VILLA TAKES TORREON AFTER DAYS OF BATTLE AND APPALLING LOSS

Dictator Huerta's Last Stronghold in North Central Mexico Was Captured by the Rebel Forces About 10:30 O'Clock Last Night.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS FOR ABOUT TWO WEEKS; HUNDREDS WERE KILLED

Many Prisoners Were Taken by Villa. But Part of the Huerta Garrison Escaped—Villa Pushed His Campaign With a Celerity Hitherto Unknown in Mexican Warfare.

Juarez, Mexico, April 2.—Torreón fell completely into the hands of the rebels at 10:30 o'clock tonight, according to announcement made here tonight by General Venustiano Carranza.

The news first was announced to the world when the bugler in front of Carranza's residence blew the staccato notes of victory. The paen, Carranza said, was sounded here even before it was heard in Torreón, Villa delaying out of compliment to his chief.

Many Prisoners Captured. The meager bulletins excitedly announcing victory after the bloodiest series of battles known to modern Mexico said that Villa captured a large number of prisoners and that the fleeing federal remnant was being pursued.

Whether Velasco, the federal commander, was captured was not stated. There was heavy fighting today, it is understood, and the end came when, after capturing the three remaining barracks held in the city by the federalists, the rebels stormed the trenches and barbed wire entanglements of Canon Del Guarache.

Troops in Barracks Taken. The prisoners captured are believed to have been the defenders of the barracks, while the troops in the canyon which forms an egress from the hillside city were able to escape.

When General Herrera made his first furious onslaught against the city and captured the bull ring six days ago, the federalists retained these barracks and General Villa has been attacking.

Recently it was reported he was about to use dynamite to clear away the houses around the main barracks, so he could use artillery.

It was reported last night that the rebels were attacking the strong federal positions in Canyon Del Guarache.

The campaign against the federal stronghold of Torreón, the main object of the rebel campaign, began suddenly two weeks ago, after General Villa had spent months in making the most careful preparations.

The rebel loss in this campaign is said to be more than 2,000 in killed and wounded. Trains loaded with wounded have been arriving daily at Chihuahua for the last week.

Villa Moved Swiftly. The rebel commander moved with a rapidity hitherto unknown in Mexican warfare. He worked his men in shifts, and as one shift became exhausted he sent fresh troops against the enemy. A number of small towns of lesser importance in a military sense fell first—Mazami, Noe and Sacramento, where a bloody battle was fought. This opened a path for the main attack.

Next came Lerdo and Gomez Palacio, populous suburbs of Torreón and all three connected by a belt street car line. Lerdo was not defended, but it took three main assaults, in which the rebels lost heavily, to take Gomez Palacio.

U. S. AGENT HELD BY MEXIC REBELS

Edward A. Powers Arrested at Parral on the Charge of Passing Counterfeits of Rebel Money.

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 2.—Edward A. Powers, United States consular agent at Parral, was arrested by the rebel authorities at Parral today on a charge of passing counterfeit money of the rebel fiat money. Powers telegraphed to Marion Powell, American consul here, of his plight and Letcher said he would demand the immediate release of Powers.

Two Other Americans Arrested. E. E. Johnson, cashier, and F. A. Hawkins, assistant manager of the Alvarado Mining and Milling company, both Americans, were arrested on similar charges yesterday and Consul Letcher is looking after their interests. It is asserted that the men are not guilty. The fiat currency was cheaply printed and soon a large number of counterfeits appeared. For a time even officials could not tell the genuine from the spurious.

The Americans who were arrested, it is said, bought the money in good faith for the purpose of paying employees, and Mr. Letcher expects little difficulty in straightening out the trouble.

No Comment at Washington. Washington, April 2.—Officials here did not comment tonight on the case of Consular Agent Powers, of whose arrest no official notice had been received. It was taken for granted that Consul Letcher would do all necessary to protect Powers' interests, and that his report on the situation would be made to the state department tomorrow.

JOHN LIND LEAVES DISTURBED MEXICO

Wilson's Special Envoy Sails for United States. Return Taken to Mean Huerta Will Not Yield.

Washington, April 2.—John Lind, former governor of Minnesota, and for the last eight months the personal representative in Mexico of the president of the United States, will sail from Vera Cruz tomorrow for Washington aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower.

The announcement of Mr. Lind's prospective visit was made by President Wilson, with the explanation that his envoy had requested a vacation and rest from his labors in a tropical climate, and that as soon as that had been obtained he would return to Mexico.

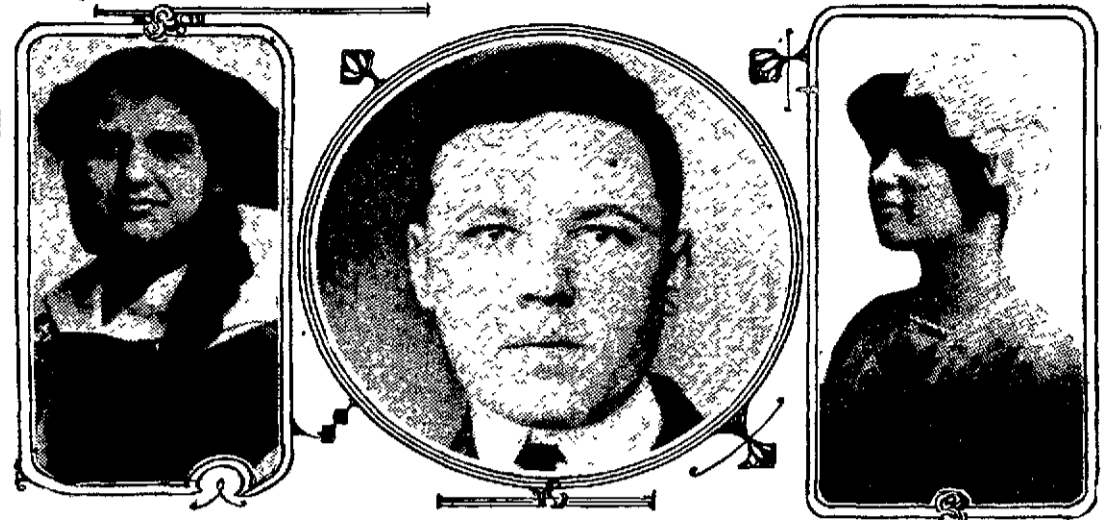

The president declared that Mr. Lind's departure for the United States should not be construed as in the nature of a recall or as forecasting any change of policy by the Washington government toward either faction in Mexico. He said that no negotiations of any character were pending between the Huerta government and the United States, and that the recent conference between Senor Portillo y Rojas, Huerta's minister of foreign affairs, and Mr. Lind had developed nothing tangible or important, but was merely a friendly talk.

No Definite Plan for Return. Mr. Lind's trip to Washington, nevertheless, revived speculation in official circles about the diplomatic side of the Mexican situation, and there are indications from what secretary Bryan told callers, that while the envoy's request for a vacation had been granted, no definite plan had been made for his return and that the administration was opposed to leaving the question open for the present. It is believed that both the president and Secretary Bryan just now see no reason why Mr. Lind should not go to continue his observations of conditions in Mexico, but are not binding themselves as to the future. Mr. Lind's movements hitherto being dependent entirely upon day by day developments.

The president told inquirers that there was no special reason why Mr. Lind should come to Washington, as his reports had been comprehensive and adequate.

Except for the five-day trip to Pass Christian, Miss. last January, aboard the scout cruiser Chester, when he did not go ashore, Mr. Lind has been constantly observing Mexican affairs during periods alternately critical and tedious.

ATLANTA'S BUSINESS MEN AND BANKERS ELATED OVER VICTORY IN BATTLE FOR REGIONAL BANK; BIGGEST THING CITY EVER GOT, THEY DECLARE

This telegram was received early last night by R. N. Berrien, Jr., Atlanta correspondent for The Wall Street Journal, New York: "Atlanta has been awarded a regional bank. District No. 6 includes territory comprising Florida, Georgia, Alabama, east Tennessee, southern Mississippi, and southeastern Louisiana, including New Orleans and Nashville. Please express congratulations to witnesses who testified in Atlanta's behalf. Consider the most complete given in behalf of any city. BARR. (Signed) 'Managing Editor.'"

Atlanta awakens today to realize the glorious fact that she is to become the financial and commercial center of the south.

Miss Atlanta is quite aware that at present—regional bank or not—she is the business center of those southern states, but the coming of the regional bank means that Uncle Sam places her as the flourishing center of commerce and finance this side of Mason and Dixon's historic boundary line.

A Constitution reporter last night interviewed the leaders in the regional bank fight for Atlanta. His first question was: "What was the greatest influence that had to do with Atlanta's selection for a bank?"

And the invariable answer was "The Atlanta Spirit." As Asa G. Candler put it to the reporter: "Sure it was the Atlanta spirit. It gets everything it goes after—nothing excluded."

Welcome Bank. Says Governor. Here's what the leaders had to say about it last night: Governor John M. Slaton: "Owing to its commercial and industrial advantages and to its strategic position, I never doubted but that Atlanta would be given one of the regional banks. We will welcome it to Atlanta and we are assured that the wisdom of the committee in placing it in this city will be justified by the work it will do for this section. I feel that it will be the greatest kind of aid for Atlanta and the south."

Mayor James G. Woodward: "Atlanta richly deserved the regional bank. Its assets as a distributing and commercial center, alone, were sufficient to make it worthy of selection. We are the south's greatest corporation headquarters, and there isn't an organization of any importance on the continent that hasn't southern headquarters located in Atlanta."

Regional Bank Of Infinite Value. Mel R. Wilkinson, president of the chamber of commerce: "The regional bank has infinite value for Atlanta. In fact, it will be quite a while before we will be able to comprehend its full value. 'The advertising it will furnish the city will be priceless. Atlanta will be quoted in every financial center in the country every day, and Atlanta will have a liberal share in the financial doings of the entire country.'" to Atlanta's fighting spirit and its never-say-die spirit. I have always felt that we would succeed in the regional bank battle. And I feel that the city will maintain it with marked results for centuries. Every financial and business center in the bank, can support it successfully."

Bank Properly Placed. Captain James W. English, president Fourth National bank: "I never felt any anxiety over the prospects of Atlanta obtaining the regional bank."

"No other city outside of the country's largest metropolis is of more importance than Atlanta. The bank was properly placed when put in our city. It will help Atlanta both financially and commercially."

Robert F. Maddox, vice president American National bank, and a member of the clearing house committee on the regional bank: "I am gratified beyond words. The new bank will fix Atlanta as the financial center of the section. The city will be overhauled in its residential and business center, and its importance will be given vivid emphasis by the operations of the regional bank."

"The selection of Atlanta was wise. It will be of untold benefit to the entire south. Of all the other bank sites, I know of no other choice that was more logical."

Tribute to Atlanta Spirit. Asa G. Candler, president Central Bank and Trust corporation: "It is one of the biggest things the south could anticipate. And the very thing Atlanta was chosen to do beyond dispute that the south favored its selection."

The regional bank means more than we can comprehend at present. While Atlanta was chosen to do beyond dispute that the south favored its selection. "It's a tribute to the Atlanta Spirit. We don't lose anything we go after."

"The confidence the south puts in Atlanta is shown by the support it put in our fight. And our victory is an apt illustration of the faith the nation puts in Atlanta as the south's gateway."

Makes Atlanta Financial Center. Dr. W. J. Blacklock, president the Fulton National bank: "The regional bank will make Atlanta the financial center of the south. The bank will be of untold benefit, and it will make us, more than ever, the pre-eminent city of the southeast."

J. K. Ottley, vice president Fourth National bank and a member of the regional bank committee: "I feel that the regional bank is the biggest thing Atlanta ever had a chance to get, and now that we have won it, I am naturally highly gratified."

the fighting spirit of our city, and I am proud of it and of all those who had to do with the battle we led for the new bank."

C. E. Currier, president Atlanta National bank: "Atlanta's facilities afforded an argument entirely too strong for all other competitors. We are ideally located as a distributing point."

"The entire south will be greatly helped, and the farmer will profit along with the banker and business man."

"EIGHTY-CENT GAS" BATTLE WILL OPEN IN COUNCIL MONDAY

Atlanta Consumers' League Will Ask $5,000 Appropriation to Secure Probe by Railroad Commission.

Following are some cities enjoying a lower rate than $1 per 1,000 feet for gas, the Atlanta rate at present: Detroit 75c Boston 70c New York 60c Baltimore 55c Chicago 55c Holyoke, Mass. 30c Washington, D. C. 25c Richmond 25c Los Angeles 15c

Preliminary work on Atlanta's fight for "eighty-cent gas" is planned by the Gas Consumers' league for next Monday afternoon, at which time the city council will be asked to appropriate $5,000 for the use of the Georgia railroad commission to probe the affairs of the Atlanta Gas Light company.

While indications point that the voters' petitions will be presented to council Monday afternoon, it is possible, according to the city electrician, that the league will defer action until other details of the campaign are mapped out.

League Works Secretly. For months the Atlanta Gas Consumers' league has been working secretly. In fact, the operations of the league have been so quiet that there are very few persons in Atlanta who know just what has been done at the various meetings. Information given out from time to time was in the form of statements over the signature of City Electrician R. C. Turner, who appears to be one of the leaders of the league.

Cities Chosen With Atlanta Are:

Richmond, Dallas, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and San Francisco.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF ATLANTA WILL HAVE A CAPITAL OF $4,641,415 The federal reserve bank of Atlanta will have a capital of $4,641,415, being 6 per cent of $77,356,913, the combined capital and surplus of the 372 national banks in the district. As more banks join, the capital will be increased by 6 per cent of the capital and surplus of the new member banks. Including the state banks and trust companies which have applied for membership since April 1, the total capital of the new bank will be increased to $4,702,780.

The map given out by the committee along with its official announcement shows that New Orleans, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville and all of the cities in Alabama and Florida are in the Atlanta district.

"MOTHER" JONES APPEALS TO VILLA FROM PRISON CELL

Denver, April 2.—An appeal which it is said, "Mother" Jones smuggled out of the county jail at Walsenburg, Colo., where she is held as a military prisoner was forwarded to General Francisco Villa today by Horace N. Hawkins, attorney for the United Mine Workers of America. The aged strike leader is a personal friend of the Mexican constitutionalist commander. In her letter which is addressed "To my friends and the public generally," Mrs. Jones wrote: "Let the nation know, and especially let my friend, General Francisco Villa, know that the great United States of America, which is demanding of him that he release the traitor he has placed under arrest, is now holding 'Mother' Jones uncommunicado in an underground cell, surrounded with sewer rats, unhorned soldiers and other vermin."

ATLANTA DISTRICT DESCRIBED.

The official announcement describes the Atlanta district as follows: "District No. 6—The states of Alabama, Georgia and Florida, and all that part of Tennessee located east of the western boundary of the following counties: Stewart, Houston, Wayne, Humphreys and Perry; all that part of Mississippi located south of the northern boundary of the following counties: Issaquena, Sharkey, Tazoo, Kemper, Madison, Leake and Neshoba, and all of the southeastern part of Louisiana located east of the western boundary of the following counties: Pointe Coupee, Iberville, Assumption and Terrebonne with the city of Atlanta, Ga."

DEATH RIDES GALE AND GATHERS TOLL FROM THE SEALERS

Caught in a Blizzard, Scores of Lives Are Lost—Men Lost Were Engaged in Killing the Seals.

CREWS ON THE FLOES WHEN BLIZZARD BROKE

Newfoundland Lost Fifty of Her Crew and Others Were Maimed—Losses of Other Steamers Probably Heavy.

North Sydney, N. S., April 2.—Wireless messages received here tonight report the steamer Southern Cross safe at Channel, N. F. Her loss, with a crew of 170 men, had been feared.

St. John's, N. F., April 2.—Death traveled in a gale that overtook the sealing fleet last Tuesday. The steamer Newfoundland lost probably fifty of her crew, while as many more, it is feared, will be maimed as a result of exposure. Alarm is felt for the steamer Southern Cross with a crew of 170 men, which has not been reported since she passed Cape Pine, bound in, Tuesday morning. The men lost were far from their ships killing seals when the storm, with blinding snow, swooped down. They were exposed for forty-eight hours before assistance arrived, and in that time many succumbed.

Crews on the Floes.
The Newfoundland was one of a fleet of fifteen ships, carrying more than 2,000 men, scattered among the ice floes near Belle Isle strait. The crews were on the floes hunting seals, and the hunt had taken them from four to six miles from their ships.

When the blizzard came the crews of other steamers managed to regain their vessels, but the floes on which the Newfoundland's men were hunting drifted away from the main body of ice and when darkness fell that night not one had returned. The ship's crew numbered 150 men, of whom 120 were on the ice. Captain Wesley Keen, his officers, engineers, stokers and cooks remained aboard. The weather cleared today and Captain Keen signaled the steamers Bellaventure and Stephano of the loss of his men. These two vessels, being fast and powerful, smashed their way into the floes in search of the missing men. Late today the captain of the Bellaventure sent wireless messages here saying he had picked up thirty survivors and a number of bodies. He estimated that forty men had perished and said that thirty were unaccounted for.

Thirty-five Survivors Found.
A message from the Stephano tonight said thirty-five survivors had been found and three bodies, but there is doubt as to whether she referred only to those picked up by her. The wireless of the Bellaventure was working poorly and her messages were confused. The number of fatalities will be in doubt at least until she reaches here, probably tomorrow noon. At dusk another blizzard had sprung up, and there was little hope for any of the hunters who already had not been saved.

Added to the known disaster was a growing suspense regarding the Southern Cross. First reports of the loss of the men of the Newfoundland were confused and generally were accepted as referring to the Southern Cross, and it was not until late in the day that the identity of the crew was determined. Early information that the Newfoundland had been sunk by a blizzard, and that the crew was missing, were read as referring to the ship itself.

Ship Still Floats.
There is still some doubt as to how the vessel survived the storm, but as the latest messages from the Bellaventure and the Stephano make no mention to the contrary, it is assumed that the ship still floats.

Preparations were made here to care for the dead and suffering. The Grenfell Seaman's institute has been converted into an emergency hospital. The whole contingent of naval reservists on the drill ship Calypso has been ordered to disembark duty, and coffins are being hurriedly constructed.

Search for the Southern Cross was being made tonight with little encouragement. In addition to an unusually large crew the ship carried with her 17,000 seals. Up to dark tonight she had not taken shelter in Trepassay or St. Mary's bays, on the southern coast, but it was thought here that she was heading before the gale for the Cape Breton shore. If disaster has befallen her, it will make the death toll of this storm the greatest in the maritime history of the island.

Sixty-four Known Dead.
Sixty-four members of the crew of the Newfoundland are known to have perished and thirty-seven were rescued, according to a statement by Colonial Secretary Fenwick, acting tonight. The steamer Bellaventure accounted for fifty-eight dead and thirty-five living. The Stephano has one dead and two living and the Florizel for five dead.

SENATORS ARE BALKING AT DANIELS' NOMINATION

Strong Objection to Putting New Jersey Man on Commerce Commission.

Washington, April 2.—Confronted with the senate's nomination of Daniel M. Daniels as a member of the interstate commerce commission, a recess was taken to resume the debate tomorrow, the third day of continuous consideration of the case.

Democratic leaders consulted after the recess about modifying the unanimous consent agreement to vote on the confirmation, some proposing to supersede this agreement with one to vote on recommitting the nomination. This, it was suggested, would avoid the possible embarrassment to the president, should the nomination be rejected. Friends of Mr. Daniels insisted, however, that he eventually would be confirmed.

Senators La Follette and Cummins led the fight against the confirmation. Senator Martins, of Mr. Daniels' own state, was reported to have told the senate he had come to the conclusion that the nomination would be a mistake. He added that personally he had the highest regard for Mr. Daniels.

Mr. Daniels' view on valuation of public service corporation property, as expressed in the Passaic gas rate case, is the basis of opposition to his nomination. The first to come up under Governor Wilson's public utilities act, Mr. Daniels said that as a resident of the public service commission he was too liberal in the valuation of the gas rate.

The importance of the selection of a man with sound valuation ideas was emphasized by senators who pointed out that the interstate commerce commission is just launching forth on a valuation of common stock in this country, and in a few years will be called on to apply the various elements of valuation in making.

Senators Pomerene and Newlands conferred for an hour with President Wilson tonight, but they had no definite point of view. They told him in details about the arguments that had been made against confirmation and that senators are favorably to confirm, and it is understood they sought information from the president, who for many years has been an intimate friend of Mr. Daniels. They declined afterwards to talk about the conference.

UNION PACIFIC TO CUT THAT $80,000,000 MELON

New York, April 2.—Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum today denied the petition of the Equitable Life Assurance society for an injunction to restrain the Union Pacific Railroad company from distributing as a special dividend to holders of common stock $80,000,000 in cash and stock of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The Equitable sued to restrain the railroad company on the ground that the holders of preferred stock in the Union Pacific were entitled to the dividend in the dividend or else have the $80,000,000 regarded as an asset and held by the road.

The Baltimore and Ohio stock was acquired by the Union Pacific from the Pennsylvania railroad in a deal whereby the Union Pacific released its Southern Pacific holdings as required by supreme court decree dissolving the Harriman system.

It is understood that the Equitable will appeal from today's decision.

COXEY IS PREPARING TO MOBILIZE ARMY

New York, April 2.—Jacob S. Coxey, leader of the famous army which bore his name and which had its headquarters in 1894, today established headquarters here. He said he would spend several days looking after the mobilization of the New York wing of an army of 500,000 men which he intends to lead into the national capital sometime this month.

The main division of the army, he said, will leave Massillon, Ohio, April 15 and will be joined outside Washington by the eastern division.

MANY FALSE NAMES PUT ON REGISTRATION LISTS

Terre Haute, Ind., April 2.—Testimony tending to support the evidence of previous sessions that many false names were registered at last October's election was introduced today in the state trial of Mayor Dan M. Roberts, charged with conspiracy to corrupt elections. Don Glyck, a registration clerk, testified that the registration days two strangers had registered as living at his home. He did not notice the false entries at the time, he said, but on election day when one of the men attempted to vote he caused his arrest.

Other registration officials told of 185 false names registered in the books of one ward.

Orlando, Fla., April 2.—The condition of J. H. Woodward, father-in-law of Congressman Oscar Underwood, was suddenly ill at his winter cottage here, was slightly improved today. Mr. Woodward is a wealthy resident of Birmingham, Ala.

SOUVENIRS TO BE SENT TO WASHINGTON HEIRS

Washington, April 2.—Souvenirs are to be sent by the government to George Washington's heirs as the only compensation for land that once belonged to the first president's estate in Ohio. The souvenirs consist of reports of hearings before the house public lands committee on the claims of Washington's descendants for the land which Washington acquired by military script. The committee could not find no other way of compensating the heirs except to authorize publication of additional reports of the hearings.

Express Company Quits.

New York, April 2.—June 30 was tentatively fixed by the United States Express company today as the time for ceasing its operations. Some time ago the company announced that because of the parcel post and the reduced express rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission, it would go out of business. Railroads were notified today that the company desired to abandon its coastwise service. The contest over this, the last of the agreements will be terminated on the date mentioned.

NEGROES ARE WAITING FOR CHIEF ALFRED SAM

Galveston, Texas, April 2.—Approximately 500 negroes who are encamped here waiting for the steamship Curtiyya to take them to Africa under the direction of "Chief" Alfred C. Sam, have been ordered to move outside the city limits before Saturday night. The orders were issued by the city authorities after an inspection of two of their camps had been made and found unsanitary. The negroes will establish a camp outside the city limits. They don't know when the Curtiyya will arrive.

Smart Crepe de Chine Blouses, $4.95 Instead of $5.75

The saving is remarkable in view of the style of the blouses and the demand for these soft crepes de chine.

But they were bought at a lower-than-worth price and so they will go to you. Several styles: here's one with a cut-in collar of embroidered batiste, a little vestee of batiste, the sleeves and the front panel show a row of hemstitching.

Another style has a small, flat sailor collar, of embroidered batiste, and the big mandarin sleeves that give the blousy effect that is so desirable.

Another style has a V-neck of ruffled Swiss, drop shoulder sleeves and front trimmed with bullet pearl buttons.

Choose from white, peach, mais and tango.

And this is but one of the interesting bits of news of the waist section.

Other late arrivals are: A white crepe de chine blouse with Dresden flowers spread over it. It has a lily collar of white Swiss and long black moire tie. It is $5.75.

Many smart blouses of Georgette crepe are shown in colors to match suits in the high colors. Lacy waists by the score—we mean waists of silk allover laces over sheer chiffons and crepes—often the lace is of a shade contrasting with the chiffon or crepe.

The woman seeking the smartest Easter blouse will find it here.

The Frolaset Is the Ideal Front Laced Corset

And the ideal front laced corset in this day and time is, indeed, an ideal corset.

The great unattained and unattainable of most corsets and the great essential to the modish figure is the smooth, natural back and waist line.

If there is one feature of the Frolaset that recommends it to the women of today, it is just that—it imparts that smooth back, the natural waist line.

That it does is the result of smart corset designing.

The Frolaset people hit upon the scheme of putting an elastic back in their corsets that pulls the corset well down under the figure and imparts a grace that the average long corset of today never does. And this, together with the fact that it laces in front, makes it an ideal corset for the present styles.

There are models for every figure—the slender, the medium, the large. They are developed in coutils, batistes and, as prices mount, in exquisite brocaded fabrics.

Prices go from $3.50 to $18.50.

One of the most favored models for the slight figure is "The Frolaset Tango." It is of batiste and elastic; it has no bust at all, in fact, were it fashioned for the full figure it might be called a hip confiner. It is priced at $8.00.

Cleanliness, Too, Begins at Home

Now the charitable thing to do in the spring cleaning-up is to provide those who have the dusting and polishing to do with the instrument that makes the work easy. One of the best we know of is

The O-Cedar Polish Mop

It Makes Dusting and Cleaning Easier, Quicker and Better

EASIER, because you do not have to get down on your hands and knees to dust, clean and polish a hardwood floor, or the stairs, or move heavy furniture to dust under it. Easier, because you do not have to stand on a chair to dust the moulding or the tops of doors or the tops of high furniture. No back-breaking rubbing whatever—simply run over anything lightly and it is entirely free from germ-laden dust.

QUICKER, because you only have to go over the surface once to dust, clean and polish. One operation does it all.

BETTER, because the O-CEGAR Polish gives a high, hard, durable finish, not a gummy, hazy bluish cast.

The mop is heavily padded to protect the furniture. It can be easily cleaned by washing and renewed by pouring a few drops of O-CEGAR Polish on the mop. The new, quick detachable steel center enables even a child to remove and replace the pad in an instant.

Two sizes at $1.00 and $1.50.

The Polish—a vegetable compound—mixes freely with water and does not leave the gummy, sticky surface that a mineral polish does.

ATLANTA ENJOINED BY STREET CAR CO.

Clash Comes Over Payment for Sewerage and Effort to Sell 813 Feet of Right-of-Way.

The Georgia Railway and Power company, as most people can tell you, runs an electric line between Atlanta and the Soldiers' home, likewise, Decatur and East Lake. A certain portion of this line passes along Flat Shoals avenue. While the portion in question is not remarkable above any of the remainder of the road for beauty, smoothness or purposes of utility, it is an essential part of the company's line to Decatur, East Lake and the Soldiers' home. It could not be removed without seriously interfering with traffic between Atlanta and these points. Neither could it be sold without causing the present owners considerable inconvenience.

All this being true, one may imagine the perturbation of the officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company on reading in the paper the other day that the city of Atlanta announced for sale 813 feet of the company's right-of-way on Flat Shoals avenue. Secure an Injunction. Colquhitt & Conyers, the attorneys for the road, got busy with great rapidity. They immediately filed in the superior court an injunction against the city of Atlanta, absolutely prohibiting the sale of the 813 feet of Flat Shoals avenue track until the company had an opportunity to argue its case in open court.

The difficulty arose over a bit of sewerage which the city recently installed between Fair and Stovall streets. The sewerage construction department on looking over the plats of the various streets owned by the Georgia Railway and Power company seemed to own the nearest frontage to the new pipe line and reported to this effect to the department of collections, assessing the 813 feet at 70 cents per foot. The city engineer's objections conveyed the message to the street railway corporation and waited for a remittance. When it did not arrive they took the usual course in such matters and published a notice that the 813 feet of sewerage pipe would be sold to satisfy a bill for the same. It was comparatively easy Thursday afternoon to determine the precise attitude of both parties. The same thing would be City of Atlanta. You'll pay it. Georgia Railway and Power company.

Extraordinary, Says Conyers. It is a rather extraordinary bit of procedure," said Mr. Conyers, of the company's law firm. The same thing was tried once with the Central of Georgia I believe but I don't think it was ever settled. The very essence of the system of levying for sewerage prepossession that the land levied upon is to extract some material benefit from the work accomplished. Now, it must be perceived immediately that a strip of right-of-way 30 feet wide and 813 feet long cannot be sold for the installation of new sewerage. In fact I can imagine nothing which has less use for a sewerage system than a street railroad right-of-way.

It was pointed out that the city had evidently failed to see it in this light and Mr. Conyers was asked for his explanation thereof. "I can't see it," he said. "It must be due to some error or oversight in the assessment office."

"Error, nothing," said the construction department. The Georgia Railway and Power company owns 813 feet of frontage on Flat Shoals avenue between Fair and Stovall streets and the property has been assessed at 70 cents a foot. That is all the collection goes you'll have to see the city attorney.

in previous disputes of similar nature that phase of the matter has been settled by levying against the portion of the right-of-way which was not occupied by tracks and ties if the railway company owns a right-of-way 30 feet wide, it is reasonable that only about 11 feet of it is occupied by the tracks and ties. Now, I should say that the 15 feet would be benefited by the installation of new sewerage.

Will Force Lower Rate.

The fight on in Atlanta for cheaper gas will not be successful in forcing the Atlanta Gas Light company to reduce the rate which it has fixed at 70 cents, but we are certain that with the facts and figures presented to the railroad commission the gas corporation will be forced to reduce its rate to 80 cents and put it on the same basis as Boston, New York, Chicago, Holyoke Mass., Richmond, Va., and other cities.

Among the directors are Jacob H. Schiff, Elbert H. Gary, Nikola Tesla, Robert E. Peary, Job E. Hodges, Melville E. Stone and Theodore N. Vail.

"The gas consumers of Atlanta are entitled to a share in the reduction in the price of gas, and to this end the first use of the recently adopted initiative referendum to refer to the voters a charter will be invoked. The petition have been in circulation some time and already 2,000 signatures have been secured. It is expected that the referendum and initiative may seem to the voters as the only way to force the hands of the people to force attention to an issue of this nature.

You can get a good blue serge suit, silk lined, at $25

No matter how many clothes you own, you ought to have at least one blue serge suit. But be sure it's a good one; there are lots of cheap serges; part cotton; not worth carrying home.

Here's the way to be sure:

Go to some clothier who sells our goods; ask to see a Hart Schaffner & Marx silk lined blue serge suit. It's a soft weave, dark blue; just enough "nap" so it won't "wear shiny" in a few weeks; a pure wool fabric, the dye sun-proof and weather-proof, the tailoring such as you expect of us.

The coat is lined with fine quality silk; it has a soft roll front; six button waistcoat; latest model trousers. We make sizes to fit any type of figure.

You're probably not expert in technical matters about blue serges; take our name as a safeguard in all this.

ATLANTA WINS!

No news item published in The Constitution in many years carries with it for this section the significance of the official announcement which comes from Washington that Atlanta has been made one of the twelve regional reserve bank centers for the new federal reserve currency system.

The details of the announcement are published elsewhere in today's Constitution. The fact that Atlanta wins does not, of course, mean that this city obtains any advantage over any other city in the regional reserve of which it is made the center, so far as the enjoyment of the advantages of the new currency system itself is concerned.

Every city shares exactly alike in the advantages of the new system, which in the very nature of things would be imperfect if any one city were given any preferential advantage over another in the operation of the new law.

The main significance of the choice of Atlanta as the regional bank center for this district rests in the federal recognition of the fact that Atlanta is the great central clearing point for the southeastern section of the United States.

The first federal recognition of Atlanta's position as the strategic center of this part of the union was made just fifty years ago when General Sherman directed his energy to the capture of this city as the citadel of the Confederacy in the very heart of the south.

When Atlanta fell the civil war was practically ended. From that time to this in one way and another the great industrial and commercial army of the United States has been establishing its general southern headquarters in Atlanta.

END THE UNCERTAINTY.

The interstate commerce commission has, it is reported, decided to hand down a decision in the rate cases of the eastern railroads within the month. The conjecture is based upon the commission's activity in expediting hearings and considering a plan to go over much of the testimony by briefs, instead of the tedious and time-killing process of oral hearings.

Whether they approve or disapprove the petition of the eastern railroads for authority to make a nominal increase in freight tariffs, public opinion will emphatically indorse an early decision by the commission.

It is uncertainty as to what the railroads may expect that is blocking the restoration of business throughout the country.

For several years business has been kept on the griddle by congress, by courts and by governmental bodies.

The tension has reached the breaking point.

Business has a right to know where it stands, whether to adjust itself to the present situation or one of larger dimensions.

In this instance, business is synonymous with the railroads.

We cannot bait the one without baiting the other.

Within the past few months 50,000 employees on just two of the eastern systems—the Pennsylvania and the New York Central—have been thrown out of employment in a desperate effort to make revenue cover operating expenses, much less the cost of improvements and the factor of dividends.

The situation will grow worse, rather than better, it is extending to other railroads, and it will become aggravated for every week that the railroads are kept in suspense as to whether they will be required to pare still further toward the bone or be allowed to proceed upon a basis commensurate with the needs of the situation and the demands of their patrons.

Any decision is better than indecision. This does not mean the railroads ought to be given carte blanche to revive their old regime of bumper crops of melons and water. There should be ironclad guarantees against any such policy. It does mean that whether the commission authorizes increases or continues the present tariffs, it should make its attitude known without further delay. It is impossible to harmonize suspense with a complete restoration of prosperity. And the commission has been clawing over the case, in some form or another, for nearly two years.

The railroads are the biggest purchasers in the country. Their buying enters into and stimulates every enumerated channel of activity, from necessities to luxuries, from spades to automobiles. When they buy on a large scale they give the inert machine of trade and industry an impetus that spreads into the smallest vein of business activity, near to or remote from actual railroading.

And when they go out of the market, as they have been forced to do for several years, the stagnating influence is similarly felt all along the line. It will take a billion dollars to meet their imperative needs. The expenditure of that sum will send universal prosperity "three speeds ahead and none reverse."

But whether they are or are not to be allowed to make such terms as will encourage the investment of these millions of dollars it is urgent that they and with them the country be put on notice exactly where both stand.

Mr. Brandeis, the "efficiency theorist," has been entertaining the commission for some time with continued stories of how the railroads can prune expenses, make money and avoid increases. In the meantime, the railroads have been compelled to lay off many thousand men and let cobwebs grow on the desks of their purchasing agents.

Now, if Mr. Brandeis and his theories are to run the country and its railroads, the sooner that fact is known the better. Business will then at least know where it stands.

End the uncertainty. Quit playing tennis with prosperity.

Let business know whether it is to fish, dig bait or go ashore! And let it know NOW!

CLIMBING!

According to the report of the auditor of the Atlanta postoffice, submitted to Postmaster Jones, the postal receipts at that institution for March, 1914, exceeded the total for the same month of the year preceding by approximately $11,000.

This represents an increase in Atlanta's business transactions with the big southern territory of which Atlanta is the commercial capital.

It indicates distinctly a more active state of general business than the March of 1913. If the promises thus far of the current year are fulfilled, 1914 will be one of the most prosperous years in the history of the city.

Just at present Villa is too busy to pose as a hero for the movie men.

Historic and Penetrating Causes Back of the Rebellion in Ulster

Editor Constitution: The Ulster rebellion is in reality a new manifestation of the old struggle between the aristocracy and a growing democracy. Revolutionary consequences are likely to become far-reaching.

My study of conditions in the Emerald Isle was under very favorable circumstances. I had followed at close range the fortunes of political parties in England during the general election of 1906 when the liberal government vaulted into power with a tremendous majority.

It is an uproar. The little island was in an uproar over the cattle raiders outbreaks. Leaving Holyhead we crossed the Irish sea to Kingstown a distance of 53 miles. The ancient capital of Dublin was in a veritable stampede.

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF JESSE POMEROY.

One of the most remarkable criminal cases ever tried in the United States was that of the boy Jesse Pomeroy, who since 1874 when he was fourteen years of age, has lived in solitary confinement in the Charlestown Mass Jail.

Before he was thirteen years of age Jesse Pomeroy was arrested charged with the torturing of a boy companion. He was sent to the reformatory school in Westboro, Mass. in September 1872 and was pardoned less than two years later.

Not long after his release Pomeroy murdered a five-year-old girl and buried her body in the cellar of his mother's store. This was in February 1874. Shortly afterwards he killed a five-year-old boy in South Boston. He was sentenced to be hanged six months after his arrest.

Previous to the arrest of Pomeroy there was a regular epidemic of crime in and about Charlestown. It is certain that the most sought after man in Atlanta by those seeking light in the midst of political darkness and uncertainty it may be that he will make known his intentions during the interview and said he had no information of importance to impart.

They went to the Dorchester marshes where they found the murdered and mutilated body of little Horace Millan. They took a planter of parge cast of the footprints and then proceeded to the Pomeroy home where they found Jasse in bed. His shoes exactly fitted the casts and he was arrested. The mother moved away and the house was re-molded and while workmen were digging for the body the unearthed the little corpse of Mattie Curran.

Jesse Pomeroy confessed that he had committed both murders. When he was being tried a petition signed by thousands of mothers and other members of society. A tiger can eat a whole man at a meal and it is always meal time with him. To meet a large empty tiger in the jungle is almost as unpleasant as to be a republican officeholder not under civil service in a democratic administration.

The tiger is a fierce and awful beast who lives in Asia and eats his food raw. The tiger would be so bad if the tiger were particular about his food. But he isn't. He eats deer when he can get them and cattle at all seasons. When he gets them he eats them raw. He eats farmers' qualified voters and other members of society. A tiger can eat a whole man at a meal and it is always meal time with him.

The tiger can leap immense distances with his fine coiling muscles and his so strong that he can leap over a high fence. Other men like to heroplane upside down and to go through Niagara Rapids in a barrel. This world, in fact, is full of strange amusements.

DAILY GIST from the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

POLITICIANS MARKING TIME UNTIL COMMITTEE MEETS. Little of importance politically can be expected to transpire until after the meeting of the state executive committee next Saturday in Atlanta.

And it is no easy job—this contenting one's soul in patience when almost anything may happen at almost any moment to change one's plans and to put a sudden and more or less violent crimp in one's ambitions for one's friends or for one's self.

No, it is no easy task. Politicians are just as human as other folk and a great many of them can see no further into the future than the veriest tyro in affairs political.

If you want to find out just how keenly keyed up the people of the state are—at least that part of the people who take an interest in the affairs of state—just take a casual stroll through the various offices in the state capitol. If you happen to be a newspaper man you will doubtless give utterance to that classic question.

Immediately you will be greeted with the simple query: "What do you know? We are looking for information ourselves and if a news paper man can't give it to us we don't know how to turn it."

Information at all wise or otherwise is about the rarest commodity around the capitol these days. Of course you can hear all sorts of rumors and counter rumors and you can hear all manner of speculation—that if so and so turns out to be the case, why, as a natural sequence thus and so will surely happen but you can't pry anything like a definite statement of intentions out of anyone and there is just no use in trying.

No year in the history of Georgia politics has been fraught with more interest or burdened with more speculation. There is some slight balm in Gilead however for the agony will soon be over and several thousands of voters will soon know where they are at to fall into congressional venacular.

Saturday ought to tell the tale. Up to late last night none of the members of the state executive committee had reached the city or if any had arrived they were in hiding. The corridors of the hotels were deserted so far as out-of-town politicians was concerned. But early this morning the advance guard is expected to arrive and from that time on they will come trooping in on every train.

Chairman W. J. Harris of the state executive committee stated Thursday that he expected to see the largest crowd that had ever attended a similar meeting. Everybody is anticipating a lively time. Interest is more general than I have ever known it to be and I expect hundreds to come to the city purely to satisfy their curiosity. I do not expect the committee to do anything radical however. I have heard of nothing to indicate that it would.

EXPECT NO CHANGE IN ELECTION DATE

Indications Are the People Will Vote for County Officers and for Hospital Bonds on May 5.

When the county executive committee, of which Judge Eugene D. Thomas is chairman, meets at noon today to consider the advisability of deferring the county election from May 5 to May 25 in order that Atlanta voters might pass on the $750,000 hospital bonds and the $2,000,000 plaza bonds, it is not probable that any attempt will be made to change the committee's original plans.

Indications Thursday were that advocates of the hospital bond issue still believe that the question should be all voted in time before the people on May 5—the date fixed for the county election. Mayor James G. Woodward and leaders in the movement to float bonds for improving Atlanta's streets, who would like to have the people pass on the plaza bonds at the same time the hospital bonds are being voted on. They take the position that the plaza bonds should be thoroughly explained to the people.

Mayor Woodward's Position. Expressions gathered from Mayor Woodward and members of council reflected a sentiment strongly in favor of first getting the consent of the legislature to change the date of the election from May 5 to May 25. "I think the hospital bonds and the plaza bonds should be thoroughly explained to the people," Mayor Woodward said. "I don't believe it advisable to ask the people to vote on the plaza bonds until we get the consent of the legislature. But I don't think there will be any harm in submitting the hospital bonds on May 5, although I did not favor the date when it was first discussed."

Mayor Woodward was first to suggest that it would probably be advisable to hold the county election, and the election on the hospital and plaza bonds on the same date—May 5—and for the purpose of learning the sentiment of the people he called a conference in his office. At the conference representative business men, newspaper editors and Judge Eugene D. Thomas, chairman of the committee, were present. Opinion was almost unanimous that the three issues be placed before the people on that date and as a consequence of the sentiment, Judge Thomas issued a call for a meeting of the committee to be held in the council chamber at noon on Friday.

Protest Against Change. Despite the patriotic expressions of the county candidates and their acquiescence in the request that they consent to postpone the date of the election, there was strong protest against such action. The protest did not originate with the candidates, but came from citizens who took the position that by adding fifteen days to the campaign, the voters would be put to considerable expense and would cause confusion among the voters. The candidates had no objection to the proposition to postpone the election, but the committee will be urged to change the date of the election.

Grady Hoping to Satisfy. Grady hopes to satisfy the committee to let the hospital bond issue go before the people on May 5. Already the committee has been busy from one end of the city to the other the committee is spreading information regarding the hospital bond issue, and pointing out that an issue of $750,000 for improving the hospital will not be burden on taxpayers. The central committee is also actively engaged in the work of molding public opinion and removing any doubts which may be left in the minds of a few.

Colonel Robert J. Lowry, chairman of the committee, said that "the election will be unanimous," Colonel Lowry recently said.

DOE KILLS ITSELF BEFORE EYES OF POSTOFFICE CROWD

Brunswick, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—Felix Lind at Sterling, just ten miles from Brunswick, are enjoying venison, although the Georgia laws provide that it is unlawful to kill them game from January 1. Further than these people are feasting on select cuts of a doe, while the laws declare that they shall not be killed at all in the state. The doe was killed, and still no prosecutions will follow, as it was a case of suicide, pure and simple.

Frequently deer have been seen right around the station at Sterling. They are as wild as any, but still they have been seen crossing the railroad tracks from one swamp to another. Yesterday a number of men were gathered in front of the post office at Sterling, when they saw a buck and a doe crossing the tracks. The buck was safely across, but as the doe started, a net was thrown and she fell full length in the opposite direction, running full force into a wire fence. With such terrific speed did the doe strike the fence that its neck was broken. The doe was killed, and the people around the little postoffice rushed to the scene of the tragedy, pretty soon butcher knives were put into use, and all those who had witnessed the suicide sat down to home with a choice piece of venison.

PENAL SYSTEM OF ARMY WILL BE MADE HUMANE

San Francisco, April 2.—Old Fort Winfield Scott, the red brick and stone gateway at the southern edge of the golden gate, has been selected by the war department to house a new correctional barracks part of a military reformatory system replacing one found to be as obsolete as the fort itself. When the walls, built under the engineering supervision of Colonel George B. Smith, and General Robert E. Lee, house human beings again, the interior will be as different from the grim, gloomy and magazine of civil war days as is the correctional theory of army discipline from the outgrown one of punishment for punishment's sake.

Eighty military prisoners from Alcatraz island were taken to the new building and actually constructing their own future homes under the direction of Colonel George B. Smith, construction quartermaster of the army. When, about June 1, the work is completed, the barracks will be a light, pleasant and comfortable living place for military prisoners. They will be organized into companies, each with its own non-commissioned officers, and will wear army uniforms, minus insignia, and whenever they show themselves in public, they will be assigned to regulars in the regular military establishments to receive their enlistments and receive honorable discharge.

Incarcerable prisoners will be separated from the first offenders and sent to Fort Leavenworth military prison, in Kansas, but every man will have his chance.

ROCKEFELLERS FAIL TO GET GOULD ROADS

New York, April 2.—From sources closely identified with the principals, it was learned today that all negotiations for the acquisition of stock control of Missouri Pacific and other Gould railroad holdings by the Rockefeller interests have been abandoned, temporarily at least.

The disruption of these plans, which are known to have reached a definite stage, seems to have been caused by the refusal of the Goulds to sell sufficient shares of Missouri Pacific, Denham, and other Gould roads to give the Rockefeller interests a dominant interest in those lines.

JIMMY GRANT SHOWS GREAT IMPROVEMENT

There Is Good Chance for the Game Little Fighter to Recover, Says Physician.

Jimmy Grant, the prize fighter who collapsed shortly after his fight Tuesday night with Johnny Eggers, and has since been lying at the point of death at the Grady hospital, unconscious from the time he was declared to be much better late Thursday afternoon by Dr. William S. Goldsmith, one of his attending physicians.

"When I visited Grant Thursday morning," said Dr. Goldsmith, "I found him in a dying condition, and had little hope of his surviving. His condition during the afternoon was vastly improved, and now there is a good chance for the game little fighter to pull through."

"If he can just hold his own for a few days he will come out victorious in his fight for life. He has never regained consciousness. I attribute his mental condition to a slight concussion of the brain."

Fighter Improving. Dr. L. R. Roughlin, one of the attending physicians, stated that the fighter's mental condition had improved a little, and that his reflexes were visible. "The muscles of his eye," said Dr. Roughlin, "respond whenever the eyelid is touched, which indicates that the patient's mental condition is improving."

Sick When He Entered Ring. Dr. Goldsmith stated that he did not believe that Grant's condition was caused by an overworked stomach on entrance to the prize ring. "Indigestion is having no effect on the fighter for life," said Dr. Goldsmith, "and I believe that he was sick when he went into the ring, and in a condition to go through the fight."

Eggers Follows Case. Eggers, since his release on bond of $500, has followed with keen interest an change in Grant's condition, and has been taken to hear the misfortune of his opponent. "He was a brave little fighter to stand there and fight and have his full rounds when he had broken his hand in the first," said Eggers. "I realized at the time that his punches didn't have the stuff behind them, but never dreamed of his condition."

SAYS MONEY LENDERS OFFERED SETTLEMENT

Two Railroad Employees Secure Temporary Injunctions Against Fifteen Concerns.

Two young men in the offices of two different railroad companies got tired the other day of paying exorbitant interest to fifteen money lenders. Through Attorney R. E. Church they secured injunctions against the collection of any more interest at the rates offered by the lenders.

One of the young men is named J. R. Fudge. He is a rate clerk in the office of the Georgia railroad. The other is J. H. Banks, a traveling freight checker for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic. Fudge was paying $30.35 a month on a $500 loan, and Banks was paying $300 a month on a $100 loan.

Now, according to the laws of Georgia, 5 per cent a month is a maximum legal rate of interest. It is alleged that all the loan companies were charging a rate of 30 per cent a month. It was a simple matter, therefore, to procure the injunctions. Then came the offer of the various loan companies to settle.

MRS. CORA MELL PATTEN ADDRESSES DRAMA LEAGUE

Mrs. Cora Mell Patten, a member of the national board of the Drama League of America, addressed the Atlanta League twice Thursday. In the morning, she gave an inspiring talk on the influence of children's dramatics and pageants, describing the value they had proven to be in Chicago when the public school children took part there last year in a Shakespearean pageant.

She believed in the historic pageants and gave many excellent suggestions to her Atlanta audience.

In the afternoon Mrs. Patten delivered a brilliant lecture on "Brand," the one of all Ibsen's plays she believed to be the greatest. She read from the play, pointed out the philosophy and poetry of it and made converts of all who had not before admired and appreciated Ibsen, and gave joy to students of Ibsen's drama. Mrs. Patten was introduced by Mrs. Emma Carrett, Boyd to one of the largest assemblies yet greeting the program of the educational committee, of which Mrs. Boyd is chairman. AD MEN PAY VISIT TO PHONE EXCHANGE

But Members of Club Are Warned Not to Flirt With Pretty Operators.

The Ad Men's Club of Atlanta held a luncheon, telephone talk and pilgrimage Thursday afternoon. The luncheon was at the Hudson hotel at 1 o'clock and the telephone talk was a fifteen-minute address, "Behind the Scenes in a Telephone Exchange," delivered by George J. Yundt, chief engineer of the southern group of Bell Telephone companies.

Mr. Yundt said in his talk that the calls received by the operators asking for "the time, please," alone amounted to 10,000 a day in Atlanta.

A pilgrimage was taken by the sixty ad men present to and through the Ivy telephone exchange, under the direction of competent and experienced guides, who answered the numerous questions asked pertaining to telephone operation and service. The Ivy office is claimed to be the best equipped telephone office in the south.

The program of the occasion was unique, being in the form of a small telephone book and entitled "Official Directory." It bore a page of advice to the pilgrims, which began as follows: "Don't try and flirt with all the girls. There are too many, and, besides, the supervisor will be watching. Don't try to be an operator for a few minutes. It is strictly against the rules for anyone except the regular girls to take telephone slush."

The ad men will hold another meeting next Thursday at the Anselmy, and Haralson Beckley will talk on "The Plaza Plan." The talk will be illustrated with stereoscopic views made from photos and a model.

Talbotton, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—A mule having hydrophobia on the place of a negro, Hal Dixon, of Woodland, Ga., today bit a piece of flesh out of a cow as large as an orange. The cow, which is the property of Mrs. S. C. Cunningham, at Manchester, Ga., is expected to develop hydrophobia.

FAILS IN HER EFFORT TO CAPTURE A BURGLAR

Mrs. Jennie Malone, of 124 Courtland street, rushed down to the basement from her sewing Wednesday afternoon when she heard noises, and thought some one was attempting to rob the gas meter. Finding a big negro there, she attacked him. The negro proved the stronger, and threw her to the ground. He seized the gas meter, pulling it loose from the connecting pipes, and made good his escape through a window with $7 in the meter. Mrs. Malone was considerably bruised by the fall.

To Last All Summer

and make our home places, individually, and the city as a whole, an attractive place for those of us who have to look at them all season.

It's all right to "lick up" for special occasions, but it's far better to make and keep an "Atlanta Beautiful" all the year for ourselves and the tens of thousands of visitors that are constantly coming to our city and forming opinions from what they see.

The Children's Lunch Basket—will be brim full of health builders if the foods it carries are made with

Cottolene

Pastries, doughnuts and all foods are far more digestible when made with Cottolene. Physicians and expert dieticians have passed the verdict of science in favor of this clean, food-bettering product. Cottolene is pure and wholesome and should be used in all cookery.

The children will adore the cook who makes this:

COTTOLENE FAIRY GINGERBREAD

2-3 cup Cottolene; 2 1-2 cups sugar; 1-2 cup sweet milk; 3 eggs; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 tablespoon ginger; 7 cups flour (or enough to mix as stiff as can be rolled).

Cream Cottolene and sugar, add beaten eggs, soda dissolved in sweet milk and ginger. Add flour (as much as can be stirred in). Roll to about one-eighth inch thickness, in a sheet to cover bottom of a large, low baking-pan. Stamp out with fancy rolling-pin or spriggle stamps, sprinkle with sugar and bake to a very delicate brown. Cut apart and remove quickly by passing knife underneath and stand on edge in a pan to cool.

Order a pail of Cottolene and just try these crisp wafers. Use Cottolene in all cooking, always using one-third less than you would of butter or lard, because Cottolene really goes farther. Also send to us for the valuable FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS. Do it NOW.

"YES, I PUT THEM NEXT"

Says Crystal Springs Lady, "To the Road to Happiness, and They All Thank Me Now."

Crystal Springs, Miss.—In advice from this town, Mrs. C. Barton gives out the following for publication: "I am glad to inform suffering women of the merits of Cardui, the woman's tonic. I cannot give Cardui the praise due to it. I know it put me on my feet, after all other medicines had failed. Last summer, I was down flat on my back with womanly troubles. I was so uneasy. Could not walk at times, and it hurt me to sit down. I am very fond of reading all kinds of books, especially if they have anything to say about suffering women. One day, I was reading the Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and saw what the Cardui Home Treatment had done for other ladies, so I decided to try it. After using a full treatment (6 bottles), I got fat and stout, and don't look or feel like the same woman. I would not be without Cardui in the house now. It is certainly the medicine for ailing women. I loaned my book to some of my suffering lady friends, and they are now using Cardui, and they are all thanking me for putting them next to the road to health and happiness." Follow the example of Mrs. Barton. Begin taking Cardui today. At your druggist's.

N. B.—Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for booklet "Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR ALTO SANITARIUM

Graham Forrester Declares State Should Give More for Fight on Tuberculosis.

The board of trustees of the Georgia Tuberculosis sanitarium held their annual meeting Thursday morning at the sanitarium in Alto. The officers elected were: Dr. J. N. McClore, of Norcross, president; Dr. I. L. Goss, of Athens, vice president; Dr. J. H. Davis, of Toccoa, secretary; Joseph A. McCord, of Atlanta, treasurer, and Dr. William V. Parramore re-elected superintendent. Graham Forrester, pastor of the First Baptist church, at West Point, Ga., and a trustee of the sanitarium, said Thursday afternoon that the discussion at the meeting treated of the inadequate appropriation made yearly to the sanitarium by the state. "The Georgia Tuberculosis sanitarium," declared Mr. Forrester, "receives from the state only $20,000 per year for its upkeep, whereas $75,000 would not be an extravagant sum for this institution. The sanitarium can only care for ninety patients, which is indeed small as compared with Georgia. We want more money put out and do something, but are greatly handicapped in fighting tuberculosis in Georgia." At the year we treated 223 patients, and the increase of patients this year has rendered our maintenance appropriations inadequate. I think the Alto sanitarium should receive the same consideration from the state that the Milledgeville asylum for the insane gets. The Alto sanitarium furnishes only temporary treatment; when the patient shows signs of recuperation, he goes home. It seems to me that it would be an excellent idea for the sanitarium to follow the example of the sanitarium at Milledgeville and provide a permanent home for the consumptives of Georgia, where they may spend the rest of their lives out in nature's open. If the state would make provision for such a sanitarium, it would be greatly beneficial to Georgia."

L. C. Gentle, the 4-year-old boy of Talbot Gentle, of 159 Jett street, while attempting to start the front end of a slowly running automobile, which was on the street car track on Kennedy street, about 4:45 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, near the corner of Chestnut street, fell and slipped underneath the car, the wheels passing over the boy's right leg, severing it just below the knee. Gentle was rushed to the Atlanta hospital for treatment and was suffering considerably from the pain of his shattered right leg.

HIT LOSES GOLD WATCH TO A DARING BURGLAR

Moutrie Hitt, of 73 West Fifth street, while asleep early Thursday morning on his sleeping porch, was aroused by noise in his bedroom, and joined. The burglar ran to a door out of pistol range, and made good his escape through the rear of the house. Hitt is now recovering from his wounds at the early morning intruder had carried off his gold watch and all his pocket change.

CONVICT IS WITNESS AT A PEONAGE TRIAL

See Wood, negro convict, now doing time in the Rockdale county chain-gang, and Cliff Henderson, a negro, now a prisoner in the Rockdale county jail, were brought into the federal courtroom yesterday morning as witnesses against R. P. Biggers, prominent owner of Rockdale county, on trial charged with peonage. In September 1913, a federal grand jury returned a bill of indictment against Biggers, asserting peonage, and during the trial before Judge Newman, of the United States court, yesterday, some thirty witnesses have so far been examined. When Wood was called to the witness chair, he appeared in convict's apparel. The case will be concluded this morning, and will likely result in an acquittal of the defendant, notwithstanding the number of witnesses presented.

DRIVEN FROM HIS HOME BY FATHER, SAYS BOY

M. H. Cunningham, alias J. R. Stovall, a 17-year-old boy, who is charged with peonage and charged with skipping bail, was driven from his home in the Piedmont hotel on Thursday afternoon. He was wandering aimlessly around the country, and his father, who is a citizen of Elkin, W. Va., had driven him from home because he wanted to marry. The boy declared that his father, as he left home, threw a shoe at him. If the boy's story proves true, and the parent is willing for him to return home, the boy will, in all probability, be sent back home, as the management of the hotel do not wish to prosecute the youth under such conditions.

BANDIT IS ROUTED BY BOY MESSENGER

Atlantan Is Wounded in Thwarting Bold Attempt to Rob Seaboard Air Line Train at Comer.

The traditional lone bandit, masked, boarded Seaboard Air Line train No. 11, southbound, at the water tank near Comer, Ga., early Thursday morning, while the passengers were still asleep, and forcing his way into the express car, was in an attempt to rob the express car safe, containing about $1,200 and other valuables, by a boy express messenger, R. C. Fletcher, of 430 Whitehall street, Atlanta, who engaged the would-be robber in an exciting pistol duel.

Bandit Makes Escape.

When the bandit lost his pistol, and as the train came to a standstill in answer to a jerk of the bell-cord by the express messenger, the robber ran to the rear of the express car through the door and leaped off the slowly running train, disappearing in the darkness.

Trail Wounded Robber.

Two special agents of the Seaboard who happened to be among the passengers of the train, jumped off the train immediately and took up the trail of the robber. Down the tracks could be traced a thin trail of blood, evidently coming from the pistol shot that knocked the bandit's revolver from his hand.

Covers Boy Messenger.

The whole transaction lasted only about a second. He was in the car and had covered the boy messenger before Fletcher realized the attempt had occurred. When Fletcher reached for his revolver, the bandit opened fire, and several shots were exchanged.

GUY BIDDINGER LEAVES; DESTINATION A SECRET

Failure of Burns to Return This Week Is Cause of Much Speculation.

Much speculation has arisen over the failure of Detective William J. Burns to return to Atlanta within the past four days, on each of which he was expected in the city.

Further interest was added to his investigation of the Frank case yesterday by the departure of Guy B. Eddinger, Burns' ablest lieutenant, who has been in Atlanta since Saturday at work under cover of secrecy.

Biddinger's destination has not been revealed. It is rumored, however, that he has gone to New York, in which city Burns is still believed to be. The exact date of the noted detective's return is not known, it is said in offices for the defense, although he is expected back at any moment.

Get the Personal Touch!

Every man who owns an automobile should know how to run it. If he doesn't know how to run it he doesn't know how to buy it. He can't get the touch or the feel of the car through some other man's hands.

That's the way we are selling the Mitchell car this year. We are asking probable customers to try the car themselves and find out how it responds to them. Nine-tenths of the men who own cars are amateurs the first season and they know—and we know—that the only way to learn a car thoroughly is to ride in it, drive it and get the personal touch.

Our dealers everywhere are prepared to co-operate with you to this end. They will willingly lend you a Mitchell model. If the car drives well and acts well under your guidance, then ask the dealer for the details of construction and the materials used therein. Ask your dealer to show you all the models. The engines all perform the same whether in the big and little sizes or the four. One acts as well as the other. Try one or try all. Suit yourself. But don't let some one else tell you how the cars operate. Drive them yourself.

Here is the Equipment for all the Mitchell Models Which is included in the List Prices:

Electric self-starter and generator—electric lights—electric horn—electric magnetic motor—motor box and distributor—ignition valves—lift quick-action side curtains—quick-action two piece rear vision wind-shield—demonstrable runs with one extra tire—removable spare—flexible hose—flexible license plate bracket—pump jack and complete set of first class tools

MEN OF THE NAVY RISK THEIR LIVES FOR OTHERS

Story of Heroism Told by Commander of the Collier Jupiter.

Washington, April 2.—Readiness of officers and enlisted men of the navy to risk their lives for others is strikingly illustrated in a report to the navy department from the commanding officer of the collier Jupiter, made public today.

"On March 16 last," the report says in part, "Ordinary Seaman Curtis Fritz and Anding went down in the hold of the Jupiter to coal the galley.

Developments showed that poisonous gases had collected in this hold. Fritz, finding himself getting faint, started to go back up the ladder, but fell unconscious. Anding placed the hoisting line around Fritz and Curtis went up for help.

Seaman Stanley then went down to bring up Fritz. As soon as the latter had been removed Anding himself dropped back unconscious.

Boatswain's Mate Leitner then went down to put the line around Anding, but found he had fallen so far from the ladder that the line would not reach him.

He then tried to drag Anding, but was himself overcome. Boatswain W. T. Shaw arrived at this time, went down to get back up the ladder, but fell unconscious.

Chief Carpenter Kempston and Ordinary Seaman Ferguson then went into the hold to render assistance and Ordinary Seaman Curtis went back to the hold a second time.

When the executive officer arrived he had a line thrown into the hold from the coal boom and Boatswain Shaw placed it around Anding and he was then hauled out.

He then started to bend the line around Leitner, but was again overcome. Boatswain W. T. Shaw arrived at this time, went down to get back up the ladder, but fell unconscious.

place wooden with steel equipment? "We so regard it," said Mr. Rea.

Profits of Railroads. Mr. Johnson, counsel for the Pittsburgh Coal company, asked a series of questions designed to bring out the capacity of the cars also greater.

"In making our application for an increase of 5 per cent in rates," said Mr. Rea, "we regarded it as the only way in which we might obtain an increase."

Mr. Brandels asked about returns on passenger traffic.

"It probably is a fair conclusion," said the witness, "that there is a comparatively insignificant return on capital devoted to passenger business."

Rescue work performed by the employees of the Florida house, where the fire originated, is believed to have saved many lives.
