

MRS. PANKHURST ATTACKS RULERS OF HER COUNTRY

Snffragette Leader Says the British Government Is Engaged in Showing World How to Do Nothing. MILITANCY WAS FORCED ON THE BRITISH WOMEN

Mrs. Pankhurst Was Cheered by New York Gathering and the British Cabinet Ministers Were Hissed.

New York, October 21.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst addressed tonight in Madison Square Garden her first American mass meeting, explained why militant methods for the cause of woman suffrage are followed in England but not in America and defended the employment of such methods. She criticized the British government as the most conservative on earth and held it responsible, through failure to enact legislation desired by women, for advocates of suffrage resorting to violence to obtain the ballot.

Only through dynamic means, she declared, could English women hope to secure laws dealing with white slavery, industrial evils and other conditions affecting women. Preparations had been made for an overflow meeting at Madison Square Garden, but the high hall with a seating capacity of about 12,000 persons, was scarcely one-quarter filled. This was attributed by the suffragettes to the uncertainty that existed almost until the eleventh hour as to whether the immigration authorities would allow Mrs. Pankhurst to land.

Wearing Prison Bar Badges. Some leading suffragettes of this country and a few "hunger strikers" from England sat with Mrs. Pankhurst on a stage draped with a tricolor flag bearing the inscription "Resistance to tyranny is obedience to God." Wearing small steel prison bar badges signifying that their militancy had resulted in jail terms, were Miss Elsie McKenzie and Miss Mary Keegan, English girls who came here to accept business opportunities, and Miss Lucy Burns and Miss Elizabeth Freeman, American girls who went to England to fight for the cause.

When Your Appetite Comes Back to You
It is a Sure Sign Your Stomach is Able to Work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Give You a Rousing Appetite.

It is the greatest joy in the world to be able to eat what one wants and no longer be troubled by indigestion. When the stomach cannot digest food, the system of the body is out of order, but when the digestive apparatus is restored to its normal condition, the peace of mind seems to make a man cheerful.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets mix with the food you eat. The stomach, by its peristaltic action, churns and moves the food around the stomach walls, the powerful ingredients in these tablets instantly begin digesting the food as they are forced through it and around it.

These tablets regulate the strength of gastric juices. If there is too much acid or alkali, then Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets reduce or dilute these evil conditions and soothe the stomach walls, the powerful ingredients in these tablets instantly begin digesting the food as they are forced through it and around it.

FINLEY DISCUSSES RAILWAY PROBLEMS
Southern Railway Chief Analyzes Conditions in Address at National Conservation Exposition.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 21.—President Finley, of the Southern Railway company, who was one of the speakers at the "Railway Day" celebration at the National Conservation exposition in Knoxville, today spoke on "The Regulation of the Railways to Southeastern Development."

Citing census statistics showing the great and rapid development of the section and the relation between this development and railway facilities as shown by the traffic statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission, he said: "While in some localities new railway construction will be needed, I believe that the most urgent need will be in the enlargement of the facilities of existing railway lines by the provision of additional trackage and equipment, in 1900 the railway system of the southeast, considered as a whole, was substantially a single-track system. The point has already been reached where the commerce of the section can no longer be handled on single-track railways and the increased efficiency of operation to which I have referred has largely been made possible by the construction of second tracks on the more congested parts of the lines and by the multiplication of passing tracks and the enlargement of terminal yards. In the ten years from 1900 to 1910 the length of second track on the railways of the southeast increased from 264 miles to 1,740 miles, or 553.8 per cent. Great as this percentage increase is, it represents a doubling of second track on a small proportion of the railway mileage of the southeast, as is shown by a comparison with the states north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of Illinois, in which there were in 1910, 13,446 miles of second track, 1,933 miles of third track and 4,264 miles of fourth track. A double-track railway is many times as efficient as a single-track railway and, if the interests of the southeast are not to be put at a disadvantage, as compared with those of other sections, in the marketing of their products, the work of double-track construction must continue."

Railway Wages Boost Trade.
As another aspect in which the railways of the southeast may well be considered as business institutions, Mr. Finley enumerated their wage-paying and purchasing power, through which money is constantly being distributed in all parts of the southeast, quickly finding its way into the local channels of trade and benefiting every line of business, the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission showing that the

We are delighted with the values. You will be, too, when you see them. Over 500 suits have been added to these purchases from our own carefully selected stock. ALL go on sale—no reserve—today at 8 a. m. These are the very best suit values ever offered in Atlanta at this time of year.

en's Political Union of Newark, N. J., he will not take part in any street gathering where Mrs. Pankhurst appears without taking the opportunity to denounce militant methods. A letter was in response to an invitation to speak in Newark Saturday night.

"While I am most anxious to assist in the cause," wrote Senator Borah, "I will not be silent or by the most indirect way, seem to endorse the vicious principles which have been introduced here for woman suffrage in other countries."

Senator Borah has not decided whether he will attend the meeting. Big Suffrage Campaign Planned.

New York, October 21.—Women will talk for twenty-four hours continuously in a public square of Brooklyn tomorrow as part of a big suffrage campaign being waged in that section this week.

The record-breaking speedmaking effort will take place under the auspices of the Women's Political Union, which will station speakers at the junction of Flatbush and Atlantic avenues, near the subway terminal and Long Island railroad station, at 7 o'clock this section of the city, from which and from their work. The present plan is to start the oratory at 7 o'clock Friday evening and to continue with relays until 7 o'clock Saturday night. Fourteen women have been enrolled as speakers.

The New Critics Mrs. Pankhurst.
Baltimore, Md., October 21.—The militant methods of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst were criticized by Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, in an address before the Just Government League here this afternoon. Mrs. Shaw made it clear that her disapproval rested chiefly on grounds of expediency.

It is thought I could get the ballot for the women of this country by going out and smashing mail boxes, I would do it, said Dr. Shaw. "If a government does not stand for what is good and just, it should be overthrown by any means. But when one attempts to use physical force they are at a disadvantage."

Dr. Shaw said Mrs. Pankhurst was an example of consecration and devotion to a cause that rarely had been equalled, but she believed the English woman had injured woman suffrage in England and hindered it in this country.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT KNOCKED IN REPORT

President Wilmer Moore Refuses to Give Out Russell Sage Foundation Report.

A part of the report of the Russell Sage foundation survey of the health conditions of Atlanta, made last summer has been received by Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, which instituted this survey. Mr. Moore states that the report will be referred to the chamber of commerce committee on the social survey, of which R. L. Foreman is chairman, to be digested by it before its contents are made public.

Mr. Foreman stated Tuesday that he would not be able to give out this report for publication until it had been received in its entirety. There remains yet another installment of the health report and a report on the school conditions to be made by the Russell Sage foundation representatives. Mr. Foreman said that the remainder of the report is expected in a few days, and that as soon as this arrives it will be made public without waiting for the receipt of the report on schools.

Report Not Sensational. Regarding the published statement that the health report is sensational, Mr. Foreman was much surprised and said that there was nothing sensational in the report received. "Of course," he said, "there may be parts of the report which many people of Atlanta will disagree with. There may be criticisms of this or the other feature of the city's health conditions, but if health conditions in Atlanta were altogether perfect there would have been no need of calling in these experts to tell us what we need. Mr. Foreman declined to divulge any of the details of the report.

Will Be Made Public. This report and the report on school conditions will be made public in their entirety with a statement from the chamber of commerce committee. The committee has digested the report.

time before the copies are submitted. The copies of the report will be sent to the press at the same time they are sent to the officials.

DETECTIVES PROBE CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Capt. Burke Offers to Furnish Counsel for Shirley With Address of Joe Hicks in Birmingham.

Also suspecting a plot in the weird story of Ira W. Fisher, the Birmingham writer, Captain C. W. Burke, who brought the man to Atlanta for Rosser & Brandon, has offered to give to the Atlanta police department the address of Joe Hicks, who is sought as an accomplice of Fisher in the alleged conspiracy to blackmail J. C. Shirley.

Captain Burke Puzzled.

"I am at a loss to account for the whole affair," he declared. "It could have been caused by anything. I would not be surprised at whatever account Howard gives. The Birmingham police had no connection with the conspiracy to blackmail, I am willing to share toward running it down.

Will Send Man to Birmingham.

Plans are being made by counsel for J. C. Shirley to send a private investigator to Birmingham to probe the connection of Joe Hicks with Ira W. Fisher, which would result in the release of Shirley, which would result in the release of Shirley, which would result in the release of Shirley.

Fisher Professed Religious.

Coogler, at one time, was Fisher's spiritual adviser. That was when the man was under probation from drunk and disorderly conduct which he had created at home during the latter part of 1912. Fisher professed religion, Mr. Coogler says, and strove to throw off the shackles of drink.

Later, when Coogler talked with the man, Fisher seemed to be a very sober now, and retaining his normal sense. Then, I'm satisfied he will tell the truth of the whole business.

"Very well, Ira," said Coogler as he stepped from the cell, "whenever you need me, don't hesitate to call on me."

Chief Lanford says that Fisher is endeavoring to shield Joe Hicks in some manner, and is trying to get the mysterious "witness" who is telling of Hicks accompanying him to the office of the chief of police, dining with him, Lanford pressed him closely regarding the alleged "accomplice."

Conspiracy Theory.

"I believe this is a conspiracy and nothing else," said the chief. "It fell down purely because of Fisher's inability to tell a plausible tale and supply the necessary details. He is a clever fellow—that much is plain—and he can't undergo cross-examination, and get away with it."

Attorney Graham intimates strongly that the case will be put before the grand jury. Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey said, however, that Graham is not a candidate for the office of the chief of police.

Fisher does not want bond. He says he does not care to be liberated. As the case of the prisoner's accusation, he is unable to pay bond, but one Tuesday than at any other time since he first told his story.

Rosser and Arnold are through with Fisher. They have literally washed their hands of the case. The connection in any respect will be to pay his return fare to Birmingham, which will be omitted by Burke, when the man was brought to Atlanta. Burke, in talking to reporters, said he would not be able to catch Fisher in a single falsehood.

Hicks Not Located.

Birmingham, Ala., October 21.—(Special)—William J. Hicks, a man without which to arrest him, Chief of Police Rodolphe said tonight that he had not located Hicks in Birmingham. He said he had turned Fisher and his statement over on what it was worth to the grand jury, but the chief said he did not believe Hicks was in Birmingham.

Ursus in Great Photo Drama Was a Wrestler, Not an Actor

"Among the most interesting characters in George Kleine's marvelous photo drama 'Quo Vadis,' now on at the Grand, daily at 8, and on at 10 o'clock, at popular prices—10 cents in the afternoon, 25 cents at night—none is more interesting than Ursus, the audacious slave so thoroughly devoted to his mistress, Lygia, that he completely realizes in his appearance, height and muscular power, all that our mind pictures of the physical giant who, in the photo drama, is seen to a huge bull asunder. The physical giant was not an actor until he posed for this photo drama.

When the Cines stare directors cast the play they found no difficulty in securing great actors for the various characters of the story. The only one who was blocked, they were about to give up in despair, when one of the directors happened to run across Castellani, who was earning a living as a wrestler and had jumped suddenly into prominence by throwing two of the largest and most powerful Kings of the mat in Stelly.

WEALTHY LOVER FOR MRS. EATON

Alleged She Boasted Chicago Man Was Infatuated With Her—Mrs. Eaton and Mysterious Baby.

Plymouth, Mass., October 21.—A reference to a wealthy lover in Chicago of Mrs. Eaton, who wanted Mrs. Jennie May Eaton to leave her husband, was introduced today by the prosecution as showing a possible motive in the trial of Mrs. Eaton charged with the murder of her husband Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton.

The evidence was given in the testimony of Mrs. Marshall Bursey, of Washington, D. C., who said that eight months before the admiral's death Mrs. Eaton told her of the Chicago man and his proposal.

Mrs. Eaton told the witness that Admiral Eaton had attacked her several times at night and at one time she was obliged to find him injecting medicine into her arm.

Mrs. Eaton also said, according to Mrs. Bursey, that she was going to the morning session with an expert and in the evening she had a man put away. During her stay in Washington the witness said, Mrs. Eaton received much mail postmarked Chicago.

Mrs. Sarah R. DuCher, a clerk in the Bureau of Children and Guardians in Washington, said that while calling the attention of the district court to a case of Mrs. Eaton, she was not receiving proper attention.

How Mrs. Eaton tried to trail her husband's footsteps by scattering talcum powder on the attic stairs, at the morning session was described by Frank B. Booth, a Rockland optician.

Mrs. William Mazouze told of a strange preparation which Mrs. Eaton used for the purpose of scattering talcum powder on the stairs leading to the attic in the hope of tracing her husband's steps.

Admiral Eaton No Flihr. Mrs. Grace E. Booth and Mrs. Maude Powers, two sisters employed in Rockland bakery, testified that Admiral Eaton never tried to flirt with them. Mrs. Eaton had complained of her husband's alleged attentions to the sisters.

Mrs. Abbie C. Cottrell, who kept house for the Eatons for a time, when Mrs. Eaton was not living with her husband, testified she had never seen any signs of liquor on the admiral nor any indication that he was of unsteady mind.

When court adjourned for the night many of the women auditors left in automobiles, scores of which surrounded the court building all day. District Attorney Barker said the state probably will rest its case tomorrow after five more witnesses have been examined. The defense expects to occupy three or four days.

HEED GOETHALS.

The Panama canal is today nearing completion because there is and has been a benevolent despot on the job. That despot is Colonel Goethals.

The marvelous tales of his ability have been corroborated. His skill as an engineer stands proven. His genius as a taskmaster and an administrator is even more pronounced.

On that narrow and crooked strip he has met and conquered every problem that will ever develop in Panama. His judgment is mature because it is the judgment of a man who has given his vitality and his clear voyant unreservedly to a mission the world had heretofore seen unequalled in history.

THE MUCKRAKER'S TRAIL.

One may not sympathize with the political views of Henry Cabot Lodge, but there is no gainsaying the accuracy of his description of the damage done by the muckraker.

I know the present tone is that any man who has money is prima facie a criminal, and that any man who has been successful in any way falls under suspicion. But here has been in this country for many years a great deal of honest success honestly won.

The one criticism one may make of Lodge's definition is that it is couched in the present tense. We do not believe there exists now in this country the bitterness and causeless jealousy that once animated the viewpoint of the poor toward the rich.

Uncle Sam was the first to answer Mrs. Pankhurst's "ad" for a press agent. As it isn't so important to keep a vice president on the job, if Mr. Marshall is denied an auto he may go lecturing for carfare.

today the Croesus of next week. That knowledge makes for understanding and the rejection of insane counsel. The past ten years will go down to history as the era of the muckraker. He was a sort of parasitic growth on the healthful movement for more purity in business and in politics.

The harm he wrought is depicted by Senator Lodge. It has, to an extent, survived him, as devilment always has a trick of doing. But as in Lanier's poem, good is coming "out of a stain." From the venom of the muckraker is growing the white flower of a finer understanding.

THE FOXY PRESIDENT.

It would be not in the least surprising if the procedure finally ending in the admission of the militant Mrs. Pankhurst were not the result of a "gentlemen's agreement" between the federal officials.

Talk as we please about the rights of world citizens and especially the rights of women there is still such a thing as international comity. However harmless and denatured Mrs. Pankhurst may be in this country, she is a lioness with claws and teeth in Great Britain.

Obviously the advance parties for the United States could not admit such a person to this country without a murmur. That would violate all international canons.

So the immigration board hands Mrs. Pankhurst a stiff rebuff, and bids her pack her trunk. That placates John Bull. Then along comes the president, and, in substance rescinds the board's action.

NEWS IN PUBLICITY.

The Boston Globe strikes the keynote of the publicity of today when it says that advertising not only pays but its value as news is coming to be more and more appreciated.

The newspaper reader, on the other hand, is coming to regard the advertising columns of his morning journal with almost as critical and eager an eye as that which casts upon the news columns.

A study, for example, of the advertising columns of The Constitution any morning will verify this assertion. Up to date advertisers keep close track of what is going on. They have a real affection for and keen interest in the community.

The Globe also touches a fundamental truth when it says that the advertiser today appreciates as never before the value of truth in publicity. Just as the old procedure of deception in man to man dickering are increasingly unpopular, so deception from the advertiser to the prospective customer is becoming unpopular.

Just From Georgia

The Day We Went to Jayville. The day we went to Jayville we danced the sun to rest. We went to the stars and whirled at their best. And by that stirring music through the merry mazes led. The world went spinning round us—we danced the stars to bed.

(A whirl it was amazing— Joy, till then, untold. But faithfully the fiddler Stretched his broad palms for gold.)

"O truly we are citizens of Joy's immortal town! Bring all the troubles of the world and here we'll dance them down." Sorrow but an idle dream, we've had a life to live. Take all the thrilling pleasure that a dance-world world can give!

(We dance to fill the fiddler's purse. The gold-coins gleaming bright. And still the fiddler claims the gold Or all the stars of night.)

Then, wearily we went our way, the dancing time was o'er. The music woke the echoes and thrilled our hearts no more. Companions on the weary way, beneath the new-born skies, Dust from the fiddler's carriage-wheels was whirled in boggars' eyes.

(A-shiver on the highway. To face the storms that fall. The fiddling man—he knew us not. Dusty boggars all!)

THE BILLVILLE PHILOSOPHER

I'm not on the anxious bench about where the country's going to. What I'm trying to find out is just where I'll fetch up myself, and if I'll be nimble enough to dodge when they are swatting the fellows after roll call.

The Fire-Raisers. The folks that hear the glory bells—the ones we so admire. You wish that in the wintry time they'd set the world on fire! Would every one on icy days—the world of the lands. Where all the shivering world could come and warm its freezing hands.

Men with "The Fire of Genius"—when storm flags are unfurled. Should beat the coal trust to it and warm a woodless world. They speak in fiery periods and raise the roof amazing which is what makes me curious. I've been outen a job for a long-and I would like to serve my country for wages—but not down here, where they'd keep a eye on you and expect a $4 officeholder to do 40-horsepower work.

Sermon to Br'er Possum. Possum up dat 's'immon tree. On you I calls de time. Fer I wuz bo'n wid bowlegs. An knows des how ter climb. Long time I study. Ter know whar you wuz at. And dar you wuz, a-feedin'. "Tweel you got rollin'-fat!"

Nat Strange, After All. "There's Mrs. Pankhurst," said the Billville man, who had to come all the way to America to speak her mind and yet that's nothing when you come to think of it, for I know of husbands in this community who would have to go all the way to England to speak their mind."

"A Real Dead One." There's no better description of a dead town than that of the Pleasant Valley correspondent. "A man from Kansas City was down here the other day to take some motion pictures, but he failed to find anything moving."

An Extra Warm Number. When the miller announced that he would call up the spirit of the Billville widow's husband that lady said "You'd best open all the windows first. The rooms too hot now."

The Lunch. A Gothic window, where a damask curtain Made the blank daylight shadowy and uncertain. A slab of rosewood on four eagle talons Held trimly up and neatly tauged to balance. A porcelain dish, o'er which in many a cluster Black grapes hung down, dead ripe and without luster.

A melon, cut in thin, delicious slices, A cake that seemed mosaic work in spices; Two china cups with golden tulips sunny, And rich inside with chocolate like honey. And she and I the banquet scene completing With dreamy words and fingers shyly meeting.

—THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT WATSON, The Famous Lovers Poet. APPROACH OF WINTER. "In the forest fastnesses," remarked the wild man of the woods, "it doesn't require much effort to forget about most things in nature such as I inhabit is easily heated, and my fuel is lying around me on every hand I gather it up and have no exorbitant bills to pay."

"It is far, far different in the busy haunts. Well do I remember how I used to shudder with dread when the signs and token in nature indicated the coming of winter."

"But she was a woman you couldn't respect with almost faultless in other respects. she was as soft in her opinions that trying to break her was like hammering duster down a brick wall with a feather duster."

"Then the furnace had to be fixed. The furnace didn't need fixing, but it had to be overhauled. I was just going to remark that the furnace was in excellent shape. So I had to take down all the pipes and carry them outdoors and belabor them to get the soot out, and then put them back in place again."

"The furnace clean. She would relate all these trifling stories, with their glib details. If I ventured to remark that the furnace was in excellent shape. So I had to take down all the pipes and carry them outdoors and belabor them to get the soot out, and then put them back in place again."

The World's Mysteries

WHO WERE WASHINGTON'S ANCESTORS? Because the names of John and Lawrence Washington are constantly repeated in all the generations of Washingtons for centuries, it has been a difficult task to trace the English ancestry of George Washington, the first president of the United States.

The American ancestry of the great general is clearly established, but the mooted points in his English ancestry not long ago led to a scholarly research by Henry F. Waters, A. M., whose findings are generally accepted.

George Washington was the son of Augustine Washington, the latter being the son of Lawrence Washington who was born in Virginia. The great-grandfather of George Washington was John Washington, who emigrated to America about 1657, aged twenty-four, and became a planter in Virginia.

This John was accompanied to America by his brother, Lawrence, aged twenty-two, who English ancestry was not long ago led to a scholarly research by Henry F. Waters, A. M., whose findings are generally accepted.

REVENGE.

By GEORGE FITZCH, Author of "At Good Old Swab." Revenge is the process of making an enemy feel as bad as he has made you feel. In other words, Revenge is the business of getting your own back.

Revenge is the process of making an enemy feel as bad as he has made you feel. In other words, Revenge is the business of getting your own back. It is not a very business-like process, because the Revenger is never satisfied with paying back the exact amount. He would much rather pay double. In fact, the man who goes into the wholesale and retail revenge business always tries to charge himself 200 per cent interest annually. If a man gave him a black eye a year ago he hopes this year to give said man two black eyes. A scrambled ear and a pancake nose.

Revenge is a difficult business and requires a good memory. When a man goes into the Revenge business he first accumulates an enemy and then waits to pay his enemy back, uttering a low hissing sound meanwhile, whenever he thinks of him. Sometimes he hisses for years before he gets a chance to place his heel on his enemy's caved-in wishbone and exclaim, "Ha, R-r-r-revenge!" But waiting is part of the game. When a man has corded up eight or ten enemies and is saving a good dose of the same for each of them he has little time to do anything but wait and hear. The world is, in fact, afflicted with a large number of citizens who haven't done anything but wait for Revenge for years.

The American Indian, when discovered, was a stalwart, agile man with a good mind and fine prospects. But the white man's specialty. He never forgot a wrong, and he always paid back the doer. Consequently while the American settler was raising corn, the American Indian was crawling through the underbrush on his elbows and knees trying to get the best of the best of some other Indian, who had called him a bad word seventeen years ago. This is partially why the American settler now runs the world while the American Indian toddles up to the agency once a week for beef, and cuts no figure whatever in the election returns.

"HA-R-R-REVENGE" (Illustration of a man with a large nose and a small body, looking angry.)

"Sometimes he hisses for years before he gets a chance to place his heel on his enemy's caved-in wishbone."

Some men's memories are so bad that they cannot do anything in the Revenge line at all. They are forever designing a horrid fate for some enemy and then mistaking his name for the name of some other. Indeed, if only a passion for Revenge was always accompanied by a bad memory, the mortality statistics of this land would come down on the run.

A Young Man's Recreation Creed. Rev Herbert A. Jump, Pastor, Oakland, Cal. First—I will never patronize an entertainment that brutalizes man or shames a woman.

Second—I will always do some part of my playing in the open air. Third—I will not be merely a lazy spectator of sport, I will taste for myself its zest and thrill.

Fourth—I will avoid over-ammusement as I know that I may be saved from over-work.

Fifth—I will choose the amusements that my wife can share.

Sixth—I will not spend Sunday in caring for my body, hence I shall not much that I forget my soul and its relation to God's kingdom.

Seventh—I will never spend on pleasure money that belongs to other aspects of my life.

Eighth—I will remember to enjoy a boy's sports again when my boy needs me as a chum.

Ninth—I will recollect that play should be for the sake of my mind as well as for my body, hence I shall not use those forms of entertainment that deal with ideas.

Tenth—I will never let play serve as the end of existence, but always it shall be used to make pleasure a better workman and a richer soul.

MANY AMENDMENTS TO MONEY MEASURE

Practically Certain the Proposed Changes Will Have Approval of President Wilson.

Maturity of Paper. Senators Brewster, Hitchcock, Reed and Nelson have shown an inclination to extend the length of the maturity of a certain percentage of the paper...

More Definite Provisions. In that connection the committee will make more definite the provisions relating to state banks and trust companies...

Another suggested amendment would limit reserve banks in their dealings to the present collection system for personal checks unchanged.

Two Witnesses Discussed. Two witnesses discussed the administration bill before the senate committee today.

Mr. Morawitz objected to the provision in the federal reserve bill which would lead to sectional political demands for rediscunt and result in bad management of the regional banks.

It would scatter the reserves of the currency in various banks, he said, but would locate under the domination of a central board appointed by the president.

Senator O'Gorman remarked during the examination that no "barrister political considerations" had entered in any way into the framing of the currency bill.

Encourage American Talent Urges Editor Musical America

An audience which filled the ballroom at the Capital City club heard John C. Freund, editor of Musical America, last night in an address which sounded a strong appeal for the recognition and encouragement of American musical talent, not simply because it is American, but because it is talented.

His appearance in Atlanta, under the auspices of the Atlanta Musical Association, was in the course of a tour of American cities in which he will put to the people personally what is planned to be a national movement looking to America's artistic independence.

The real theme of his address was led up to by a recital of personal experience and reminiscences of musical persons and conditions in his pioneer days which were interesting in themselves and valuable in establishing his authority to predict and advise for the future in the light of the progress he has seen in the past.

"That there is no justifiable basis for the prevailing prejudice against American music and musicians was his contention, and opera in New York was one of the instruments to prove his convictions. For there must be the fashionable element in the audience, which has seen the best of everything elsewhere, who must have the best of talent. Frenchmen who must have music, Germans who must have music, and other nationalities who demand above all things fervor and certainly the singer who satisfies this audience could easily be found here."

He quoted figures showing that America spends annually six hundred million dollars in music, the largest part of which is for education, the next largest for musical instruments, which means that the country which has the available talent that is in our own doors, Germany, France, Italy, England, and Russia, are looking around in our own country for eligible material. "No," he immediately called to Europe, "we are not going to look for our musical leaders right here, why cannot we encourage our own artists? We must encourage them."

But his conclusion was optimistic. "Just as this country has won its own independence politically, industrially and financially, so it must win its independence artistically."

European domination and the wrong attitude of the American public towards their own talent are the chief obstacles in the way, and he declared that his address is part of a crusade to change it.

He was introduced by Mrs. John M. Slaton, president of the musical association, and his arguments were given a most hearty response.

DR. ARCH ELKIN WEDS MISS AMELIA STURGEON

The marriage of Miss Amelia Sturgeon and Dr. Arch Elkin was a beautiful event of last night, taking place at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, in Ansley Park.

Miss Fannie May Otley was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Jennie D. Harris and Hortense Jones, of Asheville. Mrs. Edwin Moritz, of New York, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Charles Collier were matrons of honor. Mr. A. D. Adair, Jr., was Dr. Elkin's best man.

The ideal of girlish charm in her wedding costume, the bride entered the drawing room with Mr. Collier. She wore a white brocade crepe gown, the corsage draped with lace, and orange blossoms were caught in her veil. Her bouquet was of orchids showered with valley lilies.

The matrons of honor wore white charmeuse draped with lace and their bouquets were showers of bride roses and valley lilies. The maids of honor were gowned in pink taffeta the skirt draped over gold lace, and the finish in fur. The bridesmaids wore white tulle over white charmeuse, and they carried pink rosebuds.

The drawing room was made into a bower of foliage with smilax, palms and ferns, and an altar arrangement of palms, with cathedral candelabra, had clusters of Easter lilies as an effective finish. Overhead was a canopy of smilax lined with pink roses, through which shone electric lights, and it was fringed with lilies of the valley.

A string orchestra played during the evening, and incident to the ceremony was an appropriate selection for the hour.

Throughout the house there was artistic decoration in palms which were massed luxuriantly, and baskets of pink roses. The punch table was set on the porch, which was enclosed and made an indoor palm garden, and a buffet supper was served.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Wilkinson and the Misses Wilkinson, of Carey, N. C.; Miss Annie Sturgeon, of Raleigh; Mrs. Edwin Moritz, of New York, and Miss Hortense Jones, of Asheville.

Dr. and Mrs. Elkin went to Florida on their wedding trip, and returning, they make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Collier.

The bride, whose home was in North Carolina, has the character and the social graces which have established her during a brief residence here in the admiration of many friends, and Dr. Elkin is deeply interested in the splendid young men in his profession and in club life. Coming to Atlanta from Lexington, Ky., he is a noted physician here and in New York, and he has won a prominent place among Atlanta's successful young physicians.

Indeed, I am devoting all my activity and all my means to the best ideals of the theater, as you know. But after all, it is to the theater-goer we must look for the real elevation of standards of morals and taste, and judging from the demands of the theater-goer at present, the supply must be of a deplorably low quality. We have never before needed so greatly better standards among theater-goers. We of the theatrical profession are entirely in their hands. Deputies Foster, Hunter and Bob Deaton were gotten up against him in continued independent inquiries, however, and discovered that the Tcheberiak children became ill at what they and other children were beginning to be frequently questioned. Denies His Statement.

The juror also denies a statement of J. Lehigh, who declared that on the train, near Experiment station, Henslee expressed his belief in Frank's guilt. Henslee swears that on the occasion mentioned he was not within 200 miles of Atlanta or Experiment station.

In answering the statements of Shi Gray, S. M. Johnson and John M. Hines of Sparta, who stated that after Henslee had been served with notice that he was drawn on the Frank jury venire that he was in Sparta and expressed animus against Frank, the juror declares that he was not there at the time Henslee states he came to Atlanta from Athens on July 25 and received his jury notice that night at 74 1/2 street, West End, and did not leave town until after the trial.

Juror Johnning, the other one of twelve attacked by the defense, denied the statement made by H. C. Lovanhart that he expressed belief in Frank's guilt.

EDUCATION BOARD MEETS TOMORROW

Crowded Conditions in City's Schools Will Be Main Matter to Be Discussed at This Meeting.

No bigger preparations have been made for, and no more interest was ever manifested in, the meeting of the board of education than that which attaches to the meeting to be held Thursday. The conditions existing in a number of the schools, which have been exposed by the Constitution, have attracted the citizens of Atlanta into action, and a large delegation from various women's clubs, civic improvement leagues and other bodies will be on hand at the meeting to demand that some decided action be taken at once to relieve the situation.

Indignation Manifested.

Great indignation is manifested on the part of a large number of citizens for the reason that the requests of the board, and of others, to the council asking for relief, have apparently been ignored, and these persons most impatiently demand that some definite answer be given to their appeals.

The conditions exposed in the crusade in which it has been shown that a large number of young children are compelled to sit in basement rooms, in some cases with noxious and deadly fumes from neighboring toilets pervading the atmosphere which the little ones breathe, and, in extreme instances, where the children are required to work out their studies by artificial light, from small gas fixtures which are entirely inadequate to properly light the rooms and which will, in time, destroy the delicate eye tissues of the youngsters, and any number of other fearful and barbaric conditions, have stirred the people to a realization of the peril threatening their children, and the whole town is up in arms.

Finance Committee Meets.

The finance committee of the board will meet tomorrow, and much importance attaches to this meeting; also it is thought that the committee will recommend radical action by the board in making their future demands for money to council. It is said, on good authority, that the committee will recommend at Thursday's board meeting that the board at once demand of council the authorization of funds for the building of school houses in East Atlanta, on Spring street and at Howell's station, in northwest Atlanta, and that the money be transferred from one district to another, the situation can, for the present, be handled.

IN FINED FOR "CUSSING" PHYSICIANS AT GRADY

A. F. COX, a city attaché, answered the charge of having insulted physicians at Grady hospital Monday morning when arrested by Recorder Broyles yesterday afternoon. Cox claimed that he went to Grady hospital to inquire about his negro cook who had been operated on. He was told by the physicians that they had not even seen his cook. As to just what was said, it is a matter of record only. The nurses and physicians in court swore that Cox proceeded to "cuss" them out, declaring he just knew his cook was in the hospital. Judge Broyles fined Cox $10.75.

Pathetic Story Is Revealed By Action of the Governor In Freeing Slayer on Parole

In the parole by Governor Slaton late yesterday afternoon of Aristide Franzoni, a Picken county marble worker, who was doing a term of ten years in the penitentiary for manslaughter, there came to light one of the most pathetic cases with which the prison authorities have had to deal.

Franzoni was a member of the Italian colony, imported to do a high-class of skilled labor in the Tate marble works. He had been in this country some ten or twelve years, was a married man, sober and industrious, and highly esteemed by his employers. He was the father of a girl named Laura, who was just developing into a beautiful young woman of the Italian type, the father was naturally passionately fond. Another Italian of the colony, C. Crocchetti, conceived a passion for the child which, it seems, she returned. Crocchetti did not bear a good reputation among his fellow workers.

Why Father Was Convicted.

The father, who was opposed to the match from the outset, made an investigation of the sutor's past career and found that he was an escaped convict from Massa, Italy, where, after having served a term of ten years for minor offenses, he had been convicted on January 24, 1907, of assault with intent to murder and sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude. In addition to this, he was said to have been a deserter from the Italian army. After he had done all in his power to save his daughter from the hands of the ex-convict, Franzoni determined, for a last resort, to send the girl back to Italy, having carefully saved his wages for several months to pay her fare.

On the morning that the girl was to leave nearly all of the Italian colony, including Crocchetti, assembled at the little railroad station to bid her farewell. The father was to accompany her as far as Atlanta. Crocchetti was in a violent humor, and after cursing the father and otherwise abusing him, he ended by seizing the girl by the arm and applying to her a vile epithet in Italian. This was more than Franzoni could stand, and he shot Crocchetti from the platform onto the railroad track below. As the man started to rise, Franzoni drew his gun and made a motion as if to draw a pistol, when Franzoni drew his gun and began firing. A terrible hubbub ensued in the excited little crowd, and in the melee Franzoni shot and killed Hugo Fassani and gave a flesh wound to his own brother, who, it is said, was wrestling with the man who was killed.

Crocchetti ran to an adjoining house, where he is said to have disposed of his pistol. The evidence was not clear as to whether Fassani was killed by mistake for Crocchetti, or whether Franzoni deliberately aimed at him. There was evidence that he was engaged in the fight on Crocchetti's side, as the latter was a boarder of his.

Franzoni Convicted.

Franzoni was arrested July 6, 1911, and at the following September term of court was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. He was assigned to work the roads in Cherokee county not far from his home, and his conduct, soon became a trusty and won the entire confidence of the convict guards, as Franzoni was their esteem for him in his loneliness, as he was unable to speak a word of English, that they allowed his wife and other members of his family to visit him at regular intervals.

Franzoni's release on parole was recommended by the prison authorities, his former employers and a large number of the best citizens of Picken county. At the conclusion of a statement written by the governor in issuing a parole, he says: "The circumstances show that this defendant was not a bad man, but, in the protection of his daughter, he indicated his intention to murder, I, therefore, approve the recommendation of the prison commission and order his parole, on condition that he observe the law in such cases."

"Rutherford and Son" Holds Drama League Spellbound

The Atlanta center of the Drama League of America met in the parlors of the Georgian Terrace hotel Tuesday afternoon and listened with keenest interest to the reading of the English play, "Rutherford and Son," written by Githa Sowerby.

Mrs. William Claire Spiker, president of the Atlanta branch of the national organization, read the manuscript of the new drama, her auditors visualizing the play easily from her talented translation of the action of over 150 members of the Drama league attended the meeting. Mrs. John K. Ottley will read Grandville Barker's "The Voyage Interview" on October 28, before the league members at the Georgian Terrace.

Who'll Give This Man Work? Makes Upright, Manly Plea

W. Leroy Jones, an inmate of the insane asylum at Milledgeville, is seeking a chance to "come back." "No, he is not a pugilist. Nor is he a 'has been' athlete. He is a man—or at least he was a man before he fell a victim to the dreaded drug curse. He was sent to the asylum as a 'doper'."

"My bridges are burned behind me and I want to make a clean start," he frankly writes Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church.

"And I'm a teetotaler," he adds.

Jones wants a job. He is 46 years old, and is said to be an efficient office man or clerk, and can hold down a position where brains and intelligence are required.

"My bridges are burned behind me, and I want to make a clean start. If you have any faith in human sinners, give me a chance. I'll make good."

"W. LEROY JONES."

MRS. KEEFER IS SUED BY BRICK COMPANY

Another suit was brought yesterday in superior court against Mrs. Grace Macy Keefe, who was refused temporary alimony two weeks ago from David H. Keefe, after a sensational hearing in which she accused Keefe of improper acts before her 16-year-old daughter, Eleanor Macy.

The South River Brick company asked a judgment against Mrs. Keefe's property at 797 Piedmont avenue. The plaintiff cites that Mrs. Keefe owes a thirty-day note of $227.07, dated September 1, of this year, and also owes $34.40 for brick. Attorney E. D. Thomas filed the claim.

EASY CHANGE When Coffee Is Doing Harm.

A lady writes from the land of cotton of the results of a four years' use of the food beverage, Postum.

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I suffered almost death from indigestion and nervousness."

"I know it was coffee, because when I would leave it off for a few days, I would feel better. But it was hard to give coffee up, even though I realized how harmful it was to me."

"At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum and I also influenced the rest of the family to do the same."

"Even the children are allowed to drink it as freely as they do water. And it has done us a great good. I no longer suffer from indigestion, and my nerves are in admirable tone since I began to use Postum. We never use coffee any more."

"We appreciate Postum as a delightful and healthful beverage, which not only invigorates but supplies the best of nourishment as well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ATLANTA IS TOO SLOW SHE WILL GO TO MACON

Mrs. C. E. Russell, of 91 Armstrong street, was arrested before Recorder Nash R. Broyles yesterday afternoon charged with operating a rooming house without a license. Several vacuous inmates of the house who accompanied Mrs. Russell to court stated that they paid $10 per week for accommodation. Mrs. Russell was fined $25.75, and promised to leave town at once. Recorder Broyles just previous to imposing the fine informed Mrs. Russell that she had the option of the intended making her next home in Macon. Mrs. Russell, who is not bad to gaze upon, answered Judge Broyles' head "Well," said Judge Broyles, "Macon has reformed, and I advise you to go further—perhaps, to Savannah."

GEORGE TUTWILER DIES ON TRIP TO TAMPA, FLA.

W. J. Moos, of Charlotte, N. C., was charged in that city for the alleged stealing of a horse and buggy, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Detectives Black and Bullard at the Terminal hotel, and lodged in the station-house awaiting an officer from Charlotte. The Atlanta chapter of the Clemson Alumni association will hold its annual banquet at the University club on Saturday night, October 25, at 8 o'clock.

Many prominent men will be present, among them being Benjamin F. Tillman, United States senator from South Carolina; Dr. W. M. Riggs, Ph.D., M. S., president of the college; Dr. H. M. They will all come prepared to tell the Clemson alumni and the other graduates who will have come from all over the state just what is being accomplished at their alma mater, their hopes and plans for the coming year. Senator Tillman has always taken a deep interest in Clemson, and it is expected that his address will undoubtedly be the feature of the evening.

The local chapter has lost some of its prominent members during the course of the past year, among them being Claude H. Bell, general manager of the Buckeye Cotton Oil company, but several new members have been added, so that the organization is stronger at the present time than ever before.

The entertainment committee requests that all who expect to attend the banquet notify G. D. Garner, chairman of the entertainment committee, Southern Bell Telephone company, not later than Thursday evening, October 23.

The First Baptist church here has just called Rev. T. W. Callaway of Macon, as pastor, and there is a strong probability that he will accept. The call was extended unanimously last Sunday, but he has not yet announced his decision.

Two new pastors were formally welcomed by the people of the city at a union service of the churches of the city Sunday night last. They were Rev. W. J. Mott of the Christian church, and Rev. Herbert W. Robinson, of the Episcopal church.

COTTON DROPPED UNDER REALIZING Market Unsettled and Nervous During Session But Closed Steady at Net Decline of 21 to 25 Points.

New York, October 21.—The cotton market lost about half of yesterday's big advance during today's trading. Official weather advices reported a killing frost at many points in the eastern and central belts, following the extremely low temperatures reported west of the river on Monday, but the situation in this respect seemed the signal for more realizing than fresh buying and the market was nervous and unsettled during the entire day, with the close steady at a net loss of 21 to 25 points.

There appeared to be a lot of over-night buying orders around the ring at the start and it looked as though yesterday's buyers had determined to take profits on the publication of bad weather news from the eastern belt this morning.

First prices were easy at a decline of 4 points on October 21. To 18 to 20 points on later months. Cables were better than due, while the weather map indicated heavy rain and temperatures with some claiming that frosts were more general than ever.

The situation in this respect brought in enough fresh buying to cause a rally in the opening, but heavy realizing continued and, as prices eased off, the pressure against the market was increased by local operations and reaction which had the encouragement of prospects for warmer weather and bearish prices.

Trade buying, bull support or covering caused occasional bulges, but the market was lower and closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest point since October 18, at 6,950,000 bales, against 8,875,000 last year, and it was not until the close of the day that the cotton bureau placed it at 6,950,000 bales.

Net cotton steady, middling uplands, 14.10; gulf, 14.35. No sales.

New Orleans Cotton. New Orleans, October 21.—The cotton market was under a heavy pressure today from start to finish, but after prices eased a dollar and a half, the market showed some resistance of its own to a further decline.

Selling was for both accounts, bears claiming that the market was overvalued and the damage done in the cotton region by the local operations and reaction which had been somewhat too rapid and that a reaction was in order.

NEGRO IS DEBATED BY EPISCOPALIANS

Proposal to Group Negro Episcopalians Causes Clash in Convention—Separation Is Advocated.

New York, October 21.—A heated debate over the negro question in the south enlivened deliberations of the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church at today's session of the general convention.

A majority report by the committee on racial episcopate, with recommendations against the proposal to establish separate churches, dioceses, and bishops for southern negroes, was presented.

Amid a storm of discussion the house made consideration of both reports the order of business for the afternoon session tomorrow, limiting debate on each side to half an hour.

Violation of Customs. "The proposal is a radical violation of the principles and customs of diocesan union," asserts the majority report read by Dr. C. B. Bryan, of North Carolina.

positive separation and distinction between the two, in worship, and in all corporate, ecclesiastical activities, as well as in social life.

Separation in Plans. "This separation is plain and unmistakable in every southern diocese. In some dioceses, the colored clergy and laity are positively excluded from any membership or participation in the diocesan conventions or councils.

Loss of 16,000 Pupils Lost. A loss of more than 16,000 pupils within the last three years from the Sunday schools of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States was reported to the convention today by the committee on the state of the church.

Before the meeting today the deputies in executive session concurred in the selection of the five missionary bishops chosen by the state of bishops.

The white people and the negro people of the south, said the minority report, "cannot be dealt with by the church without a sharp and Jews Return Thanks. It was announced today that the house of deputies had received a letter from Rev. Dr. Pereira Mendes, president of the Union of Orthodox Jewish congregations, expressing his deep appreciation of the deputies' action in denouncing the charges of "ritualistic murders" against Jews in Russia.

No Vote to Suffragan Bishops. It was announced tonight that the house of bishops had voted adversely upon the proposal to give a vote in the election of suffragan bishops.

SUSTAINS POINT MADE BY WATSON

Trial of McDuffie Editor at Augusta Ends Suddenly When Indictment Against Him Is Quashed.

Augusta, Ga., October 21.—The trial here of Thomson E. Watson, charged with sending obscene matter through the mails, ended abruptly at noon today, when Federal Judge Rufus E. Foster sustained the motion of the defense quashing the indictment against the Georgia editor immediately upon the announcement of the court's ruling, there was a demonstration by the audience.

In directing that the indictment be quashed, Judge Foster said: "It appears in this indictment that the publications alleged to have been sent through the mails in violation of the law are extracts from a complete article. It is my opinion that the government is required to plead the entire article and is not entitled to pick out a few paragraphs here and there and make them the basis of an indictment."

He added that if the government were allowed to pursue such a course it would be possible to indict a person for sending through the mails a copy of the Bible. Judge Foster said that, in sustaining the motion of the defense, he was not ruling upon the question as to whether or not the articles were obscene, and that the government might at any time proceed to reindict.

Watson Argues Point. The specific point upon which the indictment was quashed was emphasized by Mr. Watson himself during his brief presentation of what he termed "other phases" of the case. He argued that if the indictment against him should stand, it would be necessary to hold men who send through the mails copies of the Bible, or the criminal code of Georgia, guilty of the same offense, because obscene words appear in both books.

United States district attorney. At this point Mr. Watson undertook the conduct of his case, delivering an impassioned argument in support of his claim that under the statute no paper or pamphlet can be prosecuted. He said that the law actually was aimed at persons sending through the mails literature dealing with the vicious and degrading use of drugs. Mr. Watson's talk was brief.

Fatal Hotel Fire. A general store, a restaurant and barber shop adjacent to the hotel also were destroyed. Defective wiring caused the fire.

BATTLESHIP OREGON TO LEAD CANAL FLEET

Washington, October 21.—Secretary Daniels formally announced today that the historic battleship Oregon, which made the famous trip around Cape Horn in the early Spanish-American war, will lead the great international fleet through the Panama canal, when the waterway is opened in 1915. The acceptance by the state of Oregon has not yet been formulated, Secretary Daniels will be aboard, and, in all probability, the state of Oregon will be suggested that all surviving officers, who served on the Oregon during the Spanish-American war, should be of duty when the battleship heads the procession through the canal. In this event, the Oregon will be commanded by Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, retired, now living in Washington.

The acceptance by the British foreign office of the invitation from the United States to send a squadron of warships to go through the canal with the international fleet, was conveyed today to Secretary Bryan through Ambassador Page. Great Britain is the first of the nations to accept the invitation to participate in a mobilization which will bring together Hampton Roads the greatest fleet ever assembled in American waters.

Britain to Send Warships. London, October 21.—Great Britain today accepted the invitation from the United States government to send representative vessels of the British navy to the gathering of the international fleet in Hampton Roads early in 1915. The fleet will celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway. The foreign office has turned over the arrangements as to the war vessels to be sent to Hampton Roads to the admiralty, with a recommendation that the British navy be "liberally represented."

The American ambassador, Walter H. Page, and the Japanese ambassador were the guests of honor at the Navy League banquet tonight. The company included the Earl of Selborne, Earl Erskine, Baron Amphil and several foreign naval attaches. Ambassador Page quoted Nelson's message after the battle of the Nile to the effect that he had the pleasure of commanding a band of brothers. "In this spirit," said the ambassador, "the United States decided the fleets would gather at Hampton Roads for the new mighty and impressive naval demonstration in the history of the world. Thence it will proceed through the canal to San Francisco."

United States District Attorney Akerman submitted a brief argument against the motion. He claimed that it was unnecessary to include the alleged objectionable articles in the indictment in their entirety, and that the indication of specific paragraphs was sufficient. It was at this point that Judge Foster terminated the trial by sustaining the motion dismissing the charge against Watson.

Case of the Defense. A preface to the list of opinions submitted by the defense in support of its motion, Mr. McLendon briefly outlined what he said was the foundation upon which the contention of the defense is based. "Our position," he said, "is that under federal jurisdiction, the press and speech are as free as the air. The press can deluge the land with filth if it so desires. The remedy lies with the people and not with congress. The press can describe the beauties of heaven or the horrors of perdition untrammeled, and congress be as helpless as an ivory image of Buddha.
