TALLULAH FALLS SUIT WON BY POWER COMPANY

Attorney General Felder Files Motion for a New Trial, Which Will Take Case to Supreme Court.

STATE LOSES AFTER 3 DAYS' LEGAL BATTLE

Verdict for Georgia Railway and Power Company Returned After the Jury Had Been Out Two Hours.

By J. Walter LeCraw. Clayton, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The Georgia Railway and Power company won the verdict in the Tallulah Falls land suit this evening, bringing to a close the three days' hearing in Rabun county superior court. The verdict was returned at 6:15 p. m. after the jury had been in session for over two hours, and was announced by Daniel M. Kell, foreman, a gray-haired man of over 60 years, and one of the oldest and most picturesque citizens of this county. Attorney General T. S. Felder immediately gave notice of motion for a new trial. This will carry the question before the supreme court of Georgia, where, it is predicted, that even a hotter fight will be waged than the one just fought at Clayton. The courtroom was only moderately filled when the verdict was read. Congratulations were passed among the lawyers for the power company, who, with Preston Arkwright, president of the company, had been in court awaiting the verdict for two hours. Judge J. B. Jones, in charging the jury of eleven farmers and a school teacher, stressed the necessity of considering the case only from the standpoint of the law and justice, urging them not to be influenced by prejudice or emotion. He also stressed the value of the plots in settling the old cases which was one of the main arguments of the power company's attorneys. Deep Attacks Mrs. Longstreet. TWO NEW ARRESTS IN DOUBLE MURDER; MYSTERY DEEPENS

"Red" Merchant, Chum of Wade Stevens, Arrested, and Man Is Held as Half-Breed Suspect.

ATLANTA DETECTIVE TO AID DEKALB MEN

William Stevens Establishes Alibi for His Son, Who Came Back to Atlanta Last Night.

Detective John Black returned from Chattanooga at 3:05 o'clock this morning with Wade Stevens and Colbert (Red) Merchant, who were ordered held by the coroner in connection with the death of Mrs. Sarah S. Stevens. The Stevens boy denied all knowledge of the crime. He says he went to Chattanooga on his way to Knoxville to get a job. He says he left Atlanta at 8:05 o'clock Tuesday night, and arrived in Chattanooga at 11:50 that night. Red Merchant corroborated his story. Detective Black believes both boys are telling the truth, and that they did not know anything of the burning of the Stevens home until they were arrested. Both were held at police barracks.

Two new arrests were made late Thursday afternoon in the double murder of Mrs. Sarah C. Stevens and her daughter, Nellie, who were slain at midnight Wednesday and cremated in the flames of their home at the McDonough roadside, near Constitution. The most important arrest was that made late in the afternoon by the police of Fairburn, Ga., who captured a suspect loitering about the city, who is believed to be the Mexican half-breed who has been sought since the murders' discovery.

He gives the name of Frank Griss. His description, the Fairburn authorities say, tallies exactly with that of the half-breed at whom Mrs. Stevens fired two shots recently, when he was found lurking around the home in which she was slain. The other arrest was that of "Red" Merchant, the youth who accompanied the suspected son, Wade Stevens, on his tramp to Chattanooga. Young Merchant was only 17 years old, was caught by Detective John Black, of police headquarters, shortly after he had taken the Stevens boy into custody.

Son of Former Teacher. Merchant is a son of Professor J. F. Merchant, the former principal of the East Atlanta public school, who a year or more ago was the chief figure in a sensational trial before the board of education, which resulted from charges instituted against the principal by patrons of the East Atlanta school. He arrived in Atlanta last night, looking for the arrival of his son. The Merchant boy was a newsbutcher on the Georgia railroad, having been in the employ of the Central News company for considerable while. He was the companion of Wade Stevens, whom he had known when the Stevens family resided in East Atlanta. He now is on his way to Atlanta and will be held at police headquarters for investigation.

Assistant Chief Jett received a telegram last night from the chief of the Fairburn police. He wired immediately asking that the suspect be held until the arrival of a man from Atlanta to identify the captive. A detective will leave Fairburn early this morning. The mystery of the murder of Mrs. Sarah Stevens and her daughter, Nellie, became more of a mystery Thursday afternoon, when the husband and father of the victims, William Stevens, arrived in Atlanta and declared at the undertaking shop in which lay the cremated skeletons of his loved ones that his son, Wade, was seen at 5 a. m. Wednesday in Chattanooga.

This eliminates the wayward youth from suspicion. The fire in which the mother and daughter were burned to death began at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday night, as has been stated by a railroad fireman. It is five hours wide to Chattanooga. Young Stevens could not have committed the crime, it is said by detectives, and catch an outgoing train which would put him in the Tennessee city before 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. Wade Stevens Arrested. Wade was arrested Thursday afternoon in Chattanooga, and arrived in Atlanta last night at 7:30 o'clock, in charge of Detective John Black, of police headquarters. He told the detective, when discovered, that he was glad of the opportunity to return home and be present at the funeral of his mother and sister. He denied all knowledge of the murder until told of it by Black. One of the most sorrowful of the

A COSTLY "VICTORY"

ATLANTA TO BUY CREMATORY NOW AND END MUDDLE

Ashley Willing to Be One of 276 Citizens to Contribute $1,000 Each and Purchase the Plant for Cash.

The city will pay $276,000 on the crematory contract in 1918 as a solution of the garbage muddle resurrected by the decision of the state supreme court Wednesday afternoon. Following a conference of leaders in council yesterday afternoon, it was announced that Chairman W. G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, will offer a resolution in council Monday afternoon, providing for the payment of the money on a new contract to be drawn up to conform with the court's ruling. Attorney James G. Woodward, the only formidable foe of the crematory project, says that he will not consent to council sidetracking special projects to carry out the crematory deal. He says that he will refuse to sign any warrants until the contract is made legal and a scheme devised which will not hurt the improvements that are necessary this year.

"Everyone seems to be alarmed all of a sudden over the possibility of people dying like flies this summer," Mayor Woodward said. "Why didn't they think about that in the first place? There doesn't seem to be much danger from that source. What is the finance committee and council going to do about the children of Atlanta who are housed in improvised schools which have been condemned by the newspapers as being fire traps and insanitary. Attorney George Spence, of the firm of Eving, Spence & Moore, said Thursday afternoon that he was satisfied the city would meet the crisis. He said that he was not worried over the financial end of the contract, that his sole idea has been to get the plant up and burning garbage by June.

"Can Get It, Despite Woodward." If council passes up the money through the finance committee there will be no trouble getting it over the protests of Mayor Woodward," he said. "We have evaded taking the initiative in litigation, and we hope that when the court's ruling is conforming with Mayor Woodward will not force the company to mandamus him." Mayor Woodward stands alone in his fight against the crematory. Alderman John E. McCalland, who led the mayor's fight against the crematory in council, is away on leave of absence. Councilman Claude L. Ashley, of the fourth ward, who was one of the strongest supporters of Mayor Woodward's fight against tearing down the old $50,000 plant on Hulsey street, says he will be one of 276 citizens of Atlanta.

CATTLE AND GRAIN ON THE FREE LIST

Senate Committee May Make Change to Equalize Duties on Raw Materials and Their Products.

Washington, May 29.—Whether to put cattle, wheat and oats on the free list or to put a duty on their products is one of the absorbing problems of the senate finance committee just now in revising the Underwood tariff bill for senate consideration. Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee; John Sharp Williams, chairman of the sub-committee handling the agricultural schedule; and Representative Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee, discussed the matter with President Wilson today. The president is reported to have agreed with Senator Williams and Senator Simmons that raw materials and their products in the agricultural schedule should be equalized in the bill, instead of placing raw products in the dutiable list and making means and flour free as in the bill at present. To equalize them was determined upon several weeks ago, and the senate sub-committee today is reported to have decided also to put cattle, sheep and hogs and wheat and oats on the free list.

Whether the president agreed to free listing of the raw materials or urged that the agricultural products be made dutiable in conformity with the tariff duties on raw materials was not disclosed after today's conference, but democratic senators were resigned to the generally accepted report that all these articles would be placed on the free list.

Imports in United States Ships. They were also generally in accord with the definite announcement by Senator Simmons after his conference with the president that the 5 percent tariff discount on imports in American ships would be stricken from the bill. Representative Underwood and other house leaders, however, are not satisfied that the discount conflicts with treaty provisions, and they are expected to make a fight to have the clause re-inserted when the bill reaches conference. Free wool and free sugar as provided for in the Underwood bill tonight are regarded to be in a stronger position than ever, and tightening of the strings on these administration measures is reported to be due largely to President Wilson's Wilson's recent attack on efforts of lobbyists to change the sentiment as to these schedules. One democratic senator who heretofore has been of the mind that a small duty should have been placed on wool and that free sugar in three years should not have been imposed, changed his mind today. He now says he is convinced that both industries can get along without protection. Cotton Schedule Rescinded. The cotton schedule is reported now to be very unsatisfactory in many in-

AS WILSON "FANS" SENATE ORDERS PROBE OF LOBBY

Senators Must Even Testify Under Oath Concerning Their Own Interests in Revision of Tariff.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, May 29.—(Special.)—President Wilson played a Rooseveltian trick on the senate today. He went to the ball game and left his "colleagues of the senate" to pass a resolution for the investigation of "numerous, industrious and insidious lobby," which he charged on Tuesday is seeking to amend the Underwood bill. Not only the professional lobbyists are to be investigated, but senators are put on the defensive and must investigate themselves and testify under oath concerning their private business and interest in any industry affected by tariff revision.

Amendment by Kern. The amendment offered to the Cummins resolution by Senator Kern, the democratic leader, relieves the president from naming the lobbyists he had in mind. It, however, "respectfully invites" him to furnish the senate any information in his possession. Senators who have financial or professional interest in any schedule of the tariff bill must testify under oath before the judiciary committee about that interest. They must tell whom they have seen in the tariff and what representations have been made to them and what methods have been used to influence their votes.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming, who is largely interested in wool growings, must tell the committee about that interest. Senator Smoot, of Utah, who as representative of the Mormon church, controls large beet sugar and wool industries, must give testimony to that effect before his colleagues. Senator Lippitt, of Rhode Island, who offered the amendment requiring senators to make a clean breast of their personal interest in the tariff, is a heavy investor in New England cotton mills. President Wilson has forced disclosures of personal interests before instead of after the bill is passed. President Wilson, in his talk with the newspaper correspondents, today declared he was in sympathy with the proposed investigation, and would be glad to furnish the names of the lobbyists to whom he referred if "public necessity required." Under the resolution which was adopted as introduced by Senator Cummins, with amendments by Senator Kern, the judiciary committee is directed to report its findings within ten days.

HELPED FRANK DISPOSE OF MARY PHAGAN'S BODY CONLEY NOW CONFESSES

Negro Sweeper Who Swore to Detectives That He Wrote Murder Notes Found Near Dead Girl's Body Now Admits His Complicity in Case, According to Statements Which Have Stirred Police Headquarters as Nothing Since Murder.

LANFORD AND BEAVERS PLEASED OVER RESULT OF GRILLING NEGRO. THEY ANNOUNCE TO REPORTERS.

Police and Detective Heads Refuse to Go Into Details of Negro's Statement Or to Discuss What He Said, But Declare That It Will Prove a Big Factor in the Murder Case—Negro Will Be Subjected to Another Third Degree Today.

Dumfounding his hearers with the confession that he had helped Leo M. Frank lower the lifeless body of Mary Phagan into the darkness of the pencil factory basement, James Conley, the negro sweeper, is authoritatively said to have made that astounding admission during a strenuous third degree at police headquarters late Thursday afternoon.

He is said to have minutely described the movements of himself and Frank as they packed the mutilated form from the office floor of the building down into the dark cellar, where it was left in the desolate recess in which it was discovered the following morning.

Saying he had found the girl stone dead when he entered the building at 1:15 o'clock with the suspected superintendent, he is declared to have admitted that he and Frank proceeded immediately to remove the corpse, silently and with utmost precaution, to its hiding place in the basement.

CONLEY ASKED NO QUESTIONS. Through fear he states he did not ask his employer how the little girl met her death. He is said to have told the police that he asked no questions, carried out Frank's instructions to the letter, and departed directly after he emerged from the grewsome trip into the basement.

The girl's body was found, crumpled in a heap, gashed and distorted, secreted on the second floor, he is said to have confessed during the examination, when he arrived with Frank in the building. Frank said but few words, the negro is averred to have told, but helped to carry the corpse to its place of discovery beneath the factory.

As a result of the negro's confession, police headquarters is stirred as never since the murder. Both Chief Lanford and Chief Beavers declared to reporters that they were pleased even beyond expectation over the result of the Conley cross-examination. It was the most exacting of his entire imprisonment.

"UNCLE REMUS" BOUGHT BY WALTER PULTZER

Washington, May 29.—Announcement was made here today of the purchase by Walter Pultzer, of New York, of the "Uncle Remus" Magazine, founded several years ago by the late Joel Chandler Harris, at Atlanta, Ga.

Although the source of The Constitution's information is substantial and authoritative, police officials refuse to discuss the negro's admission in detail. The police and detective chiefs will not commit themselves, and they neither deny nor affirm the information obtained by a Constitution reporter. The admission is said to have been made between 4:30 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon to Lanford, Beavers, Harry Scott, Secretary Feubary and Detective Pat Campbell.

Will Frank See the Negro? A strong effort will be made today to confront the accused factory superintendent with Conley and his confession. Detectives who pin faith to the negro's story and believe Frank guilty, speculate upon the prisoner's unwillingness to face the sweeper. If he is not guilty, to feel the likely would not object to facing the negro. They say that it is damaging to his plea of innocence to refuse the negro an audience.

For four hours Thursday afternoon, Conley was subjected to the third degree. Newspaper reporters who usually hovered in convenient vicinity of the door leading to Chief Lanford's office, in which the examination was held, were "shooed" away and ordered to remain a good distance from the place. The interrogation proceeded quietly, unlike the customary police third degree, in which loudness, abrupt orders and threats play prominent parts. Only a few husky sounds, stifled through the lattice work above the door, the entire third floor, where the detective department is situated, was redolent with the atmosphere of mystery. If everybody could see the proceedings, the lattice work above the door, the entire third floor, where the detective department is situated, was redolent with the atmosphere of mystery. If everybody could see the proceedings, the lattice work above the door, the entire third floor, where the detective department is situated, was redolent with the atmosphere of mystery.

Officials Are Greatly Pleased. The examination over, the police chiefs, Harry Scott, the Pinkerton man, Secretary Feubary and Detective Campbell emerged with satisfied smiles overspreading their features. Conley, his fingers twitching nervously as though the handcuffs he wore were chafing his wrists, came out between Scott and Campbell. Sweat streamed from his brow, and he was plainly agitated.

He was removed to his cell in the prison downtown. It was planned to subject him to a further interrogation at night, but his pathetic plea for sleep and rest prevailed, and he curled up on his cell bunk and was sound asleep by 5 o'clock. He will be again examined today, however. He slept well throughout the night; in fact, better than he has slept since having

NEW COMIC FEATURES FOR THE SUNDAY

CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution next Sunday will begin the publication of two entirely new Comic Pages, in four colors, by two of the most popular "funny picture" artists in the country. They are entitled

SAMMY WISE, OF U. S. A.

THE QUALITY KID

The first consists of the adventures of an American boy touring Europe. He is a mischievous chap and has many excruciatingly funny experiences at the discomfiture of all those around him. The places he visits are drawn with accuracy so that Constitution readers who have visited the same places will recognize them instantly. The page will be found not only amusing but educational.

The Quality Kid gives the experiences of a rich little boy, who lives in luxury and amid the depressing ceremony of aristocracy, but who is democratic at heart and really likes the boys and girls of the streets, for whom he gives a party. There is a lot of trouble at the party. Spike, a big bulldog from the streets, causes most of it.

The Comic Section also contains, in new form, the two popular pages

Hank the Hermit, by Walt McDougall

Jolly Jumpers, by Harrison Cody

These four pages of comic pictures, all drawn by artists of national reputation, together with the Magazine and Household Pages in four colors, comprise the most attractive color section of any Southern Sunday Newspaper.

He says he expected from Frank or Frank's friends. Final Proof, Says Lanford. Chief Lanford and Scott announced Thursday that they considered the negro's final affidavit proof conclusive of the suspected superintendent's guilt, and were thereby ready to place the case on trial at any date set by the superior court, before which it will be tried some time during the latter part of next month.

stances to the finance sub-committee, and it is to be generally rearranged and many items are to be changed, the duties in most cases to be increased from the Underwood rates. Again today the Williams sub-committee was at work on the income tax section of the bill and a comprehensive brief, supplementing his oral testimony, was filed by Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance company, opposing the taxing of mutual life insurance companies. Mr. Kingsley revealed a point hitherto not discussed, that "the bill entirely ignores the fundamental provision which says that incomes under $4,000 shall not be taxed."

Declaring that there are no profits in mutual life insurance companies, and that they should be exempted from the income tax, just as mutual fire companies are, he pointed out that by state and federal governments life insurance companies and their members already were taxed $22,500,000 annually, $15,000,000 being the corporation tax, which is to be re-enacted in this bill.

Representative Hull, of Tennessee, author of the income tax, has urged the finance committee to exempt life insurance from the tax. He has also found unpublished documents showing the very beginning of courts in Georgia. These ancient writs give the names of the court, the attorneys, and the jury.

LAMAR AND COBB ADDRESS LAWYERS

Eloquent Speeches Mark the Sessions of Annual Meeting of State Bar Association at Warm Springs.

Warm Springs, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Mr. Justice Joseph R. Lamar, of the United States supreme court, delivered the principal address at the annual meeting of the Georgia Bar association last night before over 200 lawyers who had come from all parts of the state to attend the three-day session in Warm Springs, Ga.

He spoke on "The History of the Organization of the Supreme Court," emphasizing the early history of Georgia law and its development and influence on present existing laws, a subject which has always interested him.

His investigation of Georgia's part in giving to the country its present system of justice, as he has presented as the basis for his talk Monday night. "I am a Georgia lawyer, talking to Georgia lawyers on a Georgia subject," he said.

He then turned to the discovery in London of a number of hitherto unpublished records which showed the litigation between Georgia and South Carolina, Mr. Justice Lamar traced Georgia's interstate commerce back to commerce in that ancient Georgia gull against South Carolina, William Murray, afterwards the great Lord Mansfield, was the attorney for Georgia, and John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church, was the attorney for South Carolina.

On July 7, the first courts for the orderly administration of justice were organized in Georgia. A jury of citizens was impaneled, and a case was tried. For many years thereafter July 7 was celebrated as the anniversary of the first court in Georgia.

On July 22 and Thanksgiving day, Lamar traced the gradual unfolding and development of Georgia law, and showed its influence on the present; how what was harmful had been eliminated, and only that tested by time and experience remained.

The address of Justice Lamar was a masterful one and was received with great enthusiasm by the bar association.

Hon. Hamilton McWhorter, of Athens, spoke against the recall of judges, and Alex. Smith, who was in Tallulah, had a paper read in which he urged some action regarding the admission of lawyers from other states to practice in Georgia courts.

In an inclusive conservative address on "Reverence and Relevancy," Judge Andrew J. Cobb addressed the Bar association this morning. In brief, he said:

"We are living in an irrevocable age. We are also living in an age that is irrelevant. Men who have lost the sense of reverence, or willfully disregard its promptings, challenge the attorney's duty to stand for the best and favored of cooperation between the legislative committee of the bar association and the next legislature to establish the requirements of lawyers who seek to practice in Georgia.

TURKEY AND BALKANS SIGN TREATY TODAY

London, May 29.—The treaty of peace between the Balkan allies and Turkey, which will be known as the peace of London, will be signed at noon tomorrow at St. James palace, and render justice to Greece.

Bulgaria and Turkey refused absolutely to have anything to do with a protocol, the former regarding it as too likely to open fresh and undesirable discussions. The latter as betraying a lack of deference to the powers.

All efforts of Russia to bring about peace between Bulgaria and Greece apparently have failed and the worst is feared. Meanwhile the allies are throwing enormous bodies of troops into Macedonia to occupy disputed territory.

FAVORS CREMATORY.

ALDERMAN A. H. VAN DYKE, Who is now one of the most ardent supporters of plan to purchase new crematory.

ATLANTA TO BUY CREMATORY NOW

Continued From Page One. To pay $1,000 each to pay for the plant. Alderman Arthur H. Van Dyke, who also supported Mayor Woodward in his numerous clashes with council over the crematory contract, says that he will vote for the payment of the $275,000 this year, even at the sacrifice of every other project under consideration.

Within the next fifteen days the first unit, which will have a capacity of seventy-five burials, will be ready to burn garbage. P. D. Cannon, superintendent in charge of the construction of the plant for the Destructor company, declared Thursday that he has been selecting his crew to erect the plant for the first few weeks.

Mayor Woodward believes that the city can negotiate with Manager Dowd for the purchase of the plant outright; on a business basis. He said Thursday that he was of the opinion that the city could get the plant on a cash basis for about $40,000 less than the contract price.

Council Opposed to Mayor. Council is solidly lined up against Mayor Woodward, but it is admitted that he is the factor in the fight. A resolution reported by the finance committee urging council to appropriate $275,000 this year to pay for the plant will not be adopted by the council, but without the approval of the mayor it would be delayed two weeks by his veto.

Should Mayor Woodward defeat the aim of council to pass up the money to pay for the plant this year, it is still within the province of council to impose a tax levy of one-fifth of one per cent on the city's property, which would give the city $25,000 this year, and added to the $25,000 already provided for in the budget, will make the sum $50,000. The rest could be supplied from the revenue for the year without interfering with special projects.

City Attorney James L. Mayson says the only sure way for council to get the plant is to submit the old contract to a vote of the people. Under the charter it will require two-thirds of the registered voters to pass.

Mayor Woodward also favors this plan. He says that if the people pass on the contract he will pay the money, even though it be five million dollars.

Candler Makes Statement. Alderman John S. Candler, once a member of the supreme court, who stubbornly resisted Mayor Woodward's fight, made the following statement Thursday:

"I have no doubt but that there is some legal way whereby the council can protect the health of the citizens. I consider the public health the most important of all questions in the city government. Just now the most important health question is to dispose of garbage. The best way to dispose of garbage, and the only possible way to dispose of it this summer is by completing the Destructor company's plant. If it becomes necessary the council should stop all other public work in order to pay the whole price of the plant this year. Health is far more important than widening streets or building new school houses.

"As to the plant, it is worth every dollar of the $275,000 which the city proposes to pay for it. I have examined it carefully several times myself, and have the opinion of engineers, both those employed by the city and others whose opinion I have taken occasion to obtain. They all agree that the plant is a magnificent piece of work, worth every dollar of the $275,000, and will have it at the end of the year, through the judicious disbursement of the city funds by the committee.

ALSTON CHANCELLOR OF ATLANTA DIOCESE

Council Adjourns at Athens After 12-Hour Session—Change of Name Tabled.

Athens, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The council of the diocese of Atlanta adjourned tonight at 1 o'clock after twelve hours of work.

Officers were elected as follows: Robert T. Alston, of Atlanta, chancellor; George C. Stowers, of Atlanta; registrar; E. R. Stetson, of Macon, secretary; Rev. John D. Wing, Atlanta, secretary.

Change of Name Tabled. In the mooted question of taking a stand on the proposed change of the name of the church from the "Catholic Church of America," the report of the special committee was adopted, that report being noncommittal, except to declare no change at this time.

Delegates Named. Delegates and alternates were named as follows: Revs. Wilmer and Pile, of Atlanta; Episcopos, Atlanta; Messrs. Mckernon, of Athens; Z. D. Harrison, of Atlanta; Thomas Eggleston, Atlanta; S. Grantland, Griffin; Alternates: Revs. H. K. Smith, W. W. Wray, Columbus; W. M. Menninger, Atlanta; C. D. Huggins, Rome; Thomas E. Perry, Columbus; C. E. Pollard, Atlanta; R. D. Lawrence, Marietta; D. B. Harrell, Macon.

Mrs. Pettigrew Heads Auxiliary. The annual convention of the woman's auxiliary and junior auxiliary of the diocese was concluded yesterday in the election of officers, as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, Atlanta; president, Mrs. C. L. Pettigrew, Atlanta; vice president, Miss Essaline Britton, Athens; secretary, Mrs. Lena Swift Huntley, Atlanta; Miss Sarah White, Tallulah Falls, for Athens convocation; Mrs. Wm. E. Martin, Macon, for Macon-Columbus convocation; Mrs. C. E. Huggins, Rome, secretary, Tallulah Falls; Mrs. M. W. Woodberry, Atlanta, assistant; Miss R. Collins, Macon; treasurer, Mrs. Wheat Griffin, custodian united offerings, Mrs. Mallory Taylor, Macon; secretary special club, Miss Minnie Harper, Atlanta; president junior auxiliary, Miss Mary Pearson, Atlanta; secretary, Miss Bessie Little, Marietta.

These were chosen to attend the triennial meeting in New York. Mrs. Nellie Black, Atlanta; Mrs. Pettigrew, Atlanta; Miss Woodberry, Atlanta, and Mrs. Taylor and Miss Pearson, of Macon.

$14,000 Balance. Reports showed $14,000 more than all the apportionments. Miss Woodberry presided over the sessions of the women's auxiliary in the home of Mrs. LeConte Furman, of Macon.

The bishop, Miss Woodberry, Rev. Thomas Duck and others addressed the auxiliary meeting. Miss Mary Pearson, of Macon, gave an interesting account of the triennial meeting. Mrs. Nellie Black, of Atlanta, spoke inspiringly on the forward movement in the far east; Mrs. Mallory Taylor addressed the meeting on "United Offerings," and

Must Have It, Says Van Dyke. Alderman A. H. Van Dyke, one of those who most actively opposed the plan to purchase the plant, said today that he was lined up with the mayor against the new one, has now changed his position and says that since the work has almost been completed there is but one thing for the city to do, and that is to take over the crematory at once and put it to work before the summer sets in.

"It is not a question as to how it can be done," said Alderman Van Dyke yesterday. "It is simply a question of doing it in the most sensible and safe thing that is left for it to do. Atlanta never yet faced a crisis without some way being found to meet it, and it seems to me that the way now is to sidetrack everything else and get the crematory out of the city funds that will be collected this year even if we have to sidetrack everything else to do it."

"I speak not only as a member of council but as a physician, and I wish to say that the health of the city of Atlanta is the first and foremost consideration, and I would have my right arm withered before I would place myself in a position where I could be held responsible for the death of one single person—and I say solemnly, as a physician, that unless this crematory is put to work as soon as possible the penalty of many deaths this summer is going to be paid on one body."

That's why we say so much about $25 for a suit; it's price enough to get really good clothes.

ASTOR HOUSE CLOSSES ITS HISTORIC CAREER. New York, May 29.—The Astor house formally closes its historic career of seventy-seven years tonight with a jollification of transients and tradition-loving New Yorkers.

An impressive roster of famous men has enjoyed the old landmark's hospitality, from Daniel Webster and other heroes and statesmen, down to modern notables.

The six-story building was completed in 1826 by the first John Jacob Astor, at a cost of about $325,000, of which $100,000 represented the value of the land. Illustrating the marvelous realty appreciation of the neighborhood the present value of the site for rebuilding purposes is estimated at more than $2,500,000.

You can get lots of clothes "made-to-measure" at the price of good ready clothes; or even at less; there are plenty of so-called "custom tailors" who will "make to measure" a suit at $15, $18, $20, $25.

If you know anything about making clothes you know it can't be done, if you are to get anything like respectable quality.

If your clothes are bought solely on the basis of price, without reference to intrinsic values in fabrics, linings, tailoring, we're not "in it" with these "custom tailors;" go your way in peace.

We find, however, a growing sense among intelligent men, of the fact that there's no magic in clothes-making that will put quality-value into poor materials and cheap workmanship. They're coming to see that good materials and high-class tailoring are best for them; and that the only way to get them is to pay the price.

That's why we say so much about $25 for a suit; it's price enough to get really good clothes.

VETERANS MOUNTED ON U. S. ARMY HORSES

Mounted Cavalry Corps of Gen. Forrest Forms Inspiring and Impressive Feature of the Parade.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 29.—With flags furled and kits packed, many survivors of the southern army who attended the twenty-third annual confederate veterans' reunion here departed for their homes tonight.

Robert Nolen, a veteran from Houston, Texas, fell down the steps of the city auditorium and sustained a broken neck.

B. F. Moore, of Ft. Worth, Texas, who was injured in a fall yesterday, died at a local hospital today.

Scenes tonight at the railroad stations brought tears to the eyes of thousands of visitors who were returning to their homes after attending the reunion.

willing hands were ready to assist them. The climax of the reunion came today when several thousand veterans marched and rode through the city streets in their annual parade.

General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, Ky., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, led the parade on a prancing horse from his native state.

A picturesque feature of the parade was the presence of several "dickies" who followed their masters through the war between the states.

This afternoon the "Fled Piper of Hamelin" was presented in a local park by several hundred school children in honor of the veterans.

In an official memorial to the United Confederate Veterans tonight, General Young calls attention to the significance attached to the furnishing of mounted horses to the veterans for today's parade.

"Tents and cots have been tendered by the United States government, but never before have the confederate veterans been supplied with government horses for their annual parade.

ONE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN BEDINGFIELD

Macon Man Found Guilty of "Shooting at Another"—Notice of Appeal Given.

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—This afternoon Judge H. A. Mathews, of the Bibb superior court, sentenced MARY BEDINGFIELD, found guilty of "shooting at another," to one year in the penitentiary.

Bedingfield, who is a mill supply agent, was tried yesterday for the shooting last fall of F. A. Guttenberger, the local music dealer, who he alleges he mistook for a burglar prowling about the back of his premises on Naylor avenue.

Many well known business men appeared in court to speak a good word for Bedingfield, and considerable stress was laid on the fact that he has a wife and a large family of daughters, who will be left without means of support.

Mr. Guttenberger, the victim of the shooting, has fully recovered, and with his wife, sat with the solicitor general during the trial of the case.

HUFF VERDICT REACHES MACON THIS MORNING

Opinion of Judge Grubb Mailed From Birmingham Thursday Afternoon.

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Word came from Birmingham today that Judge W. I. Grubb, of the United States district court, who presided here last week in the trial of Colonel W. A. Huff, charged with contempt of court, had mailed his opinion to the clerk of the court at Macon.

The opinion will reach Macon at 10 o'clock in the morning, but whether or not it will be opened is not known, owing to the fact that tomorrow is a legal holiday.

Colonel Huff was arrested for contempt of court in connection with letters he wrote and had delivered to Judge Emory Speer, of the southern district of Georgia, in which the judicial character of Judge Speer was attacked with reference to his handling of the Huff equity case.

In his order, Judge Grubb may either find Colonel Huff guilty and suspend sentence until he can come here at some later date to undergo the penalty or he can find him not guilty and direct his discharge.

ALLAVILLE MAN NEAR DEATH AS RESULT OF HAVING DRAWN GASOLINE INTO HIS LUNGS

Allaville, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—J. B. Williamson, a prominent merchant of this place, is lying at his home at the point of death, from pneumonia, brought on by his having accidentally sucked gasoline into his lungs a few days ago.

Williamson had driven in his automobile to a funeral, which took place about four miles from this place. When endeavoring to crank up his car to return to Allaville, he discovered that his gasoline was exhausted.

He was rushed to Allaville in an ambulance and physical claims called. The next day pneumonia developed, the course of the disease being marked by profuse and frequent hemorrhages from the lungs.

At a late hour tonight the physicians announced a slight improvement in Williamson's condition, and it is now thought that he will recover.

TO DISPOSE OF STOCK OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Two Alternate Plans Approved by Union Pacific Board and Put Up to Court.

TO DISPOSE OF STOCK OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Two Alternate Plans Approved by Union Pacific Board and Put Up to Court.

New York, May 29.—Two alternate plans for disposition of the $126,650,000 Southern Pacific stock owned by Union Pacific were approved by the Union Pacific board today.

Both plans will be submitted to the court for approval, with the request that the company be permitted to elect which it will adopt.

After the publication of this alternative plan, Union Pacific stock broke from 155 to 147 1/2, and steadily rallied to 145 1/2. Southern Pacific issued 2 points to 35, and rallied a point.

A statement issued by Chairman Lovett, of the Union Pacific executive committee, after the directors' meeting, outlined the plan as follows:

1. We propose to offer the Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific for public subscription in a way similar to that in which New York city bonds are offered, namely, to invite bids at such prices and for such amounts of stock as the bidder may desire, with a minimum price to be hereafter determined under which no stock will be accepted without such restrictions as the court may prescribe, respecting the amount of stock to be allotted to Union Pacific holders.

2. As an alternative, we propose to deposit the stock in the hands of some bank or trust company, as trustee, without voting power, subject to the holder of an affidavit that he is not the owner of any Union Pacific stock.

As this would result in declassification of the stock while held by the trustee, and as long as held by any Union Pacific shareholders, it is proposed that in this case, the certificates should be offered to the shareholders of the Union Pacific alone, at such price as the board of directors may hereafter determine, and at the time deemed necessary, the offer would be withdrawn.

Washington, May 29.—Attorney General McReynolds today said he had not seen the plans for the dissolution of the Union Pacific merger and was not prepared to comment upon them.

If the plans announced in New York today do not contemplate the separation of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific, the attorney general is expected to bring suit under the Sherman law to accomplish the end.

CARRANZA DEMANDS REMOVAL OF CONSUL

Eagle Pass, Texas, May 29.—The principal allegation against United States Consul Luther T. Ellsworth at Piedras Negras, contained in the message sent to the state department yesterday by Governor Carranza, demanding Mr. Ellsworth's removal, was "the openly sympathize with our enemies."

Carranza headquarters also alleged today that Mexican Consul Bravo, at Eagle Pass, is recruiting a force there to raid Piedras Negras, and they contended the United States government should pay as much attention to this as it does to the shipment of arms to the insurgents.

A COSTLY VICTORY.

The city's health takes right of way over every other conceivable consideration. That must be the first thought of the authorities and the people of Atlanta, following the smashing supreme court decision...

Those who carried the question of the legality to court have won a "victory," but it is likely to prove the most costly and critical in the history of the city. The court cannot be condemned. It was powerless, under the binding technicalities of the law and constitution, to decide otherwise.

If merely money were involved in the decision, the situation would not be so critical: the upsetting of the city's moral obligation would be bad, but even that not insurmountable. The tragedy of the thing is that Atlanta's chief defense against disease and death has been struck down on the threshold of summer.

The ultimate significance of the decision is that the supreme court has put squarely up to Atlanta the burden of finding some legal way for insuring the public improvements that are pressing even now, and that will crowd even more demandingly with the city's growth. The court has decided that the method whereby the city constructed the Auditorium, whereby the Inman pump, in a great emergency, was secured; whereby the city hall was bought from the government; whereby the great city bridges were built; whereby Piedmont park was secured—and many other improvements of like portent—is illegal. It is fortunate that they are all paid for and the titles clear. Only the crematory is involved in the present crisis.

The principle laid down by the supreme court affects not only Atlanta, but as well every city in Georgia. It is, perhaps, especially applicable to this municipality, since Atlanta has not in the past hesitated to pledge its good faith when the alternative was municipal paralysis or municipal lost opportunity. The moral obligation that descended from council to council was not legally binding; it could have been repudiated at will. But successive councils knew the city's sentiment and never hesitated each one to appropriate its particular pro rata share toward the liquidation of such obligation which, as the sole recourse in the premises, stood for legal indebtedness.

It is not strange that Atlanta was driven to an extra-legal method to keep its head above water, municipally speaking. With about the lowest tax rate of any city in its class in America, we have been pursuing the childish policy of trying to pay for upkeep and for the needs of growth out of income. The moral obligation phase has saved Atlanta and kept it reasonably up to date. That destroyed, we are absolutely forced to other measures, and, as The Constitution sees it, the first and inevitable recourse is a bond issue sufficient to catch up with present delinquencies, followed by a revised system to prevent the recurrence of these delinquencies.

Until Atlanta finds a way other than the now prohibited moral obligation way, the city's program of imperative improvements is wholly at the mercy of the whims or caprices of any one of her 175,000 population. The court, powerless in the premises, has placed in the hands of any one obstructor a sure weapon against the moral obligation method.

The city faces a crisis. Its welfare in every department is menaced until a solution is found.

GRAPE JUICE'S VINDICATION.

One is astounded by the possibilities growing out of the Colonel's libel suit against the Ishpeming editor. Already it is reported that some of the unkind radicals in Washington have proposed a "publicity for drinkers" bill as applied to statesmen, to supplement the one that already requires publicity for campaign expenses. In other words, the man in public life would be required to keep a scrupulous record of every libel absorbed during the course of the year. If he took only a solitary mint-julep on the hottest day of the 365, he would be compelled to tot it up on the account sheet. If he lingered too long at the banquet board the situation would become complicated. For arithmetical ability might become twisted along with speech, and how in the world could he be expected to make a competent record under these conditions? He would have to throw himself on the mercy of some friend, and suppose that friend had secret designs on the office of the bihulous one!

How would it look to have the newspapers publish, at the end of each year, the exact quantity of liquid refreshment consumed by every man in public life, from the president's chef on up, or down? Surely, such a list would contain queer revelations. And when it came to inebriety, what would be the test? In other words, when is a man drunk? The old formula ran to the effect that when the suspect could safely navigate the polysyllabic word "chrysanthemum" no man might accuse him. The sprightly New York World submits the following searching test:

"He is not drunk who from the floor can rise and drink and ask for more; But he is drunk who prostrate lies, Without the strength to drink or rise. Rather crude, on the whole. For what, under this criterion, would become of the peripatetic inebriates who plague every community and who can wobble their way from one ward to another without the slightest difficulty?"

Coming down to cases, we surmise that after all, Brother Bryan was not so brash as he is represented. The grape-juice dinner may not be as thrilling as the other kind, but it is perfectly safe.

WASTED HORSE-POWER.

The controversial troubles with which Atlanta is now plagued will vanish in a night if the suggestion of J. B. Wooten, of Cordele, published elsewhere, is adopted. We commend it with our whole heart.

Nature despises wasted horse-power, as she does a vacuum. A deal of horse-power is now running to expletives in Atlanta and going ineffectual over the mill-dam. Harness it! Set it to chopping cotton! Apply it to a few of the factories around Atlanta. If some of the energy being futilely discharged into the atmosphere were transformed into electricity there would be power enough and to spare to operate all the trolleys and the arc lights and the white way.

The process would clear up the situation marvelously and prove a sure cure for grouches and nervous tension and intemperance of speech. Personal squabbles look mighty small when one has finished wrestling with a row of begrassed cotton under a late May sun. Go to it, gentlemen, and vote Mr. Wooten a great constructive discoverer!

A DISAPPOINTING CLIMAX.

It begins to look as if those who had hoped that out of the war in the near east would rise a new nation under the flag of the Balkan federation will have their dreams for their pains. Bulgaria and Greece and Serbia are at daggers' points, and already fighting between them has been reported. The European powers threaten to intervene, since this internal strife may well reopen the entire troubled question. But even if Europe coerces peace between the warring Balkan states, there is no guarantee that it would be of long duration.

The truth is that, save in their animosity to the Turk, the aims and purposes of the Balkan states are, in many respects, antithetical. Heretofore the necessity of expelling the common enemy has forced the subordination of minor feuds. But with the Turk out of the way the quarrels that have for some time been brewing between Bulgaria and Serbia and Greece and Montenegro, not to mention neutral Roumania, are likely to reascend to the surface.

It appears that what is now needed more than anything else is one central powerful figure, with the force and diplomacy to reconcile the rival ambitions of the different small powers in the near east. Such a personality could readily write a large chapter of the world's history.

The Jacksonville Times-Union believes that "next year the office will seek the man in Florida." If so, it won't be different there. As in other states it will find the man camping on its front lawn.

The Colonel may take advantage of his enforced vacation to visit the ruins of Armageddon.

New News of Yesterday

How Andrew Johnson Was Nominated for Vice President.

By E. J. Edwards. (Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Chauncey M. Depew related to the recently the inner history of the manner in which Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, was nominated for vice president by the republican party. Instead of the distinguished son of New York, Daniel S. Dickinson, whom the leaders of the party had agreed to name as vice presidential candidate with Abraham Lincoln.

"Judge William C. Robinson, whose appointment as collector of the post of New York by President Garfield, in 1861, led to the resignation of Senator Roscoe Conkling, and Thomas C. Platt was chosen a delegate from Westchester county, New York state, to the republican national convention in 1864."

"I went with Judge Robinson to the convention and received the proxy of one of the delegates who could not be present. Judge Robinson suggested to me that we pay a visit to William H. Seward, then secretary of state, before attending the convention. We therefore left New York a day or two earlier than we would otherwise have done so that we might have ample opportunity to spend a few hours with Secretary Seward."

"Seward was a very warm personal friend of Judge Robinson. He owed in great measure his election to the United States senate for the second time to the support given him by Judge Robinson in the New York state legislature."

"We called upon Secretary Seward at the state department. He was extremely cordial. He invited us to take dinner with him and his family at his house, which fronted Jackson square, in Washington. None but members of his family was present at the dinner table. After dinner was over the family went from the dining room, leaving Seward, Judge Robinson and myself alone at the table."

"Mr. Seward said that he was very glad that we had come to see him, for he had a matter of great importance to talk over with us. I can repeat almost his precise words."

"He said: 'I understand that there has been a practical agreement among the republican leaders to nominate ex-Senator Daniel S. Dickinson for vice president on the ticket with Lincoln. Now I want to say to you that Lincoln himself will not in any way interfere with the action of the convention. Any man whom the convention is satisfied to nominate for vice president will be satisfactory to Lincoln.'

"Therefore, you must not suspect that what I am now going to tell you reflects in any way the view of the president. I greatly fear that the party will make a serious mistake if it nominates Dickinson for vice president. I know that, strong democrat as he was, he has become an even stronger union man, but I also know that except for the fact that he is a union man he is one of the most ultra-democrats in the country. Moreover, he is a man who cannot always control his temper. His discretion is not good. Now if anything were to happen to Lincoln so that Dickinson would become president, I think he would give the country a regular old-fashioned democratic administration."

"In my view, the wise nomination would be that of a man who represents the border states. I think that Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, fills the bill. He has been governor, statesman, in a poker game, he hasn't had a word to say about the money trust. I predict that he'll be dumb as a oyster on that subject till his last dollar's gone, and then he'll swear the money trust with sledge-hammer hicks: 'Lord, Lord, the power of sudden riches to muzzle the press!'"

THE MAN OF MYSTERY.

By Philip Whitten, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

Unknown to himself, he is unknown to others. The criminal is as much of an enigma to himself as to those who dread his presence. Society hates him, because society fears him. He hates society, because society has played him the coward. That he should brand a criminal is as surprising to him as to those who believe in his honesty. He does not picture himself as a man, low-browed, skulking malefactor, gloating in the blood of his victims. He never imagined that his heart was a craven engine of designing malice, that his eyes shone forth the light of lustful greed.

He knows society has gotten together a tremendous machinery, at enormous cost, to catch him and brand him as something he disclaims being. He knows that he is where he is, that the place is called a penitentiary, and that few of his fellows ever know enough about themselves to become penitent.

There is a reason for every man being what he is. The reason is a bald fact, apparent enough to those who track it down. The reason for a crime is not the fact that the perpetrator is a criminal. That is just a brand. Branded cattle are still cattle; branded men are still men. There are weak men, there are perverted men; but apart from these, there is no such thing as a criminal.

There is a reason, True penitence demands that this reason be made clear to the offender. Penitence begins in knowledge. A penitentiary that leaves the offender in ignorance of the reason—the particular nature of his peculiar perversion—is an institution based on hypocrisy, and wrong to its foundation.

Useless humiliation will not work the wonder of self-realization. To lower self-respect will only plunge the victim in denser darkness. Those who feared him when he was in their midst will have reason to fear him more. He will continue in his unreasonable way—a man of mystery, hating and hated.

A Worthy Movement.

Editor Constitution: In your issue of May 25 Mrs. Eugene M. Mitchell contributes an interesting and timely article on the subject, "The Defective Children of Georgia." I can heartily endorse everything Mrs. Mitchell says regarding these unfortunate children. I happen to have had some experience, in a professional capacity, with a few of these children, and I know that in point of fact the members of which have to work to support themselves and the smaller children, the presence of these defectives is a very serious problem. It is an absolute impossibility for them to be properly cared for at home. They are a heavy burden to the family, and often a perpetual nuisance to the neighbors. I knew one such, who when he became a large boy, roamed about the settlement daily, from month to month, and kept the good mothers of the community in constant dread, lest this foolish boy might take it in his head to harm some of the children whom he might chance meet on the road to school, or elsewhere. His parents could do nothing with him. We tried to get him into the hospital for the insane at Mill-Jedgeville, but the authorities there would not take him. So the community had to put up with him; there seemed to be no remedy except to chain him or kill him.

A very large per cent of these defectives could, if taken in charge when young, be developed and trained to a point where they would be self-supporting, and many of them could be made useful laborers. I shall be glad to help Mrs. Mitchell and her co-workers secure legislation looking to the proper care and training of these unfortunate children, which are now neglected.

But Mrs. Mitchell does not go far enough. We should do our full duty by these defectives that are now among us. The sentiments of humanity demand this. The principles of Christianity demand it. But we should adopt means if possible to prevent any further additions of this kind of children to our population. Can this be done by scientific legislation? I think it can. A bill will be introduced at the forthcoming session of the legislature legalizing and making compulsory the sterilization of idiots and confirmed criminals, individuals like the idiotic boy referred to above would come under the operation of this law, and but for the best medical authority in this country would go a long way in the prevention of imbeciles and idiots as well as criminals. The physicians of Georgia, in their annual meeting at Savannah last month, unanimously indorsed this law.

Will Mrs. Mitchell help us put this law on the statute books of Georgia? L. C. ALLEN, M. D., Representative-elect, Jackson County, Hoschtown, Ga., May 27, 1913.

Forgotten.

I matters nothing to be unknown, Though your name deeply be carved in stone, Time will efface it and spare it not— Soon are the dead by the world forgot.

What we should give us?

Why should it grieve us? This flesh of ours, Which the foul worm of the grave devours, Is but a cover, gossamer thin, Folding our souls' hidden life within.

Life that is hid as a seed's life is

In soil, or wings in a chrysalis, Till in due time the cover is shed, The seed is sprouting, the wings are spread.

What we in love shall have striven to do

Said or have done, that is good and true, Done for the Right and against the Wrong, Written in prose, or have sung in song.

These are the only enduring things

The life immortal that spreads its wings, And hovers in its heavenward flight away, When death has shattered the shell of clay.

What shall they profit us, short or bust?

Time will crumble them, sparing them not— Soon are the dead by the world forgot.

Gossip Caught in Corridors

Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 29.—(Special).—Fifty years have elapsed since the battle of Gettysburg. Had that mighty conflict resulted differently and the armies of Lee triumphed, the history of this country would have had to be rewritten.

But the confederacy there reached its high tide and then receded. In the fifty years that have elapsed changes have taken place, readjustments been made, enemies forgotten and friendships cemented. Hence there will gather on this field in July the survivors of the two armies that met here in the mightiest struggle the civil war.

On that field 171,000 men faced each other in July, 1863. A month from now the greatest reunion of these old veterans that has ever taken place will be held, under the auspices of the state of Pennsylvania and the federal government.

They will view again "Little Round Top," the key of the battlefield, and speculate on what would have happened if this strategic point had been taken by the confederates in the "day's battle." They will gaze with awe upon the general field of waving corn, where Pickett's Virginians swept forward across seven-eighths of a mile of level ground under the thunders of eighty guns. They will approach as a sacrificial altar the burnt remains in Devil's Den, where the sharpshooters gave up their lives to brothers-in-arms.

The state of Pennsylvania will bring together again these men of the north and of the south on one of the greatest battlefields of the world, to meet in deadly conflict, but to join hands in peace and unity, as the changes that fifty years have brought.

One Army Instead of Two. No higher evidence can be offered that the war is over, and that we are now a reunited country than this cementing and creating of brotherhood at Gettysburg. There will be 40,000 veterans of the north and two—one flag instead of two—of the south instead of two. There will be no rivalry, except the splendid rivalry of patriotism. A southerner will deliver the principal oration, and that at the request of the veterans of the blue, and in this splendid oration will be given the names of the splendid officers, and among them will be Representative Heflin, of Alabama, whose loyalty to the traditions of the south is only surpassed by his fidelity to his country, will draw closer and bind stronger the ties of patriotism and mutual admiration and interest existing now between the veterans of both these great armies.

These are the great things which will come to pass when the old soldiers meet at Gettysburg in one of the greatest celebrations which will ever be staged for a similar event. No other such celebration will be possible when the century mark has rolled around, and the nation's attention in this great battle will have been laid to rest. Their children may, and will, gather at the shrine made sacred by the blood and heroic deed of their fathers, but the coming celebration will be the only one where the real actors in that stirring drama can be brought on the stage for their final bow.

The United States, very properly, joined hands with Pennsylvania in making the affair a success. Other states have signified their intention of legislative act, of taking part in the celebration. Pennsylvania will send the veterans in their jurisdiction to the reunion.

Free Transportation for Veterans.

Each state will be given the option of determining to what veterans of the civil war it will issue free transportation. Pennsylvania's intention being that to such "honorably discharged" veterans as were "in war" as come to Gettysburg for the above celebration, either upon free transportation or at their own expense, and present proper credentials proving them to be such veterans, she will provide free tickets and transportation during that period, but she furnishes free transportation to no one save her own veterans. The national government furnishes no free transportation whatever.

In the final completion of all plans looking to this, the greatest reunion of the veterans of both armies since the war, it was decided that Pennsylvania, as the host, should provide all entertainment during the stay of the 40,000 veterans, and that she and the national government, together as provided in the act, should provide $1,000,000 by each paying $150,000 to the war department with the $300,000 total, should create and maintain a great camp and garrison equipment, with all quarters, mess-hall, hospital, hospital, and necessary supplies ample for the 40,000 veterans.

The camp, which has already been selected, comprises some 280 acres, starting about 200 yards from the high-water mark monument in the battlefield, and lying to the southwest of the town and partly upon the scene of the first day's fight.

Care of the Veterans.

Five thousand tents will be stretched over this vast area. Each tent will shelter twelve men, but on this occasion only eight veterans will be quartered in a tent. Each will be supplied with a cot, blanket and mess kit, the latter to become his property. Each tent will contain, also, two hand wash basins, buckets and lanterns. Toilet articles other than these must be furnished by the veterans themselves.

Every provision has been made to take care of the veterans. Their mail and telegrams will be looked after by a special postoffice; they will be served their meals at the end of the company street, and everything has been arranged except the disposition of baggage, which the veteran must take care of himself. Veterans have been warned against bringing trunks, only hand-bags being allowed, and also, a notice has been given that no women or children will be allowed to stay at the camp or to eat their meals there.

"It is announced that the camp will be opened in complete readiness for the reception of veterans on Sunday, June 23, 1913, the first day of the reunion. The camp will be kept open until the following Sunday, July 6, the last meal being breakfast that morning. No one, under any circumstances, will be allowed in the camp before or after these dates.

Each veteran must have an authentic credential showing him to be such. This credential must be his honorable discharge, or his pension certificate, or a certificate of service from the governor of the state in which he enlisted. This is to prevent the possibility of any real veterans enjoying the reunion planned for them at no small expense by the state of Pennsylvania and the United States government.

Get Good Price for Oats.

(From The Norman Park Press.) Several weeks ago the Colquitt county farmers could be seen hauling out wagon loads of oats, hay, corn, etc., for their stock, but now the program has fortunately been reversed and many of the planters are daily bringing to Moultrie wagon loads of oats that have been cut for hay. It is bringing a good price.

As has been stated before in The Observer, the oat crop last fall was the largest ever planted in this county, and now that the harvest has begun farmers are reaping a reward

PLAYERS CLUB TO DINE WITH MRS. R. L. COONEY

After rehearsing faithfully for ten nights in succession the members of the cast of the Players club will tonight dine with Mrs. R. L. Cooney at the Piedmont Driving club where a party of twenty will talk of their ambitions on the stage.

For no play yet presented has there been more hard work put in than for this one "The Impotence of Being Earnest" by the artist dramatist Oscar Wilde. The play is not long, but there is concentrated in it a world of action and thought and worldly philosophy and the members of the cast are putting their best effort in interpreting the meaning of the author.

While the players have studied and rehearsed their parts in officers of the club have been most interested and have attended the rehearsals regularly offering their suggestions taking the part of absent ones and assisting in the stage settings when necessary.

Mrs. John Marshall Slaton has a part which shows her in charming role as Mrs. William Owens and Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott and Miss Elidreth Burton Smith know every line of the three different parts and are wonderfully clever.

The gentlemen Mr. Marsh Adair, Mr. Hamilton Douglas Jr. Mr. Lamar Hill and Mr. Frank Taylor are worthy support to the ladies and every detail of the play is being worked out in truly professional style.

Seats are on sale for the performance which takes place next Tuesday evening June 3 at the Atlanta theater.

Evening Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Sharpe entertained a few friends informally at bridge last night their guests of honor Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Jones of New York Dr. and Mrs. G. K. Vardon and Miss Lane Watson of Annapolis Md.

The decorations were an artistic use of white roses and daisies and the table colors were carried out in pretty detail. A Dutch supper followed the game.

Mrs. Sharpe was becomingly gowned in white chiffon robe and lace.

Mrs. W. F. Cantrell will entertain this afternoon at her home on Gordon street in compliment to her daughter Mrs. D. S. Jones who has recently arrived from Arizona. The guests will include the members of Mrs. Cantrell's club and friends of Mrs. Jones.

May Festival Today

One of the most beautiful events of the season will be the May festival at Snap Bean Park Friday afternoon May 30 at 4:30 o'clock. This annual festival is given under the auspices of the United Remus Memorial Association directed and managed by Mrs. Bevard Montgomery who originated the idea four years ago when the association was first organized.

Miss Ethel Thornton will open the afternoon with a reading from Uncle Remus stories. Those who have heard Miss Thornton will be delighted to hear her again on this occasion as she is very talented in this line of work and all present will enjoy a rare treat.

Just before this reading all the children on the grounds will be invited in side the ribbons of the royal court and join Miss Harralson music director of the city schools in a May day song. The knights will then parade a long avenue leading to the throne and stand to the right and left of the throne. Miss Frances Stokes the pretty queen of last year with her maid of honor Miss Elva Keeton will shortly behind the knights and Miss Stokes take her seat and await the coming of the new queen. Clifford Smith the scepter bearer on ters the avenue, with Master Charles Ward who carries a white satin pillow bearing the queen's coronation. These are followed by the maids five of West Ends fairest young girls Misses Lucile Price Kathrine Hackett, Margie Kurfee, Sara Clemond and Mary Crusselle. These maids will walk in a line down the long white avenue and be met by the gallant young knights, Warren Pollard, Thomas Stokes Orville Floyd, Chandler Harris and Howard Crumley at the turn in the avenue when they meet together march up and salute Queen Frances. All eyes will next be directed to the dainty little flower girl Angel Allen Helen Beasley Cynthia Ward Ruth Johnson and the bridesmaids. These girls led by Elizabeth Body These little maids will carry long handled baskets of roses and the bright eyed pages Jack Poole Howard Arnold Tom Hill Frank Baker Smith, Harry Burdette and the flower girls will carry garlands of sweet peas. After these children have reached the throne the queen of the May Miss Kathrine Vickers approaches the avenue from Mrs. I. H. Hargis flower carrier who she has been in waiting beneath a large bow of crimson ramblers listening to the trumpet which will announce her arrival. She will walk to the throne by the high above her head by Newton McEathern and Brevard Montgomery. Miss Vickers is an unusually pretty brunette her wavy black hair forms a beautiful frame for her eyes. The queen of last year rises to greet her and places the crown of roses upon her head. This scene will form a beautiful picture. Around the throne will be gathered the knights and the maids will be led to their places in the royal court by Master William Dlabro and Miss Elizabeth Lovett. Next comes the final event of the afternoon the May pole dances. There will be three poles one with ribbons of pink and blue held by sixteen tiny girls. Christine Arnold Ada Nichols Annie Griffin Edna Body Elizabeth Lovett Ruth Williams Lulu Beckwith Louise Williams Jan Williams Lulu Barton, Lida Volberg Kathrine Poole Lloise Whitehead Mildred Case Laura Jones and Mary Lou Smith.

Red Velva Kisses.
1 cupful Red Velva Syrup, 1 cupful sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract, 1 teaspoonful cream.

Boil the syrup and sugar together until the mixture hardens when tested in cold water. Then add the butter and vanilla extract and the sugar and boil for 2 minutes longer. Pour into a buttered pan or after each batch when cool enough to handle. Pull into a long strip one inch thick and cut, with buttered scissors, or small knives Chopped nuts may be added if liked.

Make Your Cakes Taste Better.
Your family eats griddle cakes for the syrup—not for the cakes themselves. True—isn't it? If you served cakes without syrup, you'd take them away untouched. Serve them with Velva instead of just syrup, and that family of yours will enjoy its breakfast more, eat heartier and be really satisfied. You can't find the equal of

FREE BAND CONCERT AT THE MOTORDROME

Sunday Will Be Inspection Day. Popular Prices to Prevail at Events.

With seating capacity for 8000 or 10000 people in the grand stand and with standing room for 60000 in the infield there ought to be comfortable accommodations for the enthusiastic spectators for the annual inspection of the new plant and to hear a concert that will be given by Wedemeyer's Land.

The band was definitely engaged yesterday afternoon and the full organization will play in the band stand of the motordrome infield from 3:30 to 6 o'clock.

Jack Frazier Manager Noon Hudson and all the riders will be on hand. Of course there will be no riding but everything will be on dress parade and the people of Atlanta will have an opportunity to inspect the new quarter of a mile board track and to speculate on the speed possibilities of the institution.

Also they will have a free band concert. The street car company will furnish a good service to the old show grounds where the track is situated. Also there will be plenty of track officials on hand to see that everybody is provided with comfortable accommodations for the day.

As the new track is the very first in the southeast—and the very new one on the continent and the most improved it will be well worth the trip. The price of the grandstand seats is made for that opening a week from tomorrow night tickets will be placed on sale Monday at Shepherd's square 210 24 Edgewood avenue. The charges will be 50 cents for grandstand seats and 25 cents in the infield. All who take grandstand tickets will get seats. In the infield there will be rough benches which will accommodate a large part of the crowd.

RALPH NEWTON NAMED ON VISITING BOARD

CHARTER COMMITTEE APPOINTED AT AUGUSTA
Augusta, Ga., May 29—(Special)—The formation of four congresses of Messrs. Julian M. Smith James C. Harrison J. H. Allen and Thomas M. Philpot appointed at a meeting of commission government for Augusta advocates Monday night to select six citizens from each of the six wards to act as a committee for the preparation of a charter for commission form of government for this city announced their selections last night.

Factional feeling bordering on bitterness is characterizing the renewal of the fight for this form of government for this city resulting in Rev. Howard T. Cree leading advocate for the reopening of the discussion washing his hands of the fight several days ago.

Announcement was made by leaders last night of a meeting to be held Friday night when more complete plans for the conducting of the effort will be evolved.

Bulloch School Census.
Statesboro Ga. May 29—(Special)—With one more school to be taken the census of Bulloch county shows an enrollment of 2770 pupils, against 6000 five years ago. County School Superintendent E. R. O'Neil is certain that the number will reach 10,000. There are 120 schools in the county of which 65 are white institutions and 55 colored.

New buildings have taken the place of old ones and in many instances old ones have been made attractive by repainting.

Hearings on Currency.
Washington, May 29—Chairman Owen of the senate banking and currency committee announced today that hearings on currency reform would begin before the committee next week. It has not been determined who will be the first witness.

The formal opening of the Famous Warm Springs, Meriwether county, takes place Saturday. The swimming pools and baths are fine as ever. The Auto roads are in excellent shape, and everything is in the air for a good time. Write the Proprietor Warm Springs Hotel for information as to rates etc.

MRS. BENNETT SAYS "PUBLISH"

I think Her Letter Made Public. Might Result in Some Good. All Ladies Should Read

Henderson Texas—In a letter from this place Mrs. T. V. Bennett says: Last November I was taken very sick and had two doctors. They doctor'd me for most everything that could be thought of and at last they told me it would be necessary to have an operation. I couldn't give in to this although I was suffering great pain. Finally I decided to try Cardui the woman's tonic and I hadn't used it but a short time before I was up feeling good and able to do my work. I'm still getting along fine and can recommend Cardui the woman's tonic to all suffering women. I shall always praise this great medicine. If you think my experience would be of any benefit to any suffering woman you are at liberty to publish it.

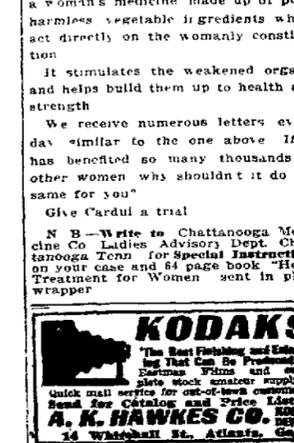

Cardui the woman's tonic is strictly a woman's medicine made up of pure, harmless, vegetable ingredients which act directly on the womanly constitution.

It stimulates the weakened organs and helps build them up to health and strength.

We receive numerous letters every day similar to the one above. It has benefited so many thousands of other women who doubtless it do the same for you.

Give Cardui a trial.

Eufaula Commencement.
Eufaula, Ala., May 29.—(Special).—Two graduates received diplomas at the annual commencement exercises of the Eufaula High school Thursday night. Rasmus Dowling, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dowling, and Miss Marie Holliman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Holliman. The exercises were in charge of Superintendent H. L. Unshaw, the baccalaureate address being given by Dr. J. S. Thomas, of the University of Alabama.

Elaborate Exercises Close Term at Bessie Tift College

Forsyth, Ga., May 29.—(Special).—The commencement program at Bessie Tift college was in many ways the most interesting in the history of the college.
The exercises were formally opened by the meeting of the board of trustees on the 22d. The first regular session of student activity was on the 23d night when the Chionan and Kappa Delta literary societies gave their entertainment. On this occasion the Chionan were represented by Misses Kathleen Morris, Gussie Peterson, Marion Bishop and Alma Stapler; the Kappa Deltas by Misses Ruth Ponder, Celeste Dominick, Ida Clark and Grace Neely. Saturday was the fullest day in the commencement calendar. The day began with the exhibits in the art and domestic science departments. At 10 o'clock the regular yearly meeting of the Alumnae association was held and at this meeting plans were discussed for the enlargement of the work among the alumnae. Mrs. Dick Fletcher, of Forsyth, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. The alumnae luncheon at 1 o'clock was attended by the faculty, the class of 1913, large representations from the classes of '12 and '11, and small representations from many other classes. The loving cup, awarded each year to the class having the largest percentage of members present, fell again to the class of 1913. The class of 1912 won a close competition, falling only four per cent behind the class of 1913.
Class Day Exercises.
The class day exercises in the afternoon followed the usual order. The history of the class was read by Miss Marion Bishop, the poem by Miss Nancy McBrayer, and the prophecy by Miss Florrie Hollis. The will, read by Paul Whitley, was written by Misses Jarrett, Shields and Rogers, in the planting of the ivy ceremonies. Miss Pearl Todd was speaker for the seniors and Miss Esther Cutts for the juniors.
The most picturesque feature of the class exercises at the lake. This was something new and by far the most beautiful thing of its kind ever given at Bessie Tift.
The concert on Saturday evening was keenly enjoyed by a most appreciative audience.
On Sunday both the baccalaureate sermon in the morning and the missionary sermon in the evening, were delivered by Dr. J. L. White, of Macon.
Address by Rev. A. W. Bealer.
The baccalaureate address on Monday was delivered by Rev. Alex. W. Bealer, of Eastman, Ga. Following his address was the delivery of medals by Dr. A. Chamlee. The Lula Colcord Williams medal, given by Mr. Joseph Heath Williams to the most excellent regular student in the junior class, was presented to Miss Annie Ree Gamble, of Forsyth. The Mabel White medal, given by Dr. J. L. White, for general excellence in voice culture, to Miss Gladys Askew; the Carrie Roberts Gaimard medal, for excellence in the domestic science and arts departments, to Miss Louise Marshall in domestic science and Miss Ethel Hall in domestic art; the Mary B. Christie medal, given by Rev. L. P. Christie, for general excellence in piano, to Miss Kathleen Morris; the Henry H. Tift medal, given by Mrs. Tift for the best production printed in the current college journal, to Miss Florrie Hollis.
The exercises were concluded by the presentation of diplomas by the president, Dr. C. H. S. Jackson.

But One Thing Is Proved In Mary Phagan Mystery

ORIGINAL MURDER NOTE.
But that long tall black negro did buy his shelf
WRITTEN BY CONLEY.
But that long tall black negro did buy his shelf
Amid the warp of falsehood and the woof of conjecture, one thing stands out like a scarlet thread in the Mary Phagan murder mystery—for mystery it still is and still will be until a jury of twelve men fixes the guilt on some man or men.
That one thing—startling in its vivid contrast to the murky maze of contradictions—is the fact that James Conley, the negro sweeper employed at the National Pencil factory, wrote the notes which were found beside the mutilated and lifeless body of Mary Phagan early in the morning of April 26.
Why he wrote them, when he wrote them, whether he wrote at the dictation of someone else or whether he himself committed the crime, are matters yet to be determined. He has lied and lied out of a lie. First he said he wrote the notes on Friday; now he comes forward and admits he wrote them on Saturday, the day the murder was committed. His various stories about the writing of the notes. He puts improbable words in the mouth of Leo Frank. He has squirmed and twisted and backed and stalled; but once having stated he wrote the notes his handwriting proves the assertion as indubitably as if the bits of paper on which the messages were scrawled bore the crimson imprint of his fingers.
The Big Mystery.
When the Phagan case was in its infancy and the detectives were advancing theory upon theory only to cast each aside, the notes found by Mary Phagan's body proved the big stumbling block in the way of a solution of the mystery. Time and again it would seem that a plausible theory had been framed, only to be shattered when the notes were remembered. Turn which way you would in the maze of conjecture, the known facts and the purely conjectural, the notes would confront the seeker after truth.
Remember the Notes.
"But you must remember the notes," someone would interpose, and then the search for a new theory would begin all over again.
The idea that Mary Phagan wrote the notes was disposed of at the outset as utterly preposterous. In the very

ABSENCE OF WINBURN POSTPONES MEETING

Closing of Forsyth Underpass to Be Discussed Next Tuesday. Clayton Has Two Plans.
Because of the absence of W. A. Winburn, vice president of the Central of Georgia, the committee appointed by council to go over plans prepared by Captain R. M. Clayton, of the construction department, for closing the Forsyth underpass, postponed its meeting until 3 o'clock Tuesday.
Every member of the citizens' committee, composed of Clark Howell, James R. Gray, Robert F. Maddox, W. F. Winecoff, were present, together with Aldermen Ragsdale and Everett and Councilmen Mason, Kimbrough and Everett.
Captain Clayton submitted a set of plans outlining two schemes for entering the railroad tracks after the underpass is closed. One is through Alabama street around the Central of Georgia property. The other is from Wall street. Mr. Gray suggested that in view of the fact that the Central of Georgia would be called upon to aid in carrying out the project, it would be advisable for the committee to postpone the hearing until such time as he could appear.
The committee appointed Councilman Kimbrough chairman of the committee and asked him to notify Captain James W. English and Ed. P. Ansley to appear before the committee.
The committee will take the plans when complete before Governor Brown and the railroad commission, as the recent act of the legislature authorizing the closing of the pass requires that both must approve before the work can be started.

BOSTON ENTERTAINS ATLANTA'S OLD GUARD

Forty-Six Southern Visitors Are Guests of Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.
Boston, May 29.—Forty-six members of the Old Guard of Atlanta, who came to Boston to attend the Memorial day exercises, were the guests today of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company.
The entertainment included an automobile trip to Lexington and Concord, and a visit to the estate of Colonel Everett C. Benton at Belmont.
Tomorrow the southern visitors will march to the state house, place a floral tribute on the soldiers and sailors monument on Boston Common, and be the luncheon guests of E. W. Kinsley, post 113, Grand Army of the Republic.
Dawson School Closes.
Dawson, Ga., May 29.—(Special).—In the school auditorium Tuesday evening a large audience witnessed the presentation of an enjoyable play entitled "The Bachelor's Congress," by pupils in the ninth and tenth grades of the Dawson public schools. The graduating exercises will take place in the new auditorium on Friday evening at which time Hon. W. H. Covington, of Moultrie, will deliver the annual literary address and the splendid class of young ladies and young men will read essays and make speeches, after which they will receive their diplomas at the hands of Judge M. C. Edwards, chairman of the board of education.

NEW SCHEDULE ASKED ON FORT VALLEY LINE

Railroad Commission May Order Changes on Atlanta and Florida Division.
Owing to numerous complaints that have been received from people living along the line, the railroad commission will probably order soon a change of schedule of passenger trains on the Atlanta and Florida division of the Southern railway, running between Atlanta and Fort Valley. It is proposed to have the morning train leave Atlanta about 11:15 o'clock, and the afternoon train leave Fort Valley about 4 p. m. and arrive in Atlanta about 8:15. Chairman Murphy Candler was in receipt yesterday of a letter from a Southern official indicating that the proposed change of schedule would be acceptable to the railroad.
A strong effort is being made by the railroad to have the commission allow it to take off one train altogether.
Services Limited for Two Years.
Something over two years ago, after a protracted hearing the commission ordered a double daily passenger train on the Atlanta and Florida division to be maintained for at least one year, with a close connection at Williamson, by trains each way with trains from Atlanta to Columbus, via McDonough.
The Southern established the additional service by putting on passenger trains Nos. 31 and 32 but in order, it claims, to make the Williamson connection, the Atlanta and Fort Valley train left Atlanta at 5:30 a. m. and No. 31, from Fort Valley had to reach Atlanta at 10:25 p. m.
The Southern railway has now applied to the commission for permission to discontinue these two trains on the ground that they are operated and have been continuously for over two years at an actual loss.
Early and Late Schedules.
The commission has received many complaints from patrons of the road between Atlanta and Fort Valley of the inconvenience of departures and arrivals in Atlanta. It is alleged that these inconveniences early and late schedules have kept down the average of the trains and prevented their profitable operation.
The commission is of the opinion that there is truth in these claims and has suggested that the morning train be kept to the Southern on the Atlanta departures and arrivals. The Southern officials are favorable to the experiment before presenting their application for discontinuance, and have suggested that the morning train be kept down the road about 7 o'clock, arriving at Fort Valley about 11:15 o'clock and the evening train into Atlanta arrive about 8:15, leaving Fort Valley about 4 p. m. These schedules, however, would break the close connection now maintained at Williamson. The Southern insists that its records show there is very little interchange of traffic at Williamson.
Will Sound Patrons.
The people between Atlanta and Fort Valley are insisting on more convenient schedules upon the road, which they claim should take priority nature of things she could not have done. There was little doubt that she was dead when her body was hurried into the basement below. An examination of her handwriting later proved that it was totally dissimilar to the characters of the scrawled notes. Suspicion then turned to Newt Lee. Lee was asked to write the identical words of the notes. His writing bore little resemblance to them, although some amateur experts declared there were similarities.

When James Conley was arrested he stoutly maintained that he could not write at all. Later the detectives discovered that he had bought a watch on the installment plan and that he had signed contracts. They scoured these contracts and confronted him with them. He confessed that he had lied. His motive for lying was plain as the noon-day sun. Guilty or innocent, he knew his handwriting would connect him with the crime. Handwriting does not change. Characters in writing may vary, but characteristics do not.
After the discovery that Conley could write, the work of getting a confession from him was a comparatively easy matter. But to make assurance doubly sure, the detectives, without letting him see the notes found in the cellar of the National Pencil factory, dictated their contents to him and he was told to write the spoken words. Laboriously he wrote. As character followed character and word followed word, the result was startling. No longer could he have produced the same result. The characters were identical.
Take the first word, "but," of the two notes. Could anything be more perfect than the similarity? And the next word, "the next."
The discovery that Conley wrote the notes is the most important thing about the whole case thus far unearthed and made public—it is the only thing established beyond question of reasonable doubt. It gave that little Mary Phagan went to the office of the National Pencil factory on Memorial day to draw her pitance of pay and that her dead body was discovered by Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, at 4 o'clock the following morning.

GOLD DUST Cleans Millions of Plates Every Day. EVERY time we eat, the dishes have to be washed—that means three times a day for 365 days—or 1095 times a year. That means work, hard work, and lots of it—if done in the old-fashioned soap-and-water way. Why not do it the Gold Dust way and save half the time? A little Gold Dust sprinkled in your dishwater will do the work in half the time and make your dishes brighter, sweeter, cleaner than they can be made by any other method. WHIFFS

In Hard Luck

THE PALM must be handed to Joe Jackson for being the hard luck boy. This is his fourth season under the big tent and his batting average for the entire year averages over the 400 mark. He has yet to lead the league in batting. A certain Georgian by the name of Cobb is the answer. Over in the history of the game has an 18 slug luck befallen a good watter as has been Jackson.

Best Race Ever

THE SOUTHERN league pennant scrap this season promises to be the best that has ever been waged in this circuit. It is the best for every team in the league as the Pelicans and the Crackers may strengthen them at no moment now. As a look in for the rag if the Gulls can be brought down into reaching Boston or the battle for the consolation this season may see all eight teams fighting until the last ditch.

Congratulations

THE PEPPER that has been infused into the crackers in the past couple of days is worthy of commendation. A certain ace will bring desired results. The present team is the best that ever represented Atlanta. If they keep up their fighting spirit all that has been lacking to date the club that beats out Atlanta will be the one that will top.

Warm Weather

THE EFFECT of the first few warm days on the pitching of the crackers is certain to be noticeable. There has been a general improvement in nearly every pitcher on the staff. An improvement which pleases every one. The team with good pitching is sure to go strong.

Getting Better

ANOTHER fact in the improvement of the team is base hitting. During the first few weeks the club has not been as good as it should be. It is in the last two weeks as in the rest of the season combined.

Need Practice

ONE DEPARTMENT alone needs improvement and this can be improved in practice. The locals are poor. The present league is the best that has ever been played in this circuit. It is the best that has ever been played in this circuit.

Wonderful

REPORTS state that this is Dave Roberts' first year as a professional baseball player. If this is so, he is a wonderful player. He is a wonderful player. He is a wonderful player.

Have Good Unit

ALABAMA has a good claim to the Southern Intercollegiate college baseball championship in fact a better claim than any other team in the South. But the palm cannot be awarded to the Alabama team. The two defeats handed them by the University of Georgia cannot be passed. The best we can do on the ranking of the Southern college teams is to class Alabama and Georgia alike. On percentage pure and simple Alabama has the edge but you cannot get around it. Georgia defeats anyway you figure it. Even the most partisan Alabama supporter is forced to admit this.

Have Real Class

THE ALABAMA line possesses real class. No team in the South needs this in the professional or member grade. The team have received Melford Pratt pitcher has already left to join the St. Louis Browns. He is going to join the St. Louis Browns. He is going to join the St. Louis Browns.

About the Pels

THE SCRIBE on the New Orleans Item breaks into verse next the poor showing of Frank's team. Here it is: Twinkle twinkle little team, Twinkle twinkle little team, Twinkle twinkle little team, Twinkle twinkle little team. Once we figured you a star, Now we don't know what you are.

Washington 16, Thomson 3

Washington Ga. May 29—(Special)—Washington played rings around Thomson in the opening game of the season on the local diamond this afternoon. The score was 16 to 3 in favor of Washington. The line drive in the first inning broke Third Baseman Brown's finger. With Brown out of the game the Thomson team went to pieces. Heavy hitting for the locals was the feature of the game. Batteries for Washington: Norman Colley and Jackson for Thomson: Giesling Brown and Johnson. Nineteen hits for the locals against nine for the visitors tells the tale of the game.

Loose Work and Scratch Hits Feature First Billie Game; Jantzen and Brady Hitters

By Dick Jemison.
In the best baseball weather of the season the crackers and the Billies played the worst game of the season Thursday afternoon. The Billies won 7 to 4. It was the worst at pasture that has ever been staged on the local field and the contest dragged through two hours and twenty minutes before it was brought to an end. Errors of commission were numerous and a prayer and the latter was even more so. In fact here was very brand of the worst kind of ball that could possibly be played by two teams. King Brady pitched for the Crackers and Charlie Case for the Billies. Neither had more than the proverbial glove and a player and the latter was not working overtime. Neither deserved to win. The only answer is that Brady and his support were worse than that and his backers.

"Breaks" Numerous

That little intangible object called break was in evidence throughout the pastime more than any other one factor unless it was bad playing. First the crackers would get the break, then it would switch to the Billies shifting back and forth until it settled with the Billies to stay and they won. Hard Luck Charlie chased the jinx after the fifth inning and the break followed him until the end.

Many Scratch Hits

Never has a game been played at Ponce de Leon where so many scratch hits have been registered. Each team had six, and every one of them were of the flakiest variety. Little taps that either wiggled just by the fielders or were so slow that the batters out ran the throw for a hit.

Crackers Take Lead

The crackers took the lead in the third inning. With one gone Aeler scratched a pop fly to the infield that fell safely. Brady sent him to third with a clean wallop to right and Long smashed one to left for a cushion cushioning him.

Billies Win It

The game was won in the eighth. Kutina got a free ticket and Jantzen beat out a short hunk down the first baseline. No one covering. Here to take Chapman's throw. Knaupp sacrificed them both up a base. Gribbens was walked purposely and Brady fanned Case.

Crackers and Barons Swap Attractive Playing Dates

The rivalry between Birmingham and Atlanta has cropped out again. The rivalry of the opening day will exist on these two dates. The Barons claim that they are going to have so many persons in the park June 9 that the crackers will have to stand them on the railroad track to equal it. The crackers claim in return that if the Barons have as many persons at their game as the locals will have here that the entire population of Birmingham Bessemer Anniston Tuscaloosa and other cities will have to be turned out en masse.

Barons 8, Pels 5

Birmingham Ala. May 29—With the score 4 to 1 in favor of New Orleans the game was slow and but for terrific hitting by both teams would have been uninteresting. In addition to McGilvray and Adams Messenger played star ball on the offensive. He scored three runs.

EIGHTEEN HOLES FOR BROOKHAVEN

Plans Are Being Made to Enlarge the Present Course, Making It an Ideal One.

The Brookhaven golf course is to be eighteen holes in the very near future. Plans have already been drawn for the enlargement of the present course.

This announcement was made last night by Robert F. Maddox, president of the Capital City club and Capital City Country club, as the Brookhaven club will be known when the Capital City's one-year lease becomes effective June 1.

The present course at Brookhaven is regarded as one of the sportiest in the country and with nine additional holes it should be in a class with the very best of the country.

CROSS AND ANDERSON MATCHED FOR BOUTS

Los Angeles, May 29.—Leach Cross, of New York, and Bud Anderson, the northwestern lightweight, were matched today for a twenty-round fight here July 4. Cross is expected here early next month to begin training.

The club expects to match the winner against the winner of the Ritchie-Rivers fight in San Francisco on the same date.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Peaches 3, Foxes 1.
Columbus, Ga., May 29.—With Thackham pitching the Foxes were held helplessly, and Macon took the first game of the series by the score of 3 to 1. Morrow, who hurled for Columbus, was hit for two three-baggers, three doubles and five singles.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Macon 002 010 090—3 10 0 Columbus 001 000 000—1 3 2 Batteries—Thackham and Reynolds; Morrow and Krebs. Time 1:40. Umpire, Barr.

Babies 2, Gulls 1.
Albany, Ga., May 29.—Albany took the opening game from Charleston here today by the score of 2 to 1. It was a pitchers' battle between Duggieby and Eldridge. Lowrey and Taylor umpired, as Umpire Moran failed to arrive in Albany for the game.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Albany 000 002 000—2 7 0 Charleston 000 001 000—1 6 2 Batteries—Duggieby and Wells; Eldridge and White. Time 1:40. Umpires, Lowrey and Taylor.

Indians 6, Scouts 1.
Savannah, Ga., May 29.—With Pool twirling shut-out ball, Savannah outclassed Jacksonville in the opening of the series here today, and won hands down, 6 to 1. But one hit was garnered off Pool, that a liner to center which Handford barely touched after a hard sprint. A wild throw by Zimmerman in an attempt to complete a double play permitted the hitter to go to third, from where he scored the victory only run on an infield out. Fast base-running enabled the locals to count almost at will.

CHAMP HILTON HAS CLOSE CALL

Young Schmidt Makes Him Go Nineteen Holes to Win. Hilton Plays Harris in the Finals Today.

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 29.—Though defeated in the sixth round of the amateur golf championship today by Harold H. Epton, the English crack of the Royal Liverpool Golf club, W. Heinrich Schmidt, the young player of Worcester, Mass., by his plucky fight in the estimation of the British golfers, established his right to rank with "Chick" Evans and Fred Herreshoff as among the greatest young golfers America has produced.

For eighteen holes Schmidt made the English man fight every inch of the way.

Schmidt had bad luck. Time and again he lipped the hole with long putts.

The men were tied on the eighteenth and an extra hole had to be played. Hilton outdrove Schmidt on the tee, but the Massachusetts lad made up on his second. Hilton, however, held a long put and won the hole in three against Schmidt's four.

A gallery of 2,000 followed the match but did not disturb in the least the American. He was as cool as a veteran. He took his defeat in a sportsmanlike fashion.

In the semi-final round, Hilton beat Almyas by the score of 2 to 1. Tomorrow will play Harris, of Acton, for the championship over 36 holes.

MERCER FRATERNITIES PUT UP TO TRUSTEES

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The faculty of Mercer university today decided to pass the fight for the abolishment of the Greek letter societies from the university up to the board of trustees without any recommendation, the trustees meet here next Monday and the whole thing will be threshed out at that time.

When the faculty met today there were three petitions on file, one from the non-fraternity men, signed by 146 students; one by the fraternity men asking for a hearing before the question of the fight over the abolition of members of the six fraternities at the university, and one from President S. Y. Jameson, asking for the abolishment of the fraternities on the ground that they are a detriment to the institution.

The fight over the "frats" is growing warm, but at the present time the "frats" seem to have the upper hand.

NEGROES RUN AMUCK ON EXCURSION STEAMER

Columbus, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The steamer Three States, running early this morning from an all-night excursion trip down the river, in which the passengers were negroes, brought back a story of tragedy.

Richard Jackson, a huge negro, became enraged with John Carter and three whips in the river, the latter drowning immediately. He then seized Louis Carter, the other's younger brother, to throw him overboard also, but the little negro drove a stick directly through his neck. Mortally wounded, Jackson was still trying to throw the other overboard when Carter got the dirt out and sank it to the hull in the other's shoulder.

Jackson is dead and Carter is being held for murder.

Hall School Census.

Gainesville, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The school census completed in Hall county shows an increase in white children of 381 and a decrease of colored school children of 64, over the figures shown in the census of 1903. This year the total number of school children in Hall county is 6,351. This is an increase over two figures of 1903 of 327.

Mrs. Jones Plays Mrs. Daley For Women's Golf Title; Third Flight to Atlantant

Memphis, Tenn., May 29.—Mrs. F. G. Jones, Memphis, will defend her title of "women's" golf champion of the world tomorrow against Mrs. E. W. Daley, of Nashville, Tenn., in the finals of the championship tournament of the Women's Southern Golf association.

Mrs. Daley was Mrs. Jones' opponent in the semi-finals of last year's tournament.

Both won their matches in the semi-finals today by decisive scores. Mrs. Jones defeated Mrs. A. W. Watkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., 6 up and 4 to play, and Mrs. Daley winning from Mrs. S. N. Phillips, Memphis, 7-5.

In the second flight, Mrs. G. F. Mason, Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. H. L. Armstrong, Memphis, won their way into the finals, Mrs. Meehan eliminating Mrs. L. E. McFarland, Memphis, 5 up and 4 to play, and Mrs. Armstrong defeating Mrs. S. D. Snowden, of Memphis, 7-6.

Mrs. R. P. Jones, Atlanta, defeated Mrs. C. A. Mayborn, Memphis, 7-6, in the final of the third flight. In the beginners' division Mrs. A. R. Woolen, Memphis, won the championship trophy.

Semi-finals were also played today in the consolation championship, in which players eliminated in the first round of match play of the championship competed. Mrs. A. B. Newell, of Nashville, and Miss Joy Tomlinson, of Birmingham, Ala., won their matches, and will meet in the finals tomorrow.

Twenty-Seven of World's Greatest Auto Drivers Await Starter's Pistol is heavy enough to prevent the start, the race will be run Saturday.

Tonight the streets are filled with automobiles and the sidewalks crowded with motor enthusiasts. Hotels were booked to their capacity 200 ago. The weather is warm and many will be allowed to sleep in the parks tonight.

Parade of Nations.
Preceding the start of the race there will be a "parade of nations," in which the entries from the United States will pass in front of the grandstands, while the massed bands will play "America." After the American-made cars will come those of England, France, Germany and Italy, each bearing the flag of its country, while the band will play the national airs of the different nations. The twenty-seven cars entered in the race will then line up for the start.

With the race once under way, no one except Charles F. Root, of Chicago, were booked to watch the contest is ended. A. R. Pardington, of New York, is the referee.

The speedway management reported tonight that the advance sale of seats had greatly exceeded those of the two previous races and that they expected at least 100,000 would attend. More than 200 newspaper men are here to write the story of the race, one coming from Paris, France.

Bob Burton continues to be the favorite in the betting, with several other American entries being given odds against the foreign-made cars.

Great Crowd Expected.
With the race once under way, no one except Charles F. Root, of Chicago, were booked to watch the contest is ended. A. R. Pardington, of New York, is the referee.

Metropolitan Handicap Will Be Run Off Today

New York, May 29.—With fourteen entries, comprising the bias of the American thoroughbred field of today, the ninth running of the Metropolitan handicap will be staged at Belmont Park, Long Island, tomorrow afternoon. Established in 1903, this turf classic was run annually until 1910, when the abandoning of racing in New York state caused the event to be dropped. During the eight years it continued the race was one of the features of the American turf season, attracting the entries of the best and fastest horses in training. The winners follow:

1903, H. P. Whitney's Gun Fire; 1904, H. B. Duryea's Irish Lad; 1905, dead heat between James R. Keene's Sysonby and L. Richard's Race King; 1906, J. A. Drake's Grapple; 1907, J. H. McCormick's Glorifier; 1908, H. Schreiber's Jack Atkin; 1909, S. C. Hildreth's King James; 1910, Oneck Stable's Fashion Plate.

The record of 1 minute 37 4-5 seconds for the mile is held by Fashion Plate and the record value was $11,050, won by Gunfire in the initial event.

The entries for the Metropolitan, which is the feature event selected to mark the revival of racing on the Metropolitan circuit, together with the weight follow:

Metropolitan handicap, 3-year-olds and upward, $2,500 added, one mile; Bob R., 195; Merry Task, 193; Aldebaran, 193; Light of My Life, 115; Guy Fisher, 103; Bard of Hope, 93; Wagon, Broom II, 128; Night Stick, 98; Spruce, 116; Yankee Notions, Springboard, 103; Dr. Duennher, 102; G. M. Miller, 100; Meridian, 129.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA.

Opelika 6, LaGrange 5.
Opelika, Ala., May 29.—Opelika defeated LaGrange 6 to 5. Features were the three home runs of visitors, and Blackwell's three two-base hits out of four times up.

Score by innings: R. H. E. LaGrange 021 100 010—5 7 2 Opelika 100 020 023—6 12 3 Batteries—Beasley and Donaldson, Williams and Nicholson.

Talladega 5, Gadsden 2.
Talladega, Ala., May 29.—(Special.)—Before the largest crowd since opening day the Indians defeated the Gadsden Steelmakers. The features of the game were sensational one-hand catch by Sample in center, and the hitting of Manager Reese and Chambers.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Talladega 000 102 200—5 7 2 Gadsden 001 010 001—3 7 2 Batteries—Brookbridge and Billingsley; Trawick and Jorda. Umpire, Cole.

Anniston 12, Newnan 7.
Anniston, Ala., May 29.—(Special.)—Anniston took the first of a series of three games from Newnan in a sweet feat this afternoon. Ragged playing on the part of Anniston and Newnan's blow-up in the fourth inning accounted for the big scores.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Newnan 000 011 010—7 12 1 Anniston 200 809 200—12 16 7 Batteries—Craven, Hawkins, Lovett and Chase; Batson and Shepperd.

TALLEY CAPTURED AND THEN FREED

Man Who Shot Blackstock Brought Back to Atlanta and Then Released on a $1,000 Bond.

"Hub" Talley, notorious Blind Tiger, who shot "Crip" Blackstock on Peters street Monday morning, returned last night from Union City, Campbell county, in custody of Detective Harper of the Atlanta police force.

Talley insisted upon being taken to the Tower. After being in jail a few minutes, Charles E. Thompson, a broker in the Equitable building, made bond for $1,000, set by Justice Powers, and he was released.

Talk to From 60,000 to 70,000 People for One Cent a Word

From the Special Want Ad Section of the WOMAN'S EDITION OF THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Oh, yes; no paper would be complete without a want ad section. The Woman's Edition will have one and now is the time to send your want ads for publication in that section.

A special rate of 1 cent a word, 7 cents a line, is offered. Grasp the opportunity and put your offers before 60,000 to 70,000—and no doubt more—who will read every page of this edition, from cover to cover.

Cash must accompany all want ads for the Classified Section of The Woman's Edition, and they must be so marked—to gain the unusual rate of 1 cent a word, 7 cents a line. Checks, drafts or postage will be accepted for small amounts from out-of-town advertisers in this special want ad section.

Your want ads must be received at The Constitution office by noon, Tuesday, June 3.

And, remember, the special section, though carrying the regular classifications of The Constitution's Classified, is entirely a separate section from the latter, which will be published as usual.

RADCLIFFE IS BOUND OVER IN MACON COURT

Macon, Ga., May 28.—(Special.)—W. J. Radcliffe, the Atlanta man who several days ago ran down Edward Green, a cripple from Monticello, with a motorcycle, was this morning bound over to the city court by Recorder Daily with an arraignment for trial the third time since the accident. His bond was fixed at $300. The charge is violating the state automobile act, which makes it a violation of the law to pass an intersecting street at a rate of speed greater than 5 miles an hour. Green, the injured man, is reported to be in a dying condition at the hospital, and all hope of his recovery has been abandoned. In searching his clothes yesterday for personal effects, the doctors at the hospital found a check for $1,800 made out in his favor. It is said to be worth its face value.

Macon Barber Freed. Macon, Ga., May 28.—(Special.)—Brown Raines, a local barber, was freed of the charges of carrying a pistol and shooting at another today when he appeared before Recorder Daily. The charges grew out of a difficulty between Raines and A. E. Taylor, several weeks ago on Poplar street. Raines was walking along with his hat when Taylor, a druggist, accused Taylor about a small debt. Taylor resented it and the two men came to blows, Raines being knocked down. When he hit the pavement he hit his hat and he has since used it, the bullet passing through Taylor's coat, but leaving him uninjured. Friends intervened and further trouble was prevented. Since then the case had been hanging in the air until finally disposed of this morning.

EXHIBIT WOULD BE BIG SUCCESS HERE

Atlantans Who Went to Chattanooga Yesterday Bent on Installing Permanent Show in This City.

Sixty-five members of the chamber of commerce who went to Chattanooga yesterday to inspect the manufacturers' exhibit of that city came back last night enthusiastic boosters of a similar permanent exhibit here of Atlanta make goods.

The party had two special cars which were attached to the Dixie Flyer both on the going and returning trip, and every provision was made for their comfort en route by the railroad officials. C. E. Harman, general passenger agent, went along and took personal charge of the party on the train.

Shows Over Exhibit. Arriving in Chattanooga at 11:55 o'clock, the Atlantans proceeded at once to the exhibit building, escorted by Chairman Temple, of the exhibit committee of the Chattanooga Manufacturers' association; O. L. Gunn, secretary and manager, and President Mahoney, of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce.

The Chattanooga exhibit was found to be a bigger thing than the Atlantans had anticipated. It fills a building, 50 by 110 feet, and four stories high. The exhibit is only four years old, and it has been doubled in capacity within the last year.

25,000 Visitors This Week. Members of the Chattanooga association reported that during the Atlantans' stay through the exhibit this week while the confederate reunion was in progress. Every New Year's day the managers of the exhibit keep open house for the people of that city, and on the first of last January there were fully 15,000 citizens of Chattanooga who went through the building.

Re Big Success Here. There are 100 exhibitors in all in the Chattanooga exhibit. It is estimated that this city, with its 548 factories, can easily support an exhibit almost twice as large. Members of the chamber of commerce are convinced that the exhibit will not only be profitable and easy of operation, but will greatly enhance the prosperity of the city by advertising its products and informing the public of the many of the splendid opportunities for investment it offers.

A committee of the Ad Men's club, consisting of Fred Houser, Ivan E. Allen, Paul Reese and Arthur W. Ryan, met with songs and jokes on the return home.

The party was composed of the following: Wilmer L. Moore, V. H. Krieshaber, John Morris, R. A. Hobson, Ivan E. Allen, Walter G. Cooper, J. P. Stevens, M. M. Davies, H. B. Chamberlain, A. E. Hill, J. P. Cannon, Ralph T. Jones, William T. Lowenstein, Paul P. Reese, W. O. Steele, W. A. Brower, Rosston Calkins, H. K. Ward, E. Massa, C. M. Kennedy, D. Goldin, James Duffy, M. W. Savage, J. R. Meredith, E. L. Proctor, Charles D. McKinney, R. M. Foote, M. H. Manheim, N. E. Martin, J. M. VanHartigan, K. Valdes, C. V. Strickland, Frank W. Kasper, Mr. Stuart, Mrs. J. C. AT THE THEATERS

"St. Elmo."

At the Atlanta. Miss Billy Long and her associates have had three more performances in "St. Elmo," at the Atlanta, and large crowds are expected to greet their popular production. The company goes to Nashville after this week, and the Atlanta will be closed until the regular season opens next fall. "St. Elmo" has been drawing the largest crowds of the summer season, and in these last three performances all the friends of Miss Long and her associates will come to bid them farewell. The matinee Saturday is at 25 cents.

"The District Leader."

At the Bijou. "The District Leader" still continues to draw good houses to the Bijou. It is a rollicking musical play, with a good story, and lots of pretty musical numbers, and it is rendered by a clever company. The entertainment as a whole is pleasing Bijou audiences. Next week will usher in the appearance of Max Spiegel's College Girls, a musical comedy tabloid with excellent interpretations that has been breaking all records over the circuit. It is just the style of show that will attract Bijou audiences, and should prove one of the most popular offerings of the season.

Blanche Walsh.

At the Grand. "Resurrection," the great Tolstoy drama, with Blanche Walsh in the leading role, opened at the Grand yesterday in its new motion picture form, and proved one of the most remarkable moving picture presentations of the season. Those who saw Miss Walsh in the original stage production were struck by the faithfulness of the photographic reproduction. The scenes in the Russian country home, the tavern's cellar in prison, the courtroom and the convict march to Siberia, are wonderful in their realism. The play is here till Saturday night.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.) There could be no better evidence that the Forsyth will offer the best vaudeville obtainable this summer than is found in the bill presented this week, with the wonderful Maggie Cline as the headliner. The bill throughout is an excellent one, and carries a strong appeal to all lovers of high-class vaudeville. It is the world favorite, and particularly the Atlanta favorite, Lillian Shaw, will be the headliner.

CO-OPERATION PLAN IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Leaders of Various Evangelical School Meet at Luncheon and Decide to Exchange Reports.

Co-operation among the Sunday schools was discussed at a luncheon given by the executive committee of the Second Baptist and First Christian churches to the superintendents of the leading Sunday schools yesterday afternoon.

Those present at the luncheon were W. C. Mansfield, Dr. Marlon McH. Hull, Dr. Joseph Broughton, C. V. LeCraw, C. J. Kamper, John S. Spalding, Walter Colquhoun, W. M. Everett, W. W. Gaines, J. V. Wilborn, J. B. Ealey, Robert W. Cranshaw, A. R. Colcord, J. W. Willis, L. E. Floyd, J. W. Hoyt and H. D. Sorrells.

Factors of several churches present were Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, of the Central Presbyterian; Dr. L. O. Bricker, of the First Christian; and Dr. John E. White, of the First Baptist. Fred J. Paxon, of the Second Baptist Sunday school, presided.

After speeches it was agreed to enter into a co-operative arrangement each week whereby comparative reports will be exchanged through the newspapers. Other plans for enlarging Sunday school work were outlined. The superintendents were mostly all in hearty accord with the movement, which will have a tendency to increase attendance. Leading evangelical schools were invited to take a part in the movement.

The following were named on the executive committee to arrange for the details of the movement: Dr. Marlon McH. Hull, W. C. Mansfield, Dr. Joseph Broughton, W. W. Gaines, Robert Cranshaw, J. W. Willis, Walter Colquhoun, John S. Spalding, C. V. LeCraw and Fred J. Paxon. The arrangement is to run for three months.
