ON DAY OF RELEASE HE WEDS DAUGHTER OF GA. PRISON HEAD

Milledgeville, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—On the day that Dr. I. M. Harrison, the Columbus physician, who was instrumental in saving Leo Frank's life, completed his term of 12 months at the state prison farm here, he went to Macon and married Miss Janie Lou Burke, daughter of Captain J. M. Burke, superintendent of the farm.

Although the wedding occurred last week it was not known until today when a telegram from New York, where Dr. and Mrs. Harrison are spending their honeymoon, announced the news.

Miss Burke left here a week ago Monday, ostensibly to visit friends in Indian Springs. She went instead to Macon, where she was joined by Dr. Harrison after his release on Tuesday.

Dr. Harrison and Miss Burke met the first day of the physician's imprisonment and were thrown together frequently thereafter in their work of caring for the sick, for Miss Burke was a trained nurse.

Dr. Harrison and Dr. J. W. McNaughton are the physicians who are given credit for saving Frank's life by their prompt attention on the night he was cut by William Creen.
