pany had no right to leave the obstruction in the street is denied, the company claiming this right under city ordinance. His allegation that the switch frog was not guarded by red lights is likewise denied, the company claiming that it took every proper precaution to warn passing street traffic

of the danger. The company's answer is a total disclaimer, in short, of every allegation that it was in any way responsible for Mr. Binder's accident.

Georgia to Help Fill Large Harness Order For Armies of Allies

The harness manufacturers of Georgia have been invited to participate in the filling of the largest order for harness ever placed in the world's history.

The allies have ordered 20,000 sets of artillery harness, amounting to $3,000,000, from the Studebaker Harness company, of South Bend, Ind. The time set for the delivery of the harness is twenty weeks.

So large is the order that in order to fulfill their contract the Studebaker company has been forced to sublet part of the order.

According to W. G. West, southern representative of the Studebaker company, of Georgia, manufacturers of harness have been invited to participate in the order.

There are five big harness manufacturers in Georgia, namely, Bona Allen (Inc.) and Shadburn Brothers, of Buford, Ga.; McCurry & Inman company, of Fairburn, Ga.; G. Bernd & Co., of Macon, Ga., and Leo Frank (Inc.), of Savannah, Ga.

Mr. West states that two of the representatives of these five firms have already gone to South Bend to confer with the officials of the Studebaker company.

A big harness dealer of Atlanta is authority for the statement that Georgia harness manufacturers are capable of furnishing $1,000,000 worth of the big war order during the twenty weeks' time.

GRAND JURY CHARGED BY JUDGE BEN HILL

The November grand jury was organized yesterday with W. E. Newell foreman. Judge Benjamin H. Hill made an exceedingly short charge, urging the jury to start work at once on jail cases because the previous jury had occupied most of its time investigating the vice situation and other matters. The judge also paid tribute to the work of the outgoing body. Acting upon Judge Hill's advice, the jury returned a number of smaller indictments against prisoners in the jail. Additional ones will be taken up today.

MATRIMONIAL EXCHANGE TO BE SHOWN TONIGHT

"The Matrimonial Exchange," a farce comedy, will be presented Tuesday night in the Sunday school room of the Westminster Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Damasci, by players from the St. James Methodist church.

This play was recently presented at the St. John's church and was a huge success. The play will start promptly at 8 o'clock, and the public is cordially invited.

CAR COMPANY ANSWERS SUIT OF G. B. BINDER

That it was complying fully with all laws and ordinances relating to obstructions in the streets of Atlanta, is claimed by the Georgia Railway and Power company in its answer, filed Monday, to G. B. Binder's suit for $10,000 damages. Mr. Binder asked that amount for injuries he alleged he sustained November 30, 1913, when his automobile collided with a switch frog in Marietta street.

Mr. Binder's allegation that the com-
