OFFICER ARRESTED IN EFFORT TO FREE HIS TWO PRISONERS

Queer Legal Tangle Results From Attempt to Take Two Men From Birmingham to Charlotte.

KIDNAPING IS CHARGED TO CAROLINA DETECTIVE

Prisoners Legally Taken in Charge by Authorities, Declares Attorney for Arresting Officer—Hearing Today.

With his two prisoners, whom he is charged with having kidnaped, locked securely in the Tower, Detective J. D. Johnson, of Charlotte, N. C., has been released from Justice Jordan's court on his own recognizance to appear in court today.

The case is one of the most interesting in local court and police circles. He was arrested Friday on a warrant from Judge Jordan's court charging kidnaping at the instigation of Gober & Jackson, attorneys. He was at the Terminal station at the time, preparing to board a train for North Carolina with W. M. Cleveland and J. P. Smith, two prisoners he had brought from Birmingham.

A preliminary hearing was held before Judge Jordan. The detective was released on his own recognizance. His prisoners were ordered to the Tower to appear as "material witnesses" in the case.

Check Manipulation Charged. The attorney for Johnson's prisoners, who are being carried back to Carolina on a check manipulation charge, is now on his way to Atlanta from Birmingham.

Smith and Cleveland were wanted in Charlotte. It is said, for bogus checks manipulated with a check book belonging to a Birmingham merchant.

Asked for Delay. Judge Gober, of Gober & Jackson, claiming to represent the prisoners, asked Justice Jordan for delay on the grounds that certain evidence could not be obtained.

Mother on Way to Serve Life Sentence Fails to See Her Children in Orphanage

Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins Leaves Atlanta to Begin Serving Life Sentence at State Farm at Milledgeville.

Reading from left to right: Thurmond, Bessie and Harold, the three young children of Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins.

The face of Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins, sentenced to life in prison for the murder of her husband in Hall county, peered sadly from the window of a Pullman as the train that bore her to the state farm at Milledgeville sped past the Hapeville orphanage yesterday at noon, where her three children have been sent by the state.

Thurmond, the oldest, is eight years. Bessie, the six, and Harold, the baby, is only two years of age. It is the first time since her husband's death that Mrs. Hawkins has not seen since her trial several months ago.

The guard, however, had a number of official papers to sign at the capitol before leaving for Milledgeville. With Mrs. Hawkins, she visited the governor's office, where they were detained for a few minutes.

At police headquarters, she talked freely and even gaily with reporters and posed for photographers. Throughout the morning, she anticipated being able to go with her official escort, Transfer Guard Gardner, of the state prison, to Hapeville to see the children.

Friday in unrelieved black from head to foot. The youngsters have entered into the life of the orphanage with a kind of childish suspicion.

TARIFF SETTLED SAVE FOR TAX ON COTTON FUTURES

With Exception of This Single Feature, House and Senate Conferes Have Settled Their Differences.

BILL TO REACH WILSON BY LAST OF NEXT WEEK

Conference Agrees to Report Disagreement on Taxing Future Trading in Cotton to Both Houses.

Washington, September 26.—The tariff bill is tonight a completed document except for the provision taxing trades in cotton futures. After more than two weeks of constant work behind closed doors, the eight democrats representing senate and house, as members of the conference committee, late today settled the last of their differences.

Early tomorrow a completed proof of the conference report will be taken up for revision by the democrats. The senate republican members of the conference committee were summoned today to meet as a full committee tomorrow at 10 o'clock Monday.

The final differences in the bill were adjusted as follows: The house receded from its rate of one-half cent per pound on lead ore, and accepted the senate rate of three-fourths cent per pound.

The house receded from its rate of 12 1/2 per cent ad valorem on zinc ore and accepted the house rate of 10 per cent. The house gave up its demand that the woolen tariff rates go into effect at once and agreed to the dates fixed by the senate, namely: Woolen goods, January 1, 1914; raw wool, tops and waste, December 1, 1913.

The final agreements were reached late in the afternoon after a day in which President Wilson had again been consulted by leaders of both houses, and after a session of the senate on Tuesday afternoon requests were sent to the republican conferees to meet tomorrow afternoon at 10 o'clock.

It is expected that objections will be made to the conference report when it reaches the house Monday. Tordoff, chairman of the senate committee on cotton futures, which revised the schedules upon a new basis of thread count.

It is believed the bill cannot be completed before the end of the next week, owing to parliamentary stages through which it must go and the new conference that must be arranged on the cotton future question.

GOTHAM COPS FIRED FOR NEGLECTING DUTY

New York, September 26.—A police captain, sergeant and patrolman were summarily suspended shortly after midnight this morning by Police Commissioner Waldo when he discovered, he says, that gambling tables were running wide open in Chinatown. Commissioner Waldo's action followed a personal investigation in Chinatown late last night. Those suspended are Captain Frank J. Tierney, Sergeant Owen J. Keagan and Patrolman Louis Gray.

TORTURED BY UGLY ITCHING ERUPTION

Baltimore, Md.—My little daughter was taken with a very small spot on the back of her hand. It grew larger and caused her more trouble. When she would scratch it, it would bleed and get very ugly looking, so I doctored it myself for about a year, and at last it broke out on both knees, and when she would go to bed she would scratch and w.s. so tortured and suffered so from the itching that I took her to our doctor, who recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment.

Improved with first application. I sent for samples, and after the first application the itching and inflammation was improved, and I kept it up night and morning, and by the time the sample was gone she complained very little, so I got a fifty-cent jar, and before that was half gone the trouble had entirely disappeared. (Signed) Mrs. Maude Schmechel, 2737 Presbury St., Nov. 5, 1912. Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Mrs. Schmechel, say of it. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. The nearest druggist sells them, or write to Dept. 20-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample.—(Adv.)

"PENNSY" ROAD TO SELL ANTHRACITE HOLDINGS

To Dispose of Property Owned Nearly 40 Years to Dodge Anti-Trust Law.

Philadelphia, September 26.—President Rea, of the Pennsylvania railroad, announced today that the board of directors of the company had decided to sell its security holdings in the anthracite coal companies which have been attached to its system for nearly forty years.

The Susquehanna Coal company is the principal operating company and selling agency for these companies. The announcement that the corporation intended to sell its anthracite holding was wholly unexpected and all efforts to get an explanation from the company were futile.

The Pennsylvania railroad, through the Susquehanna Coal company and affiliated companies produced and shipped approximately ten per cent of the hard coal mined. The company owned or controlled about 17,000 acres of anthracite coal land.

Washington, September 26.—The department has on hand an active campaign to dissociate the so-called hard coal railroads from their coal properties. Suits already are pending against the Reading and the Lackawanna under the anti-trust law. The application of the commodities clause of the interstate commerce act to the Erie and the Lehigh Valley has been under consideration.

CARLTON'S 36 WHITEHALL

SAYS SULZER ASKED HIM TO PERJURE SELF

The first evidence to support the charges that the governor used some of the $300,000 in Wall Street, "Phillip Boyer, head of the New York Stock exchange firm of Griswold & Co., and two of his employees, testified to the purchase by Colwell of $120,000 worth of Big Four stock which was paid for by seven checks given Sulzer, his own personal check for $90,000 and $125,000 from the Frank W. Sulzer Company.

On behalf of the laymen of this court," he said, "I ask a ruling on this question: Am I making this request in a mindful of the words of counsel that such proceedings as this may be the result of crooks and criminals to save themselves from prosecution, as a result of their own misdeeds, or to prevent other ulterior motives?"

At the opening of today's session Attorney Kresal introduced in evidence letters written last fall by Sulzer to William J. Elias and William Hoffmann, brewers, who contributed to the fund turned over to Sulzer by former Senator John Dooling.

The governor thanked Hoffman "for all you have done in my behalf." The letter to Elias expressed appreciation for "your letter and inclosure." Judge Lewis J. Conlon, of New York city, the first witness, told of handing Sulzer a $100 check from Daniel M. Brady.

"What kind of contribution was it?" asked John B. Stanchfield, of counsel for the impeachment managers. "It was a contribution to help him along in his campaign," said Judge Conlon.

"What kind of contribution was it?" asked John B. Stanchfield, of counsel for the impeachment managers. "It was a contribution to help him along in his campaign," said Judge Conlon.

Objections Overruled. Judge Conlon then continued his testimony. He said he had talked with Fogarty about helping Sulzer.

"Did you tell him?" asked Judge Herrick, "that he ought to have a new suit or to get a new coat?"

"Well, if I did it was a joke," the witness replied. Judge Conlon then continued his testimony. He said he had talked with Fogarty about helping Sulzer.

"Did you know and $40,000 or $50,000 in New York banks?" asked Mr. Stanchfield. Mr. Marshall was on his feet in an instant with an objection that this question was "insulting and undignified."

He Destroyed Check. Daniel M. Brady, the next witness, declared he had destroyed the check and stub, which he had contributed to Sulzer.

"Why did you destroy them?" asked Senator Busby. "Because I realized the entire matter was a fight between two factions, was not friendly to both sides and I didn't want to get mixed up in it."

Speculations in Street. Retly is a wealthy railroad contractor for the Cuban government. The speculation then turned to the fact that the governor had used campaign contributions in speculation in Wall Street.

YOUNG FARMERS ARE SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Officers Investigating Shootings Near Statesboro and Sparta.

Statesboro, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Mystery surrounds the death of a young white man named Davis, son of Obadiah Davis, a well-known farmer living in the lower section of this county.

The young man was found lying by the roadside this afternoon by parties passing through in an automobile. He had been shot and the reports indicate that he was probably ambushed.

The first reports have been confirmed by a meeting of the grand jury in Statesboro, who telephoned Ordinary Cox to send the coroner and sheriff late this afternoon.

Hancock Farmer Shot. Sparta, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The death of a prominent farmer in this county, was waylaid and shot from ambush while he was on route to this place from his farm, which is situated about 10 miles from here.

The wounded man will recover, although his condition is serious. A warrant has been sworn out and served on W. S. Cox, a merchant of Mt. Zion, in this county, charging him with the crime.

James Temple Gwynn, a New York cotton merchant, was next called. He told of a check for $100 which he requested should be used for the governor's personal expenses.

"I wish this money to be devoted to that cause alone," the letter stated. "I am not interested in the success of any one man, but in the success of the cause."

Judge Herrick, upon cross-examination, brought out that Mr. Gwynn and other members of the Manhattan club had talked over Sulzer's financial condition.

"And made up your minds to be impetuous?" asked Judge Herrick. "And had made up your minds to help him along?"

"And had decided to help him along personally?" Judge Herrick asked. "Was the contribution made by you for Sulzer's personal benefit and not for the benefit of the cause?"

WHEN BRYAN WAS ASKED TO ENTER THE CABINET

Washington, September 26.—How well Woodrow Wilson, as president-elect, and William J. Bryan, as private citizen, are getting along is illustrated today by a chance conversation at the white house between Charles J. Furey, a hotel proprietor of Trenton, N. J., and Mr. Bryan.

"You remember, Mr. Furey, don't you," remarked Secretary Tumulty as Mr. Bryan happened along and shook hands, "that I asked you to enter the cabinet?"

"Oh, yes," smiled the secretary of state. "I remember him well. It was at his hotel in Trenton that I approached to enter the cabinet."

"CAN'T FIRE MAN FOR DOING DUTY"

Chief J. L. Beavers in No Immediate Danger of Recall, Declares Mayor James G. Woodward.

Mayor James G. Woodward, leader of Atlanta's charter reform advocates, is of the opinion that the adoption of the "recall" amendment to the city charter does not place Police Chief J. L. Beavers in immediate jeopardy.

Beavers is in no more danger of being recalled than any other city official, the mayor said. In the first place it will have to be shown that Beavers, or any other city official for that reason, is guilty of some infraction of the law or of the civil service rules.

You can't fire a man for doing his duty. Certainly, the people of Atlanta will not sustain any move to remove Beavers or any other officer for enforcing the law.

The adoption of the recall amendment was the merest political accident. Sincerest among the advocates of the amendment were the promoters of the charter amendment.

Woodward is not likely to soon enter into another charter fight. He said Friday afternoon that he did not receive the support promised him in his fight and now that he has emerged from the contest with his feet clear, he will let the other fellows take up the cudgel.

I don't mind getting into a fair fight but I don't like the idea of working alone with such great odds against me. He said Friday afternoon that he did not receive the support promised him in his fight and now that he has emerged from the contest with his feet clear, he will let the other fellows take up the cudgel.

Opponents of the present antiquated charter have the advantage in any campaign which might be started for a new one. They can draft a dozen charters, but the people can force through the operation of the initiative referendum and recall a vote on commission charter.

Council can be forced to refer to the people for approval or disapproval and any act of council or the mayor can be approved or disapproved by a vote of the people.

sort of municipal legislation they want. Any act of council or the mayor can be approved or disapproved by a vote of the people.

However, there is little danger of the much dreaded recall being put into operation in the immediate future. Those who have not given careful study to the recall amendment have indulged in speculation and there, and Chief Beavers and Mayor Woodward have been mentioned freely as being the first to feel the sting of public disapprobation.

There has been, as far as can be ascertained, no petition circulated for the removal of any officer from the executive office.

It will require a petition signed by 25 per cent of the qualified voters to recall an officer. It is doubtful if that percentage of the voters could be induced to sign a petition against Chief Beavers and in the event such a petition should be secured the petitioners would be forced to show good and sufficient cause in fact that they would appear to show cause before starting the petition.

Mr and Mrs Horace Parker, of Decatur, accompanied by Miss Alice Reed, reached Atlanta late Friday morning after an automobile trip from Bgaton. The journey of 1,300 miles consumed thirteen days.

One road in North Carolina has been abandoned even by teams, for the past two years, yet the map of the New York-Atlanta route gives this road as the "high" highway. There, new road at this point, built of crushed stone, that we heard of later.

According to an announcement issued Friday by Superintendent William M. Staton, of the public schools, the board of education has decided on a lot in East Atlanta for the erection of a new graded school. The lot selected fronts 300 feet on Metropolitan avenue, with a depth of nearly 300 feet, and is situated within a few feet of Morland avenue.

CATTLE FOR GEORGIA.
 The invasion of Argentine beef has been gun. The Associated Press reports that the other day one thousand quarters, the largest single shipment from the South American country, was received. Others are forthcoming.

That sounds warning to America. It sounds warning specifically to Georgia. No state in America takes precedence of Georgia when it comes to the potentialities of cattle raising. Experts living here and visiting from abroad have testified that in climate, soil and crops, and grazing space, it surpasses any of the famed western states.

Cattle raising could be made a Georgia industry almost on a par with cotton. Certainly, with the boll weevil approaching, the expediency of its revival is not open to question. As bankers and business men have told the Constitution, the solution lies in country bankers and merchants broadening their credit stipulations to include cattle. Outlawing the practice of slaughtering very young calves, raising the grade of cattle generally, would help. The quicker action is taken, the better position Georgia will occupy to offset the needless foreign invasion.

MAKING HIGHWAY SENTIMENT.
 George W. Bennett, vice president of the Willys Overland Automobile company, in a recent interview expressed sound views regarding the usefulness of automobile clubs in America. He pointed out that the auto had long ago become democratized, that a million cars were today in use by practically every class in America and outlined some of the more important accomplishments of automobile associations as follows:

These clubs did a great deal toward breaking down the prejudice against the automobile that prevailed for a considerable time. When the organization found that they could exercise a moral supervision over their membership they condemned reckless driving and other practices on which this prejudice was based. In only exceptionally short time the reckless driver who belonged to an automobile club was the exception. Another feature of the importance of the automobile club is the fact that its influence has been constantly widening, where, heretofore it had been almost purely local. There are in round numbers, practically one million cars now in use in the United States and at least half and perhaps more, of the owners of these cars belong to various automobile clubs. Thus the movements for safe and sane driving and other improvements are nationwide.

Mr. Bennett could have added that the owner of the automobile has been of nationwide service in intensifying the sentiment for good roads. Once a man owns or even rides in a car, he becomes a convert to the cause of decent year round highways. This is not because of the speed mania, but for the reason that the man behind the wheel is given more ocular demonstration of the tangible value of the well surfaced road and the road without grades than the pedestrian, and oftener than the driver of a team. It is notable that since the farmer became a patron of the auto, the sentiment for good roads has advanced by leaps and bounds. He sees what he has to gain in decreased cost for wear and tear in marketing his products and in better transportation facilities as between town and the farm.

Another valuable feature of autolists' associations is that they beat down barriers and build up fellowship. The establishment of relations of this nature is one of the first aids to development, and co-operation in projects looking toward good citizenship. Since the auto has come to stay and increases phenomenally each year in numbers, its constructive influence will be manifest in a rapidly ascending ratio.

He reviews the stirring history of the publication and the part it has played in the literature and the policies of various American eras. Speaking for himself, Mr. Yard believes that American life is "richer many times over in feeling and action" since the day Richard Watson Gilder, now dead, saw with clear vision the growth in creative power in our literature and its increasing intensity of life, such as would inspire literary art.

Among the most significant indications of Mr. Yard's utterances is that they express a broad and deep appreciation of the sweeping readjustments now in process in this country. He shows that thought and action are pitched to a new and a more piercing key, that old customs are disappearing, the conventionalities of yesterday merging into new "farthest norths" visible in our time. Social levels are being re-adjusted, he says, the feminist movement is portentous and purity in politics is rapidly becoming a national slogan.

It was to have been expected that the new editor of the Century would align himself strongly against muckraking. The magazine he now directs has ever been noted for its justice and temperance, and during the age of hysteria and mud-slinging among the periodicals of lesser class it stood out like a stone wall for sanity and calm.

Mr. Yard reaffirms the intention of the magazine to be a help to human progress. The Constitution is sure it will be under the guidance of a man with such a clear conception of his convictions and such fecundity in expressing them.

THE STRIKE DOOMED.

Cables from England represent that that country may be on the verge of one of the most disastrous industrial strikes in history. Transport workers, whether attached to railroads or steamer lines, dock men and their sympathizers generally, threaten to lock horns with employers over the question of recognizing the union. By the time this editorial is printed it may be that the genius of Lloyd George and of Asquith, which quieted a previous strike of colossal nature, may be effectual in this instance. It is at least to be hoped that no such catastrophe as that outlined will ever materialize. For if traffic were paralyzed at London the effect would be felt everywhere a vessel floats or an engine turns a wheel.

Some weeks ago one of the foremost authorities on mediation in this country told The Constitution that he believed the day of the strike was over. "Both sides have discovered the futility," he said, "and both sides have found that once reasonable men sit down to reasonable conference, there are few tangles that cannot be resolved or compromised."

The Constitution believes that view is sound, whether applied to this country, England, or any other in civilization. But that does not deter us from the conviction that, situations of this gravity should be met in the future by compulsory arbitration. In days gone by, when industry was disorganized and chaotic, strikes were more or less local in their effect. Today, our processes of civilization are so intimately related that a big strike in New England damages business in Georgia and vice versa. Like a human body, we have now reached the stage where we are bound together by ligaments, blood vessels and nerves. Disturbance in one portion of the body politic is felt in the other.

That is why the third party, the greatest party, the public, should hereafter be the dominant consideration in all industrial disputes. This does not mean that justice should be denied either to labor or capital. It means that the public's business should be to see that each is given a square deal but that in the process the public itself shall enjoy a square deal.

It is only when we thoroughly understand and concede the interdependence of every man, woman and child in our twentieth century society that we shall do justice to all alike.

Women wouldn't gain anything by practicing law in England, since the battling suffragettes have put law out of business.

The people won't get well acquainted with the new tariff until they have an opportunity to see where it hits.

The rumbling wheels of the Prosperity Wagon make better music than all the cymbals of the campaign bands.

His lawyers won't despair, even if Thaw is returned to Matteawan. It's merely a matter of in ag'in, out ag'in, law ag'in, jaw ag'in.

After wanting the earth and getting it, the food trust makes it mighty hard for folks to live on it.

The novel-writers are overlooking a chance. A story entitled "The Man in the Green Hat" would create a rush to the book stalls.

There is universal curiosity as to how high the cost of living can go without getting dizzy enough to fall.

Hobson hasn't enlarged on the Mexican problem. Only big wars circulate in his dreams.

"If the folks are all at home," said Joy,
 "Just heat the griddle,
 An' while the feast is on the way I'll hit up
 my old fiddle!
 I'll give you 'Georgia
 Land,'
 To beat the biggest
 band,
 An' lead you to the high hills
 Where the happy fellows stand!"

"Trot out all yer troubles
 —no matter how
 they rise,
 I'll make 'em see the sunshine chain' shad-
 ders from the skies!"
 "Get ill make em feel
 Like koin' toe-an'-heel,
 World a-goin' round em in a ole Virginny
 reel!"

"It'll strike a tune that's liftn—that'll show
 the door to Care
 Wouldn't trade my fiddle fer a grouchy millionaire!
 Rise up, one an' all,
 When you hear the fiddle's call—
 Grab yer wimblel troubles, an' whirl 'em
 'round the ball!"

Secrets From Georgia.
 The life in the old land all depends upon
 how much there is in the people of the diggins.

If you can't get to be the bandmaster,
 maybe the crowd won't hold you responsible
 for the music.

Sigh'n' because your dreams are slow in
 comin' true will never make the lean calf
 fat enough for killin' hills.

Even if you can't keep up with the proceSSION, make a noise like you're gittin'
 there and the world'll cry "Hooryay!"

While you're countin' yer troubles a
 regimint o' blessings halts at the door, but they don't want to disturb a man on his busy day.

It Shocks Billyville.
 "When we think of the doings in that Tennessee legislature," says the Billyville Banner, "we are thankful that we are livin'
 under law and order. No such capers are ever out in this heaven-blessed section. It's true we go armed here now and then, but
 that's only for a protection agin' the government whose agents don't want even the moonshine of the skies to be free! We knew a judge who went armed for a week
 or so but that was after a fool lawyer had
 waylaid him on the big road an' beat him
 up for decidin' a case ag'in him. A legislator's business is to quit his foolin' an' draw
 his pay."

When You Rise.
 When you rise to the heights
 In the glory of the lights
 Don't forget the brother in the valley where
 he fights!

Let your glance go down
 When they're handing you the crown,
 To the brother in the battle there, in Tribulation Town.

So, when you rise
 To singing, after signs,
 Lead the battling brother to the sunlight
 of the skies!"

"Glory Be!"
 The Bismarck Tribune man has this
 savage comment:
 "A man in Iowa was soundly thrashed
 by his wife last week for not paying his newspaper subscription after she had given him the cash to do it. May her crown be trimmed to order and her harp have an extra string!"

The Worry Fiend.
 He's always findin' something new to worry about."
 What's his latest?
 "He's afraid that if beef goes to a dollar
 a pound his doctor will prescribe it three times a day!"

Charcoal Lines.
 Nothing escapes the Bentztown Bard
 Here are lines to "The Chestnut Vender":
 "Brown'll roast them, oh, my man,
 In the little charcoal pan.
 For with necromance unknowing
 Or your coals an air is blowing
 That with all its sweet of truth
 Kissed us in our ruddy youth
 On the hills of long ago
 Where the winds o' dreaming blow"

The Limit.
 "The town council passed a law against
 the wearing of silk skirts within the city limits," says the Adams Star, "but the women say it's a fool law, as the city fathers
 might have known they wouldn't want to wear 'em in the woods."

What an "AD" Did.
 A Georgia editor isn't certain that advertising "paid" in this man's case, of which a
 local rhymist says:
 "He'll have faith in advertising
 All the days that he's alive.
 Advertised for ONE wife
 And got 'bout twenty-five!"

Says the Joy Man.
 "Set aside just so much joy for every day," says the Joy Man, "but if one day's supply isn't sufficient, take from that of the next day and trust God for the day after!"

"I paid my bill at Higginbottom's grocery
 today," said the landlady, "and I declare
 that I feel better since hearing that man
 talk. So much is being said of crop failures
 and hard times and the high cost of living
 that one becomes discouraged, and it is an inspiration to meet a man like Mr. Higginbottom, who looks on the bright side of things."

"It's easy to be an optimist under such conditions," remarked the star boarder. "Mr.
 Higginbottom's words doubtless were as
 sweet as the song of the bulbul, but for all
 that they were tinkling cymbals and sounding brass. Mrs. Jiggers had you gone into his store and explained that you couldn't pay his bill, and didn't know whether you
 ever could, and had he then handed you
 some of his rosy sentiments, I'd take off my hat to him and cordially admit that such a man is one of the bulwarks of our civilization. But you were paying him money, Mrs.
 Jiggers, and his hopeful dissertation required
 no effort whatever, so he is entitled to no
 admiration."

It seems to me that if somebody came
 along and offered to pay me some real money,
 as you did to Mr. Higginbottom, I'd place on exhibition a line of optimism that would make the professional sunshine dealer look like bone collar buttons. But such things
 never occur to illumine my bleak and blast-er career. Ever and always I am called upon to pay money rather than receive it, and
 usually I am expected to pay in advance.
 Under such conditions how can a man lift
 up his voice in peans of praise?

"My man is a consistent optimist, my dear Mrs. Jiggers. The average citizen is influenced by his own circumstances when trying to decide whether life is a failure or a success.

This morning I dropped into Shoddy's
 clothing emporium, intent upon purchasing
 a suit of clothes, and the garments I wear
 are ordered to an old age pension. When I stepped into the store Mr. Shoddy was just bidding an affectionate farewell to old Bonaset, who had blown himself for a suit,
 and paid the money. I saw Shoddy raking
 the cash into his till, and my heart ached,
 it was so long since I had seen that much money.

He made quite satisfactory. Shoddy was saying, as he pushed the green goods into his drawer, I have every reason to believe we'll have a good fall and winter business, and I have no patience with those business men
 who take a pessimistic view of things, and
 who create uneasiness by their despondent
 talk. If we all wear cheerful faces and show
 our faith in the future, everything will be all right."

"It was a fine line of talk, you must admit,
 Mrs. Jiggers, and I have no doubt that it has a strong family resemblance to the discourse
 of your sunshiny Mr. Higginbottom. I was greatly encouraged when I heard it, for when I entered the store my heart was heavy, and
 whether my standoff was good or felt reassured when I heard Shoddy talk. A man entertaining such sentiments wouldn't be likely to spring the 'No Tick' sign on a conceding customer."

"Cap Bonaset having left the store,
 Shoddy turned to me and asked what he would do for me. All the sunshine had gone out of his face. His countenance looked like a bleak wintry landscape, with storm clouds
 gathering in the northwest.

"I told him that I wanted to buy a good serviceable suit.
 "Of course we can suit you," said he, "but
 we have to have cash down. Mr. Toberman
 The credit list is suspended entirely. The outlook is most gloomy for our fall and winter trade, and I view the future with grave uneasiness. We have to follow the most conservative course possible, and so we cannot extend the usual courtesies in the way of credit. But for cash we can let you have the greatest value for your money you ever got."

"If a glance could kill Mrs. Jiggers, that man Shoddy would be on ice as we go to press. I have encountered so many instances of this kind that I have lost all confidence
 in optimism and optimists. So you may stay
 me with fagons and comfort me with apple
 sauce, Mrs. Jiggers."

Frosted.
 (From The Indianapolis News)
 They are gone. But three days ago they were here, and now they are heard no
 more. They departed with the eager, nipping air of autumn. We miss their music from the maple tree on the sidewalk, the tangled grass of the back yard and from the cherry tree beyond. The three musicians
 —they played like the boys in the German band to pass around the hat—they are gone—the cicada and the cricket with
 their fiddles—and that persistent fiddler
 they were—and the tree frog with his bag-
 pipes. Though in some places the crickets
 will continue the season with indoor performances, they seldom played in concert.

The cicada gave his at farmers usually in the afternoon, closing with the deepening dusk
 of evening. The cricket then came into his closing numbers with a beautiful obligato,
 after which the tree-frog bagpipes gave
 "The Campbells are Coming," or something
 very much like it, until the first gleams of the new day. It is a long established tradition that the first frost comes in six weeks
 after the final performance of the cicada,
 that he is the true herald of the colder
 weather, but this season was scarcely more than five weeks long and it was not determined what initial he bore upon his wings.

Curious Railroad History.
 (From The Chicago News)
 It was not until 1844 that a law was passed in England compelling every railway
 line to run one train each way daily, conveying passengers in covered carriages, at the rate of a penny (2 cents) a mile. The ordinary speed was to be 12 miles an hour.
 "In those days," wrote J. C. Wright, "there were three classes. The third-class coach was little better than a cattle truck. It had no roof and no seats. Into this the passengers were packed and had to stand during
 the whole journey, or, if there was room, to squat on the floor, exposed to the rain or sun, and bombarded by sparks from the engine. Second-class passengers were kindly advised to provide themselves with gauze spectacles and to sit as far from the engine as possible! As for lighting the carriages at night, no such luxury was admitted."

Little Julius Caesar Did It.
 (From The Baltimore Sun).
 If the Massachusetts judge who compels
 boys to repair the damage done by carving
 or writing their initials on doors and
 windows succeeds in breaking the practice,
 he deserves to have his own name carved
 on the scroll of fame. Before George Washington cut down the cherry tree he was scribbling "G. W." all around the premises. Little Julius Caesar probably did the same thing,
 and before Cadmus brought sailing initials
 with the alphabet the boys probably cut
 symbols into soft stone or marked up the
 walls when a cave was the paternal mansion.
 What imp is it that impels a boy to write
 his initials on walls, doors or carve them on trees?

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon are reckoned as being, in many ways, the most interesting of the Seven Wonders of the World.
 Their construction has been variously described, and by many writers it has been doubted whether they really hung or whether
 they were built on a surface, the aspect
 giving the impression of their being suspended.

The Hanging Gardens appear to have been
 a sort of tower or pyramid, rising in terraces,
 planted with trees, bowers and shrubs, and they are said to have been constructed by Nebuchadnezzar for the gratification of his Median Queen, Amytis, because the Baby-
 lonian plains seemed dreary to her in comparison with the varied and romantic scenery
 of her native land.

Many different opinions have been suggested as to the nature of these gardens.
 Strabo says the structure was a square, four
 plethra in area, it rested on arches supported by hollow pillars of burnt brick, filled
 with earth, in which the roots of the trees
 were planted, the top consisting of terraces,
 and a force of men was constantly employed pumping up water from the Euphrates for irrigation.

Certain writers are of the opinion that not Nebuchadnezzar but Semiramis built the Babylonian Hanging Gardens, but this story
 has no historical value. It is thought that the northern portion of the mound, Amran Ibn Ali, which forms part of the ruins of Babylon, occupies that site of the Gardens.

In their disappearance the Hanging Gardens have left no remnant of their marvelous beauty. It is said that at the top of these Hanging Gardens were arbors and banquet rooms distributed through the numerous
 terraces, groves and avenues of trees,
 as well as appartees of flowers, which
 diversified the scene, while the view
 of the city and neighborhood from the Gardens was magnificent.

These famous pebble gardens of Babylon
 were built in the midst of the crowded city
 and were so constructed as to leave part,
 at least, of the space at the ground-level beneath them open to traffic or available for rooms and offices. This probably brought to them the title of "hanging" gardens, but it would not be possible by any means to suspend a series of gardens of such extent and

SOBERNESS
 By George Matthew Adams

There is something fine and stirring about
 the very Face and Attitude of a Sober, Serious man. It so strikingly contrasts with the Face and Attitude of a Sour, Solemn man.
 Soberness is a state of Mind where Thought
 is actively at work—though thoroughly Generalized.

Experience and Responsibility are great benefactors of Soberness. So is Time. But Work that is entered into with spirit and zeal and carried through with confidence and
 a love in its doing, is by all odds greater
 than anything for bringing substantial Soberness and ripeness to a man or woman.

There is nothing light or transitory in the knowledge that you are always engaged in work that has a large bearing on your future.

How the world's efficiency, through all
 the various branches of endeavor, would immediately and phenomenally increase just
 the minute that every human being decided
 to put the full service meaning into his individual work and went ahead eagerly realizing the importance of his hours and days!
 You can get your part in this great ideal
 grandly, simply by doing your work daily
 with the feeling that it is going to last and live.

Get a little Soberness into your make-up.
 Realize that the most Serious as well as the best paying business in the world is that of living a life worthy.

Iceland a Commercial Factor.
 Iceland, for years an exporter of live
 sheep to Scotland and England, is to become a larger factor in the commercial world,
 despite its northern latitude. An English
 concern has closed contracts for the purchase
 of Iceland, the largest waterfalls in the island, situated about thirty-five miles from the seacoast in the river Tokusa, which flows over northern Iceland for one hundred miles and empties into the Arctic ocean. The company will erect large works and construct a railway from the coast to the falls.
 Fertilizer will be produced and the plant
 will require some 400,000-horse power. The power available at the falls purchased is estimated at 410,000 horse power and much more can be obtained in the vicinity if needed. The falls were purchased from four Icelandic peasants each of whom received about thirteen thousand dollars for his interest.

Great Wheat Country.
 (From The Chicago Journal).
 British statisticians estimate the world's
 wheat crop this year at 3,376,000,000 bushels,
 of which the United States is credited with producing 782,000,000. Our own government crop reports fix the wheat yield of the country a little lower, but the difference is not important.

The figures show the tremendous importance of the United States in the food markets of the world. Russia, which holds second place in wheat production, is 200-000,000 bushels short of the American yield.
 Canada and Argentina together grow only
 a little more than half as much wheat as this country. France grows less than half
 as much as other countries, except India,
 are not in the comparison at all.

The importance of Canada and Argentina
 is due to the fact that they can export nearly
 their entire crop, while in this country
 only the surplus left from feeding more than 90,000,000 people is available for export.

Paul Jones' Big Fight.
 (From The Indianapolis News)
 The 28d of September is the anniversary
 of an event that shook the proud supremacy
 and beautiful confidence of the English navy
 in a way that it had not been shaken since
 the Dutch, in the time of Charles II, sailed
 up the Thames. It was on the 23d of September, 1779, that John Paul Jones, in the Bonhomme Richard, off the coast of York,
 fought and defeated the Serapis, commanded by Captain Richard Pearson. This fight took place at night, the Serapis surrender being made at 11 o'clock, after four hours' fighting. The Bonhomme Richard sustained such damage that it was impossible
 to keep her afloat. The next morning her crew went to the Serapis, of which
 Jones took command, and the Bonhomme
 Richard went to the bottom almost immediately. Pearson's countrymen seem to have entertained a high estimate of his merits,
 as on his return to England he was received
 with great distinction and was knighted by George III. In France he was no less flattered, and he was honored on John Paul Jones,
 At the opera and all public places he received enthusiastic ovations. Louis XVI. presented him a gold-hilted sword on which
 was engraved a line in Latin, which, translated, read: "From Louis XVI. in recognition of the services of the brave maintainer
 of the privilege of Jones is reported to have said: Pearson on hearing he had been knighted, "The next time I meet him
 I shall make him a duke."

elaborateness, as has been the impression of
 many in trying to picture their appearance.
 If Nebuchadnezzar really built the Hanging Gardens—and most authorities credit
 him with having done so—their building
 must have taken place at least five centuries
 before the Christian era. Again, if they were made for the delight of his beautiful queen, Amytis, in the eyes of the Babylonians she must have been worthy of the trouble and expense, for it was Nebuchadnezzar's marriage to her that cemented the alliance between the Medes and Babylonians, which made commercial Babylon the metropolis of power as it had long been of wealth and trade.

The Euphrates flows, a furlong wide,
 through the midst of the city of Babylon,
 and the Gardens were erected on its picturesque banks. To gain access to them, we are told, was possible through twelve vaulted passageways, each ten feet wide. Through the shaft that reached to the river the water
 was drawn up into the upper terrace by some mechanism that Diodorus, sundered by an-
 archonism, speaks of as a sort of Archimedes
 screw.

It was undoubtedly a most wonderful structure, these Hanging Gardens, for in the vaulted corridors below the politicians and
 the money changers piled their craft, but the husbandman and the farmer were, for once
 on top, which was a strange situation in Babylon.

The appearance of this structure must have
 been awe-inspiring when it is remembered
 that the old Greek house, with its adobe
 walls, rarely essayed more than a second story, and the modern houses, stretching for miles in every direction, the rearing of a structure covering four acres of ground with a height of 300 feet, and it is easily understood why they are accounted one of the seven wonders of the world.

It seems most unfortunate that so little is known of any of the Seven Wonders of the World, and it is the general opinion of the modern historians they would not present anything remarkable if it would have been possible to have preserved them, and the Hanging Gardens seem to come in for
 the greatest share of criticism on account
 of the exaggerated ideas with which many
 ancient writers viewed them.

Modern Inventions AUTOMOBILE HORNS.
 By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old Stewak"

Some inventions are inspired by angels
 with a friendly feeling for humanity, while others are worked out by the devil in his lush mortals and left around for thoughtless mortals to grope. Most of the automobile horns now in use were thought up by the latter.

An automobile horn is a mechanical innovation by which bad manners can be produced through a simple turn of the wrist. Some horns are made so that they can be operated
 intelligently and politely, and made to say
 "I'm coming" in different tones to the pedestrian. But most of them

WOODWARD SEES POT TO DEFEAT SUPPORTERS

Attacks City Executive Committee for Abolishing Precinct "B" in the Third Ward.

Mayor Woodward launched another attack on the city executive committee yesterday afternoon when he charged that precinct B in the third ward has been abolished to keep down the vote against Alderman James B. Warren and Councilman Orville H. Hall candidates for re-election.

Precedent Is Abolished. Discussing the action of the committee in the third ward polling place the mayor said: "The third ward is one of the largest in the city and heretofore the committee provided two precincts in the charter election of Wednesday."

Keep People From Voting. The move is a slick one to keep the people from voting it does not look like Messrs. Hall and Warren are willing to trust the people although both deny my charge that they were afraid to trust the people.

Library Will Devote Department To Earliest Days of Atlanta

Based on a rare collection of old photographs of Atlanta during reconstruction days, which were donated by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, Miss Katherine Wooten, librarian, is establishing a department in the Carnegie library devoted to Atlanta history and affairs.

The photographs compose one of the rarest and most singular collections in existence. They are scenes of the village of Terminus and Marietta, which would never be recognized as points in the throbbing metropolis of today. There also are numerous war scenes—photographs of actual battle many of which exact photos in the famous Brady collection.

The pictures will be framed and scattered throughout the quarters of the new department. Miss Wooten a devotee to local history and an enthusiast on anything pertaining to Atlanta, has gathered an assortment of curios of the city's career that is highly interesting. She still is engaged in adding to the collection.

Other photographs and memorabilia will be appreciated. Another extension of interest to Atlantans and lovers of southern literature is the Uncle Remus branch of the local library which is to be inaugurated in the Wren's Nest, the memorial to Chandler Harris, when it is opened, October 18.

A stock of Uncle Remus works and biographies, which will include many hitherto unpublished pieces, will be contained in the branch. A children's story hour will be held each Saturday from the famous author's works and the branch will be devoted to the lots. It will occupy one of the handsomest rooms of the building.

Miss Adgate Ellis Entertained At Musical Tea Friday Afternoon

Music and gay flowers and the subdued harmony of silver against dainty china made the background for a happy reunion of the Atlanta colony of ladies at Toxaway the past summer, when Miss Adgate Ellis entertained them yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. W. Thomas and Mrs. Richard W. Johnston, with whom Miss Ellis spent several weeks in North Carolina, were the guests of honor, and Miss Ellis was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., and her grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, of Athens.

The decoration of the house is in autumn colors, with white woodwork and the most brilliant of the autumn flowers found congenial atmosphere. In the reception hall was a jardiniere of cultivated asters in blue, white, and perfect clusters of goldenrod.

In the music room were tall vases of American Beauties and bowls of rich red dahlias. The platters on which tempting sandwiches were passed were garnished with sprays of bright-hued berries, and ices were served in the dining room, which was glowing with yellow bloom and ferns.

The table centerpiece was a tall gilt basket of goldenrod, and the candles and ices were yellow.

In keeping with the informal nature of the occasion was Miss Ellis' playing of her own piano accompaniment for the songs she sang. Her voice is delightful and the charm it holds is completed by the other graceful accompaniment—that she can provide her own instrumental background.

Miss Ellis wore a girlish gown of crepe in tango color, its finishing touch of white with shadow lace. Her guests wore white marquisette, embroidered. Mrs. Lipscomb was gowned in gray brocade, the lace vest finished with a touch of cerise.

Informal Dance.

The bachelors of Paradise Hall will entertain an informal dance Tuesday evening at their home in Ansley Park.

Mrs. Hynds' Luncheon.

Mrs. Arthur Hynds entertained at a luncheon yesterday at her home on Myrtle street in compliment to Mrs. Irwin Culbreth, who, with Mr. Culbreth, has recently returned to Atlanta after a year's absence.

Lace mats covered the table and an artistic arrangement of fall flowers was the central decoration.

Invited to meet Mrs. Culbreth were Mrs. Hinton J. Hopkins, Mrs. Martin Dunbar, Mrs. Estelle Garrett Baker, Misses Nell Phillips, Nell Prince and Nan Stephens.

For Mrs. Thomas.

Mrs. Murchison Thomas of Savannah, was the guest of honor at a pretty luncheon yesterday, given by Mrs. W. W. Roberts at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

The table was covered with a Cluny lace cloth and the centerpiece was a tall vase with white roses and about the table were small silver vases filled with white and white asters in attractive arrangement decorated the house, and a dainty luncheon was served.

The prizes were silk stockings, an embroidered handkerchief and embroidered guest towels.

Bridge Tea.

A pretty compliment to Miss Louise Collier was the bridge tea given yesterday by Mrs. W. W. Roberts at her home at 3 o'clock in compliment to Mrs. Collier at cards were eight of her unmarried friends, and at 3 o'clock as many of her friends as possible joined the group. The prizes were silk stockings, an embroidered handkerchief and embroidered guest towels.

Rummage Sale.

A rummage sale will be conducted today and Monday by the ladies of the Second Baptist church, and contributions are requested. They should be sent early this morning to the sale, 178 Peters street, near Fair.

Candy Pulling.

The ladies of St. Anthony's guild will entertain at a candy pulling Saturday afternoon, 3 o'clock, at the parochial school on Ashby street. All will be welcomed and children assured a good time. Tickets, 10 cents.

MEETINGS

Colonel Lowry Is Home With Boost For the Appalachian Exposition

Colonel Robert J. Lowry, who returned yesterday from a trip to the Appalachian exposition at Knoxville, is full of enthusiasm over the display there, which he says is well worth the time it takes to attend it.

Those Knoxville folk expecting Atlanta to do great things on Atlanta Day, he remarked, "They didn't say so many words, but I could tell that they expect great crowd there on Atlanta Day and that they are looking forward to the exposition of the Spirit on the day devoted to the Gate City."

Colonel Lowry went on to tell of the bustling exhibition at Knoxville, and his pitiable treatment with which he had met in the Tennessee city. He was entertained on Wednesday night at a dinner given to several judges of the

DIVERGENT VIEWS HELD IN BANKING COMMITTEE

Body May Not Be Able to Agree on Bill Framed Along Administration Lines.

Washington, D. C., September 25.—Xenophobic witnesses starting to be heard to consume two or three weeks of time and requests for hearing on the administration currency bill still coming in, the senate committee today adjourned until Monday. Today had been for hearing protests of New England bankers against provisions of the currency bill. The committee will resume on Monday with a continuation of the examination of Samuel Untermyer, who spent a part of two days before the committee yesterday.

The hearings up to date have developed a wide range of disagreement among members of the committee. Divergent are the views expressed in the examination of witnesses that some members believe the committee will be unable to agree on a bill by the end of the administration measure if the disagreements continue it is possible that after the views of bankers and business men from all the country have been considered, an attempt will be made to report to the senate without recommendation.

In this event a series of minority reports will probably be prepared, each condemning different provisions or suggesting different changes.

Enough scores of requests are being received from prospective witnesses for an opportunity to be heard, Chairman Owen said today the hearings could be concluded by the middle of next week.

"Every one who has a right to be heard can be heard by that time," said Senator Owen.

WANTS TO GIVE SANTA FREE USE OF MAILS

Washington, September 25.—Let the Santa Claus of the poor enjoy the use of the tenements who are likely to be overlooked because they live so crowded together, be given free use of the United States mails, the president proposed today.

This was the plea made to President Wilson by Miss Olive May Wilson, of Jenkintown, Pa., who is here to see the president on her way to New York on Christmas presents mailed to poor children.

Filled with the enthusiasm of her cause, Miss Wilson, a young miss, 17 years of age, marched boldly into the presence of the head of the nation and to her honor in the White House in securing legislation, which would allow the "Santa Claus mail," as she calls it, to go free.

Miss Wilson was able to show him a letter she had secured from Vice President Marshall, in which the latter had urged that the Christmas presents would make possible free distribution through the mails of Christmas presents to poor children.

The president encouraged the young advocate by telling her that he would consider the matter and let her hear his decision. She left the white house smiling and happy.

SEN. TILLMAN PROTESTS NAMING OF F. H. WESTON

Washington, September 26.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, went to the white house today to protest against the nomination of Frank I. Weston, recommended by Attorney General Underhill, to be deputy United States district attorney for South Carolina. Senator Tillman had indorsed J. A. Thurmond. He arranged to see the president on the matter, but, however, to discuss the matter fully.

The selection of Weston had been tentatively agreed upon by the administration, it is said, chiefly by United States Senator Ellison Smith in his candidacy for re-election.

KILL BREEDING STOCK CAUSES MEAT SHORTAGE

Washington, September 26.—Shortage of meat supply in England as in the United States is due to a considerable extent to the butchering of breeding stock, according to the chief of the division of animal husbandry of the department of agriculture, who has returned from a four months trip through Europe studying live stock conditions.

Mr. Bell expressed the opinion that after a generation, not the meat supply of England and some other countries, has begun to fence her ranges and reduce the cattle herds, the world supply would shift to Africa.

2,000,000,000 LADY BUGS ARE VISITING CHICAGO

Chicago, September 26.—About two billion lady bugs are flying around Chicago today. They are the property of an employee of the International Refrigeration Exposition at the stock yards waterfront. The frozen insects were packed in an icehouse case with a glass top. When an attendant filled the refrigerator he forgot to close it and the lady bugs flew out by the warm air and flow away.

The lady bugs were shipped from California where they are used to fight the fruit scale. Between seasons they are put on ice and frozen.

PINDELL MAY BE CHOSEN AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA

Washington, September 26.—H. M. Pindell, a newspaper editor of Florida, is foremost among those being considered by President Wilson for ambassadorship to Russia. When Mr. Pindell's nomination will be made within a short time.

Pindell was prominent at the Baltimore convention and was largely instrumental in swinging the big vote of the Illinois delegation for Mr. Wilson at a crucial time. He has been a friend of the president and early in the administration was selected comptroller of currency, but declined.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has appointed a special committee, which Colonel Lowry is chairman, to work up interest in Atlanta Day, on October 7, and to see that a goodly number of people attend.

Arrangements have been made for the drum and bugle corps of the Order of Sons to accompany the Atlanta crowd. The party will leave here at 5 o'clock on October 6 and will return to Atlanta in time to purchase mail on the desks on the morning of October 8.

BETTER LIGHTING SYSTEM PROMISED ATLANA BY PRESIDENT ARKWRIGHT

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, has announced that the lighting company is now improving the city's lighting system by reducing the number of lamps on each circuit.

President Arkwright today announced to the committee of the city council that the electric light committee of council, yesterday afternoon, recommended that the city reduce the number of lamps on each circuit.

Before the complaint reached the power company through an official source, President Arkwright caused the improvement to be made.

GOLDBERG FAILS TO RECOVER FIRE LOSS AFTER LONG FIGHT

Jake Goldberg lost suits aggregating $4,825, with interest from January 1, 1912, yesterday in superior court when Judge Underhill rendered his verdict in favor of the three fire insurance companies whom Goldberg was suing to recover for fire damage to his store at 359 and 332 Decatur street.

The companies sued were The Rutgers Fire Insurance company, the Exchange Underwriters, incorporated, and the Provident Washington Insurance company. From the first two he asked $1,400 and from the latter, $3,425.

Goldberg was running a furniture store at the time of the fire, which he claims was a total loss. The case was brought on to the court on Tuesday, W. D. Ellis and the jury stayed out 21 hours before reaching a decision. The cases were tried together.

Goldberg with M. O. Goldberg, his son, and Attorney J. H. Leavitt and A. Hamilton were the plaintiffs and defendants, who claimed that Goldberg did not have the furniture and articles in his store when he was burned.

Goldberg claimed to have had $53,000 worth of second-hand furniture and household articles in the store.

RAIN DUE HERE TODAY, SAYS THE FORECASTER

Rain is due here today unless weather maps and forecasts go awry, as rains are predicted for the rest of the week, section and headed this way. While it was predicted that rain would fall during the day, the clouds did not come and the sun set with no change in the dry and rather dusky atmosphere.

The temperature which climbed to 76 degrees Thursday, went one point higher Friday, making the warmest day in the past several days. The forecast for today is a temperature is forecasted for Saturday.

URGES APPOINTMENT OF PROBATION OFFICER

An adult probation officer for Fulton county to handle the parole system will be urged upon the grand jury next week, it is reported by the Fulton Prison association, who will ask the grand jurors to recommend that a special man be appointed for this work. At the present time applications for leniency have to be passed upon by Solicitor General Hugh H. Dornay, who already has his hands full of other work and the appointment of some one for this work, it is believed, would expedite the work.

A young lawyer will probably be appointed, as legal knowledge would be needed in the work. The appointment was made by the superior court judges of Fulton county.

REPORTER HAS CASE MADE AGAINST JAILER

At the instigation of A. G. Dickinson, a reporter on an afternoon paper, B. F. Allen, a jailer in the Tower, was docked with charges of negligence.

Dickinson appeared at the grand jury court this afternoon at 2 o'clock, charged Allen with an attempt to attack him. Dickinson sought admission to the jail, Allen cursed the reporter violently and threatened him with injury, Dickinson alleged.

STORAGE RULE NO. 2 RECEIVES AMENDMENT

Railroad Commission Requires Initial and Number of Car of Origin to Be Given.

After being in executive session nearly all day yesterday, during which time it had under consideration various local matters, the railroad commission made one change in its rules which will be of general interest to shippers.

That is storage rule No. 2, providing for the form of notice of the arrival of freight to be given to consignees, which is amended so as to require the initial and car number of the original car in which goods were shipped as well as that in which they arrive at their destination.

Why Rule is Necessary.

The necessity of giving the car number of the point of origin was made necessary because it often happens that cars become detached from their regular route and are changed to other cars. This made it difficult for the consignee to identify the freight, and to identify the freight only applies to shipments in car load lots. It was also decided that notices of the weight of contents and classification be omitted from car load shipment.

The commission allowed the Central railroad to change its special classification rates on hollow fireproof fluing from Macon, Milledgeville and the Stevens Pottery and to substitute classification rates on Atlanta, Macon, Augusta and other points to Savannah and Brunswick was denied.

Last of Narrow Gauge.

The petition of the Georgia Midland railroad to be allowed to issue $300,000 in three-year notes to be secured by $250,000 of bonds and other bonds, the proceeds of the sale to be used in broadening the gauge of the road from Brenton to Monroe, a distance of about thirty miles, was granted in the absence of any objection from the railroad track from Georgia.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TOPICS DISCUSSED BY TEACHERS

Sunday school problems in their various phases were discussed last night by the officers and teachers of the Sunday school of the church of the Epiphany, Episcopal, of Inman park, who met at the home of Rev. Russell K. Smith, 100 Moreland avenue.

The meeting was at a supper and after dining the subjects were taken up. The following is a list of the subjects discussed and those who talked upon them: "The Sunday School in Its Relation to the Community and the Church," Dr. Marion Hull, "The Qualifications of a Sunday School Teacher," John T. Pugh, "The Best Methods of a Suitable Teacher," Mrs. D. L. Smith, "How Shall We Retain our Teachers?" W. W. Anderson, "The Teacher and the Boy Problem," Professor P. Stanley Woodward, "The Efficiency of Sunday School Teachers," John W. Miller, "The Home Department," Rev. Russell K. Smith, "The Home Department," Miss Flora Davis.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH WILL BEGIN BIG REVIVAL

The St. Paul Methodist church, the largest in number of members in southern Georgia, will begin a two weeks' series of revival services tomorrow morning, Rev. L. E. Bridges, well-known evangelist from North Georgia, will preach at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. each day during the meetings. The singing will be by a picked chorus choir.

Rev. E. F. Fraser, the pastor at St. Paul, has just returned from Manchester, where he conducted the revival successfully. The revival services will be in anticipation of the dedication of the church on October 13, by Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Va.

The public generally is invited to attend the services at St. Paul, corner of Grant and Sydney streets.

THROUGH WANT ADS FORT ASKS RECRUITS

Atlanta newspapers were employed by the commandant at Fort McPherson yesterday in an effort to recruit the regiment to its full fighting strength. Want ads and posters for recruits appear in all the newspapers and applicants for the army service were asked to report to the post instead of recruiting stations in the city for examination.

The post has not received a new recruit for the past six months it was stated.

DR. OGDEN ADDRESSES MARTHA BERRY SCHOOL

After making two addresses before the Martha Berry school, at Rome, Ga., on Thursday night and Friday in a special series of evangelistic services being held at the school, Dr. Dunbar Ogden returned to Atlanta Friday afternoon and will occupy his pulpit, as usual Sunday in the Central Presbyterian church, on Washington street.

Dr. Ogden's subject Sunday morning, while in the evening he will speak on the theme, "An Ambassador in Bonds."

FINE PROGRAM SUNDAY FOR ORGAN RECITAL

Miss Mamie Adel Hayes, a well-known Atlanta girl, who has been engaged in operatic studies in New York some time past, will be the soloist at the free organ concert Sunday afternoon at the auditorium.

Charles Sheldon, Jr., will preside at the organ.

Miss Hayes possesses a coloratura soprano voice of unusual range and beauty and artists who have heard her in the north predict for her a brilliant career. She is especially well equipped with some operatic selections from the "Pearl of Brazil" and a group of English songs, including Gounod's, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes."

REV. A. C. SHULER RECEIVES CALL TO ATLANTA PASTORATE

Rev. A. C. Shuler, of Boston, Ga., who completed a three weeks' revival series Thursday night at the East End Tabernacle, has been issued a call to serve as permanent pastor of that congregation. Mr. Shuler has left for home in Boston and will announce his decision within the next week.

The revival series, just finished, was extraordinarily successful, great enthusiasm prevailing, and many additions being made to the church by baptism.

Dr. J. J. Hall, the secretary of the Georgia Baptist conference, will occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday, special music programs having been arranged. The East Side Tabernacle is located on the Soldiers' home car line, in one of the fastest growing sections of Atlanta, and the church has experienced a remarkable growth in the past few months.

Atlanta needs her faithful servants in council. W. A. Hancock has been tried, and made good. Vote for him for ALDERMAN 8TH ward.

The Piedmont, "A Byword"

With the Atlanta as well as the Traveling Public, Wishes to Announce

"FRENCH NIGHT"

After Theater Monday, September 29, 1913

An entertainment so gorgeous in its conception as to put into the shade anything ever attempted before in Atlanta.

The Piedmont's Gala Souvenir Nights, every Monday, have become "A Byword," and the encouragement given us by the public has put us on the "Qui Vive" to elaborate on our previous entertainments.

The Restaurant on "French Night" will resemble the historical Gardens of Fontainebleau at the time of Louis XIV. Every lady will be presented with a magnificent flower hat and flower cane of the style of the "Directoire," the gentlemen with high opera hats, moustaches and goatees.

Our star, "Miss Claire Garzer," will on this occasion sing some French songs, including the "Marseillaise." Miss Garzer, just from successful engagements at Hammerstein's, New York, and the Majestic Theater, Chicago, has already won the hearts of the Piedmont's patrons.

Our lady orchestra will render French and all popular airs. "Vous avez l'honneur de jouer ce soir."

LAWYERS HELPED GIRLS GET MONEY FROM MEN

Revelations in Bixby Trial to Cause Probe by Los Angeles Bar Association.

Los Angeles, Cal., September 26.—Revelations of alleged unprofessional conduct on the part of Attorneys Walter H. Stevens and Charles McKelvey, as counsel for certain girl witnesses in the trial of George H. Bixby, the millionaire accused of contributing to the delinquency of girls, will be the basis of an investigation by the Los Angeles county bar association. This, in substance, was the statement today by Judge Bledsoe, sitting in the Bixby trial.

The attorneys, it is alleged, encouraged Marie Brown-Levy, Helen Barker and others and in some instances took active part in an attempt to extort money from wealthy men by threatening to sue them for damages.

Deputy District Attorney Keyes expected to call Attorneys Stevens and McKelvey for interrogation as rebuttal witnesses in the Bixby case.

Judge Bledsoe, sitting at the trial of Bixby, charged with offenses against girls, vetoed today an attempt of the stand admitted having revealed from Octavius Morgan, the aged architect whose refusal to testify yesterday was based on the contention of Bixby's de grade him, $2,500, which the attorney said was given in voluntary settlement of the claims of the mothers of two girls against Morgan. Bixby, he said, refused through counsel to make similar settlements, when television damage suits were filed against him.

Do not talk about yourself in company. It can be done so much more satisfactorily after you have left.

SITUATION IN BALKANS TROUBLES GREEK KING

Believes Activities of Turkish Troops Foreshadows Attempt to Recapture Kavala.

London, September 26.—King Constantine, of Greece, made preparations today for a hurried return to Athens. The Balkan situation is regarded by the Hellenic government as very disquieting. The king has decided to cut short his visit to the sea-side resort of East Bourne, on the south coast of England, and will come to London tomorrow to a special conference with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary.

All Greek officers have been recalled for active service with their commands, and many of the regiments disbanded to the conclusion of the campaign against Turkey are now being remobilized. The activities of the Turkish troops believed by the Greeks to foreshadow an attempt by them to recapture the port of Kavala, on the Aegean sea, which cost Greece so much in blood and treasure in her recent war with Bulgaria.

Turkish officers now on their way from Asia Minor to the province of Thrace openly admit that Kavala is the objective of Ottoman aspirations. The Greek cabinet, headed by Eleutherios Venizelos, of Greece, is trying to ferret out Turkey's intentions by making a demand at Constantinople for the precise data on which the Ottoman government proposes to resume the long interrupted peace negotiations.

Greek officials circles deride Bulgarian denials of the report that Constantinople is demanding Bulgaria and Turkey against Greece. Some officials declare that they know negotiations to the end have been started in Constantinople.

The Albanian infantry, said to be under command of Esad Pasha, continues his victorious march. The Servians are making desperate efforts to reinforce Monastir, which is seriously threatened. The Greek cabinet is expediting the movement of Serbs over the Greek railways, and anticipates a request for the passage of an entire Serbian division through Salonika.

Severe fighting near Ochrida, in Albania, in which north of Janina, is said to have resulted in the complete success of the Albanians, who captured several guns.

In spite of the confidence expressed at Belgrade the Servians probably have a long and arduous campaign before them.

When Steel Electric Trains Meet Head-On

STEEL CARS SMASHED IN LONG ISLAND (N.Y.) HEAD-ON COLLISION

Three railroad men were killed and about fifty passengers hurt in a head-on smash-up between two electric trains made up of steel cars on the Long Island railroad, near College Point, N. Y. The trains crashed into each other on a single track at a curve through a mistake in signals. This picture shows what happened and is of general interest because the proposed federal legislation compelling the installing of steel cars on all railroads within a certain period. The Long Island wreck demonstrates that steel cars save life, although the loss was not so bad as the front car on each train was badly smashed. Edinborough Road road men claim that had the cars been of wood the death list would have been perhaps fifty instead of three.

Southern Officer to Succeed Colonel Kingman at Savannah

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—General Colonel Dan Kingman's promotion to chief of engineers of the United States army, with the rank of brigadier general, will be a matter of general interest here. On October 1, General Kingman will retire as chief of engineers on the tenth of October, and Colonel Kingman probably will be named to take the office at that time.

As soon as Colonel Kingman is notified of his appointment he will be asked to name his successor at Savannah. Colonel Kingman says that if he should have to appoint a successor to himself here he would select a man who realizes the great importance of Savannah as a port, and who will keep the harbor up to the requirements of the port's commerce. He has in mind two or three officers who are southern men, but who have been stationed in the south long enough to get the proper viewpoint. But he refuses to name either one.

DOMINICAN GUNBOATS FIRE ON U. S. VESSEL

New York, September 26.—Captain Carey of the steam Serrano, which arrived tonight from Dominican ports, told of his recent blockade running experiences during the recent blockade of Santo Domingo. He said that as he had no arms or ammunition in his cargo for the government forces he was obliged to keep the vessel in sight. He did not see why he should not enter Puerto Plata, which was blockaded by Dominican gunboats, but was right in and although nearly a dozen shots were fired by the gunboats, none of them had effect.

BALTIMORE CROWDS STONE NEGRO HOUSES

Baltimore, Md., September 26.—A negro woman with a bullet in her right leg and a negro man with a deep gash in his body are in the hospital as a result of a riot on Saturday night in Baltimore over the race segregation question. The woman was struck by a stray bullet and the man was cut by another in an altercation. Several other persons were struck by flying missiles.

LONDON THREATENED WITH ANOTHER STRIKE

London, September 26.—London is threatened with another strike which, if it materializes, will involve all the various parcel express delivery companies. At the present time the dispute is confined to one firm, but it follows the notice that the firm's strike will be called off, and that their recent strike, express employees threaten to call out all the members of the transportation union.

NEW BUILDING WANTED BY SHORTER STUDENTS

Rome, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) Students of Shorter college at a meeting in the college chapel this morning started a petition for a new building for the erection of a building on the campus to be devoted to the use of the library for the two societies, the Y and the Polymnia. The building will be of the Grecian style of architecture, with halls for the two societies and a third hall for the use of the alumnae.

Wait Whitman an "Interesting" Poet

(Albert Schinz in October Lippincott's.) Why should we not enjoy Wait Whitman's poetry without comparing it with that of others, and deciding which is greater or more beautiful? The comparison is made, then it will become difficult to maintain that "leaves of Grass" is so very different in style from that found in other poets of our age. There is no necessity, however, to approach Whitman's work from that point of view; and even if the poet of Camden is not as original in thought as one would suppose after reading the book of Beatrice, the latter has not the less deserved well of humanity in securing a place to Whitman in the minds and hearts of Europeans—and possibly even American—friends of art. In spite of all I have said, Whitman remains with me, although for entirely different reasons, the most interesting American writer of the nineteenth century.—Emerson by no means excepted. I say not the most elegant or artistic, or cultivated, or genial, or even the most original; I say: the most interesting.
