GEN. HUERTA IS ADMIRING JINGOES

Hated Against Americans in Capital Stirred by President—Lind Warned Not to Come.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The administration today decided to ignore entirely the note sent by President Huerta to the American government and to direct Special Envoy Lind to proceed to Mexico City without delay on his arrival at Vera Cruz to-night, unless he be held back by armed force.

Special Cable to the Atlanta Georgian, MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—With the approval of Provisional President Huerta, arms were issued today to the students of the National Military Academy, who yesterday drafted a resolution praising Huerta for declaring John Lind, the special American envoy, persona non grata to the Mexican government.

A number of residents in the American colony, who have fortunes invested in Mexico, are planning to make a demonstration Sunday when protests will be lodged against the action of President Wilson in sending a personal representative to Mexico City and urging that the Mexican government be upheld.

Foreign Minister Alado and other members of the Cabinet are doing all in their power to arouse the patriotism and enthusiasm of the people. Meetings of young hot bloods who are standing up for President Huerta in his defense of the Stars and Stripes are being encouraged.

The newspapers today carried flaming stories of "Yanks interfering," and warned the State Department to recall Mr. Lind from Vera Cruz and not allow him to come to Mexico City.

JOHNSTON OF ALABAMA IS DEAD

United States Senator Victim of Pneumonia After Nine Days' Illness at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Joseph F. Johnston, of Alabama, died at 8 o'clock this morning at his apartment in the Brighton.

Senator Johnston had been ill for eight days, suffering from pneumonia. As a mark of respect to the memory of Senator Johnston, the Senate adjourned almost immediately after assembling at noon.

Senator Johnston served four years as Governor of Alabama, before his election to the Senate in 1907. His death was being contested at the time of his death.

His immediate successor will be named by Governor O'Neal, which means that Mr. Hobson will not get the immediate appointment.

Medical Bill is Passed, with Amendment

After a bitter fight in which Representative Wohlwend, of Michigan, prevailed, the House today passed the bill to amend the act to prevent the members of the allopathic school of medicine having a majority of the proposed State Board of Medical Examiners.

The original bill, it was alleged by its opponents, was drawn by representatives of the American Medical Association, referred to the floor of the House as the "medical trust" bill.

The bill as amended and passed prior to the discussion of the bill the imposition of a fine of $100 for each day of non-compliance.

The bill will raise the standard of physicians in Georgia, three subjects to be tested. It provides that applicants for license as practicing physicians must attend a school of medicine for two years.

FOREMAN OF FACTORY GIVES STARTING NEW EVIDENCE FOR FRANK

That the door leading from the entryway on the first floor of the National Pencil Factory, which had been nailed up since the first of January, was found broken open shortly after the murder of Mary Phagan was the startling testimony of N. V. Darley at the trial of Leo Frank Friday afternoon.

No testimony of this nature had been presented before and no intimation of such a discovery had been made during the investigation of the murder mystery.

Darley said that he had kept watch of employees after the murder and that his suspicion immediately fixed itself upon Conley, because of the negro's peculiar actions. He said he had also talked the day watchman Joseph ...

The attorneys for Frank vigorously assailed Friday the notion of Conley of the State's two of the State's two witnesses, Jim Conley, the accuser of Frank, and Albert Moskowitz, who said he saw Frank at the Bell house Saturday afternoon, April 22.

It also serves to destroy the significance of the State's first testimony that Frank was absent from his office when he arrived there. As Mary Phagan had not yet arrived, according to the testimony of the street men, it could hardly be supposed as a suspicious circumstance that Frank was not in his office.

Soon after Frank's conviction of No. 100 in the afternoon, it is ...

pipe Company, appeared at the courthouse under subpoena of the defense to discredit the story of Albert McKnight. McKnight testified that he was at Frank's home the afternoon of the murder and that he saw Frank board a Georgia avenue car to return to the factory.

Hinchey stated before he went on the stand that he was riding in his automobile on Washington street Memorial Day and at 11 o'clock he saw Frank get off a Washington street car at Washington and Hunter streets when the car was stalled by the parade. Frank then was on his way to the factory.

Earlier in the day the defense introduced other evidence to discredit McKnight. Photographs and blue prints of the Belle home were displayed to show that it would have been practically impossible for McKnight to see Frank at the sidewalk, as the negro testified when he was on the stand.

Photos and Models Introduced. Photographs and blue prints of the pencil factory and were put in evidence and in the afternoon a large sized model of the pencil factory, constructed on a scale of three-eighths of an inch to the foot, was brought into the court room. It was made by T. H. Willett, a patentmaker of No. 108 Highland avenue, and John Cox, an attaché of Heubner Arnold's office.

The model and blue prints were submitted in an effort to demonstrate that the State's theory of the crime is unreasonable and preposterous and to illustrate the theory that the defense holds.

Attorney Arnold, who was conducting the examination during the forenoon, sought also to throw a deep shadow of suspicion upon the story of young George Epps, who testified that he rode up town with Mary Phagan the day she was killed.

Matthews said that another girl was seated with Mary the latter part of the ride to town. He did not recall that Epps was in the car at all. The motorman said that he was relieved at Broad and Marietta streets and that he set behind Mary and her companion all the way to Hunter street. He said the two alighted at Hunter street and proceeded toward Forsyth, on which the factory is located.

This is in direct contradiction to the story of Epps, who testified that he and Mary left the car at Forsyth and Marietta streets and that he walked with her toward the factory as far as the street.

Hollis did not remember seeing Epps on the car. He said Mary was alone when he collected her fare after the car got on English avenue. He left the car at Forsyth and Marietta streets and did not see Mary Phagan alight there.

Albert Kaufman, an architect, was called to discredit several of the State's witnesses. He had blueprints

STATE IS FORCED TO PIN HOPES ON CONLEY

Must Stand by While Defense Seeks Weak Link in the Negro's Story.

By JAMES B. NEVIN. As the defense in the Frank case gets under way, it is evident enough, as it has been from the beginning of this case, that there is but one link, a tremendously compelling link, and that is the examination of Conley's ugly story.

The State eluzmed its case thrillogly and with deadly effect in the negro.

He came through the fire of cross-examination, exhaustive and thorough. In remarkably good shape all things considered, it unfolded a story even more horrible than was anticipated.

Through the cross-examination, however, there ran an evident vein of deadly purpose upon the part of the defense. Conley was given full limit to go his length. He went it—no disputing that!

The question is, did he go TOO FAR? He has in his last minute effort to get in EVERYTHING that possibly might work against the defendant.

That is the defense's task—THE UNDOING OF CONLEY. Conley the State's All.

Conley is the best and soul of the State's case—without Conley, the State is rendered helpless. He is the Alpha and the Omega of the charge against Leo Frank.

That great detective, William J. Burns, says "they always—criminals—leave something out of gear in the stories they tell."

Burns declares there never was a man who did not have in it SOMEBODY'S fatal weakness, that might be located if one is patient enough to do the job.

Today is the defense's day in court—during its progress, which may last for a week or more, even as the State's day lasted 300 hours, Leo Frank must break down the awful story of Jim Conley, and prove himself innocent, if he can, of all the various charges brought against him.

Can he do it? Well, maybe he can, and maybe he can not—at least, in the name of justice and decency and all that is right, he must have full and free OPPORTUNITY.

One Side of the Case. During the progress of the State's case, the defense was led far into the gloom. People began to doubt Frank's innocence—people of poles and faith minds; desirous of seeing the truth prevail though the heavens fall.

Even these people found themselves staggering and groping in the hideous and sinister charges told from the lips of the negro.

Could Leo Frank, a previous good reputation, of fine nature and unblemished integrity, college bred and studious in habits, so far from the ink-blot or the newspaper, be the man responsible for little Mary Phagan's death, and also the other unpalatable thing?

In a rather remarkable interview Mr. Leo Frank gave The Sunday American some few weeks ago, and said this of Frank and himself: "As a sweatehr, we went hand in hand and intruded ourselves upon no person as man and wife we have gone hand in hand, and have intruded ourselves upon no person."

They still are going "hand in hand." The man and the woman, the husband and the wife—the one holds the up as best he can under the terrible charge of murder, the other, worse than him—"for better or worse, in sickness and in health, for richer or poorer"—until death, do worse than death, shall sever the link that binds.

Conk is "something steady" to think about. It is the defendant's day in court—and he is entitled to fair play and a fair chance.

To come it may seem that the burden has shifted, that it is up to the defense now, postulating the mere or less, nebulous, presumptive of innocence the few links which have established in his favor, to PROVE his innocence.

But that as it may—even as the gloom has closed about him and as he holds most dear in this world—the still is a human being, in very dire distress, as yet unconvinced, and it is only right that the public should be kept, as he sets forth HIS side of this terrible affair.

And I give it as my opinion here and now, for whatever it is worth, that the case against Leo Frank may be far from conclusive—and it may never be made conclusive.

Conley's Tale Impossible? Suppose the defense is able to show, by a sequence of logical, orderly and

STATE SEES BITS OF WIDEGE AS ROPE STRANDS

Chain as Strong as Its Weakest Link, but Cord Must Be Cut Thread by Thread.

By O. B. KEELER. They call it a chain that the State has forged, or has tried to forge to hold Leo Frank to the murder of little Phagan.

But isn't it a rope? A chain you know, is as strong as its weakest link. Take one link out, and the chain comes apart.

With a rope, it is different. Strand after strand might be cut or broken, and the rope still holds a certain weight.

And that is what the various bits of circumstantial evidence might be to the State's case.

Applying this system of the well-known Dupin to the case in point—AND REGARDING IT, BE IT UNDERSTOOD, STRICTLY FROM THE STATE'S VIEWPOINT—an analysis of part of the evidence against Leo Frank follows:

That on the isolated circumstance of Conley's ability to write would seem as futile as a smoke wreath in maintaining any weight of evidence, except against Conley himself.

But to that fact is added the fact that Frank was not the man who could write, the thread is flimsy, and, even connected with the case against Frank, would appear worthless.

But when it develops that Frank, knowing Conley could write, and knowing the police were trying to find the author of the murder notes—when Frank, well aware of the fact, did not inform the police that Conley was lying when he said he could not write, the following deductions appear:

(1) That Frank did not want to connect Conley with the murder notes; and (2) that he had a strong opinion of the natural and prompt inclination of a suspected man who knew nothing of the crime himself, so that (3) it appeared Frank knew something of the murder, and (4) knew that Conley, in turn, felt something that would implicate him.

Of course, this strand may be the only one that the State has woven into its case, and the State never knew the police were ignorant of Conley's ability to write before the police learned it themselves.

But there is one pretty substantial strand of evidence in the State's case—and all having its genesis in the fact that Conley could write, and wrote and at first denied it.

That that strand is the only one that stands up to the strain only by reason of many strands that surround it, and support it.

He had accused Frank of the killing and had made himself an accessory after the fact by declaring that he had not seen Couley on the day when every motive for holding anyone back had been swept away by his third affidavit, which denied to him (Scott) many of the alleged circumstances to which he testified in his first affidavit.

And the fact that Couley had been on the stand the first three days of the week.

When the Sun Rose

It was absolutely still in the large room where the curtains and shade faintly illuminated the heavy silk curtains which covered the windows. In a corner of the room stood the little bed in which a small feverish body was struggling with death. A beautiful young woman was sitting at the bedside, her eyes anxiously followed every movement of the sick child.

Her quiet evening gown showed that she had returned direct from some society affair. Her gloves and fan she had thrown carelessly on the table. A few hours ago she had been sitting at the dinner table covered with flowers and surrounded by visiting people, when a messenger had arrived with the word that her little boy had suddenly taken ill.

She hurried home as fast as her big car could carry her and now she was sitting here full of anxiety and despair. Her eyes were dim, her face ashen, her self it felt could really be possible that she was about to lose her full-haired little darling. On no, she could not be so cruel! The boy was her greatest, her only joy! The realization that more than ever now, when she was in danger of losing him.

She wondered if she had always thought so, and her whole past life would flash back to her mind. She saw herself as a happy, lively and spoiled girl, whose every wish was granted. She was beloved and adored by admirers and suitors, who flattered and wooed her, but she never felt, not even for a short single moment, the real love for which life and takes possession of your heart and soul.

No Love. Then the learned and famous Professor of medicine was introduced to her parents' home. He fell in love with the young, lively girl and accepted him, though she was twenty years older than she.

Did she love him then? No, unfortunately not. Rich as she was, she decorated her home with every possible luxury and comfort and she lived with guests, balls and parties in endless succession.

For a time her husband let her do as she pleased, but one day he took both his hands and looked earnestly into her eyes, while he said in his gentle voice: "You must be done with all these pleasures, and let me see that I have a splendid little wife, who cares more for her husband and her baby than for all the dances and dinners in the world."

At first she started at him in surprise, unable to understand him. Then she took her hands away and answered angrily: "Then shall we not see how you can make such a request. You are old and have enjoyed all the pleasures of life, while I am young and still have a great deal to live for."

He looked at her sadly, then he turned away and left her without another word. "And since then her life had been a life of constant displeasure. Her husband and child were left to take care of themselves, and she had to endure the happiness of a single minute."

The child in the bed moved again. She went forward and stroked his hot forehead. "Mama," he moaned once more.

Anxious Moments. It was a great pain in her heart. She did not know anything to do, but she tried to comfort him. "Mama," he moaned once more.

The doctor came in her heart. He said she should do nothing to do, but she tried to comfort him. "Mama," he moaned once more.

She looked at the clock. It was ten o'clock. She had not seen the doctor for a long time. She felt that she was in a state of great anxiety.

The doctor came in her heart. He said she should do nothing to do, but she tried to comfort him. "Mama," he moaned once more.

When the Whistle Blows

YOU lift your eyes to the great clock in the white tower and see six o'clock marked with widespread hands. You hear the chiming and whistles clanking over all the choked streets. Six o'clock!

And the girls who smile all day long as steadily in any chour girl is hidden to do, who haul down enough yards of stuff in his a day to fit a bush around this vain old world, who try delectable dancing to fat relatives who've seen forty summer moons, but get down under "middles" for lean little girls, whose too fat you envelope in non-

These the fortune of the family, all those who need and earn a thicker pay envelope and electric fans, all these bits of womanhood who go to make up the brave army that work in shops pour out of the employes' door and out under the clamor of "sit by the clock."

The blonde but, in her slippy, slippy, little black gown, the close-fitted girl who sells nuts, with her curly hair and the black nurse-like a baby-biting, all there—and HAPPY! Have you noticed that? And HAPPY!

Up-to-Date Jokes. A little boy of four years of age on noting for the first time a lock of gray hair on his father's head, asked: "Papa, why are some of your hairs gray?"

"Thinking to drive home a moral lesson, the father answered: "Papa has a new gray hair every time he thinks about your mother."

The Minister's Wife (to industrial school)—"Kiss me, Jane, I don't want to hear from your school mistress. You know who it is finds work for idle hands to do?"

Bliss (to a young man)—"I was the worst girl in the village!" "What do you mean?" "I was the worst girl in the village!"

Even doctors are not always liberal in their prescriptions. "You must take exercise," said the doctor to a patient. "The motor car is just what you need for the best exercise that can be afforded a car on insurance pay!"

"What's the matter, doctor?" asked a woman of her troubled looking husband. "I'm worried about the market money," he quietly responded. "I can't afford a car on insurance pay!"

"Will you give me something to drink?" he asked faintly of the nurse. "Certainly," said the nurse, offering him a glass of water. "It's just what you need for the best exercise that can be afforded a car on insurance pay!"

You Can Find in This Picture More Information About "How to Succeed" Than Carnegie or Rockefeller Could Give You in Two Hours Talk.

Work, hurry, plan, achieve while the others rest. That is the big secret of success.

The turtle won the race against the hare in the fable, because the turtle walked ALL THE TIME.

Your competitors are asleep on the grass. They are pitying themselves. They will have more cause to pity themselves later for having pitted themselves so much NOW.

Don't envy the man who is paddling a canoe and telling some young person with a high color what wonderful things he is going to do NEXT WINTER.

Lucky the man who works in August, lucky the man who is found by the hottest sun's rays ATTENDING TO BUSINESS.

When you are racing side by side with others, and when all are running, you can not do more than keep even.

Now, while others rest, is your chance to get ahead. Take it.

Don't pick this up and say to yourself that it is a rather nice picture, and put it down again. LOOK AT IT, STUDY IT.

Ask yourself, and don't deceive yourself in the answer, whether you are the man WALKING in this picture, or whether you are one of those figures lying asleep on the grass.

There is a better sermon on success in this picture by Tad than in all the nice interviews given out by Mr. Rockefeller telling how he saved his first dollar, or by Mr. Carnegie saying what a wonderful thing it is to give away libraries WITH NO BOOKS IN THE LIBRARIES.

July is gone. If you wasted that month, don't waste more time now on regret. Start off in the new way in August. WALK FAST, WORK HARD, THINK FOR YOURSELF, LOOK AHEAD.

Remember that no man ever hurt himself with too much work. IT'S WHAT YOU DO BETWEEN WORKING HOURS THAT HURTS YOU.

Remember also, that no man cheats his employer. You can only cheat yourself by doing a thing less well than you know how to do.

Be the steady walker, be the man who gets tired and others rest, be the man who gets ahead. And if you really try, good luck to you for the man WHO REALLY TRIES doesn't fail.

HALL CAINE'S latest work of fiction, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," is a striking illustration of the change which has taken place in the world of literature during the last score of years.

For frank realism and courageous attacks upon time-worn traditions, it takes the lead of all other books written by all other authors.

The heroine of this novel is a young English girl, reared by an angelic mother and a traditionally brutal British father.

The father is a self-made man, who attains great wealth, and who marries his daughter to a debauched man of title.

The girl's feelings and ideas are not taken into consideration in the least. Neither has she been instructed regarding the meaning of marriage. The death of her mother when she was a mere child deprived her of the one tender tie, and left her with only the companionship of disagreeable relatives or paid attendants.

From the hour of her marriage the trials and problems of life begin to present themselves to this young girl. With the first approach of the husband as a lover, all her womanly instincts arise in revolt and the bride refuses to become a wife.

Father, aunt, and clergymen are called into consultation, to smother the girl's revolt. She is still more terrified at the thought of giving herself to her husband.

She insists upon returning home to her father, but is finally prevailed upon to go away with the husband, if he will leave her undisturbed until he can win her affections.

To this situation the husband consents, wishing to avoid a public scandal. However, his method of winning his bride's affections is not a successful one. Intemperance and vulgarity are among his characteristics and the young wife finds herself growing more and more disgusted with him, daily.

Then comes the designing adventures, in the guise of an old school friend and relative, who enters the home and becomes the mistress of the husband.

Had as the man is, by nature and habit, one cannot help feeling that his position in his own home was a sorry one, and his affiliation with a woman of his own type does not seem at all surprising.

However, it ends all possibility of his ever winning the heart of his wife. Just at this moment the ideal man enters upon the scene and new complications arise.

Heart, soul, brain and body awaken simultaneously in the young wife, and it is quite naturally a blow to the husband's pride and to his self-conceit when he discovers that the chaste Diana, who has refused her husband's kiss, is an expectant mother.

The wife runs away, alone, and goes to London, where her child is born, and where, in the present phase of the story now running in Heart's Magazine, she is facing poverty and despair in her efforts to support herself and child.

We must remember that she was a very young and perfectly ignorant girl, knowing nothing of life, of the world, or of human nature, when she was plunged into all these distressing situations. All her instincts were high and fine, yet through the curious complications of her destiny, she became the mother of a child of a man she loved while married to a man she loathed.

Mighty problems face her in this situation. Everywhere she sees women respected by society and religious institutions, who are mothers of undesired children of detested men, simply because they are married to them.

Everywhere she sees women despised and shunned because they have brought forth children with love only to legitimize birth.

Her young mind is torn and tortured with all the great problems suggested by these experiences. Meantime, the lover she believes to be dead is sailing on the high seas searching for strange goals and wholly unconscious of all that has happened to the woman of his birth.

Besides these two central figures are several other very interesting characters; one a beautiful young woman who elopes with a clergyman connected with the school where this young girl was educated. In the midst of her great distress, in her efforts to make a living for her child, she comes upon them in the slums of London; the clergyman dying and the woman selling herself, soul and body, to supply him with the necessities of life.

Just how Mr. Caine is going to deal with all these characters eventually is a question to all readers of his remarkable novel.

No amount of brilliant writing and no amount of realistic pen pictures can change to any marked degree the situation of a woman who becomes a mother without the sanction of the law.

Birth needs, first and foremost, both the legitimized call of love and the sanction of marriage to make it ideal and beautiful.

When either element is lacking the child is not well-born in the fullest meaning of that word.

Physically, mentally and morally the child may be perfectly equipped to meet the demands of life, with only love as a dower from both parents; but we live in a world which has been obliged to make social laws to protect its social rights, and where there is a flaw in the birth certificate of a child, in this respect, it is sure to cause suffering and trouble sooner or later for all concerned.

But Mr. Caine's story will set people to thinking along broader and kinder lines regarding these topics. It presents great subjects for the mature deliberation of all classes and the followers of all creeds. The methods of public charitable institutions toward erring women are fully illustrated in the novel, and will no doubt lead to much discussion and many protests. Read the great story, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me."

Hall Caine's extraordinary novel, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," may be begun in the number of Heart's Magazine now on the newsstands. A complete synopsis of previous chapters is printed in the magazine.

The Woman With the Secret Eyes

By WINIFRED BLACK

SHE lives down in the valley by the running water, the woman with the secret eyes. She has three children, a boy and two girls; her husband has gone away, they say.

She looks out the window, far into the night, and says, "I live here now, and down there, where I live, we hear only the water. All day and all night the water."

And he's smart. "My children don't like it here either. I am going to send them away so they won't hear it all day and all night. The running water, water here by the door."

"The boy is going away to the city," did you see the new girl? "I'll go with him. Oh, it's a nice place, very nice, and the new place, too, and the city. Nothing better in town than those clothes. They're good as the new ones."

And he's smart. "The boy is going away to the city," did you see the new girl? "I'll go with him. Oh, it's a nice place, very nice, and the new place, too, and the city. Nothing better in town than those clothes. They're good as the new ones."

REPRESENTATIVE PUTS ON MANY WITNESSES

Three Colled to Break Down Negro's Stories

GEN. HUERTA IS ARMING JINGOES

Hatred Against Americans in Capital Stirred by President—Lind Warned Not to Come.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The administration today decided to ignore entirely the note sent by President Huerta to the American government and to direct Special Envoy Lind to proceed to Mexico City without delay on his arrival at Vera Cruz to-night, unless he be held back by armed force. "The President declines to be bluff," stated a prominent government official today.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—With the approval of Provisional President Huerta, arms were issued today to the students of the National Military Academy, who yesterday admitted resolution training troops for declaring John Lind, the special American envoy, persona non grata to the Mexican government.

A number of residents in the American colony, who have fortunes invested in Mexico, are planning to make a demonstration Sunday when protests will be lodged against the action of President Huerta in sending a personal representative to Mexico City and urging that the Mexican Government be upheld.

Foreign Ministers Adams and other members of the Cabinet are doing all in their power to arouse the patriotism and enthusiasm of the people. "Myself of young hot bloods, who are standing up for President Huerta in his defense of the States and Stripes, are being encouraged."

Mexican secret service agents have been detailed to watch every movement that Mr. Lind makes here and the envoy will be under constant surveillance.

The newspapers today carried flaming stories of "Yankee interference" and warned the States Department to recall Mr. Lind from Vera Cruz and not allow him to come to Mexico City.

Direful consequences are imputed by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan to the present course of trying to settle the internal affairs of Mexico while withholding official recognition of the Huerta administration.

All the papers carry word to date that Huerta and promise that he will stand aside a rock in behalf of his policy of "Mexican for Mexican affairs."

Called States agents in the harbor at Vera Cruz were in wireless communication with the New Hampshire, upon which Mr. Lind is coming, and it is expected that the New Hampshire will reach Vera Cruz about 6 o'clock to-night.

Some would ignore Lind. There was a gathering of Cabinet Ministers and House members in Congress at the National Palace today, at which the existing American-Mexican situation was thoroughly discussed. Some are of the opinion that Mr. Lind, while the radicals insist that he should be expelled immediately, should not be recalled.

JOHN STOVOR OF ALABAMA IS DEAD

United States Senator Victim of Pneumonia After Nine Days' Illness at Capital.

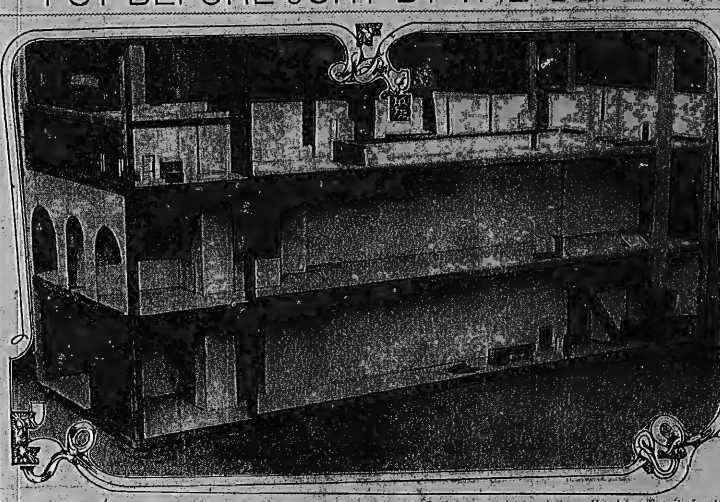

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Joseph P. Johnston, of Alabama, died at 9 o'clock this morning at his apartment in the Delightful. Senator Johnston had been ill for eight days, suffering from pneumonia. As a mark of respect to the memory of Senator Johnston, the Senate adjourned almost immediately after assembling at noon.

Senator Overman offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee of Senators to take part in the funeral ceremonies and to accompany the body to Birmingham, where burial is to be made.

The Vice President appointed the following committee: Senators Bankhead, of Alabama; Bacon, of Virginia; Chamberlain, of Illinois; Clark, of Arkansas; Vardaman, of Kansas; Smith, of South Carolina; Thornton, of West Virginia; Gallinger, of Ohio; Bradley and Kenyon.

The funeral party will leave here to-night, and is expected to reach Birmingham to-morrow night. The funeral will take place Sunday morning.

PAPER MODEL OF PENCIL FACTORY PUT BEFORE JURY BY THE DEFENSE

Model shows basement where body was found, ground floor where Jim Conley sat, and second floor, Frank's office in front and rear machine room, where State says she was killed.

DISCREPANCY SHOWN BY CAR CREW AS TO TIME OF THE TRAGEDY

The attorneys for Leo Frank vigorously assailed Friday the stories of two of the State's negro witnesses, Jim Conley, the accuser of Frank and Albert McKnight, who said he saw Frank at the Bell home Saturday afternoon, April 26.

The motorman and conductor of the street car on which Mary Phagan is believed to have come to town the day of her death both testified that they knew the girl and that she was on their car which arrived at Broad and Hunter streets not before 12:07 o'clock. She stayed on the car, they said, until the car reached Broad and Hunter streets, which was about 12:10 o'clock. Consequently, it would have been impossible for her to reach the factory before 12:11 or 12:12 o'clock.

If the testimony of the two street car employees is accurate it completely upsets Jim Conley's story that he saw Mary Phagan enter the factory before Matteson Street came in. By the State girl's own testimony she entered the factory at 12:08 o'clock and left at 12:10 o'clock. Thus, she had gone by the time the Phagan girl arrived.

It also serves to destroy the significance of the Stover girl's testimony that Frank was absent from his office when she arrived there. As Mary Phagan had not yet arrived according to the testimony of the street carmen, it could hardly be regarded as a suspicious circumstance that Frank was not in his office, if it develops that he really was not. The defense also contends that Miss Stover, who admits she did not enter the inner office, could have looked through the doorway without seeing Frank.

Witness Refutes McKnight's Story. Soon after court recessed in the afternoon, H. J. Hinchey, 323 1/2 Peachtree street, manager of the South Atlanta Dyeing Company, appeared at the court house under subpoena of the defense to discredit the story of Albert McKnight. McKnight testified that he was at Frank's home (the room of the murder) and that he saw Frank board a Georgia Avenue car to return to the factory.

Hinchey stated before he went on the stand that he was riding in his automobile on Washington street Memorial day and at 2:15 o'clock he saw Frank get out of a Washington street car at Washington and Hunter streets when the car was stalled by the parade. Frank then was on his way to the factory.

Earlier in the day the defense introduced other evidence to discredit McKnight. Photographs and blue prints of the Bell home were displayed to show that it would have been practically impossible for McKnight to go to Frank's headquarters, if the negro testified when he was on the stand.

Photos, Blueprints and Model Introduced. Photographs and blue prints of the pencil factory also were put in evidence and in the afternoon a large sized model of the pencil factory, constructed on a scale of three eighths of an inch to the foot was brought into the court room. It was made by H. W. Willett, a patternmaker, of 400 Highland avenue, and John Cox, an attaché of Reuben Arnold's office.

The model and blue prints were submitted in an effort to demonstrate that the State's theory of the crime is unreasonable and preposterous, and to illustrate the theory that the defense holds.

Attorney Arnold, who was conducting the examination during the forenoon, sought also to throw a deep shadow of suspicion upon the story of young George Epps, who testified that he rode upon with Mary Phagan the day she was killed.

Matthew said that the father of Epps was seated with Mary on the car at all. The motorman said that he was seated at Broad and Marshall streets and that he saw behind Mary another companion all the way to Hunter street. He said the two walked to Hunter street and proceeded toward a doorway on which the girl was indicated.

This is an direct contradiction to the story of Epps, who testified

Immediate Election May Be Necessary

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 8.—Governor O'Neal may be compelled to call an extra session of the Alabama Legislature to order an election at once to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate, as it is generally believed at the Capitol here today that under the Seventeenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution the Governor has not the power to appoint a successor to the late Senator J. B. Johnston, who died in Washington today.

Mobile Offers Stevens To Fill Vacancy

MOBILE, Aug. 8.—Mobile will call Governor O'Neal to appoint State Senator T. M. Stevens to the vacant place in the United States Senate, says the Beach or Senator Joseph P. Johnston.

ified that he and Mary left the car at Forsyth and Marietta streets and that he walked with her toward the factory as far as the yard.

Hollis did not remember seeing Epps on the car. He said Mary was alone when he collected her fare after the car got on English avenue. He left the car at Forsyth and Marietta streets and did not see Mary Phagan alight there.

Albert Kaufman, an architect, was called to discredit several of the State's witnesses. He had blue prints of the Solig home which he displayed to the jury to show that it was impossible for Albert McKnight to have seen from the kitchen into the dining room, as he testified he did, on the Saturday afternoon that Frank came home from the factory.

His testimony went to the effect that Monteen Stever could not have seen over the safe door into Frank's office at the time she declared she was unable to find him on her visit to the factory. Shows Diagram to Aid Frank.

He said that there was room for several bodies to pass down the south side into the basement. He exhibited a diagram of the factory to show that Frank could have sat in his office and not been aware of anything taking place beyond the time clock—for example, anyone coming up or going down the stairs.

Miss Daisy Hopkins, who C. B. Dalton said was his companion on visits to the factory basement, was called by the defense and denied Dalton's statements.

She said she never had spoken to Frank, and that Frank never had spoken to her.

Solicitor Dorsey made an attack on her character and forced her to admit she had been in jail on a statutory charge. It was brought out, however, that she was released without trial.

Frank, for the first time during the trial, took an active part in helping direct the course his case was taking. He arose from his seat several times to make suggestions to his lawyers, and at his request certain questions were put.

Dorsey Daisy Hopkins was called Solicitor Dorsey said he wanted to ask Harry Scott one more question. The Attorney Houser said he also wanted to ask one more question of Housa B. Scott, Detective J. M. Stivers and George Epps. Detective Scott was the first witness called.

Dorsey asked: Q. Mr. Scott, how long did it take you to get Jim Conley to write after he had admitted that he could write and you dictated it to him without delay?—A. Two or three minutes.

Miss Hopkins is a woman of very small features, with bright, keen eyes and wore a cotton striped dress that looked a bit too short. She wore white shoes and stockings. Mr. Arnold began the questioning: Q. Did you ever work for the National Pencil Company?—A. Yes. I went to work there about October 1, 1911, and quit June 1, 1912.

Q. What department?—A. Packing department. Q. What floor?—A. Second floor. Q. How many other girls worked there?—A. Sometimes there were as many as ten.

Q. Did you know Leo M. Frank?—A. I knew him when I saw him. Q. Did he ever speak to you?—A. No, never. In my life.

Dorsey Drinking in Frank's Office. Q. Did you ever go into Frank's office and drink beer and talk to him with other women?—A. No, I never went into his office and I don't drink. Q. Did you know C. B. Dalton?—A. I know him when I saw him. That is the only time.

Q. Did you ever go to the pencil factory with Dalton?—A. No, I never did. Q. Did you introduce him to Mr. Frank?—A. No, I did not.

Q. Did you ever go into the factory and go into the basement with Dalton?—A. No, I don't ever know where the basement is. I never have been in it.

Says She Was Married. Q. Did you ever get married?—A. Yes. Q. Where?—A. In a small town in Georgia. Q. How long ago?—A. A long time ago.

Q. Who married you?—A. A preacher. Q. How long ago?—A. A long time ago. Q. How long ago?—A. A long time ago.

Q. How long ago?—A. A long time ago. Q. How long ago?—A. A long time ago.

Q. Well, tell us anything that Mary Phagan had on?—A. I don't know anything except she had on a dress and hat.

Q. Yes, she had on shoes and stockings, too?—A. Yes, and her dress was light colored.

Q. You didn't see her?—A. No, I didn't see her.

Q. Would you know George Epps if you were to see him?—A. I would know him if I were to see him now.

Q. Tell me one thing about him by which you can identify him?—A. I can't remember.

Q. What color was Mary Phagan's hair?—A. It was light color.

Q. You say it was a light color. Just what color was it?—A. I don't know.

Q. What did you say light color for?—A. Come on.

Attorney Arnold Interrupted. "Just wait a minute. That is not the form to question him."

"All right, I'll put the question differently," said Dorsey.

Q. Mr. Mathews, you did not observe what color her clothes were?—A. No, sir.

Q. What time did you hear about her murder?—A. Sunday morning.

Q. What time did you go down to identify her?—A. About six in the afternoon.

or short?—A. Short hair.

Q. Was there any difficulty in hearing what was said on the front end when the car was standing still?—A. No.

Q. No such thing as being ahead of time ever happened?—A. No, sir. It is against the rules of the company.

Attorney Hooper took the witness again: Q. Do you mean to say that you obey the rules of the company as well that you are never ahead of time nor never a little late?—A. I am against the rules of the company to be late.

Q. When you are never early—not even when going to the barn?—A. I am against the rules of the company to come in ahead of time when going to the barn, so long as you don't run recklessly.

Q. And that day you brought Mary Phagan in was your last trip?—A. Yes.

Defense Turns Over Books. Attorneys for the defense at this juncture turned over to the prosecution the book and one bank book of the National Pencil Company.

He was excused and Albert Kaufman, an engineer, who drew a plan and diagram of the Belle residence where Frank resided, took the stand.

He was examined by Attorney Arnold: Q. What is your business?—A. Civil engineer.

Q. Have you made a drawing of the Belle residence on Georgia avenue?—A. Yes.

Q. When?—A. Last week. Q. Did you make a plan of the kitchen, the dining room, the reception hall, the parlor and the hall?—A. Yes.

Q. How many feet is it from the kitchen door to the passageway?—A. Fourteen feet.

Couldn't See Mirror. Q. How wide is the passageway?—A. Two and one-half feet wide and about two feet long.

FRANK TAKES ACTIVE INTEREST IN CASE AND ASSISTS HIS LAWYERS

The vital time element which may serve alone to convict Leo Frank or set him free, entered largely into the evidence presented Friday by the defense at the trial of the factory superintendent.

Two witnesses testified that Mary Phagan did not arrive at Broad and Marietta streets the day she was murdered until about 12:07 1/2 o'clock, the time the English Avenue car on which she rode from home was due there. One witness, W. M. Matthews, motorman on the car, testified that Mary did not get off at Forsyth and Marietta, but continued on the car and rode as far as Broad and Hunter where the car arrives at about 12:10 o'clock, he conductor corroborated Matthews.

This testimony strongly supports the contention of the defense that Mary Phagan did not enter the factory until after 12:10 o'clock and that Montem Stover, therefore, was in the factory and had left before the Phagan girl ever entered the door. If the defense succeeds in establishing this, the vital of the Stover girl to the factory will be of tremendous significance because it is in direct conflict with the explicit testimony of James Conley that Mary Phagan entered the factory and supposedly was strangled before the Stover girl went up the stairs. Miss Stover testified that she did not see Frank in his office, but admitted she did not enter the inner office and she defends will try to show Frank could have been writing at his desk and the girl not have seen him.

JOHNSTON OF ALABAMA IS DEAD

United States Senator Victim of Pneumonia After Nine Days' Illness at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Joseph F. Johnston, of Alabama, died at 8 o'clock this morning at his apartment in the Brighton.

Senator Johnston had been ill for eight days, suffering from pneumonia.

Senator Joseph Forney Johnston, of Birmingham, was born in North Carolina in 1843. He served in the Confederate army from the beginning of the war to its conclusion, and was wounded four times. He rose from a private to the rank of captain and was frequently mentioned honorably for gallant conduct.

Senator Johnston served four years as Governor of Alabama, before his election to the Senate in 1907. His first election to the Senate was the unopposed term of Senator E. W. Telford, deceased. He was re-elected in 1909 to his present term.

Senator Johnston's death at this time undoubtedly will bring about some political crisis in Alabama. His seat was being contested at the time of his death by Congressman J. M. Hobson, and the fight between them had grown very bitter. It is practically certain that Hobson will not be permitted, now that Johnston is dead, to have the succession uncontested.

There has been talk of Congressman Underwood as a candidate against Mr. Hobson, and the death of Senator Johnston likely will revive that.

His immediate successor will be named by Governor O'Neal, which means that Mr. Hobson will not get the immediate appointment.

He had been in poor health for several weeks.

Mrs. Johnston was with her husband when he died, as well as Forney Johnston, his son, who arrived from his home in Birmingham yesterday.

Mrs. Susie Wright Dies While on Visit

PYRSH, Aug. 8.—News has reached here of the death of Mrs. Susie Wright, of Macon, widow of Dr. W. F. Wright, of Barnesville, which occurred while she was visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. Ben Mazy, at Gogswillville, in this county. Mrs. Wright is only a few hours.

Mrs. Wright is survived by two sons, W. F. Wright, who is an editorial writer on The New York Herald, and Dupont Wright, night editor of The Home Tribune-Herald, and one daughter.

The funeral was held from the Mazy residence yesterday.

Queen Mary Stops Gambling at Court

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The gambling bill is on at Buckingham Palace. The quiet little games with which the servants were wont to while away their time and spare trifles are no more.

As a result, grumblings are heard and frequent. This is due to rules framed by Queen Mary, whose non-gambling views are well known in court circles.

A strike of all the servants at the palace was narrowly averted a few days ago when the Queen decided to permit the servants to draw lots to see who shall accompany her on the next party to the coast.

Man, 81, Has Kept Diary for 59 Years

SPokane, Aug. 8.—Henry Halinger, an old-time resident of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, a man close to eighty years of age, today offers a challenge to the world for having kept a diary continuously for the past 59 years.

His record reaches a point which over fifty-nine years.

Pigs Gorge Candy As Children Envy

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—The Refuge Home Farm, a municipal charity for homeless children, has a fine lot of thoroughbred pigs, which are to be gorged daily with chocolates and other choice confectionery as a result of reports made by the food inspection division of the Health Department.

To-day the refuge farm wagon carried to the farm for their delectation, nearly 1,500 pounds of milk chocolates, 2,000 pounds of peanuts, 400 pounds of shell cocoanuts, 18 barrels of sugar and about 10 barrels of other odds and ends, including favoring extracts used in making candy. These represented some of the condemnations made at several candy factories last week.

Chickens Frying Races By Congress Wives

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The chicken fryer in the Congressional hall will be fought out by the wives of the members of Congress.

Mrs. William A. Cullip, wife of Representative Cullip of Indiana, and Mrs. Mrs. Cullip will celebrate her fifty-first wedding anniversary with the contest in her apartment. Each contestant will fry a chicken according to her pet recipe.

It is understood that Speaker Clark, Senator Tillman and other Congressmen have applied for the position of Judge.

'Side-Door Pullman' Improvement Urged

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—At the first session of the annual convention of the Interurban Workers' Association, to-day, a request was formulated to be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission to compel railroads to put some modern improvements on freight cars.

They say ocean steamships now are provided with gymnasiums, sun parlors and golf links; that Pullman cars have sanitary cabs which the porter provides on demand, but that freight cars are still as "hard as the heart of the railroad detective."

Farmer's Beans Are Cooked by Lightning

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—William Williams, a truck farmer, went out to gather some string beans for the family table the other day. Much to his surprise, he discovered that they were deliciously cooked.

He thought for a time that he had out-Burkened Burkens, but a little reflection divulged the reason. In fact, he had placed a wire on the pole, and during a recent storm lightning struck the wire and cooked the beans.

Ostend Bathing Suits In U.S.? Goodness, No!

NARRAGANSETT FIER, Aug. 8.—"Any woman who takes surf baths may for a trifling amount of money appear to advantage on the beach—accompanied not to be had lightly, an all women know," says Mrs. Henry Hull, former wife of the artist.

"At Ostend, where women go to the beach in one-piece bathing suits may be all right, but in America, where we lounge so much upon the beach, they would cause riots."

Town's Water So Bad Court Lifts Beer Lid

PITTSBURG, KANS., Aug. 8.—The water is so bad in Chapman, a mining camp near here, that beer is used in place, and the people are so generous they give the substitute away.

CAREY UNDER FIRE; RAPS COCHRAN

Park Manager Scores Chief and Factionalism—Says He Is Serving Last Term.

Dan Carey, General Manager of Parks, declared Friday that factionalism in the Park Board had reached such a degree that the exploitation of any new ideas absolutely was prevented and that he was serving his last term under such conditions.

Authentic reports from the faction opposed to him are that plans are being made to drop him at the end of his term, January 1, 1915.

The old-time factionalism reached an acute stage at a meeting Thursday afternoon because Manager Carey had not consulted President J. O. Cochran about contracts for an underground conduit for the lighting of Piedmont Park.

Board Censures Mr. Carey

President Cochran, with the balance of power in the board, has been supporting manager Carey. But when Manager Carey took action on his own initiative he switched to the anti-Carey faction led by Mr. B. Young and R. A. Burnett and resolutions were adopted by a vote of 9 to 4 reprimanding Mr. Carey for making contracts without consulting the board.

Immediately Manager Carey developed the fact that President Cochran had been approving contracts without the approval of the board. One related to a bill for automobile hire from Atlanta to Lithonia.

President Cochran said that C. F. Blount, a wreath dealer, has promised to pay for the automobile as soon as the department gave him contracts for 2,000 lots of stone.

Tangle Over "Loaned Stone."

Manager Carey also asked the board to strip out an article from the by-laws of the board which prohibited Mr. Carey from making contracts without consulting the board.

President Cochran said he understood that the stone had been loaned, and if he had represented that it had been given to the department he had made a mistake.

"It seems that a member of the board can do anything, but anything the General Manager does is wrong," said Mr. Carey.

Germany Decides to Exhibit at Canal Fair

MAN WHO SAYS NEGRO JIM CONLEY CONFESSED SLAYING OF LITTLE GIRL

Sues Wire Company For 'Port' Telegram

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 8.—H. C. Fursberg, manager of a business concern, is plaintiff in an action in which he seeks $1,000 damages from the Western Union telegraph company for the following message, purporting to be from his landlord, Robert Moore: "Please call at once at our flat, my arrears rent, make arrangements for the balance of the month, and if you are not here, your wife will wear out criminal warrant to-morrow charging you with malicious destruction of property."

The company admits transmitting the message, but denies responsibility.

HOBSON WANTS IT ALL DRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A Constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages was proposed in a resolution introduced to-day by Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama.

GIRL DENIES SHE EVER WENT TO THE PEBBLY PLANT WITH DALTON

Another attack on Jim Conley's story was contemplated by Leo Frank's attorneys when court reopened Friday morning. It was announced that the defense during the day again would employ the privilege of recalling and cross-examining several of the State's witnesses as it had done with Harry Scott Thursday afternoon.

The defense sprang a complete surprise Friday by calling Miss Daisy Hopkins, the girl mentioned in the stories of Jim Conley and C. E. Dalton. Dalton had testified that he visited the factory with Miss Hopkins and Conley had sworn that he saw Dalton and the girl enter the place and had "watched" for them.

Miss Hopkins is a woman of very small features, with bright green eyes and wore a cotton striped dress that looked a bit too short. She wore white shoes and stockings. Mr. Arnold began the questioning.

Q. Did you ever work for the National Penitentiary Company?—A. Yes. I went to work there about October 1, 1911, and quit June 1, 1912.

Q. What department?—A. Packing department.

Q. What floor?—A. Second floor.

Q. How many other girls worked there?—A. Sometimes there were as many as ten.

Q. Did you know Leo M. Frank?—A. I knew him when I was in the factory.

Q. Did he ever speak to you?

Huerta Trying to Rouse S. America Against Uncle Sam

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—Despite the optimistic belief in Washington that Provisional President Huerta is poising in his distance of the United States, there were developments here to-day which show that the Mexican national executive is extending every diplomatic agency in a campaign against the American government.

Huerta's envoys in the Central American States are attempting to secure the withdrawal of American troops from the isthmus of Panama.

Secretary of State showed up in the morning the news of the Huerta's campaign.

The delicate situation by Huerta's envoys in the Central American States, where he has sold out, he had secured Frank of the Huerta and had made himself an accessory after the fact by casting the vote in favor of the Huerta's candidacy to which he had pledged his third armory, still stored in his possession, many of the alleged candidates to which he had pledged his third armory, still stored in his possession, many of the alleged candidates to which he had pledged his third armory, still stored in his possession.

Mrs. Gould Against The High Slit Skirt

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Edw. Gould today severely criticized the great trend of the fashion world toward the high slit skirt and one-piece blouse attire for women.

"It is not to the favor of dress or suggestive modes," said Mrs. Gould. "The extreme slit skirt to which you refer is being favored in various parts of the country is not worn in New York by any of my friends. No one knows of any of the high slit skirts being favored in one-piece blouse attire as Chicago has favored."

SCOTT USED BY DEFENSE IN EFFORT TO TEAR DOWN EVIDENCE OF JIM CONLEY

Continued From Page 1. That Conley not only had failed to tell them, but for the most part had made strenuous denials when asked about them. It was expected that Black would be called early Friday to testify on the same matter. Rosner, in his examination of Detective Scott, sought to create in the minds of the jury the impression that Conley had been guided and directed by the detective in the framing of his string of statements and affidavits. Negro's Story in Own Words. Scott admitted that the improbabilities in the negro's statements had been pointed out to him, and that, with these suggestions, Conley proceeded to doctor up his affidavits until they harmonized better with the circumstances of the day. Solicitor Dorey was both to let any statement get into the record which indicated that Conley had been coached by the detective, and he got Scott to say that no one had put the words in the negro's mouth. "That you would say," shouted Rosner, "That don't fit Jim? And Jim would get something that did fit him that so?" Scott said that was the truth. The testimony of this and that of Dr. L. W. Childs, a physician and surgeon, marked the opening of the defense's fight for the life of Leo Frank. The State's case is against the factory superintendent and soon and Dr. Childs was called at once to testify in rebuttal of Dr. H. Harris, the State's principal medical expert.

MIDSUMMER DAY DREAMS

TAX BILLS REACH CRUCIAL STAGE IN ASSEMBLY

Senate Will Pass Them, but the House Must Change Front if They Become Laws.

With the Senate substitute for Representative Sheppard's tax reform bill referred in printed form to the Senate and the two Administration bills providing a pro rata valorem tax for pensions and common schools, is the main body of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, State Senators Friday morning prepared for the most important legislation of the session. Senator Miller, chairman of the Finance Committee and joint author of all three bills, declared Friday morning the legislation would be hastened if indicated further that all three bills would be well on their way toward passage by Monday afternoon. The substitute for the Sheppard bill has been favorably reported by the Finance Committee and the two Administration bills which were referred in the House and presented in the Senate Thursday, were considered by the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, of which Senator Hartsell is chairman, Friday morning. The two bills, it is understood, will receive the endorsement of the committee.

Senate Will Pass Them. The champions of the two Administration bills declare the bills will meet with little opposition in the Senate, as this body has taken decided ground on tax reform which will relieve the State's financial embarrassment.

The two bills, which are similar to those presented in the House by Speaker Burwell, were drawn up at the instance of the Governor and provide that the General Assembly shall not appropriate for any one year for common schools a sum in excess of that provided by levying two and one-half mills, nor any in excess of one and one-half mills for pensions. Both bills are constitutional amendments and will require a two-thirds vote in the Senate. Should the Upper House endorse the measure, they will be sent back to the House, where, unless there is a change of front, they will be defeated.

Two Other Bills Tabled. The Senate's decks are clear now for the consideration of three other bills Thursday afternoon the Post-Bush-Searcy while slavery bill was passed by unanimous vote and two bills introduced by Senator Anderson and Senator Huls, of the Thirty-ninth providing an increase in State Senators' salaries and the other by Senator McNeill, amending the section of the code so as to permit the raising of through freight trains on Sunday—were tabled.

The Anderson-Huls bill resulted in sharp debate between President Anderson and Senator Farver. The latter charged the bill was an attempt to increase the representation of the class of the expense of the rural districts. The bill, it is understood, was tabled by friends of the measure so as to allow further consideration.

3,000 EXPECTED AT GROCERS' OUTING

Elaborate Program of Recreation to Make Warm Springs Picnic Greatest Ever Held.

Plans are being made for the annual excursion to Warm Springs, Ga., Wednesday, August 1, of the Retail Grocers and Marketmen's Association. It is expected the outing will be the greatest the organization has ever held. Francis J. Kamper, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has issued an announcement of the picnic.

Nothing has been left undone by the committee. They expect more than 3,000 persons to attend the outing and have made arrangements to care for all. Many family picnics have been arranged. There will be bathing, boating, dancing and a baseball game between the associated grocers and the clothing league.

Through the efforts of Mr. Kamper and his committee, special arrangements have been made for women and children. The management of the Warm Springs Hotel has offered the use of the hotel to the crowd, and those who do not care for the more strenuous pastimes of baseball, boating and bathing, can spend the day on the wide verandas and shady walks of the hotel and grounds.

Special trains to carry the crowds will leave Union Station, on the A. & A. Railroad for Warm Springs Wednesday morning at 7 and 7:15 o'clock. A round trip fare of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children will be charged.

Anti-Drug Bill Is Defeated in House

The bill introduced in the House by Mr. Shuptrine of Chatham County, designed to regulate the sale of cocaine, morphine and other narcotics, was defeated by a vote of 55 to 71. The bill provided that no drugist shall sell any of the drugs named in the act without a physician's prescription, and that each drugist pay $10 a year license. The bill also created the office of State Drug Commissioner and provided for drug inspectors.

Mr. Shuptrine declared that the use of cocaine and morphine is steadily increasing in Georgia and should be regulated.

STATE, TRIP BY CONLEY'S STORY, NOW MUST STAND STILL UNDER HOT FIRE

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

As the defense in the Frank case sits under way, it is evident enough...

The State clinched the case thrillingly and with deadly effect in the negro.

Through the cross-examination, exhaustive and thorough, in remarkably good shape, all things considered.

Did he, in his last minute effort to get in EVERYTHING that possibly could work against the defendant...

That is the defense's task—THE UNDOING OF CONLEY.

Conley is the heart and soul of the state's case—without Conley, the state is rendered helpless.

Broken down—no. But it may be broken down.

Will you be prepared, if forced to a conviction against your will, if it be that way with you to say to Frank: "All right you came through the fire, at times seemingly sure of certain you would and succeed, but you came through, and I am content."

The Frank trial evidence laughed when this witness said he didn't know where he was born.

Dakon, Whom the State Put Up to Corroborate Jim Conley

The courtroom crowd was disappointed in O. B. Dakon's testimony which failed to prove sensational.

O. B. Dakon, whom the state put up to corroborate Jim Conley's story, failed to prove sensational.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 8.—Fear of further trouble to-day led the police to guard the section of the city where last night three Japanese were killed in a riot.

BITS OF CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE, AS VIEWED BY STATE, STANDS IN ROPE

By O. B. KREMER.

They call it a chain that the state has forged, or has tried to forge, to hold the Frank to the murder of Mary Phagan.

But that strand of itself surely would fall to carry the burden of the case. There must be others.

Apply the system of the well-known Dupin to the case in point—and REGARDING IT, HIS IS THE DEERWOOD, STRICTLY FROM THE STATE'S VIEWPOINT—an analysis of part of the evidence against Leo Frank follows:

First, of the isolated circumstance of Conley's ability to write—would seem as futile as a smoke with its sustaining any weight of evidence, except against Conley himself.

Second, that fact is added the fact that Frank knew Conley could write, and knowing the police were trying to find the author of the murder notices, did not write the following deductions appear:

Third, that Frank did not want to connect Conley with the murder notice, and the natural and prompt inclination of a suspected man who knew nothing of the crime himself, so that (4) it appeared Frank knew something of the murder, and (5) knew that Conley knew he knew something of the murder, which (6) justified the conclusion that Conley was lying when he said he could not write.

State Wins Point in Digs Slavery Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The fourth day of the trial of Many Diera, former State Architect charged with white slavery, began to-day with the defense laboring under a decided handicap.

When it came to corroborating Conley, Dakon proved a lame corroborator. The state's charge of perjury and denegation, gibberish sprung from the lips of Conley, rests ENTIRELY AND ALTOGETHER on Conley's word.

Will he, in his last minute effort to get in EVERYTHING that possibly could work against the defendant, tell things or say things that eventually will rise to plague him in his utter undoing?

Experts Called to Attack Dr. Harris' Testimony

HUERTA TO DEPORT ENVOY LIND

Mexican President Declares U. S. Representative Must Bear Recognition of New Regime.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—John Lind, now on his way to Mexico City as special representative of the United States, will not be received by President Huerta unless he presents credentials from the President of the United States, accompanied by recognition of the present government of Mexico.

Official announcement of this was made to-day by President Huerta. The statement was delivered to Charge O'Shaughnessy at the American Embassy by Manuel Garza Aldape, Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs of Mexico. It was also sent to Washington and to the powers of Europe.

Lind, Huerta's announcement said, will be expelled from the country as an undesirable alien unless he acts before the Mexican government and explains his official character and intentions or else brings official recognition of the Huerta administration from the Wilson Administration in Washington.

This is the boldest and most belittling course yet taken by Huerta, and if the Mexican President carries out his threat Mexico will have accomplished what, in the eyes of international law, usually constitutes a cause belli.

In accord with the new aggressive policy of the Mexican government, a delegation will walk upon Mr. Lind upon his arrival in this city, probably Saturday, and the attitude of the Mexican government toward the United States will be outlined then in unmistakable terms.

The United States battleship carrying Mr. Lind is expected at Vera Cruz to-morrow night.

Must Bear Credentials.
The following official statement was issued to the press to-day by Senator Aldape:

The Mexican Department of Foreign Affairs has sent a note to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires of the United States, stating by order of the President that, if Mr. John Lind, who, the Mexican government is informed, is to come to Mexico intrusted with a mission from President Wilson, does not establish in due manner his official character before the Mexican chancellery, or if he is not the bearer of recognition of the Mexican government by that of the United States, his return to the Republic will not be official and satisfactory to the government.

This was the first time that Huerta formally recognized Mr. Lind as an Ambassador from the United States President.

To the extent the action of Huerta has the approval of some of the Americans here because it establishes plainly the position of the Mexican government. Observing the supposed intention of the coming of Mr. Lind and the consequences which may follow would only be prolonging.

In addition to coming as a special

BELL TO AID TEACHERS KILLED

House Defeats Measure Providing Election on Special Levy to Pay Tuition.

Dear to the appeals of the country schoolteachers of the State, who have not been paid one cent for more than six months, the Georgia House of Representatives on Thursday morning overwhelmingly defeated a constitutional amendment submitting to the voters of the State a proposition for a special tax levy of 1 mill in 1915 and 1-2 mill in 1916.

The revenue derived from both levies was to be added to the common school fund, and would, advocates of the bill claim, have relieved conditions that exist at present, under which the State has permitted its schoolteachers to go unpaid.

DALTON DISAPPOINTS COURT CROWD; ROSSER CALLS DR. L. W. CHILDS

Luther Rosser and Reuben Arnold began a pursuit Thursday noon upon the structure of evidence erected by the State against Leo M. Frank, accused of the murder of Mary Phagan.

It was the first opportunity the defense had been given to employ offensive tactics in the grim battle for Frank's life.

The testimony of Dr. H. F. Harris, who had just left the stand, was made the object of the first battering attack of Frank's determined lawyers.

As Dr. Harris left the stand at 12 o'clock Solicitor Dorsey announced that the State rested.

Dr. L. W. Childs, a physician and surgeon, immediately was called by the defense.

His first testimony of importance, if it was believed by the jury, served utterly to demolish the most sensational deposition of Dr. Harris, who startled his hearers last Friday by announcing with every appearance of certainty that Mary Phagan came to her death probably within 30 minutes of the time she disappeared April 25, positively within 45 minutes. Dr. Harris stated that he knew, because the cabbage he found in the girl's stomach hardly had been affected by the digestive juices.

Attorney Arnold showed Dr. Childs the specimen of cabbage from the Phagan girl's stomach.

The medical expert examined it and said: "I have seen cabbage less changed by the digestive juices than that which had been in a person's stomach for 12 hours."

Dr. Childs confirmed his rebuttal of the testimony of Dr. Harris by saying that it was impossible to tell within hours how long any of the carbohydrate of which cabbage is one have been in the human stomach.

The digestive process on carbohydrates, he declared, are practically all within this class of foods in the stomach. Cabbage, for example, may remain in the stomach for hours without change from the digestive juices. The digestion of the stomach occurs after the cabbage has passed into the small intestine, the physician said.

Dr. Harris' estimate, he declared, was only a guess. He characterized in the same manner Dr. Harris' declaration that the blow Mary Phagan received on the back of the head caused unconsciousness.

Arnold's Hypothetical Question
Arnold propounded to his witness a hypothetical question based on the circumstances under which Mary Phagan's body was exhumed and examined nine days after burial.

"If, under these circumstances," said Arnold, "there was found a wound on the back of her head which one physician said was 1 1/2 inches long and another said was 2 1/4 inches, and there was found no fracture of the skull or injury to the brain, would any physician be justified in saying that the person receiving the blow was rendered unconscious?"

"He would have had to guess one way or the other," said Dr. Childs. "There was absolutely no way to tell whether the blow caused unconsciousness."

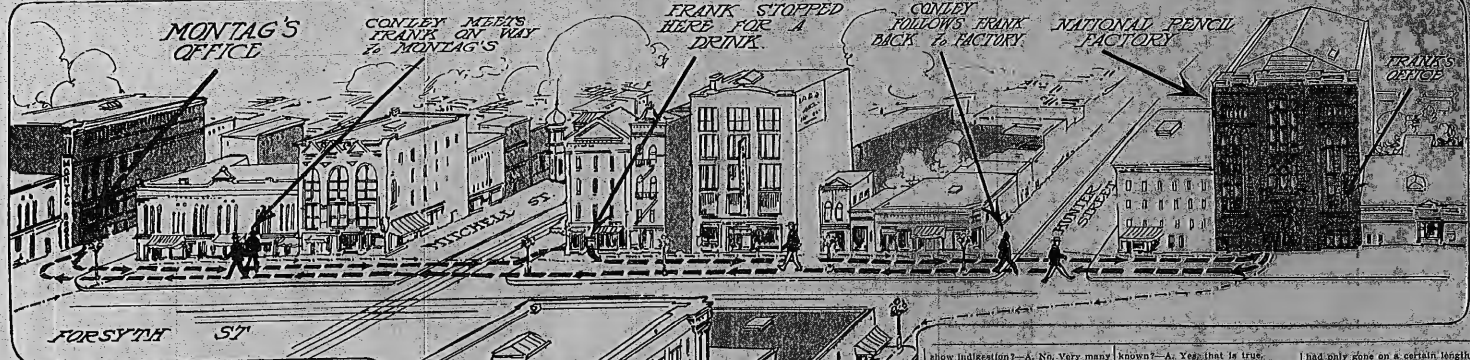

Arnold also brought out the startling testimony that a wound made from one to three hours after death has the same appearance as a wound shortly before death.

This statement was in direct contradiction of Dr. Harris' testimony and will be used by the defense in strengthening its theory of the manner in which the factory girl came to her death.

After he had given evidence of the importance of the Dr. Harris' testimony, it had been into the record Dr. Childs' testimony in rebuttal. Arnold has taken witness after witness and has called for his wife a witness to-day.

HOW CONLEY SAYS HE AND FRANK WENT TO THE FACTORY

DEFENSE TRIES TO BREAK DR. HARRIS' TESTIMONY; CALLS ITS OWN EXPERTS

perience, had ever known of a physician of repute giving his opinion as to the unconsciousness of a person with no more data than had been in the possession of Dr. Harris.

Dr. Childs replied that he never had.

The mysterious C. B. Dalton, who was expected to make sensational revelations of incidents in which Leo Frank was alleged to have participated in the National Pencil Factory, proved a very tame and commonplace witness when he was called Thursday.

The most that Dalton could say was that, on several of his visits to the factory, he had seen women in Frank's office. He told of no compromising situations. He was not even able to identify the women. He did not know whether or not they were members of Frank's own family. All that he knew was that they did not appear to be stenographers as he never saw them writing.

Dalton, when he was questioned by Luther Rosser, was not even sure of his own birthplace. He thought it was somewhere in Laurens County. He explained his presence by saying that he had gone to the factory with a Miss Daisy Hopkins. He said that he saw Frank in the office with two or three women, and that cool drinks generally were in evidence. On one occasion he said Frank and his visitors were drinking beer.

Detective Rosser on Stand.

Detective Bass Rosser was on the witness stand for a few minutes and was questioned briefly. He testified that when he saw Mrs. Arthur White the Monday after the crime she failed to tell him that she had seen a negro in the factory the Saturday the girl was killed. He said he did not get possession of this information until May 6 or 7. It is the contention of the State that the defense suppressed these facts.

At the conclusion of Detective Rosser's testimony, Solicitor Dorsey announced that he was prepared to rest as soon as Dr. H. F. Harris had completed the testimony which was interrupted by adjournment Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Harris was unable to appear when court opened at 9 o'clock. The prosecution had nothing more to present at 9:45 and a recess was taken until Dr. Harris arrived at 11:10.

Reuben Arnold began at once on a cross-examination of Dr. Harris as soon as the physician took the stand. He forced Dr. Harris to say that there is much uncertainty in drawing conclusions about digestive functions and their time limitations.

Solicitor Dorsey also asked for the submission of the National Pencil Company's cash book and bank book before he rested his case. This was agreed to by Frank's lawyers.

One of the most interesting pieces of evidence for the purpose of demonstration in the possession of the defense is a large-sized model of the National Pencil Company constructed on an accurate scale.

Frank chatted with his wife and mother in the intermission while the court was awaiting Dr. Harris, and a little later engaged in conversation with his attorneys. Dr. Childs entered the courtroom and talked several minutes with the defendant.

Mr. Arnold asked.

"Further than this witness I don't know what line we will pursue at present."

"Did you ever work for the National Pencil Company?"

"Was the first question the Solicitor asked Dalton."

Mr. Arnold interrupted.

"Your honor," he said, "we want it understood that we object to this testimony—ask it if it is."

Judge Ross overruled the objection.

"Well, we want our objection recorded," said Rosser.

Dorsey continued his questioning.

"Do you know Leo Frank and Jim Conley?" continued the prosecutor.

"Yes, I know them both."

"Were you ever in the factory of the National Pencil Company?"

"On three times."

"On May 6 or 7 to Frank's of-frank at the pencil factory?" asked Mr. Rosser.

"Last fall, some time."

"Q. Where was Frank at that time?"

"A. At his office."

"Q. Who was in there with him?"

"A. Some ladies."

"Q. Were there any other men in there with him?"

"A. No; he was the only man."

"Q. Who was you with?"

"A. Miss Daisy Hopkins."

"Q. Do you know the names of the ladies in the office with Frank?"

"A. No."

"Q. Where did you go?"

"A. I went to the basement."

"Q. Was Miss Daisy with you?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Where did you go to the factory?"

"A. I went to the office with Frank."

"Q. Who introduced you to Frank?"

"A. Miss Daisy Hopkins."

"Q. Did you just go to Mr. Frank, 'This is my friend, Mr. Dalton'?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Want to Basement."

"Q. You were never in his office after Christmas?"

"A. No."

"Q. When you went into the factory with Miss Daisy, you went down to the basement with her, didn't you?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Where did you go down into the basement?"

"A. We went down the office after Christmas."

"Q. Where did you go in the basement?"

"A. Right to where there were some boxes in the little room in the rear."

"Q. Where did you live last year?"

"A. No. 221 East Hunter street."

"Q. Who did you work for?"

"A. Mr. Hettin, a contractor."

"Q. Where did you work after that?"

"A. With Captain John Jerkins."

"Q. What time did you see Frank in his office?"

"A. Some time between 2 and 3 o'clock."

"Q. Were the windows up?"

"A. I don't know."

"Q. Did you see any curtains?"

"A. No, but the office was very light."

"Q. There were two windows in each office, weren't they?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Do you know whether there was anyone else in the factory when you saw Mr. Frank?"

"A. Yes, the nearest was a Negro watchman."

"Q. What time at night was it when the night watchman was there?"

"A. I don't know."

"Q. Was it a negro watchman?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Was that the year?"

"A. No."

"Q. Were you ever in Vailton County?"

"A. Yes, it was there twenty years."

"Q. How long were you away from there?"

"A. I went to Lawrenceville."

"Q. How long ago?"

"A. I don't know. I forgot how long ago it was."

"Q. Did you ever go with anyone to the pencil factory except Miss Daisy Hopkins?"

"A. Yes, I used to go to the Buoy Bay and there twenty years."

"Q. Did you ever go with anyone to the Buoy Bay?"

"A. Yes, I used to go with the Buoy Bay and there twenty years."

"Q. Did you ever go with anyone to the Buoy Bay?"

"A. Yes, I used to go with the Buoy Bay and there twenty years."

"Q. Did you ever go with anyone to the Buoy Bay?"

"A. Yes, I used to go with the Buoy Bay and there twenty years."

show indigestion?"

"A. No. Very many people have indigestion several years and don't know it. They don't even feel it themselves."

"Q. How long does the stomach take to free itself when it's full?"

"A. That has been investigated rather thoroughly, but it varies. I would say about 1 1/2 hours."

"Q. How long does it take some substance that the stomach does not digest to pass out?"

"A. They probably pass through in a foreign body."

"Q. How long would it take a diet?"

"A. That depends. The stomach is like a pump. It keeps itself empty until it is full. Then it goes out very freely."

"About Digestion of Cabbage."

"Q. That is just the point. Does the stomach contain cabbage of a certain kind?"

"A. Oh, yes, there is always a certain churning motion."

"Q. How about very hard?"

"A. It might pass through without emptying."

"Q. Peak?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. You would not attempt to enumerate what vegetables would pass through the stomach by the intestine?"

"A. No, I would not."

"Q. It is not a fact that the first knowledge of digestion comes from that Canadian case?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Is it not a fact that the only experiments before that time were made on rabbits and other animals for vegetables, and animals for meat?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Is there any animal that digests everything that man does?"

"A. Yes, the swine."

"Q. Any other?"

"A. I rather think the cat does."

"Q. Well, isn't the wildest a carnivorous animal strictly?"

"A. I don't know. I was associated with one."

"Q. You will admit that the experiments along this line are very limited with the exception of that Canadian case?"

"A. Yes."

"Process Not All Understood."

"Q. It is practically in the infancy?"

"A. Well, I would not say that. We are fairly familiar with the various juices and the process of digestion, but there is still much to learn."

"Q. Just what part does the mouth and saliva play in connection with the stomach and the gastric juices and the lower bowels?"

"A. In not this something that is not definitely known."

had only gone on a certain length of time?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Didn't you say that certain circumstances retard digestion?"

"A. Yes, but I don't say that anything could retard the flow of the digestive juices. No one has ever shown that anything could retard the process of digestion."

"Head Would Not Bore."

"Q. I believe you said that would on the head did not cause any pressure on the brain?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. What arteries were there?"

"A. Only some arterial blood vessels."

"Q. I believe you said it might have had a good deal of blood?"

"A. Yes, it might. A cut on the head usually causes a good deal of blood to flow."

"Q. I believe you said it was not sufficient to have caused death?"

"A. Yes, I did."

"Mr. Arnold read his testimony previously given."

"Dr. Harris: 'If I said that I did not mean it in that sense, I mean that you could tell nothing about it by observing with the naked eye.'"

"Q. You said it was impossible to state absolutely how long that time would have been in a very ordinary stomach?"

"A. I mean it could not be stated within a minute."

"Q. You had been in a very ordinary stomach?"

"A. No, not within 2, or 4, or 5. Probably less within 10 minutes. But the ordinary time is somewhere between 25 and 45 minutes."

"Q. Doesn't it all depend on how much digestion is played?"

"A. To an extent."

"Q. All you are attempting to say then, is that the process of digestion were you?"

"A. Somewhere in Walton County."

Gave Conley Money.

"Q. As a matter of fact, you know where your family lived when you were born, don't you?"

"A. Somewhere near Lawrenceville."

Solicitor Dorsey took the witness on the redirect examination.

"Q. Did you ever give Jim Conley anything?"

"A. Sure, once I would give him a quarter and sometimes 50 cents. Sometimes they would have cold drinks, and sometimes they would have beer."

Hosser took the witness again.

"Q. Where did you see beer there?"

"A. On Saturday afternoons—I don't remember the date."

"Q. Can you name specifically any lines just full that you got there?"

"A. Not the day, but it was some time after 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Frank would have the cold drinks on a waiter in his office."

"Can Give Women's Names."

"Q. And that is, no, definite as you can fix it?"

"A. Yes, sir."

"Q. Did you know the women behind the ones you named?"

"A. No."

"Q. Can you describe them?"

"A. No."

"Come down."

City Detective S. L. Rosser took the stand.

"Q. Since April 26, have you been engaged in this case?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Did you visit Mrs. Arthur White subsequent to that date?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. At what time?"

"A. Monday, April 24."

"Q. Did she say anything about seeing a negro at the pencil factory Saturday?"

"A. No."

"Q. What was the first time she mentioned to you seeing a negro at the factory?"

"A. May 8."

"I want to record an objection to that, your honor," said Rosser.

Rosser took the witness.

Starnes and Chief Beavers," said Dorsey.

Judge Ross ruled that he would let them go to the jury.

Dorsey: "State's Case Nearly Finished."

"I want the cash book and the bank book of the National Pencil Company."

Arnold said they would be furnished.

"I want it understood as soon as Dr. Harris is able to complete his testimony the State is ready to rest its case."

"Mr. Dorsey," said Arnold, "will you tell Mr. Dalton not to leave. We may want to recall him."

Court then had a recess until Dr. Harris could reach the court. He said he would be about 10 o'clock.

Dalton Recalled for Re-examination.

Dorsey recalled the witness.

"Q. Were you ever in the pencil factory with Daisy Hopkins?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Did you go to the factory with her?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Where was Frank?"

"A. In his office."

"Q. Where did you go?"

"A. In the basement."

"Q. Who else?"

"A. The night watchman and one time."

"Court then had a recess until Dr. H. F. Harris, who was excused from the witness stand Wednesday afternoon because of illness, could arrive in court. The recess lasted for more than an hour. Dr. Harris, when he arrived upon the stand, was questioned upon cross-examination by Attorney Reuben Arnold.

Unfavorable circumstances sometimes retard digestion, don't they?"

"A. Well, that is a very grave matter, and there is so little data on the subject it is hard to answer."

About External Circumstances.

"Q. You would not say then that external circumstances, some and not mentioned, might delay digestion?"

"A. I really don't know. There was an old Roman proverb that a person should take a walk after eating. Others say sleeping after a meal aids digestion."

"Q. There is no indication on the outside of the body that would indicate how far digestion has gone?"

"A. None whatever."

"Q. Don't the pulse or temperature

She Made Statement.

"Q. Did you ask her?"

"A. No; but she made a statement."

Rosser took the witness on the redirect.

"Q. Did you take anything to Dr. Claude Smith?"

"A. Yes, some champagne."

"Q. Are these the chairs?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Did you make a search of the driveway around the elevator?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Did you find anything like this (showing the bag) alleged to have been found by the Pinkettes?"

"A. No."

"Would you have found it?"

"A. Yes."

Attorney Rosser took the witness on the direct.

"Q. Don't you know this roller has been in that factory two years?"

"A. Yes, it was there. It was out of the first floor when we made our search."

State Wins Ruling.

"Q. You made a good search?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. To you know these are the same chairs?"

"A. Yes, I am sure of that."

The witness was excused.

"I don't know whether I tendered that bloody shirt or not. If we did not I want to tender it now. I don't want to enter these chairs."

Attorney Rosser.

"The witness has been identified."

"They were identified by Detective

EASTERN PAINLESS DENTISTS

JIM CONLEY, THE EBONY CHEALIER OF CRIME, IS DARKTOWN'S OWN HERO

Now that James Conley has been dismissed from the Frank trial, now that he has stood safely the fro of Mr. Hester's most exhaustive grilling, what of him?

If Frank is convicted, Conley subsequently will be convicted, no doubt, of being an accessory after the fact of Mary Phagan's murder—and that will mean three years, at most, in the penitentiary.

After that—when the Frank trial, more or less, has been forgotten—Conley will be at liberty to come back among the people of Atlanta.

Not far from Five Points, a little due east along one of the big big boulevards meeting there, there is a negro bookshop, the one and then, when he is on the job, which frequently he isn't, gives me a "shinny" so much to my liking that it brings me back on other days.

He is a sort of Jim Conley negro—at least, he has a smattering of education. An inquiring eye and he is particularly when it pays him to be.

Quite without previous design, I stopped at the negro's stand yesterday afternoon. And it was not long before he mentioned the famous trial. No having started the conversation, I asked him a few questions—and he replied, given herein in part, rather set me to thinking.

"Complimented on All Sides." "George," I said—not that I know his name in Georgia, but that it so happens I address negroes on the street, of course that way—"what do your friends down on Decatur street, think of Jim Conley's story over yonder in the big court?" "Huh? Oh, they're right, Jim," he said. "Mr. Hester ain't made nothing on Jim yet."

"I ventured the opinion that Mr. Hester, at least, to make Jim out to many different kinds of a liar that his story might not stick in spots."

"Well, boss," he continued, my bureau of information, "them niggers down on Decatur street, dey ain't talking of nothing but Jim Conley. He's de most talked about nigger anywhere, I guess. I hears him complimented on 'all sides.'"

"In other words, Jim's a sort of hero along Decatur street nowadays?" "Right," he said. "Jim's a hero. Niggers all talking about him. He done got de best of de mostest of 'em. Nobody can't fool er nigger like Jim!"

Here around "Butt In" Bar. I presume, too, that something of the same condition prevails over on Peters street—particularly in the neighborhood of the "Butt In" bar over there.

Take Mr. Conley's honest money—the violent presumption being that Jim ever had, or ever will have, that kind of money—even for "double-headed." Jim has just passed through the fire. And he got through his reputation more or less damaged for truthfulness, to be sure, but not utterly shattered beyond patching up in such

PROSECUTOR DORSEY SNAPPED IN ACTION

This shows the Solicitor in an argument at the Frank trial.

It is not improbable that many a fanning "double-headed" has been dumped into dusty citizens along the way of the "Butt In" bar over in the big court.

If Jim Conley ever gets back to Decatur street, and hereafter he be permitted to tread the prison way of the "Butt In" bar over on Peters in all probability the drink will not cost him anything for many days.

The proprietor of the "Butt In" doubtless right now would scorn to practically no mention of the mesh bag had been made during the week and a half of the trial. The only reference made to it was in the examination of Mrs. J. W. Coleman, brother of the slain girl, and of the officers who visited the scene of the crime immediately after police headquarters was called by the negro nightwatchman, Newt Lee.

"Tells of Mesh Bag." Mrs. Coleman testified that Mary left home with the mesh bag in her hand. The detectives and policeman all testified that they were able to find no trace of it either the morning after the crime or in the search that had been conducted since then.

"Did you ever see the murdered girl's mesh bag?" Dorsey asked Conley, just as it appeared that he had finished his questioning.

"Yes, sah, I see it," Conley replied. "Where was it?"

"It was right on Mr. Frank's desk when I went in there to write the notes."

"Did you see what became of it?"

"Yes, sah; Mr. Frank went and put it in his pocket."

Conley left the stand at 11:10 o'clock still sticking to his charge that Len Frank killed the slain girl and that, at Frank's direction, his (Conley) assisted in the disposal of the body. He had been on the stand fifteen and one-half hours and under the grilling cross-examination of Judge Hester for more than thirteen hours.

Practically the only addition he made to his story at the expense of his direct examination was a declaration that while he was writing the murder note Frank took the pencil out of his hand and scribbled on it later had written as he spelled out "negro." Conley said he wrote the note at that.

"A long talk black negro did this by himself."

A long argument over the admissibility of Conley's testimony in regard to the mesh bag was heard on previous to the murder of Mary Phagan took place after the jury had been sent from the courtroom at noon. The case was concluded, and the debate was resumed in the afternoon.

Conley's testimony was not contradicted nor corroborated—that would merely have resulted in the probable corroboration in the mind of the jury, if not elsewhere.

"The things Conley said to the jury can't be said and then forgotten."

Arnold instantly was on his feet with a motion for a mistrial, but he realized at once that the jury was not present and withdrew the motion. He threatened, however, to make a motion that the courtroom be cleared if such a demonstration occurred again.

Dr. Harris Recalled. Dr. Harris was recalled to complete the testimony which he was interrupted when he collapsed on the stand the day before. He repeated his assertion as to the time Mary Phagan fell to her death after eating dinner at her home in Baldwin Street shortly before 11 o'clock.

"I can say with almost absolute certainty," he declared, "that Jim killed the girl, and that Jim was the man who carried the body to the place where it was buried."

Dr. Harris, however, did not believe that the motion picture head was enough to cause death. He said that the blow was not severe and that the girl was not killed by the blow on the brain which could not have caused any pressure on the brain, as the motion picture head was not on the brain when she died.

ROANO'S RULING HEAVY BLOW TO DEFENSE

Judge Declined to Order Out of Record Any of Jim Conley's Testimony.

Judge Roan administered a severe blow to the defense Wednesday when he ruled that all of Conley's story should stand, although portions of it, he acknowledged, would have been inadmissible had objection been made at the time the testimony was offered.

It was a particularly difficult allegation to combat. Unlike many allegations, it was exactly as hard to fight in the event it was false as in case it was founded on fact.

Judge Roan said in regard to the testimony of Dalton that he did not know what to be and that he would allow it to stand so long as he might rule on its admissibility as it came up.

Solicitor Dorsey put the first rivet in his case so far as it related upon the testimony of Conley when at the close of his direct examination of the negro he brought to light, the State's theory of the disposition that had been made of the Phagan girl's mesh bag.

Practically no mention of the mesh bag had been made during the week and a half of the trial. The only reference made to it was in the examination of Mrs. J. W. Coleman, brother of the slain girl, and of the officers who visited the scene of the crime immediately after police headquarters was called by the negro nightwatchman, Newt Lee.

EXPERT LAST WITNESS CALLED BY THE STATE

DR. H. F. HARRIS.

The bill introduced in the House by Representative Ellis of the Forsyth district, to remove the Central Experiment Station from the Forsyth district to the State, was passed by the House on Wednesday. The bill has been favorably reported by the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

The bill provides for the removal of the Central Experiment Station from the Forsyth district to the State. The station is currently located in Forsyth county, but the bill would transfer it to the State, where it would be placed under the control of the State Department of Agriculture.

The bill was introduced by Representative Ellis of the Forsyth district. It was passed by the House on Wednesday, and is now pending in the Senate. The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry has reported the bill favorably.

TRIAL HAS STARTED AS WITNESSES EXAMINED

Every Change in Chronologic Scale Rung—All Georgia Types Seen in Court.

By L. F. WOODBURY. Every change in the chronologic scale has been rung in the Frank trial. With the single exception of the astrological oratory that will mark the last stage of the trial, everything that has ever happened in the trial, or of a formal case that has been rung in the night to fix on the superintendent of the National Sewing Factory the full of the murder of Mary Phagan.

There has been comedy. There has been tragedy. There has been a performance of the most extraordinary kind. There have been occasions as startling as the feet of a circus acrobat. There have been scenes and performances worthy of a clown. The number has been mixed with the gay until the entire trial seems to have been a performance of the most extraordinary kind.

"True, Conley already had been in jail several times that he admit of and several times more that he can't recall precisely, and that had served to make him something of a hero in darkest Darktown; but Jim's involuntary residence in duress via here has been in police cells and more county chainage exclusively. So that didn't make him a particularly big hero—about it made him a hero not altogether to be sneezed at."

"Now, however, Jim has been in 'de big court,' landed all up in a murder case, suspected by some of being a principal in the murder. Indeed, but cleverly also stopping that too deadly peril—and his name has been in all the newspapers hundreds of times, and his picture dozens of times, and before he gets through with it, he will be decorated by the State's majority as 'kingdom of heaven.'"

"All in all, Jim's real hero in darkest Darktown, at least a real, abony chivalrous, 'kingdom of heaven' hero who frequent the 'Butt In' and the 'Butt Out,' and whose dispensation is not like reputation will be down and worship Jim—for in their philosophy, of such a Jim in the Decatur street 'kingdom of heaven.'"

"Huh? Generally Approved." "The general impression seems to be that Judge Roan did the right thing in permitting the Conley story to go to the jury in its entirety, inasmuch as it had gone to Cassidy part any way."

"Perhaps the evidence fixing upon Len Frank another crime was the one he stands charged with upon the present indictment, was primarily inadmissible, but there was no way to relieve the jury of the charge Conley made, and it would have been hardly fair to take the jury, the

FORSYTH NEGRO'S CABIN DYNAMITED

John Woolsey Suffers Broken Leg When Blown Through the Roof of House.

CUMMING, Aug. 7.—John Woolsey, the only negro in Forsyth county, was blown out of bed through the roof of his cabin, eight miles north of Cumming, and suffered a broken leg, when dynamite was set off under the house, according to information that has reached Cumming.

The dynamite was placed on the roof of the cabin, which prevented the news reaching her son. Woolsey was hurried out of the county to Gainesville by Smith.

The negro had moved to the South place just a few days ago. He was warned to leave the county and Smith was warned to get rid of him. Neither he nor the cabin occupied by Woolsey was completely wrecked.

DULUTH, Aug. 7.—One of the most widespread strikes ever attempted by Great Lakes dock workers was in prospect today. Plans were being formed to extend the strike from all the docks in Duluth to the one striking along the coast in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Industrial Workers of the World, which was organized by the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, is planning to extend the strike from all the docks in Duluth to the one striking along the coast in Wisconsin and Michigan.
