TRYING TO ESCAPE LAND MEETS DEATH

Albany, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Following the killing of Officer Harris there was an all-night search, participated in by scores of men, but without revealing any sign of the murderer. The search was continued with redoubled vigor this morning, and resulted in the capture of the man shortly after 9 o'clock at Walters' Crossing, on the G. E. W. & A. railway in Lee county.

The capture was made by J. L. Akin and J. L. Reynolds, who covered the man with pistols and bound him. He refused to give his name, but admitted that he had shot Officer Harris. He told his captors that he had killed another man several years ago and had been sent to the penitentiary, but escaped.

Officers from Albany went to the scene of the capture and started back to the city. There were five men in the car with him, but before more than a mile and a half of the distance had been covered, it is asserted, that he made a desperate attempt to escape, though his hands were still tied. He had also lost much blood from a wound inflicted by Officer Harris after the latter had received his death wound last night. During the struggle in the automobile, Deputy Marshal B. M. Conahan, of Lee county, police foreman, placed his revolver against the prisoner's body and shot him through the heart, killing him almost instantly.

FIRE OFFICER SAYS HE'LL BARE CORRUPTION

three officers drinking whisky with inmates of the dive. The trio admitted having been in the place at the time specified by Moon and Adams, midnight last Wednesday, but denied drinking anything but ice water. Patrolman Lon W. Evans, who was also there at the time, stated that David did not enter the house, but stood with him (Evans) on the stoop. The plain clothes men declared they had seen David drinking at a table with the negro who operated the resort.

After Wood, Bailey and David had been suspended Chief Beavers called Evans into his office, stripping him of his badge and equipment, and disassociating him from the department for an indefinite period. The charge on which the chief acted was suspected perjury, and will be aired before the police court.

SMITH'S SCHOOL BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Washington, June 27.—A step toward solving the question of vocational aid to the founding of vocational educational schools was taken by the senate today through the passage of Senator Hoke Smith's bill providing for a commission to study the question and report to the next session of congress.

REVENGE IS ALIQUED

Policeman Bailey declared that the testimony Adams and Moon had given against him was prompted by a desire to gain revenge for action Bailey had taken against Adams several months ago, when he had arrested the plain clothes man and a reporter for a fight which had occurred at police headquarters.

COMMISSIONER FIGURES

An active part in the investigation is B. L. Smith, a police commissioner, who attended the trial and held a long conference with Beavers. Later in the afternoon the commissioner visited the house at No. 127, consulting with the board of police commissioners relative to a Constitution reporter, Mr. Smith said that the nature of evidence already unearthed tended to show that the resort evidently had enjoyed police protection from subordinate sources.

ATTORNEYS EVANS AND SPENCE ASSESS

The suspended officers express confidence of complete exoneration. They say that the charges are merely the outcome of an attempt to obtain revenge for petty wrongs which the plain clothes men believe have been done them. They declare their intention of producing sufficient proof to the effect that both Adams and Moon testified falsely.

SEE POLICEMEN DRINKING

They stated that on midnight last Thursday, Patrolmen Wood, Bailey and David entered the place. They were carrying in the window curtains used as a dancing hall. Wood and Bailey, they testified, sat first at a table in center of the room and called for whisky.

DAVID IS APPARENTLY 35 YEARS OLD

He is married and lives at 4 Battsfield street.

BLAOCK'S NOMINATION CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Position of Collector Will Be More Important and Profitable Under New Tariff.

Washington, June 27.—A. O. Blacklock, of Fayette, was today nominated by President Wilson as collector of internal revenue of Georgia. The nomination was later in the day confirmed by the senate.

The position of collector will be more important and profitable under the new tariff law than it has ever been, even before Georgia became a dry state, for the collection of income taxes will also devolve upon the collectors of internal revenue. It will be a highly complicated and difficult task to inaugurate the new system, and much responsibility will be thrown upon the collectors.

LEGISLATIVE COURAGE.

Georgia legislatures are not lacking in courage and statesmanship. Two striking illustrations are afforded in just the past few years.

It took nerve and it took statesmanship to repeal the convict lease system. That one act wiped out of the state's budget a source of revenue that would today probably exceed $500,000 per annum.

It took nerve and statesmanship to enact a state-wide prohibition law. That legislation took large revenues from the state's income.

No one criticizes either one of these actions, per se. Both comprise constructive statesmanship of the highest type. The man who suggested returning to the lease system would be laughed out of public life. The man who sought to return the cross-roads grocery or the open standing-bar to Georgia would share the same fate.

But combined, they wiped a huge block out of the state's income, increased still farther by the repeal of the dog tax. The statesmanship that developed the courage to materialize two great moral reforms must develop also the courage to supply the revenue thus depleted.

To the customary handling it is unfair to add others from dead men, from indifferent men or from men whose absence temporarily disfranchises them. The man with a due regard for his rights and his pocketbook will go to the polls. He would not be penalized by an amendment deciding bond issues by those voting and not by those registered. The only ones affected would be lazy voters and dead men.

There is no danger that a change would tempt to extravagance. The organic law already forbids a municipality to bond itself for more than 7 per cent of its assessed valuations. The inherent caution of those who honestly oppose all bond issues is another check. The chief danger is to progress, health and improvement, which may be jeopardized by the rule of dead men or apathetic citizens.

EASY WALL STREET.

The country will take with more a laugh than a frown the story from Washington to the effect that someone has been trying to sell Wall street a gold brick. It seems that some enterprising gentleman, as yet unnamed, phoned various attaches of the street and offered to deliver bodily the influence of Speaker Clark, Leaders Palmer, Fitzgerald, Henry and others who inhabit the seats of the mighty.

One of the most humorous features of the situation is that several Wall street enthusiasts were gullible enough to at least investigate the project. That goes far to bear out the assertion that devotees of this short but loud little thoroughfare are among the most superstitious and credulous of our citizens.

The other joke is that Wall street, famous the country over as a gold-brick artist, operating though with delicacy and finesse, should be regarded as a fit subject by one of the obviously vulgar variety. Verily, the silly season is on in full blast.

"SEPTEMBER MORN"

Chalk up one decided exhibit of common sense to the postoffice department in Washington. It has admitted "September Morn" to the mails. The picture that has been talked about from Maine to California and threatened apoplexy to several Chicago policemen, may now circulate freely without fear of arrest by Uncle Sam.

The future over "September Morn" is just another instance of that prudery of which this country needs to be purged. The man who sees scarecrows in every beautiful bit of nude art ought to take a course in clean-mindedness. Logically, he ought to reverse the mirror each time he indulges in a bath, if his sensibilities are so delicate.

There is little danger that public morals or the morals of children will be impaired by obscene exhibits as long as a decent public opinion rules this country. If this identical picture had not been made famous by the prudists it is doubtful if any Americans save appreciative art students would have known the difference. But self-appointed public censors took it on themselves to find evil where it did not exist, and to spread the news broadcast. The result is that people are told to approach an innocent work of art with downcast eyes and bated breath.

What a few of our citizens need is a good strong dose of common sense. If they will bid him to the nearest beach, they will see sights more shocking than this dimpled little lady of the autumn.

RULED BY DEAD MEN.

"One dead man kills the votes of two living men who favor municipal bond issues." That's the way Judge John S. Candler puts the effect of the present law covering bond issues, which requires two-thirds affirmative vote of those registered for ratification. The same influence is exerted by the stay-at-home voter or the voter away from town on election day.

Judge Candler cited these conditions as bearing on the municipal needs of Atlanta. He declared, in a recent interview, that no one questioned Atlanta's need for improvements in every direction. He said also that any citizen with the slightest familiarity with the city's finances knew these needs could not be met out of current income. He is chairman of a subcommittee charged with finding a way out of the difficulty. He believes, as one preliminary, that the present general assembly ought to submit a constitutional amendment letting the decision of bond issues rest with those voting and not with those simply registered.

The idea is thoroughly sound. The press throughout the state has taken to it enthusiastically. If their expressions count for anything it is evident that the predominant sentiment in Georgia favors such a change in the organic law.

It is hard enough, under the most favorable of conditions, for any community to insure progress where expenditure is involved. The overwhelming majority generally is for progress. The tight-wads, reactionaries and honestly conservative—a combination usually in the minority—must overcome. The burden of proof is always upon the man who advocates improvement. To the customary handling it is unfair to add others from dead men, from indifferent men or from men whose absence temporarily disfranchises them. The man with a due regard for his rights and his pocketbook will go to the polls. He would not be penalized by an amendment deciding bond issues by those voting and not by those registered. The only ones affected would be lazy voters and dead men.

There is no danger that a change would tempt to extravagance. The organic law already forbids a municipality to bond itself for more than 7 per cent of its assessed valuations. The inherent caution of those who honestly oppose all bond issues is another check. The chief danger is to progress, health and improvement, which may be jeopardized by the rule of dead men or apathetic citizens.

TO PROBE GEORGIA

The story published several weeks ago to the effect that Georgia spent, annually, $37,000,000 more for foodstuffs than she received for the crops gathered, has gone the rounds of the entire nation. It has now become the subject of a resolution introduced in the legislature by Representative R. O. Cochran, of Fulton county, providing for a state commission which shall inquire into the agricultural and industrial conditions of Georgia.

Mr. Cochran cites the fact that this big deficit has been charged against the producing power of Georgia. He declares it is time to ascertain its truth or falsity, and, if true, to provide a remedy.

He is correct. Not in recent years does the Constitution recall one statement so productive of controversy. If Georgia is thus far overlooking her agricultural possibilities, we should know the conditions. If she is not, the state should be relieved from the indictment.

Mr. Cochran would create for Georgia a commission equivalent to the country life commission which accomplished so much in the way of recommendation and remedy for America. His plan is worthy the attention of those legislators who recognize how inseparably agriculture is intertwined with the destiny of the state.

FOR SALARY RELIEF TEACHERS MAKE PLEA

Homer, Ga., June 25.—(Special).—The common school teachers of Banks county have gone on record in a ringing appeal to Governor-elect Tamm for an adjustment of the system that not only pays them "paltry salaries," but makes them wait indefinitely for payment of any nature. At a recent meeting of the Banks County Teachers' Institute and Educational association resolutions were passed which recited the conditions that prevail in Banks, as in other counties of the state. Those signing the resolutions are Oscar Brown, George M. Chambers, Misses May Henderson, May McMillard and Irene Payne.

Demand Cash System.

Among other things, the resolutions state that: "We, the members of the Teachers' Institute and Educational Association of Banks county, do most cordially and respectfully call your attention to the paltry and delayed salaries of the teachers of this county. We urge you to make an undivided effort to remove the evil by procuring us a cash salary system. It ought to be done, we believe it can be done, and with your help it will be done. We believe this can be done by the exercise of the power which is vested in you as Governor. If a wise and proper disposition of the public school fund be made.

We do not understand why the governor and all the state and county officials, who receive salaries, even to the courthouse janitor, get their pay promptly, and the teachers are not required to await the bidding of the power, that be.

"We make this appeal to you in good faith, recognizing your unquestioned ability and devotion to the educational interest of Georgia, and we are going to keep you posted on the work and place the teachers of the state on a par with other officials who are paid promptly for their services, and an warrants issued by the same authority of law.

"With best wishes for you and a successful administration, the within and foregoing is respectfully submitted."

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 27.—(Special).—The results obtained in the highly successful corn-growing contests inaugurated by the department of agriculture has led the department to plan for all kinds of competitions and demonstrations in agricultural work and farm home economics.

No less than twenty-eight different contests have been proposed. If the idea bears fruit as did the corn-growing contests scheme, the farmers of the United States and their wives, sons and daughters will be working for prizes in almost every line of their daily activity.

The department has just issued a booklet which points out the advantages of the contests, gives the complete list of the competitions proposed, and furnishes the forms for regulating the entries and the steps to be taken in the contest. This book is intended primarily for the use of lecturers on the farm-extension projects, at granaries, institutes and agricultural schools. However, it is none the less interesting to every one who is interested in farm and garden products, which includes about everybody in the country who gets or tries to get three square meals a day.

Proved Widely Popular. The contest plan has been so readily adopted to most lines of endeavor, and has offered so many opportunities for the securing of desirable and needed results that it has proved one of the most popular movements ever inaugurated for interesting the community betterment.

Through the contest many lines of work are being advanced and progressive principles being applied. They demand the actual doing of things and develop a spirit of loyalty among the people of any community. The football, baseball or other athletic contests makes the city schools or college a unit for the support of its team. In like manner the educational contest brings the people of all sections of township, county, state or nation to the support of the movement, and gives to these people a deeper appreciation of the merits of those engaged in the various lines of activity.

Perhaps the greatest good derived from the contests is that they do much to broaden the knowledge and viewpoint of the contestants. The work part in a corn-growing contest is developing a nucleus of good citizenship. He is not alone content with the planting, cultivating and harvesting of the crop, but studies all the literature regarding corn growing which he can secure. He sees the vast possibilities of his plot of ground under ideal conditions; he endeavors to secure these conditions by studying the latest methods and in striving to improve them. He tries to grow a larger number of bushels, but at less cost. He also seeks to become more proficient in the work and to extend his knowledge of the various phases of that branch of agriculture.

Over 200 Bushels on Acre. Improved methods and greater efficiency are the direct results of such contests. Through corn-growing contests that have been held in almost every section of the corn-growing belt it has been demonstrated that more than 227 bushels of corn may be grown on a single acre of ground. Without improvement in the ordinary methods of corn cultivation this astounding result never could have been accomplished.

Through similar contests some farmers have learned that they were producing eggs during the winter at a cost of about 40 cents per dozen, competition contests in the neighborhood showed that the cost could be reduced to 2 cents per dozen. As a result of this work new methods have been introduced. The attempt is being made to produce eggs of a better market quality at a lower cost, and to improve all forms of agriculture. It is to this end that the department of agriculture is undertaking to widen the field of contests until it included practically everything done on the farm and in the farm home.

These contests vary so widely in their nature, conditions and adaptability that no specific outline can be given for their organization. The department wishes, however, that contests which are to reach large numbers and cover considerable periods of time should be well outlined and thoroughly organized. It is suggested particularly that young people's contests should be organized in connection with schools, thus securing the support of the teachers and other school officials.

Premiums Prove Attractive. It is found that contests have greater attractions if they have the direction and support of, or are affiliated with, some recognized educational institution. The matter of premiums has been found of great

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES OF LITERATURE

THE SHAKESPEARE HOAX

The literary world has ceased to expect any further recovery of anything respecting William Shakespeare or in any way representing his writings. For close to two centuries, however, following his death, the hope existed that he had left behind him a channel was closely scrutinized in the hope of finding something that would further add to his already great fame. For that reason there were a number of hoaxes foisted upon the public as coming from Shakespeare, but what was the most astonishing are the manuscripts which are known as the "Ireland-Shakespeare Forgeries."

These forgeries, or hoaxes, were given to the public in and closely following the year 1785. They came about in a peculiar way, and no one has ever been able to explain the manner in which they were introduced. The slightest scrap of writing, referring even indirectly to Shakespeare, was to Samuel Ireland a treasure of priceless worth, and an autograph of the bard himself was a thing meriting almost the reverence of idols.

In 1785 Samuel Ireland's son, who was eighteen years old, and who understood his father's love for the poet, one day placed in his father's hand a deed bearing the signature of William Shakespeare. The deed was greatly coveted, and talked at once all the antiquaries and Shakespearean enthusiasts of London. It was looked upon as so authentic that it was some time before any inquiry was made by these scholars as to where the manuscript was obtained. Young Ireland took a story of having obtained it from a gentleman who found it among his numerous papers and gave it to him with the sacred promise that the giver's name should be kept carefully concealed. The honorable Mr. Byng, Sir Frederick Edon, and a great many other literary men, declared that where this one deed had been counted there undoubtedly existed that great mass of papers which had been long sought for in vain by commentators on Shakespeare.

Young Ireland was urged to try to obtain more papers. He was clever enough to do so, producing letters, pamphlets, poetry and finally an unknown play by Shakespeare. The literary world was in great excitement. Among the noted men who saw and implicitly believed in the authenticity of the Shakespeare papers was Dr. Samuel Parr, Henry Croft, the Earl of Lauderdale, Volpy, Sir Isaac Heard, Jonathan Hewlett, translator of the Old Temple records, and James Boswell. But perhaps the most remarkable name on the list was John Pinkerton, the historian and antiquarian, whose experience in antique writing may be held to have exceeded that of any other man of his day.

The new Shakespeare play that Ireland had discovered was called "Vortigern and Rowena." This more than anything else excited the literary world. The announcement of this play brought out an attack from Malone, one of the few who denounced the Ireland papers as forgeries, although he was probably actuated more by a bitter jealousy of the invaders of his province as collector of Shakespeareana than by any other motive.

The great theaters were eager for the play and Drury Lane was the successful competitor. Sheridan being then at its head. James Henry Pyle, the poet-laureate, and Sir James Bland Burgess, contended for the honor of writing a prologue to the piece. The 2nd of April, 1789, was the day appointed for the presentations and all London looked with eagerness to the event.

But there was one man who knew Shakespeare too well to be misled, like others around him. That man was John Kemble. That actor did take the part of "Vortigern," but he took it at the command of his superiors, and did not hesitate to call the whole production a forgery. At the first performance, when he came to the line—"And when this solemn mockery is o'er"—he pronounced it in so pointedly scornful a manner that an irrepressible clamor commenced in the crowded house, and settled the fate of Vortigern forever.

The public was not to be hoaxed. It knew the mettle of their illustrious favorite too well to be deceived. Young Ireland confessed that it was all a forgery, but those who were never able to learn who had assisted the boy in the deception, for he had not the ability to write a play as good as "Vortigern and Rowena," even had he been able to imitate Shakespeare's handwriting.

"ARE SOLONS BRAVE ENOUGH TO DO TEACHERS JUSTICE?"

Editor Constitution: Your editorial, "A State Demands Action," is commendable and is the renewing of a long drawn-out fight which is a blot on the fair name of the great state of Georgia.

It is a wonder how a state with so varied resources could so ungenerously impose for forty long years on ten thousand of her helpless servants.

A solution has been found for nearly every other problem that has confronted us as a state in the course of these years except the payment of the county teacher. Is it because a large number of our teachers are women and are not feared at the ballot box, or is it because no one has been willing to offer a solution?

Doubtless all our financial ills can be cured by remedying our moth-eaten system of taxation. There will, without doubt, be objections to this in some quarters. That must be expected when millions of acres of farming lands in Georgia that cannot be bought for from $50 to $100 per acre are being given in for taxation at $7.50 to $10 per acre. We had just as well put the blame where it belongs—in the count.

Our country legislators were brave enough to spring the prohibition issue and drive liquor from the state. Will they be equally as brave in settling the question of tax equity? We shall see.

Remember, gentlemen, when you have this question up for settlement that you have only to open your eyes to find tens of thousands of illiterate Anglo-Saxons made so by our poor system of paying teachers and if our lawmakers whittle and whittle over this question as formerly, thousands more will grow up and join the ever-increasing number.

Will not every one in Georgia who believes in common justice speak now? W. R. FULLERTON.

"NEGLECTED COUNTRY TEACHER LEADING FACTOR IN GEORGIA"

—C. S. Barrett

"More important than any governor or statehouse officer or United States senator is the country school teacher of Georgia and she is being shamefully neglected by the state and often forced to discount her salary at from 2 to 30 per cent." That is the verdict of Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Union, who speaks with authority since he was himself once a country school teacher in Georgia. Mr. Barrett visited Atlanta yesterday and was interviewed by The Constitution.

"I cannot too highly commend The Constitution," continued Mr. Barrett, "for its campaign to secure justice to this supreme class of those who are molding the citizens of tomorrow. The city teacher gets his or her salary, and it is primarily compared with that of the country teacher, promptly. The country school teacher must wait, in many cases for a full year, after the salary is earned before it is paid. The salary is small enough at best, barely enough to keep body and soul together. Very many times, the plan for that salary is taken, by force of circumstances, to a shylock and discounted for a fraction of its value. The condition that tolerates this spectacle indicts the commonwealth of Georgia. It gives the state an unwelcome and unlovely advertisement throughout the nation.

Function of Teacher.

"Few Georgians recognize the importance of the function of the teacher. It is easy to say that the teacher is equipping the youth of tomorrow. But when we realize that the majority of the state's children spend more hours with her, at least more of their waking hours, than in the home or with their mothers, the significance of the work that is done in the schoolroom is appreciated.

"The effects of that work is going to show in the Georgians that will dominate the coming generation. It depends upon the teacher whether they shall be well-informed, mentally vigorous and productive or sluggish. What sort of teachers are we securing for the youth of the state when we subject them to this sort of treatment? Why, it is a great surprise that our educational system has not gone to pieces years ago.

"The legislature will do a lasting service to the state if it corrects this condition. It should not go home until it does justice to the men and women who are training the citizens of the future and the mothers of the next generation."

American Architecture.

(From the Chicago Journal.)

American architecture has two starting points—the home and the office. In both it has done much copying and experimenting and made not a few mistakes. But in both it is winning to solid ground at last and achieving new, beautiful and lasting work.

The typical office building is the steel skyscraper. This, when treated as a skyscraper, is one of the most impressive forms of architecture on earth. Not to mention local examples, the West Street and Woolworth buildings in New York, have a beauty all their own—a towering grandeur which owes little to builders of any earlier age.

No single type of building will become universal as a home in a country as vast as America. The colonial house, the "mission" house, the bungalow and many other forms are used by progressive architects.

The French chateau has left a lasting impress on the designing of more costly homes. But the age of imitation is past. Homes nowadays are being built for comfort and beauty, not in servile copy of "classic" styles.

NEW PROPOSITION TO EXTEND W. & A.

Senator Sweat's Joint Resolution Looks to Carrying State Road to Jacksonville

A resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to look into the matter of extending the Western and Atlantic railroad to Jacksonville through Fort Valley, Waycross and St. Marys was introduced in the senate Friday morning by Senator J. L. Sweat of the fifth district.

The Southern railroad is the owner of a line extending from Atlanta to Fort Valley which it is under consideration would dispose of and the Atlantic, Western and Northern Railroad company, the owner of extensive terminal facilities at the port of St. Marys with a line to Kingsland which it is also understood could be purchased by the state.

From Kingsland to Waycross and from Waycross to Fort Valley it would be necessary to build a line along the "Ridge Route" where the conditions are such as to render the cost of railroad construction small.

The idea embodied in the measure of Senator Sweat is to provide a construction of the necessary lines in order to make a complete system from Atlanta to Jacksonville and that this line should either be taken in a direct charge by the state or leased for a long term.

Would Yield Bill Revenue
The author of the measure in speaking of his plan states that it is a plan which would tend to increase the state's revenue by the carrying of passenger traffic through the public at large interests and the people of this state if it were not for the state or if leased would yield the state an immense amount of revenue to relieve the financial straits of the state from the burdens of taxation.

The proposed measure is to be introduced in the senate by Senator J. L. Sweat of the fifth district. It is to be introduced in the house by the same senator.

Agriculture in Schools
Another bill of importance was the bill of Senator W. J. B. H. of the eighth to require the carrying of agriculture in the state schools of Georgia. This measure is only applicable to towns of less than 100 inhabitants and to any school situated in any way by the state.

The author in speaking of the measure stated that the state would be divided into even agricultural districts similar to congressional districts and each of these districts the state school system is to be supervised by the state school commission.

New Bills Introduced
New bills introduced in the senate Friday follow:
By Bush of the fifth—A bill to make unlawful the carrying of passengers on trains and to prohibit interstate persons from riding on trains.
By Bush of the fifth—A bill to require the teaching of agriculture in the public schools.

By Hull of the thirty fifth—A bill providing that notice shall be given coadjutors before goods are sold by carriers.
By Hull of the thirty fifth—A bill to require railroad companies to allow children and 1 year olds to work in factories in 1915 under 11 years in 1914 and under 12 years of age in 1913.

By Watts of the eleventh—A bill to allow voters of counties to abolish office of county treasurer.
By Jones of the thirty ninth—A bill prescribing a method of notifying members of county boards of education of charges against them.

Resolutions Ask Mass Meetings In Towns Along Line of W. & A.

At a mass meeting held here presided over by Mayor H. M. Veach the question of the disposition of the state railroad was discussed and a memorial was issued to the towns along the line to hold similar meetings and appoint committees for conference about the matter.

To the end that the people may be heard who come in daily contact with the problem it is the desire of the towns along the road to get together and present their views to the coming convention that is proposed to be held in Atlanta.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERS HOUSE SEAT CONTESTS
The committee of nine representatives appointed from the house Friday morning to investigate the legality of the seats of Browning of Bleckley county and McArthur of Wheeler county met in the speaker's room at the capitol Friday afternoon but reaching no decision in the matter adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The main point of contest is the constitutional limitation of the number of representatives to 124 while the admission of these two representatives of new counties would give a total of 126 thus laying the legislation of this session of the assembly open to attack upon its validity. Representative Fullbright of Burke county introduced the resolution contesting the seats Wednesday morning.

Of the two members whose seats are contested Mr. Browning of Bleckley was presented at Friday's committee meeting.

The committee is as follows: Representatives Fullbright of Burke chair, a Griffin of Lowndes, Slater of Bryan, Miller of Bibb, Hardeman of Jefferson, Gower of Crisp, Wright of Floyd, Blackburn of Fulton and Pickett of Richmond.

BOTH HOUSES RECEIVE CHILD LABOR BILLS
With the introduction of two bills in the general assembly on Friday one in the senate and one in the house a determined fight upon child labor in Georgia was begun.

The bill in the senate introduced by President Randolph Anderson and Senator Fred Kea provides that after 1913 no child under 12 years of age shall be employed in Georgia factories after 1914 no child under 13 years of age shall be employed and after 1915 no child under 14 years shall be employed.

The measure also provides that no child between the ages of 14 and 16 years shall be employed unless he can read and write ordinary English sentences repeating the former act upon this point.

The bill in the house introduced by Sheppard of Sumter makes practically the same provisions as the bill in the upper branch.

The bills have been approved by the Georgia Textile association.

DR SOMMERFIELD GETS $1,000 DAMAGE VERDICT
Dr. J. P. Sommerfield of 300 Washington street received a $1,000 verdict in superior court yesterday from the Georgia Railway and Power company for injuries to himself and damage to his automobile as a result of a collision with a street car on March 19, 1912 at Hill street and Glenwood avenue.

According to the plaintiff the corner where the accident occurred is dangerous on account of a store being directly on the corner and shutting off the view. It was also claimed that the street car was recklessly run and that its brakes did not stop it when the motorist endeavored to apply them. The suit was for $10,000.

Dr. Sommerfield was represented by Attorney Dorsley Brewer Howell and Heyman while the street car company's side of the case was presented by Coiquitt & Conyers.

Why the Trust Company Makes the Best Administrator

Heirs Finally Get Judgment for Small Part of Estate

A case recently settled in the ordinary court of a south Georgia county and to which wide publicity was given in the Georgia press tells of a heavy loss sustained through the conduct of the personal administrator. The heirs who six years ago received only $5,000 from an estate valued at $20,000 brought suit against the administrator for the amount claimed to be due and were given a judgment by the ordinary for principal and interest amounting to $7,110.

From the foregoing facts which were related more in detail in the Atlanta newspapers, it seems the heirs of the estate received only about 60 per cent of its value in something more than six years, and 60 per cent of the amount realized is in a JUDGMENT AGAINST THE ADMINISTRATOR, which is yet to be converted into cash.

In the hands of the TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA all estates are wound up and distributed as speedily as possible, with due regard to their best interests, and no single beneficiary has ever complained of the loss of one penny that was due.

Crackers Play Billies—Motorcycles Buzz Tonight

Gilly The Gopher

(He Plans a Vacation Trip)

By L. GREGG

WHIFFS

Time for Action

THE CRACKERS are in the most peculiar position of any team that ever played baseball in the Southern League. At only fans and scribbles are a unit in deciding the team a strong one. The pieces of the other seven cities in the circuit admit it though not as brazenly of course. Yet the team is not in the position that its natural strength entitles it to.

Consistency

FIRST and foremost the main trouble has been the lack of consistency day in and day out pitching. Under stand we do not say winning hurling stand we do not say winning hitting gets to be steady day in and day out. Consistency it will be some consistent winning hitting as consistency brings confidence. Price and Conzelman alone have been consistent. The others and there have been many have been in and outers. This inconsistency on the part of the hurling corps has made the rest of the team play the same kind of ball.

Concerted Action

MORE concerted action is necessary. The team is formidable on the attack so far as straight slams but in the field it is not so strong. In several of its departments has not been utilized as it should and the standings shows it for instance Long, Welch, Bally, Alpermann, Agler, Bisland and Smith are all moderately fast men. The names named are as fast as any in the league and in team. The steal in Atlanta and Nashville are the only teams that are so far base runners. A little more recklessness on the lines is needed.

Other Faults

ERROES at all times by men who are better than averages. Errors in plays that should be easy outs have figured in several of the games. It is not as if when there was no apparent reason why the boys should be better than average. A whole should field better than it has. The infield looks as good as an in the league and the outfield taking everything into consideration takes its part of the team as next to last. New Orleans only being better.

Go to Waste

THUS the powerful attacking strength of the team has been practically offset by errors at critical times. Lack of speed on the bases in consistent pitching and we might add inability to win the ball some errors of omission not chargeable in the box scores but which considering the thinking ability of the men in the team makes the mission trials look the more pallid.

Not Knocking

WHILE it is known that it is the prerogative of sporting editors to criticize a ball club. We're with the club tooth and nail and always have been. We hate to see such a good club kick away such a fine opportunity to win a pennant. It is not of concerted consistent action. How to correct the faults mentioned is not in our province. That's up to Manager Smith and as a fan we are sure he is able to find the key to the situation before many more days have slipped past. Stay at the pitchers first is our suggestion.

Some Opinion

IN READING the comments of the sporting editors of the other papers around the Southern League the same opinion is expressed. One scribble says: Give the Crackers three consistent pitchers and the team will play consistent winning ball. But until reliability on the mound is secured they cannot be expected to play consistently.

Come On, Billy!

MANAGER Smith had better look to his laurels. Two of his former pupils have walked away with pennants in little leagues. Perry, Lipe copying the first half of the pennant with his Savannah Sally League team and Otto Jordan certain to win the first half with his Valdosta team. The first half in the Empire State League ends today.

In Error

WHILE it was in error in its state yesterday morning that the Crackers could not realize on the sale of but two of the players owing to optional agreements now existing it now develops on closer investigation that Conzelman, Musser and Long are the only men on the locals roster who do not belong to the Crackers out right. Pittsburgh has a string to Conzelman, and Washington to the other two.

Crackers Give King Brady Some Brilliant Support; Locals Squeeze Out a Win

By Herbert Caldwell

Memphis Tenn June 27.—(Special) Demonstrating that a baseball team today may look and perform like an entirely different aggregation tomorrow the Atlanta Crackers did that very thing when they took the second and last away series from Memphis this afternoon. Score—2 to 1 and incidentally made it two out of a three cornered series.

Brady was the stingy thing in pinches and a number of almost Memphis runs never matured and thereby hangs the tale of why Atlanta won and why Memphis lost. Brady was found for a total of ten hits three more than were accumulated off Newton but the hitting thinker kept his hits so well scattered and so scarce in pinches that one run was the best Memphis could do with their efforts.

First Half

The very first Cracker to face Newton made the circuit for the first out going opened with a single was sacrificed to second by Welchone and scored on Alpermann's single.

Both teams worked along until the sixth frame when each put another run over.

The Crackers started the sixth with a single by Smith. Bally tied a run in the seventh and a second by the Cloutier by hitting a single. Smith to Butler. Smith taking third on the attempt at first. Chapman lined to Bisland who dropped the ball but threw to second in time to let Cloutier. But who in all this was going on Smith crossed the rubber with the winning Atlanta run.

With one out Love started the eighth for the Turtles with a single which left Bisland. Ward beat out a slow grounder to Smith. Schweitzer crashed the center scoring Love and sending Ward to second. Schweitzer was caught off first base and a head out for third. Chapman turned the attack upon Ward and the local third sacker was run down but Schweitzer moved on to second. Abstein was an error though and a Memphis hope went glimmering.

Turtles' Big Chance

Memphis tossed away one of the best chances they probably ever had for the game in the eighth. With one out Love singled to a starter and then stole second. Ward shot a grounder to Bisland. In an attempt to head Love at third Smith dropped the ball and all hands were wide. Ward stole second and the bases were jammed. Abstein grounded to Smith and Love was headed off at home.

Shanley ended it by striking out in the ninth but a threat was all. With two out to work on Merritt was sent in as a substitute for Newton and singled over second. Love barked away out to Alpermann and Butler forced Merritt at second.

Of the accumulation of seventeen hits off both pitchers all with the exception of the two frames when Atlanta scored the Crackers hardly ever threatened. Newton pitched good ball except in these two incidents and was well supported.

M'NEIL-RICHARDS MATCH TONIGHT

Daring Motorcyclists to Settle Supremacy—Other Light Riders Meet in the Other Events at Motordrome

Some new riders are going to smash into the standing table at the Atlanta track tonight. Manager Jack Prince has worked up a new program for tonight's meet that promises more excitement and less certainty about the winners than any offered thus far this season.

In the first place he has grabbed Jack McNeil and Wilmer Richards and taken them out of the sweepstakes and purse events entirely. And because they are the best riders at the track and have the fastest machines he has matched them for a series of races three in all at 3 miles each for a purse of $100.

Standing of the Riders

Rider	First	Second	Third	Points	Total
Richards	4	2	0	0	28
Renel	0	2	2	1	14
McNeil	2	0	1	1	13
Shields	0	1	0	1	10
Graves	0	1	0	0	4
Lockner	0	0	1	3	3

Other Riders Joyns

With McNeil and Richards out of the two stake races look what workers they will be. Eight riders will take part four to each heat and four in the final. Of the eight riders Renel, Shields and Graves have each won second money at least once. Lockner has also won a third prize. Apparently these men will be the contenders.

But then Hears Lewis proved in his match with J. B. Adone of Dallas, in the finals today of the Gulf States tennis tournament. Nat Thornton of Atlanta, will meet Carleton Smith of the same city tomorrow in the challenge round for the title of southern singles champion. Smith last year today's score was 4-6, 5-1. The semi-finals in doubles scheduled for today were postponed on account of rain. These and the finals will be played tomorrow.

Conzelman Faces Billikens In Opening Game of Series; Billikens Lead the Locals

Joe Conzelman the Crackers star right hander will probably by Manager Smith's hurling selection in the opening game of the series with the Montgomery Billikens this afternoon.

If Conzelman twirls the kind of ball that he has in his first four starts he is certain to score his fifth successive opening game of the series with the Montgomery Billikens this afternoon. It is not his turn to pitch but the boy has asked permission to twirl the game and the local manager is not adverse to granting it in view of the fact that he continues to win.

Elmer Brown will probably be the opponent of the local team in this engagement and a pitchers battle is sure to be the result.

The engagement with the Billikens comes to a close Monday, and Tuesday the Crackers open up their final series of the present road trip by battling the Mobile Gulls in Gulfport, appearing back home again Friday for a double header with the New Orleans Pals.

Jack Johnson Has Escaped; Laws Prevent Extradition

Washington June 27.—Jack Johnson has made good his escape from the United States for the time being at least and can neither be extradited nor deported from Canada, according to the latest official view here.

Johnson it has been learned is traveling on a tourist ticket and Canada cannot return him because her immigration law doesn't exclude a transient alien in such circumstances.

Johnson's offense is not extraditable. Officials here were making an effort today to have the negro returned to this country under Canadian immigration laws but it has failed.

If the United States circuit court of appeals sustains Johnson's conviction his one year sentence for violating the white slave law will be enforceable any time he returns to the United States.

BIRMINGHAM MAY BENCH LAJOIE

Game's Greatest Infielder and Batsman Has Just About Reached End of His Rope, It Is Said.

Chicago June 27.—Manager Birmingham of the Cleveland Americans admitted today that he might retire Napoleon Lajoie as regular second baseman of the team. He said, however that for a time Lajoie probably would continue to hold his old place. Turner is slated to succeed him as second baseman but there is no intention Birmingham said of letting Lajoie get away from the team since he is hitting in his old time form and is still a good fielder.

Cleveland Ohio June 27.—The benching of Napoleon Lajoie by Manager Birmingham would remove from active service one of the oldest stars of baseball. He has been slowed up by injuries which kept him out of the game several weeks after he had apparently started on another successful season.

This was Lajoie's seventeenth season in major league baseball. From 1897 to 1901 he played in Philadelphia. Since then he has been with Cleveland part of the time as manager.

By many he is rated as the greatest hitter that ever lived. Starting with 1897 his yearly averages have been 382 328 379 346 422 369 365 381 328 365 299 289 324 384 355 368 322.

He is 33 years old.

Former Pelican Star Will Probably Take George Loh's Place—Will Join Crackers Sunday.

Memphis Tenn June 27.—(Special) Frank Manush formerly of the New Orleans Pelicans but recently unconditionally released by Charley Frank was today signed by Manager Smith as utility player.

Manush has been in this city ever since his release. He will leave here tomorrow night for Montgomery to join the Crackers.

When asked about this trade President Calloway of the local club said it was the first he had heard of. Just what will be the outcome of the trade is not known but it is presumed that Manush will take the place of George Roche as the Crackers utility player. If Manush's injured leg has improved completely he will be quite an improvement on the present utility man.

Manush played thirty-odd games with New Orleans this season before he was released.

Jackson Reinstated.

Chicago, June 27.—After a conference today President Johnson expressed himself as pleased with Manager Birmingham's explanation of the fracas for which Jackson was suspended, and immediately lifted the suspension of that player, although the term originally imposed did not expire until tomorrow.

GEORGIA TENNIS PLAY POSTPONED

Finals in Doubles Go Over Until Next Week—Players Are Now Playing in New Orleans.

The finals in doubles in the Georgia state tennis championship which were postponed last Saturday on account of the rain and set for this afternoon, must go over until next week.

Grant and Thornton and Mansfield and Smith the two contesting teams, are in New Orleans playing in the southern tennis tournament there. They expected to return today but the tournament, due to rainy weather, stretched out a day longer than was expected.

One set was played last Saturday. Grant and Thornton winning 6 to 4 and one game had been decided in the second set when the downpour came. It is coincident that these same teams met in the semi-finals for the southern championship at New Orleans yesterday.

MEYER GIVEN PARDON BY GOVERNOR BROWN

Freedom for Man Who Killed Woman for Having Insulted His Sister.
Governor Brown this afternoon commuted the sentence of Lep Meyer, of Macon, to present service. Meyer killed a woman in a disorderly house some time over a year ago, and was tried for murder. He was convicted of manslaughter, and received a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary at the trial of Judge J. E. Harris.

It was one of the most sensational murder cases in Macon in recent years. Meyer's sister, Mrs. Meyer, who had been insulted by some one calling her up from the woman's house.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—Lep Meyer, who was today granted a pardon by Governor Brown, was convicted here thirteen months ago of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of Mary Moore, a woman of the underworld, and was sentenced to serve twenty years in the penitentiary by Judge K. J. Harris.

At the trial it was alleged that the Moore woman had insulted Meyer's sister, Miss Ray Moore, a milliner, over the telephone, and that night Meyer, accompanied by his brother and another friend, went to the house run by the woman to find out who had done the telephoning. An argument arose between Mary Moore and Meyer, and the former started for her bureau to get her pistol. As she did, Meyer drew his gun and fired into the ceiling.

Previous to the killing Meyer was a singer in local motion picture houses and had borne a favorable reputation. His sister and other relatives were overjoyed today by the fact that he should be free to go home and base his home on a security nearly 70 years.

LANFORD AND FELDER INDICTED FOR LIBEL

Indictments Grew Out of the Dictagraph Episode and the Letters Which Followed.
Formal investigation into the invectives hurled between Colonel Thomas E. Felder and Detective Chief Newport Lanford resulted yesterday in indictments of criminal libel being returned by the grand jury against each of them for their cards and interviews in the daily papers in which they attacked each other's character, after the dictagraph row.

Colonel Felder is held under two indictments on a bond of $500, while Chief Lanford has one indictment against him, and is free on the same bond.

The offenses charged against each are misdemeanors, and the punishment in case of conviction, is six months in the county jail, twelve months in the penitentiary or a fine of not more than $1,000. It is in the discretion of the judge to impose any or all of these penalties after conviction.

In order to come clear at the trial it will be necessary for the men indicted for criminal libel to prove that the charges he made were true, and it is expected that the cases will develop into the most bitterly fought in the history of the Fulton courts.

Both Colonel Felder and Chief Lanford are indicted for the article that appeared in The Atlanta Constitution and other Sunday papers on June 8, and Colonel Felder is also indicted on another bill for alleged libel in connection with his famous letter addressed to "The People of Atlanta" and published in The Constitution of May 25.

It was in the latter article that Colonel Felder referred to the detective chief as "a contemptible liar and a scoundrel," and accusing him of grafting and of pretending to raise a fund for the prosecution of the murderer of the Hagan child.

Both are charged in the bill of indictment that Colonel Felder did maliciously, unlawfully and intending to injure and vilify the reputation of Lanford, write and cause to be published the letter referred to, a great part of which is copied upon the indictment.

Charges Against Lanford.
The indictments against Colonel Felder and against Chief Lanford for their articles of June 8, which appeared in the Atlanta papers, are practically identical in form. Lanford is charged with calling Colonel Felder "a contemptible liar and a scoundrel," and accusing him of grafting and of pretending to raise a fund for the prosecution of the murderer of the Hagan child.

BATEMAN NOT GUILTY SAYS EXCUSED JUROR

Defense Claims Rothleutner Has Made Mistake in Identity in Larceny After Trust Case.
The defense of Judge J. N. Bateman, the Atlanta attorney, charged with larceny after trust and accused with others of unlawfully taking $9,000 from Frank Rothleutner, a Nebraska stock dealer, is to the effect that Rothleutner has made a mistake in identity, and, according to Juror J. W. Hughes, who was excused from duty yesterday afternoon, there is no basis for a conviction of Judge Bateman.

It was the original intention to finish the case Friday, but when at 6 o'clock only one argument had been heard, Judge L. S. Ross, presiding in the criminal division of superior court, announced that he would postpone the case until Saturday morning.

It was after he had left the courtroom that Juror Hughes made the statement in regard to the case. He declared that in his opinion the state had introduced no evidence to show that the Atlanta was actually a member of the gang which Rothleutner claims fled him out of his money by means of fake bets on horse races.

The defense introduced evidence Friday morning to show that Judge Bateman was not in Miami at the time that Rothleutner says he was there in company with J. H. Blake and H. H. Brown, and posing as a man from St. Paul, Minn., head of the gambling combination.

The case will probably be concluded before noon today.

COOPER ENTERS RACE IN SIXTH DISTRICT

Makes Announcement for Congress Following That of J. W. Wise, of Fayette.
Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special.)—The announcement by Hon. J. Walter Wise, of Fayetteville, that he will again be a candidate for election to congress from the sixth district, in August, 1915, to succeed C. L. Bartlett, brought Attorney John R. Cooper, of Macon, today the announcement that he will again oppose Wise.

Last year the race was between Bartlett, Wise and Cooper, the finish being in the order named. This year it is believed that the race will be between Wise and Cooper.

Discussing the situation today, Mr. Cooper said:
"Yes, I am in the race again, and while it is still a little early to state my intentions, I am doing so that my friends may not be in doubt as to what I am going to do. My race last year was more of a feeling than anything else, and in the race next year I expect to show a few of them something. I do not anticipate that there will be any other entries besides Wise and myself. Bartlett has already given his word that he will not run again, and we consider that point finally settled."

Mrs. Jones has been in delicate health for several weeks, but her condition has not considered serious until Saturday last, when a severe attack of heart weakness caused her to collapse. All of Mrs. Jones' children are at her bedside, and hundreds of inquiries come to the home regarding her condition. Her friends over the country will be glad to learn through this announcement that she is improving.
