

CONLEY SENTENCE STANDS.

Accomplice In Atlanta Murder Falls
to Get a New Trial.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 27.—James Conley, the negro factory sweeper sentenced to serve one year in prison as an accessory to the murder of Mary Phagan, for which crime Leo M. Frank is under sentence of death, has failed to obtain a new trial.

Judge Ben. H. Hill of the Fulton County Superior Court ruled against Conley today. Conley's attorney served notice of appeal.

The New York Times

Published: June 28, 1914

Copyright © The New York Times