million dollars. The fire was caused by explosion of gasoline, and Fire Attorney Murray has ordered an investigation.

Yesterday 55 electric automobiles, valued at $170,000, were destroyed when a garage owned by Robert Bland, on East 41th street, was attacked by fire. Early today flames consumed 28 automobiles valued at $76,000 in the garage of the American Motor Livery company. Several hours later 50 automobiles valued at $200,000, were destroyed, when the Oakland Auto Livery garage on East 39th street was burned.

INSTITUTE FOR STUDY OF THE WHITE PLAGUE

Philadelphia, May 10.—The Phipps institute, a million dollar gift by Henry Phipps, of New York, to the University of Pennsylvania, for the study and prevention of tuberculosis among the poor, was dedicated here today. The institution, one of the best equipped in the world for its special work, is in one of the slum sections. Medical men and sociologists from all parts of the United States, scientists and philanthropists attended the dedicatory exercises. The degree of doctor of law was conferred upon Mr. Phipps.

For House Committees.

Washington, May 10.—First steps toward organization of committees of the house was taken up today by Democratic Leader Underwood, Republican Leader Mann and Progressive Leader Murdock. The number of committee places for progressives is in dispute and as there are not enough progressives in the house to hold places on all the committees, an attempt was made to select the committees on which the progressives will be represented, but no agreement was reached.

THIEVES GET BIG HAUL IN THOMASVILLE STORE

Thomasville, Ga., May 10.—(Special.) Dr. J. H. Jenkins, of this city, is offering a reward for the apprehension of the thieves who entered his store here at an early hour yesterday morning or some time during the night and got away with a lot of jewelry and other articles. Among the things stolen were five watches, six watch chains, fifteen rings, three lockets, several brooches, and jewelry and twelve razors. There was only about $6 in the cash drawer and it was also appropriated.

Dr. Jenkins keeps a drug store and carries a small stock of jewelry along with it. Upon leaving the store at night it is always carefully locked and barred and the entrance made by the thieves was by prizing up the bars to a back window, they left no clue to their identity and the loss of the goods was only discovered after the clerk had opened the store at the usual hour in the morning.

Dr. Jenkins offers $25 reward for the apprehension of the thieves and also a liberal reward for the return of the goods.

ALANSON D. BROWN CLAIMED BY DEATH

San Antonio, Texas, May 10.—Alanson D. Brown, 65 years of age, a millionaire shoe manufacturer of St. Louis, died at 11:30 this morning at the Anthony hotel, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Brown suffered from leucemia, a rare disease, which is incurable. His son, A. C. Brown, of St. Louis, his brother, and his wife were at his bedside when death came. The body will be taken to St. Louis for interment.

May, Paul Glatzer, William Beckran, John Balke, John Halbeck, Peter Kuster, John Kelly, George Getzinger, John Gruber, Henry Hasting, Michael Herman, Louis Gelle, Frederick Jacob, George Young, Thomas Hing, William Schneider, Henry Lebeckentz, Michael Cobia, Phil Dorzenbacher, George Hamel, Henry Gethen, Adam Mellander, John Mathus, Philip Mintzing, George Nuber, Abraham Markley, D. H. Rupe, John Strobel, Sr., Frederick Maltuse, John Kuehner, John R. Switzer, Jacob Fricke, Daniel Cobia, John Hoff, Charles Hansen, Daniel Kaufman, Herman Nuffer, Philip Naser, Jacob Shattings, Beckard, Fred H. Blatter, or Statler, John Phillips, John Leckley, Herman Groning, Fred Nann, Charles Frisch, Fred Rote, Adam Mining, Caspar Erhart, Lawrence Simon, Hy. Grimm.

Organized in 1775.

In May, 1775, Alexander Gillon, Peter Bouquet, Michael Kaitelsen, William Livingston and Gideon Dupont collected together 100 Germans, who at once organized under the name of the German Fusiliers. The place of rendezvous was Meeting street, in front of St. Michael's church. The company was soon armed and equipped, the rules and regulations being adopted on the 12th of July, 1776, and at once entered into active service.

During the years 1776 and 1777 the Fusiliers were constantly in active service around Charleston. In the latter part of 1777, Captain Ginn, the commander of the Fusiliers, resigned, the former to take charge as commander of the vessels of war in the wagon master general of the provincial army of the state.

William Livingston was then elected captain, Gideon Dupont, first lieutenant; Daniel Strobel, second lieutenant, and Jacob Sass, third lieutenant of the company.

In 1779 General Lincoln, of the continental army, having been placed in command of the state troops, made a call for the militia, in response to which the Fusiliers numbered sixty-four privates, with a full complement of officers, non-commissioned officers and musicians, took the field. They bore a prominent part in the disastrous expedition to Fort Royal, at the return of which Captain Livingston resigned his commission, and Major Charles Shepard was elected to fill the vacancy.

The incident of the battle before Savannah are well known. General Lincoln, in concert with his army, left the city, and proceeded to Savannah in the early part of September, 1779.

A month afterwards, on the 9th of October, a general advance was ordered, and the allied forces marched to the assault under a heavy fire.

It was a disastrous attack, and although the troops fought gallantly, the commander found it necessary to order a retreat. Before this, however, the South Carolina troops, under the command of Major Charles Shepard, refused to obey the order of retreat. At his command the Fusiliers continued to advance, marking each step of the way with blood as their brave leader was shot down, when a retreat took place.

In this campaign Lieutenant Joseph Kimmel was also killed, and a number of the members of the company were wounded. The corps immediately reached home under the command of Lieutenants Strobel and Sass.

Again Reorganized.

In 1812, when the second war with Great Britain broke out, the Fusiliers again organized on a war footing and immediately tendered their services to the government. They were, however, not needed, save in the performance of extraordinary guard duty.

During this war the officers were as follows: John Strobel, captain, and Henry Hackett, John H. Margart and John S. Cordelle, lieutenants.

The above appeared in The News and Courier (South Carolina) May 3, 1885.

Mrs. S. H. Adams entertained very delightfully in Covington last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Floyd street the members of the D. A. R. and a few invited guests. The house was effectively decorated in the D. A. R. colors, blue and gold. Handsome palms, ferns, roses and wisteria added to the attractiveness of the rooms, while in the hall a number of bright colors were used. Mrs. Adams rendered piano selections that were very much enjoyed. At the conclusion of the program a delicious salad course with coffee was served. Besides regular members the guests included Mrs. J. M. Wright, Mrs. D. B. Thornton, of Atlanta; Mrs. O. A. Farman Atchon, Mrs. W. D. Travis, Mrs. C. C. King, Mrs. F. E. Heard.

U. D. C. Chapter Reports

Sandersville.

Last Friday was the day selected by the U. D. C. chapter of this city for the observance of Memorial day, in order that the brave men could attend the exercises. The veterans of the war began arriving in Sandersville from different sections of the country Friday morning, and the annual meeting of Camp Warthen, an account of which is published elsewhere, was held at 10 o'clock at the courthouse. After the adjournment of the meeting, the veterans were served an elegant dinner by the city hall, which was attended by sixty or more of the men who fought for southern rights, and their friends who were guests of the occasion. At 2 o'clock the veterans assembled at the courthouse and marched to the school auditorium. After arriving there they formed a group at the entrance of the building and a photograph was taken. Nearly all the veterans are now past 70 years of age and many of them quite feeble. The auditorium was filled with people who had assembled to witness the interesting program which has been a growing tribute to the veterans, which was published in the last issue of this paper. The Sandersville band, under the leadership of Professor T. C. Adamson, furnished splendid music for the occasion, and the songs and addresses which preceded the address were greatly enjoyed by all present. Professor W. E. Reynolds, of Mill-ledgeville, was introduced by one of his former pupils, Colonel M. G. Green, who spoke in the highest terms of the band. The address of Professor Reynolds was historical, many important facts relating to the war between the states were brought forth by a glowing tribute to the veterans. He paid in a most impressive manner to the memory of General Robert E. Lee, the greatest and best loved general that the war produced—a tribute worthy of the greatest hero of American history. After the occasion of the address, the audience was dismissed and many went to the cemetery, where the graves of the veterans were strewn with flowers.

Tennille.

Friday was observed as Memorial day in Tennille, and a large number of the boys of the city marched in a parade to the Baptist church at 11 o'clock and enjoyed a sermon by the pastor, Rev. E. J. Smith. This was in the nature of a parting message to the veterans, as Mr. Smith will leave during the week for Greenwood, Ga. He has accepted the pastorate of one of the churches. At noon the veterans and their wives, the members of the J. D. Franklin chapter, U. D. C., and their families, the Louie K. Rogers chapter, U. D. C., and the teachers of Tennille Institute, the Cordele.

Since Cordele's new postoffice building has been taken out of the hands of the contractor, Ambrose B. Stannard, of New York, by the United States treasury department, because he did not complete it by the time called for in the contract, a meeting of all parties concerned has been called for May 13, for the purpose of taking an estimate of all work done and all material in the building. When this is done it will be determined whether Stannard's bondsmen will be called on to complete the contract, or the building will be completed by the treasury department, the bondsmen to reimburse the government for all expenses incurred in the work.

First School "Prom" Held in Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—The first school "prom" ever held in Fitzgerald was that of Friday evening, when the junior class entertained in honor of the seniors, the other guests being the high school faculty. The entertainment was held at the suburban home of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Cass, the guests being conveyed in automobiles. The rooms were beautifully decorated in the class color of pink and green, pink carnations, the class flower, together with sweet peas, being used. The refreshments also carried out the same colors, the loes being pink. The committee on arrangements were Miss Fay Morris, Miss Clara White and Mr. Eugene Cass. Serving punch were Misses Berlice Rohrer and Fay Morris. Receiving the guests were Misses Sarah King, Dorothy Jones and Eisle Tiedel. Other members of the junior class who assisted in entertaining were Miss Clara White and Miss Lucille Green.

RATTLESNAKE TAKES POSSESSION OF AUTO MUCH EXCITEMENT!

Cordale, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Driven from an automobile and held at bay for thirty minutes by a monster rattlesnake that entwined itself in a wheel of the car was the extraordinary and exciting experience of Colonel W. H. Dorris, Colonel James H. Brown and W. E. Hubbard, a prominent insurance agent, at a late hour Thursday night, while on a trip from Ashburn to Cordale. A punctured tire caused the men to alight from the machine and as the night was very dark Mr. Hubbard did not discover the snake until it struck at him, brushing his coat sleeve as he jumped back terrified. The reptile then crawled off the wheel and settled in its coil, the noise of its rattling leaving the men in doubt of where it had gone. The motor of the machine was still running and this noise combined with the continuous rattling of the snake made the situation more confusing and bewildering to the men, caused them to place a safe distance between themselves and the car. Arming himself with a fence rail, Colonel Dorris returned to the machine and shot the snake, but the rattler, while Colonel Brown struck matches in order that it could be located. As they approached the machine and Colonel Brown held a match under it, the vicious snake, having been shot, fell into the water. It was found at him several times, throwing itself out in the open, and Colonel Dorris then felled several blows on it, ending its existence immediately.

Fitzgerald's Fete Snapped by "Movies"

Fitzgerald, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—The May fete here was the most elaborate of anything of the kind ever held here. There were sixty floats advertising Fitzgerald's business houses besides the societies that took part. The fete was held at the corner of the World and the Woman's Relief Corps were all in line besides the Fitzgerald and Ocella bands, military company and fire department. The procession of school children under the management of Robert E. Lee, principal of the Third Ward school, assisted by the other teachers, was beautiful beyond description. The Car of the May Queen, Miss Athleen Dickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Dickey, attracted much attention. Her attendants, six little girls, made a charming sight. William Frazer, son of Dr. Frazer, was the little prince who crowned the queen. Master Frank Strang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strang, was the little prince. Dornly, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Dornly, acting as pages. The film company was present to take the pictures for the "movies" and the fete will pass into history as something of which a larger city might be proud.

THE SOB ARTISTS.

Only another masterpiece of the sob artists. That is what the tearful 'lamplight funeral' story which last Sunday The Constitution declared to be grossly unjust to Georgia, turns out to be.

The incident grew out of an editorial by Arthur Brisbane, most brilliant of Mr. Hearst's writers, and generally published in that editorial was reproduced an innocent clipping from a Georgia newspaper reporting a funeral in one of Georgia's mill districts at night.

Mr. Brisbane, who is the victim of his information, as told elsewhere. He too, what was told him on good faith, and simply proceeded in turning on the sob pedal, double forte, to follow the melancholy and undesirable tendency of the time.

The Constitution knew none of the facts in the case when it first read the publication in a St. Louis newspaper. We knew instinctively that such amazing inhumanity had not happened, and could not happen, in Georgia.

We made flat declaration to that effect, basing our statement sheerly upon knowledge of the people of this state. Our intuition is justified. Shortly after the editorial appeared information came to us that the incident had occurred near Covington, and had been conveyed by letter to Mr. Brisbane.

We forthwith dispatched Mr. LeCraw, a staff correspondent, to Covington, with instructions to investigate thoroughly and report the truth. His report elsewhere is self-explanatory. A funeral service did occur at night, but at the personal request of the deceased's family, and for reasons entirely different from those assigned.

The deceased had never worked in a mill. At the burial, which occurred the next morning, in broad daylight, many of the operatives of this mill, with whom Mr. Brisbane commiserated because they couldn't get away from their task-masters, were present.

It cost them nothing to be present, either, as the report shows. The report also demonstrates that this Covington mill is conducted upon as high a standard of humanity, kindness and intelligence as any in the United States.

Of course this indictment of Georgia—which has been broadcasted from Boston to San Francisco—will never be quite overtaken by the correction.

part several years. Steadily, the tendency has grown to ignore the great good and to "play up" the small evil in life, to paint black, black, black as if by instinct, forgetting that there is any white at all on the artist's palette.

Wherefore, our newspapers and magazines are drenched with tears, we get 'em at supper, breakfast, dinner, on the stage—anywhere and everywhere that the sob artist can get in his deadly work.

The Constitution protests! Life is full of sunlight and progress. Give us that. Call a halt on the sobs. Cut out the pessimism. Give people credit for intelligence to judge by their intellect instead of their emotions.

COLLEGE BOY JOURNALISTS. Tomorrow more than twenty students from Emory college, headed by Dr. W. F. Melton, in charge of the chair of journalism, will undergo what might be called their final examination in the plant of The Constitution.

Dr. Melton, who is himself a newspaper veteran, realizes the advantages of a test of knowledge under actual working conditions. He asked The Constitution, as representing a type of the modernly equipped and conducted newspaper, to let his class spend one day inspecting the processes incident to the actual making of a great daily newspaper.

The offer was accepted, and, as detailed elsewhere, the boys from Emory, with Dr. Melton in command, will arrive at The Constitution office tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. From that hour throughout the day they will be personally associated with every department of the paper.

THE NEW GETTYSBURG. Senator O'Gorman, of New York, would have the nation present a medal to each federal and confederate survivor of the battle of Gettysburg. That is the purport of a bill he recently introduced in the senate.

The Gettysburg of this century should create traditions as weighty as those of the past century, when the god of battles showed his first decree of union victory and when, later, Lincoln delivered on the battlefield the address that still rings in history.

ATLANTA'S CRISIS.

*Every Atlantan who realizes the penalty visited upon this city by the present plan of trying to force current income to meet the needs of expansion should read, elsewhere, the strong interview with Councilman Albert D. Thomson. Mr. Thomson scores the folly of this city's present fiscal program and announces that he will, at the next regular meeting of council, introduce a resolution preliminary to a municipal bond issue.

It is high time that some committee of broad vision were investigating the advisability of putting to work the city's idle credit. The Constitution has insisted that this course offered the most direct release from the inefficiency and dilapidation that now besets every feature of city government.

We are, as Mr. Thomson says, a city "bursting at the seams." Current revenues should be applied to current needs, in justice to the taxpayer and the city's future. And yet we are attempting the impossibility of making current revenue not only care for current needs, but equally of providing for growth.

From end to end, the city is in need of remodeling, whether as regards uneven streets and insufficient equipment or the ordinary safeguards to health and life. These things need not be Atlanta is one of the richest municipalities for her size in the country. We have a bond borrowing capacity of approximately six million dollars, counting the increase in this year's assessments.

The majority of American cities of Atlanta's importance utilize their credit to the hilt, on the theory that posterity should pay at least a share for improvements that are essentially permanent. And even should Atlanta use its 7 per cent maximum, it would be far under the proportionate bonded indebtedness of the average American city.

The last $2,000,000 bond issue has proved one of the best investments in the city's history. Isn't it wise to debate putting Atlanta on its feet by a further application of the same remedy?

THE OLD GUARD'S INVASION.

Carrying the blended greetings of the old and the new south to their friends of the north, the Old Guard of the Gate City Guard of Atlanta will shortly embark on a peaceful invasion of the north. The Old Guard was organized, or rather revived, just after the notable ceremonies in this city incident to the unveiling of the peace monument.

Gossip Caught in Corridors of the National Capitol.

Washington, May 10.—(Special.)—Whatever side Senator Root, of New York, takes on a public question, he can be depended upon to defend with vigor, logic and impressive argument.

A few days ago he was debating the exemption of farmers and laborers from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law. He opposed it as class legislation, pleaded for the equal enforcement of law and for the equality of all men under the law.

Congress, which makes the laws for the whole people, had a responsibility, he said, not to the farmer or the laborer alone, but to uphold respect for law, reverence for law and confidence in the justice of our country.

While there is no likelihood that any part of the $200,000 carried in the bill for enforcing the law would have been used next year to prosecute any organizations of farmers or in any way oppress the exemption, said it was a dangerous declaration on part of congress in regard to the enforcement of the law.

Never before has there been so much frank discussion of sex problems in the newspapers and in meetings of civic and religious organizations as there is today. The old conspiracy which exempted the lawless and most open discussion.

THOMSON TAKES FIRST STEP TOWARD CITY BOND ISSUE

The first step toward a municipal bond issue sufficient to put Atlanta upon a twentieth century basis of efficiency, the fight for which The Constitution inaugurated, will be taken tomorrow by Councilman Albert D. Thomson, of the fourth ward.

"Atlanta is trying," he said, "to make current income meet the need of expansion. No city of importance depends upon this worn-out method. It is not strange that under it we are bursting at the seams, municipally speaking. A great many people believe, The Constitution among them, that the only business way out is a bond issue sufficient to take care of the demands not only of the moment, but also of the far future, since any sensible business corporation does not stop at providing only for today."

"It will require," he continued, "five or six years to complete the sewage system to which the city is committed if we stick to the present method of financing. That is not all, by any means. We must remember the agitation for new high schools, to take the place of the present ancient equipment. Other schools are also needed by the city which could be used as combination public stations. As it is now, property in the city is positively endangered for lack of adequate protection.

"What would you provide under your resolution?" Mr. Thomson was asked. He replied: "I would like to see a department, which would tell the committee just what is needed not only now, but to protect its future growth. I would also have the seasons of the committee open to citizens generally, so that all influences and agencies in the community looking to advancement could have a hearing. After the committee had collected and discussed the information, it could report to council. We should then have the situation brought to a concrete status, and the people would know exactly how their affairs stand and what is needed to standardize Atlanta."

"Regular Apathy." In this connection Councilman Thomson preached a tabular sermon on the vice of popular apathy and how it militates against municipal efficiency. "To get good and efficient government," he said, "and to get the improvements we all know the city needs, it is imperative that the people be alert to their public affairs. There are not a few of them, some time ago I had reason to consult my constituents, about an improvement. I sent out 110 postcards to as many registered voters. Certainly, one would think that where a man was personally affected, as they all were in this case, that the response would be prompt. As a matter of fact I received 10 returns, or about 10 per cent. And my experience is that of other councilmen. When people realize that their public affairs require as close watching as their private affairs, this and all other cities will have better government."

A Beneficial Revolution. If the people of Atlanta are alive to the opportunity opened by Councilman Thomson it will be possible to institute with little delay the beneficial municipal revolution of which Atlanta is so sadly in need. The crooked and hilly and unkept streets; the insufficient buildings, the below-par sanitary facilities, all and singular of the city's features that cry for twentieth century standardization can be taken up and corrected. The conservative since it looks to a thorough hearing of each phase of the case, both from officials of the city and from citizens generally. There can be no chance for radical measures when a method of this safe nature is followed.

CHRISTMAS IN A PRISON CAMP

By PHILIP WELTNER, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

Last Christmas day the prison association arranged with the churches in every county seat to have both ministers and laymen visit the convict camps in their counties. Rev. W. S. Branham, of Zebulon, with several of his men, went out to the Pike county camp, bearing gifts and bringing words of cheer and heartening.

It was a great day for the men in stripes. They were made to feel that, though in prison, they were not forsaken. Their gloom was dispelled in the consciousness that there still were those who cared. The silent brooding of the slow-going hours was banished by a new hope and a new trust. It was worth more than the trifling gifts, which, after all, only emphasized the sincerity of those who brought the Christmas message.

The hour of song and prayer soon ended. The new friends prepared to go but found the door barred. They called through the grating to the guard to let them out. His reply was a curse and a sneering laugh. The "damn fools" could stay there. Finally one of the party, who had remained on the outside during the services, after a fight with the guard, took an ax and, breaking open the door, forced a way out for his friends.

Such was the treatment accorded the servants of the Most High. In the sight of this prison guard anyone who fell drawn toward fallen humanity was a "damn fool." He never could understand the worth of human sympathy in lifting men above low standards. "Forgive them, for they know not what they do," might well be repeated for this man whom Georgia placed over the lives of her convicts. Such men as this guard fall to see that brutality in turn brutalizes, and that hatred is the shortest path to self-destruction.

As long as Georgia retains the present county system of working convicts, as long as one hundred and twenty counties maintain separate establishments for working and controlling the prisoners of the state, just so long will continue to jeopardize the lives of the man in stripes by putting them under men, some of whom are no whit better than the prisoners they control. What will these in authority have to say when judged by this measure? "As ye have done by the least of these, my brethren, so will I do by you."

CHICKENPOX

A Bulletin issued by the Georgia State Board of Health.

Although chickenpox is regarded as one of the natural ailments incident to childhood, recent statistics from various sections of the Georgia state board of health, why parents should exercise all the care that would be taken with a more dangerous epidemic disease.

In the first place, while chickenpox, when properly treated, leaves no permanent disfigurement, a serious attack, if not promptly admitted to become severe, it may leave scars or pock marks similar to the pits that come from smallpox. All that is usually necessary to prevent the scars is proper medical attention and the exercise of care to prevent the patient from scratching the eruptions.

Another reason why chickenpox cases should be given careful attention is the fact that while severe illness, or death, seldom if ever occurs in an unaccompanied case, it is always a possibility of complications that might lead to serious results. Complications are rare, but when they do occur they consist usually of pneumonia, erysipelas and inflammation of the kidneys (nephritis). Not infrequently chickenpox is complicated by such other conditions as measles, however, is more of a coincidence than a true complication.

Another reason for exercising special care in chickenpox cases, and it is the most important reason of all from the standpoint of community welfare, is the fact that the disease is highly contagious, and when the children of a family, or a school or a neighborhood, have been once exposed to it, scarcely any individual who has not had the disease escapes contagion. The disease is usually communicated in the ordinary intercourse of children in the family, the school or the playgrounds. While grown people are not entirely immune, it is usually confined to children. The poison is eliminated not only from the surface of the body, and the crusts broken from the eruption, it can enter the body by way of the respiratory passages. Direct contact, therefore, is not necessary, the infection being communicated to nearby persons by the air; it can also be carried more remotely by persons who do not contract the disease themselves, but who transmit it to persons who are more susceptible.

The importance of isolation and sanitary precautions, in the light of the disease's highly contagious nature, becomes immediately manifest. Isolation should be practiced, and the quarantine should be prolonged until the last crusts are thrown off. Disinfection of the person, clothing and apartment is desirable to minimize the danger of spreading the disease by means of linens, and the treatment of the disease, should be carried out under the direction of a physician.

Easy to Diagnose. Chickenpox is ordinarily an easy disease to diagnose. It develops from ten to sixteen days after exposure. The first indication is usually the appearance of small, bright red spots, which rapidly develop into water blisters called vesicles. They vary in size, the largest being about the diameter of a split pea. These vesicles are on the surface of the skin and do not go deep. Usually there is no suppuration or pus. The vesicles soon burst and the fluid they contain dries up after the fluid in them becomes opaque. In addition to slight feverishness there may be loss of appetite, aching feeling and catarrhal inflammation. The duration of the attack is variable. Three or four weeks is usually the extreme limit, before the scabs from the eruption of the vesicles do not occur. Immunity from future attacks is practically permanent.

But it must be understood that chickenpox has no relation whatever to smallpox, and the fact that a patient has had one of them, before or after, does not make the medical name of chickenpox variable. It was once regarded as a greatly modified and mild form of smallpox, but it is now known as an entirely distinct disease. One of these diseases never gives rise to the other. The attack of one confers no immunity against the other. Vaccination affords no protection against chickenpox, and children who have recently suffered from chickenpox react to vaccination in the ordinary manner.

How Can Congress Refuse?

COVINGTON COTTON MILL WORKERS; A PICTURE OF LIFE IN GEORGIA!

By J. Walter LeGraw.
Covington, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)
The editorial in last Sunday's Constitution, "Imposing Upon Mr. Brisbane," has at least set one community in Georgia agog. That community is the historic old town of Covington, whose citizenship numbers many of the oldest families of the state, and whose pride has long been centered in the healthful and happy conditions of life existing here.

Right now the people of this section are in arms over the undisciplined criticism suffered by the Covington cotton mills as the result of a number of newspaper stories appearing over the country about "lamp-light funerals" in Georgia. The articles were based on an incident which happened in Covington, in which a supposed young woman mill worker was declared to have been buried by lamplight because her co-workers from the mill were denied the opportunity of attending a funeral during the daylight. The Covington News simply has a reference to a night mill district funeral service—and the sob artist did the rest.

The people of Covington are emphatic in their announcement to the world today of the following facts, to refute the stories of a "lamp-light funeral" custom in this section:

First, there has never been a burial by night in Covington.

Second, there has never even been a funeral service by night of a worker in the cotton mills in the factory.

Third, the mill settlement is healthful and pretty, and the workers have plenty of daylight in which to tend their gardens—or bury their dead.

Fourth, the young woman whose funeral service by night caused the articles was not a worker in the factory.

Fifth, her funeral service was held at night because of the personal desires of the family, and not for the reasons given—that the mill owners were to erect the tomb for their co-workers off to bury their dead by day.

Sixth, when she was buried, the next morning at 10 o'clock, there were scores of the mill workers present.

Seventh, in refuting the charges, the facts are described to by the mayor of the town, George Smith; the editor of The Covington News, L. L. Flowers; the minister who performed the funeral service at night, Rev. W. M. Callahan; the president of the Covington cotton mill, J. S. Turner; and scores of other citizens of Covington, as well as workers in the mill. The evidence of the town unanimously acquits the mill authorities of the charges of unreasonableness and inhuman treatment of employees, and proves for the whole world the conditions of life in the settlement around the mills are as constructive and uplifting as it is possible to be in a naturally hard-working factory community.

It is recalled that The Constitution, at last Sunday, which has in general interest through this section, caused the above statement from the people of Covington, was written in answer to an article by Arthur Brisbane in the Hearst newspaper. Accompanied by a drawing supposed to represent the "lamp-light funeral in Georgia," this article was given wide circulation over the country in the Hearst papers, scattering a mistaken impression of Georgia and her factory conditions.

Mr. Brisbane, on what he, no doubt, believed to be authentic information, but which in reality was exaggerated and misleading, accused the mill owners in Georgia of such heinous crimes as to have no time to bury their dead except at night. He quoted from an article in The Covington News, telling how a young woman died of tuberculosis, and how her funeral service was held at night.

"This is an actual picture of conditions as they are in this country," wrote Mr. Brisbane in the editorial. "Run your mills early and late; take your women and children and their up in your mills. Work them into consumption so that they die at 24. And then bury them by lamplight, because the friends that would like to attend the funeral have no daylight to spare."

The Constitution's answer, in its editorial reply, The Constitution at once took the position, without criticizing Mr. Brisbane, who had been imposed upon, that the information on which the article had been founded was false. Without knowing the details of the actual occurrence on which the attack was based, The Constitution was, nevertheless, absolutely sure that no such condition could be existing in the mills of Georgia, and therefore it was sure that Mr. Brisbane had been imposed upon by misleading information.

It would not have deemed the incident worthy of notice had it not been just Mr. Brisbane who had been imposed upon, and read the Constitution's editorial. He is abundantly qualified to take care of himself. But such as surd stories hurt the state and the country, and we protest against Mr. Brisbane's conclusion that an incident of this kind is a picture of life in Georgia—life in America! The harm where the harm comes in. Nothing like this exists in Georgia at least."

This assertion of The Constitution's was based alone upon intuition and general knowledge of conditions, for the Brisbane article did not say what town the "supposed" funeral service in, nor name the newspaper quoted. It was not until several days after the publication of this editorial answer that information was received that the incident referred to had happened at Covington, Ga. and that a later had, accordingly, been sent to Mr. Brisbane about it.

Accordingly, I was sent to Covington by The Constitution at once, with instructions to get the whole story of the night funeral service together with a description of the actual conditions in the mill settlement of this place. What I found was a revelation in the way of handling the industrial problem of the cotton mill in a sane and twentieth-century manner. I found here nothing of the inhuman cruelty of mill owners as pictured in the articles that had caused the investigation, and no sign of the custom of "lamp-light funerals" so lamented by those who had written upon hearsay evidence.

Never a Burial by Lamplight.

There was a funeral—that is, a quiet funeral service—held here at Covington at night. It occurred over the remains of Miss Pearl Reeves, a young woman of 24 years, who belonged to a family of former cotton mill workers in the Covington mills. The facts in the case were told simply and straightforwardly by everybody questioned, all being anxious to assist in exonerating the community from the unfounded charge of heinous crime.

"It's this way," explained the aged minister, called affectionately "Brother Callahan" by the settlement, who conducted the funeral services of Miss Reeves.

"You see, the family of the young woman, who were, at the time of her death, getting ready to move away from town, wanted the funeral service as quiet as possible, and it was at their special request that I held the service at night. There were very few folks there that night, but the next morning at 10 o'clock, when she was buried in the cemetery, there at least several hundred people present, and a lot of them were from the mill because they wanted to be there."

In the cotton mill the workers have an arrangement by which they may work a certain number of hours every week if they desire, six or eight hours the maximum, and as no special hour is obligatory, they can always get off for occasions such as this.

Community Gathers for Picnic.

It is reported that Saturday of this week is the date set for the annual picnic given by the Covington cotton mills, the second Saturday in May of every year. And so there are over 600 people, including the mill workers and their friends and families, who are gathered for a merry picnic dinner and a program of all-day singing in a beautiful grove here at Covington on Saturday.

Welcome, indeed, is this variation from the routine life of the mill, for this day every year the enormous factory closes down, as it likewise does on the other big festival occasions—the Fourth of July and Christmas. For the past three summers a special train has been secured by the mill authorities to take the entire community to Stone Mountain for the May picnic, but they all decided this year they would rather stay at home for the picnic.

When the whistle blew Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, and several hundred people came out from their honest day's toil into the evening sunshine, peculiar joy lit up their faces. Two whole days of vacation awaited them—Saturday and Sunday—before they go back to work with rested bodies and re-freshed souls on Monday morning.

An Hour Before the Sunset.

And so it was with a spirit of gaiety that they began to climb the hill that leads from the factory to the mill settlement on this glad Friday afternoon. The residence district cov is a wide area of about 80 acres of high ground near the factory, and there's plenty of room all around the pretty little homes for scores of green gardens and blossoming flower beds. At this season of the year, with the honeysuckle in full bloom and the roses just opening up in glory, the entire little mill city bears the fragrance of a paradise.

For more than an hour before sunset this interesting group of people from the world's cotton factories gathered and chatted with each other in their settlement, or worked on their little plots of ground. True it is, the mill life is not among the world's most joyous occupations, and the tiring kind of its daily work tends to lessen the appreciation of the pleasures of life. But also it is true that there are little joys and constructive influences at work in a healthy, country mill settlement like this, and these things gradually toward uplifting the lives of those who here live and toil.

As the twilight began to gather on this evening in May, practically every one in the settlement seemed to be out in the open. The air was still; no city's grind or smoke was there to mar the sacred calm that breathed around. While the older people stood and chatted in groups, the children of the settlement played on the lawn and tossed their balls. Over there a happy youngster rolled from pure delight with his frisking dog companion on the grass.

On all sides lay the beautiful old red hills of Georgia, dotted with green streaks, where the ground already has begun to yield its plenty. God's own fresh country air, wafting across the hills to this little settlement, brought health and vitality to the lungs of these sons and daughters of toil, so fortunate as to live in the sunny southland.

This is a picture of life in Georgia! Not once, but a score of times, is this picture of a prosperous and healthful mill community life repeated in different sections of the state. A large proportion of Georgia's factories are located in the smaller cities and towns, where the people have been working hard for their daily bread, just as the people of the cities, it is true, but where there's plenty of room for everybody to spread out and live in comfortable homes, and time enough to spare to enjoy the beauties of life and nature.

The Preacher and His Flock.

Listen a moment as the nightfall begins to gather over the settlement on this evening in May. A small group of men are standing in front of one of the vine-clad cottages, in low conversation. An aged preacher, with a young man companion, climbs the hill and approaches them.

"Well, Brother Callahan, how's the services today?" asks a middle-aged man in the group.

"Oh, well, enough," answers the preacher. "Fine evening, isn't it?"

"Just glorious," cuts in one of the settlement housewives, strolling up to the group. "Take a look at that moon over yonder where the folks are still working. Ain't it pretty enough for heaven?"

"What's this I hear, Brother Callahan, about the big newspapers up north talking about our funerals, and saying we bury all our folks at night?" asks an older, serious-looking man, turning to the preacher.

"That's what they say about us, just exactly," answers the preacher slowly.

"Tell us, Brother Callahan, just what it comes to, for you ought to know all about it."

And in the twilight the aged preacher, who does indeed know all about it, for he was the one who conducted the much-talked-of funeral by night, addresses thus his flock:

The Even Taster of Their Way.

"Well, you see somebody wrote to a big editor in New York and told him we was having funerals at night down here because the folks couldn't go in the day time. He said that we all had to work so long and so hard down here in Georgia that we died of before 30, and as the mill had to keep running still day and night, we had to wait till night to bury us. Well, if they could take a look at this healthy looking bunch of old ones, and see everybody come out of the mill with plenty of laugh in them as they go before sunset, maybe they'd change their minds."

"Anyhow, we're getting along well enough to stay content. And there ain't much use in bothering about talk that's so far away, I guess, as long as the folks close to home stand by us. And when a Georgia paper sends a man from Atlanta just to get up an article here among us, telling the whole gospel truth about that night funeral talk, why that's a pretty good sign, we haven't lost all our friends. I want this paper to tell the world just what the sees—just how we live, and just how we bury our dead at 10 o'clock in the morning with all the friends of the dead at the grave. I want them to see that the folks here in this settlement are far happier and healthier and far better off in every way than the thousands of folks stuffed in the factory districts of the big cities. If my little settlement here I'd send a message to every tired, overworked and down-trodden toiler of the grinding city to come to the free, open air of God's own country—and to come to Georgia to find it."

The Chinese Republic association of Atlanta has written a letter to President Woodrow Wilson, thanking him for having recognized the Republic of China. The letter has been mailed and it bears the signatures of the association and of Lum Joe, the Atlanta "diplomatic representative."

Lum Joe is the manager of the Chinese Republic association, which has headquarters at 69 East Hunter street, and one has but to talk to him a few minutes to ascertain that he is a regular diplomat when he talks of his work. Diplomat Lum Joe furnished The Constitution with a copy of the association's letter to President Wilson and announced that The Constitution was the only paper that was interested with the paper, as it was the leading newspaper in this part of the country.

The letter as written on a letter-head embellished with two colored flags of the Chinese republic and the name of the association in both American and Chinese letters.

The letter was as follows:

Atlanta, Ga., May 9, 1912.

To the Honorable Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: The Chinese Republic association of Atlanta, Ga., desire to express to you their most grateful appreciation of your official recognition of the Republic of China.

We take great pride in the fact that the United States was the first great nation of the world to take this step, and ardently hope that the new government of China will be modeled after this great republic.

Respectfully yours,

CHINESE REPUBLIC ASSOCIATION OF ATLANTA.

By Lum Joe, Diplomatic Representative.

The Month of May.

(From the New York American.)

The astral promises for May are rather gratifying than otherwise, with Mercury and Venus in the Oriental quarter, and the conjoined lunaries supported by Jupiter. The new moon on the 6th is a solar eclipse, and occurring in this point of Taurus, according to Ptolemy, will affect crops faring along in the year, especially corn and wheat, including its barrenness and scarcity by reason of drought.

International amity is promised, and a generally tranquil sentiment in diplomatic circles, but the illness of a cabinet minister is threatened. A brisk influence permeates the public mind, with prevailing optimism, despite a railroad strike. May fetes and marked social activity are foreshown by the position of Venus.

Mars afflicts hospitals, charitable institutions and places of detention. Some of the incidents foreshadowed are as follows:

May 2—Danger to a public building; a social announcement attracts attention; pleasant developments in speculative markets.

May 4—Illness of a prominent financier. Disturbances in public gatherings.

May 8—A diplomatic transaction satisfactorily consummated. Money centers are benefited at this time, and some sort of a market factor must be special approval financial and postal legislation accomplished.

May 12—Much excitement in congress and eastern legislatures. A temporary crisis in the cabinet, and not unlikely the resignation of a minister. The 18th similar, with probable illness in the president's official family.

May 17—A public social, function. Army appropriations due at this time; legislative activity.

May 21—A financial crisis. Money centers disturbed. Some peculiar suicides between this and the 23rd, with incendiarism rampant.

May 29—Probable death of a church dignitary, as well as one prominent in literary or scientific circles. The sun, in conjunction with Saturn, on this day brings a critical financial situation, and building casualties may be looked for.

The market presents a conflicting outlook. Reform legislation and tariff tinkering will affect sentiment, and, while up to about the 18th is normally bullish, the steel horoscope is sadly afflicted in this period, and advance in the general list must be noted. The first eight days bring advances, particularly around the 1st, 5th and 7-8th; market sags at the close on the 7th, with pronounced recovery on the 8th, the 11th, and 12th, and the latter Manipulation and professionalism much in evidence on the 15-16th. Copper advances between the 15th and 17th. The 19-20th rather depressed, with renewed confidence on the 21st, bringing a steady advance in the general list. The 22d, reactionary and very fluctuating between then and the 23rd, with materially lower points on the 23rd. Wide ranges on the 31st. Saturn has now entered the 11th, the ruling sign of the United States, significant of marked depreciation in speculative values in the year ahead. His last transit of this sign brought the Grand-Ward failure.

Jupiter's application of the lunaries to Jupiter presages fine weather up to about the 18th, very seasonable for crops, with occasional rains, but with a germinative atmosphere and temperature.

Jupiter will prove a benevolent factor this month in the lives of those born near the 8-10th of January, March, May, September or November of any year. Good health, fortunate prospects and favors may be looked for, and advancement of interests confidently sought; the 4th, 8th, 14th, 10th, 23d, 24th and 25th are fortunate days for them.

Not so optimistic for those born in the last week of February, May, August or November. The ruling sign Saturn will bear heavily upon their efforts, affecting health, material interests, cause mental depression, and bring obstruction and duplicity into the surroundings. Our secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this transit the 7th, 14th, 20th and the 27th to 28th are tedious days for them to be especially noted.

Those born in the third week of April will receive presents and the kind of the former in the latter measure if born in the third week of February, June or December.

Erratic and reactionary influences affect those born near the 28-29th of January, April or immediate close of July and October; changes of fortunes and investments must be avoided, and the affectional and domestic interests if of the fair sex.

The first eight days as natal anniversaries promise a pleasant year ahead; however, the 17th, 21st, 22d and 27th to 29th present worries and difficulties; those born on the 27th or 28th may expect bereavement.

The Departed Friend.

Though he that ever kind and true kept stoutly step by step with you, Your who long, gusty lifetime through.

Be gone a while before— Yet now a moment gone before, Yet doubt not; anon the seasons shall restore Your friend to you.

He has but turned a corner—still He pushes on with right good will Through mire and marsh, by heugh and hill.

That self-same arduous way— That you and he through many a doubtful day Attempted still.

He is not dead, this friend—not dead. But in the path we mortals tread Got some few, thinking stops ahead And nearer to the end.

So that you, too, once past the bend, Shall meet again, as face to face, this friend You fancy dead.

Push gayly on, strong heart; the while You travel forward, mile by mile. He loiters with a backward smile Till you can overtake, And strains his eyes to search his wake.

Or, whistling, as he sees you through the brake, Waits on a stile.

China's Appeal for Prayer.

From The London Times.)

The Chinese cabinet has issued an appeal for the prayers of Christians for the national assembly and the newly established government. A Chinese official, discussing the notification, said:

"The majority of intellectual Chinese incline today toward Christianity or free thought. Many members of the newly elected national assembly, both in the senate and the house of representatives, are Christians and there is every indication that Christianity will spread still more rapidly when the new government has its educational and social projects in working order."

The non-Christian Chinese official takes the same view as the Roman pro-consul that such prayers can do no harm and may do good, in addition to securing the support of a powerful section of the people. But the conviction is gaining ground that if Christianity is to become a vital factor in Chinese national life, it must be free from foreign control, for it has always been against the Christian as a foreigner, and not as the upholder of a new creed, that Chinese resentment has been shown in the past. There is a vigorous movement on foot for the foundation of a Chinese free church, Protestant in character and free from the control of European bishops and missionaries. The minister of foreign affairs and the present minister in Berlin are both supporters of this movement, which is gaining ground steadily.

WOMAN'S MAGAZINE HAS STORY ABOUT MRS. COLE

One of the most attractive features of the initial number of the Southern Woman's Magazine, published at Nashville, is a picture of Mrs. E. W. Cole, accompanied by an interesting article on her life and work. Mrs. Cole was in Atlanta during grand opera and the Sociological convention, and attractions of April, and is now visiting her old home in Augusta, where she went to be at the unveiling of the monument to Lanier, Ryan, Hayne and Randall, her gift to the city of Augusta.

Church for Manchester.

Manchester, Ga., May 10.—(Special.) Contract has been awarded to J. P. Corley Lumber company, of Manchester, for construction of the new Methodist church, to be erected on the site at the corner of Second street and Second avenue, donated by the Manchester Development company. The structure will be of attractive modern design and will add greatly to the appearance of this section of the city. It is expected that the building will be completed within four months, and the pastor, Rev. W. A. Harris, and his co-workers are planning to make of its dedication a notable event.

Fire Company Quits.

Nashville, Tenn., May 10.—The Western and Atlantic Fire Insurance company, which began business here about three years ago, and which became involved in litigation recently, went out of business today through negotiation between the company and the state insurance department, according to the department's announcement. The company's business is taken over by the Globe and Rutgers Fire Insurance company, and the latter assuming all the risks and unearned premiums for a consideration of $30,000. The Western and Atlantic had in its books unearned premiums of about $50,000.

To Invite the G. A. R.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 10.—The committee appointed to consider the matter of inviting the Grand Army of the Republic to hold its annual encampment here September 15, 16, 17, this afternoon decided unanimously to send the formal invitation. The letter will be forwarded to General Albert B. Beers, of Bridgeport, Conn., commander-in-chief, tonight.

The Alabama Bankers.

Panama City, Fla., May 10.—Delegates to the convention of the Alabama Bankers' association, here on their annual outing, today elected Michael Cody, of Montgomery, president; G. L. Comer, of Eufaula, vice president, and re-elected McLean Tilton, of Tall City, secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Decatur. The visitors returned this afternoon to Dothan, where the convention has been in session.

Suckers Are Biting.

Lyerly, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—Beautiful weather will not permit folks to sit up and not enjoy the sport of fishing, especially when the suckers bite well. The almonds of this section have been putting in good time on the river banks for the past several days and many lengthy fish tales have floated into town. Several reports nice catches, while some are less fortunate.

Carload of Berries.

Lyerly, Ga., May 10.—(Special.)—The first good carload of strawberries were shipped from this section this week. There is a scarcity of the berries in this vicinity.

The Month of May.

(From the New York American.)

The astral promises for May are rather gratifying than otherwise, with Mercury and Venus in the Oriental quarter, and the conjoined lunaries supported by Jupiter. The new moon on the 6th is a solar eclipse, and occurring in this point of Taurus, according to Ptolemy, will affect crops faring along in the year, especially corn and wheat, including its barrenness and scarcity by reason of drought.

International amity is promised, and a generally tranquil sentiment in diplomatic circles, but the illness of a cabinet minister is threatened. A brisk influence permeates the public mind, with prevailing optimism, despite a railroad strike. May fetes and marked social activity are foreshown by the position of Venus.

Mars afflicts hospitals, charitable institutions and places of detention. Some of the incidents foreshadowed are as follows:

May 2—Danger to a public building; a social announcement attracts attention; pleasant developments in speculative markets.

May 4—Illness of a prominent financier. Disturbances in public gatherings.

May 8—A diplomatic transaction satisfactorily consummated. Money centers are benefited at this time, and some sort of a market factor must be special approval financial and postal legislation accomplished.

May 12—Much excitement in congress and eastern legislatures. A temporary crisis in the cabinet, and not unlikely the resignation of a minister. The 18th similar, with probable illness in the president's official family.

May 17—A public social, function. Army appropriations due at this time; legislative activity.

May 21—A financial crisis. Money centers disturbed. Some peculiar suicides between this and the 23rd, with incendiarism rampant.

May 29—Probable death of a church dignitary, as well as one prominent in literary or scientific circles. The sun, in conjunction with Saturn, on this day brings a critical financial situation, and building casualties may be looked for.

The market presents a conflicting outlook. Reform legislation and tariff tinkering will affect sentiment, and, while up to about the 18th is normally bullish, the steel horoscope is sadly afflicted in this period, and advance in the general list must be noted. The first eight days bring advances, particularly around the 1st, 5th and 7-8th; market sags at the close on the 7th, with pronounced recovery on the 8th, the 11th, and 12th, and the latter Manipulation and professionalism much in evidence on the 15-16th. ITS HIGH STANDARD OF CITIZENSHIP

One progressive, public-spirited citizen can be worth more to a town than a hundred of the other sort.

Manchester's superior natural and special advantages have attracted a large number of the best type of citizens from other sections. It is an exemplification of the pioneer spirit.

There are but few wealthy people in Manchester, but a plenty of "live wires," of moderate means now, who are steadily forging ahead in their respective pursuits. Everybody is busy. Nobody seems to have time for playing checkers or ring-marbles, or conducting debating societies during business hours.

There is a snappy, bustling, quick-step pace to things that pleases and attracts the thrifty, the energetic.

Manchester's superb citizenship has within five years transformed its hills and valleys into a beautiful, thriving city, where law and order are pre-eminent, where nearly everybody owns his home, where graft is unknown; and there abounds a civic spirit of the kind that has built great cities like Des Moines, Rochester, Atlanta, and others.

If you want to cast your lot with a bunch of "live ones," Manchester is the place for you. Write for information today. Address

BOOK REVIEWS IN TABLOID

Revealed by Fire. By G. W. MILLICAN. Mr. G. W. Millican, the author of this very interesting book, is now a resident of Atlanta, having moved here from Tennessee, where the plot of this story is laid. It is dedicated to those who hold character above fame and wealth. Mr. Millican says that the title of the book, "Revealed by Fire," was suggested to him by a sermon he heard on that subject showing how characters are developed and revealed by great events, the purifying fires, through which we pass, and when the fire at Jacksonville occurred he decided to write this book, which has been taking form in his mind for many months, thinking that some lessons might be drawn from that great calamity. The Associated Press furnished him with the account of the fire.

G. W. MILLICAN, Author of "Revealed by Fire."

The charm of the story is the easy straightforward style the author uses in picturing human people and diving into the mysteries so realistic that we are again convinced that "truth is stranger than fiction." Carl Kendall and Maud Gregory are real characters, but assumed names, and true story of their son, Chester Dene, through whose many hardships was revealed his noble manhood, is well worth reading. The story is full of unexpected developments in the old and ever new war, Love v. Money, which continues to interest humanity and is always the central figure around which the world of fiction weaves its most interesting experience. (Publishers, Broadway Publishing company, New York city.)

Additional Broadhurst, Master Merchant. The intimate history of a man who came up from failure. By Edward Mott Woolley. This is not a story of business success so much as a revelation of the man who was strong enough to win in spite of many failures and false starts. From a country boy to the head of a large department store is the life of Broadhurst, and Mr. Woolley has given his readers many interesting and practical experiences in such an everyday life. (Doubleday, Page & Co., Garden City, N. Y.)

The Fringe of the Desert. By R. S. MacNamara. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.)

Wallington in His Prime. By George Randolph Chester, author of "Young Wallington," etc. Mr. Chester, in his usual bright and humorous of the Indian mutiny. (Cassell & Co., New York.)

The Science of Men. By H. F. Prevost. (The Bodley Head, New York.)
The Upper Crust. By Charles Sherman, author of "He Comes Up Smiling." Illustrations by Arthur William Brown.
The Captain. By Virginia Lucas. A very sweet little story. (Publisher, Helen Norwood Halsey, New York.)
Mr. Hobby. A cheerful romance. By Harold Kellock. Illustrations by George C. Harper. Mr. Kellock says, "Mr. Hobby is for everybody who loves a love story." (The Century company, New York.)
Outside the Ark. By Adelaide Holt, author of "The Valley of Regret."
The Street of the Mute Player. By H. de Vere Stacpoole. A romance. Year: "The year of the first production of 'The Frogs.'" Time: "The grape harvest." (Publishers, Duffield & Co., New York.)
The Olympian. By James Oppenheim. A very interesting fairy tale where the drudge becomes an Olympian. (Harper & Brothers, New York.)
The Port of Adventure. By C. N. and A. M. Williamson. A beautiful tale of California with the old mission fields for an attractive setting. (Doubleday, Page & Co., New York.)
Holton of the Navy. By Lawrence Perry. An interesting story of the Spanish-American war, and the story as told by Mr. Perry shows a thorough knowledge of the naval and other historical conditions of the war's events. (A. C. McClurg & Co., Chicago.)
The Moth. By William Dana Orcutt, author of "The Lever and the Spell."
BOOKS OF HISTORIC INTEREST.
The Story of the Civil War. A concise account of the war in the United States of America between 1861 and 1865, in continuation of the story of John Codman Hooper. By William Roscoe Livermore, colonel United States army, and member of the Massachusetts Historical society, etc. With maps and plans. Part I, narrative of events to the opening of campaigns of 1862. Part II, the campaign of 1862. Part III, the campaigns of 1863 to July 10, together with operations on the Mississippi from April, 1862, in two volumes with about 70 maps and plans. These volumes are said not only to be one of the most complete, but comprehensive and interesting account of the civil war. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York and London.)
The Efficient Age. By Herbert Kaufman, author of "Do Somethings." A very thoughtful and instructive book for boys and young men just starting out in the business world. "A book which takes you by the arm and compels you to confess your purposes in

The Government of Europe. By Frédéric Anstie Ogg, Ph.D., Author of "Frogs in Company."
Europe. A very interesting and instructive volume including descriptions of the governments of the minor as well as of the major nations of western and central Europe. "In the case of countries whose political system underwent a general reconstruction during the revolutionary and Napoleonic era it has been thought not wise to allude, even briefly, to historical developments prior to the eighteenth century, but it has been considered desirable to include in the book some treatment of political parties and of the institutions of local administration," says Mr. Ogg. (Publishers, The MacMillan Co., New York.)
The International Year Book. A compendium of the world's progress for the year 1912. Editor Frank Moore Colby, M. A. Associate Editor Allen Leon Churchill. Two volumes. This new Year Book differs in scope from other annual publications. It is intended to be an encyclopedia of the year of 1912. Among special subjects of interest are "the presidential campaign," "the Titanic disaster," "the Balkan war," "Panama canal," etc. (Dodd, Mead & Co., New York.)
Man and His Future. The Anglo-Saxon; his part and his place. By Lieutenant Colonel W. Sedgewick. A. (Dodd, Mead & Co., Philadelphia.)
The Vital and Victorious Faith of Christ. By George Shipman Payson, D.D. A very helpful book. It magnifies the human faith of the Master for the salvation of men. (Funk & Wagnalls Co., New York and London.)
Things Learned by Living. By John Bascom. Author of "Social Theory," etc. Dr. John Bascom throughout his life cultivated with great constancy the habit of raising the intellectual and social questions incident to the progress of events and of giving them an answer as definite and as just as possible. The contents of this book are the experiences of a life thoughtfully built up in its inner substance and there is a special appeal for sympathy to those who are exercising a like close scrutiny of the spiritual terms of being. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.)
An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States. By Charles A. Beard, associate professor of politics in Columbia university. (The MacMillan Co., New York.)
The Call of the Land. Popular chapters on topics of interest to readers. By E. Benjamin Andrews. "Of all the occupations which can be made sources of gain, none are finer than agriculture, none more lucrative, none more charming, none more worthy of a free man." (Orange Judd Co., New York.)

life. (George H. Doran Co., New York.)
Madona Fraibana. By Oliver Lodge. Among the subjects which the author discusses are the nature of time, the irrationality of war, the responsibility of authors, the functions of money, etc. (George H. Doran Co., New York.)
Tiffany Studio. Memorials in glass and stone. "This brochure is published as an advertising medium, but the most attractive work done in the studio is in text and illustrations some idea of the scope of its work in indoor and outdoor memorials of both glass and stone is on the frontispiece of this beautiful and artistic book from Tiffany's."
Stained glass windows came into use as memorials with the building of the great cathedrals of Europe, but the most attractive work done in the United States has been by Mr. Louis C. Tiffany, who made his first figure window in 1877. Among the beautiful illustrations contained in this book are: A landscape window for Dunfermline abbey, Scotland, and which was designed for Mr. Andrew Carnegie; a beautiful landscape window placed in the Russell Sage window church building of the First Presbyterian church, Far Rockaway, N. Y. by Mrs. Russell Sage; the marsh memorial window, "The River of the Water of Life," which can be seen in St. Paul's church, Paterson, N. J. Virginia chapel, St. Louis cathedral, St. Louis, Mo., etc.
Educational Dramatics. A handbook on the educational play method, by Emma Sheridan Fry. This book will be very interesting for those actually doing dramatic work—as teachers, club leaders or amateur players. (Moffat, Yard & Co., New York.)
AGRICULTURAL BOOKS.
Making the Farm Pay. By C. C. Bowfield. This very important book tells how to get the biggest returns from the soil and make farm life more attractive and successful. The book is full of new ideas, and is very practical and instructive. (Forbes & Co., Chicago.)
Garden and Farm Almanac. A practical handbook for everyday use. A rare almanac and reference book for the home, farm and garden. Edited by L. E. Brandt and E. L. D. Seymour. Illustrated from photographs. (Doubleday, Page & Co., Garden City, New York.)
The Call of the Land. Popular chapters on topics of interest to readers. By E. Benjamin Andrews. "Of all the occupations which can be made sources of gain, none are finer than agriculture, none more lucrative, none more charming, none more worthy of a free man." (Orange Judd Co., New York.)

The Old Farmhouse. By the Old Farmhouse. Dedicated to the Old Farmhouse. A very interesting story about a search for an old house near London—for the old farmhouse, who an American did not go to England to live in a new house—"But walk about these things own dear bounding others' larger grounds; For well thou knowest 'tis not the extent Of land makes life, but sweet content." (MacMillan & Co., New York.)
LITERARY NOTES.
Sir Gilbert Parker, whose novel, "The Judgment House," was published last month, says that he made that story a "study of conscience."
Dr. Woodie Hutchinson, the well-known physician and author, has gone to Europe for the summer. He expects to spend all his time in Switzerland, Italy, Paris and London, returning in a "study of conscience."
Mrs. Red Pepper, by Mrs. Grace S. Richmond, will be published this month by Doubleday, Page & Co. This is really a continuation of Mrs. Richmond's "Red Pepper Burns," and those who remember the country doctor's charming bride will be glad to meet her again in the role of helpmate, as she presides over the destiny of Red Pepper, etc.
Among the real persons who fill through the pages of Actor Davies' novel "Romance," which the MacMillan Co. will publish this month, are William Winter, the dramatic critic; Charles A. Dana, Horace Greeley, Rose Coghlan and Daniel Frohman as a little boy—for the scene of this novel is laid in 1868, and the one and only P. T. Barnum.
The Century Co. reports a new printing of Secretary Redfield's "The New Industrial Day," also new editions of "Hero Tales from American History," by Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Cabot Lodge.
W. L. George, author of "Woman and Tomorrow," is a strong advocate of the modern suffrage movement.
Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president, has written in an open letter of her interest in the social center movement.
"Paul Elder & Co. will soon publish 'The Case Against Socialism,' by Edward F. Adams, the well-known San Francisco economist and Chronicle editorial writer."
Count Cassini Not Dead.
Paris, May 9.—Count Arthur Pavlovitch Cassini, formerly Russian ambassador to the United States, a report of whose death was published this week in the United States, is enjoying excellent health at his residence here.

NEARLY ALL THE RADIUM BEING MADE IN EUROPE
America Has the Ore Supply, But Europe Turns Out the Finished Product.
By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, May 10.—(Special)—The discovery that two-thirds of the world's supply of radium is now being made in Europe from American ores has been announced by the United States Geological Survey. Radium is the marvelous substance to which scientists have given first place among the wonders of modern science. It accomplishes wonders as a curative agent, is practically indestructible and sells at a price equivalent to $250,000 an ounce.
Although the United States has the greatest known supply of radium-bearing ore, not a gram of the substance is made in this country. Pitchblende, the richest of all radium-bearing minerals, is found in the feldspar quarries of North Carolina and in small quantities in Connecticut. Most of the output comes from Quartz Hill in Gipsy county, Colorado.
It is said these ores are being exported at a price by no means commensurate with their value and treated in Australia and other European countries, whence the impression got abroad that the world's radium output came from Austrian ore. Every ton of carnotite mined in this country last year went abroad to be treated by the process which produces radium.
"The United States is in the humiliating position today of having to purchase at extravagant prices abroad such radium as its physicians and hospitals can afford for experimental purposes," said Charles L. Parsons of the bureau of mines. "We have been greatly hampered in our work of investigating the wonderful properties of radium by the almost prohibitive prices at which radium has been held."
Strike Called Off.
Buenos Aires, May 10.—The strike by 60,000 coal miners in this district which began on April 21, has been called off by the men's trade unions, owing to the hopelessness of attaining success. The employers flatly refused to grant the concessions demanded.

THE NUMERALS - 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0
The above diagram, drawn by Artist Henderson, illustrates his theory that the entire English alphabet—capital, small and script letters—evolved originally from the square. He does not claim that these figures are the exact course of the evolution, but he does claim that they demonstrate the analogy and prove the origin of the letters.
Some interesting points are contained in the diagram. The small "d" is shown to have come from the loop in the capital, which was itself an evolution from the first form. The small "e" has only one loop today simply because it took too long to make the double loop in writing. How the "i" was originally crossed, instead of dotted, forms an interesting item in the diagram, and the tails to many of the script characters form an important study in evolution.
Suddenly gripping his chair and leaning forward with fascinated gaze, an artist in a busy newspaper office gave an exclamation! His fellow workers jumped up and ran to his desk, where the artist leaned, brush in hand over a sheet covered with letters and figures of all kinds.
"The square—the square!" he exclaimed softly. "That's where they came from, every one of them—the square!"
"Where what came from?"
"Why, don't you see? The letters, the figures, everything! They were all nothing but squares, or parts of squares, once. Thousands of years ago, when the old skin-clothes scratched their signals on pieces of bark, or carved their first messages on slabs of stone, they didn't use these curves and crooked crosses. They just had squares, or half-squares, or square-cornered things like these. And then when they had used these for centuries, they gradually began to use curves and put on tails—and then we came to the age of hieroglyphics. We can trace every one of our letters and figures back just like that. Don't you see?"
"O—on, yes, we see! Indeed we do see!" laughed the newspaper crew as they returned to their desks.
"But the artist did not laugh. It was a serious matter for him. His studied encyclopaedias and magazine articles, finding all kinds of theories that our letters had come from picture-writing or sound-writing, or that they originated in the hieroglyphics of the Egyptians or the old Phoenicians. The further he read the more complicated became the theories, some even claiming that "S" represented a serpent because the sound of the letter was like the hissing of a reptile, or that "A" represented a bull's head because the letter sounded like the bellowing of the animal.
"Too complicated!" was his conclusion. "All nature can be traced back to the simplest forms. Life advances from the simple to the complex and therefore in tracing things back to their beginning we must search for the simplest origin we can find!"
And so, with pen and brush, he worked away steadily at his desk. He evolved a series of figures for each letter, tracing each one back to the form of the square. By his determination, and by the clearness with which he worked out his theory, he began to make people believe in him. He won not only his friends, but a number of professors and men of science, who declared that the proposition was worth laying before the scientific world. Some went further and hailed the humble artist as a true seer—a discoverer.
Merely "Artist Henderson."
But who is this artist-discoverer? If his theory has held the reader's interest now for ten minutes, surely he deserves to be introduced in person. His name is William F. Henderson, of Atlanta, Ga., but to all of his friends and to the newspaper readers of Georgia and the south he is known merely as "Artist Henderson, of The Constitution."
For nineteen years he has drawn cartoons, designs and illustrations for a number of different newspapers and faithfully, but between his hours of toil he has found time to study—both man and nature—and to meditate on the philosophy of life and the meaning of things.
Thus it was that while sitting at his desk making block letters for advertising copy and for Sunday funerals, he noticed the script form of the letter "i" and he found himself noticing the remarkable analogy between the gridlock letter forms and the block forms.
How He Stumbled on Theory.
He noticed the "i" and "j" and "l" for example, in the block form, which are remarkably simple, and yet if a person tries to make them many times he falls unconsciously into the habit of curving the corners. Starting from the simple square forms, therefore, he reasoned that it was but natural in the course of time, as men drew their characters faster, for them to make the "i", the "j" and "l" others in the curved form instead of the square. That was how Henderson stumbled upon his theory.
With remarkable consistency the plan worked out for every letter of the alphabet—the small letters and the capitals. Some of the evolutions are very interesting, the small "e" for instance, which came from writing the loop and leaving off the rest of the form. The tail in the small "g" has an interesting history, too. The middle section of the block form was gradually shortened for convenience, and when the script began to appear the middle section was entirely too cumbersome to use at all. If left off entirely, however, it would conflict with the "c", hence it turned into a little flourish of the pen just at the finish of the figure, and this was then lengthened into the tail.
For like reason—because of the difficulty of making the crosspiece in writing—the "k" came into use for the script "P" and "Q". The script "P" and "Y" reach below the line because of the necessity of the main part of the form resting upon the line.
The "e" and "c" came into use for the script "P" and "Q". The script "P" and "Y" reach below the line because of the necessity of the main part of the form resting upon the line.
The "e" to the "i" is explained by Henderson very uniquely. He calls attention to the fact that the dot appears only in the script form of the letter, and that the second evolution of "e" in the capital "E" is a crosspiece at the top and at the bottom.
"i" in the hurry of writing, the early scribes made a stab at crossing their "E" at the bottom, and it wasn't until they missed it—just as many people miss crossing their "T's" today and make the cross-piece to the right of the main figure. This cross to the "i", which missed its mark, finally became through long custom only a dot, which we make today."
The same explanation applies to the dot made over the small "j", writers having originally tried to cross their "j's", too. From the diagram drawn by the artist to illustrate his theory, the analogy is clearly seen between every one of the present day forms and the original, square models.
In presenting his theory, Henderson does not attack the sincerity or the logic of the thousands of scientists who declare that our alphabet came from the old Phoenician, but he attacks its basis, and he demonstrates, and demonstrates, by the analogy still existing, that every letter came originally from the square—possibly 5,000 years before the Christian era—evolving, perhaps, through the Phoenician, the Greek and the Latin to the present English letters.
The Square a Universal Form.
Artist Henderson calls attention, in defense of his theory, to the fact that the square is a fundamental and a basic form in all nature, as well as being one of the simplest.
"Every artist, architect and scientist knows that the square is the most common, most useful and most necessary principle known to science," says Henderson. "Buildings, books, windows, bricks, furniture, boxes, balloons and other articles too numerous to mention are all constructed of the basic principle of the square."
"Man was first forced to use it in building on account of gravity. Triangles or curves in buildings would be unstable. Practically every known article was first made roughly in this shape, and even the first wheels were squares, and it wasn't until the corners wore off that man found that the wheel would run better without any corners."
"Therefore, it is not remarkable since it entered so intimately into the life around him, that the prehistoric man should have first begun to use the square in making his earliest signs and signals."
"Even today, new things are being created from squares all the time. Short-hand is based on the square, though more condensed than the regular English alphabet."
"Of course, it is not our numerals came originally from the squares and were developed by the Arabians simply by rounding corners for convenience into the form which they have handed down to us. Civilization does not owe a wonderful debt to this simple little figure—the square—and the least that we can do, today, is to render it due credit as the foundation of our alphabet and accord it the place in history that it deserves."

GROVE'S MUSIC SIMPLIFIER

TWELFTH LESSON

LAST LESSON OF THIS SERIES SUNDAY

GROVE'S MUSIC SIMPLIFIER.

Time, in music, is something that must be learned by practice and experience, and must be drilled into the pupil after measurement of time becomes natural. Without this, no text book in music will enable one to be good in time. A student must make a study of rhythm by measures with duration of each note according to its value and relation to the particular time marked. By the aid of "Grove's Music Simplifier" and the knowledge of its chords, one can more rapidly put into practice the theory of time.

Entered According to the Act of Parliament of Canada at the Department of Agriculture in the Year 1906.

The last of the series of twelve lessons in this simple method of music is presented today. The keys which these charts interpret are D flat and B flat minor. Both of these keys are difficult to master because of the large number of flats, but the charts make them simple and easy to learn. The lower chart on this lesson gives the chords of the key of D flat, while the chords of its relative, the key of B flat minor, are given on the upper chart. The top, middle and lower sections of each chart give the three chords of each key, and these are all-sufficient for accompaniments. No other knowledge is required to play in perfect harmony.

The white letters are to be played with the left hand and the black letters with the right hand.

Having placed the chart on the piano or organ, play the white letter on the top section with the left hand, and then the three black letters in unison with the right hand.

Next play the middle section in the same way, then the lower section, and then return to the top section.

The small white letter D with a dash above it, which gives the chart position, must not be played.

After a brief practice these chords can be memorized and you may play without the use of the chart. But with the chart a person who never struck a note on the piano or organ before may in a few minutes play the harmonious chords correctly, and then accompany his or her own songs or the songs of friends. Proficiency requires practice, but no previous knowledge of music. If you desire to delve deeply into the mysteries of music, the charts give you the best possible foundation on which to base a musical education. A knowledge of the keys and their chords underlies all the triumphs of the accomplished musician.

Every triad in black letters is marked 1, 3, 5. Always read triads 1, 3, 5, no matter what position. Triad $\begin{matrix} 1 & 3 & 5 \\ C & E & G \end{matrix}$ —marked—third position, 5, the highest; always read it so. $\begin{matrix} 3 & 5 & 1 \\ B & G & C \end{matrix}$ first position, 1, the highest; read $\begin{matrix} 1 & 3 & 5 & 1 & 1 \\ C & E & G & C & E \end{matrix}$ second position, 3, the highest, read $\begin{matrix} 1 & 3 & 5 \\ C & E & G \end{matrix}$ and so with every triad major or minor.

This instrument is the realization of our ideals. It is the culmination of half a century's experience. We declined for many years to have a Grand Piano with our Name on it. But we have arranged with one of the few FRONT RANK MANUFACTURERS OF AMERICA to make for us, under contract, A SPECIAL GRAND PIANO. We know what this piano is, and we are unhesitatingly backing it with the Phillips & Crew reputation—a reputation which is the acquisition of a generation.

We invite you to come and see this piano. We urge you to make a personal inspection of it, for in no other way can you gain an adequate idea of its worth. It is a piano-building masterpiece, a truly great instrument.

Seven Minute Sermon On the Golden Text

Jehovah is a God of Justice; blessed are all they that wait for Him.—Isa. xxxiii.

GOD IS MERCIFULLY JUST.

I. God is Just. Jehovah does nothing in an arbitrary or despotic way. There is a tendency to think of the Heavenly Father as if He were a great king who expected his subjects to minister to his pleasure, or to do things for Him without regard to what effect it would have upon the doer. This, however, is quite contrary to the fact. We learn both from experience and the Bible that God acts wisely, and lovingly; He only requires from His children that which is for their own good. We know ourselves to be sinners having transgressed God's loving laws and necessarily we have to suffer for these our sins. In meeting out to us the punishment which is our due, God acts with wisdom, love and justice. He makes no mistakes, is not influenced by prejudice and has no purpose to serve but the well being of the sinner and the good of His other children. God is sometimes represented in the Bible as being angry, but that term is used after a human sort for God never gets angry in a sense to stir either vindictive feelings, or to influence His decisions, either when punishing sinners or when planning for their future. We can all see in looking back how just God has been with us as individuals. Every person who has any knowledge of history cannot fail to trace the justice of God's dealings with the nations and how wisely and well He has brought about events to work out for the good of mankind.

II. God is Mercifully Just. I have heard the expression that "a God all merciful is a God unjust." There may be an element of truth in this from a purely human standpoint, but when applied strictly to God it is a mistaken statement. It may not be always possible in human administration of law to mix justice with mercy, but God's justice is always merciful. In fact, in an important sense, justice and mercy with God mean practically the same thing. God never punishes for the sake of punishment, or to make the sinner suffer. His punishments, while always just, are also always merciful. God administers justice to protect the sinner from himself, and to protect society from the sinner. His justice primarily is for the purpose of saving the sinner, and when that is not possible to save society from the results of sin. "There is a wisdom in God's mercy like the wisdom of the sea, there is kindness in His justice which is more than liberty." The problem of the sinner's God's mercy with His strict justice is explained, if not fully solved, by Paul; speaking of Jesus he states, "Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in His blood, to declare His righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus."

III. With Confidence We May Wait for God. The remembrance that "Jehovah is a God of justice," and that He administers His loving justice to every man in connection with all the details of his life, should inspire us with confidence to wait for God's time to adjudicate in all matters; even concerning the details of our lives. Whether we are saints or sinners we may be sure that God will do that which is mercifully just in our case. It is the justice of the sinner means suffering, but the child of God can wait God's time and be confident that it will result in his happiness, or at least blessedness, which is always the road to ultimate happiness. We wait for God in perfect faith knowing that the right thing will be brought about by infinite justice and love. We may wait for Him in the full assurance of faith nothing doubting, but expecting that our present troubles will work out for us prosperity and blessedness. We should, however, wait for Jehovah with perfect humility, not counting upon our own merits, or relying upon our own wisdom, or strength, or skill, and not depending upon an arm of flesh, but trusting only in the infinite God to bring to pass that which is desirable in our lives.

IV. Waiting for God Means Blessedness. Those who do not take their lives out of God's hand, but have learned to wait for Him, are always blessed. The very fact of waiting is itself blessedness. It means peace of soul, stability of purpose and an assurance which gives to us strength that cannot be shaken; then of course it means blessedness because God is going to deliver us from our present troubles, and will cause our light afflictions to last only for a moment, and make them work out for us a far more exceedingly and eternal weight of glory. The Psalmist of a similar waiting experience said, "I waited patiently for the Lord, and He inclined unto me, and heard my cry. He brought me up also out of a horrible pit, and set my feet upon a rock. . . . He hath put a new song in my mouth even praise unto my God." Let us then put all our matters into God's hands and learn both to wait upon Him and wait for Him; and be delivered from all our fears.

First—Conference of all Baptist pastors and Sunday school superintendents called for 3 p. m., to consider challenge to Methodist for big Sunday school contest.

A POSTAL WILL DO. Ministers are urged to co-operate with this department by sending to The Constitution each week their sermon topics—not for their own sake, but for the sake of the public, the great mass of people who pick up the Sunday morning paper before they decide whether or not they will go to church. Just a post-card, addressed to The Constitution's Church News department, and bearing the subjects of the Sunday sermons, will be sufficient.

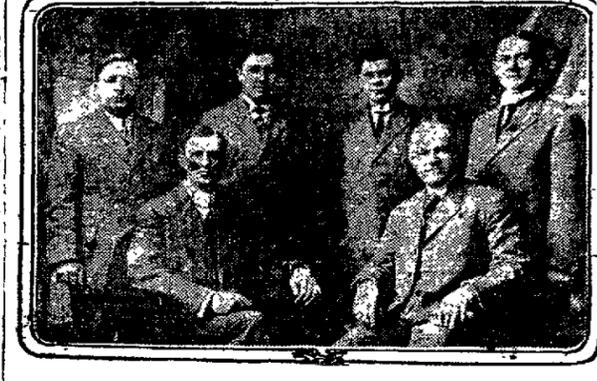

WEST END REVIVAL CONTINUES; GREAT SUCCESS IN SERIES

Evangelist John T. Hawkins, who has just completed a week of great success in the revival series at the West End Christian church, will continue his sermon in Atlanta indefinitely.

Because of the nightly increasing crowds attending the services, the people of the church have decided to carry on the series for several weeks longer, at least. A large number of additions have been made to the church, and a splendid spirit of enthusiasm prevails among the people attending the series.

Evangelist Hawkins will preach Sunday morning on "The First Lord's Day," and Sunday evening on "Salvation," and he will speak every night this week except Monday night.

SINGERS TO VISIT PANAMA

The National Male quartet, standing, who will go with the party of 100 to Panama, giving daily concerts on the steamer, and conducting the music at the revival meetings in the canal zone. Reading from left to right they are: William McEwan, of Glasgow, Scotland, the world's most famous gospel tenor; James Heaton, leader of the quartet; G. K. Akeley and L. L. Kemper, all of them being singers of long experience.

EX-MODERATORS OF U. S. A. ASSEMBLY

DR. WALLACE RADCLIFFE. DR. CHARLES LITTLE. Who are ex-moderators of the U. S. A. assembly and now members of the executive commission, the latter being chairman of that important body. Dr. Radcliffe is pastor of the New Church at Washington, D. C., where many senators and congressmen worship. Dr. Little was moderator of the U. S. A. assembly at the historic assembly at Atlantic City.

Was Here With Sherman

GENERAL R. N. ADAMS.

Who marched with Sherman to the sea in command of a union brigade (five years ago today) he returns to Georgia as a commissioner to the Presbyterian assembly, U. S. A. He will be one of the most interesting figures at the reunion of the blue and the gray that will take place at the assembly. After the war General Adams entered the ministry and for years was field secretary of the north-west, where he did very efficient work. He now holds the position of field secretary emeritus. He was also superintendent of home missions for Minnesota from 1886 to 1904.

DR. RIDLEY CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY ON JUNE 1

On the first Sunday in June, Rev. C. A. Ridley, of the Central Baptist church, will celebrate his first anniversary as pastor of that congregation, and he is receiving many congratulations on the splendid advances made by the church during the past year.

Dr. Ridley will attend the Southern Baptist convention in St. Louis next week and immediately on his return will go to pushing the new building project. He hopes to see the walls of the new church completed during the present year.

W. & A. ENGINEER WILL TELL LIFE EXPERIENCE

Telling the experience of his own life in such a way as to carry a heart-to-heart message to his hearers, Van Bell, an engineer on the Western and Atlantic railroad, will lead the services at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association Sunday afternoon. The rooms are located at 31 1/2 West Alabama street, where a hearty welcome is given every Sunday afternoon to all the young men, middle-aged men and old men who drop in for a service of real fellowship and benefit. The meeting will be at 3 o'clock, and the orchestra will be an interesting feature of the afternoon.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

MOTHER

Sunday, May 11, 1913

Not learned save in gracious household ways
Not perfect, nay, but full of tender wants;
No angel, but a dearer being, all dipt
In angel instincts, breathing Paradise.
Who looked all native to her place, and yet
On tiptoe seemed to touch upon a sphere

Too gross to tread, and all male minds perforce
Swayed to her from their orbits as they moved,
And girdled her with music. Happy he
With such a mother! Faith in womankind
Beats with his blood and trust in all things high
Comes easy to him, and though he trip and fall
He shall not blind his soul with clay.—Tennyson.

NUMBER

A Practical Sewing Talk

NIGHTGOWNS are, I think, the easiest article of underwear to make. They lack the tedious "job" of finishing the waistline, and the more complex folds and plaquettes that we put on drawers. Then, too, they seem rather more interesting, for one may enlarge upon a style and use one's own ideas in the matter to develop most attractive garments.

Like the corset cover, the French variety of nightdress is by far easier to make than an ordinary one that fastens down either the center or the side front. Then, too, I think, you can do more, as far as design goes, with a French nightdress. Naturally, a box-pleat fastening will break the lines of any yoke that you may put on a nightdress, and so give little chance for making attractive ones.

Like the corset cover, the nightdress may be cut from a well fitting shirtwaist pattern. It is never well to think that any pattern will do for garments of underwear or any other garment for outside wear. If a corset cover or nightgown is not cut from a well fitting pattern, it too will not fit properly, then, although you may seem to think that it doesn't matter very much for no one will see and criticize, there is sure to be a strain on the material in some part of the garment, and after it has been worn but a comparatively short time, the material is sure to wear in that place and then we will find that home-made garments are not any better for "longevity" than bought ones.

THEN when you have gotten it to fit quite well, you can take it off and cut away the part that needs it or add a little to another portion and then use that for your pattern. I think, too, that you will find it cheaper in the end, for tissue paper patterns are sure to tear after they have been used but once or twice and then if the pattern has been cut from a piece of cloth there is no end of its use. If you do want to buy a pattern, try to select a simple design, one in which the pieces are not all cut into small ones; it isn't only hard to get the garment together afterward, but then you are only able to make the one style out of it.

WHEN you get used to sewing, I think that you will always find it a better plan, when making a yoke for anything, to make it first putting in all the lace, tucks and embroidery and planning it quite to the finish, then sewing it to the remainder of the material before cutting the body of the night dress out. Say for instance that you are to make a night dress with a deep yoke of tucks and lace inserting; perhaps three tucks and a row of insertion and three more tucks and so on. First, before doing any cutting at all, find the center of your piece of material and put in three tucks as deep as you will need; measure on the pattern the depth of your yoke, starting at the top of the shoulder and measuring down. And when you are putting in your tucks be sure to use a piece of cardboard to do the measuring with, and measure from the crease of one tuck to the crease of the next; if you try measuring from the stitching, you will find you can easily spoil the whole yoke by just letting one row of stitching go a trifle out of the way.

Then leaving a space for the insertion and a space on either side of that, put the next three tucks on either side of the first three, and so on until you have put in all the tucks. When that has been done, press the tucks flat and in the direction that they are intended to lay, and put your insertion in. You can gauge your distance properly when you have pressed them down, because the insertion will naturally have to be further away from the crease of the one tuck than the crease of the other.

Stitch the insertion on, then cut the material away from beneath, leaving about three-eighths of an inch at either side to be turned and hemmed down. After that the yoke can be cut out and sewed to the body of the material and then the whole garment may be cut out.

BECOMING GOWNS FOR THE MATRON

Three attractive gowns for the matron are pictured here. The first, of wistaria ratine, shows the long lines which are so becoming to the figure inclined to embonpoint. The collar is of black satin and the hat, a small affair, of wistaria straw simply and artistically trimmed.

The second gown is of striped foulard in black and white effect and is a model of smart simplicity.

One of the popular cotton crepes is shown in the remaining illustration, which has the upper part of the bodice composed of heavy lace. A belt and folds of silk in contrasting shades give a touch of elegance to the frock.

The skirt is one of the new draped effects, which does not, however, add bulkiness to the figure.

What Is Worn By the Parisian Matron

Paris, France, May 3, 1913.
WHEN the Parisian mother approaches the half century milestone of her existence, she frankly regards herself as elderly and dresses in accordance with the dignity of her years. At that period she begins to wear, almost exclusively, purple, lavender, dark gray and black costumes made in the prevailing modes but never in their extreme expression. While the girls of her family wear the ultra chic in clothes, the mother appears in garments of better and more expensive materials, but never elaborate nor conspicuous.

No Parisienne having a daughter of marriageable age would dream of going out-of-doors without some sort of a wrap—a coat, a cape, a draped scarf—whatever is suited to the season—and something which at least covers her figure from shoulders to waist line. During the warmest weather she will wear a boa to lend dignity to her thin costume and it would be difficult to imagine her, even at a Summer resort, as venturing beyond her garden gate in a skirt and blouse get-up.

Under no circumstance, short of a dire calamity, would the Parisienne mother show herself outside of her own chamber in anything remotely akin to a negligee. She never wears a loose gown before her husband and her grown children, and wears a man servant to rap at her dressing-room door, while she was covered with a kimono she would request him to wait for a moment, and would hastily slip into a frock before admitting him to her presence. Thus does she maintain the dignity of her household.

For breakfast, the Parisian mother puts on a pretty house gown of wool crepe, soft cashmere or pongee, made to definitely fit the figure and on the lines of the simpler type of English teagown. Immediately after the first meal of the day she gets into a tailored suit of serge, satine or whatever happens to be the prevailing fashionable worsted material of the current season, and at nine o'clock is ready to start out in her motor to attend to her shopping and to other duties connected with her household and family.

At noontime she returns home for luncheon and before sitting down to that meal always changes her tailored suit and walking boots for a simple one-piece frock and a pair of dainty slippers. No French woman, living in France, ever wears her street habiliments in the house. After the luncheon, which the mother always takes with the younger children of the family because that meal is their dinner, her maid assists her into a more elaborate and strictly formal house gown in which to receive guests or into a three-piece costume in which to pay visits.

THIS season the elderly Parisian mother is likely to supply herself with a visiting costume having a skirt of silk Bedford cord and a coat of thin brocade crepe in all-taupe, steel or black or with a suit of dull purple tussor with white or black trimmings of midnight blue charmeuse relieved with violet satin or of mauve matelasse. She gets home in time to rest before dinner and to change into an evening gown. This, the most elaborate type of garb in her costume repertoire, is only slightly décolleté—cut in a small square, a V or rounded down, for in France women very rarely appear in full or English décolletage. At dinners they wear the demi-décolleté. Excepting to an evening reception, no Parisian mother over forty-five years of age, goes anywhere in a Dutch-necked gown. She would not think of wearing a collarless frock to church, even during torrid weather and, in fact, for attending divine service, her garb is severely plain, the gown of a subdued shade, high-necked, long-sleeved, and supplemented by a plain hat. And she invariably wears a veil on Sunday as do all women in France. Even the young girl just freed from the schoolroom, puts on a veil when preparing to go to church.

At the wedding of her daughter, the Parisian mother keeps herself in the background, insofar as her garb is concerned. Everything is done to emphasize the elaborate costumes of the bride and her girl attendants, while the mother, even though looking remarkably young for her fifty years, wears a black or cream lace gown. At both the religious and civil marriage ceremonies, the grandmother is equally inconspicuously garbed in a gown of pale gray or lavender satin, but if she is a very stout old lady, she wears purple charmeuse or black Ghantilly. Grandmother's home dinner or reception gown is usually a soft silk of a very light gray tone made in one piece and resembling a teagown, but never very elaborate. It falls in graceful folds from the shoulders, does not cling too closely to the hips and is trimmed with real lace of which the average French lady of seventy or eighty years possesses a vast store. Like her elderly daughter, the mother of the household, grandmother wears only subdued jewels—pearls, amethysts or sapphires. Never emeralds or diamonds which are reserved for the use of the young French mother. Most of the grandmother's and the elderly mother's jewels are heirlooms or presents from their husbands. It is the French custom for a man to give his wife a present of jewels at the anniversary of their wedding day and at the birth of each child. In France, no young girl ever gets a jewelry present of anything other than pearls.

The Clothes that Mother Should Wear

by Marion Morris

As such beautiful sentiment surrounds "Mothers' Day," it may seem a bit out of place to talk about the clothes that mother should wear! Nevertheless, this article is addressed to the mothers themselves, because so many of them have but little regard for clothes.

A mother should not wear just any kind of clothes that label her "I am a mother, and therefore it matters not whether my clothes are stylish!"

You must remember that the young girls and boys of to-day are proud of their mothers if they are well-dressed. Viewpoints are changing!

HOWEVER, do not feel for a moment that I think an elderly woman should array herself in a girlish way, and look like an idiot! All you need do, is follow the rules of good taste and well-dressing. By so doing you need not brand yourself a mother or a spinster.

Summers, or she may be just at her prime (thirty-five years), or she may be a grandmother.

BUT as the purpose of Mothers' Day naturally suggests the elderly women, I shall first talk about clothes for the mothers of sixty, or more years. How often do we hear that "a woman is as old as she feels?" and we should see more women who are beyond the three-score mark, dress in accordance with the age they feel to be. From my own experience, I can tell you what a difference clothes made in my memory of my two grandmothers—the one always has seemed to be a very old lady, for I never remember seeing her in any kind of dress, except black silk, trimmed with a mull fichu, or a collar of lace. To this day, I can't picture my other grandmother as ever being other than a quite young woman, for she kept young in her dress, as well as in her ways—in other words, she adhered to the dictates of Fashion.

Of course, even these elderly women must take great care of their figures, and never feel too old to wear the correct corsets, for they cannot follow in the footsteps of Fashion unless the foundations for their clothes are right.

NOW, the women in their late forties and those who have fifty years to their credit! These women should be more careful than mothers of any other age, for they are just at the turning point, and a wrong step in the world of dress will make them look to be really quite old ladies. Mrs. Gould is the most remarkable looking woman of about this age that I have ever seen. Only a few weeks ago in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York city, I heard two women discussing whether it was Mrs. Gould, or her daughter that looked so radiantly beautiful in a white satin gown. It was Mrs. Gould and she looked—in her face, figure and dress—to be less than thirty. The unknowing person would never have thought that she is the proud grandmother of four little tots! You may say—yes, Mrs. Gould can easily look young, for she lacks nothing from this world's golden store. And even though that is quite true, there were many other women in the Opera House that evening who had equal opportunity to look young and beautiful, but as they did not understand the art of dressing they were eclipsed by Mrs. Gould.

THE young mothers, who are between twenty-five and forty years are not apt to dress in fashions that are too old for them; but they encountered the danger of growing careless while their children are quite young. This is a great mistake—not only for the sake of their personal appearance, but because their husbands may grow tired of them. There is more truth than poetry in the fact that men like to see all women attractively and well-dressed!

Turning to the other extreme, I don't think that there is anything more disgusting than to see the mother of a lovely little girl, or an adorable young boy, dressed like a fool. If a woman is silly enough to array herself in this manner, she seems to lose the pride of motherhood. How often have you seen just such a woman at a Summer hotel?

NOW, a word to you, my reader if you are a daughter or a son! Don't be like Farrel Howard in the new popular play "Years of Discretion"—this serious-minded and conservative young man from Brookline, Mass., thought, that he had lost his mother when she decided to put aside her old-fashioned clothes and become a modishly gowned woman. Be proud of the fact if your mother—whether she is thirty-five, fifty, sixty-five or more—dresses fashionably and in good taste!

You know what it would be to spend one of your Winter evenings in a chamber without a fire on the hearth or a carpet on the floor, even though the furniture were costly and the friends congenial, nothing could impart the lacking comfort or diffuse the wanted radiance. And in this Wintery world, your mother's love and care are the carpet on the floor and the blaze on the evening hearth. To life's latest moment they mingle in every picture of pre-eminence happiness.—Dr. J. Hamilton

MY MOTHER'S VISITS

Long years ago she visited my chamber,

Steps soft and slow, a taper in her hand;

Her fond kiss she laid upon my eyelids,

Fair as an angel from the unknown land;

Mother, mother, is it thou I see?

Mother, mother, watching over me.

And yesternight I saw her cross my chamber,

Soundless as light, a palm branch in her hand;

Her mild eyes she bent upon my anguish,

Calm as an angel from the blessed land;

Mother, mother, is it thou I see?

Mother, mother, art thou come for me?

—From the French.

They say that man is might

He governs land and sea,

He wields a mighty sceptre

O'er lesser powers that be:

But a mightier power and stronger

Man from his throne has hurled

For the hand that rocks the cradle

Is the hand that rules the world.

—Within Rose Wallace, What Rules the World.

Men are what their mothers made them.

You may as well ask a loom which weaves huck-a-back why it does not make cashmere, as expect poetry

from this engineer, or a chemical discovery

from that jobber.

It is love.

This Attractive And Useful Design For Needleworkers Can Be Transferred Without Recourse To The Old And Obsolete Tracing Paper Method Which Is Unreliable At Best.

BOOTS FOR BABY BUNTING

To produce this pair of pretty booties in embroidery effect, transfer the pattern to a heavy grade of white linen, pique or duck. It must be a stout fabric, and if a good grade of white sail cloth can be obtained, it, too, will make neat shoes. The eyelets firm to be whipped with the floss. While firm embroidery is not to be encouraged in most pieces, nevertheless, it must be firm and worked heavy in boots, otherwise it loses its shape and does not look neat. Baby ribbon or silver cords can be used to tie the booties. If eyelets are not worked into the fabric, and all designs are embroidered in solid raised stitch, you can make a tiny buttonhole on the outside tab and sew a white crochet bullet-button on the opposite.

Make the tops and starch them very stiff. Press the goods on the wrong side. Starch the soles, make two soles for each bootie, sew them and turn them to make a smooth edge. This will prove more durable than a single piece of linen. Turn a very tiny edge of the uppers under or you will have a rough seam inside which must be avoided. Many sew the edge outside to one sole, then whip the second portion of the sole over it. This makes a smooth inside finish. No inside seam can be used on a standard bootie.

Put a cake of soap (laundry will do) in a pint of hot water, stir vigorously and remove the soap. Saturate this Design with the soap and water mixture, then remove the excess moisture by partially drying the saturated Design or by applying a sheet of blotting paper. Place the material or fabric to which the design is to be transferred on a hard, flat surface and lay the Design, face down, upon the material. Cover with a dry sheet of thick paper or two folds of newspaper, and with the flat of a tablespoon rub, pressing hard, until the Design is entirely transferred, being careful to rub from, rather than toward you. When rubbing, you can see if enough pressure is being applied by lifting a corner of the Design to note how well the perfect transfers to any kind of goods. To remove the Design lines after the article is completed, wash in warm water, with soap. The entire process is very simple and with a little care you can easily make

BE AN INSPIRATION

To Do So You Have To Cultivate Cheery Mannerisms.

BY LUCILLE DAUDET.

WE all know the elation of spirits that comes when, after a long spell of sticky, sloppy, exhausting weather, a morning breaks with a jolly northwest wind blowing the round white clouds across the shining blue sky, till they look like fluffy kittens chasing each other in play. There is a general grace and vigor in the atmosphere that will force even the family pessimist—and it is a rare family that hasn't one—to look less glum and sound less grumpy.

That clear, clean vibrant, healthy northwest spirit is one we should all cultivate. The moods and changes of the weather are nothing less than pictures and samples of the moods of variations of the mind of man, and in studying the one we can get a pretty shrewd notion of the faults and virtues of the other.

Some people are born northwesterners, and carry the wind of fresh endeavor and the bracing hope of sunny skies wherever they go. A half hour in their society is a tonic, an inspiration. It does more to clear away the mist and humidity of the blues than any amount of doctoring; difficulties straighten out under the simple effect of their smiles and voices—even real difficulties; and, after all, these are the least that bother us. Most are the work of our own fancy, coddled and humored till they come to command us.

We cannot control the changes in the weather, and have to take what comes willy-nilly, unless we are of the fortunate few who, in Kipling's words, can chase the spring around the world and always live in May time. But we ought to train ourselves into some sort of control of our mental weather, and give the fine, cheery, courageous center of us its innings.

If we are ashamed, as we ought to be, of the sulks and the blues, instead of rather complacent over what we call our sensitiveness or touchiness or dignity or whatnot of the unimportant and the trying, not to say the plain disagreeable, that northwest wind of ours would get a lot more chance to blow. Just as no whiff of fog or sullen rain cloud is left in the sky when the real north-wester gets busy, so our kinks and cranks wouldn't exist after our special brand begins to work. We would come to our work of a morning in a mood that would scatter smiles around us as thick as golden leaves on the lawn in October, and not a soul in the office or at home, but would be the better for contact with us. For one of the best things about the mental northwester is that it clears up more spirits than your own—be sure of that.

VEILS

NO other accessory to a woman's costume can so add or detract from a well groomed appearance as the arrangement of her veil. And it can add enormously to facial loveliness as well. Therefore, it should be given the proper thought and care not only in the selecting but in the wearing of it.

The smart woman has resolved this to a fine art. She adjusts it with as much care as she gives the coiffing of her hair and the poising of her hat. She fastens it securely and invisibly. She draws it together at the nape of the neck in exactly the right manner—that is to say, neither too tightly nor too loosely. She abhors knots and is horrified at the wisped ends into which the careless woman fastens her veils. Nor will she endure the half curtain effect, concealing only the front of the face and pulled up on the sides of the hat, nor the veil that dips and sags beneath the chin. A careful selection of the veils she wears will repay any woman. And after choosing those that are most becoming, if she will give the proper time and attention to their arrangement she will be astonished at the result. Thus an ugly woman may be transformed, for the time at least, into quite a pretty one if she will profit by these suggestions. But, after all is said and done, each week shows veils going more and more out of fashion.

SNIPPISH GIRLS

BY EDNA EGAN.

I HAVE just seen my niece Gladys, aged 16, in mortal wrath with her best boy friend.

"You must have done something," declared mama, wisely, as the pretty girl bounced into the room, declaring that Bob had called her "snippy" and that she was never going to see him again. "Think of him insulting me like that," fumed Gladys, "and then saying that he didn't want to know me any more!"

Again mama put in her oar. What did Miss Gladys do to Mr. Bob? After a moment of hesitation all the details of the scrap came out. Gladys had done something; moreover, she was always doing the same thing. She had mocked the boy friend before other girls, given him tart replies for his boy opinions on this and that subject, even suggested that he buy another sort of hat. She had been insolent, personal, rude, hateful. And yet poor, tormented Bob, who knew what a fine girl she was, with all her foolishness, had only called her "snippy." And he had gone off with the only threat any self-respecting boy would utter—he didn't want to see her any more.

Of course, it was difficult to get all of these admissions out of Gladys, but as she is an honest girl they did come to light finally.

"What am I going to do?" she said, tremulously, at last, for a nice girl wants to keep her boy friends as well as her girl intimates.

"Write and tell him you are sorry for your rudeness and will not be hateful again," said all the grown-ups, every one of whom knew that Bob was the sort of square, nice, sensible boy friend a girl couldn't afford to lose. Now there are a good many Gladyses in our youthful society only waiting for a chance to make boy friends feel small before others and wretched in their company. These silly "snippy" girls haven't the least idea they are doing anything wrong when they gibe about boy friends' opinions or joke about his clothes or the way he has of doing things. They just behave like that because they have not found their bearings in masculine society, for every one of these pert girls knows well

HARMONIOUS CHANGES

BY MRS. McCUNE.

YOU are busy earning your living and have little time to bestow on the care of your living place; little time to pass in it, for that matter. So you neglect to make your surroundings as agreeable as you might. Your place is not "the right place." You get along somehow, thinking that some day or other you'll fix things up a bit, get a new rug or change the hangings or arrange the furniture more harmoniously, but let time pass without doing anything.

Well, you are making a mistake. You ought to recognize the importance in your life of your home, even though this home be no more than a room in a boarding house. There is no reason why you should not do all you can to make that room suit you. Instead of the heavy, ugly hangings that constantly distress you, you can put up others that will give you a sense of pleasure whenever your eye falls upon them. These need cost but little, but their color can be good, and you can hang them so that they fall in straight, restful lines. Then you can get a plain bookcase and a good lamp, instead of using the awful overhead lights. You can have a comfortable chair, a pretty tea table and small service and you can take the stereotyped pictures off the walls and hang up a few of your own. In the end you will find yourself with a real little home, instead of a mere stopping place where you were never comfortable nor content.

The harder you work the greater your need for congenial surroundings in your own time. There's fifty times the rest per minute to be got in a room that pleases you than in one that affronts you. The little murmur of appreciation your friends will give will be in itself a stimulus and refreshment.

We don't realize sufficiently the restoring or tiring effect of what we look upon. Color that soothes instead of irritates; lines that do not weary with a senseless intricacy, but whose flow produces a feeling of harmony; something particularly lovely that gives distinct pleasure whenever the glance falls upon it—above all, that conviction of being, as the French say, "at yourself"—these are things of actual value and well worth taking time and trouble to procure. We think a lot about not making ourselves physically uncomfortable and would not continue to sit in an uncomfortable chair or in a constrained position. But we don't seem to care a hang very often how much we weary or insult our eyes, our feeling for beauty. Yet these are quite as important to our well being as the muscles of our body.

Devote all the time and as the pains necessary to securing the very best place possible, the "right place," as far as you are concerned. It is an investment, thoroughly worth while, as you'll soon admit—and you'll find yourself enjoying the thought of it even when you are away.

NEVER allow a cooking utensil to stand and dry before washing. Put cold water in it immediately.

WHEN making fudge or molasses candy if the dish is greased a little below the rim the candy will not boil over.

IF the small pieces of nutmeg are saved until there are enough to put into the meat grinder (with the fine knife on), there will be a great saving of nutmegs and also fingers.

FRENCH chalk is especially good for cleaning embroidery that is too fragile to be washed with soap and water. The chalk should be made quite hot and sprinkled thickly over the embroidery, which is then rolled up carefully so that the chalk is inside. Allow it to stand in a dark place for a week or two and then shake out all the chalk. This will leave the embroidery quite fresh.

TO clean statuary or ornaments of white parian marble put a small tablespoonful of washing soda into a pail half full of tepid water. Soap yellows marble and should not be used. Scrub gently with a nail brush, after which rinse twice. Wipe dry with a clean towel. Be sure the ornaments are perfectly dry before they are put back in their places, for if they are not a moist ring at the base of each may injure the table or mantel on which they stand.

TO keep your lace door panels from shrinking after removing them from the rods wash the glass. Then wash and starch the lace, slip in the rods immediately and replace the panel on the door. Care should be observed to pull the lace straight, tacking down the sides if necessary to stretch the panel. Allow it to dry in position.

IF you find insects when washing lettuce put it through salted water, then rinse again in clear. But be sure not to leave in the salted water more than a minute or it will wilt.

IN cellar or pantry, where it is difficult to keep the air dry, place bowls of unslacked lime on shelves near the food. The lime, of course, should be renewed from time to time.

A FEW drops of turpentine boiled with the fine white clothes will make them beautifully white. The laundry maid should not hold her face too near to the copperful of clothes when removing them from the boil, as turpentine, though useful as a bleach, is bad for the eyes. The bleaching process may be made more complete by spreading the clothes to dry upon the lawn or hedges in the sunshine.
