BETTER CAR SERVICE SOON

Bigger cars will supplant old ones on several lines. Trolley Company's Plan Voluntary, It Is Said, Following Conclusions on Detailed Report of Service.

Nine routes will get early increase, maybe. Main Cross-Town Lines Selected for Improvements. Company Finds City Has Outgrown Them.

Belief appears in slight for the streetcars. As a result of recent extensive investigations by the state railroad commission, improved street car service will be offered shortly on all but one of the lines in Atlanta and its suburbs.

It is said that probably about one of the twenty-three routes operated by the Georgia Trolley Company will be given better service.

Small cars—those of twenty-eight and thirty-two seats—will give way to larger cars carrying sixty or more passengers.

Chief Clerk of the commission, Charles C. Chandler, of the commission, and Statistician Eugene MacIntyre made a careful analysis of the statistics.
