ATLANTA, Ga., June 21.—The Atlanta Journal says of Governor Slaton's commuting the sentence action in comm Leo M. Frank: "To some the of the the announcement Governor's action will carry great appointment, because there are t thouappointment, because there are thousands who have believed from the first that Frank was guilty of the horrible crime of which he was accused. To others, and we believe a vast majority of the people of the State, Governor Slaton's message will carry tidings of satisfaction, because whatever individuals and the state of the state vals may think as to the guilt or innocence of the condemned man, a vast majority of them recognize in this remarkable case an element of doubt so huge and so staggering that the mind recoils from contemplation of the exrecoils from contemplation of the ex-treme penalty of the law inflicted upon this unfortunate man.

"The views of The Journal have been expressed and are so well hat we need not restate them Suffice it that shortly after conviction, and many times so often expressed known that we need at we suffice Frank's corsince since, whenever proper respect for the courts would permit, this paper urged with all the power and earnestness at its command that Frank should have a new trial, and that there was too much doubt about his guilt to justify his execution as a murderer. The his execution as a murderer. The Judge who presided at the trial entertained grave doubt and so expressed himself at the time, and later in a letter expressed the Governor asked that Frank's tence be commuted. Two Justices sentence be commuted. sentence be commuted. Two Justices of the Supreme Court of Georgia, and two Justices of the United States Supreme Court and one member of the Georgia Prison Commission, have expressed in the strongest terms their doubts as to his guilt, although the courts were restricted in their consideration of the case to questions of law. ation of the case to questions of law.
Thus, in every tribunal to which this case has been carried, the gravest doubt of Frank's guilt has been exribuna. carried, the - cuilt has of Frank's guilt would have been superhuman tions that surrounded the trial. They would have been superhuman if they had been able to resist the intense feeling that permeated the atmosphere of the court house during their deliberations. Probably no human court and no jury composed of mortal men could have reached a different verdict under the circumstances of this case.

Governor Slaton has studied the rec and weighed the evidence fairly and doing so _____ion that it intelligently, and after doing reached the definite conclusion impossible for him or any oth any other living man to say with certainty and beyond a reasonable doubt that Leo Frank was the murderer of Mary Phagan or that he was in any way connected with that terrible crime. That fearful doubt confronts him just as it does every one who studies the records and expectively studies the records and earnestly seeks the truth.

" Under "Under these conditions it was the duty of the Governor to commute the sentence. In doing so he has risen to the highest appreciation of his obligation to society in most circumstances ing, and has discharged that obligation without fear, favor or affection. "The Journal holds no brief for Governor Slaton, neither has it the slightest interest in Leo Frank. Our duty, like that of the Governor, is to the public and to society. We have said from the first, if he is guilty he should be set free. If there is grave doubt about his guilt, notwithstanding the verdict of the jury, the sentence should be commuted to life imprisonment. This is evidently the view of the Governor and The Journal takes this occasion to commend liis action as a brave, manly, and conscientious discharge of duty.

"The Governor has shown wisdom and courage in his performance of an act of simple justice, and time will vindicate his moderation." The Journal holds no brief for
