FRANK, THE GUILTY MAN SAYS FRANK; CONLEY ACTS PART IN KILLING

"I don't know who is guilty, but I do know that the man who murdered Mary Phagan ought to be hanged."

Leo M. Frank made this statement to Sheriff C. W. Mangum, when he made his tour of the prison Friday.

With the detectives noting every sentence that fell from the ready lips of the negro, Conley started from the exact point at the top of the stairs on the second floor where he says Leo Frank met him, and went through the grim drama with a realism that convinced all who listened and watched that he at last was telling the whole truth.

He reproduced the conversations that passed between him and Frank, he lay down full length at the rear of the metal room to show precisely how the body of the little girl lay when he first saw her as he was led to the rear of the building, as he says, by Leo Frank.

He reproduced the conversations that passed between him and Frank, he lay down full length at the rear of the metal room to show precisely how the body of the little girl lay when he first saw her as he was led to the rear of the building, as he says, by Leo Frank.

Later in the basement he lay down on his back with his right leg slightly raised and his left leg straight. The left arm was partly under his body, but straight. His feet pointed toward the rear door and his head toward the front of the building.

The announcement that this singular reproduction of the crime was to take place was made at the end of another third degree session in the office of Chief Landford. The negro was put in Chief Beavers' automobile. All the curtains were maintained. Only those in authority in the factory were aware that the tragedy was to be repeated, step by step.

Conley was handcuffed to Chief Beavers when he stepped from the car. Many of the employees, at leisure during the noon hour, were congregated at the foot of the stairs on the first floor when the strange procession filed up the stairs. The city detectives had "choked" on Chief Landford and Chief Beavers, with the negro, arrived a few minutes later.

Some of the employees, curious to learn the latest development in the mystery, attempted to follow. They were turned back with orders not to come inside and the doors were barred against them. Guided by the negro, Chief Landford and Chief Beavers, the party of detectives and newspaper men started on the tour which was to reproduce the tragedy, detail by detail, from the moment Conley declares that he met Frank at the top of the stairs until when Conley again repeats the notes, as Frank dictated, and repeated the conversation that he hears took place between them.

GOUX TAKES SMITH CREW AUTO RACE; WISHART BUNCH EASY

Wishart, driver of the Mazoni Inc. broke when car overturned.

Injured in Race. JACK TOWER, driver of the Mazoni Inc. broke when car overturned.

Motor Speedway, Indianapolis. May 30--Julius Goux, of France today won the motor speed race.

The victory of Goux was a runaway after the first 100 miles. In addition he won the $20,000 first prize and about $10,000 offered by accessory makers.

The race was spectacular in the extreme despite the fact that no driver was killed in accidents. Several accidents happened and the hospital corps was kept busy with minor injuries.

On the seventh lap of the race, "Wib" Harnum who had been setting an eighty-two mile an hour clip was but out of the race temporarily by a leak in the gasoline tank. The skerton was stopped at the pit and the car repaired. Hughie Hughes reliever driver took "Wib" Harnum's place when the car whizzed out again.

Wishart had been driving at the rate of eighty-two miles an hour. The excitement, the continual hard luck which he encountered and the strain of driving in the face of the torridity of the atmosphere had weakened him so that he was unfit to go on with the race.

Chick Briggs in a Mercer came to grief at the north end of the course when the steering knuckle of the car broke. The machine plunged toward the edge of the course where a number of spectators stood. Briggs jammed on the brakes and stopped the car.

Anderson in Second Place. The standing at the four hundred mile mark was: Jack Anderson second, the first place, in his American car. Mason suffered a broken leg, while his mechanic was seriously hurt. The driver of the Mazoni, which was forced out of the race in the eighteenth lap, returned to the track and continued on Page 10, Column 1.

The prisoner denies that he was in any way implicated in the crime, of which he was arrested in the prime, of which he was arrested in the prime, of which he was arrested in the prime.

FACSIMILE OF CONCLUDING PORTION OF NEGRO CONLEY'S SENSATIONAL AFFIDAVIT, SHOWING HIS SIGNATURE

The reason I have not told this before is I thought Mr. Frank would get out and help me out, but it seems that he is not going to get out and I have decided to tell the whole truth about this matter.

While I was looking at the money in my hand Mr. Frank said let me have that and I will make it all right with you Monday here and nothing happens. He took the money back and I asked him if that was the way he done and he said he would give it back Monday.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 29 day of May, 1913. James Conley Notary Public, Fulton County, Georgia.

HANGING THE GUILTY MAN SAYS FRANK; CONLEY ACTS PART IN KILLING

"I don't know who is guilty, but I do know that the man who murdered Mary Phagan ought to be hanged," said Leo M. Frank made this statement to Sheriff C. W. Mangum, when he made his tour of the prison Friday. Mangum said this was the only statement or reference to the crime Frank had made since he had been in the Tower. He said Frank looked him squarely in the eye and talked like an innocent man.

Entire satisfaction with the present status of the Phagan case was expressed by Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford this afternoon.

"I am thoroughly content with the results of our work," said Lanford. "It is now a question for the jury to decide as to whether Leo M. Frank or Jim Conley committed the killing."

As a sensational climax to the confession of his part of the Mary Phagan tragedy, Jim Conley, negro sweeper, was taken to the National Cement Factory Friday afternoon, where he enacted by movement every detail of the events that took place in the building of mystery after the death of the little girl.

With the detectives noting every sentence that fell from the lips of the negro, Conley started from the exact point at the top of the stairs on the second floor where he says Leo Frank met him, and went through the grim drama with a realism that convinced all who listened and watched that he at last was telling the whole truth.

He reproduced the conversations that passed between him and Frank. He lay down full length at the rear of the metal room to show precisely how the body of the little girl lay when he first saw it. He lay partly on his face, with his right leg slightly drawn up to portray the position of the dead girl when he first saw her as he walked to the rear of the building, as he says, by Leo Frank.

Conley repeated his story late Friday afternoon at the county jail, which he had been removed from, to which headquarters.

The witness stated that Frank told him Friday, April 25, to come to the factory Saturday, that he met him when the crime was committed. Conley, after he was committed to the Tower told a Georgian reporter of repeated efforts on the part of the detectives to have him confront Frank with his statement. On each occasion, said Conley, Frank turned his back and went to the rear of his cell without speaking.

"I show New Day," said Conley. "Later in the basement he lay down again to show the detectives just how the body was dropped to the ground as though it had been a sack of salt. The negro was on his face. His right arm was curled up under his body, and his legs were bent. The left arm was partly under his body, but straight. His feet pointed toward the rear door and his head toward the front of the building."

The announcement that this spectacular reproduction of the crime was to take place was made at the station of another third degree session in the office of Chief Lanford. The negro was put in Chief Beavers' automobile. All the curtains were drawn and the utmost secrecy was maintained. Only those in authority at the factory were aware that the tragedy was to be re-enacted by stage.

Conley was handcuffed to Chief Beavers when stepping into the car. Many of the employees at the factory during the noon hour were crowded to the foot of the stairs on the first floor when the strange procession filed up the stairs. The city detectives had come on foot from the station and Chief Beavers with the negro, arrived a few minutes before the re-enactment.

Some of the employees, curious to hear the latest developments in the mystery, attempted to follow the negro back with orders not to come inside and the door were barred against them. Guarded by Mangum, Herbert Schiff and E. F. Holloway, the party filed up the stairs. The negro started on the tour which was to reproduce the tragedy, detail by detail from the moment when he turned to Frank's office where Conley declared that he saw Frank take the girl, and he saw Frank take her between them.

GOUX TAKES SECOND IN AUTO RACE; WILSHART FINISHES SECOND

Injured in Race. JACK TOWER, driver of the Mercedes which broke down during the race, was injured. LEE GUNNING, mechanic of the Mercedes, was seriously injured.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—Jules Goux of France today won the motor speedway championship from the American, winning the 500-mile free for all automobile race on the motor speedway here. Goux drove a Peugeot car.

His time was 5:21:48.4, an average of 76.50 miles an hour, a trifle slower than last year's mark.

Spencer Wilhart in a Mercer car finished second. His time was 5:41:04. Mers in a state car came third, although his car was after throughout the last lap.

Mers in a Stutz finished third. His car caught fire on the last lap and he drove desperately to the finish. The machine was blazing when he crossed the line. Guyot, in a Sunbeam, finished fourth.

The victory of Goux was a runaway affair for the first 100 miles. In addition to the $10,000 first prize and about $10,000 offered by accessory makers, the winner was also awarded the Henry Trophy for the first 500 miles of the Pre-to-Lite Trophy for 300 miles and the $10,000 Wheeler and Schebler Trophy for 400 miles.

Goux set a new speedway and world's record for 500 miles for a race of the kind. In addition he proved to be the first man to win the race by driving the full 500 miles without the assistance of a relay driver. His victory was clear-cut and due to his wonderful cool, heady driving from start to finish.

Race is Spectacular. The race was spectacular in the extreme despite the fact that no driver was killed in accident. Several accidents happened and the hospital corps was kept busy with minor injuries.

On the seventy-ninth lap with 181.82 miles to go an hour clip was put out of the race temporarily by a leak in the gasoline tank. The Renault was stopped at the pit and the car repaired. Hughie Hughes' relief driver took "Wild Horse" place when the car started again.

Burman had been driving at the rate of eighty-two miles an hour. The excitement, the continual hard luck that he encountered and the strain of driving in the face of the territory of the atmosphere and weakened him so that he was unable to go on with the race.

Caleb Bragg in a Mercer came to grief at the north end of the course when the steering knuckle of the car broke. The machine plunged toward the edge of the course where a number of spectators stood. Bragg jammed on the brakes and stopped the car.

Anderson in Second Place. The driver of the four hundred mile was Goux first; Anderson second. The first bad accident of the race came when Jack Tower in his American car, the Mason, smashed on a turn. Mason suffered a broken leg, while his mechanic was seriously hurt. Ralph DePaine, the hard-kick driver of the speedway course, was forced out of the race in the eighth lap by cylinder trouble. He got Continued on Page 10, Column 1.

SWEARS FRANK TOLD HIM GIRL HIT HER HEAD AGAINST SOMETHING

Negro Describes in Affidavit How He Helped to Carry the Body to the Basement; Factory Superintendent Ran the Elevator Down, He Says.

The Georgian in its second Extra published exclusively the first REAL confession of James Conley, the negro sweeper at the National Pencil Factory, regarding the part he played in the Mary Phagan mystery.

Conley's testimony to the police and in giving prominence to his statements desires to say that it must not be taken as final until it is examined at the trial of Frank.

Car. Driver. Marcer. DePalma. Blue. Dow. Grant. Mason. Tower.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—Forcing the average time up to 88 miles an hour, "Wild Bob" Burman this afternoon gave the most reckless exhibition of driving ever seen on the motor speedway here.

Seventy miles behind the leader, Burman, who had been forced out of the race, re-entered and endeavored to make up the loss. Getting every ounce of power out of his big Kaco, he circled the track at a speed that made the pace of the other racers seem safe by comparison.

Round and round the big saucer he tore without slackening for the turn or pausing for the other hazards of the course. One lap was made at an average rate of 95 miles.

Pace Too Much for Goux.

Goux, leading the race, tried to meet the pace of the fearless American. For one lap he let his car out at its topmost speed. On the next lap he stopped at his pit to replace two tires. Burman, grim and determined, paid no attention. His big car shot ahead in the effort to regain his place after he had grandly failed.

At 200 miles, with the race half over, Goux led by six miles. At the 160-mile mark his time was 3:20:57. At 200 miles the order was: Goux, in a Peugeot; first; Anderson, in a Buick; second; Mumford, in a Mercedes; third; Marx, in a Stutz; fourth; Wikshart, in a Mercer; fifth; Guyot, in a Sunbeam; sixth; Tetzlaff, in a Buick; seventh; Wilson, in a Ford; eighth. The time was a fraction better than 74 miles an hour for the 100-mile race.

The terrific pace which the Frenchman is setting is making many dizzy and dizzy as they offer air to drop from the race. Bob Burman, who led with a new speedway record for 100 miles, was among those who fell by the wayside, but Burman repaired his car and got back in the contest many laps back of the leader.

The first bad accident of the race came when Jack Tower, in his American car, the Mason, smashed on a turn. Mason suffered a broken leg, while his mechanician was seriously hurt. In another instance, the hard-luck driver of the speedy square, was forced out of the race in the eighth lap by cylinder trouble. He got up.

HOW CONLEY FOUND BODY OF DEAD GIRL

Reproduces Conversation He Declares Took Place as Frank Directed Removal.

As a sensational climax to the confession of his part in the Mary Phagan tragedy, Jim Conley, negro sweeper, was taken to the National Pencil Factory Friday afternoon, where he enacted by movement every detail of the events that took place in the building of mystery after the death of the little girl.

With the detectives noting every sentence that fell from the ready lips of the negro, Conley started from the exact point at the top of the stairs on the second floor where he met Frank, and went through the grim drama with a realism that convinced all who listened and watched that he at last was telling the whole truth.

He (Frank) told me that he had picked up a girl back there and had let her fall and that her head hit against something—he didn't know what it was—and for me to move her and I hollered and told him the girl was dead.

"He asked me if I wanted to make some money right quick and I told him I did," said Conley. "Then he said he had picked up a girl back there who had hit her head against something and he wanted me to bring her body to the elevator."

learn the latest development in the mystery, attempted to follow. They were turned back with orders not to come inside and the doors were barred against them. Guided by the negro Herbert Schir and E. F. Holloway, the party of detectives and newspaper men started on the tour which was to reproduce the tragedy, detail by detail, from the moment Conley declares that he met Frank at the top of the stairs until the two returned to Frank's office where Conley again wrote the notes, as at Frank's dictation, and repeated the conversation that he swore took place between them.

Besides Chief Beavers and Chief Lanford, there were in the party Detective Harry Scott, of the Pinkerton, and City Detectives Coker and Campbell.

"Where did you first see Frank when he whistled to you twice?" Conley was asked as soon as he had reached the second floor.

Details Every Move.

"Right here," he replied the negro, pointing to the top of the steps.

From this point the negro went on detailing every movement and every fragment of conversation that he remembered.

Results and score by innings of all morning games played today in the American, National and International Leagues and American Association will be found on the Sporting Page.

SAYS FRANK STOOD GUARD.

Mr. Frank turned it on himself, and we went on down to the basement and Mr. Frank helped me take it off the elevator and he told me to take it back there to the savant pile and I picked it up and put it on my shoulder again, and Mr. Frank he went up the ladder and watched the trapdoor to see if anybody was coming, and I taken her back there and taken the cloth from around her and taken her hat and shoe which I picked up upstairs right where her body was lying and brought them down and untied the cloth and brought them back and threw them on the trashpile in front of the furnace and Mr. Frank was standing at the trapdoor at the head of the ladder.

He didn't tell me where to put the things. I laid her body down with her head toward the elevator, lying on her stomach and the left side of her face was on the ground the right side of her face was up and both arms were laying down with her body by the side of her body. Mr. Frank joined me back on the first floor. I stepped on the elevator, and he stepped on the elevator when it got to where he was, and he said, "Gee, that was a tiresome job," and I told him his job was not as tiresome as mine was, because I had to tote it all the way from where she was lying to the dressing room and in the basement from the elevator to where I left her.

FRANK WASHED HANDS, HE ASSERTS.

Then Mr. Frank hops off the elevator before it gets even with the second floor and he makes a stumble and he hits the floor and catches with both hands and he went around to the sink to wash his hands and I went and cut off the motor and I stood and waited for Mr. Frank to come from around there washing his hands and then we went on into the office and Mr. Frank, he couldn't hardly keep still.
