

contained in the motion. A condensed statement of the objections made is as follows:

"That the attorney for Lee to testify that Detective John Black talked to Lee at the station house, that Lee was not allowed to see his attorney, that the court allowed Lee to show that Frank talked to him a shorter time than he (Frank) did to Attorney Arnold."

"That the court allowed Detective Starnes to testify that Lee, on the morning of his arrest, was quiet and not nervous, and that the solicitor was later allowed to draw conclusions about Frank's alleged nervous condition when approached by officers."

Many Errors Alleged.

"That the court allowed Detective Starnes to swear that Frank was 'guarded' in his conversation with the officers."

"That the court admitted the solicitor's diagram of the National Pencil factory in which the solicitor had drawn dotted lines showing his theory of how the girl was killed, and how the body was disposed of."

"That the court permitted Detective Black to testify that in a conversation several months before with him, Frank showed no nervousness."

"That the court permitted it to be shown that Frank employed Attorney Rosser and Haus about 8 o'clock on Monday morning after the murder."

"That the court refused to allow Detective Black to tell on cross-examination that Lee had said that the hooded shirt found in his home was his own property."

"That the court allowed Witness N. V. Darley to testify that on the morning of his arrest, Lee was nervous."

"That the court refused to rule out the testimony made by Conley as to what he alleged watching for Frank, and also in regard to Frank's alleged acts in having young women in his office."

Meeting Was Stocked.

"That the court admitted evidence in regard to Conley's being taken to the jail to see Frank, and failing to see him, despite his own wish and that of the officers."

It is cited that the inference was drawn by the solicitor that Frank had refused to confront his black accuser, and Mr. Dorsey, in his argument, asserted, "It was the first time in the history of the white race that a white man, charged with the murder of a colored man, charged to the police, and particularly when that accuser was a member of the lower race."

"That the court allowed Mrs. Arthur White, wife and relative of the Frank crime, to testify that she had reported, not to the police, but to the pencil factory people, that she had seen a negro lurking in the factory on the day of the murder."

"That the court allowed Sheriff C. W. Hampton to testify that he had refused to confront Conley when the detectives and policemen brought the negro to the jail to put them face to face."

"That the court allowed Dr. H. F. Harris to testify in regard to expert testimony made with cabbage on patients and also that medical men must draw conclusions not from an isolated case, but from the general result of their scientific knowledge."

Dr. Harris' Testimony.

"That the court allowed Dr. Harris to testify that from a microscopic examination of the girl's stomach, that he could tell she had eaten the cabbage and bread within three-quarters of an hour before she died."

"That the court allowed C. B. Dalton to testify that he had visited the pencil factory and had seen Frank drinking with women in his office."

"That the court allowed Detective Bass Rosser to testify that he had frequented the factory on the day of the murder, and that not until several weeks after she told the pencil factory people that she had seen a negro lurking around the factory on the day of the murder, did he report the matter to the police."

"That the court refused to rule out part of Conley's testimony relating to Frank's alleged lasciviousness that there was loud and persistent hand-clapping and other applause in the courtroom, and that the jury in the afternoon must have heard that out from the general result of their scientific knowledge."

"That the court did not clear the courtroom of the crowd, the crowd contained those filled with passion and prejudice against Frank, and whose very presence was a menace to the trial."

Reference is here made to "the jeering laugh of part of the crowd when Attorney Arnold commented on part of the solicitor's remarks" and to the fact that Judge Roan did threaten to clear the courtroom of those who refused to applaud at various times in the courtroom is also made.

Cabbage Objected To.

"That the court allowed the introduction of certain bottles containing cooked cabbage which were said to have been prepared in a similar way to those eaten by the murdered girl, and which were said to have remained in the stomach of certain parties for thirty to fifty minutes before being passed out."

"That the court allowed Pinkerton Detective Harry Scott to testify that he got information from other officials of the National Pencil company that Conley could write, at the time the negro was denying this, that the court allowed Solicitor Dorsey to comment on Herbert Schiff, a witness for the defense, in a way that reflected on his integrity."

"That the court allowed Miss Hall, a stenographer, to testify that on the morning of the murder, Frank told her over the telephone that he wanted her to help him, and that he had so much work to do that it would take him until 6 o'clock."

"That the court allowed Solicitor Dorsey to examine Frank Chambers, a 45-year-old witness, and to insinuate that Frank had committed acts of perversion with him."

"That the court refused to rule out the testimony of Mrs. Freeman in which she said that Lemmie Quinn, a factory employee, told her that the negro, where she was eating at 11 45 o'clock that Saturday and told her that he had just left Frank."

Would Bring Witnesses.

"That the court allowed Solicitor Dorsey to declare to the jury that he was not 'fishing' but that he was going to bring witnesses to show Frank had committed immoral acts with girls."

"That the court allowed Sig Montag to testify that the pencil factory had employed the Pinkertons, but had not paid them."

"That the court allowed Car Knopfer to testify that he had known of the state board of health which conducted their cars to the center of town several minutes ahead of time."

"That during the direct examination of V. H. Kriegenhaber, witness for the defense, there was sufficient laughter among the spectators to interfere with the examination and this was not corrected and corrected."

"That the court allowed the solicitor's frequent references to Frank's attitude toward women which is not one of the character traits involved in a plea of murder, even when the defendant has put the character at issue."

Examination of Pinkertons.

"That the court allowed the solicitor to examine Pinkerton Detectives White and Word in a manner indicating that the alleged failure of the Pinkertons to report the finding of a hooded shirt to the police was detrimental to Frank, that the court did not instruct the jury that these detectives were employed by the National Pencil company and not by Frank and that the defendant was not bound by what they said."

"That the court permitted Irene Jackson to testify to an alleged visit to the dressing room of his female employees while the said employees were in the room."

"That the court allowed Harline Branch to accompany the solicitor, detectives and Conley when the negro

They Sang Robin Hood Roles In Atlanta Twenty Years Ago

Mrs. Frank Pearson, prominent Atlanta singer, as she appeared in the role of Annabel, and Mr. Pearson as Will Scarlet in the first production of "Robin Hood" in Atlanta at the Grand in 1892. So well pleased were Mr. and Mrs. Pearson with Atlanta and with the people they met here that at the close of their season they decided to leave the stage and make their home in the Gate City. The revival of the do Kover company, which was the constitutionalist authorities of the Americans were greeted with cries of "Jude de vras" (the grape juice).

Fear of such a contingency after the army left Piedras Negras was expressed today by the constitutionalist chiefs. At both ends of the river...

Went through at the factory with what was alleged to be a pantomime of the actions of himself and Frank in disposing of the girl's body which were not pertinent to the issue at trial.

Said Wages Were Raised.

"That the court, after certain admissions he is alleged to have secured from Minnie McKnight, in which she said her wages had been raised by the 'Selig' firm."

"That the court allowed Misses Maggie Griffith, Myrtle Cato, Marie Carot, Nellie Petty, May Davis, and Estelle Winkle and Mesdames C. D. Donagan, H. R. Johnson and E. Wallace to testify that they were acquainted with the general conduct of Frank in regard to women previous to April 26, 1912."

"That the court allowed L. T. Kendrick, a former employee of the pencil factory, to testify regarding the reliability of the defendant in leaving it to the jury to say whether or not Conley was an accomplice, and instructing the jury that if they found that Conley was an accomplice that it would be necessary to have the testimony of some other party besides Conley to show Frank's guilt."

The motion contains long extracts from various portions of the testimony referred to, and cites quotations from legal decisions in regard to the points at issue. It also gives extracts from the solicitor's speech, and comments on various remarks of his which were interrupted by Attorney Arnold being illegal and improper.

MEXIC CITY SAVED BY UNITED STATES

Vigorous Protests Prevent Destruction of Piedras Negras by Rebels—Hundreds of Refugees Crossing Border.

Piedras Negras, Mexico, October 1.—The city of Piedras Negras will not be destroyed, and every protection will be afforded property owned by Americans and other foreigners during anticipated hostilities between the constitutionalists and federal armies. This assurance was given American military authorities late this afternoon by a representative of General James Carranza, constitutionalist commander, following vigorous protests made by the state department through United States Consul Blocker.

It has been reported that, with the evacuation of the city by the constitutionalists, plans had been made to dynamite the town to prevent anything of value falling into the hands of the federalists in case their advance was not checked by the momentarily expected engagement south of here.

In the communication to Consul Blocker and the military authorities, General Carranza expressed the hope that nothing would occur to warrant the American soldiers crossing the international line. It was intimated that it might become necessary to destroy some of the buildings owned by the federal adherents, but that foreign-owned property would receive fair treatment.

Martial Law in Force.

Following this assurance, remaining residents of Piedras Negras, with the assistance of the American authorities, organized a neutral government and martial law is now practically in force. Fifty men were employed to guard property on exports that certain bands had begun to sack abandoned residences and business places. Looters will be summarily shot.

The protests of the state department were presented by Consul Blocker and Major Caldwell of the Fourteenth United States Infantry, in command of the troops at Eagle Pass. At the conclusion of their conference with the constitutionalist authorities the Americans were greeted with cries of "Jude de vras" (the grape juice).

On the American side tonight soldiers patrolled the entire river front to prevent federal sympathizers crossing the border to begin a filibustering expedition. Fear of such a contingency after the army left Piedras Negras was expressed today by the constitutionalist chiefs. At both ends of the river...

WATER HAS BEEN LET INTO CULEBRA CUT

Panama, October 1.—Water was let into the Culebra cut from Gatun Lock through four 24-inch pipes under the Gamboa dike at 9 o'clock this morning. At the present rate of flow the cut between the Culebra dike and the Gamboa dike, a distance of about five miles, will be filled to a depth of 15 feet by October 15. It is now proposed to ditch through the Cucaracha slide, and the result in the Cucaracha slide is expected to carry away a large portion of the obstacle.

IF BACK HURTS, USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing to cleanse them. This is the cause of backache and dull aches in the kidney region, and of headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver and stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of other disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a half ounce in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This is the best remedy for a glass of water and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush out the kidneys. It is a natural tonic to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates the ending bladder. Jad Salts is harmless; it makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is overy trouble.

GOOD STUFF CORN WHISKEY

For three generations we've been making old-fashioned Georgia Corn Whiskey. We claim we know how to make corn whiskey better than anybody in the world.

We get only 3 gallons to the bushel of grain. "Up-to-date" distillers get 5 gallons to the bushel by "grating the mash." But my, what a difference—after tasting our whiskey you wouldn't look at the other. It's made in the only old-fashioned corn whiskey distillery in the world.

Ours is rich, mellow, old-time Georgia corn—made right across the river from Georgia, in Giffard, Ala.

Send $3 for four full quarts, express prepaid. If it isn't as good as we say we'll give you back your $3.

STRONG PROTEST MADE FOR MEXICAN REBELS

Washington, October 1.—Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, took up with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin today a complaint received from E. L. Beach, publisher of the San Antonio Light, that the government was discriminating against the Mexican constitutionalists in favor of the federalists in decisions relating to the release of prisoners.

Senator Sheppard said that it might call the president's attention to Mr. Beach's message. The latter says Heuristics are buying horses, saddles and forage at San Antonio, and the Assistant Secretary Hamlin has ruled these purchases not in violation of neutrality laws. The government has no objection to military purchases.

On the other hand, Mr. Beach's message declares that Colonel Ortigoza, of the constitutionalists, has been prevented from exporting lead, flour and sugar. Constitutional troops and their merchants at Eagle Pass and Laredo have been arrested for buying ore and flour in a treasury ruling that they were for military purposes.

The message also asks why the war

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Your Hair Gets Soft, Fluffy and Luxuriant at Once.

If you care for heavy hair, that glitters with beauty and is ready to take life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. That one application doubles the beauty of your hair. Besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you do not overcome it. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life. If you do not overcome it, it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knovel's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knovel's Danderine. It eventually—why not now?

Women's clothes no longer fit in the old acceptance of the word—they hang, they drape, they enfold, with a carelessness that is the more studied as it seems the less studied. In this day of grace a dress that fits does not fit. We are thinking differently. The human form is a beautiful thing in the same measure as it is free and healthy and robust and natural. A style that hurts health is wrong; it cannot be beautiful. A binding corset hurts health. It is a vice and a vice. Who would revert to the corset of twenty years ago? What will the corset of twenty years hence be? Doubtless an improvement on today's corsets—and along the same lines. It is because we are awake to this awakening of thought on the corset question that we have gone at the corset business in such a serious way. We are not here to sell a corset as we would a paper of pins. With us it is not a piece of merchandise that costs so much to make and must be sold for so much. There is the other side. The corset is a vital factor in woman's everyday life—her health, her comfort are involved. Ours is a Corset-Service Department, in which the mercantile end is made to subserve the professional. That is our idea of the corset business. How do we carry it out; how do we put it into practice? The Corset Department as you see it today is the answer.'

THE PEAK OF PROSPERITY.

The state of Georgia will be the peak of prosperity in a prosperous America during the new business year now opening. Every line of activity will be the beneficiary. The national and state forecasts have now become infallible. They are based on facts, and not merely enthusiasm. Georgia's peculiar cotton supremacy this year settles the state's individual end of it.

From the national standpoint:
The Fourth National bank, of New York, is one of the most conservative as well as one of the largest financial institutions in the country.

The trouble with some folks, says a Whitstair philosopher, is that they want to clean up the Prosperity Table at one sitting, and pretty soon there's nothing left for the dinner-bell to ring for.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston spread sensible ideas before the Detroit congress. He declared emphatically for federal aid, but declared as emphatically against the pork-barrel methods that made the river and harbor and public bills annual scandals.

No doubt at all about General Prosperity when so many unappreciated millionaires are astonishing communities by planking down the income tax.

And now congress spends the time brooding over its own voice.

They will violate the gabled-in traditions of October if they swing the sign: "Near-Nut-Brown Ale."

If aeroplanes are to be of any practical benefit the drivers of them must cut out the somersault feature.

The world feels like making holiday when the dollars ring in Prosperity.

Why should the Colonel continue to shoot at "the invisible government" when he can't see where the shots land?

Another way for the poor man to get in the millionaire game is to brush up on golf.

Just at present the farmer's currency problem is how to invest his surplus.

Anyway, Secretary Bryan's critics can't say that the Congressional Record had to carry his lecture dates.

Since Mr. Bryan has said that "the money bill is a step ahead," it is probably about to catch up with his grocery bill.

Hardest job of all seems to be a slide to a Culebra Cut in the high cost of keeping alive.

TURNUED LOOSE IN GEORGIA IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF A MILLION DOLLARS TO THE COUNTY, AVERAGING THE COUNTIES.

The Georgia crop this year was produced at an expense of at least 25 per cent less than the ten-year normal. That means a bigger margin of profit.
Take these facts regarding Georgia in connection with the clearing of the last obstacle from the national track. The significance is that the whole nation is going to be prosperous, but that Georgia, WITH HER PROVISIONAL COTTON HANDICAP, WILL ENJOY RELATIVELY MORE PROSPERITY THAN ANY OTHER STATE IN THE UNION.

Atlanta is the commercial capital of the huge eastern cotton zone that will produce a normal crop. Atlanta will reap the advantage from that condition. Atlanta is also recipient of a large share of the national prosperity which flows to the south. Atlanta reaps an advantage from that condition, also.

We face the most wonderful year in the history of the state. To wring from it all its possibilities, PREPARATION is necessary. Preparation that includes the business cohorts of Atlanta, and of the state and of every farmer in the state, from the humblest "cropper" to the planter who lords it over a principality!

FEDERAL AID TO ROADS.

The deliberations of the American Road Congress, now in session at Detroit, are valuable principally as indicating the country's near approach to a system of national good roads. The agitation of the past five years, in which The Constitution has been conspicuous, is bearing fruit and is almost ready for the harvest. At the congress are representatives of every class and interest in America, each one alive to the inseparable connection between good roads and development, and each one intent upon enlisting the influence of the federal government in the cause. There is diversity of opinion as to the method, but none as to the general results sought.

Representative Dorsey W. Shackelford, for instance, chairman of the house committee on roads, is an enthusiastic advocate of federal aid. But he favors what he calls the "business plan," of building according to a system that will benefit the public generally rather than a limited few. His idea is that within five years we should, with federal aid, gridiron the nation with a million miles of highways that would lower the cost of living and increase values by increasing transportation facilities between farm and market.

The Constitution does not view any highway plan now afoot as antagonistic to the interests of the general population. The country and notably congress have so long been apathetic about the adoption of systematic methods of any nature, that whatever is now done will be in the nature of an improvement over the existing status. Certainly the haphazard plan now being followed by most of the states, and the travesty the government makes of its co-operation, is wasting many millions annually in half-baked road construction, while the federal government is doing virtually nothing to carry its share of the load.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston spread sensible ideas before the Detroit congress. He declared emphatically for federal aid, but declared as emphatically against the pork-barrel methods that made the river and harbor and public bills annual scandals. He would have the government extend aid to the state upon the basis only of dollar-for-dollar co-operation. His plan is reasonable. A national system of highways should not start or operate under the blight of the pork barrel and the state that is not keen enough for good roads to bear its share in building them does not deserve aid from the federal treasury.

In the last analysis, the main thing the country needs and intends to have is—roads. Now that interest in the broad general premise is becoming crystallized, the matter of detail should be settled without especial delay or laceration of emotions.

No doubt at all about General Prosperity when so many unappreciated millionaires are astonishing communities by planking down the income tax.

And now congress spends the time brooding over its own voice.

They will violate the gabled-in traditions of October if they swing the sign: "Near-Nut-Brown Ale."

Just From Georgia

The Dancing Travelers.
World a-spinnin' faster everywhere you stride it. Whirlin' with the New Times, an' the old gals like it!

Old-time quadrille. Too sober-like an' still; Guess we'll hit the Tango while we're goin' down the hill!

Make the music lively! Let it come a-quickin'! Nothin' like a quick step for a jubilation feelin'!

Old times an' ways. Gone with dusty days. Got to keep yer hands warm while the world is in a blaze!

Let it go a-whirlin' every shiny minute! Take the joy that's comin' with the halleluia in it!

His Future Vision. "I reckon that up yonder it'll be pretty much like it is down here," said the grouchy brother—"gold pavements and golf links for the millionaires, and the poor folks so glad to get in somehow or other they'll be thankful for a shady tree to rest under, and won't even ask for harps, for fear they'll have to play overtime!"

As Long as the World Revolves—

The Cheap Good Things. "The good things in this world are always the cheapest," says the Glasco Sun. "Spring wheat costs less than corn whisky; a gallon of old brandy costs more than two sacks of flour; a full hand at poker costs a man more in twenty seconds than his church subscriptions would amount to in three years; a town election costs more than a revival of religion; people sleep for a half hour in church free, but a nap in a Pullman costs $1.50 to $2."

The Whole Bill of Fare. "The trouble with some folks," says a Whitstair philosopher, "is that they want to clean up the Prosperity Table at one sitting, and pretty soon there's nothing left for the dinner-bell to ring for."

Their Tariff Titles. "It's 'tariff, tariff' everywhere; the folks look powerful wise: 'Twill almost read yer titles clear to tar in mansions in the skies' That seems to be the comfort the blessed tariff brings: 'No more will prices tempt a saint to swear away his wages!'"

Changed Conditions. "In this day and time," he said, "an author gets more than a haircut out of a poem, and he doesn't sell sentiment for shoeshines. The trouble is, he's no longer in a class by himself. It's almost impossible to distinguish him from a real business man!"

The "Dixie" Whistle. "Lonesome fell the rainy day. All the witch-winds blowing! Whistled 'Dixie,' right away Had the shadows goin'!"

In the Billville Sanctum. "Another poem on 'The Opening of the Panama Canal,'" exclaimed the editor, as he handed it back. "We take water!" "Good," said the poet, as he retreated. "It's time you were soberin' up!"

Not Much Paper Now. "Been lots of things happenin' all around me," writes a correspondent of The New Town Star. "I dunno whether it's worth while to write 'em, or not; I ain't got much paper now, and the preacher wants what I have got to write a sermon on. I'll send you the sermon after he preaches it; and if he writes only on one side maybe I'll put some news on the other."

Didn't Want to Talk Shop. (From Current Opinion.) "Dr. Paul Edgar Creed, who was called to the far end of Long Island to extract an appendix, missed the miserable hotel and was overgrown at breakfast by a sallow and cadaverous country girl. Said she: 'Boiled tongue, stewed kidneys, fried liver.' Said he: 'Hang your symptoms! Bring me something to eat!'"

A Story of the Moment

By WALT HASON, The Famous Fingert Poet.
Perilous Professions.

"Old Mr. Crimson is greatly worried because his son has taken up aviation as a profession," remarked the retired merchant, "and I sympathize with him. It must be awful to have an only son calyhoooting around on flying machines, and expectin' to see him brought home in a pushcart at any hour of the day."

"Old man Crimson shouldn't worry his doggone head," replied the hotel-keeper. "I won't be a bit surprised if his son lives so long that somebody will have to shoot him to make room for new goods. I don't believe it makes any difference what profession a man follows. The gods have written down the date of his death in their books, and when that date comes he will cash in, no matter what he may be doing at the time."

"If you cast your memory back a few years you must remember Sam Partridge. He had four sons and thought they were all wool and the usual standard width. The oldest boy entered the ministry, and the second opened a photograph gallery, and the third went into the dry goods business, all safe and honorable occupations. But Jim, the youngest son, had a crazy streak in him, and nothing would suit him but being a steepjack. So he went over the country climbing up steeples 9 miles high, and it made people seasick just to look up at him."

"The way the old man worried over it was a sin. He used to come to my hotel and sit around telling how he couldn't sleep at night, fearing that the morning papers would be recorded there. He'd give anything like his potatoes, and had taken up a safe and game profession."

"Well, one day the preacher brother hired a team of horses to drive to another town, where he was scheduled to deliver one of his bewitching, baccharia, sermons. The buggy got broke, and the horses ran away, and the unfortunate reverend gentleman was plastered all over the landscape. I really felt sorry for old Sam when he went along the road with a basket gathering up a fragment here, and another one there, climbing the roof of the dead man's hat, and going under a bridge to recover his necktie. Such a spectacle would move the stoniest heart."

"A year or so later the son who went into the picture business was trying to take a flashlight photograph of the motor of the new costed. He got his chemicals mixed wrong, or he used too much, or something. There was the all-fredest explosion you ever heard. The whole town went up in the air 18 feet and came down with a thud. And the photographer, oh, where was he? He went through the roof of the building, and the undertaker found him in the fork of a cottonwood tree, about fifty feet from the ground. No man could be more extinct than he was, and my heart ached for old Sam."

"Jim came home for the funeral, and the old man begged him to stay at home and get into the safe business. He got his minister's hat, and going under a bridge to recover his necktie. Such a spectacle would move the stoniest heart."

"That brother became so prosperous that he purchased the finest touring car in town, and he got on the surface of the earth, but Jim said he had the only safe job in the family, and he trembled for his brother in the dry goods business."

"Nothing is more exciting than to watch a flushed young automobile driver trying to use the rings of Saturn for a race track while driving a two-ton automobile."

All those who have watched a well-picked young scion of prosperity trying to drive an automobile through an express train have been greatly impressed with the dash and unconventionality of the performance."

It takes more than a driver, however, to make a joy ride. The tonnage of the machine must be full of dear, friends with whom the owner has become acquainted on the way."

Earth has many during souls, but none so venturesome as those who pile in behind an automobile driver who complains that he can see three speedometers, and accompany him in his attempt to hit 60 miles an hour and various other things."

If nerve like this could be applied to battle it would make Napoleons numerous. However, people who have this kind of nerve are usually in a condition in which they couldn't hit the regular army with a machine-gun at three paces."

There are three component parts of the real joy ride, and they are: a good wheel, a few more fools in the seats and a coroner's jury in the office."

Joy riding is more fatal than smallpox or railroad travel in Connecticut. If the fatalities were confined to the joy riders great good would eventually result to the nation. But it isn't. The innocent bystander isn't safe during a joy ride, unless he climbs a tree, and a substantial tree at that."

Nothing produces more joy than an automobile ride with all the limbs of all kinds removed. Even the turn-of-the-particle wants do not produce a very deep brand of sorrow."

Preparing for the Future. (From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.) "Actuaries say that of each thousand men living at the age of 20, 500 will still be alive at 65. Economists declare that of the 500 living at 65, 200 will be in want; that eight-ninths of the pauperism in America is among people who have passed this same age of 65. Men are, of course, sometimes brought to the point of death by accidents, through continued illness of himself or his family, through a dozen and one mischances against which even the wisest is helpless adequately to provide. In spite of this, however, there are certain tried and proven recipes by which young men may guarantee at least the probability that he will not be found among the unfortunate 200 after the age of 65."

Avoidance of wasteful, destructive habits, thrift, economy, the practice of spending habitually less than one earns, the habit of saving which increases one's usefulness and earning power—such are a few of the stable qualities which distinguish the young man approaching an independent old age from the one approaching a condition of want. Stand the actuary's thousand men in a row, divide them into two groups, the one group, possessing the habit of thrift, and the other, and the other, lacking them, and there would be little difficulty in telling from which group will come the 200 and from which the 300."

The World's Mysteries

WHO WAS THE FIRST POET LAUREATE?

The origin of the title of poet laureate has given rise to much speculation. It is generally considered to be of English origin, but it was a practice of honoring a popular poet handed down from ancient times and revived during the middle ages. It was customary among the Greeks to crown with the laurel a favorite poet. For example, Pindar was crowned with great solemnity at Rome in 1841. At Paris, Oxford and Cambridge the laurel wreath was sometimes placed on the heads of scholars distinguished for learning or poetry."

The laurel, the leaves of which tree in ancient Greece were sacred to Apollo, as such was used to form a crown or wreath of honor for poets and heroes. The word "laureate" or "laureated" thus came in English to signify eminent or associated with glory of whatever character. In olden times it was not uncommon to use the term "laureate letters" to indicate the dispatches announcing a "victory."

John Skelton, who died in 1528, received the laureate honor from both the universities, and accordingly styled himself "Poeta Laureatus." Attached to the households of the medieval English kings were minstrels and poets. From the more general use of the term "poet laureate" arose its restriction in England to the office of poet attached to the royal household, first held by Ben Jonson, for whom the position was in its essentials created by Charles I. in 1617. He does not seem to have been formally appointed poet laureate, but his position was equivalent to that.

The office was really a development of the practice of earlier times, when the verses were a part of the routine of the king. Richard Coeur de Lion is said to have had a "versificator regis" while Henry III. had a "versificator, master Edward IV. had a "bumble poet laureate," for such John Kay described himself.

Moreover, the crown had shown its patronage in various ways. Chaucer was granted an annuity of 20 marks in 1356, and afterwards, in 1374, he was given a pitcher of wine daily, one of the substance perquisites of the laureateship. But Chaucer never received an official appointment to the post, and his pensions were for diplomatic and other services.

Spenser was given a pension by Queen Elizabeth, and W. Hamilton classes Chaucer, Gower, Kay, Andrew Bernard, Skelton, Robert Whittington, Richard Edwards, Spenser and Samuel Daniel as "volunteer laureates." On December 11, 1638, William D'Avenant received from Charles I. a pension of 500 a year, but no title accompanied the grant, thus succeeding Jonson. D'Avenant, however, was assumed to be laureate, especially after the Restoration.

So far as is known, the first English poet to receive the title of poet laureate was John Dryden, the honor having been conferred upon him on August 18, 1670. Dryden received a pension of $1,500 and a "butt" of Calvary wine. With Dryden the post became a regular institution, though the emoluments varied.

The English laureates from Dryden's time have been: Thomas Shadwell (1689-92), Nahum Tate (1692-1715), Nicholas Rowe (1715-1733), Laurence Esmagh (1718-1737), Colley Cibber (1739-1757), Thomas Warton (1757-1790), Henry James Fyfe (1790-1813), Robert Southey (1813-1843), William Wordsworth (1843-1850), Alfred Tennyson (1850-1892), Alfred Austin (1892-1913), and the present laureate, Mr. Robert Bridges, recently appointed.

The office of poet laureate of England is a rather trying one, and it would be difficult for future appointees to come up so fully to all the requirements as Alfred Tennyson and even his predecessors, Southey and Wordsworth. Being a court official, he must be a good writer, and his duties include producing formal and appropriate verses on birthdays and state occasions, but his activity in this respect has varied, according to circumstances, and the custom ceased to be obligatory after Poe's death.

The office of poet laureate of England is a rather trying one, and it would be difficult for future appointees to come up so fully to all the requirements as Alfred Tennyson and even his predecessors, Southey and Wordsworth. Being a court official, he must be a good writer, and his duties include producing formal and appropriate verses on birthdays and state occasions, but his activity in this respect has varied, according to circumstances, and the custom ceased to be obligatory after Poe's death.

JOY RIDING.

A joy ride is a ride in an automobile propelled by gasoline, plus alcohol.

Gasoline is a very earnest, excitable fluid, but when it is used with mixed highballs, cocktails and gin fizzes it becomes a regular nuisance.

The alcohol is not used directly in the automobile engine, but is applied to the driver. After the driver of an automobile has been well soaked in alcohol he imagines he is running a racing cloud 9 miles above the law, and he acts accordingly.

All those who have watched a well-picked young scion of prosperity trying to drive an automobile through an express train have been greatly impressed with the dash and unconventionality of the performance.

It takes more than a driver, however, to make a joy ride. The tonnage of the machine must be full of dear, friends with whom the owner has become acquainted on the way.

Earth has many during souls, but none so venturesome as those who pile in behind an automobile driver who complains that he can see three speedometers, and accompany him in his attempt to hit 60 miles an hour and various other things.

If nerve like this could be applied to battle it would make Napoleons numerous. However, people who have this kind of nerve are usually in a condition in which they couldn't hit the regular army with a machine-gun at three paces.

There are three component parts of the real joy ride, and they are: a good wheel, a few more fools in the seats and a coroner's jury in the office.

Joy riding is more fatal than smallpox or railroad travel in Connecticut. If the fatalities were confined to the joy riders great good would eventually result to the nation. But it isn't. The innocent bystander isn't safe during a joy ride, unless he climbs a tree, and a substantial tree at that.

Nothing produces more joy than an automobile ride with all the limbs of all kinds removed. Even the turn-of-the-particle wants do not produce a very deep brand of sorrow.

Preparing for the Future. (From The Cleveland Plain Dealer.) "Actuaries say that of each thousand men living at the age of 20, 500 will still be alive at 65. Economists declare that of the 500 living at 65, 200 will be in want; that eight-ninths of the pauperism in America is among people who have passed this same age of 65. Men are, of course, sometimes brought to the point of death by accidents, through continued illness of himself or his family, through a dozen and one mischances against which even the wisest is helpless adequately to provide. In spite of this, however, there are certain tried and proven recipes by which young men may guarantee at least the probability that he will not be found among the unfortunate 200 after the age of 65."

Avoidance of wasteful, destructive habits, thrift, economy, the practice of spending habitually less than one earns, the habit of saving which increases one's usefulness and earning power—such are a few of the stable qualities which distinguish the young man approaching an independent old age from the one approaching a condition of want. Stand the actuary's thousand men in a row, divide them into two groups, the one group, possessing the habit of thrift, and the other, and the other, lacking them, and there would be little difficulty in telling from which group will come the 200 and from which the 300."

Meeks-Gray Wedding Was a Brilliant Social Event

The Atlanta party returning yesterday from the wedding of Miss Eleanor Meeks and Mr. Inman Gray in Nashville, Tenn., are enthusiastic in their account of the beauty and brilliancy of that event and the pleasure given the party who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Gray on the trip.

Only ornament was a heart of diamonds, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Meeks' gown was of maize-colored chiffon, embroidered in crystal and pearls. The maid of honor wore a pale pink chiffon gown embroidered in crystals and the other attendants wore French toilets in pink with trimmings in clusters of flowers. Head ornaments of lace and flowers completed their toilet, and they carried bouquets of white roses.

Arriving in Nashville, they enjoyed an auto drive through the city, the guests of Nashville friends, and that night attended at the Hermitage club a beautiful dinner and ball by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, who is one of Atlanta's bouquets of debutantes this season, was maid of honor. Other attendants included Mrs. Richard Wilson, Mrs. John Branham, Mrs. George Parks, Mrs. Harry Batchelor, Mrs. Arthur Galbreath, Miss Cherry Head of Boston, the groomsmen were Messrs. Joseph Brown Connally, Jackson Dick, Arthur Clarke, Eugene Haynes, Hugh Scott, John A. Brice, Bennett and Henry Meek. The bridesmaids were Messrs. E. L. Cooney, Richard Wilson, John Branham, George Parks, Harry Batchelor and Guilford Dudley.

The decorations at the church were in white and green—pinks, white-roses and carnations. They were in the colors of orchid and rose at the reception and supper which followed the ceremony, and which held at the Hermitage hotel. The main dining room was converted into a salon, hung with trailing weds and foliage and ornate with high palms and window boxes of blooming flowers. In the center of the room was a large table, at which were seated the guests. Other friends were seated at smaller tables where baskets of flowers and center table had a rich decorative scheme carried out in the same colors and a delicious repast was served. Many eloquent toasts were proposed to the bride and the popular young groom, who is the younger daughter of Judge and Mrs. Meeks and is a quite beauty of blond type. She is bright and charming, with a marked musical ability, which is among her many attributes. She has been a social favorite in Nashville and Atlanta, since her coming to Atlanta will be a brilliant acquisition to the social life of the city. Her father is the sister of Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, whom she has frequently visited.

Handsome Toilets. The bride's toilet was in white charmeuse satin, made with court train. The skirt opened over a skirt of lace and chiffon, and the draped corsage combined lace and chiffon and was embroidered in pearls. The veil of pointed applique lace was caught to the hair with a wreath of tiny orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies. Her

McCown-McCown. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCown, at Center Hill, on Tuesday evening, September 30, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Mr. Floyd McCown. The ideal of the noon wedding was typified in the marriage of Miss Louise Collier and Mr. Henry Stanton, of Cincinnati, which took place yesterday at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis, on West Peachtree street, Atlanta. The event was one of prominent social interest, and the ceremony and wedding breakfast were attended by the large family connection and a company of close friends. Miss Laura Collier, maid of honor, Mrs. Miss Laura Collier, of Cincinnati, was best man, and Miss Emily Davis and Miss Eunice Collier, of Cincinnati, were bridesmaids. The bride and groom were escorted to the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed. The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of white crepe and chiffon, which she wore with lace, threaded with silver, and the court train of satin. In her full veil, which hung from a crown of white flowers, she carried a bouquet of white orchids, and her hair was styled in waves. The bridegroom wore a pink tuxedo and carried a boutonniere of pink and white flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Kooker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Atlanta. The drawing room was made into a reception hall, and the bride and groom were seated at a table with pink chrysanthemums revealing their glory in the midst of the green. The table was decorated with pink and white roses, and the entire reception floor, and in the dining room pink was again the prevailing color. The table centerpiece was a plateau of double dahlias in deep pink, and the silver centerpieces were carried by the bridesmaids. On mantel and buffet were vases of pink chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton left during the afternoon for a tour in the east, and they will return to the city in a few days, where Mr. Stanton is prominently and successfully known. GEORGIA SQUAD NOW COMPLETED

Conklin, the Veteran End, Was on Field Wednesday. Individual Work Now—The First Game Saturday.

By Dick Jemison. Athens, Ga., October 1. (Special)—Hugh Conklin, an Atlanta boy and Georgia's veteran end, blew in on the vestibule this afternoon from Atlanta and was out on the field in uniform.

This completes the Red and Black squad. Paddock arrived yesterday, and Malone Sunday. The weather of the past three days has been ideal for football practice, but despite this, the Red and Black warriors have been put through a stiff course of sprouts.

No scrimmage was held today. Coach Cunningham decided to give more attention to the individual than to the team. It was a tired bunch of boys that left the field tonight. Two hours of strenuous individual coaching eliminated the most minor defects that have been noticed in the two scrimmages.

Georgia's first game of the season will take place on Saturday, with the Alabama Presbyterian college as the Red and Black's opponent. Speculation is rife as to what will be Georgia's line-up for the opening game. The chances are that all the promising varsity material will be given a try-out.

The line-up that will start the game sizes up about as follows: Delapierre, center; Conyers and McConnell, guards; Henderson and Malone, backs; Conklin and Crump, ends; Paddock, quarter; McWhorter and Carey, half, and Powell, full.

Only straight football will be used, as the team was only given its signals last Friday. But progress is being made as rapidly as Coach Cunningham, Ketron and Penock care to have it.

In another two weeks the Georgia team will be hitting its real clip. Then—watch out!

Crackers Land Four Men Out of Five Via Draft

The men landed were: Pitcher Browning, from the San Antonio, Texas league, team; Pitcher Eitel, from the Roanoke, Virginia league, team; Utility Player Kirchner, from the Norfolk, Virginia league, club, and Third Baseman Mel, from the Grand Rapids, Central league club.

The last named is being touted as a regular for next season already. He hit .206 and fielded .922.

BEING LIVED BY ON WORLD SERIES

You Can Get Any Kind of a Bet You Want in the Big League Cities on the Coming Games.

New York, October 1.—Bet on the outcome of the world's series baseball games, which open in New York October 7, started at 10 to 6. It mattered not whether the odds were placed on Philadelphia or New York, 10 to 6 were the figures. That is if the better happened to be in Philadelphia, which the national commission announced the date for the opening game, there was money to place on the Athletics at 10 to 8; if he happened to be in New York the odds were 10 to 6 that the Giants would win.

Reduce the unusual situation prevailed that bettors in both cities were willing to give odds on their home teams. This situation was due to the fact that until Larry Doyle, captain of the Giants, was injured in an automobile accident and Charlie Snyder, who had strained a tendon in his leg. Reports that Doyle and Snyder might be unable to play in the series were instantly reflected and bettors in New York were unwilling to risk more than ten money by their team in the face of these reports.

FEARS TARIFF DAMAGE TO THE COTTON MILLS

Atlantic City, N. J., October 1.—James E. Reynolds, who was a member of the tariff board appointed by President Taft, addressing the semi-annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, today expressed the opinion that the cotton industry would suffer greatly if the democratic tariff bill becomes a law.

"Only the most efficient factories would escape serious curtailment of profits under the proposed lower tariff duty," he declared. Mr. Reynolds added that the tariff schedule under the administration bill was "too low as a safe protective margin."

The government experiment with Egyptian cotton production in Arizona was discussed by members of the association, samples of the product being distributed among the delegates. Many of the cotton men expressed the opinion that the sample was a fair substitute for the long staple that comes from the Nile, and declared that its texture was even tougher.

Addresses were delivered at today's session by E. N. Marti, of India; Professor William Henry Perkin, Manchester, Eng.; J. S. Bond, of the department of agriculture, and other agriculturists, and other delegates. Members who are entered in the association golf tournament will play the final round tomorrow for the championship cup.

PEACE FLAG DEDICATED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, October 1.—President Wilson today dedicated an insipid flag of peace in an American flag which has been carried from battlefields to battlefields through the south by Major Alfred E. Judson, an ex-confederate soldier of Los Angeles.

Major Judson, who has conducted patriotic exercises while the peace flag waved over Mission Ridge, Chickamauga, Appomattox, Gettysburg and other battlefields, planted the flag over Washington's tomb a few days ago. The flag was unfurled today in the executive office by Major Judson and Lieutenant General Young, representing the Grand Army of the Republic, the president joined the donors, expressing hope for domestic and international peace.

BUSHELS OF FLIES KILLED BY BOAZARD

Orangeburg, S. C., October 1.—The "swat" campaign waged in Orangeburg during the past several months by the Domestic Science club of this city, has ended. The prize awarded for the most flies killed was awarded to Henry Clay Boazard. For each pint of flies he caught he was paid. Boazard killed several bushels. A large amount of money was paid for flies. The work will be kept up.

PREAS GOES TO END, AND JOHNSON TO BACK

According to Coach Heisman, many changes will be made in the line-up of the Tech eleven. Heisman has been working with his men long enough to know for a fact that each man is best suited, and the first shifts have been made, the most important being the changing of place of Jim Preas and the switching of Tally Johnson to the back field. The latter will play halfback along with Gene Patton.

It is often the case that a great deal of time is consumed in finding just which position each man can best handle and to utilize the strength of the team to the best advantage. Such was the case of Preas, who came to Heisman somewhat unknown. At first he was worked as fullback in the backfield, but was found that he was not the man for the place and could be used to better advantage in another position.

That Al Loch, the star center of 1912, may get back into the game this week, as the welcome news received by Coach Heisman Wednesday. Loch is the type of football player who never gives up, keeping his teammates keyed up to a high playing pitch.

SOCIALISTS FIGHTING INJUNCTION JUDGE

Seattle, Wash., October 1.—The state supreme court issued an alternative today restraining Superior Judge John E. Humphries from hearing the contempt cases of Emil Hendricks and Thomas Russell, who had been cited by Judge Humphries to appear before him tomorrow to answer for signing a resolution of defiance drawn up and distributed by socialists.

Fifty-five of the 280 men and women who signed the resolution were arrested and more than a dozen, including women, still are in the county jail. Hendricks and Russell were the only defendants who appeared from the action of Judge Humphries in overruling their motions for transfer of the case to another judge.

Many Freak Bets Made on Big Series

You Can Get Any Kind of a Bet You Want in the Big League Cities on the Coming Games.

New York, October 1.—Bet on the outcome of the world's series baseball games, which open in New York October 7, started at 10 to 6. It mattered not whether the odds were placed on Philadelphia or New York, 10 to 6 were the figures. That is if the better happened to be in Philadelphia, which the national commission announced the date for the opening game, there was money to place on the Athletics at 10 to 8; if he happened to be in New York the odds were 10 to 6 that the Giants would win.

Reduce the unusual situation prevailed that bettors in both cities were willing to give odds on their home teams. This situation was due to the fact that until Larry Doyle, captain of the Giants, was injured in an automobile accident and Charlie Snyder, who had strained a tendon in his leg. Reports that Doyle and Snyder might be unable to play in the series were instantly reflected and bettors in New York were unwilling to risk more than ten money by their team in the face of these reports.

FEARS TARIFF DAMAGE TO THE COTTON MILLS

Atlantic City, N. J., October 1.—James E. Reynolds, who was a member of the tariff board appointed by President Taft, addressing the semi-annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, today expressed the opinion that the cotton industry would suffer greatly if the democratic tariff bill becomes a law.

"Only the most efficient factories would escape serious curtailment of profits under the proposed lower tariff duty," he declared. Mr. Reynolds added that the tariff schedule under the administration bill was "too low as a safe protective margin."

The government experiment with Egyptian cotton production in Arizona was discussed by members of the association, samples of the product being distributed among the delegates. Many of the cotton men expressed the opinion that the sample was a fair substitute for the long staple that comes from the Nile, and declared that its texture was even tougher.

Addresses were delivered at today's session by E. N. Marti, of India; Professor William Henry Perkin, Manchester, Eng.; J. S. Bond, of the department of agriculture, and other agriculturists, and other delegates. Members who are entered in the association golf tournament will play the final round tomorrow for the championship cup.

PEACE FLAG DEDICATED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, October 1.—President Wilson today dedicated an insipid flag of peace in an American flag which has been carried from battlefields to battlefields through the south by Major Alfred E. Judson, an ex-confederate soldier of Los Angeles.

Major Judson, who has conducted patriotic exercises while the peace flag waved over Mission Ridge, Chickamauga, Appomattox, Gettysburg and other battlefields, planted the flag over Washington's tomb a few days ago. The flag was unfurled today in the executive office by Major Judson and Lieutenant General Young, representing the Grand Army of the Republic, the president joined the donors, expressing hope for domestic and international peace.

BUSHELS OF FLIES KILLED BY BOAZARD

Orangeburg, S. C., October 1.—The "swat" campaign waged in Orangeburg during the past several months by the Domestic Science club of this city, has ended. The prize awarded for the most flies killed was awarded to Henry Clay Boazard. For each pint of flies he caught he was paid. Boazard killed several bushels. A large amount of money was paid for flies. The work will be kept up.

PREAS GOES TO END, AND JOHNSON TO BACK

According to Coach Heisman, many changes will be made in the line-up of the Tech eleven. Heisman has been working with his men long enough to know for a fact that each man is best suited, and the first shifts have been made, the most important being the changing of place of Jim Preas and the switching of Tally Johnson to the back field. The latter will play halfback along with Gene Patton.

It is often the case that a great deal of time is consumed in finding just which position each man can best handle and to utilize the strength of the team to the best advantage. Such was the case of Preas, who came to Heisman somewhat unknown. At first he was worked as fullback in the backfield, but was found that he was not the man for the place and could be used to better advantage in another position.

That Al Loch, the star center of 1912, may get back into the game this week, as the welcome news received by Coach Heisman Wednesday. Loch is the type of football player who never gives up, keeping his teammates keyed up to a high playing pitch.

SOCIALISTS FIGHTING INJUNCTION JUDGE

Seattle, Wash., October 1.—The state supreme court issued an alternative today restraining Superior Judge John E. Humphries from hearing the contempt cases of Emil Hendricks and Thomas Russell, who had been cited by Judge Humphries to appear before him tomorrow to answer for signing a resolution of defiance drawn up and distributed by socialists.

Fifty-five of the 280 men and women who signed the resolution were arrested and more than a dozen, including women, still are in the county jail. Hendricks and Russell were the only defendants who appeared from the action of Judge Humphries in overruling their motions for transfer of the case to another judge.

Charged With Seduction.

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—Boyd James, a young man of 20, was charged with seducing a girl in the county jail here on the charge of a misdemeanor, September 29. On last Sunday he was charged with seducing near Suwanee, swore out a warrant charging him with seduction, she claiming that he coerced her into a promise of marriage, seduced her. The case will probably come up before Judge Humphries Saturday for a preliminary hearing.

Boys to Stand in Line All Night to Get World Series Tickets; Speculators Busy Says Report

Philadelphia, October 1.—Philadelphia baseball enthusiasts, who are anxious to secure tickets for the approaching world's series games are engaging boys to stand in line all night to get public sale for the tickets to be staged in this city on Monday, October 6.

Companies which furnish messenger boys are making preparations to meet the unusual demand and one company announced that the rate would be raised from 20 to 25 cents an hour for the service.

Although the baseball officials are endeavoring to keep the tickets out of the hands of speculators, it was reported today that one prospective dealer in the coveted pastebonds had engaged twenty boys to stand in line for a ticket Sunday night at 11 p. m. Monday, when the sale opens.

Under the rules adopted this year no tickets will be sold to speculators. Each purchaser must buy tickets for three games in this city, and no one will be permitted to buy more than two for each game. In case three games are not played here money for tickets not used will be returned to the purchaser.

The requirement that even those who desire to witness only one game must buy tickets for three is causing some unfavorable comment among the local baseball followers.

Will Get Team Work Now.

Philadelphia, October 1.—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, returned to Philadelphia today after a tour which has been used in the series just completed against Washington and tomorrow the American league champions will start the final games of their regular schedule with New York. It is expected that Mack will present his stoniest and most determined team work may be perfected for the world's series next week.

The first string players of the Athletics being allowed to take things easy since they clinched the pennant. They were expected to start today a course of training that would put them on edge for the opening game with the New York Giants next Tuesday, but rain which fell in almost a continuous downpour prevented them from practicing at Shibe Park. It is now expected that Manager Mack will place his full strength in the field tomorrow for the first of the series, three games, scheduled to be played tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Giants Regulars Ready. New York, October 1.—After taking a few days' rest while the Colts were essaying to represent the team in Boston, the Giant regulars are expected to get back into harness again tomorrow to get back into harness again tomorrow, if the weather permits a game, for a three-day taping up stretch before the season ends and the world's series week begins.

Manager McGraw was hopeful tonight as to the entire championship line-up on the field against Philadelphia, but would not commit himself as to whether it would be the two injured members of his first line squad, Doyle and Snodgrass, would be in the line-up, or whether the Athletics to play against the Athletics next week.

Weather conditions tonight made it doubtful whether the Polo grounds would be in shape for a game by tomorrow afternoon, but if the field is fit for play a unique triple bill is scheduled, a double-header following the finishing of the game of August 30 when Empire Brennan stopped play in the ninth inning of the game at Philadelphia because of the actions of the bleacher crowd. The unfinished contest is to be taken up just at the point where it was broken off, the interruption with New York at bat in the ninth, the bases clear, one man out and one ball on the batter—Jack Murray.

May Allow Substitutes.

As the league directors' decision stipulated that the participants in this game should be the same as those who were playing in the Philadelphia game at the time of the interruption, some speculation was aroused as to the possible consequences if Doyle and Snodgrass are unable tomorrow, to take their regular places. Meyers bats after Murray and Snodgrass is due to follow if the side is not retired by the time Meyers finishes his turn. It was expected that the Athletics might be allowed if necessary, because of the physical condition of the players after the game, to put in an appearance in their positions.

The rules seem to allow this. The rules seem to allow this. The rules seem to allow this. The rules seem to allow this. The rules seem to allow this.

WHIFFS

Will Win Many. THE ACQUISITION of Rube Kistler by the Crackers from Memphis was one of the best ante-season moves that Bill Hays ever made.

Whether it's a hunch or what it is, no matter where you go and the world's series is being discussed, there seems to be the prevailing impression that Rube Kistler is going to flare very soon in these games. Some even go so far as to say that his pitching will be the real obstacle the Athletics must overcome.

PERSONAL.

Christy Mathewson is the boy out money would go on if he were of a betting turn of mind. The "Old Man" is always there.

There seems to be an undercurrent of gloom in the other colleges when Clemson college is mentioned. "They've got something down there that's better than the Red Sox last year. No better ought to have dropped a single save. All the big boys need is average support. He doesn't ask for much. Average support would have pulled him through last year. It can do it this year."

ALEX CUNNINGHAM knows where the right ends at Georgia. He has the right end. The Red and Black squad is not going to be rushed to a high state of efficiency early. He made his mistake last year, and learned his lesson. Watch Cunningham's warriors closely this year.

JIM PREAS has been shifted to an end at Tech. It may be permanent. If all depends, Johnson will remain in the backfield. The change may be the thing. We wait to see him in action before passing judgment.

"Tick" Thought Pigskin Had Busted in Contest; Was Refereeing at Time

Athens, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—The sell a good one over here on "Tick" Tichenor, the former Auburn star.

"Tick" was refereeing a game here last season. Georgia had one of the hidden ball tricks in the contest between the Benedict's and the Cracker. He painted the color of a football. He used to shake his head at the thought of the "Big Game" and the great halfback would stand around end with everyone in pursuit, while the quarterback took the real ball straight down the field unimpeded for a touchdown.

"Tick" went into the players, unsending the game until he had pulled the supposed ball.

"Tick" took a look at what he thought was the ball and exclaimed: "Dog, gone. If the darn thing isn't busted, it was 'Tick's' treat after the game."

ATLANTA MAY ASK W. C. T. U. MEETING

Atlanta Chapter Will Consider the Advisability of Inviting National Organization Today.

Atlanta may seek the 1914 convention of the national W. C. T. U., according to a call sent out Wednesday by Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Fulton County W. C. T. U.

At a meeting of the Atlanta Frances Willard union, the Patterson union, the Piedmont union and the College Park union to be held this afternoon at the Sunday school room of Trinity church, Mrs. T. E. Patterson, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U., will speak to the assembled delegates upon the subject of making a concerted move to bring the national convention of the organization to this city next year.

The national convention of the W. C. T. U. attracts thousands of delegates to the city entertaining the body.

The call sent out by Mrs. McLendon follows:

"Mrs. T. E. Patterson, president of the Georgia Woman's Christian Temperance union, will meet with the Atlanta Frances Willard union, the Patterson, the Piedmont and College Park unions Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Sunday school room of Trinity church to consider the feasibility of writing the national W. C. T. U. to hold its annual convention in Atlanta in 1914. All the members are expected to be present.

SEVEN PERSONS BRAINED BY A 15-YEAR-OLD BOY

Lad Became Enraged During an Argument and Ran Amuck With an Ax.

Nantes, France, October 1.—A boy 15 years old murdered with an ax seven people in the village of Basbrige-En-Landreau, in the department of the Loire-Inférieure, yesterday.

The lad, Marcel Redureau, was employed as a vine cutter. He and his employer, Georges Mabit, were present at a discussion arose between them, Redureau, angered seized an ax and cut Mabit's throat, killing him instantly.

The boy hurried to his employer's house, dashed up to Madame Mabit and slashed her throat till she was dead, then killed a servant, then a girl carrying a dripping ax. Marcel proceeded to another room, where he dispatched his employer's mother, then killed three of Mabit's children. He spared a fourth child, aged 4, lying by their side.

Redureau went to bed and slept calmly till this morning when the bodies were discovered by villagers. After his arrest Marcel confessed.

LETS SNAKE BITE HIM TO SHOW DIVINE POWER

Chattanooga, Tenn., October 1.—Rev. Haslop, a holy roller preacher of near Gadsden, Ala., is in a critical condition from the bite of a rattlesnake and not live, according to reports of his physicians. He claimed to be possessed with divine power of healing and was himself immune from harm. He proposed to prove this by allowing a rattler to bite him. Two boys, taking the preacher at his word, brought him the snake Monday and he allowed it to strike him five times, in the presence of a large crowd.

SULZER AND WIFE WILL TAKE STAND

Prosecution Closes Against Governor—Mrs. Sulzer Will Assert Sulzer Speculated in Stocks for Her Account.

Albany, N. Y., October 1.—The assembly board of managers today rested their case in the trial of the impeachment of Governor William Sulzer, the high court then adjourned until tomorrow afternoon, when counsel for the governor will submit several preliminary motions for the court to decide before opening the case for defense. These motions, it is expected, probably will ask permission to take another adjournment before calling their first witness.

Sulzer's Check Indorsed.

This witness, it is said, will be Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's campaign secretary. When counsel for the impeachment managers failed to put on the stand, although he was under subpoena, Sarecky indorsed many of the checks received during his campaign which were not reported in his sworn statement of campaign contributions.

Both the governor and Mrs. Sulzer are expected to take the stand before the defense closes. The governor will defend his failure to report the numerous contributions he received on the ground that they were personal gifts, it is believed.

Mrs. Sulzer, it is said, will defend the governor's alleged speculative transactions in Wall street with testimony she gave during his campaign. She is expected to tell the story of the loan which she is said to have contracted with the Carnegie Trust company and to seek to prove that she was not receiving money from the stock exchange firm by her end and did not speculate with the firm.

THE LONG MISSING COLWELL

When the long missing Fred L. Colwell, a holly roller preacher in his Wall street transactions, will be called as a subject of much speculation today, it is expected that he will not be placed under arrest for refusing to obey a subpoena of the court, but that he will be allowed to leave the city. The counsel for the impeachment managers said tonight, they were powerless to force Colwell to the stand.

Lieutenant Commander L. M. Josephthal, who paid a debt of $125 on Colwell's behalf, according to the testimony, is expected to be another witness.

Colwell, a resident of New York, where he arrived today from Europe, his testimony, it is understood, will be highly favorable to the governor.

Attorney Harvey D. Bennett will make a motion for the governor's case. It was chiefly because Hinman, who has conducted most of the prosecution, has been so far from the stand, that Judge D. Cady Herrick, chief counsel for the defense, asked tonight that Colwell be called at his own request. This request was denied by the court during an executive session.

Many Witnesses Not Called

The close of the case of the assembly managers today marked the close of two weeks since the trial began and of six days consumed in taking testimony. Many witnesses were not called, including William J. Connors, of Buffalo, and Hugh J. Kelly, of New York, a railroad man, who were called in the government, were not called. Both were subpoenaed to testify as to contributions they had made to the governor's campaign.

Attorneys for the managers expressed themselves tonight as well pleased.

"Mysterious Woman" in Case.

Now that the direct testimony is all in, Attorney General J. Kresel said tonight further effort would be made to locate the "mysterious woman" in the case. She is Miss Eessie Colwell, a relative of Fred L. Colwell. The board of managers wanted her chiefly to testify regarding the whereabouts of Colwell, but they have not asked a question, her as to her knowledge of his stock deals for the governor.

"We feel that we have shown almost everything we promised," said Kresel. "We feel that we have shown almost everything we promised, and we are confident that the case will be gone over on indirect examination."

"Why did we not call Sarecky?" he was a hostile witness on our side of the case. When he is called by the defense, at once we shall question him. We shall also interrogate Colwell at length if he is called."

MORTUARY.

Luther M. Toney.

The funeral of Luther M. Toney, aged 40, who died yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at Forest Park church, will be held in the church yard. The body will be taken from Poole's chapel at 8 o'clock with an escort of five children, four brothers, L. Z. W. E. George, and J. E. Toney, and Mrs. Lizzie Sorrows and Mrs. LeRoy Clark.

Martin Luther Shealy.

Martin Luther Shealy, of Oglethorpe, 58 years old, died last night in a private sanitarium in this city. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ed. Shealy, and three daughters, Mrs. Ed. Derrick of Griffin, Mrs. C. G. Shealy of Shellman, and Miss Arbie of Oglethorpe; one brother and one sister. He was a Mason and a Knight of Pythias. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of H. M. Patterson and Sons, Monday, and will be buried at Oglethorpe for funeral and interment.

R. D. Johnson, Jefferson.

Jefferson, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) R. D. Johnson, a prosperous planter, died Monday morning at his home in town, this morning after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Worley Nall, Elberton.

Elberton, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) Mrs. Worley Nall died here last night and was interred this afternoon. She was the eldest daughter of the late Fred W. Nall. She leaves a husband and an infant. Her death was sudden. The funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian church by her pastor, Rev. C. L. Stacy.

The hunting season is at hand. The saddest of the year. When hunting in the woods will stand and let that damn deer.

It often happens that a smarted woman has everything she wants except a husband.

Russ Czarina and Crown Prince

NEWEST PICTURE OF THE CZARINA AND CROWN PRINCE OF RUSSIA.

This is the newest and best picture of the czar and czarina and their children. The czar and czarina are all girls. Russia wants a man to rule her, and prayers are still said regularly for the welfare of this child.

"MR. SPENCER" HUNTED AS WOMAN'S MURDERER

Chicago, October 1.—Knowledge that Mr. Spencer, sought as the murderer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, had visited the Rexroat home at Macomb, Ill., and left Macomb on the same train that had carried Mrs. Rexroat, the dancing teacher, away from her former home, today has caused the Macomb authorities fresh hope in their hunt for the murderer. The information came from Everett Rexroat, editor of the Chicago Record, who had offered him the option of telling his story or standing trial himself for the murder.

Spencer, Rexroat said, had called at the farm as a picture agent. William Rexroat, Everett's father, added the information that after the departure of Spencer and Mrs. Rexroat on the same train, he had received letters stating that she was in a good hospital and asking him to send her money.

Captain Halpin, chief of the Chicago detective bureau, today advanced the theory that Mrs. Rexroat had been killed in revenge, and that the slayer had been a "gunman" hired to put her out of the way.

Captain Halpin discarded the theory that robbery had been the motive for the crime, but he had been called for a $100 diamond ring, when he learned that when the body was found Mrs. Rexroat's gloves still were on her hands. He said he was highly imprudent that the thief would take time to put the gloves back on the woman's hands, and then remove her gloves to take her ring.

GARBAGE OF CHICAGO NOT BEING COLLECTED

Chicago, October 1.—Relations between this city and the Chicago Reduction company, which had the contract to dispose of the city's garbage, having been broken last night, orders were sent to the various wards today to cease the collection of garbage.

Householders were urged, for the time being, to burn their garbage or otherwise to dispose of it. For the present it was stated that only refuse which was not animal or vegetable would be collected by the city. This will be dumped in abandoned clay holes.

The situation is regarded as very serious, as there is always more or less typhoid at this season, and the city is urged to burn their garbage of disease, will be active for the next six weeks, it is said.

Suggestions that the plant of the company be seized are not regarded as practicable. In fact, the municipal administration is in a quandary over the matter.

It is said that the investment in the reduction plant was less than $200,000. According to Harold Almer, appraiser of the company in the negotiations to sell it to the city, the profits for the last three years have averaged $18,000 a year.

DANGER POINT PASSED BY U. S. SENATOR LODGE

Nahant, Mass., October 1.—Danger of serious effects from the operation to which United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge submitted last Friday for relief from a gastric ulcer, has passed, Dr. Francis H. Harrington announced tonight. The time within which complications were feared expired today, Dr. Harrington said, and the senator is now able to sit up in bed. The doctor approved a statement given out tonight by Mrs. Lodge, which said:

"Senator Lodge's condition continues to be good. His pulse and temperature are normal. The patient was able to take a little more nourishment today, which he seemed to relish."

TAX DODGERS SHIFT CASH FROM NEW YORK

New York, October 1.—By the convenient transferring their bank deposits to New Jersey or Connecticut in the last few days, many tax dodgers in New York state are posing today as poorer by millions. It is estimated that $100,000,000 worth of cash has been shifted to the river to New Jersey or over the Connecticut state border. The reason is that today is a personal property tax day in New York, and many owners have long made it a custom to adopt this ruse to avoid taxation in New York state.

According to Lawson Purdy, president of the board of tax commissioners, however, the residents of New York city to other states does not exempt the owners from tax on the deposits which they can avoid the tax unless he ventures a false oath as to the amount of his personal property.

UNCLE SAM TO HELP WIVES OF FARMERS

Washington, October 1.—Declaring that the farm woman has been the most neglected factor in the rural problem, and that the department of agriculture wishes to render directly to the women of the United States the most important place in agricultural production warrants, Secretary Houston has addressed the letter to the farmers and their wives, asking them for opinions as to how the department can improve its service which is constructive, of course, at liberty to criticize freely," says the secretary. "But I would especially urge constructive ones that we can at once put into effect."
