

TROUBLES GALORE SPRING UP IN PATH OF TAX ON INCOMES

New Revenue-Raising Law Effective Today, and Financiers Confess They Are at Sea as to Its Meaning.

THOUSANDS OF LETTERS ASK FOR INSTRUCTIONS

Collection of Tax Will Strain Resources of Treasury Department, and Many Complications May Arise.

Washington, October 31.—The income tax, the most revolutionary revenue raising power conferred on the American government since its foundation, starts tomorrow upon the path that is to bring millions into the public treasury. Although an income tax has been agitated for many years, and its existence was assured by an amendment to the constitution agreed to by the necessary number of states early last spring, its collection by a government which has not tried it will strain the resources of the fertile minds in the treasury department and will be accompanied, it is not doubted here, with a thousand complications not now foreseen.

Ever since President Wilson signed the tariff bill with its income tax provision early in the present month, the machinery of the treasury department has been at work upon the regulations that are to govern collection of the tax. The task has kept Assistant Secretary Williams, Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Speer and other officials constantly at work, and the end is not in sight.

Mr. Williams said tonight that the regulations in the department were not difficult to understand, but some other officials in the department do not agree. Thousands of letters and telegrams, bringing up for settlement points in the new law, have poured into the department. They have come from every conceivable source, and added to the labor of making regulations, and to have made the task of the experts one not to be envied.

Regulations Not Perfect.

No one in the treasury department believes the regulations so far formulated are absolutely perfect, but they will stand until someone proves they should be changed, and officials are not inclined to believe that expert lawyers employed by big corporations particularly concerned with collection "at the source" of income on bonds, mortgages, salaries, etc., have failed to understand them.

Since the administration began framing an income tax law the talk has gone the rounds in Washington that it would meet many fights in the courts, and as the tariff bill progressed through the senate many a senator quietly expressed the view that every line of the income tax provision was subject for a law suit. With the law suits the treasury department has little concern. It is not looking for any of its business is to go out and get the money, and that is what it is trying to do.

Officials believe that the regulations they have put out are framed not with an idea of causing trouble to those who must pay, but in the only way they could be framed to safeguard the government's interest.

Common People "Should Worry."

The man in the street who knows he must pay more than $3,000 a year and who is practically responsible for his share of the tax does not need to begin worrying about his payment for the present. The operation of the law tomorrow affects only banks, corporations and others responsible for payment on bonds, mortgages, salaries, etc. For such part as they are bound by the law they must withhold "at the source." The amounts withheld are not payable immediately to the treasury, and the money from the tax will not begin flowing into the treasury vaults for many months. The tax for 1913 is to be collected from March 1, shortly after the constitutionality question was raised under December 31. With holding agents, however, must begin deducting the normal tax of 1 per cent at the source tomorrow, withholding it for November and December, with certain exceptions. The individual reported upon his own income of more than $3,000 a year makes his return to the collector of normal revenue in his district next month.

Regulations Are Issued.

The treasury department tonight issued further regulations affecting collections at the source of income. Its synopsis follows: "Normal tax of 1 per cent is to be withheld at the source where the income originates. "All persons, firms, organizations, etc. having the receipt, custody, disposal or payment of any annual income, profits or gains, are required to withhold tax except as exempt by law. "The following income is exempt from normal tax of 1 per cent, being withheld at source: "Dividends on capital stock or from the net earnings of corporations and like organizations that pay the normal tax of 1 per cent on its net income. "Proceeds from life insurance contracts except annual interest payments in excess of $3,000. "Income of individuals which is not fixed or certain, such as income of farmers, merchants, agents compensated on commission basis, lawyers, doctors, authors, inventors and other professional persons, with no fixed annual income. "The value of property acquired by gift, bequest or descent. "Interest upon the obligations of the United States or its possessions or a state or any political subdivision thereof. Salary of president and federal judges."

Carnegie Medals Given Georgia Men For Heroic Deeds

Basker Burel, of Dacula, and a Gainesville Negro Saved Lives at the Risk of Their Own.

Pittsburg, Pa., October 31.—(Special.)—Two Georgians are named in the largest list of awards ever made by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission, which was made public after a meeting of the commission here this afternoon. Seventy-seven awards were made. The Georgians are: Basker Burel, 21, of Dacula, and Arthur Lockett, 33, a negro, of Gainesville.

Burel saved Adolphus Bowles, 23, from suffocation at Duncans Creek, Ga., on August 9, 1912. Bowles was working in a well 3 feet in diameter and 50 feet deep. The well became filled with carbon dioxide gas and Bowles was overcome. A crowd was attracted. Three men refused, within Burel's hearing, to go into the well. Burel took off his shoes and descended to the bottom of the well by means of a rope cut in the wall of the well. He tied a rope around Bowles and climbed to the surface without assistance. Bowles was drawn out of the well and revived. Burel was awarded a bronze medal and $2,000, as needed, for education purposes.

Lockett who is a railroad fireman, risked his life to save that of Claude H. Potter, aged 3, in Jefferson, Ga., on May 9, 1912. The train on which Lockett was working was running twenty-five miles an hour when the engineer screamed. Lockett looked out and saw the child on the track 150 feet ahead of the locomotive. The engineer applied the emergency brakes and the engine began to sway. Lockett ran along the running board of the swaying engine. He jumped to the steam chest and then climbed to the pilot. The engine was less than ten feet from the child, and was running eight or nine miles an hour, when Lockett jumped to the track in front of the locomotive.

Lockett fell forward as he struck the ground and he grabbed the child as he fell. By quick jerks, Lockett threw himself and the child off the track, and both escaped without serious injury. The locomotive did not stop until it was thirty-five feet beyond the place where the child had been lying. Lockett was awarded a silver medal and $1,000, as needed.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF HUSBAND'S MURDER

Mrs. Wakefield and Paramour Will Probably Be Sentenced Together.

New Haven, Conn., October 31.—Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, of Bristol, mother of three little children, today was found guilty of murder in the first degree for her part in the killing of her husband, William, last June.

Evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Wakefield and her paramour, James Plew, conspired to get rid of Wakefield. While Mrs. Wakefield took her children out for a walk Plew shot her husband and then shot her to death. A knife was driven into the body and a rope placed around the neck to give the appearance of suicide.

Mrs. Wakefield reported to the police that her husband was missing and she feared that he had ended his life. An investigation resulted in the couple's arrest and both confessed.

Plew is a descendant of the Jewicks family, which has produced more than fifteen hundred defectives. He pleaded to homicide under an ancient statute which permits the court to fix the degree of guilt.

It is probable that Mrs. Wakefield and Plew will be sentenced together.

MAN WHO STOLE PIG IS GIVEN SENTENCE OF YEAR AT FARM

Waycross, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—When John Anderson, a white man, was given a straight sentence of twelve months in the state prison, a Circuit superior court today, for hog-stealing he received what is probably the most severe sentence ever imposed in the Waycross circuit for such an offense. Anderson was found guilty, and but for the jury recommendation, would have been liable for a two-year sentence.

Anderson is a resident of the suburb of Linnetts, and his wife was burned to death early today, seeking to save a pet dog.

Returning late from the home of friends they discovered their home, in which the dog had been locked, in flames. Anderson, pushed in and were trapped when the roof collapsed.

STRIKE STOPS CARS IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, October 31.—Employees of the street railway and traction companies of Indianapolis went on a strike at 11 o'clock tonight. Twenty minutes later practically every car had been returned to the barns and deserted by the strikers. Whether the companies will attempt to operate the cars again later officials would not say.

WILLIAMS-CROZIER.

London, October 31.—Brigadier General William Crozier, chief of ordnance of the United States army, and Miss Mary Williams, of Washington, were married today at St. George's church, Hanover square.

WASHINGTON WILL PROBABLY INSIST ON FAIR ELECTION

Believed the United States Is Planning to Take Active Part in Safeguarding Polls in Mexico.

REBEL FORCES WILL BE ASKED TO TAKE PART

Believed in Mexico City That Huerta Administration Is Facing a Financial Crisis. Small Runs on Banks.

Washington, October 31.—Retience which has enveloped the plans of the Washington administration on the Mexican problem for the last few days continued everywhere in official circles today.

In whatever is attempted, due consideration of the constitutionalists as an important factor in the situation will probably be given. It was inferred in many quarters that the cardinal features of the administration's plan will be a comprehensive scheme to bring about a fair and free election, efforts to be made by the American government to use its good office to secure the participation of the constitutionalists.

In some quarters the suggestion was advanced that the Washington government contemplated assisting materially in the conduct of the proposed elections to ensure certain safeguards.

It is admitted that no action will be taken until an announcement of an official character is made in Mexico as to the result of last Monday's elections.

Much interest is manifest in the arrival here tomorrow of Roberto V. Pesquera, nephew of the governor of Sonora, and special messenger from Governor Carranza to the constitutionalist agency here. It is believed he brings the views of the constitutionalist chiefs as to what would or would not prove acceptable to them in the way of election arrangements, and an earnest request that the agency here continue its efforts to obtain the removal of the embargo on arms.

HUERTA'S GOVERNMENT IS IN FINANCIAL CRISIS

Mexico City, October 31.—The government today encountered some difficulty in meeting its pay rolls for the ten days ending today. In some of the departments only partial payment was made with the promise to the men that the balance would be forthcoming tomorrow. In other departments payment had to be entirely deferred. Later, however, the government secured funds and tonight began giving the men in all departments their money. The paymaster had instructions to continue at work all through the night if necessary.

Rumors of the inability of the administration to meet its financial engagements spread over the city today. It is reported that President Huerta is rumored to levy a tax of 15 per cent on all bank deposits.

The latter report spread to such an extent that many persons withdrew their funds from various banks.

Apparently there was no basis for the report. Several leading bankers said they knew nothing further of it than the talk that was going on in the street and the fact that they had been asked to answer dozens of telephonic inquiries made by anxious depositors.

The withdrawals did not reach the proportion of runs on the banks, but bankers appeared apprehensive that such a run would be the result. The excitement continue to grow. The manager of one of the leading banks expressed the opinion that President Huerta, who thus far has confined himself to financial matters, would not attempt to adopt such a measure as levying a 15 per cent tax on deposits.

There is a distinctly high tension of expectancy here and on all sides the belief is freely expressed, both by Mexicans and foreigners that the administration is facing a financial crisis. It is said the banks and business houses have been reluctant to pay up their shares in the $60,000,000 bonds. Many persons are alleged to have subscribed to the loan under pressure.

One report that was quickly disproved by both parties concerned was to the effect that an effort had been made by the authorities to coerce the Bank of London and Mexico into the payment of a large sum, but that the effort was blocked by Sir Lionel Caden, the British minister, who complained direct to President Huerta. Both Sir Lionel and Manager Mitchell, of the bank, branded the report as groundless.

Tonight there are many rumors in circulation. In the clubs, on the streets and at all meeting places, forecasts relate to whether or not the latest embellishments the reports of the government's financial difficulty will prove a calamity in the near future.

Many persons are taking advantage of the short holiday season to go to Vera Cruz in anticipation of unpleasant consequences as a result of the next meeting of the cabinet in Washington.

GENERAL DIAZ SETS SAIL

Vera Cruz, Mexico, October 31.—General Felix Diaz and his companions put to sea today on board the American battleship Michigan, to which they had been transferred by Rear Admiral Fletcher from the flagship Louisiana. The course of the Michigan was laid for Havana.

SOMETHING MUST HAPPEN SOON!

TWO MEN KILLED AND MANY HURT

Passenger Train No. 29 on Southern Railway From Columbus to Atlanta Derailed Near Griffin, Ga.

Two men were killed outright and two seriously injured and a hundred passengers severely shaken up when Southern railway passenger train No. 29, en route from Columbus to Atlanta, was derailed along a curve over a steep embankment near Griffin, Ga., yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The dead men are Engineer Thomas H. Gay and Fireman E. C. Pearson, of Atlanta. They were buried beneath the heavy engine and the bodies were not recovered until late last night.

Conductor D. Williams was terribly cut about the face when he attempted to make his escape from the wreckage by crawling through a broken window. He also sustained internal injuries. Flagman J. P. Flynn suffered from a broken leg and an injured back. Williams and Flynn both live in Atlanta. They were taken to a hospital in Griffin for treatment.

Passengers Are Hurt.

R. L. Wallace, of Kirkwood, R. E. Richardson, of No. 11 West Baker street; Miss Ellen Mooney, of Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Young, of Columbus, Ga.; O. V. Bronson, of the Atlanta General Fire Extinguisher company, and C. A. Trussell, of No. 128 Park avenue, this city, sustained injured backs and scratches. Other passengers were severely shaken up, but the extent of their injuries could not be ascertained.

R. L. Wallace, of Kirkwood, who is connected with the D. R. Wilder company, was located in Atlanta last night. He gave this account of the wreck: "It did not seem to me that we were going so very fast," said Mr. Wallace, "but all at once I felt the emergency brakes clutch. The train seemed to slide for a few feet and then there was a terrible shock. I was thrown headlong over a seat. The car was full of people. They were thrown about in heaps and immediately the women screamed and there was much confusion. I was half stunned and for a moment could not quite comprehend the situation. There was a splintering sound. I tried to get out. The car was on its side and I had difficulty in reaching the door."

Engineer Pinned Under Tender.

"When I was free of the car," continued Mr. Wallace, "I beheld the engine hanging down toward a deep gully. All of the eight coaches had left the track and their weight had kept the engine from going to the foot of the hill. I could see the engineer. He was pinned beneath the tender. The fireman I could not see. The coaches were soon emptied. None of the passengers seemed to be badly hurt, with the exception of the conductor and the flagman. A special train soon arrived and the passengers were taken back to Griffin, where we were transferred and came to Atlanta via Fayetteville.

Southern railway officials last night declared that they were at a loss to account for the cause of the wreck. "Apparently," they said, "the track was in good condition." This is the first wreck on the Columbus division in several years.

Engineer Gay was one of the oldest men in point of service on the Southern railroad. He lived at No. 622 Washington street. E. C. Pearson, the dead fireman, was also an old and trusted employee. He lived at No. 117 South Pryor street.

The Pullmans, which were of steel, were not damaged, according to Southern road officials, and the injuries received by the passengers were due to the jar of the derailment.

Mrs John Lind Tells How She Saved Two Mexican Legislators

Wife of President Wilson's Envoy Sat All Night on Deck While Hunted Men Hid in Cabin.

New York, October 31.—The steamer Morro Castle, which arrived tonight from Vera Cruz with Mrs. John Lind, wife of President Wilson's special envoy, brought also two Mexican legislators who owe their liberty, if not their lives, to her quick wit and generosity.

To save the two Mexicans from arrest at Vera Cruz, Mrs. Lind hid them in her stateroom and sat up all night on deck until the boat left port and the officers of the Huerta government had gone ashore.

A week ago the cables brought word that the Ward liner Morro Castle had been detained at Vera Cruz while Huerta's agents searched for eight rebellious members of the legislature of the state of Vera Cruz. Until the Morro Castle arrived here tonight only those aboard knew that two of the eight "deputies" had escaped arrest.

These men, Adolfo Dominguez and Miguel A. Cordera, say they will stay in New York until Mexico becomes a safer home for the opponents of Huerta.

Mrs. Lind Tells About It.

"We expect the Morro Castle would sail from Vera Cruz," said Mrs. Lind, "at 4 o'clock the afternoon of October 23. Then Captain Huff was subpoenaed to testify regarding the flight of Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez, who had sailed on the Morro Castle five months before. Later we learned that the real reason for our detention was that the government wished to search the ship for eight state legislators from the city of Jalapa. They arrested six of these men, but they didn't find the others—I'll tell you why.

"While the search was going on the friends of these two men learned that I was aboard and they came with tears in their eyes begging me to help them. I said here's the key to my stateroom. Take it."

"That was all they needed. I spent the night on deck and the two men hid in my room, until the detectives gave up the search and went ashore. Then the ship was released and we sailed at 5 o'clock the next morning."

ADOLFO DIAZ FOILED CONSPIRATORS' PLAN TO MURDER CABINET

Managua, Nicaragua, October 31.—Details officially were made public today of the conspiracy against the lives of President Adolfo Diaz and his ministers, in connection with which seven arrests were made Wednesday night.

The president had planned to hold a cabinet council in his residence on the evening of October 29. The conspirators gathered in the house with the intention of assassinating the president and his colleagues.

BABY IN CRADLE BURNED TO DEATH

Frantic Mother Restrained by Firemen From Rushing Into Blazing Home in Vain Attempt at Rescue.

Fire claimed the life of the 3-month-old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheommas and destroyed the residence at No. 104 Mills street yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Sheommas left her infant to visit the grocery store two doors below which is owned by her husband. She had not been gone two minutes when neighbors saw smoke issuing from the house. An alarm was at once sent in.

The mother came running from the store and ran on the porch of her home. As she opened the door flame and smoke blocked her way to her baby, who was in a cradle in a rear bedroom.

Only the restraining hands of firemen, who had by this time arrived, prevented the frantic mother from rushing to certain death. The fire was so hot and burned so rapidly that even the firemen could not venture within to have done so would have been fruitless, for a man who entered stood not one chance in a hundred of coming back alive.

It was fully ten minutes before the flames were subdued sufficiently to permit the firemen to enter the building. Then Chief Cummings made a dash into the flames. He returned with a bunch of water-soaked mattress and the charred form of the infant.

The house was completely destroyed. The damage is estimated at $500. The building was owned by Poulos & Sulonias.

The funeral of the child will be held today at 11 o'clock at Harry G. Poole's chapel, and the interment will be at West View.

BULLARD NOT GUILTY OF MURDER OF SPAIN

Jury in Waycross Case Brings in Verdict After Four Hours of Deliberation.

Waycross, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—After remaining out four hours the jury in the case of State v. Tom Bullard, charged with killing Mack Wraycross, returned a verdict of "not guilty" this afternoon in Circuit superior court.

The prosecution based its case mostly on circumstantial evidence, and used statements alleged to have been made by Bullard to a party of men a few days before Spain's body was found in a shallow pond.

Spain was an eccentric farmer, and his murder was robbery, it being current knowledge that he had with him and within his home at all times a large sum of money. Before his body was found his home was entered and robbed. Bullard is not 21 years of age, and stuck to his original story throughout the case.

The verdict in this case was rendered by eleven men counsel agreeing to the withdrawal of Juror Peagler upon notice of his father's sudden death.

TRIAL JUDGE SAYS LAST WORD ON BIAS OF JURY, DECLARES COURT OF APPEALS

Important Decision Handed Down, Following Close Up-on Heels of Judge Roan's Decision in Frank Case, in Which He Decided Jurors Were Competent, and Denied New Trial.

FRANK'S LAWYERS WILL TAKE CASE IMMEDIATELY TO THE SUPREME COURT

Bill of Exceptions Filed to Rulings of Judge Roan. Rosser and Arnold Renew Their Expressions of Faith in Their Client's Innocence and Will Fight Bitterly.

Following upon the heels of Judge Roan's decision denying Leo M. Frank a new trial, the court of appeals affirmed an old principle of law yesterday to the effect that the trial judge is the trier as to the competency of jurors. Courts of review will not so behind the decision of the trial judge as to whether or not the jury was biased. The case was that of Taylor v. the State, which was tried before Judge R. W. Freeman in Heard county. On the motion for a new trial, the defendant introduced numerous affidavits for the purpose of showing that two of the jurors were prejudiced and biased against the accused. Juror Crockett was alleged to have said that the "defendant ought to be hung." He declared, it was said, that he did not see any chance for him. The defendant and his counsel were both in ignorance of the bias of the juror.

Each of the attacked jurors denied on oath the statements attributed to him, and asserted that he was controlled solely by the evidence delivered upon the stand in the rendition of the case.

Judge a Trier.

The court says: "In passing upon a ground of a motion for a new trial in a criminal case, based upon alleged bias or prejudice of a juror against the movant, evidenced in part by expressions of opinion in relation to the trial as to the guilt of the accused, the judge of the trial court occupies the place of a trier, and his finding that the juror was competent will not be reversed, unless it was manifest that his discretion was abused."

In another place the court declares itself even more emphatically: "In this respect, there is a conflict between jurors and their attackers by affidavit; it was for the trial judge to determine who swore truly—the witnesses who attacked the jurors or the jurors themselves. The credibility of the witnesses, on the one hand, and the jurors, on the other, was a matter solely for his determination and his conclusion is not reversible."

Numerous Past Decisions.

This decision of the court of appeals is backed up by numerous citations of previous decisions of the supreme court, so that there can be no doubt that the supreme court will not consider the question of the bias of the jury in passing upon the Frank case. That question has been finally passed upon by Judge Roan, who, in denying Frank a new trial, has declared that, in his opinion, the jurors who tried him were competent.

There are other grounds that the supreme court may consider, but they are limited largely to the admissibility of evidence and the direction given the jury.

case by the trial judge. For error of law or evidence of bias on the part of the court against the accused, they may grant a new trial.

Prepare for Appeal. Denied a new trial by Judge L. S. Roan, the defense of Leo M. Frank is preparing one of the most determined legal battles ever staged in the supreme court of Georgia.

On the other hand, the forces of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, now augmented by Attorney General Tom Felder, are equipping themselves to combat the fight planned by Frank's defense.

Mr. Rosser said Friday afternoon: "We will never relinquish our fight. We are convinced of the man's innocence. Justice will finally be done."

Mr. Arnold: "Never a doubt has existed in our minds that the man deserves a new trial. We are satisfied that the supreme court and are willing that the matter be decided simply on the legal points involved."

Herbert Haas, associate in the defense, said: "As long as there is breath in our bodies we will fight. We are confident that the supreme court will grant a new trial."

These were Solicitor Dorsey's words:

Bill of Exceptions. The bill of exceptions will be filed with the clerk of the supreme court some time today. This will mark the first chapter of the coming battle. Considerable time will elapse before the arguments are heard, and it is expected that they will not come before the court until January or February.

The bill of exceptions is but a bare skeleton of facts, containing the data of Frank's original trial, the motion for new arraignment and Judge Roan's decision; also, a number of important grounds in the motion along with affidavits presented at the new trial hearing by the defense.

Following the presentation of the bill of exceptions, the brief of evidence and amended motion for new trial will be put in pamphlet form. Probably three weeks, the case is not expected to be heard in the supreme court before the end of the year.

In a statement given to a Constitution reporter Friday afternoon, Attorney General Tom Felder declared the first time of prejudice that arose in the Frank case. He declared that the attack upon Solicitor Dorsey, in which he was accused of bitterness toward the prisoner because of Frank's case.

A Scandinavian or an Irishman would have been prosecuted just as vigorously as Frank, he declared. The prosecutor's line of attack, particular pains were taken to exclude all atmosphere of prejudice. It was not the prosecutor's fault that the defense injected their client's religion in the trial.

Says Dorsey Was Fair. "Solicitor Dorsey prosecuted Frank as he prosecuted Rogers, Gentile and criminals. An interesting phase of the fight to be waged before the supreme court is found in the entrance of Attorney General Tom Felder into the case. Mr. Felder is legally thrown in co-operation with the prosecution the moment the bill of exceptions is filed with the clerk."

He will confer with Solicitor Dorsey at an early date, at which conference plans will be mapped out for the prosecution's lines of combat. Mr. Felder has already been notified of the plea Frank's defense will make to the supreme court.

Judge Roan's Decision. Judge Roan's decision was announced in his chamber in the Throver building Friday morning at 10:10 o'clock. Only a few spectators were present. Messrs. Arnold, Rosser and Haas were present as the collector. Dorsey. The following formal decision was read: "After considering the affidavits of the defense and the state, the motion for a new trial is hereby overruled and denied. This Court, presiding at the trial, L. S. Roan, judge superior court, Fulton county, presiding."

Following which the judge said: "I have heard all the evidence in this case, and, taking it altogether, I am not thoroughly convinced as to the innocence or guilt of the defendant. The jury having passed upon his case and been convinced of his guilt, however, I do not feel disposed to overturn its verdict. I consider it my duty to overrule this motion."

Mr. Rosser was immediately on his feet, praying that Judge Roan not resign from the superior court bench until he had certified the bill of exceptions to be presented to the supreme court.

The judge did not commit himself, asking merely how much time would be required in forming the bill. He was told that it would probably be made some time Friday.

A strong plea was made by the defense to admit to the supreme court the remarks of Judge Roan relative to his desire as to either the guilt or innocence of Frank. This was not granted. The judge stated, however:

Judge's Remarks Significant. "It will be permitted if my remarks are contained in the bill of exceptions. It is presumed that this has been done by the defense."

In his cell in the Tower, Frank awaited the decision with his wife. He was brought the news by a relative, a relative. He made but little comment, bearing the verdict with characteristic composure. Mrs. Frank, however, broke into tears.

The prisoner refused to make a statement to the newspaper reporter, who made written requests. He was visited by a number of relatives, Rabbi David Marx also called at his cell during the day and was present at the time the decision was brought in.

GUNS NOW TURNED ON BOSS MURPHY

New York, October 31.—John A. Hennessy, former Governor Sulzer's graft investigator, who has been campaigning against Tammany Hall on the city streets today, testified that William J. Conners, of Buffalo, had told him of having collected $25,000 from James Stewart, a state barge canal contractor at the residence of Charles F. Murphy, Hennessy was the first witness in "John Doe" proceedings, instituted by District Attorney Whitman.

Hennessy said he had seen Conners in Buffalo in fall during his investigations into graft in the state highway department, and that Henry Burgard, of Buffalo, and a "big contractor" named McDonough, of Niagara, were present.

Conners told me, said the witness, that Murphy had asked him to get a good contribution from Jim Stewart, because Stewart had got a good contract for the state highway department. Conners said he got the $25,000 from Stewart in Dunkirk, I think, in 1912.

Made Other Contributions. The witness added that George McGuire, of Syracuse, had told him that Stewart had made two other contributions to the Tammany party. McGuire, Hennessy said, declared that one of these contributions had gone to Norman M. Macle, chairman of the national democratic committee, and the other to J. Sargent Cram, a Tammany politician.

Regarding other contributions, Hennessy declared: "If I got a list of road contractors I'd have a list of contributors—that none of them escaped."

McGuire said that in 1911 and $5,000 in 1912, the witness said McGuire had returned to the state highway department, "one or the other went to Norman M. Macle. He added that McGuire had said that $100,000 in all went to Murphy."

"Persons subject to the normal tax of 1 per cent when absent from the United States, or physically unable to make returns required by law, may, under certain conditions, appoint agents to act for them."

BANKERS ARE PUZZLED BY INCOME TAX LAW

New York, October 31.—That part of New York which is referred to vaguely as "Wall street" was in a state of confusion today. For once in its career Wall street did not know which way to turn. The new income tax law becomes effective tomorrow, and some of the highest-priced lawyers, bankers and corporation officials in the world confessed that they were completely at sea as to its meaning.

The subject of all these conferences was the income tax law. "We're swimming in mud," said one of these officers expressively. "For a day or two I thought, I myself, was coming to know what I was carrying by the income tax law, and the treasury regulations concerning it, but now I'm convinced that I hardly know anything about them, and my fellow officers know less."

FOUR-BANK PLAN IS AGREED UPON

Committee Makes Radical Amendment to Administration Bill in Reducing Number of Reserve Banks.

Washington, October 31.—The senate banking and currency committee tonight tentatively agreed upon four regional banks for the proposed new currency system, with a proviso, that after two years the federal reserve board may add as many additional banks as it deems necessary, not exceeding twelve. The pending bill fixes the number at twelve, and it has been understood that the administration would not consent to have it reduced below nine.

The sharp reduction in the number of reserve banks was the first radical amendment the committee has agreed upon, and it is enthusiastically approved by the administration supporters in the committee. Senators Reed and Hitchcock, however, will oppose the reduction, leaving five democrats behind the administration proposal.

The white house is silent tonight as to the committee's action, but it has been generally supposed that the president was vigorously opposed to cutting the number below nine.

The committee still has pending the proposal to abandon entirely the administration regional plan and to create a government-controlled central bank. There also is pending Senator Reed's proposal that the unification of the regional banks be accomplished by the creation of a government reserve house, which would act as a reserve reservoir.

Open to Public Subscription.

The question of the capitalization of the stock ownership of the proposed regional banks was taken up immediately after the arrangement was tentatively fixed, but no decision was reached. Chairman Owen, after the committee adjourned, expressed the opinion that the bill would be amended to eliminate the administration provision under which banks would be forced to subscribe the capital of the regional banks. The stock, he said, probably would be thrown open to public subscription.

The administration supporters contested every step in the reduction of the number of regional banks. Two of them voted to retain the number at twelve and three voted for ten banks. The proposal to fix the number at eight was defeated, 7 to 5, and by the same vote the number was fixed at ten. Proposition to insert the proviso that the federal reserve board might increase the number after two years to twelve was voted into the bill with only two members opposing it.

The committee hopes to settle the ownership and control of the regional banks tomorrow and it is expected that with this matter disposed of the serious questions in dispute will be speedily adjusted.

Tomorrow the committee will recess to allow various members to go to their homes for the elections, consideration of the bill going over until Wednesday. President Wilson, it is believed, tonight, looks with disfavor on the action of the committee today. He believes there should be at least ten regional reserve banks, and he has been assured by administration supporters in the committee that today's series of votes was only a tentative character, designed chiefly to sound out the attitude of the members toward fundamental features of the bill.

The president was informed that there probably would be a reconsideration of the whole subject at subsequent meetings of the committee. It is thought that eventually the number of reserve banks may be fixed at seven, with discretion given to the federal reserve board to increase the number to ten or twelve within a certain period. Such an arrangement, it is believed, would prove acceptable to the administration.

ALLEGED "DIPS" PUT THROUGH THIRD DEGREE

Chief Newport Lanford Anxious to Capture Reported Woman Accomplice.

Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford put the three alleged pickpockets captured at the Hotel Wineoff Thursday night through the "third degree" last night in an effort to have them reveal the identity of their woman accomplice, who is believed to have operated with them in this and other cities. The three alleged "dips" were taken into custody by detectives on the accusation of D. B. Gilbert, a fire insurance man registered at the Arton hotel, who asserted that they were the same men who had robbed him of $100 in Macon last week.

The third degree, however, proved a failure, although the alleged "dips" were confronted with George J. Seals, who identified a diamond stud found in the pocket of one of the men as his property. "The other two," he said, and refuse to give any information which might lead to the capture of their alleged woman accomplice, whom the police say has robbed many prominent Atlanta women.

The men held by the detectives gave their names as W. M. Rayner, 43 years old, of Birmingham; G. L. Peterson, aged 36, of Knoxville, and H. E. Bernard, aged 24, of Louisville. From letters found on all three men the detectives are convinced that they have a woman confederate who came with them to this city and who may now be in this vicinity.

Albert Stanley, who declares that he is a bell boy formerly employed by a hotel in Rochester, N. Y., was arrested in the north yards of the Southern railway on suspicion of being the man who made his escape when the other three were captured. Stanley stoutly denied that he had any connection with the men under arrest, and at headquarters when confronted by them, declared that he had never seen any of the trio before.

The alleged "dips" will be arraigned before Recorder Nash R. Boyles in police court this afternoon.

IVY STREET CITIZENS ASK $10,600 REFUND

But Members of Street Committee Want All the Damage Claims Settled First.

A demand for the refund of a surplus of $10,600 which the city holds to the credit of the Ivy street paving and regrading project, was made by property holders through Joel Hart, at a meeting of the street committee, yesterday afternoon.

The attitude of the committee is that no part of the $35,000 which was deposited with the city for improving Ivy street should be refunded until after the construction department reports the work complete as an engineering proposition, and not until after all claims for damages have been adjusted. The committee asked Construction Chief Clayton to make a report just as soon as possible.

When the property owners of Ivy street launched the improvement project they deposited $35,000 to the credit of the city for the purpose of carrying out the work. Out of that amount about $25,000 has been expended.

In putting forth the request of the property owners for the refund of the surplus fund, Mr. Hart called attention to the fact that since 1910 Ivy street property assessments have so greatly increased as to net the city an excess tax revenue of $25,150 for the three years.

The city has received, in the course of those three years, more than enough to cover the cost to the city of the regrading and repaving of the street," he told the committee.

Ex-Councilman Harvey Hatcher, who was chairman of the street committee when the Ivy street improvement was passed up in council, argued against the right of the city to use any part of the excess fund of $10,600 for paying claims for damages. He said that it was his understanding at the time the work was passed up and the money deposited, that the city would return any sum in excess of the actual cost of the paving and regrading. Members of the street committee who were in council last year disputed the contention, each taking the position that the money was turned over by the property owners to the city without condition.

City Attorney James L. Mayson says that he is of the opinion that the city can use any part of the $10,600 surplus fund to pay damages. Mayor Woodward takes the position that the city can use the money to pay damages to property owners.

C. W. SMITH HEADS MARKET COMMISSION

Report Will Be Made to Council After Conditions in Other Cities Are Investigated.

The market commission, consisting of three members from the chamber of commerce and the same number from the city council, which was recently appointed to investigate the public markets throughout the United States and report the feasibility of such a market for Atlanta, elected officers at a meeting yesterday morning in the city hall, and has begun its work in earnest. Councilman Charles W. Smith was elected president of the commission, and Francis E. Kamper, of the chamber of commerce, was elected secretary.

In its report to council, which will be made as soon as the investigation can be made, the commission will present complete plans for the operation of the market, in case it is found that the market can be operated to advantage. J. R. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, sole Advertising Manager for all territory outside Atlanta. The address of the Washington Bureau is No. 1727 S. Street, N. W., Mr. John Corrigan, Jr., staff correspondent, in charge.

THE PRESIDENT'S MOVE. History has not witnessed on the western hemisphere a more curious and complicated game of diplomatic chess than that now inevitably drawing to a close between President Wilson and the adventurer Huerta.

Affairs cannot many days more continue in their present chaotic condition. The United States has steadily refused to recognize Huerta. It has proclaimed to the world that it would await the result of the elections of October 26 before shaping its course.

That leaves the issue squarely up to President Wilson. Foreign nations with millions of dollars invested in Mexico demand protection and the return to stable government. It is doubtful if any one of them cares personally to go into Mexico and restore order.

Mexico may owe Diaz back salary, and probably some lawyer who is tired of life may attempt to collect it. With money to run his office it is no wonder Huerta has laid aside that look of resignation.

Since nothing else has availed to pacify Mexico, why not let the Tennessee legislature do a few stunts on the border? The Chinese government offers only $2.50 for the capture of Dr. Sun Yat Sen. That's a sample of the low cost of statesmen.

James J. Hill says there is too much water in the bond crop. Evidently not the goods bottled in bond. Says Huerta: "After me, the deluge," consisting of all Europe and Uncle Sam.

SAVING "DOG TAIL" COTTON. The farmers of the south can add thousands of dollars to their profits from the current crop if they conserve the cotton bolls that are matured but not yet opened.

Throughout the southern states are many fields, and scattered bolls in nearly all fields, comprising an aggregate of many thousand bales. Proper care of these matured bolls means a total of many thousands of dollars.

THE NEW CREMATORY. The new crematory has again been put out of business. Operating with less of its allotted tonnage, it appeared unable to meet the demands upon it.

Expert engineers have testified that the plant itself is of admirable construction, fully able, if properly set up and operated, to live up to the last letter of the specifications.

Of distinctly minor importance, the action of Representative Gray, of Indiana, in going on record as opposed to the congressional wedding present to Miss Jessie Wilson injects a jarring note into a unique and attractive situation.

This is rather a narrow and chilly view to take of things. The nation feels a proprietary interest and friendliness in the personality and the family of any man it elevates to the white house. It likes to go out of its way to do him those graceful little courtesies that help smooth life's pathway.

After paying for their experience of Washington as a summer resort, congressmen should have a pretty fair idea of the currency problem. Mexico may owe Diaz back salary, and probably some lawyer who is tired of life may attempt to collect it.

Atlanta just needs that Good Roads, congress in her business. Looks like Uncle Sam will give the Castro degree to Huerta.

A Summer Prospect. Blow on, Mister Blizzard. In a twinkling, you'll be gone. Summer'll fetch de sunshine. An' de watermill, too!

Sermon on Faith. A correspondent tells this one of a clergyman preaching on "blind faith." "He spoke of the blind faith of the client who puts himself at the mercy of a lawyer in preparing an action for trial, and the confidence of the sick in entrusting themselves to the physician."

Excitement. Excitement is high in Character value. For Excitement is what may be termed excessive Enthusiasm under pressure. You cannot get a little Excitement out of your life, it contributes much in keeping keen and live your various abilities.

Under Difficulties. Of letters there are twenty-six, Which leaves me in an awful fix. If there were more, say fifty-two, I might split what I think of you!

Let the People Rule! (Minna Irving, in Leslie's.) There was a man who yearned to be Right in the public eye, He dreamed at night about his name In letters six feet high.

Tale of the Banqueter. (From The Chicago News.) He was a famous high steer, Check full of stories bright; For years he'd done, I here aver, A banquet every night.

A Story of the Moment By WALT MASON, The Famous Xmas Poet. THE POOR PEDESTRIAN. Notwithstanding the fact that so many aviators are killed, observed the retired merchant, "it seems that the manufacturers of aeroplanes can't furnish their goods fast enough to supply the demand."

In a few years I suppose the airships will be swooping around overhead as thick as blackbirds, and the man on foot will have to be looking up all the time, to dodge any monkeywrenches or crowbars that may be falling; and if he has to look up all the time, how is he going to dodge the automobiles and motorcycles and the other vehicles of the street, which increase in number and variety every day?

"Things have come to such a pass in this age of swift chariots that the pedestrian is regarded as a relic of a lost civilization. The consensus of opinion seems to be that he ought to be abandoned. He has no rights that anybody is bound to respect. He is a dingbusted anachronism."

In the days when people drove horses and rode in buggies, few pedestrians were run down. A man can be run over by a quarter of a mile away, and has plenty of time to crawl under a bridge or climb a tree. If he happened to be so deaf or dotty or reckless as to be run over, everybody in sight would rush to his assistance and bind up his wounds, and pour oil on his hair, and brush the dust off his garments, and it would be generally agreed that the man who drove a horse faster than three miles an hour, thereby imperiling the lives of taxpayers, should be in the penitentiary for life.

Excitement holds nothing for you unless you learn how to meet it and master it. Big people are always stimulated within under Excitement—yet cannot without letting it sweep them off their feet. The great Base Ball Pitcher with thousands yelling at his feet, and under the greatest popular Excitement, keeps his eyes on the Batter and studies him. Excitement draws his determination tight—and he is able to battle his man. The great General, with Cannon booming, plans quietly. The successful Business Leader grows most Excited over possible Failure.

Excitement, thoroughly held in check, will teach you to be calm and definite—quick and sure in Decision. You crave Excitement—everyone does. But if it is to benefit and strengthen you, it must be healthy Excitement. Get Excitement from planning the work of this day—and in the working out of its details. Get Excitement out of the companionship of people whose very faces reflect inspiration. Get Excitement from the satisfaction that Useful Service—no matter how trivial—renders back Large Visions to you and makes Life worth while in every particular.

A preacher next, he made the dust From pulpit-cushions soar, But quit because a greater man Had pounded them before. He lectured with a wit and success, And then he tried to write. But failure sat upon his pen, And nipped his genius bright.

Behold him now, a demagogue In office waxing fat, The people's blood must wait His pleasure on the mat. And does he let the people rule, Or even have their say? You bet he never lets 'em lo! He lets the people pay.

Editor Constitution: Recently I called the attention of the railroad commission to the condition of the Mitchell street railroad crossing (at the junction of Park and Peters streets). And was informed that this matter would have to be looked after by the officials of the city of Atlanta.

The train goes by this crossing at a rapid rate, and it is especially dangerous to a vehicle going out from town, as one cannot see an outgoing train at all, and they don't signal in any way. The boards on this crossing are very uneven—it is slightly uphill, thus making it easy for a car to stall on the track.

The World's Mysteries THE WATERLOO BRIDGE MURDER. Waterloo Bridge, London, is one of the finest bridges in the world, and commands an admirable view of the western part of the city between Westminster and St. Paul's, of the Thames Embankment, and of the massive but well-proportioned facade of Somerset house. It has figured prominently in the history of the municipality, and has been the scene of a number of crimes, most striking of which is known as the Waterloo Bridge murder.

A carpet bag was discovered on a butress of Waterloo Bridge in the beginning of October, 1857. Upon examination the bag was found to contain portions of a human frame, which had been mutilated so as to present a veritable illustration of the disposition of Cassim Baba by the robbers in the Forty Thieves. In all some twenty-three portions of the frame were discovered, these being parts of one and the same body. The portions were the head, the greater part of the spine, the hands, feet and left side of the chest.

The questions submitted to the medical inspectors for the guidance of the police in the investigation of the crime had reference to the sex, age and height of the deceased; the nature of the wound which had elapsed between the occurrence of the death and the finding of the remains; the state of the body as indicative of its having formed a subject of anatomical research or not, and the presence of any peculiarity, normal or acquired, the discovery of which might lead towards the identification of the body.

These questions were on a whole answered with an accuracy and fullness which bespoke volumes for the patience and skill of the medical inspectors. The remains were those of a man who, judging from the full development of the skeleton, must have attained the age of between 30 and 40 years, and must have measured about 5 feet 9 inches in height. The person was probably dark-haired, judging from the color of the hair of the wrists and knees.

For years women have wondered why they were unable to get the same results from home cleaning methods that professional cleaners get. The answer is that dry cleaning firms use something besides gasoline, benzine or similar fluids to remove the dirt.

When dry cleaning a plenty of liquid and wash the articles first, then the tinted things and lastly the dark colored ones. The gasoline that remains after cleaning need not be thrown away unless very dirty. It may be used over again as often as you wish. Let it stand undisturbed a few moments and the impurities will settle to the bottom and the clear liquid may be returned to its container. If it is stained it should be put in a separate bottle and not be used upon white goods.

Every manufacturer of dyes publishes a booklet telling just how to use them and how to get the best results. You can have these for a few failures if women would remember that woollens require one treatment and cotton textiles another and that the directions mastered for one kind of dye do not apply in any way to the material made by some other manufacturer.

I have seen old sofas, upholstered chairs and faded daisies brightened up wonderfully in this way. I do not believe that feathers, velvets or furs can be dyed successfully at home by the average woman, but there are so many things that can be made like new by dry cleaning and dyeing that it is well worth investing 10 or 15 cents in a package of dye and experimenting.

They must, in fact, have been boiled and salted, and this latter feature alone may serve to indicate the cold-blooded nature of the crime. The fact that the remains had thus been artificially preserved rendered the calculation of the period of death difficult, and in any case uncertain. From an examination of these portions of the remains which were least affected by the process of preservation, the examiners came to the conclusion that the person might have been dead for three or four weeks prior to their examination of the remains; or, in other words, the subject of the Waterloo Bridge murder was probably alive in the latter part of September, or even at the beginning of October, 1857.

Not a particle of evidence was forthcoming to show that the remains had been used for anatomical purposes. On the contrary, the manner in which the parts had been separated by a saw and the neat fashion in which they could have been readily disjoined with the scalpel proved the murderer to have been thoroughly ignorant of the various rudiments of anatomical knowledge.

For a long time an effort was made to identify the mutilated remains. Every mysterious disappearance in London for several months previous to the finding of the body was investigated, but there was such an absence of anything to afford even the slightest means toward identification that the Waterloo Bridge mystery has never been solved, although for some years now and then the story was retold through some new evidence that it was felt had been discovered that might bring out the identity of the contents of the carpet bag found on the butress of the Waterloo Bridge.

Ponderous Personages HANNIBAL. By GEORGE FITCH. Author of "At Good Old Swash".

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.) Hannibal was the man who put Carthage on the map, and almost erased Rome. He was a shining example of the fact that one strong, practical man with an easy-running, quadruple expansion brain is worth more to a country than a million citizens who serve merely to pad census statistics.

Carthage was a husky town before Hannibal was born, but it had made no particular dent in history, and had for years been booted around by Rome with great enthusiasm. This lacerated the proud spirit of Hannibal, Hannibal's father, and when Hannibal was nine years old he took him by the ear and made him swear eternal enmity to Rome. A great many men have sworn oaths before and since, but few have kept them with such painstaking and gory fidelity.

Hannibal immediately began preparing for his job of vengeance, and for years he was a familiar sight as he practiced balk line, two cushion and masse strokes with his sword, his cane, boyish legs and arms protruding weirdly from his outrageous armor. At the age of 26 he had a complete knowledge of field tactics, slaughter in its various forms, elephant maneuvering, fort building and plain and fancy foraging. He was then elected commander-in-chief of the army, and seven minutes later declared war against Rome.

This caused some amusement in Rome, which at that time was about all the country there was, and ambassadors were dispatched with orders to spank Hannibal and reduce him to the rank of water-boy in the elephant brigade. But Hannibal did not wait to be spanked. He hopped nimbly through Spain, eradicating Roman legions wherever he found them, and soon arrived at the back door of Rome, with only the 12,000-foot Alps between him and Italy.

There was considerable amusement in Rome when it was discovered that Hannibal had run up against the Alps. In those days the tourist trade had not been developed, and climbing the Alps was an unknown art. Consequently, Rome went blandly on, fixing its attention on the daily standing of the Gladiator leagues. And one cold week Hannibal took his army over the Alps and fell upon the enemy with a crash that has resounded through 21 centuries.

For hundreds of years afterward, Roman mothers frightened their children into obedience by telling them of Hannibal. He was the greatest pest that had ever gotten loose in the empire. For sixteen years he roamed about devouring armies, eating up crops, riding over peach orchards with his elephants, and making himself such a nuisance that Roman shares fell to nothing, and general after general threw up his job and general after general threw up his job and general after general threw up his job.

UNDER CURRENCY BILL PANIC IS IMPOSSIBLE

So Declares Congressman Howard In Interview Explaining Merits of the Bill

If our people only understood the real scientific principle upon which the currency bill now under consideration by congress is constructed there would be practically no opposition to it.

The people generally, said he, are very much impressed with the idea that the bill is some mysterious deep and intricate measure, far beyond the understanding of the average man.

Now, the truth is the measure is simplicity itself. The principle upon which it is founded will appeal to any man who will stop to think about it for a minute.

Without the use of money transactions in legitimate commerce are done without the use or exchange of any actual money.

Suppose, for illustration, he needed $50,000 for the necessities of his business and he went to his banker today with his $100,000 of good notes as collateral.

When the bill is passed, the note settled with the bank he had business with and in turn the member bank bank the money to issued to meet the emergency.

BANKERS OF ATLANTA DISCUSS INCOME TAX

Conference Is Held to Decide Upon Uniform Plan to Cope With the Situation

Robert F. Maddox, vice president of the American National bank, called a conference of the representatives of the various local banks and the special clearing house committee at noon yesterday.

The object of the conference was to discuss the recently enacted income tax law, and settle upon a uniform plan by which Atlanta banks would come with the situation.

The idea, Mr. Maddox said, is that the government will tax the income at the source. Thus the corporation issuing bonds, for instance, must show on every coupon from those bonds a certificate of ownership.

Chairman Maddox said the whole system will tax the banks in a middle of bookkeeping. The income tax of itself is not hard to understand.

Suppose, for illustration, he needed $50,000 for the necessities of his business and he went to his banker today with his $100,000 of good notes as collateral.

When the bill is passed, the note settled with the bank he had business with and in turn the member bank bank the money to issued to meet the emergency.

UNCLE REMUS PROGRAM IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Miss Williams and Her Little Helpers Give Delightful Entertainment at Ansley.

It was a most delightful entertainment that was given at the Ansley hotel last night, when Miss Louise A. Williams, on behalf of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, presented an "evening of the Old South."

The program was opened by the Ansley hotel orchestra in plantation melodies. Then Miss Louise Williams rendered a song and a story. It was the old black mammy's recollection of the old south.

The next number on the program was a chorus of children entitled "Mammy's Little Story." It was a recitation of twenty little tales and songs, whose names were as follows: Mary Harris, Susan Arns, Charles Connally, Fred Stewart, Mary Jones, Emily McPhail, Susan Bratherton, Kathie, Willie, and Hard Christian William Sanders, Christine Arnold, James Therrell, Emery Kelly, Florie Allen, Chas. H. Hines, Harriet Lester, and Laurin Wither.

A number of Uncle Remus stories were delightfully rendered by Miss Williams. The first was "The Old South" and the second was "The Old South."

Beautiful Hallow'en Ball Given at the Driving Club

The Hallow'en ball at the Piedmont Driving Club last evening assembled over 375 guests, and was another event marking the social popularity of the club in brilliancy of entertaining.

Dinner was served at 8 o'clock, in the ballroom, and later dancing was enjoyed both in the ballroom and the main dining room. The menu served was one unique in old-fashioned dishes as well as those new and equally delicious wafers and frolic expressed the spirit of the entire occasion.

The decorations in corn shocks, ears of golden corn and field products of all kind, formed a background which showed with fine effect the dozens of gold-colored chrysanthemums.

Within the entrance hall banks of corn shocks took the place of the conventional palms, and corn, shiny and glossy on the ears, hung where bamboo generally finds place. From the ceiling hung garlands of black and pumpkin-yellow, foliage in which were caught black bats with peering eyes, and gruesome night birds of all kinds.

At the base of the deep mantle in the living room, where the guests assembled, there were branches of autumn leaves, and on the mantle dangled yellow chrysanthemums.

In the loggia the corn shocks and loads of hay just harvested were against the wall, and lights gleamed upon it from many pumpkin heads, large and small.

Instead from softer lights behind dark yellow shades, which threw a golden glow—that of Indian summer, and harvest time—over the bright assemblage beneath. The garlands of yellow and black foliage hung from the ceiling had perched here and there in it the black bats, who lurk about Hallow'en night. In the far end of the ballroom an old witch with a scary face, hung over a pot of boiling herbs, and one could almost hear the lines "bubbling, bubbling, toil and trouble," break upon the strains of light music. The glow of the fire was evident here and there were big pumpkins scattered about and the corn gathered ready for the sick.

The majority of the men wore field overalls and big straw hats, while the girls vied with one another in the quaintness and becoming of home-spun gowns, gingham aprons and old-fashioned sun bonnets. There were white-waisted gowns and those short waisted, hosiery of all colors, and shoes that have not been thought of for many years and not worn.

OTHERS SLEPT, SHE WORKED

While Others Were Fast Asleep, Mrs. Sanders Would Often Get Out of Bed and Do Sewing.

Cadiz, Ky.—"I was in a terrible condition, caused from nervousness," says Mrs. Bess Sanders, of this place. "At times, last spring and summer, I did not get any rest at night; could not sleep at all! Very often I would get out of my bed and do some of my sewing, while the rest of the family were fast asleep."

One of my lady friends advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Just as soon as I commenced taking it, I began resting better. After taking four bottles, I now feel better, and get perfect rest and plenty of sleep. I am doing every bit of my housework now, and although I am small, I feel very strong in every way.

You may publish this letter if you wish, and I hope all women, who suffer as I did, will try Cardui and get relief.

If you are nervous, run-down, discouraged, fagged out, don't give up—try Cardui, the woman's tonic. This great medicine has been used for more than half a century by thousands and thousands of women, and has been found to be a specific, building medicine for nearly all the ills from which women suffer.

Cardui, being composed of harmless vegetable ingredients, cannot possibly harm you, and is almost certain to help you. Try it.

All druggists sell Cardui.

"Have This Mind In You"

"For Your Sake He Became Poor, That You Through His Poverty Might Become Rich."

-II Cor. 8:9

"Have this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus:

"Who, existing in the form of God, counted not the being on an equality with God, a thing to be grasped,

"But emptied himself, taking the form of a servant, being made in the likeness of men;

"And being found in fashion as a man, He humbled Himself, becoming obedient even unto death, yea, the death of the cross."

God's word for you:

"Have this mind in you."

Hear Him.

You, too, should be obedient, ready to die upon the cross to save your fellowman.

Jesus said:

"You are my friends if you do whatsoever I command you."

Are you His friend and follower?

What have you ever done for Him? What would you give? What would you do?

Would you sacrifice your life to save your fellowman?

Surely, then, you give your share to support His church—His means for the saving of multitudes of men, women and children.

You are ever ready to help the fallen woman. Jesus was.

You would save the man in prison, and not destroy him by senseless cruelty. Your Savior said: "I was in prison."

And you could never knowingly share in the money gained by ruining girls.

You could not willingly take for your own use the gold that comes from a brewery, bar or distillery; every penny of this is wet with the tears of women and children, and red with the blood of your fellowman.

You would not say that the "mind which was in Christ Jesus" would approve the liquor trade or the brothel.

For the brothel tolerated by a city makes every citizen responsible for the betrayal of sufficient girls to supply the trade.

AND, WHEN YOUR CITY, YOUR COUNTY, YOUR STATE OR COUNTRY LICENSES, THAT IS, SELLS FOR A MONEY CONSIDERATION TO MEN THE PRIVILEGE OF BREWING BEER AND DISTILLING SPIRITS, AND THE RIGHT TO SELL THESE POISONS, YOU BECOME A PARTY TO THE ACT OF THE DRUNKEN NEGRO, THE LIQUOR-CRAZED WHITE MAN—YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WRECKED HOMES AND UNTOLD AGONY WHICH THESE SIN-CURSED PEOPLE LEAVE IN THEIR WAKE.

The man drunk, sinned.

Yea, but what of him who sold him the liquor?

What of the landlord who rented the place in which the stuff that stole the man's brain away was sold?

What of the city, the state, the country which permitted the man's brain to be destroyed in order that other men may make money by that which benefits none, but harms all who touch it?

The brothel, the brewery and the bar?

What think you of these?

Sunday go to your church.

There, in God's house of prayer, in the light of the cross of Christ, think of these things for which you, as a citizen, are responsible.

What will you do?

Hear God, not man, saying:

"Have in you this mind which was in Christ Jesus."

What would Jesus do?

Go you and do likewise.

AT THE THEATERS.

Primrose and Docktader.

(At the Atlanta.) This afternoon a matinee performance will be given at the Atlanta by Primrose and Docktader and their merry minstrel. The last appearance of the company will be tonight when they say goodby to Atlanta. This year they have been highly praised as the best minstrel organization on the road and Atlanta critics are a unit in adding to the praise received in other cities. Both Lewis Docktader and George Primrose are at their best, but they divide honors with the large company of stars they have. Several of the acts in the rep create sensations, while the singing and dancing are far above par. The comedy work is cleverly done by comedians who are really funny. Don't miss them if you want a real minstrel show.

Mabel and Edith Talfierro.

(At the Atlanta.) The Atlanta will offer two young stars Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, either a matinee or evening attraction a crowded house. These stars are Mabel and Edith Talfierro and they appear in a new and charming comedy, "Young Wisdom." This comedy is one of the smartest and most laughable produced in years. The comedy comes direct from Washington where they are appearing this week. The Washington critics were a unit in declaring the comedy and company a decided laughing hit. Volley after volley of laughter is heard as the tale is unfolded by the stars and their clever assistants. The tale is that of two young girls of modern ideas in regard to the work of comedy. They out with infinite skill. Seats are now selling for the engagement, which includes a matinee Wednesday.

"The Third Degree."

(At the Lyric.) The power of suggestion is intimately linked with the interesting plot that is unfolded in "The Third Degree." This week's attraction at the Lyric. It shows how a suspected criminal under terrific mental strain and constant grilling may be forced to admit a crime of which he is absolutely innocent. The scenes that are enacted between the wife and the lawyer are splendidly carried out and when finally the attorney agrees to take up the young man's case, even at the risk of losing the support of one of his richest clients, the audience breaks out into tumultuous applause. "The Third Degree" will be seen at matinee and night performances.

"A Girl of the Street."

(At the Bijou.) The matinee today and tonight's performance will bring to a close the tenth week of the engagement of the Jewell Kelley company at the Bijou. "An Orphan's Prayer," this week's play, is drawing splendid audiences, and judging from the applause and curtain calls, in an evening film, entitled "The Doctor's Duty." Dr. Roland White falls in love with Marguerite, the daughter of the postmaster in a small western town. He asks her to marry him, but she refuses, as she is already engaged to Fred March, the express messenger. Some time later, after the proposal, the doctor

Columbia Theater.

Every seat was sold long before the curtain went up at the Columbia Burlesque theater last night. The artist in burlesque comedy, "The New Office Girl" was the amateur vanguard in a number of Atlanta's most talented young people took part. Some of the acts were so bad that they were funny, and the audience had plenty of fun. The management has decided to make amateur night a feature every week, and will endeavor to bring together the best local numbers possible to get.

Church Hearing Checked.

The suit of the Temple Baptist church against the Georgia Terminal company, which has been on in superior court for the past week was checked Friday on account of the unavoidable absence of one of the attorneys interested in the arguments. The case which involves the settlement of damages by the Georgia company will probably be resumed by Saturday noon. Mayor James G. Woodward was a witness in the proceedings on Thursday.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Lanier.

"Too Many Tenants" is the title of an amusing Pathe comedy, which will be seen at the Lanier today. This is one of the most laughable of the season, well staged and well acted. A young and penniless artist attempts to gain the good-will of his successful uncle by writing him that he has purchased a fine studio residence. His uncle, examining the photo of the house which is sent him, recognizes it, and determines upon a visit to his nephew in the meantime. The house had been rented by the mother of the artist's sweetheart. The anxious nephew learns of his uncle's proposed visit and endeavors to head off the approaching trouble. The real tenants, the young man and the uncle all arrive at the house at about the same time and things begin to happen.

The Savoy.

How a minister who has gone out west fights the town bully and makes a convert of him, is told in a Nestor drama, entitled "Man of the People," which will be seen at the Savoy today. The well-known actor, Lee Moran, examines the photo of the town bully and drunkard who leads his wife, Nell, into sorrow. When the minister arrives and calls on Jim, the bully orders him out of the house. Cowboys come upon the scene and the minister agrees to fight Jim with his bare hands. After a hard struggle Jim is knocked down. For revenge he sets the church on fire, and is later taken from lynching by the intervention of the preacher. "The Tramp Dentist," a comedy, and the Animated Weekly will also be shown.

The Vauvette.

A strikingly beautiful story full of pathos is told in a Reliance film, to be seen today at the Vauvette, entitled "The Real Mother." Blanche is a shallow-natured chorus girl, who, after her husband's death, regards her baby as a nuisance, which prevents her from going back to the old life. She welcomes Margaret's eager offer to take the child—and thus little Doris finds warm affection, devoted care, and love among the people in a small town. Doris is 17 when her actual mother comes to the village, just by chance, for a holiday. The two women recognize each other and Blanche has a fancy to take the girl back with her to Broadway. Sick at heart, Margaret then offers to be left to Doris to choose between them. After seeing the sordidness of the White Way, Doris returns to Margaret.

The Alamo

A powerful story of the psychological struggle of a young doctor who is called on to save the life of his rival in love will be shown at the Alamo today. In an essayay film, entitled "The Doctor's Duty," Dr. Roland White falls in love with Marguerite, the daughter of the postmaster in a small western town. He asks her to marry him, but she refuses, as she is already engaged to Fred March, the express messenger. Some time later, after the proposal, the doctor

The Alcazar.

A thrilling society detective drama revolving around the theft of valuable jewelry at a music hall will be seen at the Alcazar today in a two-reel Bison film, entitled "The Black Mask." The typical society crook in evening clothes pulled off a startling theft with the assistance of a lady adventuress. There is an automobile race background to the play and one of the racers is accused of the crime. How he is vindicated forms the climax to the play. Two good comedies, "His Rich Uncle" and "The Game That Failed," will also be shown.

John W. Wright.

News of the death of John W. Wright, formerly of Atlanta, was received by Mrs. T. C. Shrove, his niece, last night. Mr. Wright was for a number of years a proof reader on the Atlanta Journal and other Atlanta publications. For the last five years he had resided in Oakland, Cal. He is survived by his brother-in-law, Blake Chapman, of Atlanta, and two sisters, Mrs. H. Gilbert and Mrs. W. C. Anderson, both of Atlanta. The dispatch contained no particulars of his death.
