

MOTHER OF FRANK DENOUNCES SOLICITOR DORSEY IN COURT

SENATOR M'NEIL DRAWS HIS KNIFE ON JAMES D. PRICE

Fight in President's Room Narrowly Averted After a Warm Discussion of Agricultural Measure Before Senate.

PRICE CHARGED M'NEIL WITH A MISSTATEMENT

"If You Insinuate I'm a Liar You Are a D---d Liar, and I Will Cut Your Throat," Threatened Senator From Twenty-Second District.

A heated controversy between J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture, and Senator W. D. McNeill of the twenty-second district came near resulting in serious trouble at the state senate yesterday when the senator drew a knife on the commissioner, charged him with telling a J---d lie and asserted his intention of cutting his throat.

The difficulty grew out of the debate on a bill to increase the commissioner's expense money on issuing bulletins and for fertilizer inspection materials. A motion was made to delay action on the bill until the afternoon session in order that the senators might confer about the matter.

McNeill Opposed to Delay. It was at this juncture that Senator McNeill who had strenuously opposed the bill jumped to his feet and opposed any delay in taking action on the bill. If you wait until the afternoon session to act on this bill the parties interested in the passage of it will button hole every member of the senate as they have already but ton holed most of them and lobby in support of the measure. Action on it should not be influenced by outsiders, but should be determined by the members of the senate.

The motion to adjourn until 3 o'clock for further action was defeated and the bill was immediately taken up and passed by a vote of 29 to 13. Notice was given by Senator McNeill that he would make an attempt to have the action of the senate reconsidered.

Upon the adjournment of the body at about 1 o'clock Senator McNeill joined Mr. Price in the president's room and said in a spirit of levity: "Well you got your bill through you old lobbyist."

Statement Not Exactly True. Yes, but your statement on the floor of the senate was not exactly true, replied Commissioner Price grasping the lapel of Senator McNeill's coat in an apparently friendly manner.

At this the senator became angered and asked: "Don't you think you had better modify your statement? You don't mean by that to call me a liar do you?"

No, I don't call you a liar, but what you said I do not think to be absolutely true.

If you even insinuate that I'm a liar you are a d---d liar here he whipped out a knife—and I'll cut your throat, retorted Senator McNeill, starting to make an advance upon the commissioner.

Trouble is Averted. Dr. W. C. Bryant who was present grabbed Senator McNeill's arm but the senator broke away only to be caught by a soldier who persuaded him to go with him into a neighboring room. Mr. Price made no reply to Mr. McNeill and returned to his office on the first floor of the capitol with several of his friends and members of his office force.

Several days ago Senator McNeill moved that a communication from the commissioner inviting the senate to inspect his department be laid on the table and not read. The senator from the twenty-second stated that this action was not prompted at all by personal feelings but that he did not feel the communications from the state departments should be given the same consideration as the governor's messages.

Efforts were made by mutual friends of the gentlemen to have the hitchet buried during the afternoon but no action has as yet been taken.

Price Regrets Affair. Commissioner Price stated that he was in the senate in behalf of his department and was exceedingly sorry that the affair had taken place while he was in the official discharge of his duty but that he desired to make no statement in regard to his personal difficulty while there.

Senator McNeill stated that he was willing to let the matter stand as it was but if he was approached by the commissioner of agriculture in a gentlemanly manner that he would receive any such approach in the same manner.

Impeached Official to Use Every Weapon to Keep Lieutenant-Governor Glynn Out of Power.

CLASH OF AUTHORITY CERTAIN TO COME TODAY

Sulzer Maintains He's Still Governor and Glynn Says Office Is His—Mrs. Sulzer Expected to Make Statement.

SULZER EIGHTH GOVERNOR TO FACE IMPEACHMENT
New York, Aug. 13.—In all the United States only seven other governors have faced impeachment proceedings. These men and the results that followed were: Charles Robinson, Kansas, 1892, acquitted; Harrison Reed, Florida, 1868, charges dropped; William W. Holden, North Carolina, 1870, removed; Powell Clayton, Arkansas, 1871, charges dropped; David Butler, Nebraska, 1871, removed; Henry C. Farnoth, Louisiana, 1872, term expired and proceedings dropped; Adelbert Ames, Mississippi, 1875, resigned.

Albany N. Y. August 13.—With Governor Sulzer impeached by the assembly and the date of his trial before the senate and the judges of the court of appeals fixed for September 18, the spectacle was presented tonight of two men claiming to be governor of the state of New York.

As soon as the articles of impeachment adopted at an early hour this morning by the democratic majority in the assembly were presented to the senate shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn announced his intention of occupying the executive chamber. Friends of Governor Sulzer declared that the governor intended to continue in office and would use every weapon in his power to maintain his position on the ground that the assembly had no constitutional right to consider

President Amazed by Offensive Statement About Great Britain Made by the U. S. Ambassador to Mexico.

TALKATIVE DIPLOMAT LIKELY TO BE DISMISSED

President Doesn't Propose for American Official to Insult Foreign Governments. Situation Is Improving.

Washington August 13.—The United States government has informally sounded the powers and learned that foreign governments generally will do nothing to embarrass the peace policy of President Wilson toward Mexico and are inclined to support it. Henry Lane Wilson, whose resignation as ambassador to Mexico recently was accepted to take effect October 14, issued a statement today attacking the reported statement of the British foreign office that recognition of the Huerta government had been extended after he had made a congratulatory speech to the provisional president.

May Be Summarily Dismissed. President Wilson read the ambassador's statement and was so incensed at its tone and contents that he promptly requested Secretary Bryan to ascertain through the British embassy here whether the utterance of the British foreign office as reported was correct and tonight the dismissal of Ambassador Wilson by summary acceptance of his resignation to take effect immediately was under consideration by the administration. These were the developments of the day here in the Mexican situation, while dispatches from John Lind, personal representative in Mexico of Large Part of Wednesday's Testimony Was Consumed in an Effort on Part of the State to Break Down the Testimony Given by Lemmie Quinn—Dr. William K. Owen Takes the Stand in Afternoon to Tell How Story of Conley Was Re-enacted at National Pencil Company Factory.

There was one brief dramatic moment in the Frank trial Wednesday—so dramatic and full of heart interest that spectators were stirred as they have not been since the trial began. Solicitor Dorsey was cross-questioning Ashley Jones, a character witness for Frank. He asked him if he had not heard of Frank taking liberties with little girls out at Druid Hills. "No, and you never did—you dog!" exclaimed Mrs. Rae Frank, mother of the accused young man, as she partially rose from her seat and faced Solicitor Dorsey. It was the first emotion the mother

FOR ANOTHER FLOP FOSS IS PREPARING

Having Used the Democratic Party to Limit Massachusetts Governor Will Probably Return to G. O. P.

Boston, August 13.—Governor Eugene F. Foss, who was one of the candidates for the democratic presidential nomination last year made public a brief statement today which was generally interpreted by political leaders to mean that he would seek the republican nomination for governor at the next month's primaries.

Should the governor return to the republican ranks which he left to be elected as a democratic congressman in a strong republican district and subsequently to be elected governor for three successive terms on a democratic ticket in what is known as a rock ribbed republican state it would mean three cornered contest at the primaries.

Colonel Everett O. Benton last year's defeated republican standard bearer and Congressman Augustus P. Gardner, already have announced that they would seek the republican nomination.

Governor Foss statement read today before a meeting of the executive council, said:

"If I am a candidate for the republican nomination, I will abide by the result of the republican primaries and not run later as an independent candidate if defeated."

The governor frequently has expressed dissatisfaction with the present national democratic administration, saying recently:

"I am now convinced that at least the present national leaders of the democratic party offer no hope to the country of sane tariff revision."

STATE RIGHTS SPEECH TO BAR SENATOR RICE FROM HALL OF FAME

St. Paul, Minn., August 13.—Minnesota members of the Grand Army of the Republic, in a resolution presented to Governor Eberhart today, opposed the placing of a statue of Senator Henry M. Rice in the Hall of Fame at the national capital because of a state's rights speech he made in the senate in 1861.

The last legislature appropriated $7,500 for a statue and the governor recently named a commission to supervise its erection. The resolution presented to the governor quotes this extract of Rice's speech in the senate in 1861:

"We will do all that we honorably can to keep the southern states with us, but if they are determined to leave us they might go in peace. Having spent my life on the Great Lakes, the rivers and plains of the northwest, being one of the early settlers of four states, I wish to say that I don't believe that either side of them will vote a dollar for coercion."

ON WAY TO PRIZE FIGHT ALLEN DEAS DROPS DEAD

Prominent Camden Man Is Attacked by Apoplexy in Front of the Grand Theater

While on the way to the prize fight Wednesday night, Allen Deas, 65 years of age, of Camden, S. C., had a sudden stroke of apoplexy in front of the Grand building on Peachtree, and died within five minutes.

Mr. Deas had started to see the fight in company with his son-in-law, W. L. Watson of this city. The two had just reached the Grand building, when Mr. Deas suddenly fell. He was taken immediately into the Elkin Drug company's store, which is in the building but failed to revive.

Mr. Deas had been in Atlanta for the past several days, in company with his wife, visiting their children in this city. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Allen Deas, Jr., of Atlanta, and John Deas, of Montgomery. Also two daughters, Mrs. Lynch Reed, of Plantersville, S. C., and Mrs. W. L. Watson, of this city.

He was one of Camden's prominent citizens, and a Confederate veteran. Funeral arrangements will be announced after his son in Montgomery has been conferred with.

TAX REFORM MARKS BEGINNING OF NEW ERA FOR GEORGIA

Complete Story of One of the Hardest Fought Battles in the Political History of Georgia.

PROBABLY MAKE THIS LEGISLATURE FAMOUS

Distinction Added to Names Already Known, and Many New Men Have Leaped Into Prominence.

By T. B. Conner.

Now that the long drawn out and bitterly contested battle of tax reform has been fought to its exciting finish and won, the public will be generally interested in knowing just how the fight was made and the victory, which appeared so doubtful at times, was finally accomplished.

In the light of the magnitude of the interests at stake and the vital importance in the state's history of the problems involved in the contest, an account of the vicissitudes of House Bill No. 6, from its first introduction to its enactment into law in the shape which the senate leaders had given it, will be of perennial interest to students of Georgia politics.

In the course of this exciting contest, which culminated in an agitation for tax revision extending over a considerable period of years, but never prosecuted with real earnestness until now not only has added lustre been given to names already pretty well known, but new names have been added to the roll of the states public men, which will undoubtedly have to be taken account of in the near political future of the state.

It was one of those political contests in which earnestness and zeal, and skill in the handling of the weapons of parliamentary warfare, counted for more than numbers. While, of course, there is no intention to cast any insinuations upon the sincerity or patriotism of legislators whatever side they may have taken in the fight, there can be no doubt that the final victory lay with those who were most heartily persuaded of the truth of the principles for which they contended and were able to give the best reasons for the faith that was in them.

Contest Between Past and Future. It was one of those ever-recurring

Dr. William Owen Tells How Conley's Story Was Re-enacted

Dr. William D. Owen, a well known physician and one of the timekeepers in the re-enactment of Conley's story in the pencil factory was questioned by Mr. Arnold and cross examined by Mr. Hooper. How much time did it require you to go through this performance asked Mr. Arnold.

Eighteen and a half minutes. How rapidly did you go through it? Just as fast as the directions could be read. Where did you start the performance? From the second floor to the basement. Did you read the directions? No, they were read by Mr. Haas and Mr. Wilson. On then the action was performed as it was read from the directions? Yes.

Might Have Been Quicker

If a man who had been performing these actions had been performing the acts of his own volition and not by directions he would have finished in quicker time. Was that the case? It might have been that he could have been quicker.

Did he have any fear of apprehension? No. What was in the sack that represented Mary Phagan's body? Wet sawdust I think charcoal. Where was the supposed body kept? From the metal room.

Dragged Sack to Basement

Did you take the sack or carry it in the basement? Yes.

Surprise Sprung by Introduction of Character Witnesses by Defense

Alfred L. Lane who stated that he lives in Brooklyn and is a merchant of New York city was the first witness to take the stand to swear to the good character of Leo Frank and so quietly was he introduced that not until the defense had asked him several questions did it become known what was about to take place.

You came here yesterday afternoon especially to testify about Mr. Frank did you not? asked Mr. Arnold.

He had established the identity of the witness and drawn from him the statement that he had known Frank for about fifteen years.

Yes I came here for that purpose, Lane replied.

Where did you first know Mr. Frank and when? asked Mr. Arnold.

I knew him when we were in school together from 1893 to 1903 at Pratt Institute a high school in Brooklyn, replied the witness.

By this time it had begun to dawn on the spectators and lawyers that the defense was introducing the character of the defendant.

Your honor I can't see why this testimony is relevant unless they are going to put up the defendant's character said Mr. Dorsey.

That's exactly what we are going to do replied Mr. Arnold.

Mr. Lane did you go to Cornell university? Mr. Arnold continued.

No, Mr. Frank? Did you know his character? Yes. Was it good or bad? I consider it good, replied the witness.

The state attempted no cross examination and the witness left the stand.

Other Character Witnesses

Philip Nash of Bridgewood N. J.

Did you see Mary Phagan? "No," "Did you see Monteen Stover?" "No," "Frank is Leo Frank?" "Yes," "Was the door to Frank's office open?" "Yes," "Do you recollect how the gate door was?" "I think it was open," "What time were you there?" "About 12:30 o'clock," "Did you see anybody else in there besides Frank?" "No," "What was he doing?" "Writing," "What did you say?" "I said Good morning, and he said anything else?" "No," "I said, you can't keep me away, even on holidays," "How was Frank dressed that morning?" "In a brown suit he had his coat on," "Did you see any blood around the metal department Monday?" "No," "Did you see any place where blood had been washed up?" "No," "Did you ever see any blood in the metal room where Jim Conley says the body was found?" "No," "Court then adjourned for the noon lunch hour with Quinn to be further examined later."

Frank Paine formerly an office boy for the National Pencil company and who claims to have been working there on Thanksgiving day of last year, was placed on the stand following the introduction of the three character witnesses.

The lad stated that he and Herbert G. Schiff were at the factory on the morning of Thanksgiving day, and that Schiff sent him to the top floor where boxes which were cluttered around there. He declared that Conley left about 10:20 and then he left at 11 o'clock or thereabouts.

That he did not see Conley in the hallway when he left was another statement made by the lad who further declared that he had never known Frank to have women in his office or to have liquor there.

Did you spend your time in the office? Attorney Frank Hooper asked on cross examination.

Was Schiff in the office all the time? Did you ever see any beer bottles in there? Was Frank in there on Thanksgiving day? Yes. Did you see Jim Conley there? Yes. When did you first notice Jim? When he was sweeping. When you left at 11 o'clock you didn't come back did you? No. You don't know whether Jim was in the basement? No. The lad was then excused.

More Witnesses Are Called to Blacken Dalton's Character

Following the putting off of the decision in regard to Dr. William Owen's testimony seven Gwinnett county citizens were introduced to add to the thick coat of lamplack already smeared over the character of C. Burdett Dalton the man who accuses Frank of immoral conduct in the office of the National Pencil factory.

All of them swore that they would not believe the man on oath and only one or two of them were cross examined by the state.

The men introduced were O. A. Nix, attorney and former member of the legislature, Samuel Craig, Robert Patterson, Robert Craig, Ed. Craig, T. L. Ambrose and J. P. Byrd, well to do land owners.

By Samuel Craig the solicitor tried to bring out that as far as he knew Dalton's character had been good since he last knew him some 12 or 16 years ago but Mr. Arnold came back at that by a final question.

Mr. Craig said Mr. Arnold if Dalton states that he has been in the habit of taking women to a factory basement would you consider his character good if he were telling the truth or if he were lying?

I would consider it bad in either case the witness replied.

Former Office Boy Saw No Women With Frank on Thanksgiving Day

Frank Paine formerly an office boy for the National Pencil company and who claims to have been working there on Thanksgiving day of last year, was placed on the stand following the introduction of the three character witnesses.

The lad stated that he and Herbert G. Schiff were at the factory on the morning of Thanksgiving day, and that Schiff sent him to the top floor where boxes which were cluttered around there. He declared that Conley left about 10:20 and then he left at 11 o'clock or thereabouts.

That he did not see Conley in the hallway when he left was another statement made by the lad who further declared that he had never known Frank to have women in his office or to have liquor there.

Did you spend your time in the office? Attorney Frank Hooper asked on cross examination.

Was Schiff in the office all the time? Did you ever see any beer bottles in there? Was Frank in there on Thanksgiving day? Yes. Did you see Jim Conley there? Yes. When did you first notice Jim? When he was sweeping. When you left at 11 o'clock you didn't come back did you? No. You don't know whether Jim was in the basement? No. The lad was then excused.

Louisville Is Host At Monster Barbecue

Louisville, Ga. August 13.—Today has been a red letter day in Louisville. She has been the hostess to the cool people of Jefferson county in an old fashioned Georgia barbecue. From every side the crowd poured into this famous old town and partook of its unbounded hospitality.

The barbecue of thirty fat hogs were barbecued and spread under the trees on the historic grounds of the court house square. Addresses of welcome were made by Honorable William Little, ex state senator and by other leading citizens. Good feeling ran high and cordial fellowship between all the people of the county was renewed once more.

In the afternoon Louisville defeated Swainsboro in a game of ball 7 to 0.

Financial Sheets Introduced At Frank Trial in Afternoon

The financial sheets which experts declared required from three to three and a half hours to compile were introduced in evidence following the murder of Mary Phagan. A stockholder in the National Pencil factory was examined.

Mr. Pappenhelmer testified that he had been a stockholder in the company since 1910.

Have you been getting comparative sheets from Frank since 1917? Attorney Arnold asked.

Yes sir.

Where have you been in the habit of receiving them?

Before deliveries of mail stopped on Sunday I invariably found the sheets in my mail box on Sunday morning. After that I received it every Monday with the first mail.

Did you get a sheet for the week ending April 24 the following Monday morning?

Yes.

Have you received any reports since April 24?

No sir.

The defense offered the sheets from January 1912 to April 1917 inclusive and they were admitted over the objection of Solicitor Dorsey.

Lively Tilts Mark the Hearing Of Testimony of Dr. Kendrick

Dr. William S. Kendrick head of the chair of medicine of the new Atlanta Medical school and for the past thirty eight years a general practitioner of medicine was the first witness put on the stand Wednesday morning.

The physician on the stand declared the deductions of Dr. H. F. Harris secretary of the state board of health as to the time of Mary Phagan's death and the alleged violation as nothing more than guesswork.

On cross examination the solicitor forced Dr. Kendrick to admit that he was no expert on digestion and that he had never read a medical treatise on the subject in ten years or possibly in his life.

Many lively tilts occurred while the physician had the stand and in many instances the solicitor forced the witness to admit his ignorance on points pertaining to the subject.

Robert Arnold outlined the condition in which it is said that Dr. Harris found the girl's body and asked the witness if he could tell from that whether or not she had been violated.

Dr. Kendrick stated that he could not.

Would it be merely conjecture or not I make such a deduction?

I would call it nothing else.

Are you or not a stomach specialist? No I am not a specialist of any kind I am a general practitioner but for the past thirty five years I have been teaching of diseases of the stomach.

Do you think that the stomachs of different people are different? Yes each stomach is a law unto itself.

Deductions Merely Guesswork

Do you think that by chemical methods or by any other methods a physician could tell how long this unchewed cabbage had been in a person's stomach before death? Mr. Arnold asked exhibiting the sample of food taken from the dead girl's stomach.

No it would be just a guess.

Mr. Dorsey took up the cross examination.

There are not many specialists in the state are there doctor? was his first question.

No there are not many but there are too many at that, the veteran physician replied.

Well doctor is Dr. Willis West more than a stomach specialist? asked Mr. Dorsey.

Apparently somewhat, but I don't know the reply.

Dr. Westmoreland is a surgeon not a stomach specialist the witness replied.

Do you consider Dr. T. H. Hancock surgeon to the Georgia Railway and Power company a stomach specialist?

I do not.

Mr. Dorsey then outlined the condition of Mary Phagan's stomach as told by Dr. Harris and asked Dr. Kendrick if he could not give an opinion from such a condition. He replied that he could not.

There are certain general rules governing what takes place in the stomach aren't there doctor? Yes there are but there are other things too. For instance I can't eat cabbage without having to go to bed the next day, said the witness and there was a general laugh.

I don't care a rap about our stomachs with respect to you, replied the solicitor. We are talking about Mary Phagan's stomach and not yours please remember that.

I hold the opinion that said Attorney Arnold.

Lemmie Quinn Is Severely Grilled by Solicitor Dorsey

Bending his efforts to break down the testimony of Lemmie Quinn foreman of the metal department, Solicitor Dorsey subjected the witness to a severe grill before noon reconvened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

When Quinn resumed the stand he was still under direct examination by the defense. In answer to Attorney Arnold he declared that he was still an employee of the National Pencil factory.

Solicitor Dorsey began cross examination.

When was it these men bled on the floor of the metal room? About a year ago Quinn replied.

What were their names? I remember that C. P. Gilbert who lives on Jones street was one I don't remember the name of the other.

You noticed the spots on the floor of the dressing room on Monday after the murder? Yes it looked like blood.

What is the difference between those spots and the spots made by Gilbert's bleeding? The spots by the dressing room were darker.

Could germs have caused that? I don't know where you were at noon on April 25.

At the factory? Didn't you tell Officer Payne that you were not at the factory, and that you were glad you were not there?

No sir.

Didn't you tell Detective Starnes that you were not at the factory? No sir.

Reminded Frank of Visit

Didn't you tell Frank and didn't he tell you to say anything about it until he told his lawyer? Yes.

Tell us how you reminded Frank of your visit to the factory? I told him that I had been to the factory on Saturday and he replied that he knew that I had.

What did he say? He said he would tell his lawyer.

Didn't you go to see Frank and didn't you say why Mister Frank, I was here Saturday and didn't he say that's right you were there? That's the first time mentioned it to Frank he said that he would tell his lawyer and the next time I mentioned it to him he said that he had told his lawyer.

Didn't you say to him I don't want to be mixed up in this thing but if it will help you Mister Frank I'll do whatever you say for me to do? I think it was like that.

What was it you said to Officer Payne? I don't remember saying anything to him.

Tells of Conversation

Didn't you testify at the inquest that you walked into a Greek stand Sunday and that Payne and the Greek were talking about the murder, and you said what? Another Jack-the-you said what? And didn't Payne say, No, a white girl has been murdered at the pencil factory, and didn't you say, Who was it? And didn't Payne

DEFENSE WITNESS. Here the solicitor interrupted again to declare that Judge Roan had previously ruled out what he wanted to show about Conley's being taken to the factory by detectives and made to go through the movements as he told in his affidavit. 'Conley was allowed to tell in this court all about the time element in his story,' Mr. Arnold asserted, 'but when he was taken to the factory and made to go through his movements told of he had not even told of seeing the dead girl's body and of helping to carry it down into the basement. And of course, that makes a big difference in the time required, and this nigger is such a liar, anyhow, he told so many different stories that nobody knows what to believe.' 'Your honor,' interrupted Attorney Frank Hooper, 'I object to counsel for the defense referring to a witness as a liar, that's a question for the jury to decide.' Judge Roan sustained the objection and after further bitter argument stated that he saw no reason why the evidence brought by Dr. Owen should not be used. Negro's Story Enacted. Attorney Joseph Levitt then read an outline of the movements of Frank and Conley on that day, as taken from the negro's statement on the stand. The outline was written in the form of a moving picture scenario and went through all the details of the alleged actions of Frank and the negro sweeper from the time Conley says Frank called him to take away the body until he left the factory. Mr. Dorsey again objected, saying that some of the things mentioned in the outline took place on Tuesday and others between Saturday and Tuesday, and ending by saying, 'Your honor, you're surely not going to allow a thing like this?' 'I don't know what I'm going to do,' replied Judge Roan. 'Well, how long did it take in this farce to choke the little girl to death?' the solicitor then asked the defense. 'We don't know how long it took the nigger to kill the child,' replied Mr. Arnold hotly.

ROAN'S FRIENDS NOW ACTIVE

They Present a Very Large Petition of Atlanta Lawyers to Governor Slaton in His Behalf.

The fight for the judgeship of the new criminal court of Atlanta waxes warm. The Constitution's local opponents presented yesterday morning the contention of those who are moving to bring about the appointment of some one who has heretofore been identified as a member of the Atlanta bar. The article being the report of a meeting of attorneys recently held for the purpose of organizing to that end.

Those who are moving in behalf of the appointment of Judge L. S. Roan disagree with the contention of the others, and yesterday morning the following petition of Atlanta lawyers was presented to Governor Slaton, in which it will be seen that the appointment of Judge Roan is earnestly prayed for.

The Petition.

The petition is as follows: "To His Excellency, John M. Slaton, Governor of the State of Georgia: Your petitioners, the undersigned members of the Atlanta bar, most earnestly petition your excellency to appoint Judge L. S. Roan to the position of judge of the fourth division of the superior court of Fulton county in case said fourth division is provided for by the present legislature.

Judge Roan has presided in the criminal branch of Fulton superior court for years, much of the time at his own expense and without any cost to the county. As a judge he is fully abreast of the times, and is peculiarly suited to serve on the superior court bench of this county."

CLOSE ATHENS HOUSES ORDERS JUDGE BRAND

He Refuses to Grant Supersedeas and Injunction Against Houses of Ill Fame Must Stand.

Athens, Ga., August 13.—(Special.)—With the refusal of Judge C. H. Brand to grant a supersedeas, following the injunction against a number of East Athens houses in our midst, obtained through the investigation and efforts of Solicitor General John B. Gamble, the last recourse of the houses seems to be closed and it is believed Athens will now be permanently rid of them.

The method used to oust the houses is one heretofore untried in Georgia, and is attracting considerable attention in the other towns and cities that have wrestled with the same problem in vain thus far. After attempting to get the houses closed through the municipal authorities and failing, Solicitor Gamble prepared evidence and placed it before Judge Brand, of the superior court, asking for a state injunction against the houses on the ground of being a "public nuisance."

SENATE WANTED BILL REFERRED TO PEOPLE

The house on Wednesday morning engaged in a 30-minute discussion over a senate resolution regarding the bill introduced by Mr. Carter, of Appling, to create a new board of commissioners for Appling county, and finally failed to concur.

This bill was passed by the house some time ago and transmitted to the senate. According to a resolution, about which Wednesday's discussion occurred, sent to the house from the senate had overlooked its intention of amending Mr. Carter's bill by adding a section referring it to the vote of the people of Appling county. Mr. Hardman, of Jefferson, took the position that to defeat the resolution would show a lack of courtesy to the senate. Mr. Farley, of Liberty, stated that citizens of Appling county had been to him and told him that they did not want Mr. Carter's bill, and he, therefore, opposed it.

Would Save Collier.

Savannah, Ga., August 13.—(Special.)—A determined effort is being made to prevent the execution of Frank Collier, who was convicted for the murder of another negro about a year ago and whose petition for commutation of sentence was denied by the prison commission several days ago. The condemned man's physicians have engaged experts to watch him for signs of insanity. Collier confessed his guilt after the prison commission had refused to interfere.

NO SEAT IN THE SENATE FOR HENRY D. CLAYTON

Senators Generally Believe Gov. O'Neal Had No Power to Appoint.

Washington, August 13.—Representative Henry D. Clayton, when he arrives in Washington tonight with credentials as the successor of the late Senator Johnson, of Alabama, will find the senate almost unanimous in its decision that his commission is not valid. The appointment of Mr. Clayton yesterday by Governor O'Neal, the Alabama legislature is believed by nearly all senate lawyers to be a technical violation of the direct election of senators. Mr. Clayton will be given opportunity to argue his case before the senate committee, but members of that committee who have been studying the terms and scope of the new amendment expect that the decision of the committee will be adverse to Mr. Clayton's claims.

Negro Fatally Shot.

Thomasville, Ga., August 13.—(Special.)—Joe Holmes, a negro, was shot and fatally wounded yesterday by Allen Collier, another negro, the affair taking place at the Chastain plantation about five miles from town. Junior made good his escape, though the officers are searching for him today. Holmes is expected to die.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WILL ADJOURN TODAY

Legislators Believe That Their Work Will Be Completed About Noon.

The general assembly of the state of Georgia will probably adjourn Thursday about noon until next summer. Now that the state tax equalization bill has been passed through both bodies and the general appropriations will in all probability go through the senate this morning with little or no fight, nothing of importance remains for the legislature to enact at this session.

St. Paul, Minn., August 13.—The first result of the campaign of the fourth district of the Federation of Women's Clubs for more modest dress for women came up today when Mrs. Albert R. The company declared it would place on the market this fall suits that are two yards wide at the bottom and of proper length.

SAVANNAH ALDERMAN MOVED TO AMERICUS, REFUSES TO RESIGN

Whether Mr. Grimshaw's decision in the matter is final, however, is a question about which there is some doubt. Members of the city administration are not satisfied to have Mr. Grimshaw live in Americus and continue as an alderman. He says he has made arrangements whereby he can retain his citizenship in Savannah, and that he will be able to attend the bi-weekly council meetings. The matter probably will be settled by city council.

HOUSE DECLINES TO SLASH BILL

Opposition to Tax Equalization Measure Fails to Stop Passage of Original General Appropriation Bill.

The remaining opposition to the Anderson Miller tax equalization measure received a severe jolt Wednesday when the house failed to cut the general appropriations bill to the figures indicated in the amendments placed on the bill before the passage of the tax equalization measure and presented for the approval of the senate. The original bill now ascends positively that it will pass the senate.

The bill as amended by the house was sent back to the senate where it was considered by the appropriations committee. The committee reported a substitute bill consisting of Senate Bill Stark Allen Miller No. 11 and 13 and Anderson to confer with the senate on the matter of amending the house amendments.

It is thought very probable that in view of the fact that the tax equalization measure has been passed that the senate will proceed in its action in cutting the appropriations bill and will pass the bill as sent back from the house.

When the house took up the appropriation bill with the amendments Tuesday morning, Mr. Wheeler, chairman of the appropriations committee explained to the house that the senate amendments cutting the appropriations voted by the house had been placed on the bill for the reason that at the time the senate considered the bill it was in a state of prospective revision of the bill.

The passage of the Anderson Miller bill however he still asserted the state of sufficient time to take care of the appropriation bill. He said that the bill was now in a state of agreement with the senate amendments and present to the upper branch more than the original bill with the assurance that it would this time be accepted in toto.

To Dr. Stovall of Pitt and others of the opposition to the Anderson Miller bill this seemed a fair proposition to accept. The bill was reported to the senate by the committee of Chairman Wheatley, who at that time did not have a vote in the house.

The first amendment to the bill was agreed upon by the house and the appropriation bill was passed to $2,872,000.

Mr. Wheeler moved to disagree to the senate amendment upon Mr. Miller's motion to disagree to the senate amendment to the bill which on Tuesday passed the house. He moved to substitute the bill as amended to the senate amendment.

World Call Senate's Bluff
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the house, I will when the senate cut the appropriations bill for the purpose of forcing the house into accepting its tax proposition. I know what to do. Reported That Interests in Command Now Will Endeavor to Retain Control

Savannah Ga. August 13—(Special)—When the Atlanta Birmingham and Atlantic railroad is offered for sale to satisfy bond holders it will be sold to a group of present stockholders. A railroad official who knows what he is talking about made this statement in Savannah tonight. This official is closely identified with the interests that have been in control of the A. B. & A. and he declares that all the necessary arrangements for buying in the property has been made by some of the men who now own large blocks of the stock. The interests in control of the A. B. & A. at present desire to retain the control of such a valuable property and are readily understood. The road takes a rich section and an effort to pay good dividends. This is the reason it is stated that it would be the group of stockholders to include to buy the property when it is offered for sale at auction.

In the last few days there have been persistent rumors that the bill for the A. B. & A.

MASSEE'S CHARGES MAY CAUSE SUITS FOR LIBEL

City Officials Deny Statements Made in Connection With Electric Light Contracts

Macon Ga. August 13—(Special)—W. J. Massee, president of the Macon Railway and Light company this morning following the action of council last night is denying that the Macon Railway and Light company had overcharged the city for lights gave out an interview in which he makes charges against city officials which were later denied in toto by the officials named. Libel suits will probably be instituted.

Mr. Massee says the street railway contributed to Mayor Moore's campaign and that the mayor receives his lights free that the same company has a good deal of Alderman McKenna's chair and that the electrician Humphries also gets his lights free.

The mayor says maybe the street railway company did contribute but he does not know. He also says he pays his light bill every month and today exhibited the receipts. Alderman McKenna says he hasn't any idea what Mr. Massee refers to in saying the company has been good to him. City Electrician Humphries admits that for a short time he got his lights free, but that Mr. Massee himself gave them to him.

HERR BEBEL IS DEAD; LEADER OF SOCIALISTS
Zurich Switzerland August 13—August Ferdinand Bebel German socialist leader died here today aged 73.

August Bebel probably was the best known of the modern socialist leaders. He joined the German labor movement in 1892 and continued to struggle for the working classes until his death. He was a member of the imperial parliament almost continuously from its formation in 1871. Not long after the first session he was sentenced to two years imprisonment for high treason and to another nine months for lese majeste.

The socialists of Germany regarded him as a brilliant leader and he was able to keep the ranks of the party united at nearly all times. He lived so long that he represented the imperial parliament by over 100 deputies and the strongest party there.

And Feet in Water Blisters. Would Fester and Itch. Perfect Cure by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Thomasville Ala.—"I suffered with eczema on my hands and feet two or three years. About eleven years ago I became troubled with an itching burning eruption which came on my hands and feet in little water blisters and in about a day or two when I would let the water out or wash it out using my hands then the places would fester and itch to beat the band. I could not do any work that was rough on my hands at all. It caused me great suffering and inconvenience. I tried everything that I know of or was told and never was really relieved until I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I would wash the parts in water with the Cuticura Soap and then when I dried them I would apply the Cuticura Ointment on the surface in the day time and at night I would get a soft piece of cloth and apply the Cuticura Ointment on my hands and feet it stay that way all night. A perfect cure was effected. No one will ever know how glad I was to get my hands and feet cured. (Signed) Geo. C. Crook Nov. 26, 12.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands they are also most valuable for every day use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain skin and hair health. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free with 32-p. book. Address post-card Cuticura Dept. T, Boston.

The President of the Senate, RANDOLPH ANDERSON, of Chatham, has long favored a Reformatory for girls in Georgia.

And since the question of taxation and finances has been settled, the only argument against the bill has been removed.

Of it, The Morning News of Savannah has rightly said: "It is hard to see how anybody can truthfully say that it would not profit the State to spend $30,000 in that way."

The Senate will doubtless pass the Bill as it was adopted by the House, without an opposing vote.

All Georgia will approve.

WELL DONE!

The general assembly of 1913 completes today its first session. In returning to their respective homes it must be a source of intense satisfaction for its members to feel that they have made a record unsurpassed by any general assembly since Georgia was redeemed from the grip of the carpetbaggers and the scoundrels.

This legislature was brought face to face with the settlement of the question as to whether or not Georgia should go forward or backward whether or not the state would keep abreast with the quick step of progress or by permitting its finances to become hopelessly involved would enter the dark realm of stagnation and worse than that repudiation.

It has answered the question in a way that gives assurance that the honor and the good name of Georgia shall not suffer more than that it has put the word on notice that Georgia will continue to go forward meeting every reasonable expectation and above all things holding her credit inviolate and inviolable—that she will care for her public institutions as befits the Empire State of the South.

The session which ends today has been characterized by freedom from trick legislation and by the transaction of the state's business in a reasonable, conservative and straightforward manner.

All credit therefore to Randolph Anderson, president of the senate, William H. Burwell, speaker of the house and to the members of both houses who have so resolutely done their duty as the representatives of the people.

If ever it has been truthfully said of any representative body it can be said of the members of this general assembly: Well done thou good and faithful servant.

THE GEORGIA SCHOOL TEACHER

At last the country school teacher sees things coming her way as interestingly presented in Mr. Gregg's cartoon today. Tax equalization will mean more money and more money will mean that Georgia will very soon catch up with her obligations. This will be good news for the rural school teachers of Georgia who up to this time have not received a penny for service rendered this year.

Teaching school in Georgia is an absorbing profession whether the schoolmaster be Miss Madam or Man. In other professions the time may seem to move slowly. Not so with the teacher. Her time is a while she is teaching. It is only while she is waiting for her pay that the months seem long and weary and dreary. In other professions there is small opportunity for vacation. The teacher has a long vacation with nothing to do but to wait for her pay.

The teacher's life is not dull while she is teaching. She becomes interested in the games of the children, the unfolding of young minds, her own methods and those of her colleagues. The only part of her life that is dull is while she is waiting for her pay.

School work is interesting because so much depends upon the teacher. Pupils usually like to work and do good work when the teacher is enthusiastic. It is so easy for the teacher to be enthusiastic in everything—except waiting for her pay.

Teaching may be a narrow and an exacting profession but the teacher can usually get her consent to sacrifice nearly every thing for the sake of the opportunity to train the citizens to be. There is one thing however that the teacher should not be called upon to sacrifice. That is, the hope that she will some day get her pay. With all its faults, the teacher generally loves her profession. She manages somehow to get along, meanwhile hoping, trusting and praying for a better day, when her state will treat her at least as well as it treats the ignorant day laborer, who is paid the minute the work is done.

But a better day has dawned for the rural school teachers of Georgia. It will just take a little time now to work out the problem. Tax equalization will prove effective if the law is given a fair trial and that it will be given such a trial goes without saying.

TAX COMMISSIONER J. C. HART

If anything else were needed to add force and effect to the new state tax equalization law the tender by Governor Slaton of the position of state tax commissioner to ex-Attorney General John C. Hart, and his acceptance will be the last word.

Under the new law the governor is directed to appoint a state tax commissioner who shall have his office at the capitol in connection with that of the comptroller general and whose duty shall be to establish a system of uniform taxation between the various counties of the state so that the same basis of taxation shall apply alike to every property owner and every county in the state. Anything less than that does the state an injustice, and no honest man can object to this as a just principle applying to the levy of all taxes.

It is fortunate indeed that the enforcement of the new law is in a large measure to depend upon such a man as John C. Hart. No man in the state is held in higher esteem. Duty is his watchword and his ability is recognized throughout the length and breadth of the state.

As attorney general of the state for several terms he served under the administrations of what may be termed both of the factions which have at one time and another been ascendant in Georgia during the past ten years. No better tribute can be paid him than to say that he held the confidence and esteem of both. No attorney general of Georgia ever made a better record, just as no judge of Georgia ever made a more spotless record than he did during his long service on the superior court bench of his home circuit.

Much has been said during the past year or so of the weakness of the frailty and the injustice of the tax system which has hitherto prevailed in Georgia and which threatened to hopelessly involve the state. Ladder that system even the returns of actual acres were each year growing less and less and as Governor Slaton strikingly put it at the present rate it will not be long before Georgia is wiped off the map.

In a public address several years ago Attorney General Hart fitly characterized this as Georgia's pass under the hat system of taxation under which practically every property owner was permitted to make returns without reason justice or the thought of being subjected to embarrassing questions. This expression Georgia's pass around the hat system became the slogan of the campaign for tax equalization. Little did the man who originated it dream that he would be called upon to straighten out the system and to put it upon a basis where every taxpayer would be expected to put his contribution into the hat on a basis of exact equality everyone being called upon to return property values in the same proportion whether it be large or small.

That is now the duty of what will soon be the new tax commissioner—John C. Hart of Greene county—and there is not a man in all Georgia who could have been chosen to perform this delicate task with a more widespread feeling of public confidence that his work would be well done.

We congratulate the governor who congratulated the new tax commissioner who has made such a thing possible and above all we congratulate the state which is to be the beneficiary of the new square deal in tax matters.

COTTON, CORN AND CATTLE.

Yesterday in Cuthbert Vice President I. P. Hillier of the American National Ball Mosaic delivered a notable address before the State Agricultural Association on the subject of cattle raising in Georgia. Mr. Hillier's address is exactly in line with the gospel of thrift economy and common sense that The Constitution has been preaching for years and we are glad of the opportunity to present elsewhere in this issue extended extracts from this real, remarkable address.

It is a well known fact among the progressive farmers of the state that Mr. Hillier has for several years been making a special and careful study of the cattle industry. He was therefore gladly heard and his observations will be gladly read.

As Mr. Hillier points out the big ranches of the west have had their day. The vast prairies have been cut up into smaller tracts. Instead of 10,000 acres under an endless fence controlled by some cattle king there are now small farms and pastures owned by many individuals in the matter of space then the Georgia cattle raiser stands today on an equal footing with the rest.

In the west men have piled up vast fortunes raising cattle notwithstanding unfavorable climatic conditions and other drawbacks. It was no uncommon thing a few years ago when ranches were extensive and the herds were too large to be properly protected, for hundreds and even thousands of cattle in a single bunch to freeze to death. In periods of drouth herds had often to be driven hundreds of miles to find water and pasturage, many of them perishing along the way. It was not an unusual thing for drinking water for the cattle to be shipped by rail from some distant stream. Under normal conditions the cattle could find green pasturage only six months in the year. And yet, with all the obstacles, the westerner made money and stacks of it. How? Simply by making the people of Georgia, and other states, who bought beef, pay the freight on foodstuffs and drinking water, and by fixing the price of the beef, that was sold and eaten, high enough to cover both it and that which perished on the sultry plains.

In the matter of cattle-raising, Georgia has, to some extent, had her day all along—if she had only realized it. The present time, in view of the developments and limitations in the west as indicated by Mr. Hillier, is distinctly Georgia's day, and the day for the whole of our southeastern section to give more attention to the cattle industry.

Georgia has the climate. Cattle can graze here eight or nine months in the year. Georgia has the cotton the seeds and hulls of which are unsurpassed for producing milk and butter. Georgia has the corn and other grain which are flesh producers. With a silo the Georgia farmer can winter his cattle on practically what would otherwise go to waste.

As Mr. Hillier points out Georgia has the climate the soil the water—everything that is needed for cattle-raising except determination on the part of many of the farmers to start something besides cotton. King Cotton sounds pretty in fact in many instances it has become a cruel tyrant before whom some of the best blood of the south kneels in abject slavery.

One farmer says: I would be willing to engage in cattle raising if I could have a herd of twelve hundred. That same man does not decline to raise three or four hales of cotton because he can't raise three thousand.

In addition to the feeling and the fact of independence that comes to a man who is sought after because he has a bunch of beef cattle to sell think of the downright fun of eating candy and at the same time keeping it. The gate bellum planter raised cotton to make money to buy negroes to make more cotton to get more money to buy more negroes etc. The Georgia farmer of today may grow cotton and corn to make money to buy cattle to enrich the land to make more cotton and corn to get more money to buy more cattle to make the land richer and so on.

Let us call the cattle home and call the cattle home across the hills and valleys of Georgia. Then instead of sitting with open mouths and saying to the world: Please feed me! we can say: Here let me hold your purse while you eat.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT WASON, The Famous Prose Poet

KILLING THINGS

And I was killed in our neighborhood this morning and there was quite an excitement for a while. remarked the retired merchant I had the animal fifteen years and he was three tons or break at it and I'm all tick red out. I'm glad a man ever called up to chat mad dogs every day.

He isn't alluded upon to chase mad dogs or to kill the hulk or to be willing to let it be that the dog went mad. A hundred percent of the pups are cases of hydrophobia never heard of the disease and wouldn't recognize it if they met it in the road. Things have come to such a pass that if a dog comes downtown chewing a cake of soap somebody sees the animal and he comes back to the dog and then all the leading business men and prominent citizens let everything else slide and go hot footing after the bow wow throw up building material at the unfortunate beast until it is dead.

And then the leading business men and prominent citizens let everything else slide and go hot footing after the bow wow throw up building material at the unfortunate beast until it is dead.

It beats thunder how fond we are of killing things. I remember when there was a convention of the dunder here. The room was swarming with men of dignified appearance who had bulging brows and who had more erudition salted down than you could measure with a tape-line. Most of them wore black frock coats and silk hats and the president of the convention was a man of 10,000 of them were sitting out in front of the hotel one evening when a fool wolf rushed itself into town and came kicking up the main street with a crowd of boys after it. That was the worst I saw of wolf ever saw. I'd just ought to have seen the president jump down off the veranda and go galloping after the wolf. The street was full of long black coat tails and they stood out so straight you could have played checkers on them.

The leading business men left their trade palaces as they drove to do when there was a chance to kill anything and every man, citizen in town with the exception of myself was in the wrath. They got the dog, one coyote cornered in an alley and slugged him to death with bricks and the president of a big university, one drag the remains by the tail, took to the hills and he is dead as ground and happy as though he had just been appointed archbishop of Canterbury.

Out in the country the bugs and mice and loppers and thumps are eating up the crops as fast as the dogs are farmers can raise them and it is all because the horny headed husbandmen have been killing off the natural enemies of such pests ever since they went into business. The ordinary farmer will leave his team and waste half a day to kill a snake and he doesn't care a cent what kind of a snake it is. There's some sense in killing such reptiles as rattlesnakes and copperheads for they make a practice of injecting deadly drugs into strangers whenever opportunity offers. I don't believe in the conservation of rattlesnakes, but I do hold that the harmless snakes which try to make the world brighter and better should be protected.

The farmer never hunt a better friend than the bullsnake which is a moral and law abiding serpent. It reaches a length of 7 or 8 feet and its appetite is 15 feet long and drags on the ground behind it. There never was a bullsnake that had enough to eat. And the blamed rattle doesn't do a thing but keep for the field mice and gophers and things which they eat. The natural enemies of such pests ever since they went into business. Before High Gates.

One may not sing—and surely never say. How men trick men until the Judgment Day. How with psalm singing and with lifted eyes. Some pose as saints descended from the skies.

One such God knew—or rather, to his shame. An all-wise angel told to God his name. God saw him standing at a temple gate. And read his heart and uttered one word—Wait.

Then came a day he stood God's gates before. After long tramping on the helpless poor. He thought to enter in great strength of grace—Dark fell the night. He never saw God's face.

But the black burden of his soul laid bare. Was read in fire by all pilgrims there. A voice accented—never word of blame. Lashed through eternity by his own shame!

The story which suggested to Mr. Whittier his ballad of Barbara Fritchie came to him from Mrs. Emma U. N. Southworth of Frederick, Md. The well known novelist whose acquaintance he made while he was corresponding editor of The National Era. I know your exact address as I have a message to deliver to you. You need only put your address in the enclosed envelope.

As soon as she obtained the address she sent the following narrative to Whittier and the ballad founded upon it was written within a fortnight after the receipt of the letter in Amherst.

Macbeth in the Movies. (From The Indianapolis News) With the castle of Hildelberg as a prominent feature in the scenery of Macbeth it will represent the Scottish strong hold in which good King Duncan was murdered and from its heights the bloody usurper saw the moving woods of Dunsmuir two English actors Arthur Bourchier and Violet Van Brugh assisted by a German company will act Macbeth for a film syndicate. It is said that for their part of the two English actors will receive $5,000 a week and one week will probably terminate the engagement. On his return to England Mr. Bourchier will impersonate Dr. Samuel Johnson the great lexicographer, for another film company. He will visit Lichfield the Cheshire Cheese and other haunts in London made famous by their connection with the doctor.

The World's Mysteries

WAS WHITTIER IMPOSED UPON?

No American poem of incident had caused more discussion than Whittier's 'Barbara Fritchie.' After the years of investigation it has now come pretty generally to be believed that while there is no foundation for the story as related and embellished by the poet, yet Whittier was no doubt sincere in his belief in the incident when he penned his verses. Some years ago, shortly before the poet's death in 'The Century Magazine' in discussing the poem made the remark that the story will perhaps live as Mr. Whittier has boasted, until it gets beyond the reach of correction. To this Mr. Whittier replied in a note to the editor of the magazine.

Those who know me will bear witness that I am not in the habit of boasting of anything whatever least of all of congratulating myself upon a doubtful statement outliving the possibility of correction. I certainly made no boast of the kind imputed to me in the poem of Barbara Fritchie which was written in good faith. The story was no invention of mine. It came to me from sources which I regarded as entirely reliable.

The incident of Barbara Fritchie and the flag was published in newspapers and had gained public credence in Washington and Maryland before my poem was written. I had no reason to doubt its accuracy then and I am still constrained to believe that it had foundation in fact. If I thought otherwise I should not hesitate to express it. I have no pride in authorship to interfere with my allegiance to truth.

Where did Whittier get his facts? It has been proven beyond a doubt since his death that Stonewall Jackson and his rebel horde as the poet styles them never passed Barbara's home consequently he could not have requested his regiment to halt to fire and to conclude.

The story which suggested to Mr. Whittier his ballad of Barbara Fritchie came to him from Mrs. Emma U. N. Southworth of Frederick, Md. The well known novelist whose acquaintance he made while he was corresponding editor of The National Era. TEMPTATION.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

No one knows how he can conduct himself in emergencies until emergencies come. But he can be very sure that if he schools himself through constant service of a useful nature that Temptation can have small power over him.

The best way to avoid Temptation is not to hunt for it. We are all better informed as to our strength than as to our weaknesses. Temptation always goes straight to the weak points of a character.

The best way to avoid Temptation is not to hunt for it. But it is a weak thing to run away from Temptation. If you stumble into it or if it comes to you unawares and unannounced. At such times face it and finish it. Refuse to have anything to do with it. For Temptation is like useless people—it gets tired of you and leaves you if you refuse to entertain it.

The best way to avoid Temptation is not to hunt for it. Some people never get over their terrible temptations. As a matter of fact they carry the images of their experiences with them so that the after effects of temptations become about as harmful as though they had yielded to Temptation in the first place. Remember this—every time you conquer Temptation you accumulate strength and this new strength acquired added to the strength you already have makes you a stronger man or woman.

Ben and Doctor Samuel.

Ben Jonson dominated his literary circle about as effectively as Dr. Samuel Johnson dominated his. Alfred Noyes makes Ben the central figure in his Tales of the Mermaid Tavern.

The modern poet follows history and literary annals closely. The Will Shake Spire living men knew was a secondary light to the Big Ben. Ben Jonson was like Samuel Johnson in physical makeup and in the brow beating faculty. The Jonson who dropped his 'A' weighed twenty stone as he wrote to one of his patrons. Dr. Samuel was almost as heavy. It is curious to consider the ebullient prayerful Dr. Johnson as a first class bachelors man. But the Big Ben they also knew as Ben Jonson was like Samuel Johnson in physical makeup and in the brow beating faculty. The Jonson who dropped his 'A' weighed twenty stone as he wrote to one of his patrons. Dr. Samuel was almost as heavy. It is curious to consider the ebullient prayerful Dr. Johnson as a first class bachelors man.

Both Ben Jonson and Sam Johnson were prodigiously learned both were classical in their literary likings though Ben at least, inspired innovations in others and was swept into innovations by the spirit of his time.

The Pleasures of Age

(From The Baltimore Sun)

A contemporary recalls the fact that Fontenelle adjudged his best years to be those between the ages of 50 and 60 and that Ben Jonson agreed with him in placing the pleasures of age far higher than those of youth.

It all depends. The pleasures of youth are those of the body. The pleasures of age are those of the spirit. If the spirit is dwarfed and stunted in youth and middle life it will be incapable of furnishing pleasure later on. It must be kept alive and healthy. One of the ways of doing this is by cultivating the open mind. Another is by enlarging one's sympathies. A third is by mounting a hobby preferably one with an artistic or altruistic bent.

The man who can grow old as gracefully as William Dean Howells or Cardinal Gibbons or James Bryce may very well find his later days better than the first. For them age is no more a larva pleasure than a usefulness.

The cheering news is that we'll have a great navy by and by. Since they were threatened by the bomb-carrying aeroplanes all the navies of the world are looking up.

Congressmen should order their winter coal now. It will be too late to get the discount when the season is ended.

held from an attic window by Mrs. Barbara Fritchie a widow lady aged 97 years. Such was the story that went the round of the Washington papers last September. Some time afterwards from friends who were in Frederick at the time I heard the whole story. It was the story of a woman as heroic as the old hero. It seemed as much to belong to you as a book picked up with your autograph in the fly leaf.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By CLAUDE FITCH, Author of 'At Good Old Dinwiddie'

(Copyright 1913 for The Constitution) A women's club is an organization formed for the purpose of electing a president and an executive board.

Owing to the well known gentleness and peacefulness of women they have always been able to accomplish this without the use of firearms.

After the president of a women's club has been elected and the members will all speak to each other again there is no excitement to speak of for another year and the members have to amuse themselves in various ways. This they usually do by discussing various topics of the day.

These include: The Mission of Andrea del Sarto. Did Turner Use the Turngten Lighting System? Our Duty Towards Pestalozzi. The Hypothesis of the Quarter Note. The Japanese Barbbery in Land scape Garden. Thermal Units in Oiled Coke. The Relation of Pure Milk to Our National Census. Carbo Hydrates in Boiled Beets. The Mural Carvings of Cambodia.

The Plea and Menace of the House Fly. Montessori Method and Sex Hygiene. After a club woman has amused herself for a few years between elections and these topics she is able to pick up an ordinary encyclopedia and call it down in masterful tones.

While the club woman in America is discussing these things her husband who is down in the busy mart of the city makes a determined effort to keep ahead of the dress makers bill is discussing with his fellow workers the following lines of research.

The decadence of Wagner and Laflotte. Will Frie preferred ever reach par? Cool ink progress of Sine Gh. Hiphball. Is pressing a worse fault than flouting? Will Jack Johnson ever come back? And who shot first in the last game?

America is now full of homes in which the wives talk to their husbands out of the knowledge gathered in their club discussions and the said husbands unless they are able to conceal a pocket dictionary on their knees are compelled to go downtown to get translations of the said conversations. With the husbands and wives of the land pursuing totally different lines of research women's suffrage will on us a distinct boon. It will make it a subject which can be discussed by the subjects of the family.

"Said husbands are compelled to go downtown to get translations of said conversations"

The Lull of Running Water

It has often been asked why it is that the sound of running water is so soothing to the mind. The answer is that the mothers go much farther than this and make their babies sleep by letting a small stream of water flow directly over their little heads.

An example of this was noted a while ago when a new road was being built and many mothers were employed in the work. There were little grooves or resting places along the road and here were numbers of babies. Each resting place was selected because of a spring near at hand. The babies were placed with their heads on a pillow of earth, and a stream of water directed against the top of the infant's head, and a trough was made for this water to run off.

The cheering news is that we'll have a great navy by and by. Since they were threatened by the bomb-carrying aeroplanes all the navies of the world are looking up.

Congressmen should order their winter coal now. It will be too late to get the discount when the season is ended.

BARBECUE DRAWS CROWD YESTERDAY

Many Merchants Registered Wednesday and Huge Crowd Attended Barbecue—There Will Be Many More Friday.

At Ponce de Leon yesterday afternoon there were between fifteen and sixteen hundred convention delegates who partook of the good things to eat. All records for crowds at a convention were broken, and it kept the official waiters busy all the time seeing that everybody had all they wanted to eat. Fourteen hundred pounds of meat were cooked and untold stocks of the trimmings disappeared in that magic way that such things do disappear on these occasions.

The whole thing went off in the top style, and everyone left with that more than satisfied and perfectly happy look which becomes a contended being.

The committee which had charge was composed of J. R. Little, chairman, R. E. Rarbo, W. O. Starnes, W. H. Percy, E. M. Hudson, A. M. Wilkins and C. F. Barnwell.

Today will be devoted to the individual entertainment of the guests by the various clubs and then Friday will be distinguished on account of the ball game, Atlanta v. Chattanooga, which the merchants will attend in a body.

Saturday is Au Revoir day, and then there is a little gap until next February, when the convention convenes again, and once more the good times come around.

There was a big registration yesterday, and the number of merchants who have come in for the second week bids fair to go beyond the first week figures by a considerable margin.

CHILE CON CARNE

J. K. Hambo was a busy man yesterday afternoon. His services at the barbecue could not have been dispensed with. But you ought to have seen Jim Little. Both of them were more than busy.

Percy W. Harris, with the A. M. Robinson company, left yesterday afternoon for his territory in South Carolina. Before going he coined a new expression. Says he, "The man who can't come back was never a crackerjack."

E. G. Thomas, of the Rice & Hutchins Co. of Atlanta, is another man who has been busy. "We have had a fair share of the business," says he, "and it has kept us on the bump. The house has been filled with merchants every day and nearly all were buyers."

The Webb & Vary Co. have opened a new printing shop on W. Alabama street. They state that business is starting with a rush and that they have received many orders from the visiting merchants.

Some of the buyers with the Ward-Truitt company this week were: Avery & Whitehead, Shawmut, Ala.; W. S. Kelley, Marietta, Ga.; Griffin Hill Co., Winder, Ga.; O. E. Upshaw & Co., Loganville, Ga.; W. E. Burson, Cumming, Ga.; A. E. Caswell, Ropersville, Ga.; W. B. Candler, Villa Rica, Ga.; Allen Brown, Edwardsville, Ala.; J. T. Cole, Lamar, Ala.; Stewart Bros., Douglasville, Ga.; S. T. Haynes, Villa Rica, Ga.; W. C. Wright, Monroe, Ga.; J. V. Chinn, Griffin, Ga.; and Haygoos Bros. & Co., Alpharetta, Ga.

The Kutz Millinery company are enjoying good trade this season and their house has been full of buyers this week on account of the fall opening.

"Barbecue Touches Right Spot For Me"---Says Si

Si Hawkins Has Time of His Life at Barbecue, and Declares That He Is Already Looking Forward to Next Convention—Sorry He didn't Take Basket.

Dear Folks: I tolt th' edditur las' nite as how I figgered 'twernt no use tellin' youall about the barbecue, cause wuz shore were all there. Gosh, darn, but that wuz a crowd fer sartin'. I hope to die if I ever tho't as how I wud ever live to see as many people in a bunch at one time. And when I do die, I reckon I'll have to go to th' warm place of I want to find as many bein' as how Mirandy sees the 'forty of the world is wicked. But I reckon folks as is reel happy can't be so all fired wicked and that shore wuz a happy bunch at Ponce de Leon. I overheard Mister Lee Barnes sayin' as how he had figgered on a thousand pound of meat and as how the butcher's boy had brot fourteen hundred pound. But he sees that every pound wuz eaten and so he reckons the boy nos more ar- bout the way folks eats than he does, or at least about the kind er crowds they zits at these here ones. How- somever I reckon every one gits all they wants to eat and I shore does no as everyone got all they wants to drink. Gosh, but it makes me luff when I thinks of the goldenred good time I did have.

Yestiddy mornin' I goes round and buys a bunch of things. I wants fer th' store. They wuz shoes, dry goods, notions, hats, umbrellys, plows, wackins, candy and sitch like—all sorts of things. I aim to mak my place into a department store and seems yew calnt git too many diffrent things into one of these yer places. If they sent me some I'll run a number to store at the old smitty, down th' road a piece.

Tomorry I aim to buy some more things and a present er two fer Mirandy. Then I'm going to stay over Friday and see one of these here ball games I hear so much about. I shore do hope Atlanta wins, an' I aim to holler fer 'em jes as loud as my whisksers will let me.

So long fer this time,
Affectionately yours,
SI HAWKINS.

Clean Sweep in Slagville-Crackers Home Today

With Carl Thompson Hurling, Crackers Made It "3-in-Row"; Prough's Winning Streak Goes

By Reuben A. Lewis
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 13.—(Special)—Sweeping the Atlanta Motorcrackers home today, the Slagville-Crackers made it a "3-in-Row" by winning their third straight game. Carl Thompson, a proverbial cask of gunpowder, turned and smote his former mate upon the hip clearly outpitching the wonderful pitcher to capture his eleventh straight victory.

Thompson held the Barons to two runs while Prough was batted for three. But despite the heavy hitting from the victors, the Slagville-Crackers made it a "3-in-Row" by winning their third straight game. Crackers Home From Trip, Close Season at Poncey; 2 With Lookouts Today

Bill Smith and his triumphant Crackers return home today from one of their former trips to an Atlanta team has ever taken more successful even in the class of ball played, than in percentage of victories won, and in the last named they did better than even the most ardent admirer hoped for.

The Crackers did not play a single ball game on the entire trip. They played consistent day in and day out ball and it is this feature that is being a factor in the present success of the coming home stay.

Playing consistently the Crackers are a formidable aggregation for any team to handle. Playing consistently on the home grounds with the loyal rooters encouraging them, they are going to be a factor in this present success as you are a foot high.

Returning home today, they have a stretch of twenty six consecutive games on their home field, playing every day but Sunday. The season ends September 6. They are only a short distance behind the two leaders, and expect to close the gap on the present day.

The Chattanooga Lookouts, with several new faces since their last appearance locally will be the opponents of the Crackers today, the series being ushered in with a double bill this afternoon the first contest starting promptly at 2:15 o'clock single games Friday and Saturday.

Bill Eberfeld will be seen in the outfield. If Bert King has returned to the team from his wife's bedside he will be in right if not the kid will play center. Williams, who played poorly when the Lookouts were here before, is expected to be in the lineup.

Dec Walsh whom Atlantans saw here last as a member of the Mobile Gulls is coveting a short Graff will be a newcomer too. He is playing the hot corner. Pat Graham, erstwhile Cracker is helping Gabby Street with the catching.

Known formerly of Memphis Grimes and Howell newcomers are the acquisitions to the hurling crew since the men of Eberfeld were here before.

Voss may debut today. The Crackers will also introduce some new faces. John Voss the former Muller star whom Atlantans saw work against Tech at the flats will probably make his debut in the second game today.

Another newcomer will be sent to Jacinto Calvo to Cuba who will be held down in the right field berth in place of Chit. Holtz who grand fielder and hard worker that he is is entirely too weak at the bat to play in the Cracker's in the desperate fight that they must make.

Conzelman and Chapman will probably be the Cracker's battery in the first game. Voss and Dunn in the second. Eberfeld's batteries are not known.

Every team in the league but Nashville follows the Lookouts to Poncey for a series of games including the games with the Lookouts there will be twenty six games on the home grounds.

Here is the home schedule: August 14, 15, 16—Chattanooga; August 18, 19, 20—Birmingham; August 21, 22, 23—Montgomery; August 25, 26, 27—Memphis; August 29, 30, 31—New Orleans; September 1, 2—Mobile; September 3, 4, 5—Chattanooga.

Chris Holtz, the Crackers right fielder was given his outright release last night. Jacinto Calvo, late of Havana, Cuba, will be signed up today to take his place.

WHITE-WHITNEY BOUT FAILS LEE STOPS KID YOUNG TO COME UP TO EXPECTATIONS

By Dick Jerolmon.
White Whitney of Chicago, failed to show that he is a vaunted wallow against Frank Whitney at the Auditorium last night winning only by a margin that was not wide.
White Whitney had difficulty in landing that his right hand cross of his and when it did land the real force had little effect on Whitney's guard. He shot his straight left in on several occasions but the tremendous kick that it possessed against Abel was not in evidence.
Whitney as in every bout he has fought at Atlanta never broke ground. He kept coming in for the fight when it looked like he was at a point always springing a rally that made his supporters wild.
White was not the White against Whitney that he was against Abel. He had his speed but it was a little. The punch was not there. And if the truth were only known he was a very good fighter. He was indeed at the end of the tenth round.

White Looked Spent
He was entitled to the deal. We are not begrudging him that. But as stated before his margin was slight. And he has no one to blame but himself. He was not in the condition he was when he met Abel.
White plainly tired in the seventh round and again in the eighth and when the night ended he heaved a long sigh of relief. I am sure that he will believe that he would not last the night.

Little Damage Done
White drew a little bit early in the fight from Whitney's side. It was of course the usual thing but his there was a real damage line on either side and it was still visible from the time the fight was over. White's left eye was a little red and the lighter taps as if these piled up the

WHITE SOX BUY BARON BATTERY

Birmingham, Ala. August 13.—(Special.)—The star Birmingham battery, Prough and Mayer has been secured by the Chicago American club. Exer-cising an optional agreement, Walter Mayer the young Baron catcher was retained for $1,500.
When Chicago placed Mayer with the Baron club a blanket option was exacted for the choice of a player for $2,000. Prough's wonderful pitching attracted the attention of the White Sox and he was chosen to replace the late Prough. Prough has a record of twenty victories and five defeats. Prough will gain his third trial in the majors. Previously Pittsburg and Cincinnati have tried out the elongated pitcher and have returned him to the minors.
However it is believed that he will stick. Prough has allowed less than two runs a game and has walked less than two runners. Mayer has started with Birmingham since his entrance into the Sox. He seems to be about the best in the league.
It is not known whether the players will report at the close of the season or next spring.

That introduction of added reforms was forecasted in a statement issued by the department today, calling attention to the fact that the new specifications governing the increased weight and reduced postage in the parcel post system would go into effect Friday. The nature of the added reforms contemplated is not known.
The banking by mail feature of the postal savings banks system also will go into effect Friday.

RURAL CREDITS TO BE PROVIDED

But President Wilson Opposes Incorporating Them in Pending Currency Bill. Promise Special Legislation.
Washington, August 13.—President Wilson issued a statement before the Senate House caucus regarding consideration of the administration currency bill today announcing that he believed it not advisable to amend the measure at present with provisions for rural credits but to postpone the shape of banking reform until the December session when the government commission now studying the subject in Europe will have reported.
Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, chairman of the caucus, conferred with the president and was acquainted with the contents of the statement through which it was hoped to persuade so-called insurgent democrats to abandon their fight for agricultural currency.
President Wilson's Statement.
The president said:
"Again and again during the discussion of the currency bill it has been urged that special provisions should be made in it for the facilitation of such credits as the farmers of the country most stand in need of—agricultural credits as distinguished from ordinary commercial and industrial credits.
Such proposals were not adopted because such credits could only be perfectly provided for in such a measure. The scope and character of the bill its immediate and chief purpose could not be made to reach as far as the special interests of the farmers' requirement.
Special machinery and a distinct system of banking must be provided for rural credits are to be successfully and advantageously supplied. A government commission is now in Europe studying the interesting and highly successful methods which have been employed in several countries of the world and its report will be made to Congress at the close of the winter. It is confidently to be expected that the Congress will at that session act upon the recommendations of the report and establish a complete and adequate system of rural credits. There is no subject more important to the welfare of the industrial development of the United States than there is no reform in which I would myself feel that a greater honor or privilege would be conferred upon me than to feel that it was a service to the whole country of the first magnitude and significance. It should have accompanied the currency bill with the reform of our banking and currency system if we had been ready to act wisely and with full knowledge of what we were about."
Farmers Must Be Aided
There has been too little federal legislation framed to serve the farmer directly and with a deliberate adjustment to his real needs. We long ago fell into the habit of regarding the farmers of America enjoyed such an immense natural advantage over the farmers of the rest of the world were so intelligent and sagacious that what handicaps they carried on their what disadvantage whether of the law or of natural circumstances they labored under they had the courage to fail to remove them when we did see what they were.
Our farmers must have means afforded them for handling their business needs easily and inexpensively. They should be furnished these facilities before their enterprises languish not afterwards.
And they will be. This is our next task and duty. Not only is a government commission set out to report, which is charged with applying the progress of the best methods yet employed in this matter but the department of agriculture has also undertaken a series and systematic study of the whole problem of rural credits. The Congress and executive work up to gether will certainly afford the needed machinery of relief and provide to the people of the countryside and that very soon.

HART WILL BE NAMED TAX COMMISSIONER

from Judge Hart a reply to the effect that if his services could be made useful to the state in this connection he felt that he had no right to turn down the governor's command.
The offer came as a great surprise to Judge Hart, who knew nothing whatever about it. On being asked about it last night, Governor Slaton said:
"I made up my mind at once that there was one man above all others in Georgia who was the man for this place. I communicated with Judge Hart to ask him if he would accept it. I am just in receipt of information from him to the effect that he will will therefore appoint him to the position with full confidence that he will render the state just as good service in this connection as he rendered it as judge and as attorney general. I am highly gratified that such a man as Judge Hart is to become associated with my administration in the enforcement of this law and I am sure that my pleasure expresses what will be the universal verdict of the state on his appointment."
His Duties
The law in providing for a state tax commissioner and prescribing his duties says:
"Sec 11. The office of state tax commissioner or is hereby created. He shall be appointed by the governor and with the approval of the Senate shall hold office for and during the term of six years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. The said state tax commissioner shall be commissioned by the governor and before entering upon the discharge of his duties shall take and subscribe before the governor the following oath: 'I, _____ do hereby swear that I will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of the office and to faithfully and impartially equalize the tax valuation of the several counties of the state. The state tax commissioner shall be paid a salary of $2,500 per annum. He shall have his office at the state capitol building and shall be subject to the control and supervision of the comptroller general and shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office and in addition to the duties imposed upon him by this act he shall also act as assistant to the comptroller general. He shall be provided with a clerk at a salary of not over $1,500 per annum and a stenographer at a salary of not over $500 per annum. The compensation of said state tax commissioner shall be paid from the state treasury out of funds not otherwise appropriated and shall be hereafter included and provided for in the annual appropriation bill with the other expenses of the state government."
The state tax commissioner shall investigate all matters of taxation and recommend to the general assembly through the comptroller general from time to time such changes and alterations in the tax laws of the state as in his judgment he may deem best to bring about a more perfect and adequate and thorough system of taxation and revision of property for state and county purposes.
Sec 12. It shall be the duty of the state tax commissioner to carefully examine the tax digest of the several counties of this state filed in the office of the comptroller general and to compare said digest for the purpose of ascertaining whether the tax valuation of the various classes of property as made in the respective counties of the state is reasonably and fairly equalized between the respective counties. It is the purpose and intent of this act to bring about as far as practicable an equality throughout the state of the values of the various classes of property subject to be taxed so that the values fixed in one county shall not be out of due proportion to the values fixed in other counties on the same classes of property. If it shall appear to said commissioner that in any one or more of the counties of this state the taxable values fixed upon any one or more classes of property are not reasonably and fairly equalized to the values fixed upon the same classes of property in other counties the said commissioner shall investigate the same and by adding a fixed percentage to the county valuation if he shall deem the county valuation to be too low or by deducting a fixed percentage from the county valuation if he shall deem the county valuation to be too high as may appear to be just and right between the counties fixed by said state tax commissioner and the comptroller general shall thereupon return to said county its tax digest for correction accordingly.
Sec 14. That upon the giving of any such notice by the state tax commissioner of changes or corrections to be made in the county tax digest it shall be the duty of the chairman of the county board of tax assessment of property affected by such changes or corrections to meet by call immediately a meeting of the county board and at said meeting the said county board shall correct the county valuation upon the classes or classes of property specified by the state tax commissioner, by applying uniformly to the specified class or classes of property the fixed per centum of increase or decrease specified by said commissioner and by raising or lowering all the individual returns of all the taxpayers of the county upon the specified class or classes of property accordingly."

Lumber deserves consideration first, just as lumber of quality; second, as lumber with a reputation; third, as lumber with assured delivery. This isn't advertising talk. It is just the plain, old-fashioned, unvarnished truth—and almost everybody that knows anything about lumber will tell you so.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES

FROM DAY TO DAY
All the News of Real Estate Building.

Dr. E. L. Connolly, who was reported several days ago about to construct a sixteen-story building on his site at the southeast corner of Whitehall and Alabama streets again characterized such a report as almost improbable as stated in The Constitution Tuesday morning.

Someone wanted to draw up a picture of a building, said Dr. Connolly, and I told him to go ahead after much solicitation on his part. But as for any definite action on my part being taken, there is none and should there be it will be something very different.

Full Renting Season Begins
The full rental season will soon open. A number of agents have begun listing various desirable properties, and by the first of September there should be a well defined demand for houses which seem to be most desired are the modern bungalows. Atlanta probably has more of these than any city of its size in the country and agents say that there is a demand for them in renting them rarely ever any possible in the future. On the contrary, there seems to be a steady demand.

One reason for this is the fact that a bungalow usually is more attractive than a dwelling of similar price, and appeals directly to the person who desires an attractive home place for a small investment.

The Southern Money Market.
At various times during the summer there has appeared to be a slight stringency in the southern money market but this seems to have passed. There are any number of firms in the city today which are placing money out at 8 per cent on unproved real estate. Several firms representing large eastern insurance companies are placing such loans daily.

This loosening of the local market is no doubt a result of the fact that a number of the north today Harris C. White, president of the Atlanta real estate board who recently returned from the realty convention at Memphis, Tenn. He found that money was a great deal easier to get in that section of the country for some time past and that this would no doubt have direct effect on the local market.

Meeting of Realty Board
It is thought that the meeting of the realty board held at the Ansley at 12:30 p. m. will be more largely attended than any of the past few months since all of the delegates to the national convention will be present, and will tell of new kinks in the business gained by looking from the northern viewpoint. The dinner will be held in the Georgia pine room.

Washington Street Sale.
The Burnett Realty company has sold for Mrs. A. A. Brown to a lot of two and a half story brick apartment house at 147 and 147 1/2 Washington street for a consideration of $18,000. The lot is 60x150 feet.

Mrs. Brown was given in part payment a lot on the east side of Whitehall street, 100 feet wide and 150 feet deep, for a consideration of $10,000. The value of this property was not made known.

Sale on Cain Street
Crawford Maddox of the Smith & Ewing agency has sold to J. R. Smith for L. C. Durham two small dwellings on a lot 10x150 feet at 96 East Cain street, for a consideration of $6,000, or $150 per front foot.

Peachtree Lease
W. J. Govan has transferred to Peachtree the lease held on 19 Peachtree street opposite the Fourth National bank which has four and one-half years yet to run.

This lease embraces the two-story building the lower floor now being occupied by Mr. Govan and the upper floor by Mr. May.

Sale on Capitol Avenue.
Martin Mason purchased from L. H. Cook a dwelling at the southeast corner of Capitol avenue and Woodward avenue. The lot is 40x150 feet. The consideration was not named.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS.

Reports that Mrs. Sulzer would give out a statement setting forth the details of her alleged use of Governor Sulzer's campaign checks for stock speculation, unknown to the governor, did not materialize today. Friends intimated that in view of the fact that Mrs. Sulzer probably will be called as a witness for the defense at the trial what she may have to say will be reserved until she takes the witness stand.

It was said her testimony will go far toward clearing the governor of the charges of misuse of campaign funds for stock speculation. Mrs. Sulzer was in the care of physicians tonight and was said to be in a complete state of collapse from the strain to which she has been subjected.

Mrs. Sulzer's condition became so serious tonight that Governor Sulzer wired to New York for a specialist in nervous diseases. The governor then told his advisers, it was said by those who claimed to have knowledge of what transpired at the night conference, that under no circumstances would he allow Mrs. Sulzer to testify at the trial. It was said on the other hand, that Mrs. Sulzer insisted, hysterically, that she be allowed to testify in her husband's behalf.

Mrs. Sulzer a Fighter. Mrs. Sulzer, who was Miss Clara Rodolph of Philadelphia, married Sulzer when a congressman, on July 7, 1908. They have two children. She has been vitally interested in politics and has accompanied him on his campaigns. She is a determined, resolute woman, and has often lauded her husband's career.

"He's ready to fight at the drop of the hat," she was quoted as saying not long ago, "and he'll drop the hat himself. As long as he fights," she added, "I'll fight, too—and then some."

After an examination of her witness stand in her husband's behalf before the court of impeachment, tell her story in detail and submit to examination by hostile lawyers or take the stand in her own behalf, she will prove her case, the governor's friends believe. Either her reputation or her husband's, these friends fear, must suffer. They say she will take the stand if she has no other choice. They add that she besought the governor a week ago to permit her to tell her story to the public.

Sulzer to Keep Silent. Silence will be the policy of the governor until he appears at the bar of the court of impeachment.

"Council for Governor Sulzer," said Sulzer tonight, "have no desire to be interviewed or to give interviews in the newspapers, or to make statements in his behalf. They have advised the governor to refrain from making any statement at present, likewise his wife. We have engaged in our defense not for William Sulzer, but as a professional duty to the governor of the state and to preserve, so far as it can now be preserved, the good name and fame of the state."

After an examination of Mr. Sulzer in relation to the transactions disclosed by the Frawley committee, we are satisfied that there has been only a partial revelation of the facts so far as we are satisfied that he has been guilty of no willful wrongdoing. We ask the public in his behalf, as a suspension of judgment until all the facts can be disclosed before the proper tribunal and in an orderly way.

The Vote to Impeach. The vote to impeach the governor was passed in the assembly shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, after an all-night session, by a vote of 75 to 46. A committee of nine members, headed by Assemblyman Levy, majority leader, then was appointed to present the articles of impeachment to the senate. The senate met at 8 o'clock and after a few minutes the majority committee of managers was solemnly ushered into the senate chamber, where Assemblyman Levy read the eight long articles of impeachment.

Senator Wagner, president pro tem of the senate, then declared the articles of impeachment "herby received" and announced that he would summon the court of impeachment "to meet at the capitol on the eighteenth day of September, 1912, at the hour of noon."

While the court was thus summoned to meet on this date it was said by a member of the assembly committee of managers tonight that the actual trial of the governor would probably not begin until a few days later, as it would be necessary to formulate rules of procedure and arrange other details.

Not Entitled to Office. Senator Elton Brown, republican leader, then raised the question that the governor no longer entitled to remain in office.

"For hundreds of years," he said, "the meaning of impeachment has been well settled and understood. Impeachment consists in the action taken by the assembly, together with a presentment of charges or articles of impeachment to the senate.

"It is now reported about the capitol that the governor will refuse to recognize that the provisions of the constitution confer upon his power as governor and that the powers and duties of governor now vest in the lieutenant governor. It is a matter of highest importance that a chief executive universally recognized by the people of the state should be acting as governor without cessation, and I desire to call the attention of the legislature to this situation in order that it may be in a position if any contingency shall arise to use its power to the maintenance of the continuity of a single recognized government in this state."
