Thus far nothing has happened to stay the progress of the trial. For three weeks and a half lawyers have forght like solders charging or de-fending a fortress. For over three weeks twelve tried men and true have sat stolidly and viewed the fight. Not sat stolidly and viewed the fight. Not one has succumbed to sicknees. For nearly a month Lee M. Frank has sat watching the battle for his life. His face has been as impenetrable as the Sphinx. Something of the stokfam of Lis people who for centuries have suffered is writ on his features. The trace of a smile has from time to time flickered momentarily and then van-ished to give place to his attitude of impersonal interest.

STATE CONCLUDES CASE.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Wednesday the state annunced closed. There was a discussion of some moments about the admission of certain documentary evidence, and then Leo M. Frank was again placed on the stand to rebut the testimony of Willie Tur-ner, who stated Tuesday that he had seen Frank talking to Mary Phagan He also denied statements about his having visited the girls' dressing room while they were in the act of disrobing. A few moments after this the de A few moments after this the de-fense definitely closed, whereupon Judge Roan stated that argument would begin at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. "Hill was ar-rested by Bheriff Smith and an armed posse and brought to Cartersville, where he was placed in Jall. The young girl, Miss Alred, is said to have been walking along the gall-road toward Falrmont when she bo-tloed the negro stiting on the side of the road at the top of an embankment. When she saw him it is said that she attempted to avoid meeting the negro, but that the black made an effort to prevent her from passing him by walk-ing to meet her, thereby cutting her off. At this, it is declared, the girl ran through a corn field to the farm house of a neighbor, where she toid her story of the fright that had been given her by the negro. her by the negro.

W. R. Foote officiating. Mrs. Felker was, prior to her mar-riage to Judge 5. B. Felker, Miss Bello Nichols. She was one of this city's most universally beloved matrons, be-ing prominent in church and club work up to her serious illness of a few yests ago. She is survived by her husband, Judge 5. B. Felker: two children, Miss Aileen Felker and Raymond Felker; one sister, Mrs. W. C. Fin-cher, and two brothers, Dr. John Nich-ols, of this city, and Arthur Nichols, of Latayete.

Rome, Ga., August 20.--(Special.)-The county commissioners of Floyd county have instructed the county clerk to take up with the Georgia delegation in congress the question of securing a branch of the proposed Johnston-Sherman highway through this county. The present plan makes the nearest point to Rome, Kingston, in Bartow county, which is 17 miles away. The historic fact is, however, that while Sherman's army did not, visit Rome, other troops were fre-quently in and out of this section, and for several months a detachment of federal soldiers made this point their headquartors and directed mili-tary operations from here.

A representative of one of the large stores in another southern city visited us the other day; in fact his is the leading store of a very fine, hustling city.

As we were taking him around from one floor to another of the furniture store he took occasion to notice and remark about and the reductions from regular prices that they show.

His remark was that the reductions were greater than those of his store's August furniture sale and more general.

The fact is interesting and impressive in so far as it points out that the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale is an opportunity that Atlantans might travel unavailing miles and miles to find the equal of and that out-of-towners may look upon with all confidence and so time their purchases.

REQUIRES IMMEDIATE ATTEN-1ION.

It is to be boped that formality and ceremony will not be permitted to obstruct the demand for the immediate cleaning out of Peachtree creek, declared by Chief of Construction Clayton and by members of the city bond commission to be an absolutely imperative requirement for the successful operation of the new sewage disposal plant through which is to pass the sewage of about one-half of the city of Atlanta.

The new plant will be ready for operation within about two weeks, and the experts in charge of it say that it cannot do its work if it outflows into a sluggish and obstructed stream. Every rise of water occasioned by heavy rains will have the effect of seriously interfering with the efficiency of the operation of the plant. The members of the county board recognize the importance of the work, and its members say that they will give immediate attention to it as soon as the matter is officially brought to their attention.

Chief of Construction Clayton and Chairman of the Bond Commission Quillian state that they will at once bring the matter to the official attention of the county board. The city bond commission is largely responsible for the successful operation of the plant, which is being constructed by a part of the last bond issue, voted for that purpose.

The public property committee of the county board meets Saturday morning, and as it has full authority to act it can safely be predicted that after conference with the chief of construction and Chairman Quillian, a plan of action will be agreed upon by which this work will be done without apother week's delay.

It is inconceivable that a plant costing nearly a quarter of a million dollars should not be given a complete and a fair ...st for successful operation by the lack of atten tion to a comparatively trifling detail. Of course the work will be done, and than if it had been packed in a standard size gin box. Teras now has a state law making 27x54 the standard size for her cotton bale. Other states will no doubt follow. Conformity to simple and necessary rules means a higher price paid the farmer for his cotton, and this is the thing for which we are all working.

MINNESOTA'S MENACE.

At the national convention of real estate exchanges, just adjourned, at Winnipeg. Canada, excellent addresses were made by Charles Glover, of Atlanta; Bruce Ravenel, of Columbia, S. C.; Telfair Stockton, of Jacksonville, Fla., and other southern delegates.

The people of Canada, and of the northern and western states of our own country, were eager to hear of the resources and possibilities of the south. Likewise, the southern delegation heard many things of interest to themselves and their home people. For example, it has been ascertained by the State Bankers' Association of Minnesota that the yield of wheat in that state has fallen from thirty to fifteen bushels per acre. As a result of this many of the farmers are deserting their couptry homes for the cities. Only 50 per cent of the population of the state now lives in the country.

The bankers, after painstaking and thorough investigation, have decided that the present deplorable condition of affairs in Minnesota is due largely to lack of agricultural instruction in the public schools, where conservation of fertility, proper cultivation, etc., can be taught.

It was shown that France produces today thirty bushels of wheat to the acre. How and why? France teaches agriculture in 40,000 schools. Minnesota is now introducing such instruction into her schools in an effort to stem the tide of migration from her farms to her cities, and from her farms and cities into the Canadian country west of Winnipeg.

The condition of affairs in Minnesota, brought about by lack of intelligent methods in agriculture, and the heroic effort of the state to "come back," by teaching the subject in the schools, should wake up the state of Georgia. Our state agricultural college fights its way and struggles for existence; the district agricultural shoools, or colleges, for lack of proper support and encouragement, barely manage to keep going; in the rural public schools no more than a mere smattering of information on agriculture is attempted.

"The Red Old Hills of Georgia" is pretty in poetry. No doubt of that. But the memory of one red hill in Georgia is enough to furnish a theme for all the poets we can spare from the plow. If the hills of Georgia are allowed to become red and barren, or if those that are already red and barren are not reclaimed, how can we hope for prosperity and contentment? Our little children and young men and women are eager to learn agriculture and household economics. Let us profit by the menace of Minnesota and give them a chance of the right sort.

NOT A FINAL RULING.

Through the Boston Chamber of Com merce there has come to light the latest bright idea in regard to the use of the parcel post. It seems that a merchant in Kansas had been carrying some small accounts for years without being able to collect the amounts due him. When the C. O. D. department of the parcel post was established this merchant hit upon a scheme that brought the money quickly. A box was filled with waste and on top of the waste was placed a receipt for the amount due the merchant. Then the box was carefully covered and wrapped and sent to the delinquent. The expense on each box was 15c-10c C. O. D. fee, and 5c postage. The merchant figured largely on curiosity as a helper. Generally the person addressed paid the amount for the privilege of seeing what was in the box.

It is said that a United States district attorney in Kansas, to whose attention the matter was brought, regards the trick as "clever," but probably not fraudulent, because the shipper of the box did not previously promise anything in return for the amount to be collected on delivery. But that is not the final ruling by any means.

Editor Constitution: The statement, generally circulated, that under the new cotton shipping regulations, second-hand bagging must not be used for covering is an error The North Georgia Cotton Buyers and Manufacturers' association, in session in Atlants on July 15, passed the following resolution relative to bagging: "That cotton be covered at the gin with good, strong bagging, free from sample holes, and that the ends be well sewed up. Use six yards two-pound bagging and six hands as heretofore.

Sounding Sands.

Various acoustic wonders have been found all over the world. They range from the humble barnyard echo to the sounding sands of Arabia and Afghanistan. In "The Cruise of the Betsy," Hugh Miller, says The Lonof the Beits," Hugh Miller, says The Lon-don Globe, speaks of the phenomenon of musical sand as having been characterized by one of the most clicbrated of all the acoustic wonders which the natural world presents to us." The musical sands of the orient, when set in motion, give rise to noises which are sometimes more than musi-cal. They are described as of such loud and bouning character as to cause the ground in the vicinity to trembla. A famous geologist discovered musical sands in the Bay of Laig, on the Island of Eigg, in Scotland. This scientist supposed these sands to be the only ones in Europe possessing acoustic phenomena. But later discoveries have established the existence of beaches on the Ayrshire coast, between West beaches on the Ayrshire coast, between West Kilbride and Portincross. In this neighbor-hood there is a stretch of sandy beach, and hood there is a stretch of sandy beach, and at certain parts of the expanse, where the sand is deep and loose, a peculiar creaking sound is apparent as one walks along. If a stick be drawn through it the effect is much more pronounced, the result being a musical sounding note. The success of the experiment varies, however, according to the weather. If the sand is the least damp no sound can be produced. The drier and warmer the weather, the louder and more musical is the note given out. There are also parts of the sands at Cruden bay where musical is the note given out. There are also parts of the sands at Cruden bay where this musical quality is noticeable in narked degree.

Without Food 28 Days.

(From The London Chronicle.) A remarkable feat of involuntary fasting was performed twelve years ago by a corpo-ral in a regiment of French colonial infanral in a regiment of French colonial infan-try. On his way to work one morning a man heard orles proceeding from a disueed mine near Brest. At the bottom of an ex-cavation nearly 100 fest deep Corporal Andre Desnats was found in so weak a condition that he could hardly articulate a word. When he recovered his rescures learned that, after accidentally falling into the mine, Desrats had been imprisoned for twenty-eight days without anything to eat or drink. But a without anything to eat or drink. But a pig can beat a man. Dr. W. B. Carpenter in his "Manual of Physiology" records that a pig weighing 160 pounds was entombed by the fall of a portion of the chalk cliffs at Dover. It was dug out 160 days later, and found to be still allve, but reduced in weight to 40 pounds.

Children and Parks.

(From The Indianapolis News.) (From The Indianapolis News.) A few years ago a merchant of Great Tower street, London, while walking in Southwark park, got an idea. This park is neighbor to one of the poorest parts of London, where the streets are thronged with children. The park was no attraction to them. The ever vigilant police would not permit the boys to climb trees or the girls to gather flowers. They had no toys to take with them to the park and no amuse-ments were provided for them there. They to take with them to the park and no amuse-ments were provided for them there. They could not be expected to enjoy strolling along asphalt pavements doing nothing to give vent to the animal spirit that boys and gives should have. So they preferred to play in the gutters and alleys in their native streets. Mr. Finsler-such is the name of the merchant who got an idea-thought he could do something for these children of overcrowded London. So he put his hand in his pocket and today is paying out more his pocket and today is paying out more his pocket and today is paying out more than $2,500 a year to provide amusements and care for the children that come to South-wark park. The boys play at cricket and the grils may be seen crowding about one of Mr. Finsler's helpers to listen to a wellof mr. Finaler's helper's to thethe to a wai-told fairy take, or to help in the making of a doll's dress, while an outer ring of hables sleep on rugs spread on the grass or look in wonder from their milk bottles to the stir that is going on about them.

The World's Mysteries WAS "DOCTOR BARRY," ARMY SURGEON, MALE OR FEMALE?

In spite of the common opinion that a man or a woman cannot pass for a long time as a member of the opposite sex without arousing suspicion, it has been disoredited several times in history. A striking example was brought to light in England ome' years ago. ; One of the most interesting of these imredited-was that of Dr. James Barry, an inspector general of English hospitals, who Inspector general of English hope and the second se Barry was looked upon as one of the link inter-efficient hosp tai inspections in England. File features were not strikingly mascalline, neither were they noticeably effeminate. He would pass generally for the sverage type. July 15, 1865, Dr. Barry died in London at the ripe age of 72. He had been in the service of the government more than fifty years. His first position was as hospital assistant, which he obtained July 4, 1813, and he was promoted to be assistant sur-geon December 7, 1815. As the sax of the army surgeon has never been clearly estab-lished, and as he slways posed as a man, the male pronoun will be used generally in any reference to Dr. Barry. He is supposed to have served in the medical department of the English army at the battle of Water-loo. He was assuredly with the army in the Crimes, for there are several references to him in the history of the bospital service during that campaign.

But later on when man began to burn incandescent holes through the at-mosphere and to criticise the earth because its running schedule around the sun hasn't been shortened in ten billion years, the speed limit was halled as a great boon. That is, if he is foolish enough to come back when he is called. The speed limit is the speed at which an automobile driver can be caught. As long as he exceeds this speed he is perfectly safa. No one over suspected the doctor of being of a sar opposite to the one in which he paged until the year fol-lowing his deatn, when a long article ap-peared in "All the Year Around." which brought out statements which became the temporary talk of London. In this article was disclosed the strange eventful history of the Sphinz-like individ-ual. "Not only was Dr. Barry discovered to be a woman," remarks the writer. "but it was made evident that is early life whe had been a mother." An inquest was held, in consequence of her refusal to be med-ically attended in her hest linear, and the following day it was officially reported to the war office that the decased impector general of heepitals was in truth a woman. When this magazine article appeared a captain of the Third West India regiment recalled at incident of his experience with Dr. Barry. "In 1851 I traveled with this remarkable character on board the intur-Colonial steamer plying between St. Thomas and Barbados, when 1 occupied the same cabin, 1 on the top and the doctor on the lower berth. It is noted that during his lifetime Dr. Barry fought several duels, one with Gen-eral Sir Josias Cloate, at which time the doctor was wounded in the leg. After the death of Barry General W. Chamberlayne, who was in the English service at the time, said: "I knew Dr. Barry well. He was rather bombasile in speech. When I think of the anxiety, care and trouble he must have

He was, or at least was allowed to be, as insubordinate as he liked without remonstrance. In a word, he was treated by the authorities as if he was -as he may have been—a woman. Dr. Barry made rapid strides in bis ap-pointments, sometimes jumping two stens at a time. For instance, he never was a sustant inspector, nor brevet deputy inspector general May 16, 1851, and inspector general May 16, 1851, and inspector general seven ycars later. He gave his ax a swing and it caught on a clothesline overhead and nearly jerked his arms out of their sockets. His observations raised the temperature of the whole neighborhood about fourteen degrees. I have had similar accidents myself, so I walked over to express my sympathy, but as soon as I opened my mouth he said that if I didn't push myself back home again he'd tie my legs in a bowknot behind my neck. ### THE STANDARD COTTON BALE.

The attention of the farmers and ginners is called to the letter on this page of Vice President C. V. Truitt, of the North Georgia Cotton Buyers and Manufacturers' association.

The steamshin lines have adopted miles -- to be absolutely and strictly enforcedto make exceptions on bills of lading for cotton received that is more or less wet. stained, or soiled. In self-protection the railroads are forced to adopt the same rules. In self-protection the farmers, gin pers and buyers will be forced to abide by the same rules. These rules, however, will work to the advantage of all those who handle their cotton carefully

The thing of prime importance, to which the attention of farmers and ginners should be called, at this time when gins are opening up fall rush, is the standard bale. For the sake of economy in space, in stowing cotton in ships, railroad cars and warehouses, it is necessary that all bales shall have the same dimensions. The standard bale agreed upon is 27x54. All gin boxes should be made to conform to this size before the season opens, be cause every bale that is above standard size will be penalized one dollar. It should also be remembered that although a bale may be of the standard size, if it weighs less than 400 pounds it cannot be compressed to the proper density and will on that account be penalized 50 cents.

If the farmer patronizes a ginner whose gin box is larger than 27x54 it means that he will get one dollar less for his bale go in and win.

It Was the Printer.

(From The London Chronicle.) A printer's error in perpetuity! How many of Sunday's congregations know that, when joining in the "Te Deum," they are carrying on, in one phrase of that song of praise, an ancient blunder? "Make them to be numbered with Thy saints," so it rubs. to be numbered with Thy saints," so it runs. And so, when manuscript copies gave place to printed books, was it rendered in the mediaeval Latin then in use, "numerari"---"to be numbered," as we say in English. Transpose the first and third letters and you get "munerari," "to be rewarded." Which is what all prayer books would be prining today, and congregations singing, were it bot for that fifteenth century printer's error.

He comes into court covered with his own shame and hides behind the skirts of his wife and child. She Trusted Miggs.

She Trusted Miggs.

"When these girls went to Reno their departure meant social ostracize-mont. Mursha Warrington went because she believed and trusted this man. She mont. Marsha warrington went because she believed and trusted this man. She fidh't desire money, dresses or pres-ents. Her harents gave her these. But this man had promised her marriage as Candnetti had promise Lola Norris "Those promises were never intended to be kept. What was intended was to handen the girls in Reno. They nev-er could have returned to Sacramento-and you know what that incant. But the alturing promise of marriage had been held but to them." Attorney Roche was particularly se-vere with Diggs for the misconduct in his own home to which he testified yes-torday. He had not been content, said licohe, with making an assignation house out of his office but he was sim-liarly to degrade the privacy of a home wife.

ear after Diaz came into possession f the de facto government in Mexico City, that recognition was extended by the United States. During the interval, correspondence was maintained through the legation as at present through the embassy, due attention be-ing called to the necessity for protect-ing American lives and property. 2,004 Chicago Fans Vote Against ing called to the necessity for protect-ing American lives and property. Recognition to Be Deferred. The present administration proposes to defer recognition until a constitu-tional election shall have been held and President Wilson stands firmly against recognizing the Huerta regime under any circumstances. From these roundderations, 't is not likely that Mr. Lind's informal parleys with the Huer-its officials will continue long. If a will remain in Mexico City in-definitely, however, ca adviser to the American embassy, which is without an unbussador. He will continue to President Wilson and retain, so far as possible, cordial relations with the de facto government for the purpose of obtain-ing proper protection to American in-terats. Advices that the Huerta government is seriously handicapped by lack of funds, that there is little money with which to pay troops and news of con-situationalist victories strengthen the belief in official circles here that a settlement of the revolution will be ac-complished by the constitutionalists within a short period. After testifying to the relations between binself and Cami-nett and these with due to show the Sun-nett and has given none of the in-aly night on which the evidence of the gavernment tends to show the trip to Rene was taken, he stopped short and has given none of the in-idon's of that trip, contenting him-self with merely referring to it as having been taken. This was the de-fendant's privilegre, but in passing upon the evidence you have a right to take this omission of the defendant the consideration, since it is the le-gitimate inference that, could he have explained the incriminating evidence axiants him, he would have done so. "If you find these gits were taken to Rene by the defendant in the man-ner charged, then the only question remaining is as to the intent with which they were so taken. ". SULZER BADLY SCARED BY THREE SIGHT-SEERS

Albany, N. Y., August 20.—As Gov-nor Sulzer approached the capitol steps today three stalwart young men turned around to stare at him. "Are you here to assault me?" the governor asked.

"Why in the world should we want to assault you?" replied one of the young men in astonishment. "We sim-ply are looking around--just sight-seers."

The executive, his fears quieted, shork hands nervously with the trio and walked quickly up the steps. Sulzer is said to have had several warnings of a projected plan to have him attacked by gangsters or kidnapped.

EX-PREMIER OLLIVIER SUMMONED BY DEATH

Annecy, France, August 20.-Emile Oillvier, premier of France under Na-poleon HL. died here today. Born at Marseilles, July 2, 1825, he came into international prominence when he was chosen by the emperor as arbiter of the differences which arose relative to the isthmus of Suez, and it was upon his report that the final de-cision was founded. In 1870 M. Oilivier was invited by the president to form a ministry. The declaration of war against Germany and its disastrous results led to the overthrow of the Oilivier government on August 8, 1871, seven months after its formation.
