

FIFTY-CENT DEBT CAUSES THE DEATH OF FLEEING YOUTH

Luther Hawkins, of Atlanta, Shot Down and Killed by Bailiff L. Willis, of Columbus, Ga.

WAS SHOOTING IN AIR, DECLARES HIS SLAYER

Boy Was Fifty Cents Short on Board Bill and Landlord Had Called an Officer to Arrest Him.

Columbus, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Luther Hawkins, a white boy about grown, was shot and killed by Bailiff L. Willis of North Highlands this afternoon as he was fleeing from the officer. His only offense was that he had failed to pay a 50-cent board bill.

"I wouldn't have done this for a million dollars," said the bailiff as he gazed on the dying boy. Tonight he is under arrest at police headquarters charged with murder.

Hawkins, with his brother, Andrew Hawkins, another young man, came here from Atlanta, his home, a day or two ago to seek employment in a cotton mill. They secured board at the home of Charles Jordan on North Highlands and today made application for work at a mill.

When they went to settle their board bill this afternoon they lacked 50 cents of having enough. Jordan at once telephoned the sheriff to send a bailiff to arrest them and Willis was dispatched to the scene. Mrs. Jordan, sympathizing with the boys, urged them to escape. It is said, and two of them got away. Luther Hawkins went out through the back yard, but before he got away from North Highlands was spied by Jordan and Willis, who were riding in a buggy hunting him.

They began to run and Willis jumped from his buggy and pursued him. Just as Hawkins jumped on an embankment a few feet ahead of Willis the officer fired at him with his pistol. The bullet entered the back of his head and went through the head, lodging behind the right eye. Hawkins fell to the ground face forward and crawled a few feet. He lived about thirty minutes, but did not regain consciousness.

Willis left the scene at once, but was later arrested by police officers at his home. He declares that he was shooting in the air to frighten the boy and did not mean to hit him. Hawkins was a pale-faced boy of slender build. He was not armed. It is understood that his people live in Atlanta and efforts are being made tonight to get in touch with them.

3 SHOT AND 6 HURT WHEN HUSBY TRIES TO EJECT HIS WIFE

Redbank, N. J., August 29.—(Special.)—Mrs. Frank Storck retains possession of her husband's home in the fashionable residential section of Redbank tonight, after a fight made to dispossess her in which three persons were shot, four injured by blows, an eighth broke his ankle and Mrs. Storck herself was thrown through a window and rendered unconscious when she fell on her head on the sidewalk.

Storck, a piano dealer, divorced his wife last month. She has since frustrated his efforts to force her to leave his residence here. Tonight he organized a raiding party, visited the house with several employees and four private detectives. Mrs. Storck's brothers and other members of her family came to her aid and a brick melee ensued.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF HIS WIFE AND NIECE

William F. Cook Rushed to Jail in Nashville for Fear of Mob Violence.

Nashville, Tenn., August 29.—William F. Cook was arrested this afternoon at Smyrna, Tenn., on a warrant sworn out by Sheriff Rhodes, of Rutherford county, charged with the double murder of his wife and her niece, Lucy Stanford, aged 15 years. The crime was committed last Sunday night at the Cook home, three miles from Smyrna. Cook, for fear of mob violence, was hurried to Nashville and lodged in the Davidson county jail for safe keeping.

The arrest followed four days of vigilant search by Sheriff Rhodes and his deputies and other officers, as well as residents of the neighborhood for the weapon with which the deed was committed. This afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock a hickory bludgeon, smeared with blood, was discovered in the Cook stable and the arrest followed immediately.

Cook protested his innocence and at first demanded a preliminary hearing before the coroner's jury, which was in session. However, at the earnest request of Attorney General W. S. Faulkner, who was present and who feared mob violence, he waived examination and was hurried away in a taxicab which had been held in waiting.

Shortly afterwards the coroner's jury brought in a verdict in which they found that the two women had come to their death from the effects of blows administered by a heavy blunt instrument under circumstances pointing to the guilt of William F. Cook.

The crime was one of the bloodiest in the history of the state. The room in which the dead women were discovered was stained with blood and bore evidence of a desperate struggle. Cook reported the tragedy at 6 o'clock Monday morning and claimed that he had attended church the night before and on awakening found his wife dead in the room adjoining the one in which he had slept while her niece was dead on the porch, just outside the door.

KIND INVITATIONS FILLED MEXIC BOMBS DROPPED BY BIRDMAN

Los Angeles, August 29.—After his arrest here yesterday, charged with violation of neutrality laws by having aided in the smuggling of the Masson aeroplane over the Mexican border several months ago, Captain Joaquin Alcaide, a constitutionalist soldier of Sonora, explained why numerous bombs dropped from the flying machine in its flight over Guaymas failed to cause damage. The bombs, he said, were not loaded with death-dealing explosives, but with cordial invitations to the discontented federal soldiers under Pedro Obregon to desert and come over to the rebels.

"We did not want to slaughter those poor fellows," said Alcaide, who claims to have been the man who always accompanied Masson, the aviator, "so we mailed messages and kind letters to them in bomb-shaped receptacles. The messages told the fellows that a warm welcome awaited them in our ranks. He got a large number of recruits in that way."

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN, MUCH SOUGHT AFTER, IS MISSING AGAIN

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Pretty Mrs. Millie Gotthelf-Guterman, divorced wife of a wealthy New York lace merchant and most sought after woman in America, is now being looked for by Savannah detectives who received a letter from her second husband, Antonio Guterman, electrical engineer at the hydro electric power development above Augusta, on the Savannah river. The letter said she eloped from her home Monday night in all probability located at Savannah.

About a year ago everything detective in America was looking for Mrs. Gotthelf. She left her handsomely appointed home in New York in company with the debonair Guterman, an accomplished musician as well as a high-spirited electrical expert. After several months they were located about 12 miles above Augusta, in the new settlement that marked the site of the big power plant soon to furnish electric current to all parts of South Carolina and Georgia.

Her husband was communicated with and August 14 she was found. The first time she offered her forgiveness if he would return with him, but she declined and he returned to New York, where he recently secured his final decree in divorce.

He contends that a government plant should turn out 10,000 tons a year at not exceeding $314 a ton.

STEPPING OFF CAR, IS STRUCK BY AUTO

Samuel Goldstein Is Killed and Driver of Machine Is Arrested and Held Without Bond.

The death of a well-known business man and the arrest of an auto driver resulted from an automobile accident at Washington and Crumley streets yesterday at noon when Samuel Goldstein, of 336 Washington street, was struck by a touring car as he stepped from a Washington street trolley.

The driver, T. A. Curtis, of 339 East Hunter street, it is said by the police, speeded away upon striking the victim, and was not caught until late last night when he was arrested by Detectives Harper and Garner.

Mr. Goldstein died shortly after he was rushed to the Atlanta hospital. He sustained fracture of the skull and internal injuries. He was 49 years old and a long resident of Atlanta, where he was a leading real estate dealer.

He received his injuries while on his way home to lunch. At Crumley and Washington, he stepped from the rear platform of a Washington street car. The five-passenger touring car belonging to and driven by Curtis was going out Washington street.

As Mr. Goldstein stepped to the street, the front of the machine bowed him down. Both wheels ran over his chest and head. He was unconscious when picked up and placed in the ambulance. Men standing on the rear and front platforms of the trolley saw the driver picked up speed and rushed away. No one but the conductor was able to catch sight of the number.

A report of the accident was made to police headquarters. Chief E. L. Jett personally took charge of the investigation. Shortly before midnight, Harper and Garner arrested Curtis at his Hunter street home. He admitted the accident, saying that his brakes would not work and that he did not speed away from the scene as was alleged by eye-witnesses.

His story was, that after running down the man, he stepped within a block, turned back and offered assistance. He will be held without bond until this morning, under charges of reckless driving blanketed by disorderly conduct. His case will be called in police court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The body of the victim has been removed to the Greenberg & Bond undertaking establishment. Funeral arrangements will be made later. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Sadie Gordon and Abe Goldstein.

SALE OF REAL BEER IS ADVOCATED BY MACON LEGISLATOR

Macon, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Wallace Miller, member of the legislature and one of three announced candidates for mayor, has made the public statement that he does not favor the sale of near beer and since that time both the legislature and the people of the state have awoke in the sale of real beer. I believe that those who have licenses should be permitted to continue selling real beer so long as they can decent and orderly places and sell no whiskey. The license should stay where it is and the men holding them should be given the same protection as holders of other kinds of business licenses.

TWO WOMEN TANGERS ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, August 29.—Tango dancing caused the arrest of two women on the charge of disorderly conduct at a downtown cafe early today. They were Mrs. E. F. Wirth, of Chicago, and her guest, Miss Lucille Lowery, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

When arraigned today before Municipal Judge Mahoney they denied the charge of disorderly conduct. They had been arrested without cause as they were leaving the cafe. Policemen said the women were dancing on the sidewalk after they had been requested to leave the cafe because of their alleged persistence in performing the tango.

The women denied that they had been ejected from the restaurant. They claimed that others in the place had been asked to leave, but that they themselves went of their own accord.

VISCOUNT HALDANE SUBMITS TO QUIZ BY FOURTH ESTATE

First Lord High Chancellor to Leave Great Britain Since Wolsey Finds Custom "Delightfully Progressive."

HE FREELY DISCUSSES QUESTIONS OF MOMENT

Situation in Mexico Is Only Subject Tabooed by Distinguished Guest of American Bar Association.

New York, August 29.—Viscount Haldane, the first lord high chancellor of Great Britain to leave this country since Cardinal Wolsey went to France four hundred years ago, arrived here today on the steamship Lusitania for a flying visit of five days, in this country and Canada. The lord high chancellor, whose position in England corresponds to that of chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, is here as a guest of the American Bar association, before which he will deliver an address at its annual meeting in Montreal next Monday. Tonight he was entertained at a dinner given in behalf of the association by C. A. Severance, of St. Paul. His itinerary includes visits to West Point and Albany.

Previously warned that he might expect to be interviewed by American newspaper men on his arrival in New York, the chancellor smilingly greeted a delegation of men who boarded the Lusitania at quarantine and submitted to another interview when he reached the hotel where he is making his headquarters in this city.

Favors Woman Suffrage.

Lord Haldane freely discussed many questions of the day, declared that he was in favor of woman suffrage, prophesied that a millennium of peace was far off, said the relations between Germany and England were never more cordial, praised the intellectual growth of the United States and predicted that home rule for Ireland would soon be an accomplished fact.

With a merry twinkle in his blue eyes the lord high chancellor joked with his interviewers between serious remarks and conceded that the American custom of interviewing distinguished visitors was "delightfully progressive."

"It would be a very sanguine person," he said, when asked his opinion of the influence of the peace palace at The Hague, "who can see the dawn of international peace. It is useless to look ahead toward the permanent cessation of war in the near future. We can only do our best and trust to the progress of opinion. The coming of the millennium of peace must be an evolution like everything else, but some day we must come to the realization of the fact that we can settle our differences in a better way than by quarrelling with each other."

Lord Haldane chuckled when the question of woman suffrage was brought up.

Doesn't Favor Militancy.

"Yes, I am a suffragist," he said, "but I do not approve of the militant suffragettes. You are fortunate to have no militant suffragettes in this country and I sincerely hope the militant idea will not gain a foothold here."

The fact that the lord chancellor, when he was secretary of state for war, visited the German emperor at the height of the ill feeling between Germany and England over the armaments question, was made the basis for a question as to his opinion of the present relations between Germany and England.

"Our relations are constantly growing better," he said, "especially since the adjustment of the Balkan situation. In fact, there has been much better feeling displayed between the two great groups of European powers as the result of the Balkan situation in which they have worked together. The results auger a much better feeling in the future."

Home Rule Coming Soon.

Speaking of home rule for Ireland he said:

"Home rule was never nearer adoption than it is today and I believe it will soon be an accomplished fact. Of course, the religious question in Ulster is difficult, but you can't keep the hands of the clock from advancing."

The chancellor refused to discuss the Mexican situation except to say that he was "confident that the United States would deal with the question in the broad way in which it had treated other great problems."

He said that he had made a close study of the constitution of the United States, the decisions of Chief Justice Marshall and of American court procedure, but had been greatly enlightened on these subjects by Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, a fellow passenger during his voyage.

Lord Haldane was accompanied by his sister, Miss Elizabeth Haldane, and Sir Kenneth Muir-McKenzie, clerk of the crown.

The party was met at the pier by a reception committee of the American Bar association, which included Francis Xavier of Philadelphia, chairman; Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war; Judge Alton B. Parker, Francis Lynde Stetson and C. A. Severance. They escorted the chancellor on a sight-seeing tour of the city.

American Lawyers Greet Lord Chancellor

Hundreds of prominent lawyers from all parts of the United States are assembling at Montreal for the annual meeting of the American Bar association, scheduled for September 1, 2, and 3. A feature of the three-day program will be the presence of Richard R. Haldane, the lord high chancellor of England, who arrived in New York yesterday for a five-day flying trip in America and Canada for the occasion. Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota, president of the association, is on the program to deliver his opening address on Labor day in the Royal Victoria college assembly hall. In the afternoon of September 1 Chancellor Haldane is to deliver an address in the Peabody theater, being introduced according to schedule by Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, of the United States supreme court. Labor day evening Charles J. Doherty, minister of justice and attorney general for Canada, will tender a banquet on behalf of the Dominion of Canada to the lord chancellor and the bar association. There will be a symposium on "The Struggle for the Simplification of Legal Procedure" on September 2, with addresses by Judge William C. Hook, of the federal circuit of appeals of Kansas, and others. Ex-President Taft will read a paper on September 3. The affair will end at a banquet that night at which United States Senator Elihu Root will preside and among those who will respond to toasts will be Maitre Lahori, batonnier of the bar of Paris, the famous French lawyer who defended Dreyfus.

WOULD USE WARSHIPS AS OPEN AIR SCHOOLS

Thorough Medical Inspection of Public Educational Institutions Also Recommended.

Buffalo, N. Y., August 29.—The fourth international congress on school hygiene today adopted resolutions recommending thorough medical inspection in all public schools and the use of discarded battleships as open air schools.

The congress states it is convinced that the open air school is one of the most powerful agents in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in childhood. The resolution says:

"That the fourth international congress on school hygiene petitions the United States government to place at the disposal of the various states of the union as many of the discarded battleships and cruisers as possible to be anchored according to their size in rivers or at the seashore and to be utilized by the respective communities for open air schools for children or hospitals sanatoria for adults."

"That the congress expresses its appreciation to the Italian government for the example it has given by consecrating three of its discarded men of war to the combat of tuberculosis."

Methods of correcting defects of vision in school children and preventing malnutrition were the principal subjects discussed by the congress today. At the closing public meeting tonight G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., spoke on the hygiene of appetite.

EDITOR WHO REFUSED TO "EAT" EDITORIALS IS SHOT AND KILLED

Sulphur, Okla., August 29.—J. I. Scheneck, editor of The Sulphur Democrat, was shot and killed here today and John Lindsay, former treasurer of Murray county, charged with the killing, was hurried from the Sulphur jail tonight to the more secure prison at the nearby town of Norman, when mob violence was threatened. Lindsay, it is alleged, opened fire on Scheneck with a shot gun when the editor refused to "eat" a copy of his paper which contained adverse editorial comment concerning Lindsay.

BILL IS PRESENTED TO ESTABLISH FISH HATCHERY ON COAST

Washington, August 29.—Representative Edwards, of Georgia, introduced a bill today proposing the establishment of a fish hatchery and fish cultural station for the propagation of shad and other food fish on the Georgia coast. The bill would appropriate $5,000 for the plant, including purchase of site, buildings, ponds and other equipment on or near the Georgia coast. The exact location would be selected by the secretary of commerce.

ROMANCE IS REVIVED WITH END OF STRIKE

Paterson, N. J., August 29.—Romance in the long idle silk mills of Paterson has revived with the end of the strike. So many workers stormed the marriage license bureau today that the registrar decided to keep his office open tonight to accommodate suitors. During the strike the number of licenses issued dwindled almost to none at all.

HOPING FOR PEACE IN MEXICO, WILSON TAKES VACATION

Encouraging Dispatches Received From Mexico City by President Shortly Before He Leaves for Cornish.

NEXT MOVE EXPECTED TO BE MADE BY LIND

May Send Third Note to the Huerta Government From Vera Cruz—Americans Are Pouring Out of Country.

Washington, August 29.—President Wilson left Washington late today for the summer capital at Cornish, N. H., still hopeful of favorable culmination of the negotiations undertaken by this country to bring about peace in Mexico.

Although no affirmative action on either side had been reported up to the time of the president's departure, encouraging dispatches were received from Nelson O'Shaughnessy, in charge of the American embassy at Mexico City, bearing on the general situation. These reached the president a few hours before train time and led him to determine upon a short rest over Labor Day.

Nothing in the advices from Mexico City gave the administration officials cause for particular anxiety, and it was the general conviction that a lull in the diplomatic exchanges would be beneficial to all concerned. The president, it is known, feels that good may come from an opportunity for the position of this government, as announced in his message of Wednesday to "sink in."

Excitement Subsiding.

Excitement subsiding over the exchange of proposals and replies would, it was believed, lead to further negotiations between the officials of Mexico City and Mr. John Lind, the personal representative of this government.

Mr. Lind, it was asserted tonight, had been instructed from Washington to continue to act at his own discretion as to whether he should await developments at Vera Cruz or return to Mexico City. Up to a late hour no dispatches had been received at the state department from Mr. Lind. Secretary Bryan said before leaving for an overnight trip in Pennsylvania, that he believed the envoy would remain in Vera Cruz tonight. Early in the day Mr. Bryan conferred with the president over the reply of Senator Gamboa, Mexican secretary of foreign affairs, to Mr. Lind's second note.

They also considered a message sent by Mr. Lind to Washington yesterday afternoon. That these latest communications gave reason for hopeful expectations was freely admitted.

May Send Third Note.

Mr. Lind, it was reported, probably would make the next move in the negotiations, which the president, plausibly asserted in his message had not been closed and could be resumed on the initiative of either nation. The fact that the Mexico City officials in their second note of reply had receded from their former position of an exchange of accredited ambassadors, it was said, left an opening for future moves. The view was expressed that the Gamboa reply to the second American note might actuate Mr. Lind to address a third note to the officials of the Mexican government.

His own discretion, it was suggested, that the American representative might forward a message to Mexico City from Vera Cruz before determining upon going to the Mexican capital in person for a renewal of direct negotiations.

Before deciding to go to Cornish, President Wilson discussed the situation with his cabinet.

FRANK'S MOTHER GOES TO HER HUSBAND'S SIDE

Prisoner Is Busy Helping His Attorneys Prepare for New Trial

Mrs. Rae Frank, mother of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, has gone to New York, where her husband is critically ill. Leo Selig, father of Mrs. Leo Frank, stated yesterday afternoon that the mother would likely return to Atlanta before the movement is finished to gain the sentenced man a new trial.

The lawyers for Frank's defense have been busy engaged in piecing together every portion of evidence to sustain them in pleading for the new trial. Their chief grounds is it is reported, will be the demonstrations of the crowds during his trial and the evolutions that were accorded by the general public.

Newspaper clippings of these demonstrations have been obtained in a number of witnesses who saw the crowds will be summoned. The defense will represent it is said that it was impossible for the prisoner to receive an impartial trial when the jury could so readily determine the sentiment of the people.

Mr. Selig, the defendant's father in law, stated to a Constitution reporter that Frank is holding out remarkably well under the strain and that most of his time is occupied in assisting his counsel in whatever way he finds possible. He is visited daily by his wife, friends and lawyers.

POMEROY TO RESIGN IS RUMOR NOW AFLOAT

While it is not known definitely there is a persistent rumor that Colonel E. B. Pomeroy, commanding the Fifth regiment Georgia national guard will resign.

Colonel Pomeroy is out of the city and is not expected back until next week so that it is impossible to verify the report.

No resignation from Colonel Pomeroy has been received at the office of the adjutant general. Should it be true that he intends to resign however the indications are that every officer in the regiment who stands a ghost of a chance for election is in the running for his successor.

ATLANTA'S STREETS BETTER THAN THOSE OF NEW YORK CITY

New York's streets are in worse shape than those of Atlanta, says Councilman Charles W. Smith who has just returned from a visit of two weeks to Gotham. In fact I saw conditions on some of the New York thoroughfares which would not tolerate and I came away very proud of the state of Atlanta.

Fifth avenue perhaps the most talked of thoroughfare in the world certainly in the United States is torn up almost from one end to the other and is absolutely unsightly. There are other streets that are considerably worse off than some we have in Atlanta.

But they are doing wonderful things in New York. The city is confronted with the problem of sewage disposal and it has proven to be the biggest municipal task that the city has encountered. I am told that the city is about to spend $12,000,000 building trunk sewers under the Hudson river to pump the sewage out to the sea. There are several other schemes talked of one of which is to erect sewage disposal plants.

Councilman Smith told Captain T. C. of the construction department and Street Committee Chairman Hall of the conditions on some of New York's streets and complimented both officials as the result of the comparison.

MORE FIRE HYDRANTS WILL SAVE CITY MONEY

Mayor James G. Woodward stated yesterday that he will start a movement in 1914 to install more fire hydrants within the fire limits of the city.

The mayor believes the city can save more than $6000 a year by installing more fire plugs and buying less fire hose. In all the big cities the plan has worked out successfully, not only by adding to the efficiency of the fire department but cutting down the fire insurance rates to a minimum.

Mayor Woodward has discussed his plan with members of council and the board of firemasters and has been endorsed except in one or two instances.

He says that he may start the movement before the end of the year and will make it one of the recommendations in his annual message.

The committee room was crowded with ladies who live in various parts of Oxford terrace. The principal arguments were offered by Miss Annie Wells and Representative Bob Blackburn, the former opposing the change and the latter making a strong plea for it.

Members of the committee expressed themselves as being opposed to entertaining any more petitions for change of street names unless backed by strong motive.

PARTEE INDICTMENT WILL COME UP LATER

Grand Jury Discharged Without Indicting Slayer of Engineer Jackson

Action by the grand jury in the indictment asked by the state against W. D. Partee, engineer of the Georgia railroad for the killing of Sam Jackson another engineer on the same road was postponed yesterday, awaiting the securing of further witnesses.

The shooting occurred on July 28 and Partee is now out on a $5000 bond. W. R. Smith and A. F. Smith among a number of others were present in the railroad roundhouse where the tragedy occurred. There is said to have been trouble between the two principals over alleged remarks made by Partee concerning Jackson and the wife of another railroad man.

The grand jury for the July term was discharged Friday by Judge George L. Bell. The jurors made no presentments and merely returned a number of indictments for minor charges mostly against negroes.

Another grand jury will be sworn in next week and this body is expected to take action in Partee's case and also to take up the indictment of James Conley, the negro sweeper of the National Penitentiary who claims to be an accessory after the fact in the murder of little Mary Phagan for which "super" convict Leo M. Frank was convicted last Monday.

As Frank is now asking a new trial and his case is not finally settled the question has arisen as to whether or not it would be regular to indict Conley as an accessory to Frank in the murder of Mary Phagan. It is believed that the grand jury would be asked to indict against him.

WIDOW AND CHILDREN SUE HEIRS OF FOLSOM FOR $2,500 BEQUEST

Miss Jacob V. Johnson and child entered suit yesterday in superior court for $2500 against Henry P. Folsom, executor of the estate of the late Leonard B. Folsom for many years proprietor of Folsom's restaurant a famous eating place on Market street.

Mr. Johnson was for many years the cashier of the place and was a familiar figure in the Atlanta. According to the suit of his widow and children his employer left him the bequest in his will for good and faithful services as cashier.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Johnson Folsom died and this suit was filed with the fact that Mr. Folsom had previously sold his holdings in the restaurant in violation of the will of the Johnsons to the bequest in his will to the Folsoms.

DUNKLEY WILL PLAY AT ORGAN CONCERT

Ferdinand Dunkley, Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, London, has arrived in Atlanta to be the soloist at the free organ concert Sunday at the Auditorium. Dunkley is a distinguished association musician.

Mr. Dunkley is one of the number of distinguished organists who are being invited here this fall in the effort to choose a successor to Dr. Percy S. Stimes as organist.

Mr. Dunkley, who came to America in 1893, has obtained a national reputation in the United States. He is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists. He has played to immense concert audiences in almost every large American city. He has been rector of the New Orleans Cathedral Symphony society and more recently has been identified with the musical life of Seattle and the northwest.

Atlantans who attended the world's fair at St. Louis and the Pan American exposition at Buffalo will in all probability remember Mr. Dunkley whose organ concerts were among the big musical features of these gatherings.

YARBER IS BADLY HURT BY TOURING AUTO

Run down by a touring car on Forsyth street between Mitchell and Hunter streets yesterday afternoon G. A. Yarber, a resident of Vinings station was rushed to Grady hospital in a serious condition and is hardly expected to live.

The machine was driven by Dr. J. K. Barrett of 22 Lawrence street. Three eye witnesses stated attempted to cross the street midway of the block in a jam of traffic. The Barrett machine going south struck him as he stepped from behind another car.

He was knocked down but did not run over. The machine was brought to a stop before the wheels could cross his body. The injured man was placed in the tonneau and carried to the hospital where it is believed he sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries. The police who investigated the case made no arrests. Eye witnesses declared it was unavoidable.

DEATH ENDS BUSY LIFE OF PROFESSOR P. J. KING

Rome, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—Professor Palemon James King who was for forty seven years a teacher and who had pre-acted more young men for college than perhaps any other general teacher in Georgia died this afternoon at the home of his brother County School Superintendent John C. King after an illness of two months. He was a graduate of Mercer university and the University of Virginia and a Confederate veteran. He taught in Polk county, Floyd county at Hearn academy, Cave Springs in Chattahoochee county and in North Carolina.

The funeral will take place here Saturday morning and he will be buried at Cave Springs.

He celebrated his seventy fifth birthday last week.

Dozier Killed in Texas.

Rome, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—News has reached Rome of the death in a train of a Dozier, a wealthy citizen of Floyd county who moved to a short time ago. According to the report received here he was killed by the accidental discharge of his gun while out hunting.

DAUGHTERS SLEEP WITH MRS. GODBEE IN JAIL AT MILLEN

Millen, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—To comfort their mother in her hour of trial, Miss Sarah Godbee and Mrs. C. J. Barger daughters of Mrs. Edna Godbee who killed Judge Walter S. Godbee her former husband and Mrs. Florence Boyer Godbee his bride of four months have for the last four nights left their comfortable homes to sleep with her in a cell in the Jenkins county jail.

Relatives of Mrs. Godbee apparently were afraid she would give way under the nervous strain attendant on her approaching preliminary trial. Her sister arrived from Augusta a few days ago. Soon after she and Miss Godbee asked permission to spend the nights before the hearing with Mrs. Godbee. Permission was granted.

Mrs. Godbee has been given a large cell that resembles a bedroom more than a cell. Curtains have been hung a neat bed placed in it and other comforts added by her friends. There is little visible of the grim surroundings save the iron bars revealed when a gust of wind blows the curtains back.

Like other members of the Godbee family, closely related to the accused woman the daughters have made no statement. They seem to enjoy immensely the novelty of being voluntary lodgers in the county jail. Long after other prisoners are asleep there is a light in Mrs. Godbee's cell room and girlish laughter rings through the building and resounds against the walls of solid masonry.

YOUNG GEORGIA DOCTOR WINS GOVERNMENT JOB

Millidgeville, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—Dr. P. A. Saye a Georgia boy from Cherokee county and a graduate of the medical department of the University at Augusta and a member of the staff at the state sanitarium at Millidgeville has gone to Panama to assume the management of the new government hospital for the insane recently established in this country.

Dr. Saye wins this promotion and federal place because he ranked first in a competitive examination held by the medical department of the United States in all the state recently for applicants for this place.

There were a large number of applicants from all over the country and this Georgia boy stood the best examination of them all and was selected for this new medical work for our country in the canal zone.

SAVANNAH BANKRUPT HAD MANY IRONS IN FIRE

Savannah, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—L. A. Lindenfield, merchant father and banker of Stillmore, who recently filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition here scheduling $90,000 in liabilities and $60,000 assets on the witness stand before Referee A. H. Macdonell today revealed wonderful ramifications of his business. He admitted in response to the cross examination of counsel for his creditors that he had many irons in the fire.

Many of the questions propounded by the attorneys directed at the witness were doubtful about the value of his business. He was asked if he had not been indebted to his own companies the 1600 acres of fine land which secured the loans were not included among his assets up to last week. Mr. Lindenfield was president of the Bank of Stillmore.

FAIRBURN YOUNG MEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Fairburn, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—While trying to start a new Ford auto recently purchased by Walter Rivers three Fairburn young men came near losing their lives in an accident when the new auto slipped from the road on the back embankment just south of the bridge over the R. & A. railroad at the bridge between Fairburn and Atlanta just after noon Friday.

The machine was running at a moderate speed when it struck the ground on the left side of the road along the top of the embankment and it left the track and turned over on its side and a half minute before it was stopped by a tree at the bottom.

It left Tanner was running the car while Walter Rivers and Lawrence Campbell accompanied him. All came with very slight injuries. The car lost its wind shield shattered top and one wheel.

BOND ELECTION VOIDED BY NEWSPAPER'S DELAY

Rome, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—Because a Carterville newspaper became an advertisement of a bond issue was a few hours late in getting off the press the bond election involving $100,000 must be held over according to the stories of Carterville attorneys in the city today.

The law provides that notice of a bond election must be given for thirty days previous and the claim was advertised that the circulation of the paper containing the advertisement was a few hours late though it was admitted that some of the papers were delayed on time. This feature in connection with the validation of the bonds so a new election will be held this month.

Walker Accepts Rome Call

Rome, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—Rev. A. I. Walker of Charlotte, N. C. today accepted the call to the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Rome and will assume the pastorate on October 1. He succeeded the late Dr. G. H. Headden who died this month after a pastorate of thirty years.

CORPORATION TAXES COMING INTO TREASURY

Nearly Quarter of Million Received This Week—Another Dividend for Teachers Soon

The state treasurer was in receipt yesterday of checks aggregating $239,509.78 in payment of taxes for 1913 of various railroad corporations doing business in the state.

Those making payment were as follows: Central of Georgia, $116,888.85; Southern, $91,217.82; Georgia Southern and Florida, $25,367.87; Gulf Line, $2,491.84; Macon and Birmingham, $2,304.84; South Georgia railway, $1,209.98. Total $239,509.78.

Assistant State Treasurer Anderson said Friday that he expected to have over $500,000 in the treasury by the middle of next week. In addition to railroad corporations there are several other kinds of corporations which make their returns to the comptroller and pay their taxes directly into the state treasury. All these taxes are due Monday September 1.

There is coming to the state this year from these corporation taxes $752,113. This should all be paid into the treasury by September 10.

More Money for Teachers.

When this money is in the treasury it is not unlikely that another dividend of 20 per cent will be paid to the school teachers. Of course this cannot be done until Governor Slater's return but it is anticipated that another payment to the teachers will be made soon after he comes back. With another dividend of 20 per cent the teachers will have received 40 per cent of the money due them on this year's account. It is believed that there will be another dividend of 14 per cent at least paid before the end of the year. That would be a better record for the payment of teachers than has been made in recent years.

WILL NOT EQUALIZE COUNTIES THIS YEAR

Taxes Collected on Returns as Made Machinery for Revision Not Provided Until 1914

Judge John C. Hart the new tax commissioner is making a careful study of the returns from the various counties with a view to putting the law into effect next year as to the equalization of counties.

Taxes for this year will be paid on the returns as made to the various county tax receivers and reported to the comptroller general. There will be no effort made to effect an equalization of this year's returns as the machinery for equalization will not be provided until next year.

County Assessors After January 1.

After the first of January boards of county assessors will be selected in each county whose duty it will be to equalize the returns for their respective counties.

The books of tax receivers will open next year on February 1 and close May 1. Within twenty days thereafter the boards of tax assessors shall meet to go over the tax returns and the revised tax returns shall be forwarded by the county receivers to the comptroller general by July 1. This will bring the returns in several months earlier than in the past thereby giving the state tax commissioner time to make such changes and corrections in the returns as may appear to him to be necessary to effect an equalization among counties of returns for the same classes of property.

Should Select Best Men.

According to Judge Hart it is very important that the services of the best class of citizens be secured in each county to serve as county assessors. He believes that the success of the law will greatly depend on the character of the assessors chosen.

None but the best citizens in each county should be selected for the place, said Judge Hart Friday, men who have the confidence of their fellow citizens men brave to do their duty but conservative men.

PUT CARBOLIC ACID ON ALCOHOL STOVE, AND NOW HE'S SORRY

Rome, Ga. August 29.—(Special.)—Hot carbolic acid that will leave disfiguring scars and that inflicted dangerous wounds, splattered yesterday on George Campbell a young clerk of Lindale when he took the advice of a friend to heat the bottle in order to make the cork come out easily.

Campbell put the bottle on an alcohol stove in the store of Brittain Brothers and was bending over it anxiously waiting for the cork to loosen. The cork came and with it much of the acid. His eyesight was not injured and he will recover but he says never again when it comes to accepting the advice of a friend about cork removal.

SAFETY RAZOR USED IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT WHICH WAS FAILURE

William Abraham, of Montgomery, Ala., a business man, aged about 38 years, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon in a ward at the Keeley institute at 229 Woodward avenue. He was carried to Grady hospital, but later was removed to the Tabernacle infirmary.

He has been suffering from despondency lately on account of extreme ill health which had reduced him to an emaciated condition. Shortly after lunch, he slipped into his room, took a safety razor blade and slashed it across his throat inflicting an ugly and dangerous wound.

He was found by sanitarium attendants lying in the floor in a pool of blood, half conscious. But little hope is held for recovery. His relatives in Montgomery have been notified and probably will reach the city some time this morning. He had been an inmate of the institute for two or three months.

GOOD TIMES AHEAD!

If others have to lose it, we are glad to be the gainers. Last year the Texas cotton crop was about 1,000,000 bales over that of the previous year while the crop of Georgia was off about 1,000,000 bales. What was Georgia's loss, therefore, was Texas gain.
This year the cotton condition in Georgia
for August was 79.5 and for September 79, showing a difference of only one-half of one point, while in Texas, owing to the drought the August figure was 81.4 and the September figure 61.1 showing a loss of 15.7.

Last year the gain of Texas, in bales,
represented approximately Georgia's loss.
This year the percentage of Texas loss, for September, as against August is over thirty five times the loss of Georgia. Georgia's loss, however, stands so far below the percentage of loss of all the other great cotton growing states that good times for Georgia
are bound to come this winter.

Here are the figures: Georgia, 65, Alabama, 56, Mississippi, 74, Louisiana, 60,
Texas, 15.7, Arkansas, 9.8, Tennessee, 5.2,
Missouri, 19.8, Oklahoma, 15.4.
The loss of 9.7 points reported by the Journal of Commerce, New York, August 26,
is a general average for the whole of the cotton belt. Georgia not only shows up far better this year in crop conditions than all the other cotton states, North and South Carolina and Florida excepted, but in comparison with herself stands 8 points above
her own record for 1910 and 1912 and only 1 point below her own record for the bumper year of 1911. And Georgia's crop this year shows practically the same percentage as that of North and South Carolina and Florida.

From every viewpoint then it is apparent that Georgia is about to enter upon a season of great prosperity.

PROGRESS OF THE NEGRO.

The present year marks the 50th anniversary of the emancipation of the negro slaves in this country. The Negro Year Book, for 1913 compiled by Monroe N.
Work of Tuskegee Institute is, therefore,
of special interest.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican one of the most representative of our northern
exchanges concludes a lengthy editorial
review of the Negro Year Book with this significant statement:

Philanthropy in northern cities who labor to better the condition of the southern negro
must do so with a full knowledge of the fact that the emancipation and education of the whites and negroes who live in the south is a problem of the highest importance. The chief means of solving it is in the hands of the negroes themselves. They must build up the race and the country and help in the work of the world.

The following interesting facts are brought out by the book. The negro race has increased in the United States from 4,500,000 in 1861 to 10,000,000 today. Of this number 9,000,000 live in the south. Na-groes operate in the south $90,140 farms,
of which they own approximately 220,000.
The Russian serfs have been free 52 years.
Their property now amounts to $26 per capita. Only 10 per cent of the Russian peasants are able to read and write. The negroes have been free 50 years. Their property now amounts to $70 per capita.
About 70 per cent of them have some education. Today there are 1,700,000 negro children enrolled in the public schools of the south, not to speak of the 100,000 who attend other schools and colleges. It is estimated that, this year there will be expended for the maintenance of the negro
public schools of the south, over $7,000,000.
The Republican says, "And yet, while these figures are impressive, in showing the changes that have come, it is notorious

that the facilities for negro education are still inadequate."

On the subject of negro education, State School Superintendent Brittain, in his last report, says:

"The matter of negro education deserves
more attention from us. It is wise and prudent, as well as right, that we should give the negro the benefit of the training in discipline, orderly habits, morals, and education generally afforded by the schools. In connection with this we should change the character of the instruction given, making it
more of the industrial type in order better
to fit him for the work he must do in life.
While not at all antagonistic to missions,
I wish to insist that the work with the negro is more imperative in our back yards
than in Africa."

And so we are getting together on this important question. Wise men in north and south are coming to the same point of view. Fanaticism in the north and lethargy in the south, which have hindered progress, have been forced to get out of the way of a national and concerted movement that is both wise and righteous and that is bound to work mightily for the welfare of all sections of our country.

SMASH THE MASHER.

The recent experience of a pretty Atlanta woman who had to defend herself
against an alleged masher calls for more than a passing thought. Fortunately for her there was a policeman in sight and she had, in her hand a roll of paper with which to smash the alleged masher.

If all the mashers could be smashed,
and if every alleged masher could receive
a smash, it would be a relief to our women.

The seriousness of the situation becomes apparent when one knows that, for one such occurrence that comes to the attention of the police and the newspapers, there are scores of others that, for various reasons,
are kept quiet. The following true story illustrates the point in question. The other day an elegant and highly respectable
young lady, from a rural community, was visiting friends in Atlanta. Just one time while she was in the city did she have occasion to appear on the street alone.
Presently a man whispered over her shoulder,
"It's pretty warm today." No one else was within twenty feet of her. No policeman was in sight. The frightened girl moved faster. The man followed her. She crossed the street in an effort to avoid
him. He crossed the street right behind her. How far he followed she does not know for the reason that the nearer she got to the home of her friends the more frightened she became.

The upshot of it all is that the innocent
girl was prostrated with fright and her
otherwise happy trip to the city was spoiled
by a senseless masher who deserved to have his face so smashed that he will keep it at home and not come peering over the shoulders of strange ladies.

Any man young or old, who has no
better use than that for his countenance
ought to have it so dented that the home-
folks will not recognize him when he goes home.

As the boys used to say in the country
school night, Just let 'em keep on, he'll find out what'll happen.

THE WORLD WITH WILSON.

In his determination not to approve of the Huerta regime President Wilson has the backing of Great Britain, France, Japan and other powerful nations. The thing that should be especially gratifying to every American citizen is the support of practically all the Central and South American countries in the efforts of the United States
to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Mexican revolution.

Latin America has felt kindly toward the United States—with a few exceptions and rare instances—since the promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine. Argentina makes greater use of our legal documents than
of those of any other country, because of similarity in existing conditions. In the law libraries of Buenos Ayres and other South American cities are excellent collections of American constitutional, diplomatic and legal works.
Dr. Oka, recent minister of foreign affairs
in the Argentine cabinet, says they often find that the supreme court of the United States has decided questions on which they have only begun to study. Judge Cavalcanti,
a member of the supreme court of Brazil,
is a graduate of the Albany, N. Y. law school. The schools of several Brazilian states, of Peru, Bolivia and Chile, are, to a considerable extent, under directors and teachers from the United States. Many experts from the United States are now engaged in agricultural and other work for some of the countries south of Mexico.

Thus it may be seen that the president had good grounds for believing that his course would be supported by our South
American neighbors.
Mexico cannot long hold out with her
near neighbors and the rest of the world
against her. The world is right and Wilson is right. Mexico must get right.

COTTON SHOULD NOT BE MIXED

"A chain is no stronger than its weakest link." A bale of cotton is not much better than the poorest cotton in it. Government
experimenters have reached this conclusion
in regard to cotton.

Elsewhere on this page is a statement
from the agricultural department, Washington on "Cotton Test Arrangements." The results of these tests will be both interesting and valuable to cotton growers everywhere.

Already it has been found that when one part of a poor grade of cotton is mixed with nine parts of a higher grade, the poor cotton shows in the finished manufactured product.

To make the matter very clear, if a farmer has 450 pounds of a good grade of cotton, and fifty pounds of a lower grade,
not one pound of the lower grade should be allowed to go into the bale. The 450 pounds of good, unmixcd cotton is worth more than a 500 pound bale with a streak of lean and a streak of fat.

A Rhyme of Forewell.
Folger McKinney paints this picture of Summer shrinking from September Morn
A lady in a mist of moon
Stands by the gates of dusk a-croon.
The blued corn is in her hair,
Her brows are gray with sudden care,
Her eyes far off behold unseen
The fading of her world of green.
Dear lady of the dusk of tears,
Be comforted that through the years
Unchanging as a trust of time
Thou shalt remember us with rhyme.

Twilight Follows Naturally.
The Charlotte Tribune says a companion picture to the famous September Morn has been received in Iowa and it shows a youthful colored girl standing in the edge of a pool of water. This picture is labeled "A September Evening."

Just What They All Say.
Experience prompted post of The Dalton Citizen to the following:

At least he did his share.
But I don't think he ever found
The world was on the square.

And Then She Faded.
This one is from The Rome Tribune-
Herald.
An August Knight approached September Morn with these words upon his lips:
Hail! Solt qui mal y pense
'As she disappeared beneath the waves
The mermaid laughed
Kid away! I'm out o' sight!"

A September Motto.
This refrain is a good one with which to greet the coming of September.
No use in wishin,
While weathers fine for fishin
No use in sighin,
When the prettinesses are flyin',
Fish for the ketchin,
Dear hides needin stretchin
An honey for the fetchin
Every day.

He's Candid.

explain them but he adds that one little

Royal Tattooing.
King George of England is tattooed.
When he was Duke of York he had some elaborate Japanese designs pricked on his arms and chest and personally he used to take great pride in the excellence of these skin pictures. But Queen Mary dislikes tattooing and it is because of her pleadings that King George has just cautioned the Prince of Wales not to walk in his father's footsteps, as far as tattooing is concerned. It is a curious coincidence that the czar, who bears such a resemblance to King George that he may be described as his "double," was tattooed with the similar designs by the same artist who tattooed
King George.

CHANCELLOR BARROW INTERESTING TALKS OF NEGRO IN GEORGIA

By Martin V. Calvia.

At a recent convention of the Georgia
State Agricultural society at Cuthbert, Dr.
David C. Barrow, the distinguished chancellor of the University of Georgia, delivered a searching and very able address on "The Negro in Georgia."

The chancellor suggested that if objectors
would stop to consider how important to the farmer is a wise regulation of the labor situation, they would instantly apprehend the relevance of the views he felt called on to press upon the members of the convention.
Further, if objectors would consider the great extent to which the economic welfare of the state depends on negro labor they would quickly see a controlling reason for a careful discussion of the subject in its entirety.

The chancellor earnestly asserted that,
with 45.1 per cent of the population of the state belonging to the negro race the situation could not be overlooked. People of other sections and countries might deal with the negro theoretically. Georgia must be practical. Georgia has the negro, not a theory on the negro.

The chancellor had pressed upon an assembly of negroes that view of the question.
There was present a man whom Mr. Roosevelt, when president had sent to Liberia to inquire into the condition of the negro in that country. At the close of the chancellor's address, the visitor requested permission to speak a word or two. He said,
among other things, that the Georgia negro
was "in another world" compared to the negro in Liberia.

The chancellor said that nearly people were in grave doubt as to the negro. Many said he "agrees" with an old gentleman in his native county. A nigger is a nigger, a nigger always was a nigger and a nigger
always will be a nigger.

"He that as it may," argued the chancellor, "we have forty five in the hundred, and what is to be done? It has not been my intention to put to contempt the Georgia negro but rather to show how much he has improved and to encourage endeavor. Nine-twentieths means much to us."

It would seem that we knew the negro pretty well, said the chancellor. "We did know the negro we developed, but the negro
we have now is a different negro—a new negro. The negroes who live on my farms are pretty well within my knowledge so far as their daylight lives are concerned, but I have been surprised at the change which comes over them at night. They seem to go wild. They seem to have a tendency to revert to the savage at night."

The chancellor offered if any person in the audience had an accurate knowledge of the religious thought the negro had developed? He himself had none. His knowledge of the negro's religion related to the time when the latter was a slave. He could not say whether changes had been made in the religious belief taught him during the period
of slavery.

The chancellor had become persuaded
that in the matter of educating the negro,
we have been in error. The question is to what extent can the common school be made of the best possible advantage to the negro?
The chancellor said the negro should be taught to read and write. He should be taught geography especially as to the distribution of the negro population. Schools should be used for the purpose of scattering
the negro.

The chancellor urged that it was necessary and that it is our duty to study the negro. This becomes more and more difficult as time passes. The races are drifting apart. Mixing means ruin. The white man should know what is being done and what is being thought. Conditions should be diligently studied and action should be based on knowledge.

The chancellor directed attention to a map which he held in his hands. The map showed that the majority of negroes are located in the cotton-growing counties. The negro is less migratory than we are wont to suppose.

The chancellor said that inquiry had developed the fact that the negro is permanently located in Georgia. That negroes are not flocking to the cities. That the negroes are not rapidly growing rich.

The chancellor declared that the fact that
so large a proportion of our population
nine-twentieths, possess so small a prop-
tion of wealth one-twentieth brings us face
to face with a serious economic condition.
The chancellor insisted that while it may not be popular to say that the negro should be made far more efficient, the fact remains that that is a question closely related to the welfare of the state.

The chancellor expressed the opinion
that if the negro could be distributed over the United States it would be better for the negro and better for the country. "Nine men
can carry a negro easier than one."

The chancellor suggested that a first wise
step in bringing about conditions more favorable to all concerned, would be to repeal the state law which levies a tax on immigration agents. Georgia has more than her quota of negroes now, this has not contributed to the prosperity of the state.

The chancellor vigorously stressed the importance of educating the white youth of Georgia.
Of each white man must think and provide for himself and a negro, said the chancellor, then each white man should be trained to think twice as well as the white man who has only himself to provide for.
If eleven twentieths of the people must bear
the burdens of twenty-twentieths, then the eleven twentieths must be made strong. Instead of doing this, we are actually permitting our education to remain relatively low.

If the white child in Georgia must think and provide for two himself and a negro and the white child in Kansas has only himself to think and provide for, then the white child in Georgia should by all means be better trained than the white child in Kansas. Educate your children—educate them well, they will need it.

The chancellor had become convinced that the white people should do more supervision
—give more help of every kind to the negro. The demand is for a better negro than we now have. It was not his purpose to discredit the negro, but to get a true view
of the situation as it affects us and him.

The chancellor expressed the belief that the negro is beginning to feel that he needs help. If this be true, the problem was made less wrestling may be more easily
and quickly solved than now appears possible.

The most direct way in which to help
the negro, said the chancellor, "is to show
him how to help himself."

The World's Mysteries

THE IRON CROWN OF ITALY.

The Iron Crown of Italy is the most famous of all coronets. No one knows by whom or for whom it was made, and its history
up to the end of the sixteenth century is in doubt. The earliest quasi-historical notice of the Iron Crown is that it was used at the coronation of Agilulfus, King of Normandy, in the year 591.

This celebrated crown is composed of a broad circle of gold, set with large rubies,
emeralds and sapphires on a ground of blue and gold enamel. The jewels and embossed gold exhibit a very close resemblance to the workmanship of an enamelled gold ornament
inscribed with the name of King Alfred the Great, which was found in the case of Athel-ney, in England about the close of the sevteenth century, and is carefully preserved in the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford.

But the most important part of the Iron Crown, from which indeed, it derives its name, is a narrow band of iron, about threeeighths of an inch broad and one-tenth of an inch in thickness, attached to the inner circumference of the circle. This inner band of sacred iron is said to have been made out of one of the nails used at the Crucifixion, given by the Empress Helena,
the alleged discoverer of the Cross, to her son, Constantine as a miraculous protection from the dangers of the battlefield.

The ecclesiastics who exhibit the crown
in the Cathedral San Giovanni at Monza, Italy, point out as a "permanent miracle" that there is not a single speck of rust on the iron, though it has not been exposed close to 1,600 years.

On the 23d of May, 1805, when Emperor
Napoleon the First was crowned King of Italy at Milan, he wore his own crown, and placed the ancient iron crown of Lombardy
on his head saying "God has given it to me, let him beware who would touch it."

A Story of the Moment

BY WALT MASON.
The Famous Prose Poet.

ELOQUENT DAMES.

"I can't truthfully say that I envy Mr.
Jimalong his bride," remarked the druggist.
Of course, she's an excellent woman, as women go, but she stammers the worst I ever heard. When she undertakes to express her sentiments it takes her ten minutes to pass a given point. I should think it would soon become monotonous to her husband.

There are worse afflictions than that,
said the village parson. Jimalong might have married an epileptic, and then there would be some occasion for your sympathy.
His wife has an impediment in her speech,
but there's no impediment in her domestic science, and the way she can cook and sew is something to be admired.

Of course, I never expect to be married again, as I am well stricken in years, and
my present wife seems inclined to hold down
her portfolio indefinitely, but I tell you my friends, I did go on the warpath for a
bride, I did look around for a woman with
just such an impediment as that of Jima-
long. The trouble with all married women
is that they talk too much. Were it not
for this, matrimony would be the delicious
thing it is said to be by the poets.

I never had a wife who was reasonably
silent and for forty years I have been lie-
tensing to female tongues which would cease
all the talking which was and sounding brass
so much time in this drug store. It is true
that I talk a good deal here myself, but if I suspected for a moment that my discourse
was not appreciated, I'd close up as tight
as a bank on the fourth of July. I can talk here about some comfort for nobody
but me. I never expect to be married again,
as I am well stricken in years, and my present wife seems inclined to hold down
her portfolio indefinitely, but I tell you my
friends, I did go on the warpath for a
bride, I did look around for a woman with
just such an impediment as that of Jima-
long. The trouble with all married women
is that they talk too much. Were it not
for this, matrimony would be the delicious
thing it is said to be by the poets.

A husband is supposed to be the head of the house, and he ought to have the right of way when he wishes to talk, but this woman denied him. I venture to say that if husbands were permitted to talk as much
as they wish to at home, the divorce business in this country would be cut in half,
and most of the drug stores and livery barns
would be depopulated instead of coming down town to play checkers and tell stories.
I never had a wife who was reasonably
silent and for forty years I have been lie-
tensing to female tongues which would cease
all the talking which was and sounding brass
so much time in this drug store. It is true
that I talk a good deal here myself, but if
I suspected for a moment that my discourse
was not appreciated, I'd close up as tight
as a bank on the fourth of July. I can
talk here about some comfort for nobody
but me. I never expect to be married again,

just such an impediment as that of Jima-
long. The trouble with all married women
is that they talk too much. Were it not
for this, matrimony would be the delicious
thing it is said to be by the poets.

This evening after supper I read an editorial in the newspaper that started me to thinking. It treated of the proposed reform of our banking and currency systems,
a subject in which I am deeply interested.
So I remarked to my wife that this currency question was of vital interest to the people, and it was a pity they didn't try to understand it better. Now, if women were properly organized my wife would have seen that I was primed for an uplifting oration, and would have pretended to be interested, whether she was or not. But I hadn't uttered a dozen words before she broke in, saying, Speaking of currency, I'll have to ask you for $3, as I spent my last
cent at the dry goods store this afternoon,
and tomorrow I have to pay for those photographs I sat for week before last.

I felt as though somebody had poured
a firkin of ice water down my back, and asked where my hat was. You're going down town to get a new hat, aren't you?
And she asked why don't you stay
home and have a good time with your wife?
I might have explained for seven years
without making her understand that she had already spoiled the evening at home idea for me. You can't make a woman understand anything of that sort, and that's why
the whole business is so hopeless. The wife
simply won't let the husbands do the talking,
and the husbands have to go to the drug store.

It will be different with Jimalong. If he starts to say anything the chances are he'll be able to finish his remarks before
his wife gets her vocal organs in action,
and there'll be no reason for his going down town after supper. And since we have all gathered here to escape from our wives, let us play a quiet game for the smokes."

It is no wonder that when the installment

thus assuming, as Sir Walter Scott observes,
the haughty motto attached to the antique
diadem by its early possessors.
Monza is eight miles from Milan and the San Giovanni Cathedral is the chief object
of interest in that city of 28,000 inhabitants,
which has been the coronation town of the Kings of Lombardy since the eleventh century. The present cathedral was erected in the fourteenth century on the site of a church founded in 590 by the Longobard
Queen Theodolinda, and afterwards replaced
by a Romanesque structure.

The small chapel to the left of the interior of the Cathedral contains the plain sarcophagus of Queen Theodolinda. And it is in this same chapel that is sacredly preserved the Iron Crown which is supposed to have been the royal crown of the Longo-bards, with which the German Emperors were crowned Kings of Italy from the thirteenth century onward.

The Iron Crown of Lombardy is so small,
the diameter being only 5 inches, and the
circlet only 2 1/2 inches in width that doubts
have been felt as to whether it was originally intended to be worn on the head or
was merely meant to be a votive crown.

The legend as to the iron being that of one of the nails of the cross is rejected by historians and others, and cannot be traced
far back. How it arose or how any credence came to be reposed in the legend it is difficult to surmise.

Theodolinda was the wife of King An-tharic. In 591 the crown was used at the coronation of Agilulfus. In 774 at that of Charlemagne and by thirty-four other sovereigns. Henry VIII. of England was crowned with it in 1512, Frederick IV in 1452, Charles V in 1530, and Emperor Ferdinand I in 1538. In 1866 it was given by the Emperor of Austria to the King of Italy, Victor Emmanuel.

MOTHER CANNOT REAR HER CHILD IN PRISON

Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins, Who Goes to Life Sentence for Murder, Must Part From Child.

Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins, of Hall county, the pretty mountain girl convicted of having conspired with her lover and his brother to slay her husband, who recently was killed in North Georgia's most dramatic slaying, cannot take to prison with her the 2-year-old child whom she had intended raising in prison.

This was made known yesterday afternoon by Captain Goodloe Yancey, secretary of the prison commission, who stated that no one would be received at the state prison farm—to which Mrs. Hawkins is due to go—without having been committed by the county in which the conviction was made.

Mrs. Hawkins is 22 years old, and is the mother of three children, the eldest of whom is 5 years old. The youngest, Harold Thurman, has been in prison with her at Gainesville since her conviction, several months ago. Notice of the pathetic case was first brought by The Constitution three weeks ago.

This is the first time in years a similar problem has confronted the prison board. Mrs. Hawkins insists upon having the child with her in prison. Her aged mother died from grief during the daughter's trial, and the father can take care of only the two children who have been placed in his hands. Either an orphan asylum or private home awaits the youngest of whom the convicted mother will be deprived.

Mrs. Hawkins was tried for the murder of her husband, Arthur Hawkins, who was slain by Bartow Cantrell at the instigation of Bartow's elder brother, Jim Cantrell, alleged lover of the slain man's wife, who, it discharged, had conspired with her to slay the man. The Cantrell boys are to hang in September.

BAR GASOLINE TANKS FROM CITY SIDEWALKS

"They Are a Nuisance and Are Illegal," Declares Councilman Ashley.

City Attorney James L. Mayson has been asked for a ruling as to the right of the city to permit private corporations to install gasoline tanks on sidewalks.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley raised the issue at the street committee meeting yesterday afternoon. A representative of the H. W. Bowser company asked authority to put tanks at No. 107 Marietta street, 14 West Harris street, 16 East Tenth and 17 North Tryon street, but Councilman Ashley declared that the tanks are a nuisance and that neither the street committee nor council can grant to a private corporation the right to use the sidewalk for that purpose.

The petition of the Bowser company was held in abeyance until the committee gets the ruling of the city attorney. In the event Attorney Mayson rules against the tanks the committee will be asked by Councilman Ashley to revoke the permits already issued to those corporations which are now operating tanks about the city.

STALLINGS WILL MAKE ATLANTA MILK SURVEY

Public Meeting for Discussion of Pure Milk Will Be Held on October 3.

That Dr. R. E. Stallings, of the state department of agriculture, will make the milk survey of Atlanta recommended by the milk committee of the chamber of commerce, was the announcement by Dr. S. A. Visanska yesterday.

It was originally the intention of the committee to send to New York and have Dr. Charles E. North, a milk expert, come to Atlanta and undertake the task, but after a thorough investigation the committee reached the conclusion that Dr. Stallings and his assistant, K. D. Adkins, were in a position to make an entirely satisfactory examination.

Dr. Visanska, who is chairman of the milk committee of the chamber of commerce, stated Friday that on October 3 there will be a public meeting in Taft hall at which pure milk will be the chief topic of discussion. Physicians and trained nurses are especially urged to attend.

Dr. Stallings and Mr. Adkins will make short addresses. They will explain, with the assistance of stereopticon slides, just how chemists are able to count a million bacteria to the cubic centimeter of milk. Dr. Peter F. Behnken, state veterinarian, will also speak on tuberculosis among cattle.

According to Dr. Visanska it is not the aim of the committee to injure the dairymen, but it is the desire to educate them up to science of producing pure milk.

The committee has asked the federated women's clubs of Atlanta to join in the movement and has been assured by Mrs. Charles J. Haden that she will give her assistance.

SLICK SCHEME WORKED ON WOMEN OF DAWSON

Alleged Rescue Workers Almost Got Away With Big Sum of Money.

Dawson, Ga., August 28.—(Special.)—Clad in a uniform almost similar to that worn by officers in the Salvation Army and claiming to be doing "rescue work" with funds solicited and secured by him from charitable persons here, a white man calling himself "Captain Owens," late of Augusta, Ga., called at the homes of many of Dawson's prominent citizens yesterday and secured quite a snug sum in cash.

He worked a unique scheme to develop a spirit of emulation in prospective contributors by raising the figures showing on his list the amount given by the last donor, thus changing a contribution of 50 cents to one of $5.00. Late in the afternoon one contributor spoke to a neighbor of the large sum which appeared on the list as her liberal offering and was told that the amount was ten times greater than the actual contribution. Telephoning up and down the street to others whose names were enrolled as generous donors, the truth was discovered and in every instance the "scheme" had multiplied the gifts by ten. The information was communicated to the husbands of several of the ladies whose names were on the list of contributors and after investigating the matter fully, a prominent citizen had a warrant issued against the man, charging him with a misdemeanor. He was arrested and spent last night in the county jail here.

At a committe trial of the case this morning the matter was adjusted and a settlement reached by request of defendant's attorney, the terms being that the sums collected would be returned to the various persons contributing the same, the costs of the case to be paid by the defendant, who should then leave Dawson, never to return.

NORTON'S RELATIVES REFUND MONEY TO BANK

Savannah Man Arrested in New York Will Probably Be Freed After Reaching Home City.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Upon information furnished the New York police by the local department, Robert G. Norton, who left here Monday after, it is alleged, raising a $16 People's bank check given by his mother to $1,600, was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., last night. Chief Detective Murphy left tonight for New York to bring the prisoner back to Savannah.

By clever work Chief of Police Mel-drim and Chief Detective Murphy learned that Norton expected to visit in Brooklyn Miss Edna Robinson, to whom he was engaged. The police were furnished with this information. It was also learned that the lady was going to Fairfax, Va., and the police there were notified. Norton was apprehended at the home of his intended.

ed wife in Brooklyn. When arrested Norton had the $1,000 New York exchange which he had obtained from the People's bank in his possession. He had deposited $500 of the amount obtained before leaving the bank. This left a deficiency of only $100. After the arrest of Norton his relatives made a complete settlement with the bank, which loses nothing.

Owing to the fact that the relatives of Norton have refunded the bank the amount obtained by him, it is quite likely that he will not be prosecuted. He will be brought back to Savannah, however.

Arrested at Fiancee's Home.
New York, August 28.—The wedding of Robert G. Norton, a real estate dealer of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Edna Robinson, of Brooklyn, has been postponed by action of the police. Norton, apprehended last night at the home of his fiancee, is today in a cell. He was arrested upon the telegraphic request of the chief of the Savannah police who said that he was wanted in Savannah to answer a charge of forgery.

The detectives making the arrest called Norton to the doorstep of Miss Robinson's home and, without allowing him to communicate with her, took him away. The wedding was set for today.

Norton was held today in default of $2,000 bail until September 3 to await the arrival of detectives from Savannah.

CARNEGIE MAKES PLEA FOR CAUSE OF PEACE

Speaks at Unveiling in Peace Palace of Bust of Sir Wilham R. Cremer.

The Hague, August 29.—Andrew Carnegie was the chief speaker today at the unveiling in the Peace Palace of a bust of the late Sir William Ramsay, originator of the inter-parliamentary peace conferences and for 37 years secretary of the International Arbitration league.

Cremer, a carpenter, rose through efforts toward international peace to be a member of parliament. He was knighted by King Edward VII and received the Nobel peace prize.

Mr. Carnegie spoke of Cremer as "the pioneer in the greatest of all causes—the abolition of war." He then referred to the inter-dependence of nations, remarking that their annual exchanges in the normal course of trade are amounting to thirty-three and a half billion dollars and were rapidly increasing. Giving statistics of Anglo-German trade, Mr. Carnegie said:

"Why should these two Teutonic nations, mother and daughter, quarrel? Why should they not agree to demand peace on the seas, which is essential for this neighborly and enriching exchange? Why not invite our American republic, granddaughter of Germany, as a Teutonic nation to co-operate?"

"The only thing required for a world peace agreement is the co-operation of three or four of the leading civilized powers against disturbers."

After paying a tribute to the Russian emperor for calling the first peace conference, Mr. Carnegie said:

"Surveying the world today, the most striking figure to be seen is that of another emperor—the German emperor—who recently celebrated his twenty-fifth year of a peaceful reign. His hands are unstained with human blood—a unique record. Hence Germany's astounding progress, educationally, industrially and commercially, proving that the greatest of all national blessings is peace."

"If the German emperor were to invite the chief nations to confer upon the best methods for securing and ensuring the world's peace, success would certainly follow."

"All the world's inventions and discoveries have been achieved by slight advances, after the ground had been thoroughly prepared. Success probably would be with the change from barbarous war to civilized peace. One small spark would create a flame. The German emperor holds in his hand the torch."

Mr. Carnegie related how Dr. Andrew D. White, former United States ambassador at St. Petersburg and Berlin, had left the first conference at The Hague when the German delegation was about to withdraw and by an appeal to the German emperor had secured its continued attendance. He suggested a repetition of the pilgrimage and an appeal to the German emperor to call another conference, adding:

"Men killing each other like wild beasts in civilized lands would no longer disgrace humanity. Civilization would have supplanted barbarism! God speed that day, which I am certain will come and come soon."

"Man was created to ascend and by the law of being, he must march upward and onward to perfection. Be of good cheer, soldiers of peace. All goes well in this most holy of all crusades. There can be no such word as 'fail.'"

Crackers Cop Both-Play Two Again Today

Crackers Win Double-Header From the Trailing Pelicans; A Double Bill Again Today

By Dick Jemison.
The Crackers won both ends of the double-header with the Pelicans Friday afternoon, the first by a 5 to 0 count and the second 6 to 2.

Seven-inning affairs were agreed upon, but the second game was called at the end of the first half of the fifth on account of rain, but it constitutes a game.

A great running catch in deep center field by Kyle from the bat of Bisland in the fifth inning of the first game robbed the local shortstop of a sure home run.

Bisland's play on Kyle's drive right over second, which he turned into a double play, was one of the many brilliant stabs that this sterling shortstop has been pulling for the past two months.

First Game.
Joe Conzelmann had the goods on the Pels in the first game. Joe did not allow but one hit during the entire game and the opposing twirler, Elton Wilson, got that.

Conzelmann allowed only twenty-two men to face him in the seven innings, a feat that Slim Love performed exactly a week ago yesterday. But Conzelmann's performance was an even better one than Love's.

Love allowed four hits, while Conzelmann did not allow but one. Both had only one man left on the runways. Both got there by a single.

Wilson singled with two gone in the third inning and Conzelmann promptly fanned McKillen. With the exception of this inning, it was three men up and three down for the Pels and only this one man was left on the runways.

How We Scored.
The Crackers' first run came in the third inning. Agler hit to Erwin, who fumbled, allowing him to reach first. Then he threw wild, letting Joe go to second. Long sacrificed him to third and Welchance drove him home with a Chapman's single. Conzelmann's sacrifice and Agler's two-bagger to left sent another in in the fourth.

Nixon started the sixth by beating out a bunt. Chapman forced Nixon and Conzelmann forced Chapman. Agler got a life on McDowell's boot. Long's sacrifice and Agler's single, while Welchance sent Agler and Long in with a double to the score-board.

When Nixon was at the bat in the third inning, he fouled a ball that hit the plate, bounced and struck him in the eye. Nixon fell, screaming with pain, but in a few minutes was O. K. again. The eye was only bruised a little.

RALPH DEPALMA WINS COBE TROPHY

Elgin, Ill., August 29.—Two veteran drivers shared the honor of today's race for the Cobe trophy. Ralph DePalma and Joe Dawson. The former won the 302 miles grand in 4:31.55, but Dawson was only slightly behind, going the distance in 4:39.52.

DePalma drove a Mercer, while Dawson piloted a Del. Both cars took the course at approximately 112 miles, requiring 35 laps to complete. William Chandler had driven his Mercer car 33 laps, when Starter Wagner signaled that race contest was at an end and that third money went to him.

DePalma's average, 65.5 miles per hour, is slightly better than the previous record for this event, which is an annual preliminary race for the Elgin national, to be run with fifteen five cars tomorrow. The other five drivers who entered the race were disposed of as follows:

H. Endicott, Nyberg, went out at 258 miles after twice breaking his water pipe and his car catching fire. R. W. Rickenbach, Mason, was in his twenty-eighth lap when the race was called.

Spencer, Wishart, Mercer, lasted 192 miles when his broken spring sent him to the side line.

C. W. Luttrell, Mercer, lasted 125 miles when he quit with a burned-out connecting rod.

Ralph Mulford, Mason, was out in the tenth lap, after leading the field with the victors' dasher base running. There were no accidents of a serious nature, when his machine quit.

The weather was fair, and while the track was a bit faster than a year ago, it was somewhat rougher. Ten today's sacrifice hit, Welchance, stole bases, Nixon, Agler, Long (2); passed balls, Dunn, Yarnitz, Time, 1:09. Umpires, Rudderham and Pfenniger.

ITALIAN LEPER CROSSES CONTINENT AND OCEAN

Port Townsend, Wash., August 29.—Dominic Pitteri, a leper, who escaped from the Diamond Point quarantine station several weeks ago, reached Italy safely in spite of warnings sent to police and health authorities all over the United States and Canada.

News of Pitteri's arrival in Italy was received today on a post card mailed at Naples and dated August 18.

The postcard, which was signed by "Pitteri," was addressed to John Early, a Spanish-American war veteran afflicted with leprosy, who is employed as an attendant at the station.

When Pitteri escaped he had only $6 in his pocket. He made his way to New York with the assistance of an Italian secret society to which he belonged and from there he took passage to Europe.

WOODS ELECTED HEAD OF G. O. P. COMMITTEE

General Plans for Coming Campaign Outlined by Republican Congressional Body.

Washington, August 29.—The republican congressional committee today organized and outlined its general plans for the coming campaigns. Representative Frank P. Woods, of Iowa, who is regarded as a republican progressive, was elected chairman. He announced that the committee's work from now on would not be in the line of direct aid to individual candidates, but in furnishing information to the voters of the country.

Attention will be given at once to the pending contests in the third Maine, twentieth New York, first West Virginia and third Maryland congressional districts. The committee is preparing for the first time in its history to take part in a senatorial election—in Maryland, where a successor is about to be elected to Senator Jackson.

Next year there will be thirty-one United States senators elected in the various states. The committee purposes to avoid any conflict between its plans and the work of the national republican committee, which it is generally accepted here probably will meet in Washington within sixty days after the signing of the tariff bill.

Representatives Stearns, of Minnesota, and Kinkaid, of Nebraska, were added to the personnel of the committee to represent their states. John Eversman, for years secretary to Mr. McKinley and assistant treasurer of the committee during the past three campaigns, was elected secretary today. He was secretary of the Taft bureau during the last national campaign and is assistant secretary of the national republican committee.

Representative Crampton, of Michigan, introduced a resolution to call a national convention and to reduce the representation of the southern states. This was determined, however, to refer these questions to the executive committee.

AT THE THEATERS.

Jewell Kelley Company.

(At the Bijou.)

The performances this afternoon and tonight will close the first week's engagement of the Jewell Kelley company at the Bijou. It seems probable now that the popular little Marietta street theater will hardly be large enough to accommodate the crowds of this afternoon and tonight. Much interest attaches to the second week's bill, which will be seen for the first time in Atlanta on Monday afternoon. It is the sensational comedy drama entitled, "The Man From the West," a play brimful of strong dramatic climaxes and pleasing comedy. Matinees will be given every afternoon at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30. The box office is open all day and reserved seats may be obtained at any time.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

For Labor Day, Keith the bill at the Forsyth is going to be a sort that has done so much to make vaudeville popular and the Forsyth says. The headliner, Billie Sam, and his company, presenting the original sketch, "The New Leader." This sketch is founded on stage life. The idea has won favor in many of the principal cities and promises to be one of the best drawing cards of the season. Willard Simms and company, presenting "Flinders the Explorer," will be known to the patrons of the Keith as the comedians of the season. Alexander and Scott, the character comedians and four other splendid numbers will be on the program.

Kinemacolor.

(At the Grand.)

A Kinemacolor first week at the Grand has been a real success and there are now hundreds of people who will not miss a visit to the theater every day to see the program of beautiful natural color pictures and original first-run black and white features. The Kinemacolor program for next week is decidedly inviting. On Monday and Tuesday the subjects will be "The Struggle," a wonderful drama in two reels, and "Life in Lapland," an educational feature that is most interesting. For Wednesday and Thursday a comedy, "Keeping Up With Hubby," and Motor Race at Brighton Beach will be offered, and the last of the week will see the great three-reel drama, "Steam," conceded to be the most wonderful Kinemacolor picture yet made.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

Miss Emma Bunting will wear some stunning gowns in the production of "The Circus Girl." The play in which she is to appear at the Lyric theater next week. This drama offers the little actress a role which is exactly in her line, and of the kind which is most pleasing to her admirers. It is that of a young American girl who is on a visit with her father to England. It was determined, however, to refer these questions to the executive committee.

GET ENTRY TICKETS NOW, URGES SLATON

Superintendent Wants to Avoid Repetition of Last Year's Great Rush.

Professor William M. Slaton, superintendent of the public schools, issued a statement Friday morning, in which he again urges upon parents the necessity of securing entry tickets for their children. If a repetition of the uncomfortable situation of last year, when the children stood in long lines for the last two or three days, is to be avoided.

With the final appointments of teachers for the schools, made at the regular monthly meeting of the school board Thursday afternoon, plans for the opening of the schools on Monday, September 3, are assuming definite shape, and Professor Slaton is looking forward to one of the most successful years in the history of public schools in Atlanta.

Hours 9 to 6.

The children can be entered any day between the hours of 9 and 6 o'clock in the superintendent's office in the Boys' High school building.

In addition to those announced in June the school board Thursday elected the following teachers for the coming year, who will be assigned to their posts within the next week:

Assistant principal, Miss Dollie Orr. Grade teachers, Misses Naomi Dunagan, Julia Rogers, Annie Rogers, Anna Leland, Ethel Zacher, Clyde Griffin, Gertrude McDowell, Eunice Upshaw and Mrs. Marie Mahoney.

Teacher in Girl's Night school, Mrs. Mabel Mather.

Assistant drawing teacher in the Girl's Night school, Miss Willith.

Training nurse, Miss Gertrude Guard.

Superintendents, Mrs. F. C. Foote, Misses Lillian A. Johnson, Annie Cameron, Corlaine Warlick and Mary Clyde Prince.

Assistant clerk, Miss Beatrice Spell.

Negro grade teachers, Rosa Bell Rossette, Gladys Phillips.

Negro superintendents, Maudline Burch, Mamie L. Raiford.

New School Building.

In order to relieve the congested condition existing in the graded schools of the city, the school board has decided to secure the old Neal academy building on Moreland street and convert it into a graded school for white children.

For the past four years the greatly increased enrollment in the schools of Inman Park, Highland Park and Edgewood has made it well-nigh impossible for all of the children to be properly taken care of, but the new school district created Thursday with the academy building for school will enable the city to take good care of all applicants.

The matter of establishing a primary school for white children in South Atlanta was taken up and favorably passed on and steps will be taken by the board to secure a suitable location for such a school as soon as possible. A graded school for negroes in South Atlanta was also favorably considered, and will be established at an early date.

AGED CONSUL AND WIFE MEET DEATH IN FLAMES

New York, August 29.—Thousands of curios that had been gathered in many lands and stacked high in the apartments of Hipolito Uriarte, for fifty years a Spanish consul, fed a fire kindled in lighting a cigar early today and blocked the way of the aged diplomatist and his wife to safety. Uriarte was found dead leaning across a window sill, his wife, Marie Louise, mistook a window leading to an air-shaft for one opening on a fire escape and plunged four stories to her death. Uriarte was 82 years old. For fourteen years he was Spanish consul in New York. His last service was in Canada. During his travels for his government he had accumulated souvenirs and mementoes of every country in which he had lived. They crowded every nook and cranny of his apartments, and in the smoke and confusion resulting from the fire, effectually cut him off from escape.

The fire was kindled, it is believed, when Uriarte lit a cigar which he intended to smoke before going to bed. The aged couple had been up until a late hour celebrating the homecoming of their son, Louis, an accountant in Cuba.

Rivalry Growing Keener As Men Show Their Mettle In Constitution's Prize Contest

No. 1396 Leading Conductors in Subscriptions Turned in at The Constitution Office. Cash Payments Sure to Be Heavy.

"Twenty-five thousand votes? Oh, that's only a trifle compared to what I'll have before the week's out," said No. 1396, whose run is on the East Lake line. "I'm going to show a clean pair of heels to the boys who're in this contest, or I miss my guess. Why the people are just anxious to help me out. Every man I've talked to seems only too pleased to give me his subscription to The Constitution. I don't see why I shouldn't win that $100 I keep on as well as I've started."

"But suppose I don't win the $100. I stand a chance to get that overcoat or uniform or watch. And if I don't make any one of the prizes I'll surely get a substantial sum for my work. A man simply can't fail to win something worth while if he exerts himself a bit in The Constitution's contest. It's about the surest I ever heard of, and I've been in several and know of what I speak."

Cash for Subscriptions.

You men don't want to overlook the fact that if you lose out on the main prize and the others, you still win a mighty neat little sum in cash for the subscriptions turned in at The Constitution office. That's what makes this contest so different from others. Nobody can lose. Everybody is sure to win. Say you only get twenty three-month subscriptions and ten six-month subscriptions, which you'll make $8.50. Isn't that worth working for?

Don't you find the public only too willing to co-operate with you? Why, you men find that the people on his car offered voluntarily to form circles to work for him. He must be popular indeed, so win such loyal support. There's no reason why you, too, can't work the same plan. You know the only way to judge the popularity of any man in public life is to consider the efforts of the folks who support him when he's put to the test.

A Mutual Benefit.

Suppose, for example, you didn't win anything tangible from this contest. You still get the fact that you know your traveling public better and they came to better understand you would make your day's work easier and more pleasant. And a conductor is only human. He likes to know the people who he serves day by day. And they, after they've met him and found out just what sort of a man he is, enjoy riding with him.

PLAYING THE GAME

In the business game, as in the national pastime, the home run does not count unless you touch the home plate. In your business literature it's the finishing touch (which only the printer who "knows how" can give) that scores the run that wins the game (lands the orders). We are the "know how" printers. We play the game to win for you. Let us show you on your next booklet, brochure or catalogue. Now is the time to go after big business.
