

ROTARY CLUB WILL RAISE $3,000 FUND TO HELP CHARITIES

Decision Made at Meeting on Tuesday at Noon Influenced Largely by Editorial in The Constitution. EACH MEMBER PLEDGED TO RAISE $100 OR MORE

Ivan Allen Gets Busy in Afternoon and Secures $422.50, Although Canvass Will Not Begin Until Today.

Following the editorial in The Constitution of Tuesday morning, describing the impending public calamity in the possible suspending of the operation of the Associated Charities unless money was raised, the members of the Rotary club of Atlanta at the Maitland hotel, mingled themselves to go out among the various businesses and professions, which each member represents in Atlanta, and raise $3,000 in subscriptions as an emergency fund to put the Associated Charities on its feet.

The urgency of the situation was described by E. O. Foster, A. S. Adams and Ivan E. Allen. Mr. Foster talked of the constructive value of the Associated Charities to Atlanta and the absolute necessity of keeping it alive.

Each member of the club will constitute himself a committee chairman to go out and see within the next two weeks every man, woman and child in the particular line of business which he represents. The subscriptions to this special fund will be payable in cash or check at once and made out to the Rotary club of Atlanta, $2,000 or more into the Associated Charities in a check or lump cash sum following the semi-monthly meeting two weeks from yesterday.

Other members of the Rotary club who were not present at the meeting have since agreed to aid in the work.

The following subscriptions were recorded Tuesday afternoon by Ivan Allen: J. T. Holliman, $25; Coca-Cola Bottling company, $10; Lindsay Hunkins, $50; John S. Owens, $25; J. G. Dudson, $25; cash, $2.50; Capital City Laundry, $25; Charles P. Byrd, $25; S. S. White Dental company, $50; Fred Hoyt, $10; George B. Allen, $25; Ivan E. Allen, $25. Total, $422.50.

SULZER BORROWED BUT NEVER REPAYED

So Contractor Reilly Tells Impeachment Managers—Tells of Big Loans to Sulzer That Were Never Returned.

New York, September 16.—Hugh J. Reilly, a contractor and railroad builder for the Cuban government, one of today's witnesses before the Sulzer board of impeachment managers, said he loaned Mr. Sulzer $10,000 in cash shortly after his nomination. Governor Sulzer, he said, still owed him this money, in addition to other loans, which brought his total indebtedness to Reilly up to $25,500.

Mr. Reilly was examined in private before the impeachment managers' attorney, and this is what he told the newspaper men he testified. Reilly was questioned regarding his dealings with Mr. Sulzer, when the latter was chairman of the foreign relations committee in the house of representatives, in connection with claims Reilly was pressing against the Cuban government.

"Sulzer asked me for a $10,000 loan just after he was nominated," said Reilly. "I paid him the money in cash in the presence of my wife. I didn't take any note for it. I had loaned him money before. He would pay me back in drafts, but when I gave him that $10,000 he bought a lot of goods for me up to $26,500, dating back over a long period. I told him not to get a swelled head just because he had been nominated. He promised to pay me back the next February. He never paid it, and still owes me $25,500."

Albany, N. Y., September 16.—Governor Sulzer and his counsel are busy preparing for the opening of the impeachment trial on Monday. Little time is left to get ready in the executive's office suite in the capitol, and conferences between counsel and the governor are held daily.

When the court of impeachment meets on Thursday various questions of procedure will have to be determined.

GRAY VETERAN TO RACE WITH A BLUE VETERAN

Trial of Speed for 100 Yards to Occur at Chattanooga Thursday.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 16.—The challenge for a foot race recently issued by Colonel J. L. Smith, aged 63, of Detroit, Mich., a union veteran, has been accepted by Private Mace, aged 80, a local Confederate veteran. The trial of speed will take place at Chamberlain field Thursday afternoon, according to announcement made today.

When Colonel Smith issued his challenge he also was quoted as claiming the veteran championship of the United States for a foot race any distance. Three other union veterans have announced that they will contest for championship honors with Colonel Smith in a 2-mile race. This race also will be run Thursday afternoon and the veterans have agreed to participate in the hundred-yard race so that the chances in the 3-mile race will be equal. These veterans are George W. Howe, aged 70, of Port Huron, Mich.; Colonel S. G. Barnes, aged 68, of Pittsburg, and William A. Heintson, aged 69, of Cleveland.

VICTORY FOR THAW IN FEDERAL COURT

U. S. Judge Aldrich Indefinitely Suspends Habeas Corpus Hearing—Case Likely to Go to U. S. Supreme Court.

Littleton, N. H., September 16.—Counsel for Harry Kendall Thaw laid today the foundation for plans to carry his case to the supreme court of the United States—if such a step is found necessary.

When the governor of New Hampshire passed on the matter of the extradition of Thaw to New York, at the hearing to be held at Concord on Tuesday next, the findings, if adverse to Thaw, will be reviewed by the United States district court and, should a decision against him then be rendered, successive appeals will be taken until the case reached the highest court in the land.

This was the announcement made by the Thaw lawyers tonight after the most notable court victory for the fugitive either in Canada or the United States since his escape from the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane.

Edgar Aldrich, United States judge for the district of New Hampshire, in deciding that Thaw had the right, in effect, to hold his habeas corpus writ in abeyance, explained in his rescript that this was the petitioner's privilege in that should he be ordered extradited, "it would still be open to federal authority to afford such protection as the constitution and the laws of the United States require."

Thaw's jubilant counsel, headed by Moses Grossman and L. J. Vorhaus, departed for New York, leaving their client in the local custody of the United States marshal and Sheriff Drew, of Coos county, not to return until the hearing before the governor is called. The head of the New York state forces, William Travers Jerome, and Deputy Attorney General, Kenneth and Sheriff Hornbeck, of Duchess county, also left tonight. They will come back for the hearing Tuesday.

Thaw, according to the understanding reached, will be taken to Concord in the morning. His quarters in Thaw's hotel tonight, feeling fine and predicting that the gates of Matteawan would never close behind him again.

Mr. Jerome had little or nothing to say. "The question now is whether a writ," he said, "an there is no getting around it. But the questions to be decided by the governor are simple and we hope for victory."

Concluding his rescript today, Judge Aldrich engaged Mr. Jerome in informal conversation regarding the case as an insane man or a criminal. It was perhaps the most interesting part of the brief court procedure.

"It is probably open to counsel for the petitioner to suggest that Thaw is an insane man or a criminal. It was perhaps the most interesting part of the brief court procedure.

The court continues to reserve its decision on the question of whether Thaw is an insane man or a criminal. It was perhaps the most interesting part of the brief court procedure.

Jerome: "I understand it to be the rule as laid down in Cook's case and the Galicia case. The court knew the nature and quality of the act and that it was wrong. It did not matter whether he was sane or not."

Questions Not Clear. The court continues to reserve its decision on the question of whether Thaw is an insane man or a criminal. It was perhaps the most interesting part of the brief court procedure.

Extradition of the Insane. The court: "I think that you are perfectly correct in that proposition as a general one, but when the papers show that one is charged with a crime and that it is involved in a case solely grounded in the escape from a warrant which holds him as an insane man, and that the state which he fled from would be extradited as a criminal?"

INFERNAL MACHINE RECEIVED BY MAIL BY GEN. H. G. OTIS

For Second Time in Three Years Life of the Owner of The Los Angeles Times Is Attempted.

GENERAL OTIS SAVED BY JAPANESE SERVANT

Watchfulness of Oriental Foiled Senders of Bombs—Three Years Ago Los Angeles Times Building Was Destroyed.

Los Angeles, Cal., September 16.—General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of The Los Angeles Times, received an infernal machine by mail today. It was the second time within three years that General Otis' life had been attempted by a bomb.

Any chance of his being killed or injured by the bomb was foiled by the watchfulness of General Otis' Japanese servant, who became suspicious of the package and called his employer's attention to it.

The first infernal machine sent to General Otis was found at his residence a few hours after his newspaper plant had been destroyed through the efforts of the McNamara conspirators.

The attempt on his life today was attributed by the general to agencies friendly to those whose conspiracy ended in the destruction of The Times building and the killing of twenty-one men three years ago. The police and postal authorities, however, believed that the Mexican question probably had a part in it.

General Otis is largely interested in lands in the Mexican territory of lower California where, two years ago, Industrial Workers of the World joined the "direct action" element of Mexicans in an effort to establish a socialistic commonwealth.

A few weeks ago there was an outbreak caused, according to reports, by the employment of Chinese in the place of Mexican laborers by ranchers in lower California. General Otis asserted at the time that none were employed by him.

The bomb reached the "Bivouac," General Otis' home, at 11 o'clock this morning. The package was a small package five inches long, three inches wide and two inches deep, wrapped in brown paper.

With other mail, it was given by the postman to the Japanese servant. He carried it to his quarters before taking it to General Otis and told the general that he thought there was something suspicious about the package.

"I pooh-poohed the boy's belief at first," said General Otis, "but examined the box carefully. I could see parts of matches and black powder. I had the boy remove the thing and asked the police department to send a man to my home."

General Otis talks of bomb. General Otis had a "surmise only" concerning the bomb. "That surmise," he said, "is that it was sent to me by the devil, who wanted to blow up the Times and me. They may be the same old gang or agents of the same old gang with the same old animosity."

Chief of Police Sebastian inclined to the theory that the bomb had been sent by the state chamber of commerce. The executive committee holding an afternoon session for that purpose, the meeting will be held in January the exact date to be fixed later.

NO FIREWORKS MARK MESSAGE OF GEN. HUERTA

Expected Verbal Bombs Were Lacking When the Provisional President Addressed the Congress of Mexico.

ONLY BRIEF MENTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Huerta Admits Relations Are Strained But Expects Adjustment—He Blames President Wilson and Not the People.

WASHINGTON IS SILENT ABOUT HUERTA MESSAGE. Washington, September 16.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan today received an abstract of Provisional President Huerta's message to the Mexican congress, but no comment was forthcoming from either the white house or the state department.

Administration officials were in a quandary today over whether to send the Huerta government a message of congratulation on the celebration of independence day throughout the Mexican republic. There was hesitancy about addressing a message to that character to a government which had not been formally recognized.

Mexico City, September 16.—Provisional President Victoriana Huerta delivered his semi-annual message tonight at the opening of the second session of the twenty-seventh Mexican congress. In it he promised to spare no efforts to bring about the unrevoked election of the president and vice president of the Mexican republic next month, declaring that it would constitute the greatest triumph of his career to turn over the office to his successor with the country at peace, as he hoped to do.

General Huerta said the strained diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States had caused the Mexican nation to suffer unmerited affliction, and had retarded the pacification of the country. Nevertheless, he hoped for an early solution of the differences between the two nations and to see Mexico and the United States once more united in bonds of friendship.

Blames Wilson, Not Americans. The provisional president drew a distinction between the attitude of the government of the United States, and that of the people of that nation, saying "the tension of our diplomatic relations with the government of the United States of America, although luckily not with that people," had put Mexico into a state of apprehension.

The message was disappointing to many who had expected that Provisional President Huerta would deal at some length with recent diplomatic exchanges. This subject, however, he said, being so delicate and the personal character of the congress being already informed, he passed with a bare mention.

Cheers for Huerta. The silence which prevailed during the reading of the presidential document by the clerk was broken at its conclusion by prolonged cheering in which the diplomatic gallery, joined by the crowds in the galleries.

In his peroration Huerta said: "The Mexican government regards the pacification of the country as an urgent necessity in order to restore the public services to their normal condition."

state, to re-establish the political and economic equilibrium and to make possible a program of reforms which will satisfy the national aspiration.

I will spare no effort and no sacrifice to obtain the coveted peace and to guarantee fully in the coming elections the free casting of the ballot. You greatest possible triumph for the interim government to surrender office to its successor if the latter as is to be expected enters upon its functions with public order and order an accomplished fact.

The Treasury Funds

For the army 6,000 horses and 2,800 mules had been purchased during the year. The national cartridge factory he said was turning out 250,000 cartridges monthly.

Besides a great number of cannons of various descriptions, machine guns, rifles, carbines and ammunition the government has contracted for the construction of aeroplanes, armored automobiles and 50 unarmored automobiles and two armed transports.

At the close of the reading of the presidential message the session of congress was adjourned until tomorrow.

The Message of Huerta

President Huerta's message in part was as follows:

Besides the fratricidal strife which exhausts us the tenacious of our diplomatic relations with the government of the United States although luckily act with that people has put us in a state of apprehension has made us suffer more than one affliction which was not merited and retarded the complete pacification of the republic.

As this affair is of so delicate a nature and as the permanent commission of congress already has been informed of the state of the negotiations which we have had with the United States, I would like to indicate that the government hopes with good grounds to believe that it will be able to solve the difficulties which day by day keep in suspension the good friendship which has existed and for an indefinite future should unite us to our powerful civilized neighbors.

Upon taking charge by virtue of the law of the presidency of the republic, complying with the established international practices I communicated the fact of my having taken possession to all the foreign governments with which Mexico cultivates relations of friendship.

Recognition Given

Of these three hastened to answer by telegraph letter the following Germany, Austria, Hungary, Belgium, Colombia, Costa Rica, China, Denmark, Ecuador, Spain, France, Guatemala, Haiti, Holland, Honduras, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Montenegro, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Salvador, Serbia, Switzerland, Turkey and Uruguay.

I would call the attention of congress to the fact that in this list I do not find some of the small governments which I urge but that is due to the fact that we have not diplomatically relations with them or that they have not yet been recognized through the proper channels and did not reach the chancery. It has caused surprise and at the same time respect to the honorable chamber as to the list of countries which have been invited to which Mexico is united by ties of blood language and customs and no less by identical aspirations and destinies have not been recognized as to the latter.

The executive is in favor of the cause which may have promoted this conduct and it certainly may be entirely worthy of respect. He abstains from entering into the merits of the case but he will put the result before your honorable body.

Warships in Mexican Ports

This has been sent to our ports various foreign war vessels with the object of that should be necessary to the lives of said interests of the citizens or subjects of the powers in question by reason of the title in insecurity it is a used growing out of the revolution. In view of the participation of foreign citizens in the present correspondence with certain foreign diplomats calling attention to the action of their respective governments and upon receiving due explanations and dictating orders toward the fulfillment of the law in such case.

Since the law prohibited warships from remaining for more than a month in territorial waters the senate authorized the said ships to remain but with the understanding that none remaining should not entail an attack in the dignity and sovereignty of Mexico. Such authorization limited them to a period of six months during which until 20th inst and it was not until it was possible to renew this authorization upon its approaching expiration. Other ships which made visits of courtesy and not of vengeance have been received by the Mexican authorities according to international laws and usages.

M'CONNELL COMES BACK AT WOODWARD

Refers to Him as "Ex-Drunkard," and Says He Consorts With Gamblers, Saloonists and Crooks

Mayor J. C. Woodward's letter to Rev. Lincoln M'Connell, new pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, reprimanding the minister for his attack upon the mayor for his position in the spooning cases brought from Mr. M'Connell on Tuesday a warm letter in reply in which he brings the insinuation that the mayor is an ex-drunkard and that he is a consorter with gamblers, saloonists and crooks.

In reply to the mayor's ultimatum Mr. M'Connell stated that at no time would he allow his clerical habits to stand in the way of the mayor's obtaining personal satisfaction.

Mr. M'Connell also states in his letter to the mayor that he was inaccurately quoted in the issue of The Constitution which carried his arraignment of Mayor Woodward in his Sunday night sermon at the Tabernacle. It will be readily seen from a perusal of The Constitution's report of Mr. M'Connell's sermon and Mr. M'Connell's recalled statement of the same in his letter to the mayor that there is no material difference in the sense and tenor.

Mr. M'Connell states in his letter that he made no notes for his sermon and trusts his memory to recall what he said.

He further states that there was no stenographic report taken.

Reporter Was There

In this particular Mr. M'Connell is mistaken.

At the instruction of the city editor of The Constitution, W. W. Kent, I went to the Tabernacle to report upon whom there is no more accurate a reporter on the paper went to the Tabernacle sit, though Mr. M'Connell's sermon took copious notes and submitted these notes to the city editor for inspection before he ever wrote a line of the minister's discourse for publication.

Mr. M'Connell's reply to the mayor is as follows:

Dr. M'Connell's Reply

Dr. M'Connell addressed his letter to Mayor Woodward, but James G. Woodward, in the Mayor's Office, Atlanta, Ga.

"Sir—I have your very interesting letter of this date and think it but proper in view of the fact that you have honored me with three sheets of matter and to express my appreciation to you in somewhat the following manner:

In the first place you were not my subject Sunday night. I had a large subject. You were merely an illustration of my sermon, 'Whirlwind and Whirlwind' (Hosea 8:7) and was trying to show that the laws of cause and effect operated in all realms not merely the physical. I was showing that the 'whirl of bad thinking' resulted in the destructive moral 'whirlwinds' etc. and in developing the thought I came naturally to that bad conduct called crime and lawlessness and here is where you came in. I was talking against the dangerous tendencies of our time and I referred to the fact that many good men so talk at times as to cause the thoughtless to believe that they have no respect for the law. Its officers or machinery the inevitable result of which must be the breaking down of the last vestige of fear or respect for the law. In the minds of the criminally inclined for the law I said I was amazed the other day to read what seemed to be an interview from our mayor himself in which he scathingly attacked the police referring to them in such contemptuous terms as to indicate his utter lack of respect for them. Taking as my excuse the arrests of some of the police for spearing the water in the strike in the grass methods etc. in such manner and terms as to bring the very office into disrepute. According to the report he did not confine his attacks to the particular men who made the arrests but the impression is inevitable that he had the head of this great city feels a conviction for the officers who have said further. If Mr. Woodward does not know that such expressions from a man in his high position are dangerous and have a tendency to encourage the vicious he is too great a fool to be the head of this city while if he really feels as he seems to feel he is unfit for the place.

Recalls His Words

As nearly as I can recall my words that I just what I said on that subject. As you see I was not accurately reported for I actually said more about you than the report indicates.

The fact is no reporter was here and no stenographic report was made of my remarks. From other inaccuracies in the report I suppose some friend of the papers must have reported from memory what they thought I really said. I did not give it out nor write a word of it. Another evidence of this to me is in what I am reported to have said about yellow journalism. I never said a word about yellow journalism. All that I said that would have been so construed was a reference to the particular vulgar prints of dancing women that have found a place in the papers of today and in that connection I said there is a marked change and in my opinion not for the better in what some papers publish of this sort today. Twenty years ago had a paper in Atlanta printed some of the pictures of nude or semi-nude women their papers would have been debarrated from the homes of the best people. I was speaking in particular of the police or standing for every officer. I was speaking as strongly as possible in favor of law and order decency and good morals and I was showing that one of the greatest needs of our day was that all good men stand squarely behind law and order, and if we do not have worthy officers, get them and stand behind them in the performance of every duty. That was my text, and that the line of my talk. I have given it to you at length because I think it due you, as well as myself that I do so.

'As far as those parts of your letter that refer to myself personally or your opinion of me or the motive that actuates my ministry I have nothing to say. Your opinions of men in my calling are like to be very friendly. I have no idea but that the old fashioned preacher would suit you and your sort better. Especially that old fashioned sort that confined his preaching to the sins of Sodom and who ignored the demagogues who had rendered to the filthy for their votes sake.

Impatient of Criticism

It is rather strange to see how of all men so impatient of criticism. One to read the daily papers would find that you were the only really honest brainy man in public life. What department of the city government, or what official of the city have you not held up to contempt and ridicule? I do not claim to know who all of the men in our city life are but if there has been a day since I have been here there has been a day when someone has not been scorned by the common soldi in the mayor's office. I have missed the papers that day.

You are right about my being an ex-detective. I was on it a year and of the city for several years ago. I do not think I ever did anything of great importance while in the service of the city and I am neither very proud nor am I at all ashamed of that experience. I am rather proud of the fact that I never caused any good citizen to blush for shame of my conduct. I am an ex-detective as you say but I am not an ex-drunkard and I have not been held in any way in esteem by the gamblers, saloonists and crooks so far as I ever heard. I have no idea that gang would vote for me should I run for of Dec in Atlanta.

Your threat toward me and your warning Mr. Mayor are both wasted. I am in the least afraid of you and so long as you hold public office in Atlanta I shall criticize your public acts and public utterances whenever I think them contrary to public morals.

I most certainly want no difficulty with any man but in view of the strain you seem to be laboring under let me say to you now:

I only wear my clerical coat while behind the pulpit and as you know I feel that your health or happiness depends any satisfaction from me, I shall feel it my religious duty to pay you that debt on demand. Just let me add in conclusion. If you really stand for law and order, decency and good morals you will give me a measure of freedom man in the city of Atlanta. I sincerely wish I might believe it true. Very truly
(Signed) LINCOLN M'CONNELL."

Mayor Answers Pastor

When the mayor received Mr. M'Connell's letter he read it and chuckled. He had nothing more to say about the mayor. M'Connell has proven himself not only a contemptible insinuator and publicity hunter but a braggar as well.

What I had to say about future attacks upon me stands. I see no reason why I should assist him further in his advertising campaign.

That he accepted the call to the Tabernacle because pickings were better in clear. He started out as a Presbyterian and found them too slow. He then went to the Methodists and for some reason or other very suddenly left the Wesley Memorial church. He then put on a tent exhibition until he came to the Tabernacle.

If he should happen to get a call to fill the boots of Brigham Young in Utah I expect you would find him buying a ticket for Salt Lake City.

When the management of the Lyric announced for this week Owen Davis' play, "A Man's Game," it was a very clever and dramatic production under the management of A. C. It was hardly to be expected that such a remarkable attraction would be offered at the Lyric for this particular week. Atlanta has never been given at $2 prices anything better in the dramatic line than this attraction, that is being so cordially received this week at the Lyric.

(At the Bijou.)

Beyond a doubt the most successful play of the Jewell Kelley season at the Bijou so far is "A Man of Mystery" which is being presented this week to splendid audiences. In the selection of this play Manager Kelley had in mind not only the sensational but the story but also the fact that each member of the company will be given a strong part, bringing out the best that is in each player. The success of the performance shows that Mr. Kelley had good judgment in this matter.

"A Man of Mystery" will be played the entire week with matinees daily at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30.

Keith Vaudeville
(At the Forsyth.)

Keith the Forsyth was crowded to its limit of capacity at the two performances on Tuesday and the advance sale for Wednesday indicates that the standing room sign will be flashed long before the orchestra commences the overture that is the signal that a show is on. Frank and Helene Davies come along after all the other acts have had an inning and proceed to mop up with a singing and dancing novelty. Miss Davies is a cunning and clever little woman. She wears becoming clothes and possesses a valuable magnetism. Bernard H. Keith and his company made a hit Monday that has grown greater. The Big City Four have a popular following and all the others add to the hit the show has made.

Young Bachelors Dine

Joe Callaghan, John Wrigley, Charles Campbell and Peter Brady are the four young men who are soon to give up the doubtful joys of single life. Emmet Blount, the only married man present, presided as toastmaster, and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

THEY FOUGHT TO DEATH WITH AX AND REVOLVER

E. F. Hendricks Shoots Dr. Broyles and Latter Cleaves Head With Ax

Aberdeen Miss. September 16.—Dr. H. F. Broyles state senator and E. F. Hendricks of Salmer Town a timber man killed each other in a battle near Greenwood Springs this county this morning.

According to the report to the county officials Broyles started to repair a dam when Hendricks interfered in an attempt to stop him. As Hendricks drew a pistol to fire Broyles struck him in the head with an ax his only weapon. Both men it is said were dead when they struck the ground. Broyles with a bullet through the heart and Hendricks with his head split open.

Broyles sold all his timber to Hendricks about a year ago and the two were said to have been unfriendly ever since.

Dr. H. F. Broyles was a cousin of Recorder Clark Broyles and Superior Court Clerk Arnold Broyles of Atlanta. Dr. Broyles was in Atlanta recently to get Governor Slaton to sign a requisition for the return of A. D. Oliver to Mississippi where he was accused of swindling. Oliver had just completed a term of three years in the Georgia penitentiary.

JUDGE HILLYER URGES VOTES FOR CHARTER

He Stresses the Importance of Meetings Being Held in Every Ward.

Judge George Hillyer chairman of the citizens committee which prepared and which has charge of the campaign for the new city charter to be voted on September 24 said yesterday:

There should be meetings held in every ward. The charter to be voted upon is a bona fide codification of the existing charter with only the alterations or changes to which attention has been called in the synopsis of the same, or short statement of its contents heretofore published. The board of public safety will comprise the duties of both the police and fire departments. There is undoubted need for harmony of method and effort in both of these departments and it is confidently believed that a union of the two will result in great good.

Problem General.
"The placing of the street department under more permanent and uniform methods is something greatly to be desired."

"But after all the problem is one for every citizen and what I wish to emphasize is that we have had the entire new charter—every word of it—printed just as it comes from the legislature and thousands of copies placed in the hands of every clerk at the city hall, and any voter can get the charter by applying for it and it is most earnestly urged that every thoughtful good citizen will obtain the charter and read it and study it for himself."

"I confidently submit that the work is a good one especially in the feature of codification and shortening the existing very complicated and confused document. It is a work that is to be done and is just as necessary and wise and proper under the form of representative government as we now have and will be necessary under any form of government that may hereafter be adopted."

Representative Government

"I feel bound to say that the representative form of government is the only wise and proper one. Let the people of the city have the right to do as they please about that as in any other matter which concerns the public good and in which they have a voice and I repeat that the matter of codifying and shortening the charter is a matter which is of the highest importance to the city and to the state. If any doubt on the subject is held get a copy of it from the city clerk and read it and study it and judge for yourself and be sure to come out and vote on it on the day of the election. There is no politics no personal ambition inspiring this movement. It is a problem of the city and not that of individual. If any candidate is for this new charter it is creditable to his patriotism and his good judgment."

But as I said at the beginning it would be wise and proper if the voters would hold meetings without delay in all the wards and in their own good time and way discuss the proposed charter and let every voter judge for himself."

WRIGHT WILL ADDRESS CITIZENSHIP CONGRESS

Prohibition Orator Will Speak Friday Night on "The Spirit of Anarchy."

That Seaborn Wright prohibition orator and civic leader of Rome has consented to deliver the closing address on the opening night of the Southern Christian Citizenship Congress Friday night September 19 at the Auditorium was the information received by Dr. H. M. DuBose chairman of the program committee Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Wright will take for his subject his justly famous lecture on "The Spirit of Anarchy."

A presentation of the purposes of the League of America by Dr. DuBose will constitute the first address of the evening. Governor Statton will preside over the sessions which come next on the program and will deliver a brief address on Citizenship and A. I. Orem editor of Orem's Weekly Bulletin and a reformer and philanthropist of Boston will deliver an address.

Saturday morning will be given over to the interests of old women and W. C. T. U. workers and Saturday afternoon will be given to a great rally for Young America, to which all of the public school children of Atlanta have been invited to attend special seats having been provided for them. The famous poet scout Captain Jace Crawford has been engaged to be the chief entertainer for the boys and girls.

Congressman Richmond P. Hobson is announced as the principal speaker for Saturday night and particular interest attaches to this address for the reason that Captain Hobson is not only a magnificent orator but is now in the race for the United States senate. At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening a rehearsal of the congress choir will be held in the Central Congregational church on a program which will include a musical number and a full attendance is requested. Professor Albert Gould, director and chairman of the music committee.

NEW BANK ORGANIZED AT CLEVELAND, GA.

Secretary of State Phil Cook was in the city yesterday of an application for charter for the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Cleveland, White County, Georgia, the first state bank to be organized in three months. The capital stock is $25,000. Among the incorporators are J. M. Glover, H. A. J. J. R. W. Allison, S. W. Ash, W. C. Logan, P. B. Smith and A. F. Johnson.

SMITH INDICTED AGAIN; TOO SICK TO APPEAR

While Smith noted Mexican revolutionist and former high financier of this city was indicted by the grand jury Tuesday on charges of forgery by several witnesses who appeared before the body. Smith is already under arrest on charges of forgery involving $220. When one of the cases was called in a justice court Tuesday Smith was too ill to appear.

FINE FATHER-IN-LAW

F. M. Sweat Charged With Striking Daughter-in-Law.

F. M. Sweat of this city was fined $25 and costs in the city court yesterday for assaulting his daughter-in-law. Witnesses swore the alleged assault took place when Mrs. Sweat was charged with having put ground glass in her husband's coffee.

Mrs. Sweat declared on the stand that her husband came home drunk and broke a glass panicle of which fell into his coffee cup. She said she was charged with putting the glass in the coffee and that she left home. She returned for her clothes later and it was then she testified that her father-in-law hit her.

SUNDAY JOY RIDING MAY BE POOR SPORT

If you are in the business of letting automobiles for hire and happen to rent one on Sunday you had better be sure of your customer or else collect from him in advance. The court of appeals decided yesterday in the case of H. T. Jones v. A. L. Belle Isle that a Sunday joy ride might be a free one just so you had influence enough with the owner to let you have the machine.

The defendant in this case rented a machine at 10 o'clock Saturday night, saying that he wanted it only for an hour and a half. He kept it out all day Sunday. He sued for the use of the machine and the court of appeals held that he could only recover for the time that he used it Saturday night.

The part of the joy ride that fell on Sunday so the court held was a Sunday contract and therefore void. For the two hours that the machine was rented and Sunday morning, the court gave Belle Isle judgment.

COURT NOT ALLOWED TO EXPRESS OPINION

In pumping a witness in a blind case a judge may not ask the question "Did you not testify to the grand jury that you purchased liquor from the defendant?" Such a question according to a decision of the court of appeals handed down yesterday is an expression of opinion on the part of the judge and is not allowable.

The case was that of Ed Murphy v. The State first tried in the city court of Brunswick. The verdict was against the defendant but a new trial was granted because the court asked the one material witness the question stated above. The court of appeals held that the trial judge has no right to express an opinion in putting a question to a witness.

HAMILTON DOUGLAS, JR. BACK FROM CONFERENCE

After attending a week's conference at St. Paul Minn. of law instructors from southern universities and other parts of the country Hamilton Douglas, Jr. instructor in practice and appellate procedure at the Atlanta Law school returned to the city yesterday. At St. Paul he met law professors representing South Carolina university, Florida university, Tulane University of Denver, Texas, Mississippi, Tennessee and a number of other well-known institutions.

Dean Thomas of South Carolina university, and Professor K. E. Steinmetz of Tennessee university, were among the prominent southerners in attendance.

NO BILL IS FOUND AGAINST NEWT LEE

The Fulton county grand jury sitting Tuesday in regular session, returned a "no-bill" against Newt Lee the negro factory night watchman whose testimony figured so largely in the trial of Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan.

The action of the grand jury eliminates Lee in the matter of being connected with the murder in any manner.

COURT OF APPEALS MAY PRONOUNCE LAW

Hold That Decision Stands When Given in Advance of Supreme Court.

A decision of the court of appeals in conflict with a supreme court decision is nevertheless law provided said decision is older than the supreme court decision with which it is in conflict. This opinion was rendered by the court of appeals in the case of the Southern Bell Telephone company v. J. L. Glawson which was handed down yesterday. The case had first been certified to the supreme court and the opinion of the judges obtained on it.

Under the law creating the court of appeals that court is not to follow the decision of the supreme court. In the case in question J. L. Glawson sued the telephone company in the city court of Americus for damages because he had been unable to get a doctor when his wife was seriously ill. The case was demurred out of court in the trial court but the court of appeals restored it by reversing the decision. Then on the trial the jury awarded the plaintiff $5,000 damages.

The wife it was alleged, had died as the result of the failure to secure a physician by means of the telephone. The court reversed the decision, holding that the telephone company was held only to ordinary care and that the plaintiff having a horse and buggy and a full grown son might have sent him for the doctor. His should not have depended on the telephone.

Just after the opinion of the court in this case was rendered and before it was announced, a conflicting opinion of the supreme court was handed down in a similar case. Then the court of appeals certified the case to the supreme court in order to determine which decision should stand. The supreme court held that while the court of appeals is bound to follow decisions of the supreme court previously rendered it is impossible for it to divine such decisions before they are rendered. Therefore, where the court of appeals has rendered its decision on a question in advance of the supreme court such decision shall stand as law, until formally set aside either by the court making it or by the supreme court.

BISHOP CANDLER'S BOOK JUST OFF THE PRESS

"Practical Studies in the Fourth Gospel" is the title of the latest book from the pen of Bishop Candler which is off the press. With all who are familiar with the rich, compelling style of the bishop's writing this book will prove a welcome treat indeed.

As the title would indicate these studies are not critical or exegetical but rather practical. This is clearly proven in the highest sense of the term "practical" for they treat the gospel as a steady help in daily life and as a faithful guide to the life of eternity. Rather than in criticism which engages the mind but leaves the heart untouched, they are studies in the needs and faith of man in his material being and will doubtless appeal with their lessons, to the lowest and to the most highly learned.

The book just issued is the first of two volumes, the second of which is now in the course of preparation, being however, complete within itself.

BEAUCHAMP MAY LOSE TAX RECEIVER'S PLACE

Another turn in local politics appeared Tuesday when it was reported that George Beauchamp, city tax receiver, will go by the board when council elects tax officials the first of next year.

Councilman Orville H. Hall, who fought against the passage by the last legislature of an amendment to the city charter placing Beauchamp's office under the control of the tax assessors, it is understood, has withdrawn from Mr. Beauchamp the support which he at that time tendered and has joined the opposition to him. This is a result, it is stated, of Mr. Beauchamp's supporting R. R. Jackson for council against Mr. Hall.

INDICT MARTIN FOR "COWHIDING" NEGRO

The grand jury Tuesday held a four-hour session returning eighteen true bills and handing down four "no-bills" during their session. The body then adjourned until Friday morning their next regular meeting.

Two true bills were returned Tuesday against Charles P. Martin, of the Atlanta waterworks department, for "cowhiding" a negro named Ericson, known about city hall as Shamrock. Martin, according to witnesses before the grand jury, took the negro to the basement of the city hall and there whipped him with a blacksnake on account of the negro's statements against him.

PURITY CONGRESS TO MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

The Seventh International Purity Congress will be held by the World's Purity Federation in Minneapolis in November.

It is expected that this will be the greatest meeting ever held by this association. Delegates from all parts of the world have been appointed by the governors of the several states and by many churches and reform organizations.

A. W. Elliott, president of the Southern Rescue Mission has been appointed by Governor Statton to represent the state of Georgia at the congress.

Gillam Admits Bankruptcy

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed with Deputy Clerk Fred Beers of the federal court, yesterday by A. C. Gillam, of Atlanta. The petitioner, a druggist, writes his liabilities at $2,399.37, with assets of $2,000. Pending a negro receiver was filed with the clerk, but no appointment had been made when the clerk's office was closed last night.

Returned From Havana.

S. Valdes, manufacturer of cheap Havana cigars, of Atlanta, who went to Cuba in August to purchase leaf tobacco for his Atlanta factory, has returned and reports to the smokers of Havana cigars that this year's crop is of excellent quality. He offers his customers his appreciation and guarantees them that his cigars are better this year than ever before and also invites all those who wish the industrial development of Atlanta to try his cigars, which will support a new and growing Atlanta industrial product as good as the best, and to protect them is the best that can be done for the city's progress.

S. Valdes has resources to build here a large cigar factory.—(Adv.)

PERIL OF "GRADING DOWN."

Atlanta has been in the vortex of a teapot tempest over public kissing and "spoonying." The elevation of petty offenses creates a situation ripe with menace. The danger cannot be more forcefully expressed than in the following piercing epigram from Bishop E. H. Boss, of the Methodist Episcopal church, South:
"To make the use of tobacco a sin is to grade down the general conception of sin until the people lose sight of its enormity."
The bishop uttered that expression because of an acrimonious controversy over the right of ministers to use tobacco. But the principle he lays down is universal. His epigram can logically be paraphrased to read:

To treat trivial offenses as crimes is to grade down the general conception of real offenses until the people lose sight of their enormity.

The Constitution gives Chief Beavers full credit for discharging his duty fearlessly as he sees it. His achievement is of record. The restricted district is no more. It has been wiped out and it will stay wiped out. It took a brave man to accomplish that. Beavers is a brave man and he is also a conscientious one.

The main danger is that the misguided zeal of a very few of his men may commit his department to a position the narrowness of which he himself does not approve. And the danger is also that if trivial offenses generally are made crimes the people will lose sight of the seriousness of real crime. And once the people lose perspective as to what is crime and what is not crime, everything will go to pot; the murderer and the firebug will be measured by the same yardstick as the "spoonyer," the boy, as in the fable, will cry "wolf! wolf!" until when the wolf of crime really does come the city may not be prepared to deal with him as it should.

No doubt Chief Beavers himself, in the now famous capitol-kissing cases, would have said to the moonstruck couples, "Here, now! This is no place for Cupid. Run along home." Unfortunately, officers of less discretion acted differently and the whole affair has been turned into a joke—except to the two young women who have been made the real sufferers.

It will clarify the atmosphere wonderfully if Chief Beavers will make it clear that the "capitol-kissing" policy is not the policy of his department. The police commission should also make that fact clear. It is, indeed, a duty that both the chief and the board owe to themselves and the city to make clear this policy. Neither one wants a general revulsion of sentiment that may confuse crime with innocence, and vice versa, and undo the careful work of the past year.

Chief Beavers and his men have done splendid public service. They are fully capacitated to continue to do splendid public service. But that may only be done by keeping clear the sense of values in the public mind. The public would not tolerate the discarded blue laws of Massachusetts nor the insane license of Rome in its decadence. Chief Beavers and the overwhelming majority of his men would stand for neither.

Roosevelt spoke well when he said: "To call an honest man a thief is to delight the heart of every rogue in the land."

Bishop Hoss spoke better when he said: "To make the use of tobacco a sin is to grade down the general conception of sin until the people lose sight of its enormity."

Substitute in that paragraph "trivialities" for tobacco and "crime" for sin and you have marked out the plain course which we believe Chief Beavers will see indicated for the efficiency of his department and the welfare of Atlanta. He has shown too keen a zeal for the public welfare to have it jeopardized by piehead policies for which he is not responsible and which cannot appeal to his own sound sense.

FOR UNDERWOOD TO DECIDE.

In a striking editorial The Birmingham (Ala.) News urges the sending of Oscar W. Underwood to the senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Johnston. Underwood has himself announced that until the tariff bill is disposed of he will hold in abeyance his decision as to whether or not he will become a candidate for the senate.
In fifty years the house of representatives has not developed such leadership as Underwood has shown. His capacity for conciliation and his faculty for getting things done set him singularly apart in the post-bellum political history of the nation. He has already done many notable things. Things more notable are still ahead of him. President Wilson himself, having reached the crest, is the only man in the party that stands higher than Underwood.
The senate has been called, half in jest and half in earnest, a "rest cure for politicians." We do not know if a sacrifice of the leadership of the house, with the prestige that position carries, for a place in the senate, will be the right route by which Oscar Underwood should work out his destiny. That is a question for him to decide. His fortunes and those of the party might be materially advanced if he went to the senate. Again, in the peculiar formative stage of politics, the party might suffer from the transfer. But that is a question for him to decide.
We have implicit confidence in the deliberate judgment of Underwood. He has yet to make a political error, and whatever his decision may be as regards the senate it will in all probability be the right one and the wise one both for himself and for the party.

NEEDED—A STERILIZER.

The Constitution is not puritanical nor a believer in press or dramatic censorship. But we are inclined to indorse Magistrate McAduf for his recent action in instituting prosecution against the promoters of two immoral plays in New York city.
These two plays made their chief scenes in houses of ill-fame. The effect upon sophisticated men and women would be bad enough. The effect upon boys and girls it is hard to imagine. The adults and the youth of our day must combat suggestive influences from sources enough, as it is. There is no excuse for adding to them bawdily as in this instance.
There may be plays of this nature with a moral, as Brieux's "Damaged Goods," one or two of the plays of Shaw and several of Ibsen, the presentation of which are, in the final analysis, not only permissible but wholesome.
But what parent would willingly send receptive son and daughter to a play in which a house of ill-fame starred? And what parent could, with serenity, contemplate the effect if the child visited such theaters surreptitiously?
We live in an age of breadth, it is true, and it is well that this should be so. In many respects we are tearing off old mawkish and harmful masks, pulling down the shutters from pest-houses and letting in the wholesome light.
But the process, like every other process, can be transformed from a healthful to a morbid one. That needs to be borne in mind with plays as with books. When a play gets so rousing that it needs a sterilizer, time is come to call a halt.

THE NEW CHARTER.

Elsewhere The Constitution publishes a statement from Judge George Hillier, referring to the new charter upon which citizens will vote at the special election of September 24. The choice of a new fundamental law for the city is a matter sufficiently serious to demand the study of every Atlantian. No Atlantian can afford to lightly view an issue of this gravity.
All the local newspapers have carried full summaries of the charter. The citizen who is in doubt can read the complete text, to the dotting of "i" and the crossing of a "y," by applying to the clerk of the city council in the city hall, who has printed copies for distribution.
Every business interest, every home, every citizen is vitally affected by the city's fundamental law. It is only by an intimate study and comparison with present standards and needs that one may vote intelligently, and it is the duty of any citizen to vote one way or another in the charter election of next Wednesday.

So glad Thomas A. Edison isn't different, for it is announced that he, too, is slowly recovering from his vacation.

There are so few counterfeiters of the dollar bill we lose no sleep these fine fall nights.
Mexico loves spectacular celebrations, and it's all right with us as long as she doesn't explode any American gold mines.
Even the critics who advocated a Culebra cut in expenses are clamoring to celebrate the opening of the big ditch.
Another comet headed earthward. Now is the time for Mr. Bryan to book a lecture on astronomy.
It pleases a congressman to tell him that you read all his tariff speeches, and perhaps it doesn't hurt your conscience.

Log Cabin Philosophy.

Only you can get me some folks to favor good news is to give 'em a ortermore as a premium for their laziness.
The farmers put the politicians in office because they don't want to be worried with 'em whilst they're toiling to make a honest living.
Looks like some folks stay in congress because they're afraid that if they come home they'll never get to go back.
Talk 'bout being 'twixt the devil and the deep sea: it's foolish; the devil don't trust himself nigh to where there's water enough to put the fire out.
We've known men who climbed high just to show the world how they could turn a somersault, but after they reach the summit the world don't know whether they're a mouse or a millionaire.

The Unreasonables.

When the Lord sends rain,
Well-I complain.
"Will he let the clouds run over?"
We wanted 'wet.'
But it's rained 'wet.'
An' the cows can't see the clover!"

The Greedy Mr. Toppleton.

It is evident that Mr. Toppleton, known to fame through the Pleasant Valley correspondence of The Kansas City Star, is a wanderer from the Billville moonshine district. Here is the latest story about him:
"Tobe and a traveling man had been discussing the dry spell, down at the depot the other day. After a pause the traveling man said: 'I suppose you would like a precipitation.' Tobe spat out his tobacco, wiped his chin and said he reckoned he could take just one. Then he asked the traveling man to hand him a flask. 'Tobe,' said the station agent, who witnessed the incident, 'can reach out farther after a drink than anybody I ever saw.' Later in the day a loud rumble was heard from the depot and said Tobe had broken his. Then he said to the station agent, 'I reckon,' said the station agent, 'that he reached it out after another drink and a horse stepped on it.'"

Trouble's Hired Hands.

I.
When you work for old man Trouble, not a mortal understands
Why it is you keep a-growlin' when he's pavin' off the hands.
Don't he settle with you faithful? Don't he keep his word each day?
Sit you grumble an' you mumble an' he's handin' you yer pay

II.

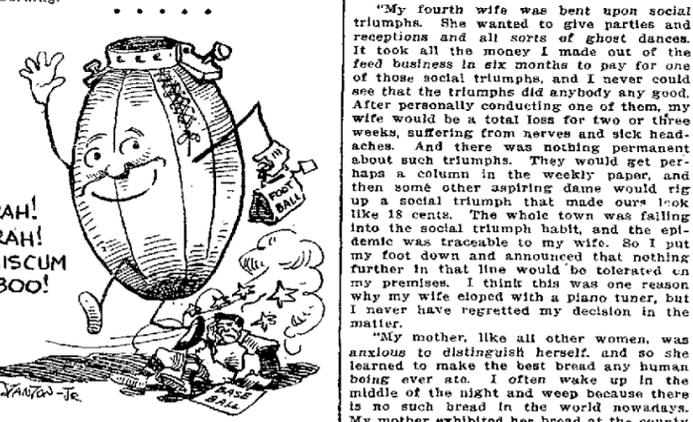

When you hear the temptin' fiddle, up you step an' take yer chance.
"Life is all too short for tolin'; we'll go whirling in the dance."
An' you whirr! You'll make December jest as merry as the May!
You forget, though, to remember that the fiddler is to pay.

III.

Funny worl'! They ain't another—fur as we can tell—as queer;
Though you didn't bid the land in, want to read yer title clear!
Heaven itself, with all its wisdom, hardly ever understands
All the hifalutin' capers of old Trouble's hired hands.

The Millennium Will Come.

When high prices slide down and give us a rebate.
When a $250 lecture date has no attraction for a high government official.
When the trusts "get religion" and fool the world into believing that they're living up to it.
When certain preaching-millionaires take the right text, stick to it, and tell just how they got it all.
When the devil is "slick" enough to catch a saint in disguise, dancing the "Tango."
When congress meets, gets right down to business, and "scoops" the country by adjourning.

My mother, like all other women, was anxious to distinguish herself, and so she learned to make the best bread any human being ever ate. I often wake up in the middle of the night, there is some sense in it is no such bread in the world nowadays. My mother exhibited her bread at the county fair and took the blue ribbon. It was celebrated all over the countryside, and the highest praise one could give to a housewife was to say that her bread was almost as good as my mother's. There is some sense in an ambition of that kind, my friends.
My grandmother made crazy quilts. She made the craziest crazy quilts anybody ever saw, and her skill in that line was acknowledged by everybody. Such an ambition as hers may seem frivolous to us, but it was harmless. It was even profitable, for my grandmother sold her quilts for ten times what they were worth.
"It would be a fine thing for a lot of us who are going on our uppers trying to provide our selves with pocket money, if the feminine ambition were more generally in the direction of crazy quilts."

Exercise and Drink.

(From The Indianapolis News.)
Scotch distillers are said to be greatly pleased with the latest contribution to bacchanalian melody, as sung by Harry Lauder:
Just a wee Dochan Doris,
Just a wee drap—that's a',
Just a wee Dochan Doris
Afore ye gang awa'.
The whisky makers claim that it has already given a boost to their trade and that the beer brewers have had a specially prosperous season. One authority suggests that motoring, golf, tennis and other forms of recreation take people into the open air and incite an appetite for eating and drinking, the drink most to be desired being beer or other malt liquor. In preference to whisky or wine, it is said, is this increased demand for malt drinks has been specially remarked by restaurant keepers in the cities and by the country wayside inns, and that the old song, "Beer, beer, glorious beer!" is soon to enjoy its own again. But that's in England and Scotland.

Bats in the Senate.

(From The Chicago Record-Herald.)
A flock or herd of bats invaded the senate chamber and caused great excitement among the human occupants. The excitement was due to novelty and was perfectly natural. It is said that the bats were invited debates and lobby inquiries were in preparation for the visit of this extraordinary bunch of delegates.
It is to be regretted, however, that the poor animals were done to death by an army of press correspondents. For the department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin in which the good points are dwelt upon most lovingly. It appears that they are serviceable in destroying other troublesome creatures, and the bats might dislodge some of those bugs in the senatorial intellect that are so frequently discovered by the correspondents themselves. The latter were too eager in their campaign of slaughter unless their eagerness may be explained by a business motive. Perhaps they believe that the senatorial bugs furnish them with their very best copy.

May Be a Romney.

(From The Indianapolis News.)
A recent picture find in England is believed to be a lost Romney, and the advertising it is now getting may enable the "finder" to sell it, because of its historical naughtiness, at a great price. The story goes that its owner bought the picture torn dirty, from a dealer who thought so little of it that he let it go for 11 shillings (about $2.75), and that he had already refused $2,000 for it. The picture has been declared to be a study of the notorious Lady Hamilton, mistress of the immortal Nelson, taken in the nude. The subject is a female figure reclining upon a sofa, which is supported by a dragon above the head by uplifted arms, throwing a soft shadow on the face and bust. It is alleged that, though no signature of Romney appears, there has been found a record that he did once paint such a portrait of the frail lady.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Press poet

SOME DISTINCTIONS.

"Mrs. Casowary certainly is the best dressed woman in town," remarked the "buggist." "She's always togged out as though going to a wedding, and whenever I see her I feel that she is an ornament to our burg."
"And while she goes around ornamenting our burg," said the village patriarch, "her husband is wondering how he's going to keep a couple of laps ahead of the sheriff. Sam Casowary has been working like a traction engine for about 500 years, and if he had a sane wife he'd be occupying a palace on Easy street, but as it is he just hates to see the first of the month come, he's so tired of explaining that he'll settle in a few days." "There isn't no honest man in the United States, and if he had half a show he'd be as prompt as the town clock, but under present conditions his credit is beginning to slump. So I think that his wife would be doing more to ornament the burg if she would wear calico."
"All women want to distinguish themselves in one way or another. It's a natural ambition. Nobody likes to be regarded as a member of the swinish multitude. Men go into politics or write books or raise side-whiskers in order to attract attention, and the women are just as fond of notoriety as their husbands. That's why so many of them are taking up suffrage. This movement is very popular and is regarded as the main street carrying banners, and they are reasonably sure to see their names in the paper every once in a while."
"The ambition to attract attention is natural to all of us, as I have said, and a woman's value to her family and the community depends upon it. She is regarded as a wife who hopes to class herself with the immortals by blowing herself for all the expensive dry goods in town, as Mrs. Casowary does. She has a far-reaching influence for evil. She not only keeps her husband in a desperate frame of mind, but she sets a bad example to her two women. Scores of wives in this town would be economical in the matter of dress if they didn't see that woman going past like a circus callope every time they look out of the front windows."
"My fourth wife was bent upon social triumphs. She wanted to give parties and receptions and all sorts of ghost dances. It took all the money I made out of the feed business in six months to pay for one of those social triumphs, and I never could see that the triumphs did anybody any good. After personally conducting one of them, my wife would be so proud of herself for a few weeks, suffering from nerves and sick headaches. And there was nothing permanent about such triumphs. They would get perhaps a column in the weekly paper, and then some other aspiring dame would rig up a social triumph that made ours look like 10 cents. The whole lot was falling into the social triumph habit, and the epidemic was traceable to my wife. So I put my foot down and announced that nothing further in that line would be tolerated on my premises. I think this one reason why my wife and I parted. She became nervous, suffering from nerves and sick headaches. And there was nothing permanent about such triumphs. They would get perhaps a column in the weekly paper, and then some other aspiring dame would rig up a social triumph that made ours look like 10 cents. PRICE ISSUES WARNING AGAINST BOLL WEEVIL

After Tour of Inspection Advises South Georgians to Plant 6 Acres to Mule

James D Price commissioner of agriculture returned home yesterday from his tour of inspection of the states of Mississippi and Louisiana in regard to the effect upon the cotton crop of the boll weevil in discussing the results of his trip Mr Price said 'Until I went into the weevil affected district this year with a view of making a special study of it I was inclined to regard that insect lightly—very much as many of our farmers do but I found that I was seriously mistaken. It is almost impossible to estimate the effect of the weevil upon a community which it has struck in an unprepared condition.

It means for the time being prostration I saw cotton six and eight feet high which will not make more than 200 or 300 pounds of lint to the acre on account of the boll weevil. The only way our farmers can prepare for it is by diversifying their crops.

My advice to the farmers of south west Georgia which will be reached by the weevil next year is to plant a few acres of cotton to the mule. That is the only way in which they can prepare to meet the pests ravages.

Georgia in Luck Mr Price was greatly impressed with the favorable condition of Georgia as compared with the other southern states. He said the cotton crop in Georgia is fairly up to the average and better than it is in any of the adjacent states. The corn crop is also good which throughout the country is really the almost a total failure. I did not see any good corn at all in the field. I did not stop at the train in Alabama continuing an inspection to the states of Mississippi and Louisiana but judging from what we saw on the railroad the corn crop is almost a total failure. Georgia is indeed fortunate both in cotton and corn this year.

AGE LIMIT LOWERED FOR NIGHT SCHOOL

Boys Only Fourteen Years Old May Now Enter Tech Night School.

The age limit for eligibility to attend the free night school at the Georgia School of Technology which will open tonight, has been put down from 16 to 14 years. This means that any boy who is 14 years of age or older can take advantage of the courses. The age limit works only one way and there is no limit in the other direction. Some of the students in years past have been gray haired men. The reason for changing the limit from 16 to 14 years is explained by Dr K G Matheson president of Georgia Tech and Professor J. G. Nesbit who has direct charge of the night school. Many boys conclude their grammar school work at about 14 years of age and go to work if these youngsters let pass a couple of years without pursuing their studies further they will be less likely to take them up again. Whereas by arranging it so that they can work and at the same time go directly from grammar school into the Tech night school, their habits of study are unbroken.

Enrollment and registration for this year's session began on Monday morning and is the largest up to date in the history of the institution. The night school is a regular department of the Georgia School of Technology and is given advantages free of studying under the Tech faculty and working in the Tech shops. The courses which may be taken at the Tech night school include architecture, mechanical drawing, electrical engineering, woodwork, machine shop, mechanical engineering, mathematics, chemistry, English and others. It is believed that making the age limit lower will increase materially the attendance of the school.

WARMER TODAY SAYS WEATHER RHYMESTER

Forecaster Von Hermann Is Only Responsible for the Prose.

Once again the weather man obliging ever, like his own whispers over Wednesday. Those with scanty pocketbook ice the telephone. 'Twill be warmer men, cops and other folk, chortle to each other thus. 'Twill be warmer Wednesday Satan in his domain says he heaps the coals—'Twill be warmer Wednesday. Some worn mother babe at breast rocks the thin clad child to rest amid her mist her tears she says. 'Twill be warmer Wednesday. Thus this great old world of ours laughs when after drizzly hours—after cold and rainy days 'Twill be warmer Wednesday. (After Walt Mason)

BRYAN'S PEACE PLAN ACCLAIMED AT HAGUE

Washington September 16—Secretary Bryan's peace plan for the settlement of international difficulties through the force of sober second thought and the good offices of an impartial commission was received with acclaim at the recent meeting of the international conference at The Hague according to Senator Burton one of the American delegates who returned here today. The Bryan plan said the senator was received better than almost anything that was talked over. The only objection to the proposal seemed to be that during the period provided for the investigation of grievances a commission of the great powers would not make any additions to the war equipment. Several nations did not seem to like that provision but it was a vital part of the plan. The Bryan plan was only talked about at The Hague its adoption depends upon the countries of the world invited to enter into it by the secretary.

SLAYER OF STEWART IS LODGED IN JAIL WITH HIS FATHER

Rome, Ga., September 16—(Special) Nick Carver the Rome youth, accused of the murder of J. M. Stewart a farmer, gave himself up to the authorities this afternoon, and was lodged in the county jail, in company with his father Thomas Carver, who brought him to town. Stewart died yesterday from the effects of a blow on the head which witnesses at the coroner's inquest say was delivered by a heavy oak stick in the hands of Carver. The elder Carver is held as an accessory though it is not believed that he was directly concerned. Young Carver was arrested for fighting before it was realized that Stewart's wound would terminate fatally. He was released on bond and disappeared when it became known that Stewart had died. Officers kept a close watch and it was found that he had been concealed at his home near town by his father. When the elder man found out the state of affairs he brought the 19-year old lad to town, and surrendered him to Sheriff Dunehee. The trouble arose at a beer drinking on the banks of the Coosa. Tom Carver and Dick Aycock were engaged in a rough and tumble fight, and Stewart an onlooker was encouraging Aycock. Witnesses at the coroner's inquest say that young Carver was angered at this partisanship and wresting the branch from a tree dealt Stewart a mighty blow that fractured his skull.

Cleverly eluding detectives from police headquarters, the wife of a well-known Alabamian and a prominent physician of a city near Birmingham are said by an Alabama district attorney to be in Atlanta in violation of the Mann white slave act. The district attorney it is said has communicated with police authorities in Atlanta asking that the couple be put under arrest and held for Alabama officials who would return them to their native state under charges of white slavery. All day Tuesday detectives scoured the downtown district. Every hotel register was scanned and the faces of the passing throng were searched at the close of an unsuccessful day, the headquarters men declared belief that the man and woman had been informed that the police were on their trail and had taken refuge in some obscure place. It is reported that the woman, who is described as being apparently 24 years old clad in an expensive traveling suit with gray toque came to Atlanta with the physician under pretense of entering a sanitarium here under the medical man's charge. The husband, it is said, grew suspicious and upon receiving rumors from Atlanta, requested the district attorney's action. Chief Lanford and Chief Beavers, at headquarters will not talk.

Face Grave Situation

"Whether any danger along this line or not we are certainly facing grave prospects if the cotton crop is only by the application of business rules and as producers we should realize the true situation and avoid the threatening conditions of the future for if we would hold our own and make any progress whatever there are elements and many changes that must be made all along the line.

Prejudice Will Disappear

If we do our duty in the preparation of a cotton for the market we may reasonably expect to see prejudice against the American bale disappear. You will save in freight and insurance the tare will not only be further reduced but on this question of tare cotton bales should be treated as other commodities penalties now provided will be removed and in defiance of all competition American cotton will occupy its former exalted position. Millions will be added to the wealth of the United States. Millions more will be saved for our own use and all will be proud of our achievements.

SOCIAL DUTIES FORCE "BLUES" TO DISBAND

Company F of the Fifth regiment better known as the Fulton Bls or will disband next December when the enlistments of the men at present forming the company will expire. This is stated comes about by reason of the fact that the Blues whose personnel figures prominently in society and especially in the first night parties in the theaters and it is possible to all their social engagements and attend drill at one and the same time. Company F upon the retirement of the present membership will be recruited from other companies of the regiment until new enlistments are sufficient to form a new company. The company of Captain Harrison Jones who is in command of the Fulton Blues, has made for itself an enviable record during the two years of its service. While the Fulton Blues have figured very prominently in social events they have not let that stand in the way of coming up to the scratch in every instance, and the Fifth will lose a good company when this one disbands.

SLATON ASKED TO REFUSE PARDON

Mass Meeting at Swainsboro Condemns Action of Prison Commission Recommending Clemency for McNaughton.

Swainsboro, Ga., September 16—(Special)—A petition issued as a result of a mass meeting of Dhanuel county citizens at Swainsboro called for the purpose of publicly condemning the action of the prison commission in recommending a full pardon for Dr. W. J. McNaughton who was convicted here in 1910 of the murder of Fred Henders and who has been three times sentenced to death was sent to Governor Slaton today.

The men who attended the meeting were greatly incensed at the action saying they were entirely unable to understand why the courts of the land should be overruled the sentence of judges set aside and the verdict of unbiased juries disregarded.

The petition is signed by a committee composed of J. P. Price, E. C. Branham, S. S. Moore, W. P. Thompson and R. L. Colson and asks and respectfully demands that the governor show no clemency for the condemned physician.

We are convinced beyond doubt they say that if this recommendation is heeded by his excellency, it will directly foster and instigate lynch law, as men will feel no protection under the law and it will ultimately lead to anarchy which we know is a blot on civilization and will impoverish us of justice and the freedom which our fathers fought to establish.

The mass meeting was hurriedly called and in its impromptu fashion stated its position on the question at hand.

Governor Slaton late Tuesday night declared he had received a message from J. F. Price of Swainsboro asking him to delay action in the McNaughton pardon matter until both sides could be heard from.

The governor declared that he did not know until Tuesday what the purport of the message was but that he had then heard that some Swainsboro citizens were protesting against granting a pardon to Dr. McNaughton.

I wrote Mr. Price today, said the governor and told him that I would soon hear arguments in the McNaughton matter as I have gone over the papers in the case and notified him to be present at the argument at date.

PRESIDENT GORDON POINTS OUT DANGERS

And Says Clark Amendment on Cotton Futures Will Hurt Farmers and Mill Men

Columbus, Ga., September 16—(Special)—W. B. Gordon, president of the cotton manufacturers' association of Georgia and one of the leading cotton mill men of the state, has written a letter to Georgia's senators and representatives concerning the proposed tax of 50 cents per bale on dealings in cotton futures.

In his letter, President Gordon refers to a telegram sent Senator Simmons, chairman of the senate finance committee in July, protesting against the Clark amendment and in which he said: "If legislation must be had to stamp gambling in cotton or other products for gambling purposes only, then there should be an exemption made in order to protect the farmers and manufacturers who use the cotton exchanges in order to keep from gambling."

President Gordon's letter, continuing President Gordon in his letter to the Georgia senators and representatives, says:

Within the last two years the exchange has perhaps the most sudden advance in the price of both cotton and cloth that has been seen since the early '90s.

As a business man as well as a legislator, I ask you to note the following with approval: It is not into the bargain the private members of the corporation of which I am the executive head as my only object in doing so is to impress upon you the practical application of the proposition stated in my telegram to senator Simmons.

During the last two days the Columbus Manufacturing company has been offered an order for 50,000 bales for both aggregating $500,000 with shipments running up to July, 1924. This is nothing extraordinary, as with the cotton of the world and other mills are doing the same in larger or lesser degrees.

The point I would like to stress would be that we accept these future orders for cloth if we could not have hedged with the mill base of either spot or future deliveries of cotton. We could not have hedged in rank gambling if we had done so.

How is Farmer Helped?

With the facilities offered however, by the cotton exchanges of the country we could not hedge these sales by contracts of the order and January contracts so called as spot cotton at this time of the year was not available. Now in what way has this transaction helped the man who uses the cotton?

First—We have committed ourselves to buy 2,000 bales of spot cotton as soon as available. We cannot spin future cotton and will thus be sure to be in the market and to sell the demand to that extent and thus the price of the cotton will be the price of spot cotton.

Second—Being protected by this hedge and with the usual fluctuations in the market and futures market, we would rather see cotton go up than to see it go down. In the cloth market would thus be sustained. On the other hand if the cotton exchange were favored out of existence, the whole market for modern mill cotton buying will be thrown out of gear. The only people who will be benefited will be the very large mills and other big spot cotton operators who will sit back and complacently watch spot cotton accumulate at sundry, on contracting points, in the south and when the load gets too big for the local banks they will step in and buy at their own price and the grower of the cotton will be the sufferer.

No official grower or member of the Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' association desires to put his judgment up against the combined wisdom of his senators or representatives in congress, but we do ask you to go slow on the Clark amendment.

There has been some complaint of the usages prevailing in the cotton exchanges. Would it not be wise to inaugurate this cotton futures question from the tariff bill and let a special committee take up the whole matter pending the next session of congress?

Money in Sight

A good deal of money for real estate transactions is in sight at the present time. It is the opinion of many of the eastern real estate companies, as well as the money out to investors at very attractive rates.

While there has been somewhat of a "hangover" during the summer months due to various causes, it is thought that this will speedily vanish with the easy movement of the crops.

Several large announcements are expected in the realty field within the next two weeks. It is believed that they will carry recently several northern capitalists made a trip to Atlanta looking over the situation with a view of investing in a certain class of business houses.

He predicts his plan will be adopted by congress before the 1934 meeting of the carriers.

PROBING THE DEATH OF MISS WARFIELD

Baltimore, Md., September 16.—Important developments are expected to result from the investigation by the state Attorney E. O. Weant of Carroll county is making into the death of Miss Fila Warfield, a relative of former Governor Edwin Warfield. Miss Warfield had been 31 years old, died in the middle of the night at her farm near Skylineville about seven weeks ago.

It developed recently that in empty bottles used to have contained poison was found on her bed. This certificate issued by Dr. Daniel B. Sprecher, gave acute induration as the cause of death. Dr. Sprecher said he gave the certificate at the suggestion of Coronor Ora Miller, a cousin of the dead woman.

Mr. Weant today refused to disclose the contents of a note found beside the body. Those familiar with the inquiry believe this note throws considerable light on the death of Miss Warfield.

COTTON NERVOUS AND UNSETTLED

Early Losses Were More Than Recovered and Market Closed Net Five Points Lower to One Point Higher

New York September 16—The cotton market was not more than moderately active today and fluctuations were irregular enough to suggest rather nervous and unsettled conditions. A decline was expected about the time that advances above 12 cents brought out freer offerings from the south and caused a withdrawal of trade buying orders. On the other hand there were many who held an increasing demand for the cotton as the decline while further bullish reports were received from the north.

The news from Washington in the trade uncertain as to the probability of the cotton returns. The tariff in the cotton market was encouraged a hope that the present tariff would be considerably modified if it was not entirely eliminated. The news have contributed to the market advance. Cable news from London, although private advices from the pool reported increased in the cotton and a slack spot demand in the result of a railroad strike.

READING STOCKS LED IN ADVANCE

That Stock Was Bid Up Three Points to Highest Figure of the Year—Amalgamated Also Made New High Record.

New York, September 16—Operations on the long side were resumed in the stock market today. They were with indifferent success. The position of the market having been strengthened by the realizing yesterday following that week's advance bulls sought to bring about a continuation of the movement forward. The pronounced rise of a few leaders failed to arouse enthusiasm and traders lacked the breadth of last week.

Reading apparently was selected by common consent as the leader in attempts to bid up the list. Copper shares too were favored by reason of the further decrease in European supplies and the advancing price of this metal. Reading under the spur of consistent bidding mounted more than 2 points to 16 1/2. The high figure of the year Amalgamated also made a new high record for the year by rising 2 points to 30 1/2.

Various other standard shares made gains of a point or more but fluctuations were variable. Toward the close selling pressure became greater and gains were mostly eliminated. There were a few points of weakness. New Haven fell to a new low record at 8 1/2. The rising tendency of the money market operated against continuation of the active bull movement. Money rates which were advanced yesterday all around held strong today. Foreign exchange rates again weakened and there was much discussion of the possibility of gold imports.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE

New York, September 16—Money call firm at 2 1/2 to 3 percent. Exchange rates were weak. The market was quiet and prices were firm.
