

WALKER IS DEAD IN HOME WHERE LANIER WAS BORN

Well-Known Young Real Estate Man, Whose Case Puzzled Physicians, Lapsed Into Unconsciousness in the Afternoon.

HE NEVER RECOVERED FROM STATE OF COMA

Several Days Ago Prominent Macon Man Took a Bichloride of Mercury Tablet, Mistaking It for Aspirin.

(By Francis W. Clarke, Staff Correspondent)

Macon, Ga., May 22.—(Special.)—E. Sanders Walker died at 2 o'clock this morning from the effects of a tablet of bichloride of mercury which he took a week ago by mistake for aspirin to relieve a headache.

Mr. Walker was unconscious when he died and had been since 4 o'clock in the afternoon. With him when he passed away were his wife and his immediate relatives.

Physicians predicted when Mr. Walker became unconscious in the afternoon that the end of his brave struggle against the poison was approaching. They said he would die in a few hours and would not regain consciousness, and their predictions were verified.

Cheerful Till Comatized Him.

Up to his last moment of consciousness the young real estate man, whose tragic mistake on last Wednesday morning in taking bichloride of mercury instead of a headache remedy is causing him his life, was calm and cheerful, comforting his grief-stricken wife and parents, and showing that the indomitable will which characterized his college days and his business life since then stood the final great test unbroken.

When Walker lapsed into unconsciousness tonight it was the first time since he took the fatal dose eight days ago that he had not been in perfect command of his mental faculties. On the day he had talked cheerfully, and practically continuously, with the members of his immediate family who have been constantly with him. While he has talked less today it was because of the spreading of the poison made more difficult by the breaking-down of the iron will, the remarkable demonstration of which has been the wonder of Macon for the past week.

Tonight for the first time one of the attending physicians made an announcement of the condition of the patient, stating that he would undoubtedly die before daylight.

"It is my conviction that Mr. Walker is dying tonight," said the physician in question. "There has been no hopeful sign, nothing of alleviation noted, and he grows weaker."

"His pulse is about 120, as highly abnormal as it was yesterday, while at the same time his temperature has not varied from their normal condition of yesterday. If he is living by daylight, I will be surprised."

The other attending physicians did not make a statement.

Physicians Consulted by Wire

The absolute refusal of the doctors to give the slightest inkling of the sort of treatment they have been giving the dying man is still a feature of the case. Doctors and newspapers have telegraphed repeatedly in an effort to learn the course being taken, but the information has not been forthcoming.

They have been in close communication, however, it is understood, with the hospital doctors at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.

Interest of specialists and the public generally throughout the country has been aroused by the fortitude with which the young real estate man has combated the slow but steady work of the deadly poison. (Unless messages conveying sympathy and suggesting methods of treatment have flooded the Walker home.)

JOSEPHUS DANIELS ALOFT IN AIRSHIP

Secretary of Navy Navigates Air in Government Boat. Mrs. Daniels Witnessed Air Voyage of Her Husband.

Annapolis, Md., May 21.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels this afternoon traveled eight miles through the air in a flying boat in the flight which he enjoyed the sensation thoroughly, "was the secretary's reply to an inquiry just after he awoke.

The secretary went up with Lieutenant John H. Towers, senior officer of the navy aviation corps, whose camp is across the river from the naval academy. The flight was made in the flying boat C-1. The air trip was begun at four minutes to 4 o'clock. Eight minutes later the trip was over and the secretary, after traveling about eight miles at a height of 500 feet, was telling of his experience.

Mr. Daniels came to Annapolis this morning and inspected the buildings and grounds at the academy. After dining with Superintendent J. H. Gibbons he boarded a navy launch which carried him to the aviation camp. As he passed the battleship Illinois in the stream a salute of nineteen guns was fired in his honor. Lieutenant Towers and the other officers of the camp showed the secretary the long line of hangars in which five flying machines were stabled.

Starts from Camp.

When the last was reached, the flying boat was quickly launched, while Mr. Daniels donned an overcoat and stuffed cotton waste into his ears to drown the noise of the propeller. The flight then, after signing his name to the official register where all passengers place their signatures and weights before beginning a trip, he took his seat beside Lieutenant Towers.

Starting from shore, Lieutenant Towers kept his craft on the water for about an eighth of a mile and then sailed gradually upward and toward the mouth of the Severn river and Chesapeake bay. At about two miles of steady climbing in this direction a turn was made and the flying boat passed over the camp at a height of about 500 feet. As he sailed over Mr. Daniels waved his hand to the crowd below. A straight flight on the river of about four miles was made and then Lieutenant Towers turned for the trip back and downward, landing just in front of the point from which the start was made.

A four-pointed pennant of blue silk, made by the sailors at the camp and which flew from one of the standards of the aircraft, was presented to Mr. Daniels as a souvenir.

Tells Impressions.

When he had landed the secretary talked of his sensations and mentioned the fact that by flying today after having taken a dive in a submarine boat at Norfolk and that he had gone down and up with the navy. "I always thought I was a good fellow, but never before knew I had such good wings," he said. Asked if the noise of the engines was very loud, he said it was not at all, and was difficult to talk. "A congressman recently told me that was the case, and I then said it would be a good thing to get an aeroplane for every member of congress if it would make talking difficult for them," he remarked with a laugh.

Mrs. Daniels did not cross the river with her husband, but witnessed the flight from the naval academy. When he was asked what her wife thought of his taking such risks, the secretary said: "Oh, she didn't object. She's a better sailor than I, anyway."

As he turned to enter the boat that was to take him back to the camp, the secretary said: "Remember, if you go here, if you want to fly hereafter."

Lieutenant Commander J. L. Palmer, the secretary's aide, made a flight with Lieutenant E. L. Smith in one of the converted biplanes.

STORMY SCENES MARK ASSEMBLY

Attempt to Choke Off Debate Declared to Be a "Frame Up" by Dr. S. S. Palmer.

Stormy scenes marked the closing hour of the assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., in the Tabernacle, late yesterday afternoon.

The trouble started when the assembly took up the report of the executive commission on the proposed abolition of the department of church and country life, of which Dr. Warren H. Wilson is secretary. The friends of Dr. Wilson want the department either continued or commended so that he will not go out of office without a reward.

RAW MATERIALS WILL BE TREATED LIKE PRODUCTS

Senate Democrats Are Resolved to Equalize the Agricultural Rates in the Underwood Revision Measure.

ALL ON THE FREE LIST OR ALL TO BE DUTIABLE

President Wilson Reported to Favor Equalization of Schedules—Many Changes in Measure Planned.

Washington, May 21.—Determination to equalize live stock and grains and their respective products in the Underwood tariff bill has been reached by the senate finance subcommittee considering the agricultural schedule. It has been agreed that if cattle, sheep, hogs, wheat and oats are to remain dutiable as the Underwood bill classifies them, then a duty shall be placed upon beef, mutton, pork, wheat, flour and oats, or if these products are to remain on the free list the raw materials will be converted into the free list.

This is the first basic tariff change to be planned by senate democrats since the Underwood bill came from the house. Whether raw materials and their products are to be free listed or all are to be made dutiable has not been determined, but that all would be treated alike was asserted today by Senator John Sharp Williams, chairman of the subcommittee which has the schedule in hand. The decision to equalize the schedules, it also was reported, had been reached with the knowledge of the president and not without his approval.

When Senator Williams was told of a report in circulation that his committee had decided to put all livestock and grains on the free list in keeping with their products as they are treated in the Underwood bill, he declared there was no ground for such a report.

To Be No Discrimination.

"But," declared the senator, "there is this much about it. If cattle, sheep and hogs are to remain dutiable in this bill then their products will carry a duty. The same is true of wheat, oats, flour and oatmeal. There will be no discrimination between these raw materials and their products in this bill. I am sure that the committee will not discriminate between the raw materials and their products as they are treated in the Underwood bill. The light over this feature of the Underwood bill began in the house, and there was considerable democratic opposition to the free listing of farm products, while the raw material was left dutiable. Some democrats predicted during the debate that the senate would change the schedule, most of them asserting that live stock and grains would go to the free list."

Whatever the subcommittee does in the matter is expected to meet with the approval of the finance committee majority. It was learned today that Senator Walsh, of Montana, plans to introduce an amendment in the senate to put cattle on the free list if the bill is presented without such a change.

The Underwood bill puts a duty of 10 per cent on wheat on all live stock and free lists all fresh meat of 10 cents per bushel on wheat and oats and free lists wheat flour and oatmeal. Representative Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee, was asked about proposed senate changes today and said that he had heard nothing about them, and that he did not intend to take any part in the tariff conference.

That there are to be a great many changes in the bill in the senate was admitted today by Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee. He said, however, that the bill will be introduced on Wednesday, the subcommittee would begin framing the various schedules and that they hoped to have the bill ready for the finance committee by June 1. The democratic caucus, he said, would be called for consideration of the bill about June 3, and an effort will be made to report it to the senate the following week.

The decision today of the majority members of the finance committee to equalize live stock and grains in the bill has not met with republican approval, and an attack on this plan is looked for in the senate tomorrow. Senator Simmons insists, however, that the private hearings must be ended by that time and that committee members can begin redrafting the bill. The committee decided to print all briefs of manufacturers not heretofore published and to receive all amendments until the bill reaches the senate floor.

DELEGATES CLASH OVER DISPOSITION OF KENNEDY FUND

Sharp Exchange of Words at Northern Assembly Meeting Between Charles Thompson and Dr. Anson Aterbery.

CHARGE OF THOMPSON "UNTRUE AND UNFAIR"

Moderator Stone Calls the Two Commissioners to Order Reminding Them Rules Forbid Personalities.

The fund of $500,000, known as the John S. Kennedy fund, which the executive commission of the board of church erection urged be added to the loan fund for the aid of feeble congregations, enlivened the afternoon session of the assembly of the Northern Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon, and brought about a sharp exchange of words between Charles T. Thompson and Dr. Anson Aterbery, of New York.

From a point of decided vantage on the platform next to the seat occupied by Moderator Stone, Dr. Thompson charged that the most persistent opposition to the merging of the fund came from the secretary of the board. He was about to proceed with his urgent appeal to the assembly to favor the proposition when Dr. Aterbery arose in his seat.

Charges Called Untrue.

"I want to correct the gentleman's unjust and unfair charge," he declared after gaining the floor to the state a point of order. Moderator Stone, sensing a clash, rallied the assembly to order and reminded the gentlemen that the rules of the assembly forbade the injection of personalities into the proceedings.

Murmurs of satisfaction arose from the assembly when it became apparent that the gentlemen in question had squelched what would have been a long-drawn-out debate. The report of the committee appointed January 23, 1913, at the meeting of the executive commission and the board of church erection to revise the rules granting aid to feeble congregations was the most important matter before the assembly at the afternoon session.

The report was submitted with recommendations that the board exercise great care in granting aid to churches, allowing loans not exceeding $1,000 and grants without interest not exceeding $3,000, may be made to feeble churches from the income of the board for the establishment of churches and schools.

Fixed Rate of Interest.

The committee recommended that the board adopt the policy of making loans from the loan fund for aid in the erection of churches of worship for feeble congregations on a bond and mortgage at a fixed rate of interest to be introduced by the board from time to time and for amounts not exceeding 50 per cent of the value of the buildings.

The board recommended, in order that money might be available immediately, that the $500,000 Kennedy fund be added to the loan fund.

After the report had been read to the assembly Dr. Aterbery, of New York, gained recognition on the floor. He made a statement to the assembly to refer the section of the report proposing the merger of the two funds back to the executive commission. He declared that the commission should be given more time, and no substantial change in the board's report should be made until the board had received a letter from Judge Alton E. Parker in which he gave the opinion that it would be illegal for the assembly to set aside the Kennedy fund to be used for the erection of churches for feeble congregations.

Dr. Aterbery offered an amendment to the report to refer the recommendation of merger of the funds back to the executive commission.

The proposed amendment was opposed by Dr. C. Stringer, of St. Paul. He called attention to one of the provisions attached to the fund which, in effect, that no part of it can be used for other than investment outside of New York state. He declared that the merger should not be delayed, and called attention that a two-third vote of the entire assembly would be required to amend the amendment.

Dr. Merrill, of New York, spoke in favor of the amendment, and then Dr. Thompson attacked the motives of the secretary, which brought a vigorous reply from Dr. Aterbery.

Dr. Franklin B. Shepard, of Philadelphia, took sides with Dr. Thompson, declaring that his statement that "the question was one of common sense," was right.

The assembly called for the original motion for adoption, and Moderator Stone informed the assembly that it would require a two-third vote of the entire assembly, or 566 votes, to pass the report. On the standing vote the clerks counted only 546, and for the sake of accuracy the roll-call was demanded.

The motion was adopted; 619 voting in the affirmative.

Before the assembly recessed for lunch, Rev. J. W. Lee, a negro minister of Philadelphia, appealed to the assembly.

MARRIED BY PEACE JUSTICE LOVERS WILL WED AGAIN WHEN BRIDE LEARNS YIDDISH

Mr. and Mrs. Sam White, whose marriage Wednesday morning is now the talk of the "Trip to Joyville" company.

It was an unusual wedding that Justice of the Peace Edgar H. Orr was called upon to perform yesterday morning in his office in the Throver building when there appeared before him Sam White (stage name, if you please), and Miss Helen Watt, Gentle, and asked that he make them man and wife. Both are members of the "Trip to Joyville" troupe playing at the Bijou this week.

It had been the intention of the couple to keep their wedding a secret from the other members of the troupe, and to this end they had foregone all spooning in public, being not even so much as seen to speak to each other for three weeks past, albeit they were engaged. But in an unguarded moment—it was the man this time that gave the thing away, not the girl—the bridegroom-elect told his chum in strictest confidence, and soon all the company knew.

Then it was that the other engaged couple of the troupe, to-wit, Joan Fiddelo and Miss Billy Wakefield, whose love affair had been so public as to furnish the small talk of the traveling actors since the season opened last fall, began to kid their slyer colleagues in the tender passion and to dare them to have it out and fight the knot.

"We will, if you will," said Sam White, and Miss Watt coyly assented. "All right—it's a go," answered Joan Fiddelo.

So the two couples started out early yesterday morning in search of a justice, first visiting Ordinary Wilkinson's office to purchase the licenses. With them to see the double wedding cut went their friends of the troupe, Lou Cantor, the manager, and Frank Warner.

But at the ordinary's office came a hitch that blocked the double marriage program, John Fiddelo and his sweetheart squarely backed out. The girl said it was too sudden. She had no trousseau ready.

Not so with the others. They had gone thus far and they would see it to the end. Nothing daunted, they sought out Justice Orr and, in a trice, he tied the knot that started them on their life-time partnership.

And it is to be a double wedding, after all. Sam White, the bridegroom, will be satisfied with nothing less than a ceremony in orthodox style and by a rabbi of his faith. This is perfectly agreeable to Helen, albeit she is already Mrs. White, but, unfortunately, she knows nothing of Yiddish, and is unable to make the responses properly. So she is to take lessons from her husband, and in three weeks, or as much sooner as she may be able to perfect herself in the idiom, a rabbi will be called upon to marry them over again.

Tonight the friends of the newly-married pair are preparing a big blowout for their entertainment at the Throver club. There will be fun or all, and dancing into the wee morning hours.

BOARD OF MISSIONS GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Dr. Charles Thompson, Secretary, Defends the Management Against Charges of Malfeasance in Office.

By Charles W. Welch.

The board of home missions of the Northern Presbyterian church was vindicated in the sessions of its assembly yesterday by a prolonged ovation tendered to its venerable secretary, Charles L. Thompson, D.D., who had spoken to the assembly pending the adoption of the assembly's standing committee on the board's work during the last year.

Secretary Thompson took occasion in his address to answer at length the charges which had been proffered against his administration, and if the long continued and vociferous applause which followed is to be accepted as the assembly's sentiment Dr. Thompson and his board achieved their hearts' desire. The enemies of the board's program who have waged an incessant campaign against the board's policy and thereby causing the church to contribute $71,289.75 less this past year than the year before, learned today that the church continues to have confidence in the ability of the man whom they have set over this department of its activities.

The Kennedy Fund.

Another fight on the floor of the general assembly which took up the greater part of the afternoon was that which followed the report of the executive commission recommending that the assembly instruct the board of

EXPERTS ARE HERE ON FINGER PRINTS

Two Investigators Are Added to Wm. J. Burns' Forces Already in Atlanta—P. A. Flak in City.

The William J. Burns forces in the investigation of the Mary Phagan mystery have been reinforced by two expert investigators who recently arrived in the city and are assisting Chief C. W. Tobie in his work.

Their identity is being withheld. Both began work Wednesday. One is a noted handwriting and finger print expert, and his first object was to examine the notes found beside the girl's body and to obtain finger prints at and around the scene of discovery.

Chief Tobie visited the negro night watchman, New Lee, in the Tower Wednesday morning for an hour's interview. Although he will not state positively his views, the impression is gained that he believes the negro innocent in both the actual murder and as an accessory either before or after the crime.

Finger Print Expert Engaged.

P. A. Flak, one of New York's most successful finger print experts, has been retained by Solicitor General Dorsey to examine prints found upon the victim's clothing and on the notes written by her slayer. Flak was brought to Atlanta by the Georgia State Bankers' association, the con-

THRASH DENOUNCES FREIDMANN'S OFFER TO CURE FOR $2,500

Atlanta Physician Writes Constitution Warm Card on Proposition Made to Woman in This City.

FRAUD IS PERPETRATED UPON AMERICAN PUBLIC

German Doctor's "Cure" Pronounced Worthless in Far Advanced Cases in Statement by Thrash.

Dr. E. C. Thrash, one of the best known physicians in Atlanta, who has for years made a specialty of the treatment of tuberculosis, has written the following article for The Constitution. It will be recalled that Dr. Thrash went to New York shortly after the arrival in this country of Dr. Friedmann, and later wrote a special article for The Constitution in which he explained Dr. Friedmann's method of treatment, but refused to commit himself as to its value.

Owing to the widespread interest in Dr. Friedmann's alleged "cure," Dr. Thrash's article is of great significance at the present time.

By E. C. Thrash, M. D.

The American public is now being perpetrated upon them one of the greatest frauds of the age, and no means should be spared to protect them against this scheme.

Dr. Thrash has watched the course of the American public in the result of his work since he first heralded to the world that he had a cure for tuberculosis. One of the leading factors in imbuing the American public with the idea that his remedy was a cure is the fact that "cure" in German means a method of treatment and not a cure as English-speaking people interpret the word. It can readily be seen how the meaning of the word "cure" in German is a disadvantage of being duped and the general press being duped and the public misled.

I made a public statement, after having gone to New York and carefully investigating the various methods, that it was not a new treatment, but only one of the plans that have been in vogue for a long time. That is, he was giving one of the various types of vaccines that are used in the treatment of tuberculosis and there was grave doubt as to whether or not it was an improvement upon the old method. It either may or may not have some advantage over the old method, but it is not a cure. It has the disadvantage of being a living germ, which may create trouble later.

Wanted Unprejudiced View.

My statement to the public at that time was not much different from the one the commission appointed by the United States government gave out two months later. The public was informed in this article to take an unprejudiced view of the situation and to act wisely and whether or not he would be able to prove his statements.

I asked him when I saw him for case records showing the cures which he had made, but he did not bring a single record with him. He could not have any documentary evidence of ever having even treated a case, to say nothing about having cured one. We had to take his word entirely upon faith and upon his verbal statement. I not like many others, however, was willing to do this and give him credit for his work regardless of the fact that every movement which he made pointed toward charity.

It is hoped that the public will be some value in his remedy and that the statement would add something toward alleviating the public of this dread malady.

He stated that he would prove that his remedy would cure tuberculosis before he offered it for sale and in order to establish this proof he asked the United States government to appoint a commission to give it a fair and unprejudiced trial. They have undertaken this, which means no little cost, time and capability. The government has made a pre-

HE TAKES REST ON OCHLOCKNEE'S BANKS

Thomasville, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—Congressman S. A. Roddenbery is taking a ten days' holiday for rest and recuperation and will spend most of it in this section in and around Thomasville. Mr. Roddenbery has not been in very good health for the past few weeks, and he always feels that there is no place that can "set him up" like his native beach where he can breathe the health-giving air of the pine woods.

Amid the worries and wrangles of the house when the brain was tired and the flesh weary there would come to him a vision of a cool bank on the Ochlocknee river away down in "Dear Old Georgia," where a man could sit under the shade of the trees and angle for the breeze which those to "the manner born" consider the best that are caught in this part of the country. The temptation was too much for flesh and blood to resist and today in company with Mayor Luke the congressman from the second is camping out on the river where they will probably remain for the balance of the week.

Georgia Crops Are in Poorer Condition Than in Last May

That all the staple crops with the exception of wheat are in poorer condition now than at the corresponding period last year is shown in the May crop report of the commissioner of agriculture which was made public yesterday. For cotton the condition and prospect are 32 per cent as compared with last year; corn, 96 per cent, and oats, 82 per cent.

Commissioner Conner calls attention to the fact that while there is a decreased acreage of cotton, there is a marked increase in the acreage planted in corn and small grains. The fruit crop shows at the worst disadvantage of all as compared with last year. Only 36 per cent of the peach crop escaped the frost, and the output of apples, pears and grapes will be much below normal. The report follows:

The Report in Detail.
The following is a statement of the condition of the crops in Georgia as reported to this department by correspondence throughout the state. The department sent out some eight hundred letters of inquiry and received quite a number of replies, covering perhaps 90 per cent of the entire state.

"The questions asked in the letters of inquiry sent out for this year sought to obtain answers in comparison with crop conditions of the same date last year. The department has studiously sought to get the exact conditions of the crops so far as they could be obtained from replies to our letters, and we are giving the exact facts as appear from the average made up from answers received. The condition and prospect of the crops are as follows:

"Cotton—Acreage compared with last year, 94 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 32 per cent; per cent of crop planted over 25 per cent; stand compared to a good stand, 55 per cent; average time of planting, 17 days late.

"Corn—Acreage compared with last year, 102 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 96 per cent.

"Oats—Acreage compared with last year, 110 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 82 per cent; per cent of crop sown last fall, 72 per cent.

"Wheat—Acreage compared with last year, 96 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 102 per cent.

"Sugar Cane—Acreage compared with last year, 99 per cent; stand compared with an average of last year, 92 per cent.

"Rice—Acreage in lowland rice compared to last year, 95 per cent; acreage in upland rice, 100 per cent; condition and prospect, 85 per cent.

"Sorghum—Acreage compared with last year, 97 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 88 per cent.

"Clover and Grasses—Acreage compared with last year, 104 per cent; condition and prospect compared with last year, 88 per cent.

"Fruits—Per cent of full crop of peaches escaped frost, 36 per cent; per cent of full crop of apples, 47 per cent; per cent of full crop of pears, 39 per cent; per cent of full crop of grapes, 90 per cent; condition and prospect of the fruit crop, 50 per cent.

"Supplies—Cash price per bushel for corn May 1, 94 cents; credit price per bushel for corn May 1, $1.13; per cent of full supply of corn now on hand, 38 per cent; per cent of full supply hay now on hand, 85 per cent; per cent of corn used in Georgia purchased from without the state, 42 per cent; per cent of wheat and oats used in Georgia purchased from without the state, 53 per cent; per cent of farm lands worked by owners, 42 per cent; per cent of farm lands worked by renters, 32 per cent; per cent of farm lands worked on shares, 26 per cent; average wages paid hands with board per month, $14.70.

MIKE MARTIN KILLED BY BROTHER-IN-LAW

Both the Victim and His Slayer, Jack Smith, Prominent in Oglethorpe County.

Athens, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—Mike Martin, agent for many years at Dunlap, a station on the Georgia railroad 9 miles from Athens, was shot to death late this afternoon by his brother-in-law, Jack Smith, according to reports reaching Athens. The men are both well-to-do and prominent in Oglethorpe county.

Martin married Smith's sister and, it is said, that family differences caused the dispute which led to bad blood.

The men were at the place of R. M. Chambers, on Martin's land, this afternoon, and had been at a barbecue, where they were all drinking somewhat. Smith's friends state that Martin was advancing with an open knife. The coroner's investigation will be held early tomorrow morning.

Martin has a large family. Smith has a wife but no children.

Gambling on War.

London, May 21.—The underwriters today quoted five guineas per cent to cover the risk of an outbreak of war between the United States and Japan for three months. Eight guineas per cent was quoted to cover a similar risk for six months.

VALDOSTA COP CHARGED WITH ROBBING PRISONER

Valdosta, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—The suspension of Officer S. L. Jolly, of the city police force, on charges brought by a negro prisoner whom he had arrested, promises to bring about a lively row and a shakeup in the police department here. The specific charge against Officer Jolly is that when he arrested the prisoner in question he searched him and took from his pockets a small sum of money, which the policeman failed to return when the prisoner was released from the city barracks. It is said that the negro will bring as witnesses two other policemen.

Officer Jolly will deny the charges, it is said, and will bring counter charges against other members of the force, involving their official conduct. No further information regarding the character of the charges he will bring against his brother officers, has been given out by Officer Jolly. The latter was suspended by Chief Dampier, yesterday, pending an investigation by the police department.

A PARAMOUNT IMPROVEMENT.

The finance committee of council takes action this week on the Whitehall street improvement movement, which has been approved: (1) By the almost unanimous vote of the street committee; (2) by the nearly unanimous vote of the city council; (3) by the unanimous vote of the county commission; (4) by the city construction department; (5) by an overwhelming majority of the property-owners affected who are subscribing $17,000 to the work; (6) by the united support of the civic improvement organizations of the first, second and seventh wards, these being most directly influenced by the improvement; (7) by the favorable sentiment of the entire city, growing out of recognition that this project is of vital importance to the commercial and industrial interests of Atlanta, irrespective of ward boundaries.

It is, therefore, with virtually no dissenting voice that this improvement goes to the finance committee. The case for Whitehall should be really closed without need of further argument. For it is to be doubted if in the history of the city any similar improvement had behind it so irresistible an array of endorsements. Certainly the finance committee will not be called upon, at its coming session, to deal with any item of superior importance, save that only of meeting fixed municipal charges. And no finance committee has for the ten years been confronted with a weightier decision than that involved in the improvement of Whitehall.

Why? Because upon the action of the finance committee largely depends the future development of the entire south side of the city. Whitehall itself is of course immediately affected. But all the territory surrounding it, most of which feeds traffic into and takes it from Whitehall, is affected in a hardly less direct degree. It is up to the finance committee to say whether Whitehall, with its ideal strategic equipment and location, is to become one of the greatest wholesale and commercial warehouse thoroughfares in the south. For a large part of its length Whitehall backs on the Southern and Central railways, among the most important transportation systems entering Atlanta. It traverses, at the same time, the heart of the city. The present street grades are prohibitive as to the sort of development certain for this thoroughfare under favorable conditions. Heavy traffic must have easy grades, a direct route, smooth paving. Given these, Whitehall will become the first manufacturing and wholesaling district of the south. The facilities are all there. It is simply a question of financial arithmetic.

Whitehall is the great north and south channel of traffic for Atlanta and Fulton county. It is the natural inlet for traffic from the center of the city to the farthest limits of the south side. It is the natural route for the great and swelling volume of traffic from Atlanta toward the country districts and from the country districts to Atlanta. As Peachtree is the spinal column of the north side, so Whitehall is the spinal column of the south side. Peachtree, Whitehall, Decatur and Marietta are the four spokes radiating from the hub to the compass-points. Whitehall is the solitary one that has not been equipped to meet the task for which it was destined by nature. Further neglect penalizes, therefore, not Whitehall alone, but an entire city and an entire county—it strikes both at their most vital spot, next to health, their system of transportation.

The omission will sooner or later be rectified. There is no doubt on that score. What The Constitution wants to emphasize upon the finance committee is what it has frequently emphasized in the past—that every day's delay increases the cost of the private investment, since no property-owners will spend money until grades, lines and contours are fixed. The task is an easy one. The county is ready to do its share; the property-owners stand ready to bear their share. A job that must be done at any rate and that is worth in labor and material approximately $100,000, can be finished by the expenditure from the city of only $20,000. Postponement simply increases that price.

No finance committee ever had a more worthy enterprise under consideration!

WHAT THE CHURCHES CAN DO.

Remove the menace of the negro to himself and to the white man's civilization by working upon the children of the negro. That is the substance of the suggestion elaborated elsewhere by Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, one of the best-known philanthropic and social service workers in Atlanta. Mrs. Black commends an editorial, "The Church and the Negro," in which The Constitution sought to point out that were a tithe of the money lavished in foreign missions spent upon the millions of "half-heathen in our midst" the negro problem would speedily become negligible. Coming from a woman of Mrs. Black's experience these views have a special value. She is a southerner, born of one of the foremost pioneer families of Atlanta. She does not misunderstand the problem from the social or economic sides. Her work in connection with kindergartens for the negro clothe her opinions with authority. There is nothing of the sentimentalist or a theorist about her. She speaks simple fact.

At the core Mrs. Black's theory is unchallengeable. We know that with all races, even with inarticulate jungle animals, the impressions of the young and receptive years influence the entire life. That is why we are so particular about education. That is why we spend so much money and labor on reformatories, in which we transform potential white criminals into productive and law-abiding citizens. Mrs. Black testifies that her experience shows the spread of kindergartens and settlement work among negroes to be one promising way of inculcating morality, purity, industry, efficiency.

Why should not the white civilization of the south indefinitely apply the application of Mrs. Black's idea? It is the white man who, in the last analysis, pays the penalty for the immorality, the disease and the decadence of the negro. It is cheaper to mold him into efficiency than to shoulder the burden later on. If, therefore, the school and the reformatory are gradually eliminating vice and crime and idleness among the white race—why should not the same influence, or an adaptation of them, work the same results with the negro?

It is the white church organizations that should profit most directly by Mrs. Black's wisdom. For the churches are spending each year millions abroad to do for the children of the heathen precisely those things that the many million children of the half-heathen right at their doors tragically need. One-half of the money spent by churches around a single Chinese port would, in all probability, underwrite the future of nine-tenths of the negro children around Atlanta. What say the churches to the suggestion and their responsibility in the premises?

THE GHOST-DANCERS.

The seven plagues of Egypt were innocuous as compared with the plague of Newspaper Ghost-Dancers who seem to have descended on Georgia. A newspaper ghost-dancer is a nimble writer who pounces upon an innocent and legitimate news item and transforms it in the fiery furnace of his imagination until its "sale value" assumes attractive proportions. He broadcasts the country with the product. An illustration is afforded in the Ollie Taylor case, well remembered by the public. Life, the humorous New York weekly, was one of the reputable publications led into camp by the ghost-dancers. So persistent and acrid were its comments on the "lack of civilization" in Georgia that The Constitution, in justice to this state, forwarded the editor of Life the facts of the case. We are in receipt of a response regretting the wrong done Georgia, stating significantly that it is difficult to make adequate correction after "the damage has been done," and clinching the case against the ghost-dancers with the information that "in the case of this article the information originally was obtained from a number of newspaper articles all corroborating each other."

Another pertinent instance is the sad case of Sanders Walker, of Macon, who through error swallowed a dose of slow poison. Mr. Walker is a prominent business man, and his affliction offered a rare opportunity for the "ghost-dancers." The facts were easily ascertained. Yet facts were the very things they did not wish—for as tragic as was the truth a few harrowing trills would lend zest to the story. Upon the bare announcement that the physicians had told Mr. Walker that death was inevitable, the ghost-dancers wrought a wondrous structure. The naked truth itself would have been sufficiently dramatic and pitiful, but Mr. Walker was pictured as issuing invitations for a reception in order that his friends may bid him farewell. His will was made to the accompaniment of slow music and orchestral effects—and such bosh.

The Constitution sent a staff correspondent to Macon, as it had sent one to Covington to nail the "lamplight funeral" story decrying the "decadent civilization of Georgia." Our correspondent found that Mr. Walker had never left his room; the reception incident was a fake, pure and simple; the other embellishments had not a scintilla of truth. Yet a family in the shadow of death is harrowed and advertised to bring grist to the mill of the penny-a-line ghost-dancers!

Will the ghost-dancers bring it to the pass where only the reports of the reliable Associated Press will be accepted as telling the truth about Georgia? It looks that way. The Chinese-Japan war had its "Shanghai War," the Russo-Japanese war its "Shanghai War," the Spanish-American war its "Shanghai War." People got so that the mere date line from these places made them shrug and smile. Are the ghost-dancers dooming Georgia to that fate?

For with the blossoms and the dreams we sing along the way. We sing amid the blossoms, and where the lilies throng; And 'neath the winds—they listen, for the soul is in the song; The holy light of heaven upon our pathway streams; O life is worth the living with the blossoms and the dreams!

All earth is singing 'round us and sorrow's in collapse; Bend low, O world of blossoms, and kiss Love's lifted lips! And let his dew fall forever where light undying beams; A brother to the violets, with the blossoms and the dreams.

The News of the Settlement.

This item of happy rural life from a correspondent of The Adams Enterprise: "First picnic-dance of the season yesterday, and six deacons are to be turned out of the church in consequence. They met their old sweethearts at the picnic, and the music of the fiddles got into their feet, and they couldn't resist. The way they swung their old-time sweethearts was a caution, and the parson came on the scene at the very minute it was hands-round in the old Virginny reel!"

How General Devens Fat Friendship Before Ambition.

By E. J. Edwards. (Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.) The late George D. Robinson, who served for many years as a member of congress representing the Springfield, Mass., district, and who was prominently suggested for the speakership of the lower house at the beginning of President Arthur's administration, gained his great and really national reputation by the brilliant campaign which he made as candidate for governor of Massachusetts against Benjamin F. Butler.

Mr. Robinson used to describe himself as a country lawyer. His home was at Chicopee, Mass., a few miles north of Springfield. But it was the country lawyer and not the brilliant and successful campaign which destroyed General Butler's political power in Massachusetts.

Some time in the year 1882 I met Mr. Robinson as he was entering his hotel at Washington. He seemed especially pleased, I said to me: "Governor Long has done a splendid thing." He referred to John D. Long, who was afterward secretary of the navy in McKinley's cabinet, and who was twice elected governor of Massachusetts while still a very young man.

I asked Mr. Robinson to what he referred. He replied: "He has appointed General Devens a justice of the supreme court of the state of Massachusetts." I did not hear General Devens' name.

I confessed that I had never enjoyed the opportunity. "Well, you have missed hearing an orator whom I regard as without a superior in the United States," Mr. Robinson said. I have always believed that had General Devens been willing to devote himself to oratory he would have gained a reputation fully equal to that of Edward Everett.

"I am very glad that Governor Long has appointed him a justice of our supreme court, and I am especially glad because I am one of the few persons who know what General Devens' loyalty to his superior and his ability of character were at a time when he was attorney-general in the cabinet of President Hayes.

"I think it was about half way in Hayes' administration when a vacancy occurred on the bench of the United States for the district of which Massachusetts was a part. President Hayes, of course, decided to select a prominent New England lawyer for that vacancy. General Devens was very strongly recommended. I think both of the Massachusetts senators, Hear and Dawes, urged General Devens' appointment. President Hayes intimated that he was ready to make the appointment of General Devens, although he would do that with a sense of sorrow because he would in that way lose a very valuable cabinet member.

"General Devens told that the president suggested that the Massachusetts senators call upon General Devens and ask him if he would be willing to accept appointment as United States circuit judge. Whether they were asked to do that by the president or whether they went of their own accord I do not know, but I do know that they asked General Devens if he would be willing to accept appointment as circuit judge of the United States circuit. He told them that an appointment of that kind killed the measure of his professional ambition. There was nothing, he said, which would give him greater personal satisfaction than to serve as United States circuit judge.

"He was told that the president was ready to make the appointment, although he expressed a sense of sincere regret that in doing so he would lose a cabinet officer whom he so highly esteemed and that it had been his special hope that he should retain General Devens in his official family until his administration was ended.

"Well," said General Devens in reply, "if that is the way the president feels, I shall stay with him until the end of his administration, much as I should like a place upon the United States bench."

"I have been told," continued Mr. Robinson, "that the president expressed himself heard what General Devens said.

"Well, the opportunity to serve as a justice of an important court has come just as General Devens has retired from president Hayes' administration. I strongly suspect Governor Long was told of this instance of personal loyalty and devotion which led General Devens to remain in Hayes' cabinet, greatly as he would have appreciated appointment as justice of the United States court."

Net Results

By George Matthew Adams

Most of us are prone to base our praise or admiration on the Gross total of things. As a matter of fact, the only thing that figures in Results is the Net. Real Value is Net Results. It is the Net earning capacity of a concern that counts with those who run it. A concern may do business running into millions of dollars yet lose money. It is the Net profit that proves the Value of the Stock. And with a man, it is what he saves, not what he receives, that measures his earning capacity. Real Value is Net Results. You may have ability enough to rule the world but if you don't make use of every bit of that ability to its limit, you might just as well have but a fraction of that ability. For the Net Results will stamp you as less than your ability represents you to be. Real Value is Net Results. Ethicalism is tremendous physical and mental energy abundance of ideas. These things are almost priceless as assets but it is the Net Results that are set up against them at the close of each job you do and every day you end that make them worth while to you. Many a man wears himself all out exerting every ounce of force at his command at one outburst and then subsides without accomplishing anything. Real Value is Net Results. It is a good thing to form the habit of picturing the Net every time you begin anything. And seeing the Net before you, you adjust your efforts exactly so as to receive the largest possible Net returns. Go after the NET Results.

Now we have a vice president who talks, and has no difficulty in drumming up an audience to listen to him.

TEACH PROBLEM OF NEGRO THROUGH NEGRO CHILDREN

Editor Constitution: Will you allow me to endorse most heartily what was said in your editorial on "The Church and the Negro?" As a native-born Georgia woman, I have watched with the greatest interest every movement which has been made for the uplift of the negro, and in a number of ways it has been my privilege to show the interest and sympathy which the negroes so much desire from their white friends.

In their effort to better the race, there is no movement that has appealed to me more than the establishment of the five negro kindergarten schools which are being conducted under the able management of the Gate City Kindergarten association.

Knowing, as I do from a personal experience of nearly twenty years, what it signifies to give the little child of limited means from the working man's home a good start in life during its early years, I realize what it would mean if every negro child in the south could have the seeds of purity, goodness and truth sown in the young hearts as a preparation for character building.

In the model homes that have been built for the white kindergartens, fathers and mothers meet together and plan good things for the happiness and uplifting of the community. Atlanta and her citizens should see to it that similar model homes are built for the negro kindergartens. Similar buildings in the playgrounds for negroes would be a wise investment, and would be a great preventive measure against crime and disease.

The sooner we all learn that prevention of crime is better than the eradication or punishment of it, the sooner will the world be reclaimed from evil. The negroes are trying to help themselves; the colleges and universities have accomplished a great work in training teachers and nurses and men for the professions, but our southern white people have not given as such encouragement and help as we should to them, and your timely words make me feel like saying "You are on the right line now; keep it up—keep it up!"

MRS. NELLIE PETERS BLACK. Atlanta, Ga.

A Way of Escape

By Philip Weltner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

The following is a table graphically describing the cost of degeneracy, on the one hand, and the value of fitness on the other. On the left is a summary of the family of Max Zukas, a Dutch settler, who came to this country about 1730. On the right is a summary of the family of Jonathan Edwards, a famous New England preacher, born in the year 1703:

Table comparing Max Zukas and Jonathan Edwards families. Max Zukas: 1,200 descendants identified, 2,300 in poor homes, 240 in jail, 200 died in childhood, 440 physically diseased, 400 physical wrecks, 50 negroes prostituted, 200 madmen, 60 habitual thieves, 130 convicted of crime, none ever contributed to the social well-being. Jonathan Edwards: 1,800 descendants identified, 15 college presidents, 60 college professors, 60 physicians, 100 clergymen and musicians, 75 poets and many of note, 100 lawyers, 30 judges, 3 vice presidents, 3 U. S. senators, 500 public officers.

This is not an accident. Our own state furnishes strikingly similar parallels. Shunted off in one corner of Fulton county, back in the hills, and away from the beaten track of travel, lies a forgotten settlement of whites. They are housed in three little hovels set on the slope of as many hills. A few acres have been cleared, but their farming is desultory. The father of the brood is still living, and around him have grown up a numerous progeny. He is lazy and good for nothing, addicted to drink and vulgarity. He has several children, boys and girls, all of whom are well on in years.

A few outsiders have married into the family, but most of the children sprawling over the quilts spread over the rude flooring are the result of indiscriminate intermarriages between his sons and daughters. One of the hovels has lately been deserted. The husband of one of the girls died of consumption. She, with her three children, went back to her father's to live. Soon after the death she took up with a diseased profligate, and brought him to the family home. His record is notorious—an ex-convict, a horse thief, a burglar, a whiskey peddler. None of them seem to be exempt from this latter fault, and many of the men have records for drunken and disorderly conduct.

Not many of the children are old enough to go to school, were there any disposition to send them. Those that have gone were either too stupid to make their grades, being usually afflicted with adenoids and other defects, or have been expelled for improper conduct. Already signs of degeneracy are rapidly appearing in this third generation. The neighbors complain bitterly of their petty thefts, and the girls are prone to idleness, publicly exposing their persons.

It costs to maintain and guard fall birds. It costs to repair the damage done by prostitutes. Most of their work is irreparable. It costs to house and feed the cast off in poorhouses, those dump-heaps of society. Prevention is much cheaper, and far more humane. Enlightenment demands a way of escape for children born in conditions of squalor and crime. For the boys there is a way of escape; there is none for the girls. Georgia must establish an industrial training school for wayward girls. Those having homes are worse than homeless, and having parents are more to be pitied than orphans.

Look Before You Leap.

(From Dawson County Advertiser.) A lady in adjoining town splashed what she supposed to be her pet kitten in the claret making a terrible ado. Her love for the pet made her determined to rescue it at all hazards. She applied a rake but all to no use, so in she jumped when the water came up to her neck. Shortly after her husband arrived, fished her out and discovered the kitten on the roof while its shadow was reflected in the water.

Evading Contempt of Court.

(From Rossville News Age.) We are told that there's a criminal court judge whose territory of jurisdiction is not far away who dismisses grandjurymen at will who do not find indictments to his liking. We are further informed that this same court sometimes fixes sentences of starting insignificance for grave offenses taking the case from the hands of the trial jury. We say we've heard, we don't know. We must confess that we have never heard of such things as these being done only in this particular territory. Any further attempts of this sort of procedure, it looks to us, should be promptly and effectively questioned.

The "Sob Artists."

(From Dalton Citizen.) The Atlanta Constitution is making war on the "sob artists." It is right. All this gush going out to sensational yellows about Georgia is enough to disgust people in all sections of the country. Georgia is no better or worse than other sections of the great United States. The same evils are existent in all the states that exist in Georgia. But the "sob artists" must earn their salaries, and they had, as soon slander Georgia, so long as it pays, as any other state in the union. After awhile we shall have a rest, while other states are getting "theirs."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON The Famous Frazz Post

Giving Prizes (Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.) "Dwiggins, the grocer, has placed a jar of beans in his show window, and is going to give a $5 gold piece to the boy or girl who guesses the correct number of beans," remarked the druggist.

"Dwiggins hasn't sense enough to come out of the rain," said the village patriarch. "The man who gives prizes that way needs a guardian. Of course, Dwiggins thinks he will attract customers and increase his own popularity by his idiotic scheme, but it will do the opposite thing. The body or girl who wins the counterfactual coin will naturally be pleased, but all the others will be as sore as political also rans, and the soreness will extend to their parents and their sisters and cousins and aunts. All these people will insist that it was a put up job, a foul conspiracy to humiliate them, and they'll boycott the Dwiggins grocery and Dwiggins himself will be ostracized. You can't give away a prize without making a lot of people as mad as molten hens.

"We used to have a first rate county fair here some years ago. It attracted big crowds every year, and it really was worth while to see the succulent pumpkins and things displayed there. But after two or three successful years it began to lose its grip. It seemed to have dry rot. I was one of the directors, and I argued time and again that the system of giving prizes would have to be abolished. A lot of exhibitors went away sore every fall, and never came back again. A farmer would bring his beautiful early Ohio coat and feel quite sure that he'd ground the first prize. In those days the board of the fairer came from the farms, and every farmer's critic in the state. Then the judges would come snooping around looking at the live stock, and they'd hand the first prize to some other fellow's coat, and that farmer would go home so ripping mad his language would scare all the birds out of the trees. He didn't want any more county fairs in his; worse than that, he made a black list of all the judges and officers of the fair, and he'd never buy another nickel's worth from any of them as long as he lived.

"It was the same way with the women. In those days most of the writers came from the farms, and every farmer's critic in the state. There were fifty women in this county who imagined they were peerless leaders in this line of industry. They used to bring their large yellow rolls of butter to the fair, and every last woman of them was dead sure she'd get the blue ribbon and the silver butter knife which had been offered as a special premium by the Elite hardware store. Then the judges would get in their faculty work, and the chances were that the first prize would go to some unworthy female, while the best butter-maker in the bunch wouldn't even get honorable mention. I tell you, my friends, it was enough to make a man's blood turn to water in his veins to see those women leaving the fair grounds with their noses in the air, and the lust of battle in their eyes.

"It was the same way all along the line, and so finally the fair went out of business, and a lot of people still are wondering why. The county fair is almost extinct throughout the country, and people continue to wonder why, when the reason is right in front of them, bigger than a cathedral. Before the fair can be resurrected and made a living issue some scheme will have to be devised for rewarding all exhibitors and sending everybody away in a good humor. "When I was in the feed business I got in a new kind of condition powder, and thought up a great scheme to boost it. I had thirty horse owners begin feeding the powder on the same day, and agreed to give a gold headed cane to the man whose horse showed the greatest improvement at the end of thirty days. Well, at the appointed time I gave the prize to the man whose horse looked best to me, and he said he could buy a better cane for 75 cents at the Rackett store, and the other twenty-nine said I had worked a confidence game on them, and I'd never see another nickel of theirs as long as they lived, and I never did. One of them had me arrested a few days later, saying my condition powder had killed his horse, and another threw bricks through the windows of my store. If you haven't enough trouble, just give away prizes, and you'll have plenty."

The Universal Menace.

The housefly causes 100,000 deaths a year and a property damage of $3,000,000. The fly travels only 1,500 feet and delights in a liquid diet. When he finds something that he likes better than his latest meal he disgorges.

One pair of flies beginning in May will breed 143,675 bushels by September. The time will come when it will be considered more disgraceful to have flies in our homes than it is now to have bedbugs. If flies were as large as cows we would not have one in the land. Unfortunately our indifference to their disease breeding activities is as large as the pests themselves are small. The extermination of the fly will follow the obsolescence of the old rule that cleanliness is next to godliness.

BREEN "PLANTED" LOT OF DYNAMITE AMONG STRIKERS

Witness Swears He Was Hired to Do the Job by Atteaux, Who Is Co-Defendant With President Wood.

BREEN WAS PAID $700 FOR WORK OF PLANTING

Sensational Evidence at Trial of Wool Trust Chief Showing Conspiracy to Get Lawrence Strikers Into Trouble.

Boston, May 21.—Something of what went on behind the scenes in the city of Lawrence during the great textile strike of 1912 was revealed today at the dynamite conspiracy trial of President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen Company, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, by John J. Breen, convicted and confessed "planter" of dynamite.

Breen's story of his activity on behalf of strikers and mill owners culminated in a declaration that he had refused to accept $7,000 from Atteaux's attorney, Daniel H. Coakley, the lawyer who was cross-examining him.

Breen previously introduced was that eight persons who had been arrested when dynamite was found in buildings occupied by them at Lawrence had later brought damage suits against Breen who had "planted" the explosive.

Breen testified that he had gone to Atteaux to get $13,000 for his own use. He had told him that all the suits had been settled for $12,000. He denied planting the dynamite until he was settled at a lower figure when he was endeavoring to induce Atteaux to pay him $13,000.

Breen finally said that he had refused an offer of $7,000 from Coakley himself because he would not agree to the terms. Asked by Coakley what the terms were, Breen replied: "You told me to put most of it in my pocket and settle with the poor suits as cheap as I could. I did not want that kind of money and rejected the offer."

Breen said Atteaux had engaged him to plant the dynamite and had arranged with Ernest R. Pittman, the Andover builder who committed suicide when the grand jury began investigating the alleged conspiracy, to furnish the explosive.

Mr. Wood's name was mentioned only once and that was when Breen said he asked Atteaux if the mill president knew anything about the matter and Atteaux replied that he did not.

Of the five persons who have figured prominently in the alleged conspiracy only two are on trial, Breen and Atteaux. Breen took his own life, and Collins turned state's evidence yesterday, although in his testimony he implicated neither Wood nor Atteaux.

His story of the part he played in the affair related wholly to his associations with Breen. Breen told in detail today of his acquaintance with Atteaux and said that at the witness' suggestion that the strikers be fought with their own weapons, Atteaux had engaged him to "plant" the dynamite, paying him $700 in two installments. He described his movements on January 19 and 20, when the dynamite was hidden, his story, in the main, corroborating the testimony already given by Collins.

Breen said that he and Collins went to Lawrence and to Breen's room. Here Atteaux opened the bundle and made smaller packages of the contents. On the stand yesterday Collins, who had turned state's evidence, gave a similar version of the disposition of the dynamite in Breen's rooms, but denied that he knew the package contained dynamite. He said Breen told him only that it was "juice."

Breen made a second trip to the street corner, this time with Collins. "I stood on the corner," said the witness, "until Pittman came up. He took me down the street and introduced me to a Mr. Rice. Mr. Rice has the package for you," he said.

"I took the bundle and said to Mr. Rice, 'what danger is there with this?' He said, 'none; it's frozen solid.' I carried the bundle up to the corner where Collins was waiting. I said, 'here's the dynamite. Be careful, even if Mr. Rice does say there is no danger.'"

Breen said that he and Collins went to Lawrence and to Breen's room. Here Atteaux opened the bundle and made smaller packages of the contents. On the stand yesterday Collins, who had turned state's evidence, gave a similar version of the disposition of the dynamite in Breen's rooms, but denied that he knew the package contained dynamite.

Breen saw the dynamite sticks made up in small bundles. "Collins knew what I was going to do," said the witness, "because I had told him that we were going to place dynamite around Lawrence."

Collins put the bundles in a suit case and they entered a sleigh. "One bundle" said the witness, "was left at Atteaux's (the tailorshop of a Syrian). Then we went to 76 A. Lawrence street, where I told him to put a bundle in an Italian printing shop. The place was closed and no dynamite was left there."

The reason Breen selected the printing shop was because it was in the center of a district where the strikers and police had had frequent clashes, he said.

grand jury began its investigation, was named by Breen as the person who delivered the dynamite to Breen and to Dennis J. Collins, the third defendant, who yesterday turned state's evidence.

He Denies Conspiracy. On cross-examination witness said he had never conspired with Wood, Atteaux or Pittman to injure any person or property.

Breen said that he had a conversation with Atteaux after the dynamite had been placed. "I asked him," said the witness, "if Mr. Wood knew anything about the matter and he said that he did not."

Breen was a member of the Lawrence school committee, when the dynamite was found, was fined $500 in the Essex county court several months ago upon conviction of unlawfully hiding the explosive.

Testimony that Breen had paid him $50 for "planting" the dynamite was given yesterday by Dennis J. Collins, a co-defendant with Wood and Atteaux, who turned state's evidence. His testimony did not connect either Wood or Atteaux with the alleged conspiracy.

Breen said he knew both Collins and Atteaux. In January, 1912, the month of the textile strike, he met Atteaux at the latter's office in response to a telephone request. This was a few days before the dynamite episode. The call lasted two hours, the witness said, and the conversation was in regard to the Lawrence strike.

"Atteaux said he was glad to see I was interested in keeping the strikers' element quiet," said Breen.

"The next time I saw him was on January 18. I went to report the conditions of things to him. The conversation was about strike conditions. I said affairs at the mills were getting pretty hot. I added, 'If I was fighting those fellows, I'd fight them by their own methods.' 'What do you mean?' he said, 'dynamite.' 'Dynamite or anything else,' I said."

Getting the Dynamite. "Could you get some dynamite?" said he. I said "No." Then he suggested that perhaps Mr. Pittman might get some.

The Pittman mentioned by the witness was Ernest R. Pittman, a builder, with whom the state alleges Wood, Atteaux and Collins conspired. Pittman committed suicide on the day he was subpoenaed to appear as a witness before the grand jury, which was investigating the alleged dynamite plot.

Atteaux telephoned to Pittman, Breen continued, and an hour later Pittman arrived at Atteaux's office.

"Atteaux said, 'Excuse us, John' and he took Pittman into the corridor," said the witness. "Pittman returned in about three minutes and said to me, 'How much do you need?' he asked. 'Will $500 be enough?' 'I told him that would be enough. Atteaux then asked me about the police and I told him that Inspector Rooney was a friend of mine, and I am not sure that Atteaux was present at the time."

"Pittman said to me, 'I'll get some. Where can I telephone you?' I told him, 'Atteaux came in after Pittman left and said to me, 'Well, you can't do this for nothing.' I said, 'No, I will have to hire some one to help me.' 'How much do you need?' he asked. 'Will $500 be enough?' 'I told him that would be enough. Atteaux then asked me about the police and I told him that Inspector Rooney was a friend of mine, and I am not sure that Atteaux was present at the time.'"

Breen told of asking Collins to go to Lawrence with him. Later he met Atteaux at a street corner. Atteaux said: "Follow me, John."

"I followed him," continued Breen, and he dropped a package. As I picked it up, he said 'don't say I never gave you anything.' The package contained $500."

Breen made a second trip to the street corner, this time with Collins. "I stood on the corner," said the witness, "until Pittman came up. He took me down the street and introduced me to a Mr. Rice. Mr. Rice has the package for you," he said.

"I took the bundle and said to Mr. Rice, 'what danger is there with this?' He said, 'none; it's frozen solid.' I carried the bundle up to the corner where Collins was waiting. I said, 'here's the dynamite. Be careful, even if Mr. Rice does say there is no danger.'"

8-HOUR LAW BLAMED FOR POSTAL DELAYS

Measure Partly Responsible for Congestion—Burlison Working to Correct Evils.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, May 21.—According to the postoffice department, officials believe several factors contribute to the prevailing unsatisfactory conditions in the postal service, which have been the cause of such widespread complaint. Delays in mail matter especially from all the large cities of the country have led to an investigation.

Chief among the factors responsible was too much attention to economy and too little regard for efficiency on the part of the last administration of the postoffice department; the application of the present eight-hour law to the clerks and carriers and the rapidly increasing business of the parcel post service.

Because of these complaints from the larger cities of the east, north and south, Postmaster General Burleson recently issued an order directing that until further notice the backstamping of letters be discontinued except on registered and special delivery mail. This prompt step on the part of the postoffice department is believed by the department to go a long way toward relieving the situation and congestion in the mail service, which the department inherited as a legacy growing out of the economic depression, the new parcel post business and the eight-hour law.

Eight-Hour Law Blamed. The postoffice department officials claim that the application of the eight-hour law is partly responsible for the confusion and demoralization of the postal service in the larger cities. When Former Postmaster General Hitchcock adopted his policy of cutting down expenses regardless of the damage to the service, the working force of all the big offices were reduced to meet his economy program, and with these limited forces, not allowed under the law now, no matter what the conditions to work the eight-hour day, and with a growing business like the parcel post creating conditions which no one could foresee, it is not surprising that more or less confusion should arise.

General Burleson, who has charge of the transportation service of the department, regarded as one of the most efficient men of the service, blames a large part of the delays on the operation of the eight-hour law. He opposed the eight-hour law in the form it now is, but he favored overtime pay for the employees. His reason for this is that the postoffice officials have no recourse from the operation of the law under the existing circumstances—the willingness of the employees themselves to help out in a pinch makes no difference. If there comes an unexpected flood of mail matter into one of the postoffices, as that was when the department was first put upon the observance of this restrictive regulation of the service.

Extra Pay for Extra Work. On the other hand, if the employees are willing to work extra hours, on occasion when necessary, were permitted to do so, receiving extra compensation therefor, much of the delay and congestion now experienced could have been avoided.

When Postmaster General Burleson made his appeal to Senator Martin, chairman of the appropriation committee of the senate, for early action on the deficiency bill, this bill carries $600,000 for the immediate use of the postoffice department to meet the existing conditions which have been imposed in part by the eight-hour law, which congress neglected to provide for when they placed that provision in the last appropriation bill.

It is believed that if the postal service is to make a record for efficiency, which is the earnest wish of the postmaster general, that congress will not only have to change the working force of the eight-hour law, but will also have to make provisions that will enable the department to meet the rapid growth and expansion of the parcel post, as it comes, without confusion and delay.

When Postmaster General Burleson gets his $600,000, it cannot afford more than temporary relief and a guarantee that conditions will get no worse for the present. The theory of those who made up the demand for the appropriation bill is that the parcel post could be handled by the department without any increase in expenses, and that the eight-hour law limiting the hours of carriers and clerks would not add any extra burden on the department.

The Parcel Post. The parcel post has developed faster than even its strongest advocates believed it would, and the department has struggled faithfully to make the service keep pace with its growth. It is a great income producer, and there are many who believe that the government ought to put its postoffice expenses on a basis which would allow for the cost of handling this new feature of the mails.

Theoretically, the department has always recognized the right of the man in the country to get his city newspaper promptly, and theoretically all newspapers sent by mail are supposed to have preferential treatment. Actually the burden upon mail handlers imposed by the parcel post is such that they cannot give newspaper mail the treatment it is supposed to have. The strain on the clerks is so great that something has to be given, and, because the newspaper mail is something they have been used to handling, the are making that class of mail yield to the parcel post.

Belgian Strike Costly. Brussels, Belgium, May 21.—The state railways of Belgium sustained a loss of $1,000,000 from the ten days' strike for equal suffrage in April. The port of Antwerp lost 250,000 tons of trade in April as compared with the same period last year, and 78 fewer vessels called during the strike.

For Woman Suffrage. Springfield, Ill., May 21.—The woman suffrage bill granting votes to women for all statutory offices in Illinois, was reported favorably to the Illinois house of representatives today and advanced to second reading. The measure already has passed the senate. Its advocates believe it will have equal success in the house.

Gas Men Select Dallas. Cleveland, Ohio, May 21.—Prominent among the discussions and reports at today's session of the annual convention of the National Gas Association of America was an address on the "Future of Gas Lighting," by R. F. Florio, of Gloucester, N. J. Next year's convention probably will be held at Dallas.

BILL WILL LEGALIZE SUSPENDING SENTENCE

Senator Tarver Believes Measure Will Be Great Aid in Reforming Criminals.

Senator M. C. Tarver, of Whitefield, who is going to introduce in the assembly the bill to legalize suspension of sentence and provide probation officers, has given out an interview on the subject which will be of interest to all Georgians.

Senator Tarver says: "I am convinced that this measure, if passed, will work a reform in the administration of our penal statutes, second only in value to that accomplished by the convict lease system."

"I have never been able to agree fully with those who insist that the primary object for punishment of crime is the reformation of the criminal. I believe that where punishment alone will serve as a deterrent for crime that it should be administered not only with the welfare of the violator of the law in view, but in such a manner and with such certainty as to deter others from the commission of like offenses. However, beyond everything else, the reduction of human suffering, the mitigation of crime is the principal goal for which all law-abiding citizens are striving."

The fourteenth annual report of the prison commission for the year ending March 31, presenting some facts which are startling in the extreme. "Of 2,668 penitentiary convicts on June 1, 1911, 1,304 were between the ages of 20 and 39 years—practically 50 per cent. It is hard to believe that out of this large number, practically all young men, nearly all first offenders, the judges of the courts of the state could not have found hundreds who might have been reclaimed by some of our humane penitentiary officers, to establish themselves upon a basis of self-respect and of good citizenship."

"Some of the judges of this state already make use of the plan of suspending sentences, curing some bad behavior in cases where they believe it will be effective, and I have yet to hear of one who has failed to get good results. That the legislature with at the next session provide authority of law for this practice I have no doubt."

FEARED FOR HER LIFE Mrs. Eva Mae Peacock Enters Suit for Divorce.

Claiming as one basis for divorce that her husband would frequently lock her up in a room and look into her face in a wild and desperate manner, and that he more than once threatened her life with a pistol after the same disturbing gaze had been directed upon her, Mrs. Eva Mae Peacock entered suit for divorce in superior court yesterday against Joseph Dodge Peacock, of 372 McDaniell street, who, she says, is possessed of about $10,000 worth of worldly goods.

Mrs. Peacock states that she was married in December, 1905, and that on September 22, 1911, she refused to live longer with her husband, who, she intimates, cared more for his grocery store and butcher shop than he did for her.

In her petition filed by Attorneys J. W. and J. D. Humphries she asks for a total divorce, the return of her maiden name of Stanford and temporary and permanent alimony, as well as attorneys' fees. She declares that she has no property, but that Peacock owns a house and lot at 117 Arthur street worth $1,500, two houses on a lot on McDaniel street and a grocery and meat shop at 376 McDaniel, all of which property she values at from $7,500 to $10,500.

Fact. It is a fact, and I dare say that you feel all that they can pay. And some pay all they owe.

TRAIN WENT TUMBLING DOWN MOUNTAIN SIDE

Hinton, W. Va., May 21.—The wrecking of a train between Sewell and Landsburg last night caused four deaths and four persons were hurt. Caught by a landslide from the mountain caused by a cloudburst, the train was swept from the tracks and thrown 400 feet down the mountain side. The accident occurred on a narrow gauge railroad owned by a Pittsburg lumber and coal company and not a branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad as previously reported.

The correct list of the dead follows: James V. Walker, salesman, Hinton, W. Va. Alvin Grimes, salesman, of Kents Store, Va. Robert Young, Sutton, W. Va. Three-year-old child of Mrs. Sellers, of Thurmond, W. Va.

When the landslide overwhelmed the train, composed of an engine, three freight cars and a caboose the latter used for passengers, it went tumbling down the steep mountain side. Mrs. Sellers, trapped in the caboose with others, made the horrible flight. Her clothing was stripped from her body, but she sustained only slight injuries although her 8-year-old child was killed. J. Muckley, of Charleston, W. Va., and Charles Walters, of Fayetteville, W. Va., were seriously hurt.

O'HARA IS GUILTLSS; HIS ACCUSERS BLAMED Springfield, Ill., May 21.—Lieutenant Governor O'Hara was exonerated from blame and Miss Maude Robinson and Sam Davis, of Springfield, were charged with attempting to obstruct the work of the senate white slave commission, by the report of the special senatorial commission appointed to investigate charges of immorality against O'Hara which today reported its finding. The committee concludes its report in part as follows: "Your committee finds that said Sam Davis, one of said witnesses, procured said Maude Albert Robinson to sign and swear to said affidavit which was filed and framed and adversely designed to convey the impression that Barrett O'Hara, president of the senate, who is chairman of said committee, had been guilty of improper conduct with said Maude Robinson; that this affidavit was procured by Davis with the idea of using it to hamper said commission in its investigation of vice conditions in Springfield, and that Davis was moved to do this by what he considered an unfair and abusive method in the examination of certain witnesses." The report was unanimously adopted on a viva voce vote. COL. SIBERT PUSHED TO SUCCEED BIXBY Washington, May 21.—The contest for the appointment of a successor to General W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers, when he retires next December, began today, when Senators Bamford, Johnson, and Johnston, of Alabama, and speakers of the house from those two states urged the president to promote Lieutenant Colonel William L. Sibert. They declared that Colonel Sibert, an engineer in charge of the Atlantic division of the Panama canal, and builder of the Gatun dam, had merited the appointment. In the dining room the table centerpieces were a cluster of pink and lavender sweet peas, with a border of small vases filled with the same flowers. The candles in silver can-diesticks were unshaded, and pretty detail of color was pink and lavender. To Pioneer Women.

A charming company of Atlanta's most representative women, the mem-bers of the Pioneer Women's society, were the guests of Mrs. Frank P. Rice yesterday at an afternoon tea, and the occasion was a delightful one.

Mrs. Rice was assisted in receiving by the officers—Mrs. Joseph Morgan, Mrs. Anthony Murphy, Mrs. Sid Hol-land and Mrs. Joseph Wusthoff—and in their elegant reception gowns they made a beautiful picture against a background of palms and red rambler roses, while the atmosphere of the whole occasion was that which comes of brocade and old lace, silver hair and stately manners.

An impromptu feature of much en-joyment was music by Mrs. William Grant and selections by Mrs. Robert Blackburn. Mrs. Grant, who prides herself on the number of years she is young, played on the piano the drawing room music played by the belles of sixty years ago and illumi-nated its measures by her own gra-cious gaiety, while Mrs. Blackburn gave some of the dialect interpreta-tions which make part of her popu-larity with the society. Her accom-panyment was by her own gra-cious gaiety, while Mrs. Blackburn gave some of the dialect interpreta-tions which make part of her popu-larity with the society.

A delightful hospitality was ex-pressed by Mrs. Rice, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Rice, and her granddaughters, Misses Annie Sykes, Georgia and Mary Bolton rooms had elaborate decoration in red rambler roses, hollyhocks and sweet peas, and in the dining room the tea table was prettified in pink, its centerpiece of Dorothy Perkins' roses.

A pretty touch of sentiment lay in the cluster of "heart leaves" sent by one of the ladies of the society, Mrs. J. N. Bateman, who was unable to be present, but expressed in this manner where her heart was, and the leaves were distributed among the guests. They came from her sister's garden, Mrs. Jennings, who is another lover.

Another date on the social calen-dar of the society which the members are looking forward to will be a pic-nic on Wednesday, June 4, at the beautiful home of Mrs. V. P. Sisson, in Kirkwood.

SHOWERS ARE DUE TO FALL THURSDAY

Throughout the entire state local showers are due to fall today and several days longer, and after that, according to present atmospheric in-dications, there will be a spell of fair weather.

Practically the same temperature condition are forecast, and the mer-cury, which climbed to 82 degrees on Wednesday, will hover around the same point, at noon today.

One result of the showers of early Wednesday morning was that the temperature at 7 o'clock in the morning was decidedly cooler—than it had been for several days. At that hour the thermometer registered 68 de-grees, while on the same hour of the previous day the temperature had been as high as 72.

PYTHIANS TO KEEP AGE LIMIT OF 21

Grand Lodge Rank Conferred on Class of Over Two Hundred at Meeting in Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—By an overwhelming vote the grand lodge this afternoon voted against the proposed amendment to the consti-tution of the Knights of Pythias pro-viding for reducing the age limit from 21 to 18. The amendment was lost after a heated debate that lasted all the afternoon.

The grand lodge rank was conferred on a class of over 200 today, the larg-est class ever known at a state con-vention of the Pythians.

The contest for supreme representa-tive has been much more interesting with the advent of other candidates. Those seeking the places are: C. T. H. Nickerson of Athens, F. M. Sonner-kamp of Columbus, C. M. Milam of Cartersville, D. J. Ballou of Griffin, and B. D. Brantley of Blackshear. The first two named are now representa-tives. It is said that Brantley stands a good chance of winning.

While it is admitted that the con-test between W. H. Leopold, of Sa-vannah, and W. H. Brannon, of Talbot-ton, for grand keeper of records and seal, will be interesting, it is under-stood that the Savannah candidate has sufficient backing to win. It is ex-pected that a warm fight will develop tomorrow when an effort is made to designate Macon as the permanent meeting place for the grand lodge. This motion will be among early ones introduced, and, while there is a lot of support to the move, there is also considerable opposition.

Grand Chancellor W. J. Sears, of the Florida grand lodge, is attending the convention. Supreme Chancellor T. J. Farling will be here tomorrow, mak-ing the Waycross convention one of unusual importance.

The Pythian sisters will hold a me-morial service tomorrow for the de-ceased members of the grand temple. Six companies of the grand temple, four from Savannah, one from Atlan-ta and one from Augusta, will partic-ipate in the prize drill tomorrow af-ternoon. Tonight the feature of the convention is the "Dokkey" parade, at-tracted thousands, headed by the fa-mous company band of Savannah, and with thirty-five candidates partic-ipating, hundreds of Knights bring-ing in the parade through the main section of the city won contin-uous cheers. A funnier sight has never been seen in Waycross.

Report of Chancellor.

That Pythians made the great strides in Georgia during the past year is told by the annual reports of the officers of the grand lodge, sub-mitted today. Of special interest is the report of Grand Chancellor James W. Austin, of Atlanta. He stated at the outset that when he was elected grand chancellor he found it neces-sary to be surgeon in ordinary to the grand lodge, cutting off the appar-ent "dead limbs" that seemed to be in a state of "suspended animation." He reports the suspension of eighteen lodges during the year, those sus-pended being C. C. Brown Lodge, No. 222, Atlanta; Faceville, No. 225, Faceville; Flushing Lee Lodge, No. 124, Kirkland; Golden City Lodge, No. 119, Villa Rica; Albany Lodge, No. 30, Grand Rapids; LaGrange Lodge, No. 78, LaGrange; Mills Lodge, No. 127, Etaham; Richmond Lodge, No. 129, Richmond; Constantine Lodge, No. 130, Butler; Spring Creek Lodge, No. 125, Brinson; Vienna Lodge, No. 186, Vienna; Shinnel Lodge, No. 141, Nashville; The Gansville Lodge, No. 161, Hogansville; Rockley Lodge, No. 185, Toccoa; Pro-hawk Lodge, No. 210, Tate; Royston Lodge, No. 223, Royston; Hancock Lodge, No. 246, Milledgeville; Milltown Lodge, No. 248, Milltown.

Grand Chancellor Austin, in his re-port, makes an earnest plea for in-creased cost of initiation, stating that he has had experience that men-prise that which is most difficult to obtain, and pointing out to the lodge the advantages of an increase over the present price of admission.

Knights of Pythias, and the insurance department, are commended and he urges that the knights give their hearty support to the Dramatic Order, Knight of Crosses.

Quotations from the report of the su-preme keeper of records and seal in the grand chancellor's report, is one that shows 7,716 lodges, with 715,000 members throughout the supreme do-main.

One of his suggestions that was re-ceived with a great deal of interest and is the subject of much talk is that with reference to a change in the method of electing grand lodge officers. He thinks the present way of electing officers in the grand lodge convention should be discontinued and use in Ohio, by which with subordinate lodges, after certain pre-liminaries have been complied with, vote for the grand lodge officers. He suggests that in view of the work done by the state deputy grand chancellor the office of district deputy grand chancellor be abolished.

GIRLS ARE GRADUATED In Gowns Fashioned by Own Fair Fingers.

Tifton, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—The prettiest gowned sweet girl graduates in the south today were the seven girls in the graduating class of the Second District Agricultural and Mechanical school this morning—because the dresses they wore had been fashioned by their own fair fingers. Each of the girls were also graduates of the domes-tic science department and had been taught dressmaking as well as practical housekeeping.

The graduating class was the largest the school has yet turned out, the fifteen students representing ten coun-ties of the district. Last year there were fourteen in the graduating class, eclipsing the record up to that time.

The graduates are: Misses Mamie Miles, Ethel Vanlandingham, Vivian Chasen, Ethel Schnass, Cassie Martin, Lottie Davis and Etta Walker; Messrs. Willie Wingate, Arthur Hasty, Lyn-wood Wingate, Arton Clegg, Guy Bur-roughs, Eugene Drexel, John L. Davis and Charles Clements.

The class papers were along prac-tical agricultural and economical lines, that of Mr. Burroughs being on "Farm Mechanics and Arts" that of Mr. Clegg on "Stock Raising on the Farm," and the paper read by Miss Miles treating on "Home Economics." Mr. Clements was valedictorian.

The literary address was delivered by Rev. T. S. Hubert, of Macon, from the subject "The Bible as a Complete Preparation for Life." Dr. Hubert was followed by a short talk to the stu-dent body by Professor J. F. Hart, principal, and talks from J. R. Mercer, of Terrell; R. L. Betts, of Turner, and Dr. J. E. Warvall, of Grady, members of the board of trustees. After the addresses a delicious barbecue dinner was spread under the waving pines of the school campus. The attendance was large.

The papers and addresses illustrated the work the school is doing in teach-ing the young men of the state sci-en-tific as well as practical farming and the young women practical and sci-en-tific housekeeping. Not only is each graduate competent to take charge of a farm or a household and conduct it on practical and economical lines, but he or she is qualified to teach practical and scientific agriculture or domestic economy in any of the higher schools of the state. Several members of the present faculty are graduates of the school and it is thought the agri-cultural schools of the state will soon be able to supply the demand for teachers of advanced agriculture and domestic science throughout the south-ern states.

MAN AND WOMAN DROWN Four Others Escape as Boat Sinks in Ogeechee.

Savannah, Ga., May 21.—John Mat-thews and Louise Seagers were drown-ed in the Ogeechee river, 14 miles from Savannah, this morning about 7 o'clock. There were four others in the party, and three of them were saved by Will Parry Clay, the fourth man, who also tried to save May Jack-son.

The party was in a flat-bottomed bateau, and a half mile from the land-ing when suddenly the boat went down. Parry Clay kept his head and threw a compass across the bottom of the boat. Myrtle Cowart went down and diving after her, Parry Clay brought her ashore. He returned for Irene Victory, who had gone down the third time, and carried her to safety.

Bessie Seagers, formerly of Colum-bus, Ga., was clinging to the boat when Matthews struggled with her, and both were down. Parry Clay went after them, but was unable to find the bodies.

CONFERENCES HELD ON CURRENCY REFORM

Washington, May 21.—President Wilson had three conferences today on currency reform. He discussed with Secretary Keim prospects of currency legislation at this session and learned that attention had been so sharply focused on the tariff that there was no agreement in sight as yet as to the advisability of currency reform. The president talked with Chairman Owen of the senate banking and currency committee early in the day and later saw Representative Glass, probable chairman of the house banking committee. He was merely inquiring into the progress being made. Indications are that within another week a bill will be completed, the fundamentals of which will have administrative approval. Secretary McAdoo had a short conference late today with Senators Burton and Weeks. Senator Burton was a member of the senate monetary commission and Senator Weeks is a member of the banking and currency committee. It was understood Mr. McAdoo discussed currency legislation. The senate monetary committee is scheduled to meet Friday and Chairman Owen and other members are preparing the list of questions to be submitted to bankers and financial experts. Although many senators believe currency legislation at the special session is impossible, the opinion is growing that a determined effort may be expected to put a bill through both houses.

BIBLE MAY SOLVE JAPANESE PROBLEM

Southern Assembly Hears Interesting Proposition From Dr. John Fox—Kansas City Chosen for 1914 Assembly.

That America can solve the serious and growing Japanese problem by means of a new and complete translation of the Bible and deluging the whole empire of Japan with thousands of copies, was the interesting proposition made by Dr. John Fox, of New York city, secretary of the American Bible society.

"Where would there be a better way for this country to show its true Christian spirit than to bear the expense of such a translation immediately, and pay the money out of our own pockets in order to send these copies of the Bible to every corner of that empire, and thus bring us into a close, brotherly relation with Japan that would go far toward eliminating the menace of war?" said Dr. Fox.

He explained that it would cost $30,000 or $40,000 to have this translation made at once. There are a number of Japanese scholars who are at present working on translations of parts of the Bible, but no definite and complete translation has yet been started.

According to the plan of the American Bible society, however, the money may be secured for this purpose and the work begun within the very near future.

Missionary to Japan Speaks

Conditions of immorality and ignorance in the Japanese empire were described by Rev. S. M. Ericson, a returned missionary, and he told of the wonderful change wrought in the sections of Japan that had thus far been touched by Christianity, declaring that in the spread of Christianity lay a great opportunity for reclaiming the nation and solving the problem that is menacing the world. Rev. D. W. Richardson, a missionary who has returned from China, told also of conditions in that congested land, and he said that with the rapid growth of the missions there the future is bright and hopeful for the Chinese.

Splendid Home Mission Report

Dr. W. McF. Alexander, of New Orleans, chairman of the home mission committee of the assembly, reported the results of this year's home mission work. The signal favor of God was never more manifest than is evidenced by the results of this year's home mission work," said Dr. Alexander. "The total contributions of the previous year, $125,787.11, were increased by over $28,000 this year, the contributions amounting to $153,810. More than 425 missionaries, not counting their wives and children, but including mission teachers, were employed and supported in whole or in part, ministering to over 300 churches and mission stations. This year's contribution of our work and the amount of money ever expended by the assembly in the home mission field.

Cherokee Indian Missions

When the Indians broke forth in one of the characteristic Choctaw mopes of the large audience that filled the North Avenue church strained its ears to hear the interesting song, and it was one of the most delightful experiences of the entire day's session. Silas Eason, the full-blooded Choctaw Indian, told of the mission work at his home, Goodland, Okla., and made a frank appeal in his interesting English for more funds for carrying on the work.

Work among the Negroes was then described by I. C. H. Chapman, a teacher in one of the negro schools near Montgomery, Ala. The receiving of these two mission reports occupied

JAP SITUATION LOOKING BETTER

President Wilson Greatly Encouraged—President Urges Sisson Not to Make a "Jingo" Speech.

Washington, May 21.—Reassuring advices reached the state department from Japan today, indicating that the American reply to the protest against the California land law was being met with a more liberal spirit by the Japanese government, and that the situation had taken on a much more favorable appearance than at any time since negotiations began.

When the first bathers leap off the spring board at Piedmont park this morning and feel the delightful tingle of the cool water the "seabeach" of Atlanta will be open to the public again for a long summer of aquatic enjoyment. The opening was originally scheduled to take place on Sunday morning, but it appeared that the "delightful weather" of this week was most auspicious for the opening, and the board yielded to the clamor of the bathers and moved up opening day.

Those who visited the lake last summer and found health and strength incidentally a deep coat of brown in its sports will hardly know the spot today, unless they have visited it within the past few days and noted the many improvements that have been made.

Water Pumped Into Lake

Pure water has been pumped into the lake until on Wednesday the high water mark was reached and the overflow started. By an arrangement of pipes which was partially carried out last year fresh water will continually flow into the swimming pool from all sides, keeping it washed out and clear and lessening the danger of infection from the crowd of bathers.

Open to Both Sexes

The lake will be open each week day from 6 o'clock in the morning until sundown, and both sexes will be admitted as last year. On Sunday the lake will be open to both sexes from 8 until 8 o'clock in the morning. From 6 o'clock until sundown men and boys only will be admitted.

Season Warned by Wilson

President Wilson today sent for Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, and urged him not to make a "jingo" speech, which would offend the sensibilities of Japan.

PIEDMONT PARK LAKE OPENS THIS MORNING

Lake Will Be Open Every Week Day From 5 O'Clock Until Sundown.

The swimming pool, intended for women and children and the men who have not learned to keep themselves well afloat, has been enlarged to almost double its original size and a concrete bottom has been put in place of the board bottom.

Water Pumped Into Lake

Pure water has been pumped into the lake until on Wednesday the high water mark was reached and the overflow started. PLAYERS WILL HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET ON DRIVING CLUB LAWN

On the lawn of the Piedmont Driving Club, "after the show," the annual banquet of the Atlanta Players' club will take place Friday evening, May 30. This was decided on an informal meeting of the Players' club held Wednesday night in connection with the rehearsal at the Grand Opera House of "The Importance of Being Earnest."

At the central table will be grouped the members of the cast presenting the play on the same night, May 30, together with the officers and ex-presidents of the club. Governor-elect Stanton will be at this table, as Mrs. Stanton takes a prominent role in the production. Colonel T. E. Felder will also be present, Mrs. Felder being president of the club. The tables surrounding this central banquet table will be thrown open to the friends of the Players' club and the regular driving club members for the evening dinner, and it is planned thus to make a gala occasion of the event.

MOTHER'S DYING KISS MAY BE FATAL TO SON

Fort Scott, Kan., May 21.—Carl Heckenlible, a young farmer of this county, is near death in a hospital at Wichita, as a result of kissing his dying mother goodby last Monday. The mother, Mrs. C. C. When her physicians announced death was approaching, her son embraced and kissed his mother.

The next day the young man was taken ill, eruptions appearing on his body. Physicians pronounced the case blood poisoning contracted by the farewell kiss, and Heckenlible was hurried to Wichita for treatment.

PRELIMINARY TRIAL WAIVED BY LAWYERS

Burton Smith, Reuben Arnold and John Cox Will Have Hearing in the Superior Court.

Burton Smith, Reuben Arnold and John Cox, against whom warrants charging assault and battery had been sworn out by W. H. Byrd and C. W. Walton Tuesday afternoon, because of a fight near the superior court room, in which the complaints bore the marks of the combat, waived a preliminary hearing Wednesday before Justice C. H. Girardeau and gave bond in $300 each to the Fulton superior court.

As Justice Girardeau issued warrants for the arrest of the three widely known attorneys Tuesday afternoon, he directed his bailiff to notify each that 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon had been set for a preliminary hearing in his court room, 23 1-2 East Hunter street. Wednesday morning after Messrs. Smith, Arnold and Cox had conferred they concluded that it would take at least two days to hear evidence in the preliminary trial before Justice Girardeau.

also found that he had pressing matters before the courts that could not be delayed, and at once opened a conference with the justice of the peace, asking that they be allowed to waive preliminary trial under a satisfactory bond to the Fulton superior court, the superior court being designated rather than the city court, signified rather than Lowry Arnold, brother of one of the defendants, is solicitor of the city court.

Justice Girardeau acquiesced in the request for a waiver of the preliminary trial, and fixed the bond of each of the accused attorneys at $300. The bonds were quickly made, and there the case will rest until the Fulton county grand jury takes it up.

In a short statement Wednesday Attorney Smith declared that his only reason for accepting the ladies' charges, which he felt arose in order to apologize to one of them for a question he asked in the cross examination before the commission in the Crawford will case, which depositions were being taken at the time of the fight.

POSED AS MAN AND WIFE BUT JUST SWEETHEARTS

Mexican and Daughter of a Paris Banker Barred From the United States.

New York, May 21.—Carlos Dominguez, a young Mexican, and Lucienne Lopprince, his 17-year-old Parisian sweetheart, must go back to France, whence they eloped. They can't land here, and they can't go to Mexico City, as they planned. This was the decision of a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island this afternoon. They arrived here yesterday on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II.

The girl pleaded tearfully today that they be allowed to marry and come ashore, but the immigration authorities said no. Both will be detained at Ellis Island pending the departure of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. on Tuesday next.

Dominguez, who was an attaché of the Mexican consulate at Paris during the Diaz administration, and the girl were detained in their stateroom when the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. docked last yesterday. They were on the ship's manifest as man and wife, but on the strength of a cablegram from Paris, saying that the young woman was the daughter of a Parisian banker and had eloped, they were not permitted to land.

The young Mexican, when questioned, admitted that the trip was the culmination of a romance and the girl was not his wife. They were on their way to Mexico City.

Eastman, Ga., May 21.—(Special.)—C. M. Methvin, president of the Georgia Weekly Press association, has extended the most cordial and urgent invitation to attend the next meeting of the association to be held in LaGrange on July 15-16, and deliver an address before the members of that body. The United States senators from this state and members of congress from Georgia have also been asked to urge upon the president that the invitation be accepted, and they will no doubt exert all influence possible in this direction.

The general assembly will be in session at the time specified, and it is proposed to introduce a joint resolution in that body inviting the president to deliver an address to the legislators, which resolution will no doubt be gladly adopted unanimously, provided the president is able to visit the state at that time.

GUGGENHEIMS HOLD ALASKA BY THROAT

Washington, May 21.—Delegate Wickersham, of Alaska, started the senate territories committee today by telling the right of way to the Guggenheims from Mile Twenty-Five on the Copper River road to Three-Tree Point. You did not know what that bill meant. It passed the senate, but when it reached the house it killed it. If it had passed it would have given the Guggenheims title in fee simple to all of Cordova harbor and they would have had a monopoly like that of Mr. Ryan on Controller Bay."

Senator Chamberlain made no reply. Mr. Wickersham told the committee that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate had Alaska "by the throat."

Mr. Ryan challenged Wickersham's statement that the "Guggenheims" controlled the bay in which he is interested.

"It's just my word against his, so I ask the committee for permission to call any banker here to substantiate my statement," said Ryan. The committee will hold a session Friday to hear the banker whose name was not given out.

DRUG MEN ATTACK HEALTH BUREAU PLAN

Washington, May 21.—A sharp attack on the plan for a federal department of public health was recently outlined by Dr. George H. Simmons, of the American Medical association, and Dr. Harold W. Hensley, who made here today before the convention of the Pharmaceutical Association of America, by O. C. Flinn, secretary and treasurer. The association is composed principally of proprietary medicine manufacturers.

The speaker disclaimed any opposition to a federal department of health and declared that the association had no place in its membership for "quacks or purveyors of fraud," and that it was in thorough accord with the pure food and drug law.

MARYLAND HURRAHS FOR THE OLD GUARD

Atlanta Soldiers Are Cordially Welcomed at Baltimore and Annapolis.

Baltimore, Md., May 21.—(Special.)—An inspection of the naval academy at Annapolis and a battalion drill at the Fifth Regiment armory were the features of the entertainment today of the Old Guard, the crack military organization of Atlanta, Ga., by the Fifth Regiment armory during the visit there in October, 1913, when returned to the Maryland regiment. The visit of the Old Guard was the first since 1878, when that organization toured the north, visiting Baltimore among other cities, on the famous "peace mission" after the struggle between the states.

About fifty strong of the Old Guard arrived in Baltimore from Washington this morning and were greeted at the Union station by Lieutenant Colonel John Hinkley, acting commander of the Fifth, who was accompanied by a committee composed of Captains Herbert C. Smith and T. S. Kirk and Lieutenant J. Newman Nansen. The visitors were escorted to the Caswell hotel, where they shared their headquarters during their stay in the city, and between that time and 1 o'clock, when a luncheon was served at the Fifth Regiment armory, many places of interest in the city were visited.

The trip to Annapolis was made in special cars over the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric railway. Officers of the naval academy met the Old Guard and their escort of officers from the Fifth at the entrance to the naval academy, and practically every inch of the grounds and the buildings with the many historic relics was inspected.

The aviation station was the most interesting exhibition, flights of the airplane recently purchased by the navy department and the hydroplanes being hugely enjoyed by the visitors from the southern city. The old flags which were carried or captured during the various wars in which this country has taken part also aroused interest. All of the banners, some tattered and moth eaten, proved very attractive, but the one which created the most interest was that recovered from the sunken battleship Maine after the British flags captured during the war of 1812.

The grave of John Paul Jones, under the new chapel, was also a center of interest as none of the Georgians and few of the Maryland men had ever seen it before.

Prior to their departure from the Fifth regiment armory after the luncheon a surprise was sprung on the officers of the local regiment.

While Miss Bessie Brady standing on a chair to lead them, the visitors sang a parody of "Maryland My Maryland," written for the occasion by Miss Brady before the Old Guard left the Caswell for the armory.

Old songs were immediately taken up and all joined in the choruses. One of the tunes was that sung by the backers of President Wilson prior to his nomination at the convention which ran: "They say the old Fifth ain't got no stars, but she's awfully white, all the while," bringing back remembrances to many of days of the convention last June.

Montgomery, Ala., May 21.—While his wife lay desperately ill in an adjoining room, John I. Forniss, a retired capitalist, committed suicide in his apartments at a prominent local hotel last night by sending a bullet through his brain. Discovery was made at 5 o'clock this morning by the maid attending Mrs. Forniss.

Mr. Forniss was 73 years old, a Confederate veteran, and a native of Wilcox county, Alabama. He had been in declining health for some time. He left a note saying that nervousness was driving him crazy and he was losing his mind. He asked all to pray for him. The body will be interred here.

NO MAN that has used newspaper advertising properly ever gives it up. To do so would mean not only an immediate loss of business, but a gradual decline.
By properly, we mean consistent statements made persistently. The ads need not be large, but they must appear often. First they attract attention—but that is not enough. They must keep on appearing until they change attention into temporary interest, then temporary interest into permanent desire for the goods.

Spectacular "stunts" get the attention of the public—for the moment only. Tomorrow they are forgotten. But the little ad that is always on the job, always there with a bright, inviting appearance and interesting message, wins the business, not only for a day, but for as long as the merchant makes good his promises.

Too many merchants feel they cannot afford to advertise because to them advertising means the use of space the cost of which is prohibitive. If you are in this class, break away today. Think of the success won by men you know who started with several inches single column and made that produce the money to pay for larger space. We can name a grocer; a druggist; a jeweler and others from whom you buy goods.

DEFENSE OF HUFF TO BEGIN TODAY

The Government Ends Its Case Against Macon Man Charged With Trying to Intimidate Judge Speer.

Macon, Ga. May 31—(Special)—The government finished its case late this afternoon against Colonel W. A. Huff charged with contempt of court for an alleged effort to obstruct justice and intimidate Judge Emory Speer of the United States district court through alleged veiled threats and criticism contained in a letter sent to the judge and the defense will begin the introduction of evidence first thing tomorrow morning.

Speer to Be Witness.
It is stated here tonight that Judge Emory Speer will be called as a witness for the defense tomorrow. Attorney Thomas S. Felder representing Colonel Huff continued to fight every point today though without any degree of success. At the morning session the court overruled the defendant's demurrer to the government's motion for criminal contempt and directly after court had convened in the afternoon Attorney Felder presented a plea in bar setting forth that the defendant had been before the court on the same charge and that when the trial had stopped with Judge Speer's refusal to continue to preside he was entitled to a dismissal. The government's attorney demurred on the ground that the first trial had not proceeded further than the arguing of the plea and the pleading of the defendant and the court sustained the demurrer.

The next step by the defense was filing answer to the government's motion charging contempt. In this a complete denial was made of any intention on the part of Colonel Huff of misbehaving in the presence of the court or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice and also denying that the letter was sent to Judge Speer with any purpose to hinder or effect him in the performance of his duties or to obtain any judgment in his favor. Denial was also made that the letter was sent while court was in session.

Motion to Dismiss.
Then followed a motion by the defense to dismiss the defendant and purge him from all contempt. The government resisted on the ground that the court had no right to purge the charges and Judge Grubb upheld that contention ordering the case to proceed.

The government confined its efforts to an attempt to show that the letter written by Colonel Huff had been delivered to Judge Speer at his home in Vineville while he was at work upon court matters and that at the time the letter was received there were pending in the Huff bankruptcy case several matters that had not yet been disposed of. The defense tried to show by the witnesses that court was not actually in session but had been adjourned during the morning of the day on which the letter was received until the following morning at 10 o'clock.

The minutes showed this but it was testified that the judge is often engaged on matters in his chamber while court is not in session.

An effort was made to show that Colonel Huff had given a copy of his letter to a newspaper reporter for the purpose of publishing it to the world at large.

A reporter for a local paper testified that Colonel Huff had told him of the letter shortly after it had been sent and had stopped with Judge Grubb's reporter testified that Colonel Huff had told him he might do whatever he pleased with it.

J. O. Cannon a banker identified the signature on the letter received by Judge Speer as that of Colonel Huff.

Judge Not Exempt.
When court convened this morning Judge Grubb and Attorney Felder engaged in an argument over what constitutes the presence of the court which lasted over an hour. Mr. Felder continually held that outside the courtroom the judge was a private citizen and not immune from criticism. During the argument between the two Judge Grubb said:

I don't think that a judge is any more exempt from criticism than any one else. If such criticism is not of such a nature to be construed as attempting to influence his decision the judge has a right to personal prerogatives in the first premise but if such criticism is with a view of influencing a decision or affecting the process of justice then it comes under the statute I should say of contempt. Judge Grubb elaborated more fully on this phase of the case until Mr. Felder remarked:

As I see that your honor has already made up his mind I will not press the point. Judge Grubb then having held that the case might go to trial on the basis on which the action was brought, Mr. Felder then asked until 3 o'clock in the afternoon in which to prepare an answer after he had assured Judge Grubb that he would then be ready.

Turkey Trot Cards Go

GRIFFIN WARRING OVER AUTO TRUCK

Fight Between Mayor and Council Reaches Climax Today, With Arrival of New Fire Engine.

Griffin, Ga. May 31—(Special)—The four-months' fight between Mayor J. H. Smith and the Griffin city council, over the purchase of an auto fire truck, will reach its climax Thursday when the truck will reach here and be exhibited on the main street of the town. The purchase of the truck has precipitated a spirited fight, because of the manner of purchase and the refusal of council to heed the mayor's desire to investigate other makes and bids, and the determination to buy this truck from a certain company.

The tax payers of Griffin are deeply concerned in the matter also, for they have just learned that a cash payment for the truck will bankrupt the treasury of all funds, and leave nothing to prosecute the extension of light and water mains now under way, as well as leave unprovided for some heavy obligations upon the city that fall due in a short time.

When the motion to purchase an auto fire truck was first voted upon and Mayor Smith declined to sign a contract then in hand, he pleaded for further investigation. Being ruled and advised by the city attorney of the alleged illegality of such a purchase he refused to sign the contract. Council then took the matter out of Mayor Smith's hands and appointed a committee to close the contract at once which was done in the plan in mind to pay for the truck in annual payments.

When Mayor Smith served notice of the truck and would not sign checks for payment, council then retaliated by recalling money voted to make city improvements, that there might be enough funds in the treasury to make cash payment upon delivery of the machine.

Much feeling is manifest among citizens concerning the matter.

SUMMER HAS "CAME," WATERMELONS HERE

Thousands of little darlings are hanging their tongues out today, and the freight yards are the center of an envious crowd of the same specimens of humanity for they know that summer is really here. They can tell it by the sight in a big freight car of luscious watermelons.

The first carload of the melons came in yesterday from Florida, and include the "Tom Watson" and the "Favorite." They have been placed in the Central of Georgia freight yard and are on sale from the cars. They were consigned to T. F. Goodwin & Co., wholesale produce merchants, on Broad street.

Within a few weeks melons will begin coming into the city from points in south Georgia, and the farmers and truckmen will be hauling them from nearby farms, and the season will be in earnest. Those who have sampled the first fruit from Florida declare that it is as luscious and juicy as the Georgia variety ever gets to be and that one taste is enough to compensate for hot weather and palm-leaf fans.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES

Spread All Over Face and Hands, Great Ugly Looking Sores, Itched and Burned Badly, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured.

805 Ricker St., Houston, Tex.—"My trouble began with very small pimples on the face then went to my back and the pimples began to get larger and larger with that awful itching that I can hardly describe. The pimples were full of white matter and when I scratched them they spread all over my face and hands and made great ugly looking sores. They itched badly and had a burning sensation to them that made me feel like I was on fire. Every scratch made a place that looked like a well, and my face was disfigured. They itched and burned so badly that I could not refrain from scratching, keeping it so that it looked as if I had small-pox all of the time. My clothes made me so miserable and irritated so much that I had to try not to wear any more than I could help."

"I tried everything that I could hear about in hope of relief which came for a time but did not last long. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used Cuticura Soap in hot water freely during the day and kept the sores covered in Cuticura Ointment all of the time, never letting them become dry. I kept up the treatment six months and was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Stone, Apr. 5, 1912.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient when all else has failed. Cuticura Soap, 25c, and Ointment, 50c, are sold by drug stores and dealers everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

ROYAL GUESTS GATHER FOR THE ROYAL WEDDING

True Hohenzollern Weather Sets in for Nuptials of Kaiser's Daughter

Berlin, May 31—True "Hohenzollern" weather—brilliant sunshine and cloudless sky—has set in for the wedding festivities of Princess Victoria Luise, daughter of the German emperor and empress and Prince Ernest August, of Cumberland which takes place on Saturday.

The official receptions started this morning with the arrival here of the bridegroom and the state entry into Berlin of King George and Queen Mary of England.

There was no ceremony to greet Prince Ernest August when he reached the station at 4 1/2. He drove at once in an automobile to the castle where he took breakfast with his bride-to-be before returning to the station to meet the British royals.

At the station awaiting the arrival of the royal train were Emperor William and Crown Prince Frederick William. In the uniforms of their British regiments, together with the empress and the "down princess" all the royal persons and princes assembled in Berlin and a mass of brilliantly uniformed naval officers and ministers and court functionaries surrounded them.

King George and Queen Mary when they stepped from the train were greeted with the customary cordial embraces by the emperor and empress and the other members of the imperial family. King George and Emperor William then jointly passed in review of the guard of honor drawn up on the platform. This completed the two monarchs together and the queen and empress side by side drove in open state carriages through the Avenue of Victory in Unter den Eichen to the castle each carriage escorted by a squadron of cavalry with pennoned lances. The wide thoroughfares were lined with troops of the Guards Army corps and behind them all Berlin seemed to have gathered.

SOLDIERS OF FRANCE IN MUTINIOUS MOOD

Paris, May 31—Some French soldiers are displaying considerable opposition to the decision of the government to keep them for another year in active service instead of discharging them at the expiration of their two-year term. A number of soldiers who took part in a demonstration at Toulon on Sunday were tried by court-martial today and sentenced to serve the rest of their term with the disciplinary battalions in northern Africa.

At Macon 100 soldiers assembled in the public square and sang "The International" the socialist hymn. Speeches were made condemning the introduction of the three year term of military service.

GEORGIA SHOULD AID EXPERIMENT STATION

With This Message to State, Martin Calvin Will Leave Office.

In his last report as director of the state experiment station at Griffin which was transmitted to the governor by Commissioner of Agriculture Martin V. Calvin, calls attention to the fact that the state has appropriated no money for the support and maintenance of the station since 1891 and says that the station could accomplish much greater results if the legislature had given it the $8,000 asked for.

As it is, the station is dependent entirely for its maintenance on the appropriations from the United States government, under the Hatch and Adams acts. The director contrasts this treatment of the station with the greater liberality shown to the State College of Agriculture. He believes that the functions of a college and an experiment station are entirely distinct, and that the state has need for both.

He says that a number of experiments in dynamite have been carried on at the station this year and that while they have not been extensive enough to reach definite conclusions it is believed that they will show a strong contrast between dynamited and undynamited lands in favor of dynamite.

A large number of varieties of sweet potatoes have been tried, with the result that the Triumph was found to be the most productive with an acreage yield of 47 bushels.

Experiments have been made with a number of resistant varieties of cotton seed, with a view of eliminating black root.

FINE OPPORTUNITY.

THE CRACKERS have a fine chance to help themselves and the entire league by slipping the baton into the hands of the Gulls this afternoon and again Friday and Saturday. If the locals can duplicate last year's stunt by taking the entire series from the Gulls on their first appearance of the season a piece great will be the joy. And if it is to be done at all now or in the time. Some one must at least make the last flying Gulls' nest late before it goes too late.

Must Be Bona

THE OPINION of many that when Ty Cobb signed with the Tigers he had a sliding scale on his mind calling for bonuses if he hit so much stuff so good so many fans are being verified by the Georgian every day. Including Tuesday's game with the Athletics, Cobb has been at bat 44 times scored 13 runs and made 18 hits an average of .317 for sixteen games. What will he do when he is feeling well?

Arm Is Gone

TY COBB'S arm is gone according to reports from Detroit. They say that the great veteran can no longer throw them to the plate as he used to. That the indiscretion of pitching a half hour before the game each day has told on the wonderful whip. We do not know definitely but well wagers a little that his arm has not gone and that nothing but a slight cold has settled in the great whip. As soon as it has been rubbed out by the throwing his sensational was again howler is at work or we miss our guess.

Oh Doctor

WRAY in the St. Louis Dispatch hands Frank Chance the following: Frank Chance if he is correctly quoted believes that his present 1911 or 1912. The average of seven it would seem that if he had better pitchers still on the bench in 1911 than he has in his batting order today with five excellent pitchers available to him.

Back Again

PAUL WATSON will be seen in uniform at Ponce de Leon this afternoon. He will be the third base coach. The cracker has just been signed up by Manager Mike Finn to fill utility. Paul will be the Gulls' coach and in this he ought to be of big assistance. He knows baseball all four ways and he can play both in and outfield. And no one ever as used Paul of pulled a poor hitter. He has a good eye for a good move when he grabbed out of the field.

After Hours

LARRY DOYLE the bats field leader is hot after the hitting horrid of the Lynch organization this season. He believes that Heine Zimmerman of the Cubs is the man that he has been having a nice little kidding match about it all year. But while they are watching one another a certain Gerald by the name of Hoyt's Warner is piloting an airplane close to the 400 mark to be exact 391.

Is About Through

JOE MANDOT, the pride of New Orleans is dead. He has lost everything he ever had or maybe he never had anything. From a possible championship contender Mandot has in the last few months passed to a rank outside but speed and when rugged boys like Leon Cross and Bud Anderson followed that speed they stepped inside and walloped Poor Tommy Walsh. His meal ticket is gone.

No Southerner Now

THE SOUTH is no longer represented among the clubs in the home world. Joe Mander has been sold to the Buffalo Internationals by the Braves according to advice from Boston.

Dent Blows in the Seventh, Turtles Winning Out 7 to 5; Butler's Triple Cleans Bases

By Dick Jensen.
Elliott Dent the Crackers' new right hander recently purchased from the Washington Americans, looked like a million dollars for six innings Wednesday afternoon.

In the seventh he looked like this to cents and after the Turtles had tallied five counters he was yanked and Gil Price sent to the mound to stem the tide and he did.

What occasioned Dent's blow-up is not known. But he bowed and with a loud report maybe it is the fact that the Turtles seem to have on the crackers an ability to overcome any kind of a lead apparently and win out.

The Crackers grabbed off five runs lead for Dent in the first inning. When the returns of the sixth and seventh stanzas were in the count stood Memphis 6 Atlanta 5 and they added one more off of Price in the next inning for good measure. The game was played for the benefit of the Atlanta Ad Men to assist them in making the trip to Baltimore to the national convention. A crowd numbering close to 4,000 was out to the pastime.

Hard Hitting

There was plenty of hard hitting by both sides and the way the batters do not know the difference but well wagers a little that his arm has not gone and that nothing but a slight cold has settled in the great whip. As soon as it has been rubbed out by the throwing his sensational was again howler is at work or we miss our guess.

Gulls Drop Two

Birmingham Ala. May 21—Mobile escaped a shutout in each of two games this afternoon Birmingham. In the first game the Gulls proved themselves superior in practically every department of play. In the first Prough was master of the situation throughout. In the second Berger was hit harder than Covellesle was in the first. However, he was very strong. The hitting of the locals featured both games McBride especially starring in this regard. There were frequent occurrences of spark

The hitting of Shortstop Butler and Second Baseman Stanley was as much to do with the downfall of the locals as any one else. Stanley drove in runs and Butler's 3 Bch hit a time which it was similar to the hit that scored Butler with what proved to be the winning run after he had leaped the bases with his triple in the stand up session.

The most amusing incident that has ever occurred in the history of the game occurred in the fourth inning. And as far as we can remember it has never happened in a baseball game before.

The sight of only eight men on the field in the game going on has never been seen before. Graham was at bat and Parsons had pitched two balls to Graham both of which he struck at for it.

In the fourth Alpermann walked with one knee but Welchone forced him at second. Smith combed out center for two sacks counting Welchone and Blaind drove Wallop home with a smash to center.

This ended the run getting for the Crackers although they threatened in every inning but the pinch hit was not forthcoming.

Shanley opened the sixth by smashing into left for three and scoring. The Turtles first run on an infield out.

The big round was the next. Basmard Schweitzer and Ward smashed consecutive singles to center the first named counting. Abstein hit one to center who threw badly to second the bases being filled.

Butler combed one to deep center for three bases clearing the sacks and he came home a moment later as Shanley shot one to left for a hit.

Dent was yanked at this stage and Price sent in. He retired the side without any further damage.

League-Leading Mobile Gulls Attraction at Poncey Today; Many Stars on Their Roster

Sir Michael Finn and his league leading Gulls will be the attractions at Ponce de Leon this afternoon and for the remainder of the week. MOTORCYCLE RIDERS SPRINTING DAILY

Prince's Motordrome Scene of Activity Every Afternoon. Band Concert Sunday.

The professional riders now stationed at Jack Prince's motordrome have started to work and are training daily. Prince has finished up the garages for them and each man has a place to himself and machine.

Every afternoon from 8 o'clock to 4:30 they are riding the track and every one is invited to watch them train. They are riding miles close around 75 miles per hour in training and impromptu races take place quite often.

Work has gotten well under way on the grand stand, and this will be finished quickly.

By Saturday of this week the definite date of the opening night will be announced.

Next Sunday afternoon a free open-air band concert will be given and everybody is invited to watch the men ride and inspect the big quarter-mile motordrome, at the same time hear the band.

Interest in the big motordrome is gaining every day. Judging from the large number of people who get out to the old circus grounds to see the progress being made.

All wonder at the steep banks and how it is possible for the men to stay on the track with a motorcycle, but when they see the men taking the turns at such high rate of speed and the riders passing each other almost rubbing elbows, it makes them hold their breath.

All say it is the most exciting sport ever put on in Atlanta.

Those Popular Excursions to Warm Springs via A. B. & A., commence Sunday, May 25. Only $1 round trip. Train leaves Union Station at 8 a. m.

This permission was granted by the American Automobile association under whose sanction the event is going to be run.

Butch, another Ford and others will enter in the fully equipped cars, amateur event, and there will probably be several other entries in the other events.

The climb was scheduled for last Saturday, but owing to the downpour while his teammates, mainly through Edgewood's errors, succeeded in piling up five runs, enough to win the game.
