ATTORNEYS FOR BOTH SIDES RILED BY SCOTT'S TESTIMONY: REPLIES CAUSE LIVELY TILTS

The Atlanta Constitution (1881-2001); Aug 1, 1913;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers Atlanta Constitution (1868 - 1945)

pg. 2

Dorsey. On Attorney Rosser's objection this was ruled out. "What did his eyes look like?" con-

"What did his eyes look like? con-tinued the solicitor. "Largo and plercing." "What kind of breaths did he take?" "Deep sighs," said Scott. "How often?"

"Four or five times while in the office."

"How large did his eyes look then?"

"Same as now." "How about his complexion?"

"He was a little pale then." "What, if any, pauses did he make?" asked Dorsey,

'That's a leading question," snapped

Rosser. "How did Frank give his narrative and was he rapid in speech and spe-cific in regard to time?" the solicitor went on without the other question

Went on without the other question being answered. Mr. Rosser objected to the use of the word "specific," and declared that Frank had always used the word, "about" in referring to the time of his movements movements. "What else was said in the con-versation?" asked Dorsey. "Nothing more that I recall." Heported to Hans and Rosser. "Did you or did you not make re-ports or statements to the defendant of what you did?" Asked Dorsey. "I made them to Horbert Hans, Lu-ther Rosser and Sig Montag." Scott declared.

declared.

declared. "I grant that he furnished them, in-jected Rosser, "but the fact that he did doesn't make it admissible." "Did the Pinkertons give Frank's counsel reports?" continued the so-icitor. "Yes."

"Give them to the state?"

"I don't know.' "Did Frank say he heard the volces

"Did Frank sky no heary the volces in the hall about noon that Saturday, before or after noon?" Scott was allowed to refer to his notes and started reading from them when Rosser stopped him.

lunch time?" asked Dorsey. "He did not say." "Did he tell you he ate lunch?" "No."

Frank's References to Gantt. "What, if anything, did Frank tell you about Gantt?"

"He stated in the first conversa-tion," said Scott, "that Gantt knew Mary Phagan very well and was inti-mate with her." "Dld he say how he knew this?"

"No.'

"Did Frank say anything about Gantt's attentions to Mary Phagan?" "Not that I recall." "May I refresh the mind of the wit-ess?" asked the solicitor, turning to ness? Judge Roan. Attorney Rosser entered an objection. "Your honor," said Mr. Dorsey rather hold, "It is in your discretion to allow me to 'lead' a witness, and if there ever was a time when a wit-ness needs to be led this is one, this detective in the employ of the defonse."

Scott Becomes Angry.

"You don't mean to intimate that I'm holding anything back!" Scott exclaimed angrily.

claimed angrily. "The state has been trapped," said Mr. Dorsoy amid a general murmur from Rosser and Scott, and for a moment things looked black. "The witness told me something and now he don't seem to remember it," Mr. Dorsey continued, "and I'm not trying to impeach him, I'm simply try-ing to refresh his memory," he added as his colleague, Frank Hooper, whis-pered something to him. "Mr. Dorsey said three times that he had been trapped by Scott," Ros-ser interrupted, "and now after Hoop-er has taiked to him he's changed; Hooper's a wise man."

Heoper's a wise man.

"You have the right, your honor, to allow me to ask leading questions, and while generally they are not allowed "Was he nervous or not later?" Nervous While at Station. "Yes, he was nervous at the police station when we were talking about Lee." "You must not necessarily read indes says alter refreshing it by means long breach," said Scott. "Was Frank accurate and specific as to time in describing to you his ac-tions on that Saturday when the girl ts supposed to have been killed," asked "Was kille at frank tell you he did at home after he left the factory at "Was he nervous of not later?" "Was he nervous at the police before or after noon?" Scott was allowed to refer to his notes and started reading from them notes and started reading from them them on direct examination, you may allow them on direct examination and even refuso them to the other side when they are cross-examining. This detec-"You must not necessarily read what the notes, and now to the notes," ruled Judge Roan. "Frank said he heard the voices aft-to time in describing to you his ac-tions on that Saturday when the girl the mon," said Scott. "What did Frank tell you he did at home after he left the factory at to declare that Frank had narrated "Was here any suggestion by while generally they are not allowed on cross-examination, you may allow them on direct examination and even refuso them to the other side when they are cross-examining. This detec-"Your honor," interrupted Attor-ney Rosser, "Lee Frank in a civil case ory, Why, he had to refresh it about what is about Gantt." "What was said about the matter?"

seeing Gantt and Mary Phagan to gether and thus give the lie to Frank's declaration to Rogers and Black that he did not know even whether such a girl as Mary Phagan worked at the factory. "In my talk to you, Mr. Scott, did I or not make memoranda of what you said?" asked the solicitor, and then turning the the talk as he did to then turning to the judge he asked to then turning to the judge he asked to show these to the witness. Rosser Again Objects. Mr. Rosser objected to this proco-dure and the judge asked Scott if he knew what the solicitor had written on the memoranda. When Scott said he did not know all that Dorsey wrote, Judge Roan ruled that unless the witness had seen all that the sothe witness had seen all that the so lighter wrote that he could not be shown the notes to refresh his ment

sh. ory. "As T understand it. Mr. Dorsey "As I understand it, Mr. Dorsey can tell about what they talker, over and can ask, 'Well, Mr. Scott, how about this or that?'" stated Attorney Hooper, "It is not a 'leading' ques-Hooper. "It is not a 'leading' ques-tion to call attention to a certain subject."

"Mr. Dorsey, you may call attention to a specific subject, but not to the answer you want" said Judge Rean. "Mr. Scott, did Frank or did he not Alsouss Gantt's relations to Mar Phagan?" the solicitor then asked. "Yes" Scott replied. Mary

"What did he say?" "He said Gantt paid a great deal of attention to her." "Anything more?" "Not that I now recall."

"Do you know when Gantt was ar-rested?" "On Monday, April 28, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon." "Before or after your talk with Frank? "About the same time; Gantt was arrested in Marietta just about that "Was there any suggestion by Frank's attorneys that you suppress asked the soliltor.

Scott Suspected Frank, "During the first week in May," said Scott, "Pierce and I went to Herbert Haas' office to discuss the handling of the case and we told him we had strong suspicion against Frank."

"I object; that can't come in!" roar ed Rosser, "Mr. Heas said that he would rather

"Mr. Haas said that he would rather we would submit what evidence we might get to them before turning it over to the police," the Pinkerton man continued, "so that they would know in advance what the evidence was, and we told him that we would quit

Continued on Page Three.

ATTORNEYS FOR BOTH SIDES RILED BY SCOTT'S TESTIMONY; REPLIES CAUSE LIVELY TILTS

When court convened on Thursday morning J. M. Gantt, formerly employed in the bookkeeping department of the National Pencil factory, was placed on the stand for two questions, and he was followed by Harry Scott, Pinkerton detective, who worked as a partner of John R. Black, of the city detectives, in searching for the mur-erer of Mary Phagan. SoNcitor Hugh Dorsey had Gantt tions on that Saturday when the girl derer of Mary Phagan. swear that he was arrested on April 28 and hold until the following Thurs.

day. During Scott's testimony, there were lively tilts of all sorts. At one time Scott became angry with the solicitor and asked him if he were accusing him of withholding evidence, and Dor-sey declared that Scott had entrapped him by promising to swear one thing on the stand and then by refusing to swear it.

A moment later the defense was in rage when Scott swore that Herbert lass, one of Leo Frank's counsel, had Haas.

Hans, one of Leo Frank's counsel, had ordered him to furnish to the defense the evidence he might obtain before giving it to the police. Luther Rosser, another of Frank's attorneys, then tried to show that he had not been concerned in this, and when this way not helid admissible had not been concerned in this, and when this was not helld admissible, he burst out with the statement, "There's certainly no one here who believes that I had anything to do with this!"

Scott declared he told Haas, in the presence of Rosser and Sig Montag, that before the Pinkertons would du as he asked that they would quit the case.

In the formal examination the first question asked by the solicitor was, "How long have you known Frank?"

Employed by Frank. "Since I first saw him on April 23."

"What did no say?" asked the solu-itor. "He told me about the crime, and stated that he and the directors of the company had decided that the public demanded a thorough investigation to And the murderer. Then he said he had just left police station, and that Detective Black seemed to suspect him.

him.

"He wasn't nervous," said Scott. "Was he nervous or not later?"

"Since 1 nrst saw tim on April 23, the Pinkerton man replied. "By whom were you employed in the Thagan murder?" "By Frank, representing the Na-tional Pencil company."

"Where did you see him?" "In his office in the pencil factory. He called me in his private office for a conference." "What did he say?" asked the solle-

"Then," continued the detective, "he rulined to me his own movements on that Saturday, stating that he had come to the factory at 8 o'clock; had yone to Montag brothers' place about 9 with Darley, and came back to the factory about 11 o'clock. "He then said," Scot went on, "that Mrs. White, wife of J. A. White, who was at work upstairs, had come in just before noon and asked permission to go up to see her husband. Paid Of in Plynte Office. Then. continued the det

Paid Off in Private Office.

Paid Off in Private Office. "Mary Phagan came in and drew her pay at ten minutes after 12, ac-cording to what Frank said, and he paid her $1.20, giving her two halves rnd he thought two dimes." continued Scott, "and then he said that the Phagan girl was paid off in his private office at his desk, and that as she went out she stopped in the outer office and enlied back to know if the metal had errived yct. "Frank declared he told the girl

Frank declared he told the girl that he did not know about the metal, and then as she went on out he thought he heard voices, but could and then as she went on out ne thought he heard voices, but coul-not tell whose they were. He then said that at about half past 12 he went up and told Mrs. White that he was about to close up the factory, and that she had best leave, and that Mrs. White told him of seeing a negro be-hind some boxes on the first floor. "Frank said he left at about ten after 1." Scott went en, "and that he went home, and was back at the fac-tory at 4 o'clock, when Newt Lee rame, and that he sent Lee out to have a good time and told him to come back at 6. "Frank then told that Lee came back at 6, and that a few minutes afterwards he went out and saw Lee eitting on a box and talking to Gantt." Tried to Call Factory.

Tried to Call Factory.

Tried to Call Factory. "Gantt. Frank said, was a former hookkeeper who had been discharged for thieving," Scott stated, "and then Frank said he got home by 20 minutes after 6, and, worrying about Gantt's presence, tried to call the factory at 6:30. Frank told me he tried and tried the telephone, and finally got the number at 7 o'clock and asked Lee if Gantt had gone and if every-thing was all right. Lee answered in the affirmative, according to Frank," said the Pinkerton man, "and Frank then said that at 9 o'clock he took a bath and went to bed. After that Frank and Darley and I went through the factory and the va-rious details were explained to me. 1 was shown the place where the halr had been found and the place where some dark spots had been chipped out, and there was a white substance around the place and there was a white substance around the place, "I then examined the time clock, and then went to the basement and was shown where the body had been found, and also the hat and shoe. Darley did most of the explaining on this trip and Frank had been the spokes-man in the office." "How did Frank act in his office?" "He seemed perfectly natural," re-plied the witness.

"What do you mean by perfectly natural?" interrupted Rosser, for the defenso.

REPRESENTING STATE IN FRANK TRIAL

Left to right: Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, Assistant Solicitor E. A. Stephens, and Attorney Frank A. Hooper.

ATTORNEYS FOR BOTH SIDES

Continued From Page Two.

the case before we would handle it in that way.

Scott was then made to describe the locality where the supposed blood scott was then made to describe the locality where the supposed blood spots were found near the girls' dress-ing room and he declared that the spots had been chipped out when he went there, but that a white substance was smeared around the place as if someone had taken a cloth and rubbed the whither on the floor.

"Are you sure that the white stuff had been spilled there?" asked the so-ite whiting on the floor. "Are you sure that the white stuff had been spilled there?" asked the so-totion leitor.

"I could tell by its appoarance that it had been smeared there," Scott re-plied positively. "On the facts you have a total

plied positives. "On the facts you have told a Frank's appearance are you will to tell whether or not Frank nervous?" asked the solicitor, ro ring to Scott's testimony about "fordent's being pale and tal facts you have told about you Frank v Wor, ref willing was the ndant's being pale and taking breaths during the first conferlong inc

"He seemed nervous but not trem-ing," answered Scott, "Tell what happened on Tuesday

"Tell what happened on Tuesday night, April 29, in Frank's presence," taid Horsey.

faid libersey. "Black and I were with Frank at police sinilon and Black told him that be and I believed Newt Lee knew more about the crime than he would lell and we suggested to Frank that he, as Lee's employer, might get something out of him and we asked Frank to hold a private talk with the negro aegro.

Says Frank Squirmed in Chair.

Says Frank Squirmed in Ohair, "Frank did that and when he had been there about ten minutes Black and I entered just as Lee was saying, Mr. Frank, it's awful hard to be hundcuffed here to this chair.' "Frank hung his head for about 30 seconds and then flinging up bis hands he burst out, 'Well, they've got me, too!' "Frank

me, to. "Later

"Later Frank told us he got noth-ing out of the negro," said Scott. "How about Frank's demeanor at that time?" asked Dorsey.

ine was extremely iquirmed in his chair and ancrossed "He was extnemely nervous; he iquirmed in his chair and crossed and ancrossed his legs. He didn't seem to know what to do with his hands and put them all over his face and rubbed his mouth with them several times, four or five times, and hung his head, twallo yed hard and sighed." v ha

'No,'

"No." "Did you search the factory?" "Yes, I searched thoroughly around the clevator shaft, but only on the surface; I did not dig up the dirt."

"Find anything like a ribbon, irse, pay envelope or a stick

"No, I ran my lantern up and backed thoroughly, but I f down thoroughly, bu ke what you I found nothing like what you d Scott declared with emphasis. describe,"

Cross-Questioned by Rosser

Mr. Rosser then took up the crossexamination.

'Did you make a report of your talk h Mr. Haas?" Yes." with "Mr. Haas said that he wanted to find the murdrer wheever he m didn't he?" gueried Mr. Rosser. might bo,

"Yos, he said that after I had told him we would quit the case before we would handle it like he first sug-gested, in telling us to submit new evidence to him before giving it to the " replied Scott, Rosser then police,"

Mr. Rosser then declared that wanted to show that he had not b concerned in the affair. The solic ho been concerned in the affair. The solicitor won his point, however, that because it might have been that one of the defendant's counsel had tried to sup-press facts, that such did not open ít defendant's counsel had tried to sup-press facts, that such did not open up the way for proving that others had not."

"Woll, there's certainly no one here who would think that I had anything to do with it, and I know it," thun-lered Rosser, apparently addressing himself to court and spectators as well

"Didn't you give me a statement of "Didn't you give me a statement of your first conversation with Frank in which there was no montion of his statement about the alleged intimacy between Gantt and Mary Pingan?" asked Mr. Rosser a moment later of Front. Scott. "It was purely an oversight."

"It was purely an oversight. "Didn't the coroner ask you about Lee's statement and you answered without saying anything of Gantt's intimacy?"

"Yes, I didn't consider Gantt a sus-peot and for that reason did not re-port to it to you."

Gives Notes to Rosser.

Scott then gave Attorney Rosser the notes of his testimony. "Isn't it true that at the inquest you to tell of Frank's lowering his failed head?

"I do not remember." "Didn't you make one statement the inquest and another here?" oth

Yes.

"Did you swear you told all you knew at the inquest?" "Yes; I did my best in a general way You never hid anything?

Scott Again Grows Angry.

"No; that's not my business nor my reputation," Scott flashed back, his anger, which had been visible since his hot words with the solicitor, flarhigh again.

ing high again. "It wouldn't have been wise to open up and tell everything at the inquest," interrupted the solicitor. "Who was present at the factory ofopen

"who was present at the factory of-ce when you conferred with Frank?" "Darley was there and I think Schiff as," answered Scott. "Do you work with the polico?" "Yes," fice was,"

"Never work against them?" "No."

"You just go right down the road with them do you?" said Mr. Rosser, Scott made no particular reply and the cross-examination went on, "Were you in the factory that Sun-"You

"Were you in the factory that Sun-day morning?" the attorney next

"No; I never entered there until about 4:30 Monday afternoon." "Did you testify as to blood stains at the inquest?" "Yes."

"I found some supposed blood also stains," Rossor read from the steno-graphic report of Scott's testimony before the coroner.

"Mr. Scott, you said nothing then about the smears over the spots," said Mr. Rosser.

Scott was then made to tell that Frank acted as the spokesman in the office and that Darloy did the explain-ing as they made the trip through the factory on the Monday after the crime. "You say now," continued Mr. Ros-ser, "that Frank told you he left the factory about 1:10?" "Yoe,"

"Yos," "Didn't you report to me that Frank said he left about 1 o'clock? "No I said 1:10." When the attorney exhibited the rs port it showed 1 o'clock instead of 1:10 and Scott declared that it was merely an error, and should have been 1:10

"Did Detective Black know all that happened before Horbert Haas, Sig Montag or I did?" "Yes, absolutoly."

"Well, you may go," said Mr. Ros-ser, and turning to the judge he de-clared he wanted to reserve the right to question him again.

and

Scott was then made to tell that m the first Monday afternoon he saw Frank that the superintendent had old him the clock had not been corectly punched during the n ore the finding of the body. night

Search Made in Factory.

"Black and I went to the factory and arried him to the station house and fter a conference decided to keep him here," Scott declared next in answer o the solicitor's question about the ime that Frank was first arrested. "How about his appearance?" asked

)orsey

"He had nothing to say and he was wry pale." "Did you see Mr. Rosser, Frank's at-orney, with him on Tuesday before arrest?

"Did you see Frank on May 3, and that took place?"

"Black and I went to his cell and isked him if, after going bacw to the hetofy from Montag's place, he stay-d in the office, and he said he did nd also that he was there from 12 o 12:30." "Did you talk to Frank about the

"Did you talk to Frank about the mspects in the case previous to the afferings of the rewards?"

"Oh, I've refreshed my memory," said Scott.

"Show me in your notes anything about Gantt's intimacy with Mary Phagan. said Rosser.

"It isn't there; I've got my system of taking notes and maybe they are of taking notes and maybe they ar not like yours." "Isn't it true you look part of th notes one day and some another day? "I did no such thing." true you took part of the

"You never mentioned to me of Ganti's intimacy." "No."

"At the coroner's inquest did you not say Frank was nervous that aft-ernoon at the office?"

ernoon at the office?" "No; I was not asked about it." "Why did you state it?" "Oh, there is a lot besides going in-to a whole detailed sheet about it." "When you told of the talk between Lee and Frank you' never said he was nervous." "Not nervous; I said Frank hung his head."

his head."

his head." "Are you following Dorsey's attack?" "No, his line of questions." "Are you a trained sleuth?" "Suppose so." "You are trained to note all indica-tions of guilt in a man?"

Dorsey Resumes Questioning. "Did you ever report to the police the finding of a stick?" asked Mr. Dor-sey, again taking up the examination. "J presume that unless it was held out that chief got knowledge of it about the time it was found," an-swered Scott. "Don't you know whether he did or not?"

not

"No, I was away at the time, and I don't know what happened while I was out of town." "When you work with the police do you follow them case?

tho "[]

when you work with the police do ou follow them or the facts in the se?" asked Dorsoy. "We report to the police each day o facts wo get." "How do you work with the police?" "Hack and I worked as partners, d he know all I knew, and reported to the police." "Itlack

"Itlack .... and he knew all I have it to the police." Then Mr. Dorsey made the wit toll again about the threat that Pinkertons would leave the case fore they would report evidence they would report evidence before giving it to it to Then witness the beevidence rors they would report evidence to the defense before giving it to the police. After Scott had pointed out on the cross-section of the factory building the route taken by himself, Frank and Darley in examining the place on the Monday after the case, he was excused. The Pinkerton man to had been on the stand for two hours.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.