BURNS WILL SEEK TALK WITH CONLEY EARLY THIS WEEK

On Return to Atlanta, Detective Announces He Will Confer With Dorsey, Lanford and Smith.

SAYS HE HAS NOT MADE FINAL REPORT ON CASE

Denies the Report That He Stated He Believed a Third Party, as Yet Unarrested, Guilty of Murder.

"I have not made my final report. Neither have I said whether or not I believed Len Frank to be innocent. Also, I have not made the statement that I believe a third man to be guilty."

Mystery No Longer

"The Phagan mystery is no longer a mystery. We have cleared it. I was confident from the outset that we would have success. It was no difficult task, and our work was simple—merely the following of the criminal trend of mind, which left so many manifestations in the Phagan tragedy."

Seeking the Truth

"I have merely sought to get at the truth of this case, and I do not see where public officers should protest against assisting me in unearthing the truth. I do not think Solicitor Dorsey is the kind of man who would back against co-operation with me."

Confers With Lieutenants

Until the early hours of this morning, Burns labored in his hotel apartments with Dan Lehon and Guy Bidinger, his lieutenants, inspecting the mass of evidence that has been accumulated by these men since the famous sleuth left the city.

Hotel Winecock, Senator West spoke as follows: "Fully persuaded that my candidacy before the people to fill the unexpired term of Senator Bacon in the United States senate does not meet with the entire approval of south Georgia, and knowing, too, without the practically unanimous indorsement of this section—apprehending that other candidates from the "wire-grass" section will enter the field, rendering the situation still more complicated—to succeed it would require the greatest effort and my presence much of the time from my duties in Washington; therefore, I have come to the conclusion not to enter the race.

tant to unite in my support. They have their preferences, and under a free democratic representative government must maintain the right to exercise them. Yet I wish to say without reference to myself that if south Georgia is, ever to fill with any of her favored sons the high places in the state the people must get together. They should remember, too, it takes time to grow statesmen. "South Georgia is a great section, with marvelous possibilities, and I trust the people will be equal to the great destiny that seems to await them.

all over Georgia for their generous offer of support." Four to the itace. Those in the race for the unexpired senatorial term are Slaton, Felder, Hardwick and John R. Cooper. For the full term Senator Hoke Smith is opposed by Ralph O. Cochran. Present rumors are afloat that others will enter the contest, and the name of Joseph M. Brown is most frequently used in this connection. Mr. Brown has given no intimation of his political intentions up to the present time. The scramble for the governorship is the next interesting political situation. J. Randolph Anderson can be definitely depended on to make the race. He has repeatedly stated that if Governor Slaton ran for the senate that he would make the race for governor.

WITH CARGO OF CORPSES RESCUE SHIP MAKES PORT Continued From Page One. venture and the Florida were fortunate enough to reach their ships safely. The Stephano's men, being near the Florida, hurried on board her. The Stephano, meanwhile, steamed towards the spot where her crew had been seen before the snow shut in. This took her away from the New Foundland's group who were far from their own. As soon as the Stephano was sighted by the Florida's wireless of the safety of her men, she headed back into the storm to pick up the New Foundland's hunters.

Judge Consults With Boy, And Then Gives Youngster Into His Father's Custody With the co-operation, if not the assistance, of a hitherto silent factor in the case, Judge Charles O. Reid, of the Stone Mountain circuit, brought to an unusually happy conclusion Saturday the prolonged and bitter litigation between father and grandparent over John B. Richards III, nine years old. The hitherto silent factor was John B. Richards III. The decision was handed down in the Stone Mountain circuit court, where Judge Reid has been sitting out of courtesy to the Atlanta lawyers involved in the case. The extent of its happiness may be deduced from the circumstance that Saturday night Mrs. David McCann, speaking for the plaintiffs—herself and her husband—declared that they had won, while John B. Richards, Jr., speaking for the defendant—himself—asserted with even greater positiveness that he had won. Father Gets Boy. For the average reader, it will be sufficient to know that Judge Reid remanded the boy to the custody of his father with no further conditions, that, if the court so rules later, he is to be permitted to visit his grandparents for a month during vacation. When the father will sue in another matter which, on good authority, will depend on the wishes of the hitherto silent factor.

BIG BALL PLANNED BY YAARAB PATROL ON FRIDAY, APRIL 24 So successful was the ball given by the Yaarab Patrol association last January that the members have decided to repeat the function with another to be held at Tratt hall on Friday evening, April 24. All Spriners are invited to attend and are interested in the coming convention. It is rapidly increasing it is expected that fully 1,500 will trip the light fantastic on this occasion. Many out-of-town Spriners will probably take this opportunity to come to Atlanta and learn the ropes.

Indian POWER The Indian motor is a development of the highly talented and ever advancing mechanical thought centered in the famous Indian Engineering Department. For 13 years it has been evolving—adding power, gaining speed, adopting all that test and experience uncovered in motor progress, taking the lead in the march toward perfected construction. Today it is man-grown—a matured mechanism recognized the world over as a pre-eminent achievement. The Indian motor is standard. There are over 100,000 of its kind operating on Indian Motorcycles in all parts of the world—a triumph not only of numbers, but of universal acceptance based on performance.

CAMPAIGN IS BEGUN FOR "BETTER BABIES" Washington, April 4.—"Better babies" will be one of the subjects discussed at the conference of the American Library Association in the city here today. The conference, conducted by Samuel H. Rineck, in charge of the public library at Grand Rapids, Mich. For some time the librarian has circulated slips to mothers whose names appear on the official birth register of his city, giving the names of all books and magazine articles in the library dealing with the care of babies. He aroused so much interest that all this class of literature has been in constant circulation at the library association since possibilities in his plan.

Seeking the Castaways. On Thursday the weather cleared and the Bellaventure was making ready to start her men after seals again when a lookout in the crew's nest reported men on the ice. Captain Randall immediately ordered every available man on the ship to the rescue. The main party of castaways were 4 miles away over a broken field of ice. The Bellaventure was driven toward them with all possible speed, but so bad were ice conditions that it required nine hours to cover the 4 miles. In the meantime Captain Randall's men had reached the castaways. Only a few of the hardest were conscious and able to help themselves. Many were in a stupor. Some were raving others had been stricken with ice blindness. Many bodies were found frozen so fast in the ice that pickaxes were necessary to chop them out. Two of the survivors were nearly mad from their own sufferings and from grief. Each had watched a brother die in his arms.

SENATOR A. O. BACON MOURNED BY COLOMBIA Resolutions Adopted on Death of Georgian by Department of Santander. Bogota, Colombia, April 4.—The assembly of the department of Santander has adopted a resolution of sympathy in the death of United States Senator Augustus Octavius Bacon, of Georgia. This resolution is to be sent to the president of Colombia, and later through the minister of foreign affairs to the American minister at Bogota, for transmission to the United States. The resolution reads: "Interpreting the patriotic sentiments of the worthy people whom it represents, and considering the expression of its sympathy and appreciation as an act of justice to those who have labored, or labor, for the supreme rights of the country and humanity, it deeply regrets the death of Senator Bacon, who placed his highest abilities at the service of Colombia and the weak nations battling for her in the congress of his country, in connection with the events that took place in Panama."

Every Home Needs This Great Remedy Without a Mild, Reliable Laxative-Tonic. No well-regulated home should be without a laxative, for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, nervousness, or show the first signs of a cold. A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative- tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. One who has tried a great many things, and who has tried many of the "patent" ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is absolutely free from any harmful ingredients. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever after avoid cathartics, laxative pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a check to an already delicate system. Such things should never be given to children. Families wishing to try a free sample, can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 410 Washington St., Montreal, Ill. A postage stamp with your name and address on it will do.

WOMAN WAS MURDERED AND HER BODY BURNED Vancouver, British Columbia, April 4.—That Mrs. Charles J. Millard was murdered and her body burned in the furnace of her home is the belief of the police, who have been investigating the circumstances of her disappearance on Wednesday last. Jack Kong, a Chinese boy, 17 years old, is named as a result of the evidence which the police have obtained. What has the appearance of a human, hooded and blind, was found in the furnace ashes by detectives, whom they made an examination last night. Bloodstains were found on the floor, traces of a stain which had been found on the dining room floor, following the trail of the body, and pointing to an attic, where they led the detectives to the attic, where the woman's clothes had been found earlier in the day. Mrs. Fronie Justess, 26 years old, died a night ago, at 10 o'clock, at her residence, 57 Allen avenue. She is survived by her husband, J. B. Justess. The body will be taken to Tallahassee today at 12 o'clock for funeral and interment.

"THERE IS BUT ONE
FAIR AND HONEST WAY
To Determine the MERIT of a Ready-to-take Medicine

No one can speak positively of the worth of any medicine until he has tried it. Not tried it on others, but tried it on himself.

The people who have taken Peruna know what Peruna is. The people who have read about Peruna or heard about Peruna, have a more or less imperfect knowledge of it.

Mr. Isaac Horrenga, Fremont, Mich., writes: "I was taken sick last spring, unable to work for three months and a half. My weight was reduced to 135 pounds. At last I was advised to use PERUNA. I have now gained my usual weight. PERUNA gave me a splendid appetite. I feel strong."

Wanted
To correspond with owners of small, well-located and desirable tracts of land or directly adjacent to growing, prosperous towns, with a view to subdividing into business, residence or villa sites, and sell for owner at either private or auction sales.

I have a thorough organization, employ only experts in their line, and my record of more than a million of sales in the south speaks for itself.

Tracts of from five to fifteen acres are preferred. Unless present or prospective development warrants an advance in value; or unless a substantial growth of a town in question makes the purchase of lots desirable from either an investment or occupation standpoint, do not reply.

If, on the other hand, you want to turn your land into cash or good paper, and there are reasons why the buyers I should find should make good on their investment, write me at once and I shall endeavor to make a quick and satisfactory operation for you.

Well-located lands, when properly subdivided and sold, should bring the owner large profits on acreage prices.

References from bankers, state and county officials and other large property owners furnished upon application.

J. A. HOLLOWAY, Jacksonville, Florida.

When you say, "I will buy a suit for Easter," of course you mean that you will buy a new suit because Easter is the opening of the spring. You will buy the sort of suit you can wear in any company with absolute confidence—because you know the style is right as well as the quality—because the tailoring is a credit to the fabric as the elegance of the garment is a credit to the man.

You buy this confidence in your MUSE purchases. You buy the sort of clothes which have given satisfaction to thousands of Atlanta men for more than a quarter-century—the sort of clothes which have brought us the greatest clothing business of the south.

And you expend the least in the transaction, for every dollar invested in the MUSE sort of suit finds its own weight in those qualities supreme which make of it an investment rather than an expenditure.

'Tis scarcely needed to add that at our spring styles are ready. No more is it to remind that Easter Sunday will open the door o' spring just seven days hence.

We expect the interim to be a pleasantly busy week. Let us see your face among our visitors.

VILLA IS HOTLY PURSUING ROUTED FORCES OF HUERTA

British official announced that Villa had assured him none of the wounded would be harmed. Those who had the strength raised themselves on their elbows from pallets on the floor and from their coats and cried a feeble "Viva Villa."

The nurse was soothing a dying patient, who with his last breath joined the cheering and then sank back dead.

Persons who say they were eyewitnesses declare that Velasco summarily executed three Spaniards, whom he accused of firing on his troops. The wife of one of these, Lotero Lopez, attempted to shield her husband, and the same bullet killed both.

Three hundred and fifty Spaniards, including women and children, took refuge in a bank building, under the protection of American Consul Ulmer, who remained in town throughout the battle.

The insurgents have shown no disposition to harm those Spaniards who are known to have remained neutral. Other foreigners, including fifty-five Chinese, Syrians and Austrians and 100 Americans, were unharmed, so far as could be learned today.

Velasco Reported Wounded. It was reported that General Velasco himself was wounded, but this report, like the one that he went insane in the trenches, could not be confirmed, and the impression prevails that he still is at the head of his troops.

Two federal generals were killed and three wounded. It is said here that Velasco's retreat was brought about by his losses in the night assaults made by the rebels and indications that his soldiers, worn out by the prolonged fighting and fearful of the cruelties which they were told Villa practiced on the wounded prisoners, were on the verge of mutiny.

In the course of the house to house fighting rebels and federals frequently came within talking distance of each other and in some cases got on such friendly terms that they ceased firing entirely. In most of these cases the federals were persuaded to remain where they were and that they will be enrolled under the rebel banner.

At least a fortnight and probably a longer period will be required to reorganize the army before the expected campaign against Saltillo and Monterrey can be made.

Rebel leaders are awaiting news of the political effect of their victory on Mexico City and Washington. The federal artillery was superior to that of the rebels, many of whose shells proved defective.

Villa Soul of the Battle. Villa was the soul of the battle. His spirit animated everything. When things were going wrong he would gallop along the battle line encouraging or reprimanding as the individual case required.

"Well done," he said to the gunner who fired a shell into the ranks of the rebels.

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS,
SOOR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time It! In Five Minutes Your Upset Stomach Will Feel Fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its soothing action on the inflamed, sore, gassy stomach. It millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous all over the world.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—got a large bottle sent free from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat has like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and other eruptions of the acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

Military men regard the retreat of General Velasco from Torreon as a most dangerous undertaking, and they consider the conditions of General Juarez de Moura and General Joaquin Maas at San Pedro are precarious.

Shown here the federal troops still have possession of the railroad between Torreon and Saltillo. At the time the connections can be made with the south.

The rebels, however, infest the region along the main line south of Saltillo. One body, under General Gutierrez, has its headquarters at Compaio. The other, under General Gonzalez, is at the junction of the branch line from Saltillo, and within striking distance of the main line. The presence of these two bodies and the rebel forces in the same vicinity renders improbable an unopposed retreat of the federals toward the coast.

Northward from Saltillo toward Monterrey little difficulty might be encountered by the federal troops, for it is not improbable that the fugitives from Torreon will make an attempt to join the federal garrison at Monterrey.

The escape of General Velasco and his men from the retreat of Torreon does not appear to be a simple task. Their retreat southwest toward Durango or the coast is said by military men to be impossible until they cut their way through rebel territory.

Which connects Torreon and Zacatecas to the south long has been out of commission and now serves to mark the route of the retreat of General Velasco and his troops will have to march. Before reaching Zacatecas it is thought certain that General Velasco will encounter the rebel forces under General Panfilo Natera, who probably will start from Saltillo attacks by rebel troops from Durango.

Next Move of Rebels. Military men not intimately connected with the federal administration express the opinion today that General Velasco's retreat will resolve itself into a series of marches for himself. They say that the next move of the rebels will be to begin a campaign against Saltillo and Monterrey, and possibly a subsidiary expedition against Zacatecas, south of Torreon.

At the same time the rebel task of attacking Tampico on the east coast continues under the direction of General Gonzalez from his headquarters in the city of Victoria.

Another large quantity of small arms and machine guns—though not captured to be compared with the amount captured at Torreon—was added to the rebel supply this week when a federal force under Colonel Enriquez Perez was cut to pieces northwest of Saltillo.

The federal generals, Moura and Hidalgo, are said to have twenty or thirty thousand men and large supplies of ammunition. General Hidalgo is believed to be at Saltillo, but hopes to join General Juarez.

If the rebel troops capture all the guns which were in possession of General Velasco, military men declare that they will have a majority of the field pieces in the republic. Should the equipment of General Moura and Hidalgo be added to this, their position will be greatly superior to that of the Huerta forces.

With the exception of The Impartial, every newspaper in the federal capital today published accounts highly favorable to the government side of the operations in a neighborhood of Torreon. The newspaper of the day, the fall of that city. The only reference to the Huerta side was one contained in a denial and indicated that the report showed the lengths to which sensational border rumors proceeded.

The city is quiet and no excitement is evident in any quarter.

GEN. VILLA'S LOSS 1,200 IN KILLED AND WOUNDED
Washington, April 4.—An official whose shell had fallen true. "Men like you will redeem Mexico," he complimented a wounded man who remained in the firing line.

"Who do you find the dancing floor too rough?" he chided a soldier who, on some pretext, was making for the rear.

Villa was in his headquarters at Gomez Palacio Thursday night when Torreon fell. Almost up to the hour of the federal flight he could not see the end of the battle and that morning had telegraphed for bigger cannon.

His black, thick hair was matted and standing straight up for the most part, and his eyes were bloodshot and his face. News of the evacuation had reached him, and he smiled, fairly burning his answers to questions put by newspaper men.

Stories are told here of alleged insults to the American flag perpetrated by federal soldiers, who were engaged in the capture of Torreon. As a matter of fact, there were but nine. None of them was killed or wounded.

message today from Consular Agent Carothers at Torreon reported the rebel loss in killed and wounded in the battle at Torreon was 1,200. No estimate was made of federal losses. The message, it was said at the state department, was the only official word received from Torreon since Carothers yesterday confirmed the capture of the city by Villa.

Rear Admiral Fletcher reported there were no developments at Tampico. The Mexican embassy was without news from Mexico City.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB
ORGANIZED IN FIFTH

The voters of the fifth ward met Friday night at Edith's hall and effected an organization to be called the Fifth Ward Improvement club, for the purpose of securing for that ward a just proportion of general improvements in accordance with taxes paid.

N. M. Echols was elected president, and Oscar Elliott secretary. The club will meet every Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The following is included in the constitution of the club:

"We will ask our school board to buy the vacant property adjoining that of the old schoolhouse on English avenue, and that the old schoolhouse be remodeled or a new one built instead of enlarging the present one, which will disfigure the present gratifying appearance of the building."

"We ask the mayor to see that our fifth ward fire house be built at the corner of Bellwood avenue and Chestnut street, and that the engine be bought at once."

The constitution further requests that convicts be punished for improvements on Chestnut, Curran and McMillan streets.

Army Officers for France.

Washington, April 4.—The war department has made public the names of the army officers who will leave for France next July to study the methods of military science while detailed with French formations. They are Captain John W. Barker, Third infantry; Captain A. M. Miller, Tenth cavalry; First Lieutenant E. W. Honeycutt and Second Lieutenant Edwin St. John Grille, Third infantry; Major Morton J. Henry, Quartermaster corps; First Lieutenant John C. Quekquer, Thirteenth cavalry; Captain Frank Parker, Eleventh cavalry.

Police Captain Shoots Self.

Washington, April 4.—Captain Thomas J. Hollinberger, of the city police force, was found dying in his home Sunday with a bullet wound in the right temple and clutching a revolver with one chamber discharged. He died at the hospital shortly afterward, and his coroner has begun an investigation. Captain Hollinberger had been a member of the police force since 1890.

Caillaux to Be Candidate.

Paris, April 4.—Joseph Caillaux, who resigned from the cabinet of finance after Mme. Caillaux killed Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro, has consented to become a candidate for the chamber of deputies. He expressed his willingness to undertake this campaign at the solicitation of a delegation of politicians and friends today.

Payne Again a Candidate.

Auburn, N. Y., April 4.—Representative Seno E. Payne, dean of the republicans in the lower house of congress, announced today he is a candidate for re-election this fall. He has served fifteen terms.

CAPTURE OF TORREON DENIED BY GEN. HUERTA

Mexico City, April 4.—The federal government today officially denied the capture of Torreon by the rebels. It was assumed in many quarters that the capture of Torreon by the rebels had been confirmed by the capture of the city by Villa.

It was suggested that the withholding of the news from the public was based on psychological rather than on military grounds. The military men here that the temperance of the Mexican populace would be shocked by the capture of Torreon and the fall of Torreon might easily start an avalanche of public opinion against the Huerta government.

DEAD HORSES AND MEN
PILED HIGH IN TORREON

Villa Took Only 30 Prisoners Alive and Unwounded—On to Capital, Villa's Cry.

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 4.—When General Villa took Torreon he took only thirty prisoners alive and unwounded, according to information received here today. Whether this means many were executed or that General Velasco, given up, was captured, but valiant federal commander, escaped with nearly all of his army not dead or disabled, could not be learned. However, it is known that he made the first few miles of his escape on troop trains which he abandoned when he came to the first place where the rails had been removed. This circumstance is construed in favor of the reports that he got away with the remnant of his army intact.

A dispatch from an Italian army officer with the rebel artillery received today from Torreon, reported that "Dead horses and dead men are piled high in the streets and plaza and the ruins of Torreon, given up, are piled with blood. It is impossible to estimate the number of federal dead, but superficial observation points to the fact that not less than 2,000 bodies are scattered about. It will be a task to get rid of the dead, but a dignified funeral pyre probably will be built and the bodies of men and animals incinerated."

"Among the dead are some of the picked ruffians who fought against General Velasco, who were sent north to attempt to check Villa's victorious march. When Villa entered the city only the thirty prisoners remained to tell the tragic story of their defeat. During the close of the fighting Thursday, when the federal garrison saw defeat was certain, they threw down their arms and took to flight."

The Italian account of the number of dead is not relied on here. Consular Agent Powers, of Parral, who was arrested charged with passing counterfeit money, still is under charges, but is at liberty on parole. Marlon Letcher, consul here, demanded that Powers be given an immediate hearing, but Manuel Chao, military governor of the state, has not found it expedient to comply with the press or other duties in connection with the battle of Torreon.

Villa's Future Movements. As to Villa's future movements local strategists say they believe that, having rested and refitted his army, he will proceed south, where he will attack Saltillo and Monterrey, to the east and Zacatecas. To the south, assuming success in the south, they say the two armies then will route probably at San Luis Potosi for the campaign against Mexico City. They assume, it is said, that Mazatlan and Tampico will be reduced by rebel forces already threatening them.

Rebel officers here quote General Villa as opposed to any compromise with the enemy, if one should be proposed. "I will be ready to dictate in Mexico City," he is quoted. "There can be no compromise. Madero compromised and his government failed through the treachery of those who did not appreciate him or took advantage of his clemency. This revolution must be the last in Mexico, and it must be thorough and conclusive. This we must accomplish by the use of arms, so that in the end there will be no questioning of our orders or our laws."

FOR MERE MAN STYLE SHOW DE LUXE TOMORROW, MONDAY

You should by all means' plan to come to this Style Show for Men here tomorrow.

Perhaps you will laugh and say, "I'm not interested in styles," but YOU SHOULD BE.

Men who give little thought to their dress—who are in the habit of regarding anything that conforms to convention as good enough for them—will learn from a visit here tomorrow (or any day, for that matter) that there are unguessed possibilities of personal satisfaction and profit in such Fashionable Apparel as we have ready for you.

This Fashion Show will be an exposition—a carnival—a Style Show DeLuxe, where articles of men's apparel are inspected with unusual and unlimited freedom.

The unusual interest manifested by the public in matters pertaining to styles in Men's Wearing Apparel has influenced us to display the prevailing Spring and Summer fashions in this very novel manner.

Men are usually credited with different shopping ideas to those of women. Maybe the matter of time enters largely; but, generally speaking, it is a recognized fact that men do not shop in the sense we view that subject.

The purpose of this show is based on that single recognition. It offers an opportunity for every man who is at all interested in fashions—and every man is, more or less—to view the new styles from a different angle to what he is accustomed to see them.

Programme Tomorrow

10 to 1

Business and morning suits.

2 to 5

Business, outing, sporting and midsummer linens, silks and washables.

7 to 10

Formal dress—Dinner suits, cutaway frocks and accessories.

With the various suits the correct hat, shirts, collars and cravats will be shown with them.

COME---LIVING MODELS WILL BE SHOWING WHAT YOU SHOULD WEAR!

Quite a few novel features will be introduced in connection with this Style Show. Living models; gentlemanly, highly respectable young men will be groomed from head to foot with Suits, Hats, Shirts, Collars and Cravats from our stock.

Music, popular selections, will be rendered by the Ansley Hotel Orchestra during each session.

Green bay trees, palms, foliage and flowers in profusion will decorate the interior as a fit setting to the occasion, the season and the apparel.

It's going to be a gala occasion, both for you and for us.

It will be an opportunity for you to note the styles, familiarize yourself with the fabrics and patterns and learn the prices.

This will be accomplished without any obligation on your part, for, aside from the mercenary features which prompt the exhibit, it will not be commercialized by a single transaction.

This is an invitation to every man in Atlanta---and every lady---to visit us on this day and see the many beautiful garments we have to show

The Cloud-Stanford Co.—the Shop of Quality—This Spring Excels Itself in Stylish and Exclusive Wearables for Men!

The Shop of Quality, since its opening day, six years ago, has been seriously considered by knowing ones as the local style center for authoritative fashions, and the quality maintained for its wearables has not been excelled by its artistic environment.

The note of simple elegance, of beautiful treatments and the air of genuine refinement which permeates the establishment throughout, tends only to enhance the worth in the estimation of those whose confidence in the Shop is rightfully placed

ELECTION CAMPAIGN OPENED BY ASQUITH

Premier Defines the Relation of the Army to the Civil Power.

Ladybank, Scotland, April 4.—Premier Asquith today opened his election campaign in this village. The elaborate telegraphic arrangements for the circulation of the premier's address throughout the United Kingdom testified to the importance attached to the speech in political circles. Premier Asquith, who has just assumed the duties of secretary of state for war, quickly approached the subject of the army crisis. He had felt his duty to assume his new office because a grave situation had been created both in regard to the discipline of the army and in connection with its relation to the civil power. Premier Asquith declared: "The British army can be counted on, from the highest to the lowest rank, without qualification or reserve, to undertake all the duties its obligations require it to discharge. The army is not, and pray may never become, a political machine. Turning to exceptional circumstances in which the army might be called upon to assist the civil power, Premier Asquith said: "In such emergencies it is the duty of the soldier to assist the civil power to comply with the lawful demand of the civil power. The doctrine of the army is that the army is not to be used for the purpose of enforcing the will of the party struck at the very root not only of army discipline but of the government of the country. The premier continued: "This new doctrine, now counter-signified by the former leaders, will be invoked whenever the spirit of lawlessness wishes to stop the ordinary machinery of self-governing society. Mr. Asquith definitely refused the ultimatum demand that the question of the soldier should be submitted to the electors. He said: "We believe it to be a wise and just measure. The local option proposal is not only fair, but generous. For myself I repeat that I am anxious for peace, and close no door to a settlement, but peace—and I say this for both sides—must be reached with honor and in settlement reached we must secure the putting of a home rule bill for Ireland on the statute books. The premier got a great ovation from crowds of excursionists who thronged the village from all parts of Scotland.

RATCLIFFE ARRESTED FOR SEABOARD HOLD-UP

Norfolk, Va., April 4.—The Seaboard Air Line railway's general offices here today reported the arrest at Columbia, S. C., of one Ratcliffe as one of a series of hold-up men alleged to have been connected with the hold-up of a Southern Express company's messenger on the Seaboard Tampa-New York express train at Columbia, March 28. Ratcliffe is alleged to have made a confession, upon which it is expected to apprehend the five others within the next few hours. The Seaboard Air Line today also reported the taking into custody of one Ratcliffe, who is alleged to have confessed that a report that he was held up on a Seaboard express from Birmingham to New York at Comer, Ga., April 2, was a hoax. Seaboard officials say the motive is alleged to have been hope of reward and promotion for "brave service."

Dallas, Texas, April 4.—The southern conference of Unitarian churches, which began sessions in this city Thursday, today elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Charles H. Patterson, of New Orleans; first vice president, Charles Bonner, Dallas; second vice president, Captain Alfred R. Pirie, Atlanta, Ga.; and secretary-treasurer, Rev. John Wesley Rowlett, D. D., Memphis. The conference unanimously adopted resolutions endorsing President Wilson's maintenance of principles of peace, "higher ideals and national honor." Colonel George Soule, of New Orleans, addressed the delegates tonight on "Useful Laymen." The conference will adjourn tomorrow night to meet next year in Louisville.

COULDN'T WHIP WHISKY, SO HE KILLED HIMSELF

Fruitt Tried to Overcome the Drink Habit, Failed, and Committed Suicide.

Whipped in a battle to overcome drink, which he lasted for several years, Nathaniel Pruitt, a barber, boarding at 58 Garnett street, put a bullet through his temple Saturday morning shortly after eating breakfast. Pruitt at the breakfast table told his landlady, Mrs. E. J. Purcell, at whose home he has boarded for three years, that he was going to commit suicide, and that he had tried several times during the last few days to do so by using gas, which had failed in each instance. As Pruitt left the breakfast, Mrs. Purcell went into the sitting room to her writing desk and sat down to write a note to Pruitt's employer, George Edmondson, proprietor of the barber shop at No. 4 East Mitchell street, to come immediately to her home and take care of Pruitt. She had scarcely begun her letter when the report of a pistol shot rang out from a room upstairs. She rushed up the steps and into another barber's room, where she found Pruitt dead, with a pistol wound in his forehead. Pruitt was wearing a white shirt and trousers. Beside him lay a pistol, which he had taken from the mantel in the barber's room in which he shot himself. Mrs. Purcell stated that Pruitt had been under the influence of whisky for several days. Pruitt's wife divorced him about three years ago and recently married a second time. Pruitt's employer, under whose care Pruitt had been placed several times, stated that he believed that Pruitt had anything to do with Pruitt's shooting himself.

HUN LEADER KAROLYI VISITS UNITED STATES

New York, April 4.—Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the independent party in the Hungarian parliament and one of the wealthiest men in Hungary, arrived here today on the steamship Mauretania. He will spend nearly two weeks visiting points in the eastern section of the United States. The visit was to awaken in the minds of Hungarian-Americans a realization of the power which they are exerting in shaping the affairs of their mother country along the lines of democratization, which began his forty-year work. Of the political situation in Hungary and the plans of his party Count Karolyi said: "Just now there is an intense political struggle in progress in Hungary, which has been divided into two parties—one the official majority, which is sought by Austria, and the other, the minority party, which is sought by the United States of the country, but is kept down by force. The party of which I am the leader desires to remove all misapprehension and doubt from the eyes of the world, as to the entire independence of the national Hungarian state; we want to disconnect ourselves economically from the Austrian empire through the separation of the custom house and through the creation of a separate national bank and last, but not least, we want true democratic institutions to insure a government by the people. This can be accomplished chiefly through universal suffrage. I have 2,000,000 of my countrymen in the United States. In time I and the members of my party hope to make Hungary a part of the United States in the heart of Europe."

EIGHT WOMEN RUNNING FOR CHICAGO COUNCIL

Chicago, April 4.—The campaign inaugurated by women suffragists who will vote for the first time in a Chicago municipal election on April 5, thirty-five aldermen are to be elected, practically closed today. There are 158,000 women registered and it is estimated that 80 per cent of them will cast their ballots. Eight women are candidates for aldermen and each made a vigorous campaign. Interest, however, centered in the fight made by Miss Marion Drake, a court stenographer who is running for alderman on the progressive ticket in the first ward against John J. (Bathhouse) Coughlin, Democratic boss, with his colleague, Michael (Hinky Dink) Kenna, ruled the politics of the theater, hotel and downtown shipping quarter for twenty years. Miss Drake is supported by Jane Addams and all the prominent leaders of the woman's movement, the Municipal Voters' league and other reform organizations.

SCHOOL OF POLITICS FOR G. O. P. LEADERS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 4.—A school of politics for the more than 2,000 republican precinct committeemen in Indiana will be conducted by the republican committee in connection with the state convention to be held here April 22 and 23. This announcement was made at the state headquarters here today. The curriculum of the school will consist chiefly of the fundamental organization. The instructors in this novel institution will include five former state chairmen, who are said to be past masters in the political game. When the athletic authorities of a large college or university are called upon to build up a winning team they call on the graduate coaches for assistance. Said L. W. Conley, secretary of the state committee, who suggested the idea: "Why not apply the same idea to politics? We intend to draw on the political experience of our former chairmen, every one of whom possess the confidence of the republicans of Indiana."

SKELETON IN RUINS OF ST. AUGUSTINE FIRE

St. Augustine, Fla., April 4.—The finding yesterday of a charred human skeleton in the ruins of the Florida house today led to apprehension that other persons had perished in the disastrous fire which swept two blocks on the waterfront here Thursday. The registers of the Florida, Clairmont, Munson, Atlantic and Central hotels were lost when they were destroyed, making impossible an accurate accounting of inmates of the hotels. However, previously had declared that no lives were lost in the fire. Additional men were put to work today searching the ruins of the five houses, while others were busy with their efforts to learn whether any persons were missing.

DR. WALKER TO PREACH LAST SERMON TODAY

Rev. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver his last sermon this afternoon in this city at 3 o'clock, at the Christian Helpers' league, No. 105 Decatur street, before leaving to go to Orange Beach, Cal., to fill the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, to which he was recently called. Dr. Walker will call upon The Place, Gough, S. J. Coogler, head of the Christian Helpers' league, secured the services of Dr. Walker for the Sunday afternoon meeting of the league.

Idle Army Chief Jailed.

Sacramento, Cal., April 4.—"General" Kelley, who started last month on a hush-hush Washington job as head of an "army" of 1,400 unemployed men, was sentenced today to six months in jail for vagrancy.

In addition to the many organizations that now meet at the club, the Atlanta Pan-Hellenic, an organization of college women, and the Brenau club, composed of the women of Emory college, at Gainesville, have recently designated the University club as the official and regular meeting place of their organizations.

EDITORS CONVICTED OF INSULTING PRINCE

Berlin, April 4.—Two further convictions were pronounced by the criminal court here today for insults to Crown Prince Frederick William, contained in satires of his farewell order to the United States district court, when he was transferred to Berlin. Dr. Zepher, owner of a weekly publication, and Karl Schmidt, author of a satire which appeared in it, each were sentenced to six weeks' detention in a fortress.

CHILD STICKS MATCH TO PILE OF POWDER

Pelham, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Hittman, a small son of W. N. Wilson, a prominent farmer living five miles east of Pelham, was badly burned this afternoon when he lit a match to a shotgun shell, emptied the powder out on the hearth and struck a match to it. The powder exploded into his face, and it is not thought the child's eyes are seriously injured.

New Matron Takes Charge Of Home of Uncle Remus

The Wren's Nest, the quaint little cottage where Joel Chandler Harris lived and wrote of Br'er Rabbit, has changed matrons and is undergoing improvement. The Uncle Remus Memorial association, to whom the home belongs, has placed Mrs. R. T. Connally in charge, succeeding Mrs. Jack Bowden, the former matron, and Mrs. Connally is having the grounds put in order, the fences repaired and the decaying beams of the old wistaria harbor renewed. "I am going to make the Wren's Nest," said the new matron, "a Mecca for West End society especially. Several parties already have applied to give entertainments at the cottage. I have been told that in the past there were many visitors who for some reason could not gain admittance to Uncle Remus's home, but in the future none will be turned away. "I have engaged a housekeeper and my sole duties will be as hostess of the home. Visitors' hours will be from 10 to 4 o'clock during the week days, and 2 to 5 o'clock on Sunday. The little house calls forth vivid memories of Br'er Rabbit and Br'er Fox and the old plantation days when the little boy sat on the cabin floor step in the evening with old Uncle Remus and listened to tales of the wild-wood folk. Mr. Harris' bedroom and study are exactly as he left them at the time of his death. His hat and cane are still on the hand-made table where he wrote his first and last stories. At every turn the visitor is accosted with bric-a-brac and statuettes in the shape of rabbits, foxes, bears and all manner of woodland dwellers, showing Mr. Harris' love for the creatures of the forest. The pictures on the walls and books on the tables remind you of "the tar baby" and the many peculiar incidents of Br'er Rabbit's life. During the past year, 1,300 visitors have placed their names on the register at the cottage. Many of these visitors were from other states and countries and some were most distinguished men.

MEASURE INTRODUCED TO REINSTATE PERKINS

Washington, April 4.—Chairman Tillman, of the naval affairs committee, today introduced in the senate a bill to restore to the active list and promote to the grade of colonel, C. M. Perkins, a lieutenant colonel in the marine corps, retired list. In a letter to the committee, Secretary Daniels recommended this action, saying Perkins had been retired on the ground of "mental unfitness," and that there was no ground for such a charge.

ITCHING AND BURNING ECZEMA

On Both Hands and Wrists. Could Hardly Use Them. One Cuke Cuticura Soap and One Box Cuticura Ointment Completely Cured.

Carbon, Texas.—"About fifteen years ago I had a bitter case on my hands and wrists. It continued to spread until as large as a dollar and became distressing, itching and burning. They said it was eczema and it would take a long time to cure. I had the eczema on both hands and wrists. It was so bad that I could hardly use my hands for anything. It itched and burned so badly that I had to rub or scratch until sores came. "I got remedies and the treatment did no good but did harm and made it perfectly rough. I saw an advertisement to cure eczema for ten dollars and I sent for it and used it about one month and it did not do any good. I learned a few years ago of a friend using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they relieved me of the itching and burning at once. In a week's time my eczema was cured. One cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment completed the cure." (Signed) C. B. Jordan, July 2, 1913. Why not have a clean skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

"Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp."

COMMON LAW WIDOW SHARES EWALD FORTUNE

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—An inheritance pending in courts here for several years against the $1,000,000 estate of Louis Philip Ewald, late Louisville and Nashville railway iron master, was ended here today. The law in the trial of the $1,750,000 suit of Ellen Golden, or Ewald, against the estate, returned a verdict today declaring the woman to be the lawful widow of Ewald under a common law marriage in St. Louis twenty-four years ago, and the court finally approved a compromise agreement for settlement of the woman's claim by which she will receive $200,000 cash and an annuity of $10,000. Three children of the couple, adopted by Ewald, are adjudged legitimate heirs at law of the late iron master.

Crackers and Jackets Win in Games

Crackers Outcrab Braves, Winning Saturday's Game By Margin of One Tally

By Dick Jemison. A July 3000 fan turnout to Ponce de Leon park Saturday afternoon probably anticipated a scrap. But said scrap never materialized as the high reached the cooking proportions at several stages.

The Crackers copied the deal game of the spring season with their most bitter opponents the Boston Braves, captured during their stay in Atlanta by the biggest grab of them all, Jimmy Evers.

The Braves gave the Crackers a dose of their own. They outcrabbed them in every department of play and were entitled to the victory though it came by a one run margin.

Crabs Want Everything. In the turning up that the have evidently been in Atlanta for a sample of what the Crackers will do when they get into action in a regular series of games with their seven rivals in the big league.

The Braves failed to show as much class as they did last season. They did last and unless George Stallings grabs off an outfielder or two of the best in the league, they are better than they have been in their appearance as a whole.

Hupmobile owners—and there are tens of thousands of them—will have no other car, because the Hupmobile gives them complete satisfaction at a lesser cost!

Two Mills Per Mile

When we speak of lesser cost we mean all-around lesser cost—upkeep, repairs, tire mileage, gasoline and oil mileage—and lesser depreciation when you come to sell the car at second hand.

But let us drive home just one point today—the repair cost indicated by a canvass of all the repair parts ever sold by this company.

Assuming an average of even 5,000 miles per car per year—which, of course, is ridiculously low—the average cost comes to the absurd figure of 2.7 mills per mile.

High-Priced Tires

Since Our Reductions, 16 Makes Cost You More Than Goodyears

The facts are these:

No-Rim-Cut tires, because of costly features, used to cost one-fifth more than other standard tires

With mammoth output came lower factory cost. Our overhead cost dropped 24 per cent. New factories, new machinery, new efficiency brought costs down and down.

And we dropped our profits until last year they averaged 6 1/2 per cent.

High-Priced Tires

Since Our Reductions, 16 Makes Cost You More Than Goodyears

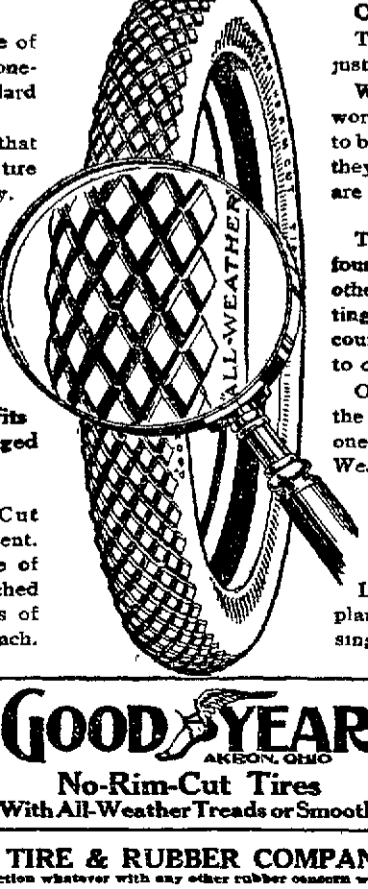

The facts are these: No-Rim-Cut tires, because of costly features, used to cost one-fifth more than other standard tires

With mammoth output came lower factory cost. Our overhead cost dropped 24 per cent. New factories, new machinery, new efficiency brought costs down and down.

And we dropped our profits until last year they averaged 6 1/2 per cent.

During 1913 No-Rim-Cut prices dropped 28 per cent. Largely, of course, because of rubber reductions. They reached a point which other makers of good tires do not care to reach.

Now 16 makes sell higher than Goodyear prices—some almost one-half higher. And every tire user wants to know what justifies these prices.

Our answer is this: Those higher prices can't be justified in any way whatever.

We have had scores of experts working for years to find ways to better No-Rim-Cut tires. And they all agree that better tires are impossible.

Then No-Rim-Cut tires have four costly features found in no other tire. One makes rim-cutting impossible. One saves countless blow-outs, and it adds to our tire cost $1,500 daily.

One lessens by 60 per cent the danger of loose treads. And one is our double-thick All-Weather tread.

LIGHTWEIGHTS TO BE BUSIEST BOYS

Ritchie and Fellow-Men of Class Have Many Bouts Scheduled for the Near Future.

By JAMES J. CORBETT. (Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.)

New York April 4.—(Special)—New York's trio of star lightweights Leach Cross, Tommy Murphy and Young Joe Shugrue, have done some and left us flat Cross is headed for Los Angeles where he goes to do battle with Freddie Welsh the English champion. Shugrue is expected to sail for Australia some time the coming week and Tommy Murphy is already encamped near San Francisco in training for the match with Willie Ritchie, the world's lightweight title holder.

Both sports will have to get along on the best they can for the next month or two without these stars to entertain them. But for the matter, the sports are getting pretty well used to that sort of thing—the bulk of entertainment promoters have been dealing them all winter has not particularly smacked of class.

However it is an ill wind that blows no good—and Californian and Australian—especially the latter—are to be congratulated on the wise of this triumvirate of fast stars.

New Yorkers have little hope that Cross and Murphy will do any more than drag down the losers ends in their battles—with Shugrue it is a different matter. He is coming along fast and will in all probability become a warm favorite with the Antipodean sports. On the other hand, it is hardly a native lightweight who can make trouble for the clever youngster.

Ritchie v. Murphy.

The next big lightweight contest is to be held in San Francisco on April 17—one week from next Friday—when Willie Ritchie and Tommy Murphy are booked for five rounds. This is the match that is expected to have the most interest, then postponed until February, an again to April 17.

The weather in San Francisco and a high fever belonging to Ritchie were responsible for the first postponement, and the champion alone was blamed for the second hold-up—although it was through no fault of his own that an unfortunate accident which subjected him to so much severe and unjust criticism at the time.

Willie's showing against Ad Wolgast indicates that he will be at his best form when he meets Murphy in New York. The latter has been a little better than he has been in his last few bouts, and is ranking close to the leaders of the division, though always a few points shy of championship class.

It is the opinion of local experts that Tommy is tackling the hardest job of his entire career in doing the job of who looks the class of American light-weights since Gans' day—and those who like to risk a few dollars on such events as this nature should bear in mind that Murphy is no longer a spring chicken—as years are reckoned in athletics.

Cross Going Back.

As for Leach Cross, it is my opinion that his ten-round strenuous session with Willie Ritchie last fall was the turning point in his career. Certainly he fought bravely in that engagement and his showing since that time has been very much second-class. In fact the only bright feature in his credit since the great battle with the champion was the one with Bud Anderson, and that young man has been able to lack a postage stamp since his operation for appendicitis.

Cross' chances to defeat the clever Englishman are anything but rosy. It looks to me as if Leach is naturally a cross but never been able to do anything worth while against a skilled boxer, and Welsh is certainly all of that. Cross has never been able to get past Leach's punches, and he has never been able to get past Leach's punches, and he has never been able to get past Leach's punches.

Welsh and Ritchie.

It is Welsh is victorious in the Cross match and he will be chosen as Willie Ritchie's opponent for the fourth of July. Welsh is laid up again there will be no one to dispute Welsh's claims for a battle for the world's title—unless, of course, Tommy Murphy should pull the unexpected and upset the champion.

Welsh has wisely decided that the quickest and surest road to a match for the highest honors is to beat his rival aspirants first, and started the fireworks by getting Joe Rivers the most artistic looking that young man ever had handed to him.

And it should make a great contest—Ritchie v. Welsh—and one that will just about establish a new record for respect in the lightweight line in the fight it out in San Francisco on the big national holiday. Ritchie has so far demonstrated his ability to trim his rival American lightweights, and a victory over the English titleholder would show him greater distinction than that held by any American lightweight since George Lavigne went to England and defeated Dick Burge for the world's title. And if Welsh should win he will find that American sports are good losers.

The French Champ.

Georges Carpentier's great battle against odds in the fifteen round bout with Joe Jeannette indicates that the champion is making rapid strides towards the championship goal. That is if everything was on the up and up and there is no evidence to support any other theory.

In my mind Carpentier's improvement in form is little short of remarkable when it is recalled that both Frank Klaus and Billy Papke, neither of whom would have been considered at any time in their careers as suitable opponents for Jeannette, both decisively defeated the French champion in the first round of their respective bouts.

If it is true, as has been reported that Carpentier will be forced to quit the ring together with doing time in the French army it is indeed unfortunate. Professional pugilism can ill afford particularly at this juncture such a promising representative as the youthful Frenchman.

Whitman's Wishes.

Now that Johnny Coulton, the bantam champion, has signed to box Kid Williams on June 9, it is hoped that the latter's out-of-the-manager will make himself conspicuous by his silence until the match has been decided.

Of all the pests that the game has known in years this fellow is about the limit I understand Coulton will insist that Williams' manager make good on that bonus of $1,000 he promised for the champion's signature. Serves him right.

It has been annoying Coulton, and the public as well, with his blatant belittling ever since Johnny has been on the sick list. There is little doubt that Williams is a great fighter, but admitting all that he will find himself a healthy disliked youngster if he doesn't gag this fellow in the future.

Referee's Decision.

The boxing commissioners have requested the sporting editors of local and up-state newspapers to disregard telephone calls and messages giving the results of bouts, unless sent by accredited representatives of said sporting editors.

The commissioners would not find this necessary if they permitted the referees to render decisions. Such decisions would be official and the papers could print the names of the winners and losers without fear of mistake.

Red and Black Baseball Manager Stands High in College Circles

Athens Ga April 4.—(Special)—In the first Red and Black baseball games the new team manager, Russel H. Patterson, an Athens boy, was prominent.

RUSSEL H. PATTERSON Manager of Georgia baseball team

It has had a fine record through his college course. In his freshman year just from Riverside he won the medal as the best drilled man in the entire cadet corps over men who had drilled for several years. He was sophomore editor of The Eagle, senior editor of the same paper, and has been president of Phi Kappa Society. He is one of the impromptu debaters members of the senior class and has risen from the ranks to be captain of B company in the corps.

He is a member of the honorary society, The Sphinx, and had the distinction of being the first man in several years to be initiated at once. He will graduate with a B. S. general degree in June and then will go to some eastern college to take a full course in medicine.

Two Big League Teams For Macon Next Spring; New Diamond Started

Macon Ga., April 4.—(Special)—Macon is going to have two big league teams for the training season next year. One of these, the Boston Nationals, has already secured the building of a second diamond at Central City park will make it possible for still another team to come here in the spring.

The new diamond is to be placed in the center of the city race track and will be used for the city league and other amateur teams which desire to play there.

George Stallings manager of the Boston Nationals is anxious to have some American league American association of independent league team train here with his team next spring and will cooperate with the mayor and council of the city in an effort to secure one if that is done instead of having thirty-eight big league players here for six weeks and then go to some other city in the spring there will be at least seventy-five in addition to the regular Macon team of the Sally league.

FIELD DAY EVENTS AT THOMASVILLE

Rifle Title.

Washington April 4.—A match to determine the individual gallery rifle championship of the United States will be held at Camp Bullis, near Philadelphia, on the National Rifle Association. Shooting will be done simultaneously in two divisions, the men's and the women's. The match will be presided over by judges appointed by the association. Sixty-one of the best snipers in the country will compete.

Newspaper Golfers Begin Tourney at Capital C. C. C. Monday For Gentry Trophy

The golf tournament for the newspaper men golfers of Atlanta for the handsome silver trophy donated by Colonel W. R. Gentry of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, will begin tomorrow on the course of the Capital City club at Brookhaven.

Thirty-two men of the Fourth Estate have entered the tournament and will play in two flights. No qualifying round will be played, but the winners of the first round will comprise the first flight and the losers the second. Handicaps will apply in all matches, a card showing the strokes on which holes they will come being arranged by the golf committee and presented to each entrant.

The golf committee consists of Dick Jewison, of the Constitution, Bill Farnsworth, of the Georgian, and Innes Brown, of the Journal.

Five Prizes.

Five prizes will be awarded—one to the winner and runner-up in each flight, and one to the winner of the medal play low net score.

The Gentry trophy goes to the winner of the first flight, with a driver donated by A. Spalding & Sons, the runner-up.

A golf bag or some other prize of equal value will be awarded to the winner of the medal play round.

The first round must be played by Wednesday April 8, second by Saturday, April 11, third by Wednesday, April 15, and final, by Saturday, April 18.

Play Stymies.

All matches will be 18 holes. Stymies must be played in all matches, with the exception of the first, where they will be waived by reason of the medal play competition.

Protests, if any occur, must be made to opponent at time of happening, and in writing, before the match has been played.

The Capital City Country club ground rules will prevail, with the exception of ground where stumps have been dynamited or ground plowed up, unless it is specified as out of bounds. If not out of bounds, ball may be lifted and dropped in the fair green, but not nearer the hole.

Ball Players Superstitious; Eddie Collins an Example

Many a fan has seen Eddie Collins, second baseman extraordinary, muss up a pile of bats when his club is behind and the emergency must be met by a few runs. To the despair of the world's fans, Collins sometimes scatters thirty or forty bats in such a way as to make it pretty hard for a player to find his own.

Billy E. Innes, umpire of the American league, mentions this superstition of Collins in an article on "Freak Plays and Superstitions" in the April 1st issue of a magazine in which a series of "Freak" articles are published.

Innes is running Baseball players are perhaps the most superstitious class of people in the world, says Evans.

That statement applies to the amateurs and bus league players just as strongly as it does to the big league stars. The extent to which they allow themselves to be influenced by mere superstition is really surprising.

Athletes and Hotels.

Perhaps nothing will illustrate this statement any better than a little incident in connection with a recent world's series. The Athletics a team made up mostly of college men and supposed to possess more intelligence than the average ball team were the actors in this little comedy of superstition.

For years the Philadelphia club has stayed at the same hotel in New York, one very close to Forty-second street. Naturally all the hotels were crowded during the series. This particular hotel had arranged to take care of the players in its customary satisfactory style. It occurred to Manager Mack that perhaps it might be better to have the players stay at a hotel farther uptown during the series. He thought that would enable the team to be free from the noise and excitement in the downtown hotels.

Arrangements for the change had been practically completed when the players heard of the proposed shift.

Players Protest.

In five minutes little groups of players could be seen in various parts of the hotel lobby engaged in earnest conversation. After a time the various groups got together in one large conference which lasted several minutes. Then the meeting ended, and one of the players, a college graduate, made his way to Manager Mack. He called the latter aside and addressed him in substance as follows:

"The boys understand that you intend changing hotels."

"Only Mack thought the world series" answered Mack. "I thought they would like to get away from the noise and bustle."

They have delegated me to request that no change be made in hotels during the series.

Any particular reason for not wanting to change? asked Mack who wished to see a good reason for the request because in many ways the hotel to which he intended to move had surpassed the team's headquarters at the time.

Well ball players are superstitious, as you know, answered the player.

We have won several pennants and always stayed at this hotel. When we beat the Giants for the world series in 1911 we stayed at this hotel. And the boys would much prefer staying here during the present series.

Most of them think a change in hotels would surely "flux" or hoodoo them. "That settles it," answered Mack with a smile. "Right here, then, is where we will stay!"

The player who had acted as a committee of one rejoined the others and made known the outcome of his conference. And then, to justify their superstition, the Athletics went out and beat the Giants four out of six games.

50,000 a Year vs. 1,500 a Year

ANY foreign producer who gets his annual automobile production up to 1,500 cars a year thinks he has manufacturing economy down to a fine science.

We can turn out that many cars in a week!

For 1914 we will build 50,000 Overlands—the world's largest production on this type of car.

Our manufacturing cost must decrease as our production increases.

How can those manufacturers who make but 1,500 cars a year meet our prices? They cannot.

Yet there are scores of American manufacturers whose annual output does not exceed 1,500 cars a year.

"THE CAR WITH A CONSCIENCE"

THE history of the Oakland Motor Car Company has been that of a steady climb upward. Starting in a small way in 1907, the Oakland has progressed steadily year after year, until for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1913, the gross receipts amounted to over ten million dollars.

The Oakland has been able to make this progress because the company has always built honest, serviceable automobiles.

The 1913 Oakland was a phenomenal success of the past season. Never before has a car received such unstinted praise. Never before has a car been so generously admired. It has been the talk of the automobile world.

The Oakland for 1914 is a continuance of a great success. We represent Oakland cars because we believe in them. We have invested our money in Oakland organization because we have faith in the Oakland product. We sell Oakland cars because they make satisfied owners.

WE know that the Oakland is the Best Car in its class. From its "V" shaped German Radiator to its forced feed gasoline tank in the rear, it is different.

It is bigger—it is better—it represents more car for the money than any other motor car I have ever examined.

Take for instance the motor. Although it is of the same dimensions as that of other cars in the same class, yet it has vastly more power and much less vibration.

The car is fast—will get away quick—is more flexible and will "run rings around" most cars on hills.

Understand, these are things that you must prove for yourself. I will welcome the opportunity to demonstrate them to you.

NOW, take the balance of the car—the way the weight is distributed on the wheels. Where can you find a car that is as well balanced, where the difference in weight per wheel varies less.

Most cars, you know, have the gasoline tank in front. The Oakland has a positive pressure feed system, with the gasoline tank hung in a convenient position for filling on the rear end of the car.

With a tank full, two extra tires on behind, with its complement of passengers, the car is perfectly balanced.

When you ride in it, you will find that this is true, and appreciate its advantage. It rides easier—drives easier.

All through the car, you will find everything is solid and substantial, straight and clean. The rear axle and brake system cannot be improved upon. The tires are oversize—as they should be. Mechanically, the Oakland cars are right. I know that.

IN external appearance, the Oakland is perfect. Rounded corners, beautiful crowned fenders and broad streamline body, make it a car that wins favor everywhere.

It is artistic. Every line is beautiful because it serves a useful purpose. No hinges show—no abrupt corners have been left. Wide spacious doors—big, thick, luxurious upholstery—high backs—deep cushions—plenty of "move-about" room, make the Oakland cars wonderfully comfortable.

W. M. Hanson

President and General Manager

THE upholstery is carefully worked out to fit the body, and the general finishing and attaching of accessories, etc., is done carefully and well.

The nickel plating is a good heavy plate. The painting is thorough, consisting of twenty-four operations.

Everything fits because it is made to fit—not any car, but the Oakland.

There is just as much difference between an Oakland top and the ordinary top as there is between a good tailor-made suit and a "hand-me-down."

Look at some of these things on the next Oakland you see.

Oakland cars are equipped with the Delco electric starting, lighting and ignition system, unquestionably the best system made today—a system that will stand up under hard service and can always be depended upon in an emergency to function properly.

I mention a few of these things to show you why I like the Oakland—why I have decided to earn my bread and butter selling it—why I am willing to tie up my capital and put my entire organization behind it.

I know it is a good car.

I know it is built by a good organization.

I know it will give good satisfaction—good service to the man who buys it.

OAKLAND cars are made in Sixes and Fours, with a wide range of bodies and horsepower ratings. Prices, $1,150 to $2,600 f.o.b. factory. All cars fully equipped.

NO CAR has been so generally admired as has the Oakland Light Six. It has taken the Automobile world by storm. It has compelled everyone to alter his standard of price values.

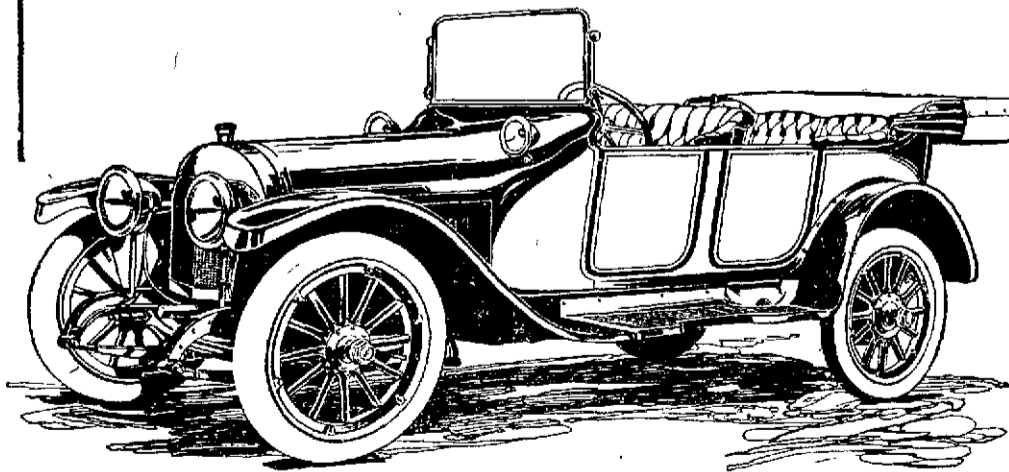

Look at the artistic lines of the pure stream-line body—fashioned with pleasing curves. In all structural details the same care has been exercised in providing for visual and physical comforts of the owner.

A strong, powerful, smooth-running, six-cylinder, noiseless and vibrationless motor, supplies the power that takes it anywhere with ease. It can be speeded ahead of an express train or slowed down to the canter of a pony. Its flexibility is wonderful; balanced perfectly, it moves along without apparent effort. Its low center of gravity and its well-distributed weight make it easy to drive, comfortable to ride in.

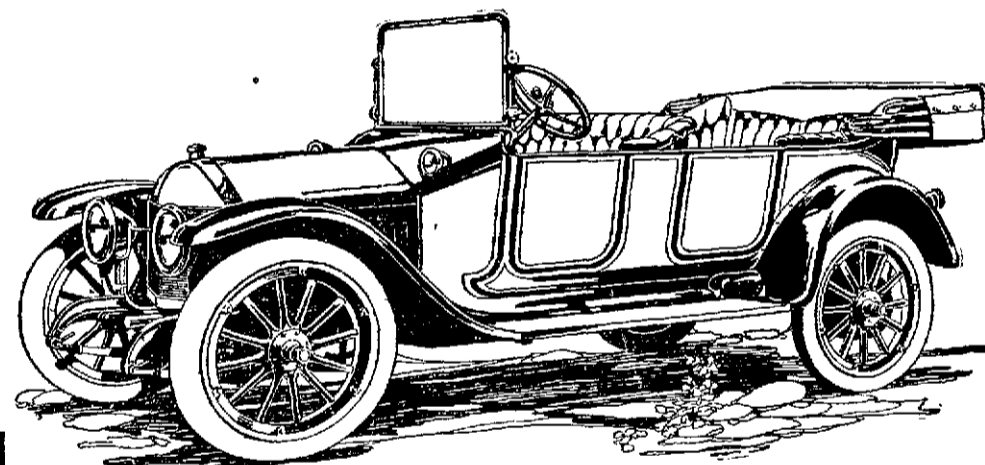

The German silver V-shaped radiator, extra deep upholstery, wide side doors with concealed hinges, large luggage compartments, large pockets and all those up-to-date refinements and modern features stamp it as the leader in its class.

It is furnished in stock colors of blue or gray. The equipment includes top, inside fastening side curtains, windshield, speedometer, tire irons, removable rims and one extra rim, complete set of lights, electric horn, license holder, complete tool kit, tire repair outfit, pump and jack.

The Model Six-forty-eight is also equipped with two-passenger roadster body or with two-passenger speedster body, each of which sells, fully equipped, for $1,785.

Model 6-48 Five-passenger Touring Car, $1785, f.o.b. Pontiac

Model 36 Five-passenger Touring Car, $1200, f.o.b. Pontiac

HERE is the biggest car for the money there is on the market today. Built on a wheel base of 112 inches, running on 33x4-inch tires, fully equipped, it is the embodiment of everything modern in motor car construction.

The beautiful stream-line body, the crowned fenders and clean running board give it a beauty that only simplicity imparts. It runs quietly, rides comfortably; it has power, is easy to handle, never falters on hills and is mechanically so well made that it will run day in, day out, winter or summer.

It has the famous V-shaped German silver radiator, all the up-to-date equipment, the Oakland forced feed gasoline system, left-side drive, center control and all the other features of the more expensive Oakland models.

Painted with either blue or gray body, with black running gear.

The equipment includes top with curtains, windshield, speedometer, tire irons, Delco starting, lighting and ignition system, demountable rims with one extra rim, full set of lamps, electric horn, pump, jack, tools and tire repair outfit.

This chassis is also equipped with roadster body, which sells, fully equipped, for $1,150.

UNDERWOOD SEES VICTORY AT POLLS

Says He Has Every Reason to Believe He Will Defeat Congressman Hobson by a Large Majority.

Representative Oscar Underwood, house leader of the democratic party, passed through Atlanta Saturday morning on his way to Birmingham. Representative Underwood is slated over the reports from the campaign managers and predicts that he will be elected to the United States senate over Representative Richmond P. Hobson in the election on Monday.

Representative Underwood will be in Birmingham to continue his campaign up to the closing hour of the polls. "I have every reason to believe that I will be returned a victor over Mr. Hobson by a large majority," he said. "I am very optimistic. I have received assurances of support from so many sources that I cannot see else than a glorious victory. I have submitted to the people of Alabama my record during my years of service to the state."

AH! MY TIRED FEET ACHED SO FOR "TIZ"

"How Glorious 'TIZ' Makes Sore, Swollen, Sweaty, Caloused Feet Feel."

Just take your shoes off and then put these weary shoe-crushed, burning, corn-pestered, blunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your feet will wriggle with relief up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." It's the grandest cure. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and blisters.

the bill, which will not be for a month, we will have sufficient support to defeat it."

Opposes Tolls Repeal.
According to Mr. Underwood, the repeal of the free tolls will cripple and hinder for years American shipping.

"The repeal of the free tolls, if it is done," will prevent a lowering of railroad freight rates, and will result in the canal being of comparatively little benefit to any but foreign nations.

"The nations of Europe have passed and are passing ship subsidies offering to pay the canal tolls on all of their ships that pass through the canal, which will enable the foreign companies to send their vessels through the canal with their government paying the tolls; while our own ships, manned and owned by men whose taxes helped pay for the canal, must pay tolls, and the tolls will not be paid by the government, but will come out of their own pockets."

Mr. Underwood declared that the repeal of the free tolls bill will make the canal an international waterway, throwing it open to ships of all nations, even if the other nations should be engaged in war with the United States.

"The repeal of the bill," he said, "will not prevent the fortification of the canal, but it will prevent us from using the guns on vessels of another nation if that should be a war with us. We would have to sit idly by and allow battleships of a nation with which we were at war to pass through the canal to attack our Atlantic or Pacific coasts, because the canal would be neutral and our fortifications useless."

LUMBER KING CROSSES OVER THE GREAT DIVIDE

Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the Multi-Millionaire, Passes in California.

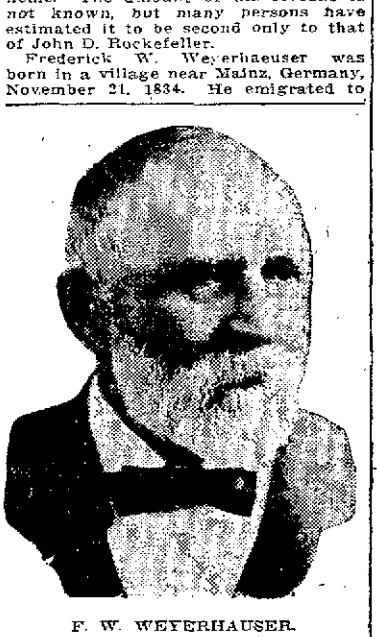

Pasadena, Cal., April 4.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser, the multi-millionaire lumberman of St. Paul, died here today.

Mr. Weyerhaeuser was 79 years old. He was stricken ten days ago with a severe cold.

Threatening symptoms developed and several times he sank to the verge of death, but rallied and yesterday appeared all but recovered.

The funeral will take place at Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Weyerhaeuser's old home. The amount of his fortune is not known, but many persons have estimated it to be second only to that of John D. Rockefeller.

Frederick W. Weyerhaeuser was born in a village near Mainz, Germany, November 21, 1834. He emigrated to Eric county, Pa., when he was 18 years old. With a brook sawmill he obtained control of a small sawmill at Rock Island, Ill. in the sixties, during which time he became a prominent figure along the Mississippi.

He got his financial start by applying strict economy to a business which at that time was being permitted to run on a profligate scale. Some times three and four profits were taken by cutters, loggers, steamboat men and others, before the timber reached the sawmill. In eliminating these middle men, Weyerhaeuser conceived the idea of the Mississippi Boom River and timber and mineral holdings in northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and entered the Pacific coast field and the southern lumber field on a scale that made wealthy men gasp.

THOMAS CO. FARMERS PLANTING ALFALFA

Thomasville, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Several of the farmers in this county have been experimenting with alfalfa and they seem much pleased with the results obtained, so much so that for another year they will probably be some large crops of it planted.

Mr. Davis has a large field of alfalfa planted a short distance out of town and it is making a most beautiful appearance just now. This crop was planted in November and is now in the condition. Although it requires a good deal of attention and care in planting when once fully started, this crop is a permanent one and has the advantage of yielding any number of cuttings during a season. Mr. Davis is much pleased with the results obtained and his crop will give him on a much larger scale another season.

Miss Rutherford at Dawson.

Dawson, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Miss Mildred Rutherford, of Athens, the gifted historian and author, will come to Dawson next Tuesday under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and that evening will be greeted by a large audience in Terrell county's spacious courtroom. She will appear in costume as "a belle of the sixties." The proceeds of the evening will be added to the fund being raised by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in erecting a memorial arch in honor of the Confederate soldiers buried in the Dawson cemetery.

To Elect New Councilman.

Brunswick, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—A new member of Brunswick city council will be elected tomorrow night when the town is held in regular session. The new alderman is to succeed Captain T. Newman, who passed away last week and who was one of the representatives in council of the fourth ward. While a number of names have been mentioned in connection with the place, it is not known who council will elect.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT BAINBRIDGE CHURCHES

Bainbridge, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Tomorrow will be "church going day" in Bainbridge. The local ministers here to make this the "fastest church day" in the history of the town. Special invitations have been issued for all services by each Protestant church and a large attendance is expected. Special services will be held at the Methodist church in the morning for the Methodists Templars.

Easter Millinery

The universal tendency to borrow from the past is evidenced in the now prevalent styles taken from the periods of Watteau and the Second Empire. These Watteau hats, flat on top with trimming of daintiest flowers and grasses, and tip-tilted high at the back, with bandeau massed with ribbon or tulle, have the charm of a bygone day.

Such a hat is the complement of a Pannier gown, and the two make a picturesque costume. Another swagger model has the brim sharply turned up at the side to show the hair; the other side almost or entirely covers the right ear.

For tailored wear nothing is dearer to the smartly dressed woman than the Sailor in some one of its various phases: the brim may be one inch in width or as much as four inches; the braid is liscie or hemp, and "stove polish" ribbon is certain to feature in the trimming, with miniature wings, towering aigrette height, or some queer flower.

The styles are adorable, youthful and becoming. The latest models in our Millinery Salon are: Leghorn with flower garden trimmings and filmy lace, hats trimmed with American Beauties, and are the appealing features for the Fashion Week.

So you are assured of the correct and latest vogue. $5 to $25. Third Floor.

Atlanta Suffragists Plan Dramatic Celebration Here

Organizations Unite for Parade May 2

Atlanta's three women's organizations making for equal suffrage will unite to celebrate National Suffrage day, May 2.

Acting on the call of the National American Women's Equal Suffrage association, published through the Georgia auxiliary, Mrs. M. L. McLendon, president, all Atlanta's suffrage associations will observe Suffrage day.

It is an interesting fact that Atlanta now has three women's organizations devoted to suffrage. One of these, the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, has its charter and is a part of the state organization. The Atlanta Equal Suffrage league, and the Atlanta Equal Suffrage party have applied for state charters.

Mrs. Amelia Woodall is president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association; Mrs. Frances Smith Whiteside is president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage league, and Mrs. Emily McDougald is the president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage party.

Able Leading Organization.
Mrs. Woodall has been working in the cause of woman suffrage for many years, and is able leading the activities of her organization. She was elected president to succeed Mrs. M. L. McLendon, who is president of the state body, and who is one of the pioneer women in the south working for the cause.

Mrs. Frances Smith Whiteside, the leader of the Suffrage league, is one of the most brilliant and intellectual women of the state, and has studied the status of the southern woman of today; her relation to public life and her ability to actively participate in it. Mrs. Emily McDougald is the leader of the last organized suffrage band, known as the Georgia Woman's Suffrage party, and she was the promoter of the recent public meeting here at the Atlanta theater when the national officers, headed by Jane Addams, came to Atlanta to address the meeting. These three ladies have appointed members from their organizations to unite to perfect the program for the National Suffrage day.

The Atlanta Association.
Pertaining to the work of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, the following report is submitted by the press chairman:

"At the last meeting of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, instructive reports were made by the committees, among them none more important than that of the civic committee, of which Mrs. C. Daniels is chairman. This committee was to investigate the sanitary conditions of the sections in the negro districts. All the buildings used as schools were found to be in a deplorable state of filth. Eight hundred would be enrolled and the building would only hold four hundred. Two classes were often taught in the same room. Open the windows in the day, and the sanitary basements. The whole state of affairs was most deplorable, and the suffragists will work to improve them."

Miss Aurelia Roach was present at the meeting and she is carrying on from the Atlanta Suffrage league to discuss plans for a parade and rally. Miss Roach suggesting an automobile parade, a place of assembly and public address for the number of the roll.

and the president appointed a committee to invite the Equal Suffrage party of Georgia and the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association to unite to make the occasion a success.

All three bodies and all people interested in the cause of suffrage are invited to take part in the parade.

Automobiles will be decorated in the suffrage colors, yellow and black, and a large yellow satin banner will be carried by two black horses. Ladies will wear white gowns and "suffrage hats."

Mrs. Beaumont Davison was appointed to secure the privilege of placing young ladies in all the department stores to hand out suffrage literature, badges, buttons and pins, three days before the parade.

All out-of-town suffragists are invited to join in these demonstrations. A committee was appointed to ask the authorities of the city to preach on suffrage April 27.

BIBB COUNTY FARMERS FIGHT MACON ORDINANCE

Don't Think They Should Have to Pay License to Sell Their Produce.

Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The farmers of Bibb county are arraying against the city ordinance which requires that they pay a license fee to the city before they can sell wood and produce from wagons on the streets of Macon. At a meeting of the Bibb County Dairy, Agricultural and Live Stock institute this morning resolutions were adopted condemning the ordinance and calling for the appointment of a committee of ten farmers to go before the mayor and council and ask for the repeal of the ordinance.

A petition is to be circulated throughout the county and an effort will be made to secure 1,000 signatures placed on the farmers by the ordinance. It is also planned to have between 400 and 500 farmers march on the city hall at an early date and tell the city fathers in person of their opposition to the measure. The farmers plan to drive to Macon from all parts of the county. The ordinance repealed follows on the heels of the decision of J. B. McPherson in the recorder's court a few days ago. The ordinance is now before the superior court, and it is now being argued there, the validity of the ordinance being attacked.

Letters have been received from 160 cities throughout the south, and less than 1 per cent of them make the farmers pay a license. Mayor Davan of Savannah, writes that the system in vogue here is outrageous. He says Savannah does everything possible to encourage the farmers to do their trading in that city.

May Consolidate Schools.
Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—A consolidation of the public schools of the rural districts of Bibb county, so that there will be fewer schools, more rooms and teachers, a better equipment than now being used, may be a thing of the near future. The superintendent of the public school system of Bibb county took the matter up at a meeting of the county at their regular meeting here today and secured their indorsement of the proposition.

It is proposed that the number of schools, which is now close to fifty, be reduced to about thirty, with five and six-room buildings, equipped with plenty of ground and a laboratory to be used in giving pupils special training in subjects relating to the farm. Among the subjects it is desired to teach are: soil, crops, milk testing and the growing of cotton and other products. Among the subjects which it is proposed to eliminate are Latin and Greek.

The plan now under consideration is for wages to be paid the children each morning, taking them to school and returning them to their homes in the afternoon.

Superintendent Bruce has agreed to lay the entire matter before the board of education and the farmers have pledged him their support.

Justices to Contest.
Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Macon is to have a contest between two justices of the peace, whose jurisdictions are just outside the city limits, and who were not affected by the bill abolishing the justice of peace courts in this city, to determine whether they marry the greatest number of couples in a given length of time without charging a fee.

The two justices are Hugh McKelvey of East Macon, who has long been officiating at weddings without charging a fee, and Leo Davis, who has been charged with a peach in the Vineville district as the successor to J. Henry Brown.

McKelvey says he will wage the contest if he has to insert advertisements in the newspapers to attract the attention of the people, who are financially inclined, but who are short of funds.

Baraca Convention.
Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The district convention of the Baraca and City of Macon, held within a radius of fifty miles of Macon, opened here tonight with fully 100 delegates in attendance, and a large number of guests. The meeting will continue through Sunday and Monday.

The opening session tonight at Mulberry church included an address by Rev. E. M. Douglas, a welcome on behalf of the Sunday schools by E. Mallory, a resolution of welcome to the Baraca and Philathea classes by R. L. Anderson and an address by Mr. Hudson on "How a Million Grew."

A reception was given in Mr. Hudson's honor at the close of the meeting.

IMPROVEMENTS ASKED BY EAST ATLANTA CLUB

City officials, citizens and other persons interested in the development of East Atlanta are to hold a meeting of the East Atlanta Improvement association, at 8 o'clock Monday night, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Douglas, in the store of Wall Brothers.

There will be a number of important matters to be discussed, particularly improvements which will be urged to make. The executive committee of the club has been hard at work stirring up interest in the meeting, and is urging every taxpayer and resident to be present.

ATLANTA SOCIALISTS HOLD MEETING TODAY

At 8 o'clock today the Atlanta socialists will meet at 112 Trinity avenue, for the purpose of arranging for their May day celebration and all members and friends of labor are urged to attend.

STYLE SHOW PLANNED BY CLOUD-STANFORD

Students From Georgia Tech Will Act as the Models at Unique Exhibition.

Atlanta, in the matter of men's styles, takes rank with New York and Chicago. This statement was made yesterday by a representative of the most exclusive woolen importing firm in the east when he visited the Cloud-Stanford company's store and saw their plans for a style show to be held tomorrow.

"Men today," continued this same authority, "exhibit much concern about their apparel and business leaders generally claim to be able to judge a man's efficiency in no small degree by the clothes he wears and how he wears them. Style shows are being held this spring by the leading men's clothiers in New York, London and Chicago along the same lines as the one now announced for Atlanta."

The Cloud-Stanford show Monday will exhibit, with athletic students from Georgia Tech posing as live models, the latest styles in men's clothing and furnishings for all occasions. The proper dress and method of wearing each garment in dining room, ballroom, office, church, field or forest will be shown by young men accustomed to appearing in the best circles.

The exhibition will be held during three periods, morning, afternoon and night, and music will be furnished at each session.

Floral decorations have been installed to add to the appearance of the "style show" and being held this morning. Singing birds will trill their woodland notes throughout the natural foliage.

Warmer weather is indicated for next week.

Rather Cool Weather Promised to Atlanta Churchgoers Today

Here is the weather forecast for Atlanta for Sunday and Monday: Sunday morning will be rather cool with northeasterly winds and a minimum temperature of about 45 degrees. The winds will be light, mostly from the east and east-south-east. A few clouds are indicated during Sunday and possibly light rain may begin about midnight. The temperature during the middle of the day will not exceed about 70 degrees. Monday is likely to be cloudy and showery. Much warmer weather is indicated for next week.

LOSS OF $300,000 CAUSED BY BIRMINGHAM FIRES

Birmingham, Ala., April 4.—Two fires in Birmingham and East Birmingham, a suburb, early today destroyed property valued at more than $300,000. The first conflagration, which broke out shortly before midnight near the center of the downtown section, destroyed four business buildings housing the Acme White Lead and Color works, the Alabama Paint and Glass company's establishment, a furniture store, a dry goods store and several smaller concerns. The loss was estimated at $200,000, partially covered by insurance.

While a fire company was fighting the downtown fire, an alarm was turned in from the Stockham Pipe and Fitting company's plant in East Birmingham. The greater part of the plant was saved, but the flames did damage the estimated $125,000. In fact, it was said, entirely covered the loss. The cause of neither fire has been determined.

Burroughs 77 Years Old.

New Rochelle, N. Y., April 4.—John Burroughs, naturalist and author, celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday today. He was born in Westbury, Long Island, N. Y., on April 4, 1837. He is now living in New Rochelle, N. Y. He has written many books on nature and is one of the most popular authors of the day.

COMB SAGE TEA IN LIFELESS, GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally No-body Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on the usual faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

Says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, being one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, if it is stored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

SHE LEFT ONE MILLION TO WORTHY CHARITIES

New York, April 4.—The distribution of $1,000,000 to worthy charities is the work assigned to George Ramsey and William McMaster Mills, named as executors of her estate by Mrs. Amelia Gertrude Cutter, who died yesterday. No particular charity is mentioned in the will, details of which were made public today. The distribution of the funds being left to the discretion of the executors.

Mrs. Cutter was the wife of Henry T. Cutter, who died on January 21, leaving an estate of $1,500,000, of which she was the sole disposal of his widow.

Mr. Cutter made a fortune in the drug business.

Positive Diamond Security

Our large business, purchasing as much or more than jobbers, enables us to buy diamonds direct from the larger cutters of the world in original lots, and we therefore save you all of the middle-men's profits that the average jeweler must charge.

When these large lots are received from the cutters, each stone is graded and classed with exacting care, and marked in plain figures with weight and grade and price at once the lowest.

A child, therefore, can buy a diamond from us as securely as an expert might.

Every solitaire diamond we sell has our guarantee of a full price exchange value on any larger diamond at any time, that we will buy back at any time within a year at just what you pay for it, less 10 per cent, and a loan value of 60 per cent at bankers' rate of interest.

For those who do not care to pay for a diamond all at once, we offer a most attractive partial payment plan which is carefully explained in Our Diamond Book.

There is nothing to be done to reduce the cost of diamonds or to assure their value that we do not offer.

We will be glad to send you our Catalogue No. 7X upon request.

EVERY WIFE'S DUTY

Watch Husband's Hair. If Thin or Full of Dandruff Insist on His Using Parisian Sage.

Men as a class give but little thought to the care of the hair. Not until it comes out by the comb or some friend remarks that they are getting bald, do they really take notice—then it may be too late.

If your husband's hair is getting thin; if he has dandruff or the scalp itches, take immediate action—do not let him become a bald head.

Get from any drug or toilet counter a so called bottle of Parisian Sage. It contains the exact elements to supply hair and scalp needs. The first application removes all dandruff—the Great Hair Destroyer. A little Parisian Sage rubbed well into the scalp for a few nights will work wonders. When the hair stops falling and the new growth appears, the use of Parisian Sage until the hair is thick and abundant.

Parisian Sage is a delightful and invigorating hair tonic for the hair and children. It is a scientific preparation based on a thorough knowledge of what is needed by the hair and scalp to keep them perfectly healthy and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Sturley's Parisian Sage. Jacobs' drug stores sell it with an agreement to refund you money if not satisfied. Look for the trade-mark—"The Girl with the Auburn Hair." Accept no other.

JACOBS' PHARMACY

ELEVEN STORES

GRADY CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN MONDAY

This Decision Is Reached at Conference of the Publicity Committee Held on Saturday.

Following a conference of the publicity committee of the Grady hospital on Saturday, it was announced that the campaign to float an issue of $750,000 in bonds for the improvement of the hospital will begin Monday.

At the conference were R. L. Foreman, chairman of the publicity committee, Dr. W. B. Summerall, superintendent of Grady, and Charles S. Norman.

The committee decided that the first step to be taken in the campaign to educate the people of Atlanta as to the needs of Grady improvements will be in the shape of architects' drawings of the buildings contemplated to be erected with the bond money. The committee will plan before the election every detail of the hospital improvement in order that the voters will know to just what use the money will be put.

According to members of the committee it is probable that the first building to be shown will be the nurses dormitory, which will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. The committee will let the public know what sort of quarters are now provided, and let the people judge for themselves whether it is fair to expect the hospital to progress to any extent without quarters for the nurses as well as the quarters occupied by negro servants.

Foreman stated that the committee will consist of Atlanta's most expert architects and will ask them to submit drawings. These drawings will be more prospective of what the greater Grady hospital committee contemplates.

There will be a meeting of the central committee at the Lowry National bank at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. The central committee will plan the campaign, which will be waged night and day through the newspapers, prominent citizens and in other ways until May 5, the date of the election.

Milledgeville Waterworks.
Milledgeville, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—That Milledgeville is to have a new waterworks system is now an established fact. Construction of a modern system, to be owned by the city, is now in view. The city council has awarded a contract to the McCarty company, of Atlanta, for surveys of possible sources of water supplies, laying of mains and extension of the sewerage system, this to be completed by June 15.

The Liver as Aid To Blood Purity

The Natural Stimulus Required is Not the Purgative Kind.

Most Pills Are Better if Thrown Away.

Important as it is to keep the bowels open, it should be remembered that such action does not necessarily mean that the liver has been stimulated. The action of a natural liver tonic, but not a bowel mover, it works in the liver cells to assist in the natural and necessary function of converting from the liver certain elements into what are known as assimilable products. These are readily absorbed into the body tissues to constantly provide new and healthy material for that which is being destroyed by the energy of tissue changes.

The presence of any blood trouble naturally suggests a sluggish liver, but there is no reason to believe that the liver is sluggish upon reaching the liver, still retain their catalytic energy to keep on through the blood circulation to do battle with impurities wherever they may have settled.

Rheumatism, catarrh, anemia, skin diseases and other results of impure blood while implicating the liver by their morbid influences are quickly checked by S. S. S. Its action throughout the blood circuit on results in the purification of the blood to the healthy and judicious selection of their own essential nutrients.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it.

Take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist. Address The Swift & Co. Company, 516 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

DAILY GRIND FROM THE STATES' POLITICAL GRIND

FOR MORE POLITICAL PLUMS SOUTH GA. STARTS CAMPAIGN
Savannah, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—An enterprising Savannah politician has recently launched a remarkable campaign, the avowed purpose of which is to demand for south Georgia a more equal distribution of the state political plums.

The publication of a page newspaper article headed "A Half Century of Political Neglect," was the opening gun in the campaign. The article was well prepared and contained statistics to show that for fifty years there has been a dead life which has prevented south Georgia from sharing in the political spoils. It gives a list of the various offices, together with the names and home counties of those who have filled them.

"So inoculated have the north Georgians been with the idea that the milk and honey of politics is their peculiar birthright that seldom has an office been created, or a vacancy appeared, but eager hands have been outstretched from that section reads the article. 'The spectacle of a south Georgian aspiring to place has meant ruffled brows, smirled countenances or quizzical smiles and half-concealed amusement, a drawing together of the clans in caucus, a concentration of strength on a candidate, and the speedy elimination of the unfortunate aspirant from below the dead line.'

"How Long, O Lord, How Long?" "The appeal of the Hebrew prophet of old, 'How long, O Lord, how long?' may today, awaken an earnest response in the breast of south Georgians. South Georgia has not bowed down to graven images nor followed after false political Jehovahs, but nevertheless it has been kept in leading strings, its leaders relegated to the position of kindergarten children. It has been a comparative stranger at the feast, almost an outlaw at the melon cutting. Thus far and no farther has been the warning. A south Georgian may eat the crumbs, but he must not aspire to a full slice of the cake."

It is apparent that the publication of the article had a well defined purpose. The plan is to awaken the people of south Georgia to their condition of neglect politically. The article shows that south Georgia is fast increasing in wealth and population, and that it is only a question of a few years until the southern section will be entitled to as big a portion of the political spoils as the northern section.

Anderson's Candidacy.
J. Randolph Anderson, president of the state senate, is now regarded as a candidate for the governorship in the event Governor Slaton resigns to enter the senatorial race. The movement recently inaugurated proposes to have south Georgia assist itself in supporting Mr. Anderson's candidacy. The leaders of the movement believe that if south Georgia will rally behind a candidate that they can place him in the gubernatorial chair.

But the governorship is not the only office south Georgia is after. The present plan is to arrange a full slate of candidates for state offices. The plan has not assumed such definite form that the names of any candidates can be announced, but the indications are that there will be some announcements within the near future that will cause the north Georgia politicians to knit their brows and begin to worry a little.

THREE CANDIDATES FROM MACON FOR UNITED STATES SENATE

Macon, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—While the sea of politics is rather rough in some parts of the state it was never more calm in Macon than at the present time, and that despite the fact that Macon has three avowed candidates for the senatorial seat of the lamented A. O. Bacon. There is Thomas F. Felder and John R. Cooper both Democrats from the ground up with the bull moose seen in the offing to the person of Harry Stillwell Edwards, Macon's former postmaster, personal friend of Theodore Roosevelt, and man of letters. Edwards may not be running strong, as far as votes go but he is running just the same.

With his candidates all out and announced, Macon is now sitting back waiting to see what the rest of the state is going to do. Friends of Mr. Felder are doing a lot of missionary work in his behalf and preparations are now under way here for opening up headquarters from which the statewide campaign will be conducted.

To Name Felder's Manager.
Just at present the Felder supporters are trying to agree on a campaign manager. The indications are that Wallace Miller, who was a candidate for mayor of Macon in the last municipal primary here and was defeated by Bridges Smith, will be the man deferred to.

There is also a strong sentiment developed to keep him in office, as he has made a brilliant record, and indications pointed to his election as president of the state senate in case the county executive will further have the senator this year, in accordance with the rotation plan that has been in vogue for a good many years. There is talk that the rotation plan may be abolished after the county executive has, as a whole, made the nomination. The district is composed of Muscogee, Marion and Chattahoochee counties, and Muscogee furnishes the senator every alternate term.

How E. S. Miller, of Muscogee, is the present senator, and a strong sentiment developed to keep him in office, as he has made a brilliant record, and indications pointed to his election as president of the state senate in case the county executive will further have the senator this year, in accordance with the rotation plan that has been in vogue for a good many years. There is talk that the rotation plan may be abolished after the county executive has, as a whole, made the nomination. The district is composed of Muscogee, Marion and Chattahoochee counties, and Muscogee furnishes the senator every alternate term.

Mr. Luke made a good race before, and Judge Park defeated him by less than 600 votes. It is conceded that Judge Park has gained strength in the quarters, and that the disposition of many voters to take the view that half a term is hardly sufficient time in which to judge his worth as a congressman will further be to his advantage. But friends of Mr. Luke and friends of others who may shy away from the ring, who are desirous to believe that Judge Park would, in his second race, fail to command certain support which went to him because he was at that time on the superior court bench in the Albany circuit.

Mr. Luke has not stated that he would make the race. When questioned he has simply stated that at the present time he is not in a position to make this is accepted by many as meaning that he will get into the race in due season.

SPALDING COUNTY CANDIDATES ARE SHELLING THE WOODS
Griffin, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Spalding county politics is humming to beat the band. The woods are full of candidates, and some hard contests are on. Seven men are vying for office are besieging the voters for support. With the exception of solicitor of city court, every county officer is being opposed in the present campaign.

The list of candidates is as follows: For clerk of superior court, W. H. Wheaton and H. C. Cumming for solicitor of city court, W. H. Beck, for sheriff, L. D. Hutson, for coroner, and W. T. Freeman, for tax receiver, G. C. Padgett and H. T. Johnson, for tax collector, T. R. Nutt and J. E. Brewer, for county commissioner, J. E. Wallace, H. P. Ogletree, for assessor, J. M. Bell and S. J. Futral.

BRUNSWICK VOTERS HAPPY
Brunswick, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee of Glynn county met for the purpose of arranging a date for the primary, fixing rules for same and disposing of other matters in connection with the election. Wednesday, April 23, was the date selected for the primary.

The present indications are that there will not be a single contest for the people of this county to decide, as there is not a single office for which there is more than one candidate, an entirely new political situation for a Georgia county. All of the present incumbents have announced for re-election, and with the election on a three weeks off, it is hardly probable that any candidates will enter.

The only change in this county will be in the legislature, when L. R. Akin, the present representative, will be succeeded by Colonel J. D. Barr, 23, Mr. Akin will be elected to the senate from the Fourth district.

RACE FOR LEGISLATURE IS WARMING UP IN WARE
Ware, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—This week's only political development was the announcement from Manor that Dr. E. F. Little, a member of the county board of commissioners, would probably become a candidate for representative, subject to the approaching primary.

LIKES THIS PLATFORM FOR COURT OF APPEALS

bar, are interested in the report that he may consent to the use of his name for the court of appeals.

In referring to the report the Atlanta correspondent of The Macon Telegraph quotes Mr. Stephens as saying: "I have been urged to run for the court of appeals. Should I continue to receive as flattering offers of support as I have been receiving from friends throughout the state, I shall, in all probability, decide to make the race."

"I wish to add in this connection that I regard a seat upon the court of appeals as a high and distinguished honor—one which should not be carelessly and without due consideration bestowed upon any aspirant. Only a lawyer of experience in the practice and a student of the law should be elevated to this position. It is not a political office, and political considerations should not enter into the selection of a man to fill it. No man should run for this office upon any of the political, economic or moral questions, however meritorious, that may be agitating the public mind and that may be issues in other campaigns. The candidate for judge should run only upon his merits as a lawyer and as a man."

"His only platform should be his oath of office to support the constitution and the laws and to do equal justice between the rich and the poor. While a judge should keep abreast of the times, and should give due regard and consideration to all social and economic changes that may affect jurisprudence and the administration of the law, and while he should, in his judgments and decisions, bring to bear a breadth of view and a broad-mindedness, free from narrow dogmas, he should bear in mind that there is but one safe standard for his guidance—the law of the land construed in accordance with its letter and its spirit—construed with wisdom rather than with fanaticism applied with justice, rather than with harshness, and in the best of good generation, rather than with oppression."

Commenting on Mr. Stephens' statement, The Telegraph's correspondent says:

"Which, if Mr. Stephens decides to get into the race, and it is generally believed that he will if the encouragement is sufficient and comes from all sections of the state, is a pretty broad and fine platform."

MASS MEETING CALLED OF VOTERS OF THOMAS COUNTY
Thomasville, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Chairman Louis S. Moore, of the Thomas county executive committee, has called a mass meeting of the white democratic voters of the county, to convene at the courthouse here on Saturday, April 11.

The meeting is for the purpose of electing a new county executive committee, and members of the congressional and senatorial executive committee to fix a time for holding a primary for the election of county officers. It is being kept quiet, as it is expected that there will be other entries.

In local politics there is absolutely nothing doing. If any of the Bibb county officers are to be opposed it is being kept quiet, as it is expected for a county primary has yet been set.

Out of a possible 8,000 voters in this county, only 3,500 have registered and there are only two days left in which to qualify.

MAY BE SEVERAL ENTRIES FOR CONGRESS IN SECOND ALBANY, GA., APRIL 4.—(Special.)
One hears a good deal of talk down in the Second district at this time about the possibility of opposition to Judge Frank Park, of Spalding, who is serving out the unexpired congressional term of the late Representative S. A. Roodenberry. The name oftenest heard as that of the man most likely to oppose Judge Park is Hon. Rouseau Luke, of Thomasville. Luke, however, and if it is not by any means certain that if there should be a contest, Judge Park and Mr. Luke will be the only persons engaging in it.

Mr. Luke made a good race before, and Judge Park defeated him by less than 600 votes. It is conceded that Judge Park has gained strength in the quarters, and that the disposition of many voters to take the view that half a term is hardly sufficient time in which to judge his worth as a congressman will further be to his advantage. But friends of Mr. Luke and friends of others who may shy away from the ring, who are desirous to believe that Judge Park would, in his second race, fail to command certain support which went to him because he was at that time on the superior court bench in the Albany circuit.

Mr. Luke has not stated that he would make the race. When questioned he has simply stated that at the present time he is not in a position to make this is accepted by many as meaning that he will get into the race in due season.

SPALDING COUNTY CANDIDATES ARE SHELLING THE WOODS
Griffin, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Spalding county politics is humming to beat the band. The woods are full of candidates, and some hard contests are on. Seven men are vying for office are besieging the voters for support. With the exception of solicitor of city court, every county officer is being opposed in the present campaign.

The list of candidates is as follows: For clerk of superior court, W. H. Wheaton and H. C. Cumming for solicitor of city court, W. H. Beck, for sheriff, L. D. Hutson, for coroner, and W. T. Freeman, for tax receiver, G. C. Padgett and H. T. Johnson, for tax collector, T. R. Nutt and J. E. Brewer, for county commissioner, J. E. Wallace, H. P. Ogletree, for assessor, J. M. Bell and S. J. Futral.

Brunswick, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee of Glynn county met for the purpose of arranging a date for the primary, fixing rules for same and disposing of other matters in connection with the election. Wednesday, April 23, was the date selected for the primary.

The present indications are that there will not be a single contest for the people of this county to decide, as there is not a single office for which there is more than one candidate, an entirely new political situation for a Georgia county. All of the present incumbents have announced for re-election, and with the election on a three weeks off, it is hardly probable that any candidates will enter.

The only change in this county will be in the legislature, when L. R. Akin, the present representative, will be succeeded by Colonel J. D. Barr, 23, Mr. Akin will be elected to the senate from the Fourth district.

RACE FOR LEGISLATURE IS WARMING UP IN WARE
Ware, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—This week's only political development was the announcement from Manor that Dr. E. F. Little, a member of the county board of commissioners, would probably become a candidate for representative, subject to the approaching primary.

LIKES THIS PLATFORM FOR COURT OF APPEALS

bar, are interested in the report that he may consent to the use of his name for the court of appeals.

In referring to the report the Atlanta correspondent of The Macon Telegraph quotes Mr. Stephens as saying: "I have been urged to run for the court of appeals. Should I continue to receive as flattering offers of support as I have been receiving from friends throughout the state, I shall, in all probability, decide to make the race."

"I wish to add in this connection that I regard a seat upon the court of appeals as a high and distinguished honor—one which should not be carelessly and without due consideration bestowed upon any aspirant. Only a lawyer of experience in the practice and a student of the law should be elevated to this position. It is not a political office, and political considerations should not enter into the selection of a man to fill it. No man should run for this office upon any of the political, economic or moral questions, however meritorious, that may be agitating the public mind and that may be issues in other campaigns. The candidate for judge should run only upon his merits as a lawyer and as a man."

"His only platform should be his oath of office to support the constitution and the laws and to do equal justice between the rich and the poor. While a judge should keep abreast of the times, and should give due regard and consideration to all social and economic changes that may affect jurisprudence and the administration of the law, and while he should, in his judgments and decisions, bring to bear a breadth of view and a broad-mindedness, free from narrow dogmas, he should bear in mind that there is but one safe standard for his guidance—the law of the land construed in accordance with its letter and its spirit—construed with wisdom rather than with fanaticism applied with justice, rather than with harshness, and in the best of good generation, rather than with oppression."

Commenting on Mr. Stephens' statement, The Telegraph's correspondent says:

"Which, if Mr. Stephens decides to get into the race, and it is generally believed that he will if the encouragement is sufficient and comes from all sections of the state, is a pretty broad and fine platform."

NATIONAL BANKS VOTED ON CITIES

In Every District Save One Majority of Banks Favored City Selected by Reserve Committee.

Washington, April 4.—Members of the reserve bank organization committee continued silent today, although criticism of their selection of reserve cities and their division of the country into banking districts was still heard in congress.

No official explanation was forthcoming in defense of the committee's choice of cities, but an unofficial view here was that some of the criticism has a political tinge. Defenders of the committee declared tonight that no matter who had been charged with the responsibility of setting up reserve districts, they would have reached fundamentally the same conclusion as the committee.

Richmond and Atlanta. Apparently the most vigorous criticism has been directed toward the choice of Richmond, Va., in preference to Baltimore or Washington, and of Atlanta instead of New Orleans. It was said that the committee's deliberations with the trend of trade from the south is north and eastward and not toward New Orleans, and that in consequence Atlanta is more strategically located for a reserve bank.

In defense of Richmond it was argued that closer business relations with the south prevail there than in Baltimore or Washington. One fact that was brought out tonight was that a poll of all the national banks which had signified their intention of entering the system was taken into consideration in naming the cities. In every district but one a majority of the banks favored the city chosen by the committee as a reserve center.

MASS MEETING CALLED OF VOTERS OF THOMAS COUNTY
Thomasville, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—Chairman Louis S. Moore, of the Thomas county executive committee, has called a mass meeting of the white democratic voters of the county, to convene at the courthouse here on Saturday, April 11.

The meeting is for the purpose of electing a new county executive committee, and members of the congressional and senatorial executive committee to fix a time for holding a primary for the election of county officers. It is being kept quiet, as it is expected that there will be other entries.

In local politics there is absolutely nothing doing. If any of the Bibb county officers are to be opposed it is being kept quiet, as it is expected for a county primary has yet been set.

Out of a possible 8,000 voters in this county, only 3,500 have registered and there are only two days left in which to qualify.

MAY BE SEVERAL ENTRIES FOR CONGRESS IN SECOND ALBANY, GA., APRIL 4.—(Special.)
One hears a good deal of talk down in the Second district at this time about the possibility of opposition to Judge Frank Park, of Spalding, who is serving out the unexpired congressional term of the late Representative S. A. Roodenberry. The name oftenest heard as that of the man most likely to oppose Judge Park is Hon. Rouseau Luke, of Thomasville. Luke, however, and if it is not by any means certain that if there should be a contest, Judge Park and Mr. Luke will be the only persons engaging in it.

Mr. Luke made a good race before, and Judge Park defeated him by less than 600 votes. It is conceded that Judge Park has gained strength in the quarters, and that the disposition of many voters to take the view that half a term is hardly sufficient time in which to judge his worth as a congressman will further be to his advantage. But friends of Mr. Luke and friends of others who may shy away from the ring, who are desirous to believe that Judge Park would, in his second race, fail to command certain support which went to him because he was at that time on the superior court bench in the Albany circuit.

Atlanta Clubs Will Keep Open House; Entertainments Planned for Opera Week

HOW STARS WILL LOOK ON OPENING NIGHT. Caruso as Des Grieux, Geraldine Farrar as Manon, and Gilly as Lescaut, which will open the grand opera season in Atlanta.

By Isma Dooly. The Capital City club of Atlanta and the Piedmont Driving club are making plans to meet the demand to be made upon them opera week.

The management of the Capital City club has arranged that after each evening performance of grand opera a table d'hote supper will be served, the two cafes on the second floor to be used for this purpose, and to be so adapted that the seating capacity will be as commodious as that afforded by the ballroom last year.

Besides the club's facilities to serve the supper parties after the opera—Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights of grand opera—the club will have a dinner-dance Thursday night, this to be one of the largest social events of opera week.

AT CAPITAL CITY CLUB. The capacity for entertaining Monday night and Thursday night of opera week, at the Capital City club, has been tried, and the reservation lists for those two nights has been closed. The same people have, with but few exceptions, made reservations for the premiere Monday night and the dinner-dance Thursday night, and they are as follows:

Those who have made reservations are: Henry B. Scott, 12 guests; J. R. A. Hobson, 15; W. W. Ragan, 10; Andrew Calhoun, 12; F. S. Ellis, 10; R. J. Lowry, 12; They were sweethearts in 1911 and 1912. He was barely of age and she was about sixteen. One morning when the family of the young lady was at breakfast, there was a tap at the door and she answered it. In half an hour her father, the late Parks Fears, learned that his eldest daughter had married—the coming party, performed by the Rev. Mr. Compton, who was known as the drummer preacher, and who was proprietor of a drug store on Clayton street, the ceremony being said behind the prescription desk with a young apothecary for a witness.

The pair left to visit Mr. Willard's parents in South Carolina. On the visit Mr. Willard was offered a position and accepted it.

Then there was a message telling of the death of Mrs. Willard's father last year—the death of the bride and she came home—for she had no mother and the grand-mother was very near to her. The young husband accompanied her part of the way and saw her safely on the last train to Athens at the Carolina Junction.

Mrs. Willard never rejoined her husband. Divorce proceedings were instituted by her at the advice of her father. Then it was reported that young Willard was dead and the petition for divorce was withdrawn. Later still the report was proved untrue and the petition was revived. Just before the death of Mrs. Willard's father last year the first decree was obtained and the second verdict was pending.

Till this week. Now the divorce business is all off.

Ten days ago Fred Willard came back to Athens. He secured a position and quietly went to work. Soon his girl-wife of the romantic times two years ago heard he was back.

They met again, at her home.

The lawyers say that the first verdict is of no account; there will be no efforts to secure a second. The happy young couple leave today for a visit to South Carolina to spend their second

Many Dairies in Atlanta Show Marked Improvement

The report for the month of March shows the greatest improvement that has yet been made during any one month.

The accompanying report shows ten of the dairies producing milk which average bacterial count below 10,000 per cubic centimeter.

In addition to this all but three of the other dairies show a marked improvement. The dairymen themselves are taking quite an interest in their bacterial count and are making earnest efforts to improve them still more.

Butter Fats—The law requires that the milk contain as much as 3.6 per cent butter fats. Rich milk will contain as high as 5 and 6 per cent.

GOVERNMENT URGED TO REGULATE M. O. HOUSES

Demand That Congress Prescribe Minimum Price on Merchandise.

The prosperity of certain mail order houses reads a dispatch in The Philadelphia Ledger has led to a demand on congress said to be backed by hundreds of thousands of retail merchants that not only shall these houses be regulated but that certain steps shall be taken which verge close to an absolute prescription of minimum prices that shall be charged for the merchandise handled. The logic of this demand would call for the fixing of prices on all sorts of articles in all lines by the federal government. Partly by the basis for this recommendation to congress is the charge that the mail order houses are guilty of unfair competition. It is the spirit of this demand that a mail order house shall not sell a given article at a price lower than that charged by a local merchant.

Traveling Men Complaint

The conclusion that has been reached is that the country traders have been convinced that this form of mail order has come to stay and that therefore the only course to take is to assume it as a constant factor in business and make the best of it. It is in this spirit that long lists of prices on all sorts of articles in all lines in this city have been compiled.

New Home of the Lowry Fruit and Produce Company, Fifty-Five and Fifty-Seven East Alabama Street

There are few cases if any of misbranding or otherwise violating the federal law but it is maintained that in some instances an article is tagged or otherwise described in such a form as to imitate the form and style used by the manufacturer of a standard article in order to induce the public to cover inferior goods. One of the advantages of these concerns is that they are equipped with abundant capital and can buy goods in large quantities at the lowest prices at which they are ever sold. They can pick up stocks of bankrupt dealers and can "take" them. They cut by middlemen in all sorts of ways, and they sell the goods directly to the consumer. Moreover, these houses themselves know what competition is.

Parcel Post Increase.

The parcel post is naturally tributary to this interest and as the bill providing for that service approached the number of orders of the companies came into greater favor on the theory that this form of transportation is the most economical in one. In regard to this question a high authority on this subject says: "It is a very good thing to give a clear opinion as to the advantage of the parcel post to us. We only know that the number of orders is greater but that the average per order is proportionately lower. Although our business has increased in the last year, the percentage of increase has not been greater than in previous years. In other words we believe that the increase has not been due to the parcel post."

TRADE NEWS NOTES

R. K. Rambo, of John Silvey & Co. left yesterday afternoon for New York and points in the east in the interest of the piece goods department of his firm. Mr. Rambo expects to be gone about two weeks, most of his time to be spent in New York. He stated on day that it was doubtful whether he would find anything quite to his liking as he felt confident that the stock of Silvey was as nearly complete now as possible. Incidentally, Mr. Rambo was in the city on his way to the bank. He was quite interested in the fight for the bank and one having secured it will give him something to brag about.

The ins at Fain & Stamps left yesterday morning were J. C. Owens, W. T. Dugan, Chas. Edwards, W. Bailey, E. Smith and R. F. Hutchison and they all had a mighty good buzz last week.

Dougherty Little Redwine company had with them yesterday morning the following members of their night school: E. Smith, W. V. Sen, J. M. McKibben, A. S. Wilkes, L. A. Wood, W. L. Huson, H. L. Truett and J. O. Castibon.

A. M. Robinson & Co. had with them Saturday morning members of the sales crew as follows: C. P. Troy, C. A. (Sugar) Smith and W. S. Jones.

Several members of the old landing salesforce of Reddy, Williamson & Co. are now in the city. They are: J. P. Armstrong, D. L. Leggett, J. S. Cheek and J. L. Day. They are all well and all had a good business last week.

M. I. Crawford of A. M. Robinson & Co. worked so hard the first three months of 1914 he earned himself a vacation of three weeks—and he is now off on the vacation enjoying himself.

SALESMAN REFERRED TO AS "TOURIST" BY BUYER

One of the local wholesale houses received a letter this week from a customer stating that he bought from one of the house tourists a certain bill of goods and he wanted to know something about the delivery of them. The head of the house looked over a list of road salesmen again and he has been trying to decide whether all are tourists as this customer states or whether there are some of them who are still at the common every day business of selling goods.

A. S. Harris covering southeast Alabama to A. M. Robinson & Co. comes to town the first of the week to spend several days in the city getting up his line of Aragon brand samples for fall.

R. F. Hutchison the new man with Fain & Stamps working down the Atlanta and West Point road was very busy Saturday when the sales report for March showed him to be fifth out of seven salesmen. He had by any means for a new man on his first month. Incidentally, he should naturally show up better by far.

E. S. Stroud of E. L. Adams company has been sticking around close to home during the past week on account of the illness of Mrs. Stroud.

D. M. Braswell of John Silvey & Co. a sales force reported in Friday with some nice orders.

W. P. Sewell of the A. M. Robinson & Co. salesforce left yesterday for a short trip to the east. He is expected to be back in the city in a few days.

W. J. Spalding of Gramling Spalding company leaves Tuesday for Boston Mass. Mr. Spalding expects to be gone for about ten days and his entire time will be spent in buying Premium Brand shoes for fall.

J. W. Bates member of the Red Seal shoe company has been busy with selling shoes last Thursday and Friday because he had to perform the duties of the Georgia Travelers' Protective Association convention at Columbus.

Notwithstanding the fact that prices this season have been almost double in price as compared with the past season, the sales of the Travelers' Protective Association convention in Columbus, Ga. last Thursday and Friday were very successful. The sales of the convention were very successful and the company was very pleased to remember the acquaintance made in the past.

W. J. Spalding of Gramling Spalding company leaves Tuesday for Boston Mass. Mr. Spalding expects to be gone for about ten days and his entire time will be spent in buying Premium Brand shoes for fall.

F. E. Parsonage manager of the John Deere Wagon company, Mobile Ala. left yesterday for the city to see the R. A. Gasoline Engine company also of Mobile spent last Thursday with the John Deere Atlanta company. They left Thursday night for Richmond, Va.

It is reported that E. L. Adams of the Adams company was very busy in attendance at the Travelers' Protective Association convention in Columbus, Ga. last Thursday and Friday. He was very successful in his sales and the company was very pleased to remember the acquaintance made in the past.

W. J. Spalding of Gramling Spalding company leaves Tuesday for Boston Mass. Mr. Spalding expects to be gone for about ten days and his entire time will be spent in buying Premium Brand shoes for fall.

William Shoemaker, south Georgia salesman for the John Deere Plow company was in the city for a couple of days last week.

Cliff Johnson of J. K. Orr Shoe company managed to figure his schedule to put him in Columbus for Thursday and Friday of last week. Of course he had to be in attendance at the A. P. convention to help entertain the last Columbus his headquarters.

J. D. Robinson of A. M. Robinson & Co. is in the east buying furnish goods for fall. His trip will cover a period of about two weeks.

A. J. Stevens of the John Deere Plow company covering east central Georgia territory was in the city last week looking after one of his dealers. He only sold one of the largest bills of the season. Not so bad.

The sales record of Fain & Stamps for the three months of 1914 shows Bill Qualies in first place, Bill Boston second and Cliff Edwards third. The combined sales of these three boys no doubt runs up a substantial total as they are there when it comes to selling groceries.

J. D. Robinson of A. M. Robinson & Co. is in the east buying furnish goods for fall. His trip will cover a period of about two weeks.

J. K. Orr shoe company has just shipped another big order to Havana Cuba. The order amounted to one hundred and fifty pairs of shoes and there was plenty of red lace attached to deliver. Seven invoices were necessary and all had to be sworn to before a notary to the effect that the government was not being evaded. It takes a lot of extra time to do business with these foreign countries.

W. H. Stentz manager of the John Deere Plow company is in the city on an inspection trip. He is expected to return shortly.

W. S. Jones of A. M. Robinson & Co. is in the east buying furnish goods for fall. His trip will cover a period of about two weeks.

F. Lonsberg of the Binder Frame Manufacturing company left the middle of the week on a trip down the Atlanta and West Point road on a visit to some special customers. He returned yesterday evening feeling very enthusiastic over the prospects for future business from that territory.

W. O. Stamps of Fain & Stamps quietly slipped away from work for a couple of days last week and proceeded to Columbus to attend the Travelers' Protective Association convention. He was very successful in his sales and the company was very pleased to remember the acquaintance made in the past.

W. J. Spalding of Gramling Spalding company leaves Tuesday for Boston Mass. Mr. Spalding expects to be gone for about ten days and his entire time will be spent in buying Premium Brand shoes for fall.

Latest Pattern Walking Cultivator

It has a perfectly balanced frame with stationary offset axles.

It is the easiest cultivator of all to adjust. It has an adjustable arch, easily regulated by two set screws.

Wheels have two-inch tires, extra strong. The boxes are capped self-oiling and dust-proof.

The hitch is direct from the clevis on eveners to the end of each gang, giving a straight pull from the gangs.

The gangs are of an entirely new pattern.

There is a slotted hole in each gang coupling and five hole clevis attached to each eveners by means of which the gangs can be made to follow straight and pull to or from the row, as desired. This entire change can be made by loosening only two nuts.

Each gang swivels in the gang coupling which permits the inside standards to be placed in position to clean beds from any grass or weeds. The outside standards swivel in cross head, which gives an adjustment of the outside standards entirely independent of the inside ones. Each of the standards can be placed separately at any angle desired or necessary for the farmer to use shovels, scrapers, sweeps or discs to the best advantage.

FEIBELMAN TO ATTEND MEETING AT LOUISVILLE

B. F. Avery & Sons' Branch Managers Will Hold Annual Meeting Next Week.

Julius Feibelman, manager of the Atlanta branch of B. F. Avery & Sons leaves today for Louisville, Ky. to attend the annual spring meeting of branch managers. Mr. Feibelman expects to visit other points while away. Most of the time, however, he will spend in Louisville. The managers of the various branches will be in attendance at the annual meeting. The features of which will be the formulation of plans and policies for the ensuing year. Like many other large concerns operating throughout the country, B. F. Avery & Sons depend upon their branch managers for information and statistics for the designing of new implements that the farmer feels it used to be burned. These implements are produced to meet conditions that arise from time to time in different localities. One of the most important discussions of the meeting will be of new goods to be produced next year.

At the annual meeting at Louisville the entire body will visit Spring field, Ohio where B. F. Avery & Sons maintain their headquarters. Two or three days will be spent in Spring field studying the manufacture of implements and their trials after which the body will return to Louisville for adjournment.

The price of the seed it will be observed in a familiar statement of the cotton crop of several years that the figures of the department of agriculture are nearly always exceeded by the figures of the census and both are with very rare and trifling exceptions exceeded by the commercial estimates which are based upon the statistics of distribution. These are the figures that admit of the greatest degree of exactness and the farmer's guesses and the department's conservative estimates of production are naturally the least exact. The firm will generally underestimate his crop.

I. Reddick, state geologist, is a man for the John Deere Plow company is known in his territory as the Apostle of Truth. Those people are fooled maybe.

Value of the Cotton Crop.

A few years ago $700,000,000 was a good deal of money for the cotton crop. But the crop has increased and the demand for it has increased even more. The seed that used to be burned or thrown into the creeks now brings in over $100,000,000 and billion dollar crop have set out trees, been upprached that of last year reached those impressive figures even with it.

NOTES OF THE CITY SALESMEN

Our attendance was small this morning. Many of our members have been in attendance on the Travelers' Protective association meetings at Columbus, and probably needed a little rest from the trip.

The Finance committee reported on their trip to Charleston, stating they had made arrangements with the use of Palms people to operate the excursion to that place. They are very optimistic as to the success of the undertaking, and ask the aid of all salesmen in making this summer our finest outing.

Brother E. S. Morris is at the Davison-Fisher sanitarium, having undergone an operation there. We trust he will have a speedy recovery.

B. C. Fowler was ill the early part of last week, but is better now.

The following resolution was presented and passed on in yesterday's meeting: Whereas, it has been the will of our Heavenly Father to call to his eternal rest Mr. Robert Paus, the father of our beloved fellow salesman, Paul S. Paus, and there has been removed from the midst of his family a beloved husband and father and from the community one of its oldest and substantial citizens.

Be it resolved, That this association extend to Brother Paul Paus and the family our sincerest sympathy in the loss of their loved one, and it is the prayer of this body of men that God will bear them up in their sadness. Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes and also a copy furnished Brother Paus for the family.

CREDIT MEN'S VIEW OF RESERVE BOARD

Board and Its Genesis—The Need of Men of Highest Qualifications—Methods Explained.

The bulletin of the National Credit-men's association, just issued, contains an editorial discussing some phases of the new federal reserve act, which reads in part as follows:

Section III of the federal reserve act relating to branch offices of the federal reserve banks is too indefinite in its treatment of what is likely to prove one of the most useful parts of the new system.

The branch offices will be the arterial system, and their usefulness as such will be demonstrated soon after the new law is put into working order.

The law distinctly requires each federal reserve bank to establish branch offices within the federal reserve district in which it is located, and to do so in the district of any federal reserve bank which may have been suspended.

Provisions as to whether or not branch banks may be established by federal reserve banks is not given in the act. Each reserve bank is required to establish branch banks, but there is no provision in the section as to the number of such banks to be established, or as to whether the population or commercial importance of the cities to be considered in determining their locality.

It is presumed that regulations governing these branch banks will be promulgated upon the federal reserve board to establish with this portion of the system against risks of over-extension. Each branch bank to be governed by seven directors, four of whom are to be appointed by the federal reserve board of the district and three by the federal reserve bank.

Each reserve bank is required to establish branch banks, but there is no provision in the section as to the number of such banks to be established, or as to whether the population or commercial importance of the cities to be considered in determining their locality.

A safe extension of the system into cities of commercial importance is necessary and desirable in a flexible operation of the new law and provisions for such extensions and their safeguarding against financial risks might have been more specifically written into the law.

The Federal Reserve Board.

The powers of the federal reserve board as already suggested are extraordinary, yet necessary to the operation of the system. The board is to be composed of twelve members, seven of whom are to be appointed by the president of the United States, and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Atlanta Theater Season, Now Nearing Its Close

"Smashing the Vice Trust"

(At the Atlanta.) The Curran aldermanic committee, which investigated the vice conditions last season in New York city, found that the white slave interests had a regular telegraphic code, which they used in communicating with their branches in various cities throughout the country.

Some of its code words have been reproduced in the spectacular moving picture dramatization, "Smashing the Vice Trust," which comes to the Atlanta theater for one week beginning Monday, April 13.

Continued before the Curran committee, that the code was used not only in supplying orders for victims from other cities, but also in reporting the escape of a white slave from one city to another. Often girls break away from houses in New York, Philadelphia, or Chicago, and endeavor to lead good lives in other cities.

Impromptu investigations conducted from the headquarters of commercial vice, and its agents are on the lookout in every section of the country.

One of the very effective uses of the "Smashing the Vice Trust" is to awaken the public to a sense of actual danger, and to prevent a continuance of them.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.) There is a bill of brilliant promise announced for this week at the Forsyth—a regular condition that will feature a number of new productions concerning Atlanta's busiest theater.

With a corps of the most skilled actors in the country at all times for talent for the local vaudeville house, and the fact that the Keith circuit, it is not wonderful that the theater has maintained a high standard of excellence.

Many hundreds of theater goers who have never missed a bill since the Keith circuit was organized in 1910.

Ray Cox will be the headline star presenting a unique number, "Miss Cox's Comedy." She is herself a producer, and has made them advance to the positions of musical comedy and even in legitimate comedy productions, but vaudeville has remained her chief interest.

WOMAN CREATES SCENE AT TRIAL OF PREACHER

Jane Est Says She Would Like to See Price Try to Kiss Her.

New York, April 4.—Jane Est, hereafter identified with movements of the church waneover charges are made against pastors. These trials ought to be held out in the open where people can hear them. There is a great deal of talk about shielding the pastor.

"I want to see Dr. Price," she continued. "I'd like to see him try to kiss me."

It has been charged that Dr. Price, among other things, daintily kissed a woman member of his congregation.

Followed by the crowd the woman succeeded in pushing her way into the temple, but could get no further than the witness room. Here she described her charge with the pastor.

Mrs. Hilma Dual, whose testimony was excluded yesterday, since her charge was not in the original complaint, was allowed to take the stand. She said she had been improperly approached by Dr. Price and that she had subsequently received visits from two persons who tried to bribe her to testify.

She had decided, she said, not to press the charges on account of her children, but upon opening the Bible for inspiration her finger fell upon a verse which seemed to urge her to action.

There is Percival Aymer, Oxford, leading man at the Little theater, Philadelphia's most exclusive playhouse all this season, last seen in Atlanta in "The Butterfly and the Wheel"; Robert Middleton, Harvard, one of the highest salaried leading men in the profession; Eugene Stewart, Yale, a heavy man that has the rare combination of personality, good looks and ability; Guy Milham, juvenile man, Columbia '08, and—there are a few other men, and they are all the finest New York actors.

The plays to be presented by the Lucille LaVerne company may be judged by the following: The opening attraction will be "The City," the highest rovalty play on the market, and David Belasco's greatest success. This is the first time that this dramatic masterpiece has ever been offered in Atlanta.

Later will come "Ann Ford," a dramatization of Will N. Harben's novel, by Lucille LaVerne, which she starred in under the Shubert management at Wallack's theater, New York, and "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," Miss LaVerne's starring vehicle for three seasons.

Then—well Miss LaVerne has found the visiting star system to be quite satisfactory, and it is whispered that she may bring to Atlanta, for one or more weeks each, such stars as Edna Goodrich, Nance O'Neil, Florence Roberts, Thomas Wise, Cyril Scott, and Robert Edison, and possibly John Bunny himself.

Another splendid melodrama telling a story that will hold Bijou patrons interested throughout the four acts is entitled "Driven From Home," and will be produced under the personal direction of Walter Van Dyke, who since his arrival at the Bijou has demonstrated beyond all shadow of a doubt that he is one of the best stage managers that has ever guided the destinies of a stock company in Atlanta.

A pretty love story, thrilling incidents, and a plot pointing a good moral are the features of "Driven From Home." Eddie Black will be cast as a comedy negro character, Ephraim Jones, and those who have had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Black in one of these parts will not need a second invitation to visit the Bijou during the week. Edna Wall will be seen as Bert Johnson, a lumber jack, Frank Dare as Twigg Marks, a schemer; H. Turner, as John Johnson, a victim of treachery; Walter M. Dyke, as William Swanson, a poor lumber jack; Miss Anna Brandt, Miss DeLane and Miss Claire Ford will give congenial roles.

"Driven From Home" is told in four acts, the scenes of which are laid in the lumber camps of Minnesota, a white-captivity scene of the lumberman and his remarkable code of honor are woven into a story of human interest, and one of the most perfectly finished plays that will make the biggest kind of a hit during the week.

No expense has been spared to give the play a splendid stage production. It will be performed at 8:30 and 10:30 night ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by an escort holding a "front" ticket, purchased before 6 o'clock.

HEARINGS TO BE HELD ON COTTON MEASURES

Chairman Lever Says Effort Will Be Made to Hasten Legislation.

Washington, April 4.—The house agriculture committee will proceed with public hearings April 23 on various bills relating to cotton and grain standardization and futures transactions, regardless of the action of the New York cotton exchange.

Agreeing to change its form of contract so that hereafter it will be based on government types of grades and settled on commercial rather than on government grades, the committee, said today sentiment was crystallizing in favor of its bill looking to the retention of the cotton operations, and that every step possible would be taken to hasten legislation which will do the work of regulating the exchanges vigorously and effectively in the interest of the people.

"I am gratified," he said, "to see the reform taking place in the contract of the New York cotton exchange. I recall that several years ago Representative Scott, of Kansas, then chairman of this committee, told the cotton exchange at New York that they should clean up their own house, but until quite recently they refused to do so.

"These efforts to reform upon the part of the New York cotton exchange come too late to prevent legislation which will make certain the protection of the people against the kind of regulation which will be enacted during this session of congress."

REAL ESTATE—For Sale

FARM LANDS.

FOR SALE—300 acres, a magnificent valley farm near McElmore's Cove. If you are not acquainted with land in this valley, make inquiries. I am going to sell this place. It belongs to a non-resident who is willing to make a special price, or entertain any reasonable offer. The farm is well improved, modern dairy now being operated on same. There is 140 acres of this land in bottom, and it is very fertile, or grain. Will take a suburban home in Atlanta for part payment, balance terms to suit.

HELP REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING by planting a garden. A piece of ground 30 feet square will produce enough vegetables to supply an ordinary size family, and they will taste a good deal better than the ones bought from the market. It's time now to plant. Spade up the ground, then come to Hastings and get your seed. It doesn't matter how well you prepare your soil or how well you work it, unless you have good seed you can't have a good garden. Don't take any chances, but come to Hastings. We have the very best of all varieties for this section.

DAHLIAS, DECORATIVE AND CACTUS—The dahlia is now one of the most popular of all flowers, and our new decorative and cactus flowering varieties will surprise you in beauty of flower and rich colorings. Can supply them in white, red, yellow, pink, purple and variegated at 15c each, 2 for 25c.

CALADIUM OR ELEPHANT EARS—Splendid decorative tropical looking plants with immense green leaves. Bulbs 10c each, 3 for 25c.

DOUBLE EXCELSIOR PEARL TUBE ROSES—A favorite everywhere. Produce waxlike flowers that are very fragrant. Price 15c dozen, 2 dozen 25c.

TOMATO AND CABBAGE PLANTS—Fresh from our greenhouse every morning. Good, strong plants of all the popular varieties. Tomato plants 25c dozen; cabbage, 20c per 100.

FERNS, FERNS, FERNS, FERNS—The most popular of all decorative plants. We feel safe in saying that we have the finest lot of ferns in the city, and our prices are fully 50 per cent lower than you get them at other places. It is worth the trip to come and see the showing we are making of these beautiful plants and the prices will surprise you.

WATCH ALTOLOMA GROW!

YOU CAN NOW BUY A HOME IN ALTOLOMA WITH YOUR RENT MONEY

I AM ERECTING Twenty-five (25) Homes in ALTOLOMA. These homes are being erected on some of the most beautiful lots in the entire subdivision--lots which I have reserved for this very purpose. These homes will contain Three (3), Four (4) and Five (5) rooms each. These homes will be constructed of the very best materials and will be beauties in appearance.

The fact that we supplied this lumber from our own properties, thus saving more than half the cost of same, and the fact that we are superintending the construction of these homes, thus eliminating the contractor's profit, we are enabled to deliver these homes at a much less cost and upon easier terms than could be had from any other source in Atlanta.

GO OUT AND INSPECT THIS PROPERTY TODAY--SELECT YOUR LOT--ADVISE US THE KIND OF HOME YOU WANT AND WE WILL BUILD SAME TO SUIT YOU.

BIG AUCTION SALE
70--BEAUTIFUL BUILDING LOTS--70
THURSDAY, APRIL 9, AT 2:30 P. M.

THIS IS a subdivision of the old FARRINGTON home-stand on Hill street and Farrington avenue.

LOCATION: This property is just beyond Atlanta avenue, where so many improvements are being made. Several good homes are being built, and this avenue will soon be developed to Grant Park.

This property is also within a block of the Central of Georgia power house and about the same distance from the new Oil Mill plant, which is in the course of construction, making this very desirable property to build a nice little home on.

TERMS: $25 cash, $5 per month, 7 per cent simple interest. Five per cent discount will be allowed on deferred payments for cash.

$50.00 IN GOLD

HOW TO GET THERE: Take Ormond street car to Hill street, go two blocks to the right and you will be on the property, or take the Capitol avenue car to Haygood avenue, go three blocks to the left and you will also be on the property.

REMEMBER THE TIME: 2:30 sharp! Be there on time. You won't be sorry.

Call for plats.

FOSTER & ROBSON, Agents,
11 Edgewood Avenue.
J. W. FERGUSON & SON, Auctioneers.

PROPERTY FOR SALE

ON THE NORTH SIDE we have a new negro apartment house--six apartments of three rooms and bath each. Rents for $59.40 per month. Price $5,600. This is a good investment, and will bring a regular income.

FORT M'PHERSON, on Evans Drive, a good 6-room house on lot 40x200. We can sell this place at a bargain price--$1,500, $200 cash and $15 per month. No loan. Rents for $15 per month.

TWO NEW 6-ROOM HOUSES, on west side city. Negro property, rented for $20 per month. Price, $2,400. Assume a $1,200 loan and $1,200 cash.

ON CHAPEL STREET, near the Express stables, we have a nice vacant lot, 90-foot front. This lot is close in, and is sure to enhance in value. Price, $8,000.

A NICE 8-ROOM RESIDENCE on Mell avenue. Elevated corner lot. All city conveniences. Price, $5,750.

RALPH O. COCHRAN COMPANY
21 SOUTH BROAD STREET.

ABOUT 7 ACRES OF BEAUTIFUL GROVE
BETWEEN BUCKHEAD AND PIEDMONT AVENUE--Fronting 400 feet on Peachtree Road, and running back about 1,000 feet to another road. This is a very attractive proposition in many respects; fine for a subdivision, or can sell off one-half of the front and all of the back, retaining a lot 200x500 to build on; or would make a magnificent summer home; has on it a good 2-story summer house; very large rooms; plenty of porches; screened and enclosed with glass all around; bath, sewer, water, electricity, vapor heat, garage, chicken house, side drive, plenty of shade. In fact, a lovely place, and should appeal to any one wanting a country-city home. Call at office for price and let's talk it over. Don't phone. See W. R. Turman.

203 EMPIRE BUILDING.

IT'S FUNNY TO ME--

THE WAY MY BUNGALOWS are selling at Lakewood Heights, but it should arouse a CURIOSITY on your part to find out the REASON for this. I have sold four bungalows at Lakewood Heights this week--one for $2,000, one for $2,500, one for $2,250, one for $2,750. These were all SOLD before they were completed. If you will get on the car and go out to LAKEWOOD HEIGHTS and take a look you will SEE the reason they sell at a glance. They have five rooms each, and they are PERFECT Bungalows. They are different from anything you have seen in Atlanta. There is a sentiment of home life about them that makes you want one the minute you see it, and when you do see it you will agree with me that there is a vast difference between a BUNGALOW and a BARN. Will have two more completed in about ten days. Price, $2,100 and $2,200. Get off the car at Adair avenue. It is just TWENTY-TWO MINUTES to CALIFORNIA via LAKEWOOD HEIGHTS.

P. B. HOPKINS, 316 EMPIRE BUILDING IVY 5111.
P. S.--A good man will get attractive terms.

SUBURBAN HOMES

$3,500--OAKHURST, GA. In this beautiful suburb we offer you an up-to-date 5-room cottage, sewer, water and electric lights. Lot 100x152. Terms: $100 cash, $20 per month.

$2,250--IN DECATUR, within half block of the North Decatur car, we can sell you a new and never-occupied 6-room bungalow. Sewer, water, electric lights, tile walks and curbing. Lot 50x215. Terms easy.

$3,000--IN ORMEWOOD PARK, we are offering you a brand-up 4-room bungalow. City water, plumbing and electric lights, paved streets. Lot 50x200. Terms: $250 cash, $20 per month.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The last week has been one of the most encouraging weeks the realty men have had in several months. While there were no sales of any particularly startling nature, there was a great deal of general buying, and a selling which showed a much better market than for some time. A noticeable change was in the number of houses being sold, running in the neighborhood of $20,000. Of trading there was a good deal, the most important being the sale of that of the Byron apartments for other parcels of realty.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the week was the announcement of proposed buildings.

These announcements included about half a dozen apartment houses, ranging from $25,000 to $50,000, and several others that the construction of several of these has already begun.

Besides these there are a few law buildings which are being planned and building at the northeast corner of Pryor and Hunter streets, which are announced in the Constitution of last Sunday, and the big building of the John Deere plow company in the Walker and Nelson streets development.

In nearly every architect's office now one finds plans for new houses of all sorts, and where, some weeks ago, all people were begging for work, there are already being called to get out to them and have men employed on finish staff.

Real Estate Sales.

The following sales are announced: A. J. & H. F. West have sold for John B. Thompson to Mrs. Helene Oppenheim a property at the northeast corner of Peachtree and Tenth streets, known as the former home of George McGill, for $12,500. The property is a twelve-room brick residence that formerly faced Peachtree street and has been converted to a duplex, and is worth $8,000.

A. J. & H. F. West have sold for the J. A. Wood estate lot 10x100, on the corner of Williams and Fourteenth streets, to Mrs. Dorothy Hutchins for $2,700.

A. J. & H. F. West have also sold a lot on west side of Williams street, between 10th and 11th streets, to the J. A. Wood estate property, 30x180 to alley, to the Atlanta Land Investment company, for $1,200.

A. J. & H. F. West have sold a house and lot, corner Stewart avenue and Lenox street, to W. C. A. Horn for $2,250. The lot is 47x180 feet and has a 5-room house.

Henry J. Johnston has sold to A. C. McMillan the Johnson residence, one of the handsomest residences in the city, on the north side of East Fourth street, between Peachtree street and Fremont avenue, for $3,500. Mr. McMillan is in part payment $5,000, and 49 Oak street, in West End, valued at $13,000.

Forest & George Adair have sold for the Atlanta Suburban Land corporation to Mrs. J. H. H. H. a two-story building on a lot 25x41, for $4,500 cash.

E. I. Harling has sold to Quillan E. Martin to a client No. 333 Ormont street, a cottage on a lot 10x100, for $3,250.

Oglethorpe Park on Sale.

Edwin P. Ansley's real estate agency will place their new country estate agency subdivision, Oglethorpe park, on sale Monday, 8 P. M. Davidson Mr. Ansley's sales manager, states that the demand for the property had already been far beyond their expectations, and that at the opening of the sale on the first day of the sale one of the largest sales on the first day of any of the many subdivisions has been had.

That the property is ideally located for country residence purposes and is very well located for city purposes there is not the slightest doubt. Lying directly between the city's most beautiful parks, the city's largest university of the south, it enjoys a location excelled by none.

The subdivision consists of a tract of about 600 acres, through the center of which runs Oglethorpe road, the new road which is being built by Mr. Ansley's agency.

The subdivision will be sold off in 1, 2 and 10-acre tracts, to suit the purchaser.

Hemphill Property Sale.

One of the most interesting sales before the courthouse door next Tuesday will be the legal sale of two parcels of property belonging to the W. A. Hemphill estate, which are the first central parcels to be placed at auction in some time.

One parcel is the northwest corner of Alabama street and Central avenue, having railroad frontage. This parcel fronts 48 feet on Alabama street, 48 feet on Central avenue and 49 feet on the railroad in the rear.

The second parcel is known as lot 51 and 52 East Alabama street, having a frontage of 37 feet on the south side of Alabama street, running back to a depth of 170 feet. This depth being cut in two by Kenny's alley, a 19-foot alley, at a depth of 118 feet.

The following sales of sites closed up last week at Lakewood Heights by P. B. Hopkins:

1. W. K. Kellogg, bungalow, $2,000; W. J. Grokan, bungalow, $2,500; E. M. Van Norden, bungalow, $2,500; W. M. Braswell, bungalow, $2,500; and W. M. Farge, cottage, $2,750.

He has two bungalows under construction at Lakewood Heights. This will make about $25,000 worth of homes sold at Lakewood Heights since Mr. Hopkins returned from the west the first of the year.

Special Music Service.

Rossini's immortal oratorio, "Stabat Mater," will be rendered on the evening of Good Friday, April 10, by the choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church. The choir will be augmented by a number of especially capable singers from other churches, and several instruments. The service will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. "Stabat Mater" is one of the most appealing of all the oratorios, rich in melody without being in the least trivial, and containing magnificent harmonies and climaxes which are not so dreadfully classic as to be uninteresting to the layman. It has never been sung in Atlanta, and should prove a treat to real music lovers.

A Flower Festival.

A great April-May flower festival for Atlanta is being planned under the auspices of a large committee of the church and society women, appointed by the ministers' association of the city. This festival is described as something unusually attractive and elevating in its line. It contemplates putting the whole city under an embargo of flowers for a week or more. The monetary proceeds of this festival will be used in providing for the expenses of the International Woman's Christian Temperance union convention to be held here in October next. Miss I. M. Morse, who is to contract and execute the plans of this unique flower carnival, will arrive from Chicago Sunday. She has had wide experience and great success in this work in other cities, and is confident that her success in Atlanta will go beyond any of her past experiences. A committee of church and society ladies will meet Miss Morse in the ladies' parlors of the Piedmont hotel Monday afternoon, April 6, at 3 o'clock. Miss Morse will probably speak before the ministers' meeting on Monday morning.

For Mrs. Van Winkle.

Mrs. William H. Smith entertained at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at her home in compliment to her mother, Mrs. J. W. Van Winkle, of Patterson, N. J., who is visiting here. The menu was artistically decorated with ferns and a profusion of violets, hyacinths and sprays of white spring flowers. A Venetian lace cloth, covered the department of history of the University of Georgia, will give the second of his lectures in Georgia history, his subject being "The Origin and Development of the Black Belt in Georgia." In addition to the members of the University club and their women friends, the members and women friends of the following organizations are invited: The Atlanta alumni association of Emory college, the university of Georgia and Yale university, the Unity club, Ten club and Granite club. Also the members and friends of the Atlanta branch of the Southern Association of College Women, Alliance Francis, Bureau club, Atlanta, Pan-Hellenic and all organizations using the club for their meetings. The officers of the University club and their wives will be assisted in receiving by the officers of the invited organizations.

Miss Pound's Luncheon.

Miss Virginia Pound, of Chattanooga, entertained at a pretty luncheon yesterday at the Ansley in honor of her guest, Miss Florence Collier, of Chattanooga. The luncheon table was decorated with pink roses was the centerpiece of the table, gray charmeuse gown, and Miss Collier wore black crepe de chine. Invited to meet Miss Collier were Miss Marion Goldsmith, Miss Carolyn King, Miss Emmie Willingham, Miss Thelma Willingham, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Emma Kate Amoroux, Mrs. J. B. Pound and Mrs. Thomas H. Dancil.

Third Ward Civic Club.

An interesting meeting of the Third Ward Civic club was held on Friday at the home of the president, Mrs. John Justis. Many plans were laid for the summer's work, and a series of entertainments were suggested. Mrs. F. V. L. Smith being made chairman of the committee to plan this work. An invitation to visit Grady hospital was received with thanks, the president being glad to know more of the working of the city's institutions. It is planned to have all citizens help in this good work. The president announces that a contest would be held from May 1 to September 1 for the most improvement in the ward's front yards and cleanest back yards. The prize being the possession of the loving cup (first and second prizes) won by the club some years ago.

It is planned to give the winner the right to keep the cup one year, and all desiring to enter this contest are requested to send their names and addresses to the secretary, Mrs. A. E. W. Augustus, 79 Augusta avenue, by May 1. The entire club will make a visit to Battle Hill sanitarium on Wednesday morning, April 8, for the purpose of planting flowers on the grounds. It is hoped that a large number of women will go. All who go will be given a ride in the West View car line automobile and be given transportation to the sanitarium. A large number of women will attend the meeting at Clarkston, May 5. Mrs. Florence T. Gray will represent the club at the biennial at Chicago at the next meeting, May 1, will be held the annual election of officers. The nominating committee consists of Mrs. James A. S. Wilson, F. V. L. Smith and C. T. White. This meeting will be held at the residence of the secretary, 79 Augusta avenue.

Burden-Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Burden announce the marriage of their daughter, Cora, to Mr. John Charlie Evans. The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. G. M. Bakes.

Carroll-Moncrief.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carroll announce the marriage of their daughter, Estelle, to Mr. George Moncrief, the marriage taking place Saturday morning, March 21. Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief are at home at 322 South Boulevard.

The Vital Element in Silver Buying Is Its Initial Selection

SILVERWARE is good in proportion to the artistic knowledge and good taste of the one who selects it. Whether the article is made in America, in England, in France, in Germany or elsewhere, its merit depends entirely upon the knowledge of and good taste displayed at the point of its first selection.

You are well and conscientiously represented in the world's silver markets by The Eugene V. Haynes Company. We believe that in skillful buying rests our greatest strength.

We call your especial attention to the exquisite patterns, the newest designs now on exhibition in our silver collections. Simplicity and refined dignity prevail in the leading patterns of this season, the leading styles being shown in the following popular patterns:

- Mary Chilton
- Fairfax
- Paul Revere
- Chantilly
- Louis XV

We call your especial attention to our silver chests for brides and our plan for starting a handsome collection for every new couple.

Queen Quality SHOES

The Easter Parade

With only six selling days before Easter you cannot afford to go from shop to shop when selecting shoes, for the limited time will not permit your doing so.

Therefore it is of supreme importance to go where you can shop with the greatest satisfaction to yourself.

With our unlimited stock of new Queen Quality low shoes and the largest shoe sales-force in Atlanta, we can serve you quickly and you will be able to secure the style that you most desire.

Our showing includes Colonial Pumps, plain Pumps, button Oxfords and Lace Oxfords. All wanted leathers and fabrics. An abundance of Spanish Louis heels and Brocade back Colonial Pumps.

Our stock of bronze Colonial Pumps is being replenished by Express and we expect to be able to supply your needs along this line.

Queen Quality shoes are worn today by over three million women, and for style, comfort and durability they are unexcelled.

A Chest of Silver The Family's Best Gift to the Bride

In selecting a flatware pattern for a bridal gift, particular care should be exercised. It is not like picking out something which will be replaced from time to time. The silver you will give will be used and prized always and will probably be added to at frequent intervals.

Our stock of Sterling silver was chosen with this idea in mind, and we believe our selection will meet with your hearty approval.

Our engraving is noted for its smoothness and beauty. It doesn't ever pay to hurry engraving, and we suggest that you anticipate your requirements and order early.

Samples and prices will be gladly submitted either in the store or by our Mail Order Department.

"The Panama Canal."

An illustrated lecture on "The Panama Canal and Its Surroundings" will be given by Mrs. A. McD. Wilson on Wednesday, April 15, at 4 o'clock p. m., in the Sunday school room of St. Luke's church. She will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Blackburn, who will recite and by the Misses Johnson, who will give selections on the violin.

These entertainments will be given by Committee No. 2, of the Woman's Guild, Mrs. D. E. DeSaussure, chairman. These addresses will be interspersed with appropriate music by the "vested choir" of the church.

Bennette-Greene.

Mrs. C. I. Bennette announces the marriage of her daughter, Gladys Greene, to Dr. E. W. Greene, of Macon, on Wednesday, April 1, 1914.

Domino Circle Entertained.

Mrs. W. K. Booth entertained the Domino circle, at a most enjoyable party at her home on Lee street, West End, Friday afternoon. About twenty-five ladies were present and enjoyed the game and charming hospitality of the hostess. Apple blossoms and violets were used in profusion about the rooms, and delicious refreshments were served. Each lady was presented with a bouquet of California violets. The club will meet April 17 with Mrs. A. Martin, 45 Poplar Circle, Inman Park.

Good Friday Service.

On Good Friday evening at All Saints' church, Rev. W. W. Memminger will conduct a service using the seven last words, or exclamations of Christ upon the cross as texts for short addresses. These addresses will be interspersed with appropriate music by the "vested choir" of the church.

Donation Day.

Donation day at the Home for Old Women, 61 West End avenue, will be observed on Tuesday, April 7. Visitors will be cordially received. Donations of all kinds will be gratefully received and acknowledged. Donation day has become an established custom at the home, occurring the first Tuesday of each month.

An Overflowing of Grace and Richness in Our Spring Fashions—An Extraordinary Pre-Easter Preparation

THIS 1914 EASTER will be a very welcome one, reserving its date of appearance to conform beautifully to the plans of spring. The flowers and green things have had a growing chance and will be able to decorate after their own hearts.

While this thought is only a pleasant fancy, the deep-rooted truth is in the magnificent preparations in this store which one may see requires time. Thus you will agree that an April date for Easter is opportune.

Easter Plans in Our Spacious Dress Department

Beautiful Flower Printed Crepe and Taffeta Dresses $17.75

One of our best plans for your Easter wear developed only yesterday in the arrival of a large lot of strikingly beautiful and well made silk dresses. This is one of your surprises, for when you've examined them you will approve of both style and quality—and get the surprise in the price.

The color of your fancy is here. Every charming spring effect is shown, handsome flower-printed silk crepes, all prettily touched with fine lace at neck and hands. Taffetas are black, blue and browns. There are very many different models—and they're $30 and $35 dresses. A special large purchase made it possible for us to sell them at

★★ IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL ★★

By Irma Dooly.

"Write about 'Society' as you see it," assigned the editor this week. "It is all right about the serious side, the 'organizations' and 'surfrage' and 'cleaning up,' but people like to read about society, meaning the people who are doing things.

"Localize the stuff," he further explained. "Tell what happened this week, and what is apt to happen next week. Write about the 'Easter bonnet' and your personal observation of things."

"Why, that is what I have in my diary." I complained, "nobody wants to read that. It is about Atlanta in her every-day clothes!"

ATLANTA TODAY.

Chapter I.
The individuality of an entertainment, whether it is one formal or informal, one large or small, is one of the first requisites of its success.

Though convention must ever be respected in the form society chooses for entertainments, that convention does not mean uniformity. It is this uniformity, on the contrary, which makes people complain of ennui in society.

As yet in America there are still the "precious few" belonging to what the old world calls the "leisure class." Not even the multi-millionaire in the leisure man in this young, prosperous country of ours, though it is said to represent more wealth this moment than any other country in the world. American "society," therefore, though a most active and complex institution, a most lavish and brilliantly disorganized system all of its own, has much to offer to pleasure lovers in hospitality and entertainment. It is whole-souled, democratic and certainly intensely active, yet I do not believe the most loyal of Americans will deny that our form of entertaining lacks in individuality.

Atlanta is essentially an American city. People who visit here from foreign world centers declare we combine the hospitality they had expected in the south, the social spirit and entertainment, with the mode and completeness of detail they observe in the north.

But with all this, Atlanta lacks individuality often in her entertaining, which make the various functions of the season rather uniform in their design and development.

The menu choice, the decoration pretty and company agreeable, the hostesses rarely work out a scheme which might be termed "individual," though it would be difficult to find in any community as many brilliant and gifted women as there are in Atlanta's entertaining group.

During the past week an Atlanta hostess, just for an innovation, gave a "baby" party. All the ladies came in juvenile nursery costumes, and the men as brothers to Buster Brown and similar characters. But the hostess kept it a dark secret. It was not the usual dinner dance, and she feared the lack of uniformity might be a little too sensational. She had a right to privacy, though there was nothing unique about the costume party, yet the individuality of it was refreshing.

There are many features of entertainment which might be introduced now at parties at private homes which would render them not only individual, but delightfully interesting. For instance, nothing would be more timely and appropriate than an operatic evening or program with some clever man or woman interpreting some one of the operas to come—maybe Massenet's "Manon." The characteristics of the composer might be explained, then a pianist giving illustrating selections and a vocalist touching some of the famous selections from the opera.

Such a program need not be long nor does it require artists to make it charming, though it would require artistic taste to make it go.

A Strauss evening, with discussion of the new opera, "Rosenkavalier," about which so much is being written, would delight everybody, and I could imagine no greater pleasure than Mr. Oscar Fappenhelmer leading such a program.

Mr. Alexander Smith, whose love of music and whose talents have been so generously expressed in Atlanta, social life, is a lover of Massenet music, and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton could rather than complained when he heard Massenet's "Manon" would be Atlanta's premiere this season. If Mr. Smith would talk of the composer and sing from him, and Mrs. Roby Robinson do the piano interpretation, it would be a gem feature of entertainment among their friends.

Mrs. Frank Inman could charmingly give an interpretative talk on any of the operas, illustrating it, her voice one of exquisite range and sweetness, and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton could talk so well of the opera "Lobengrin," reading one of the several English versions of the love theme.

The quartet recently organized and named for her could do some of the musical parts.

The home of Mrs. Frank S. Ellis would be a beautiful setting for arter dinner discussion of one of the Italian operas, that hostess gifted in original and individual entertaining.

A program of French music would have a charming atmosphere in Mrs. Murphy's rose drawing room, after a dejeuner, and Mrs. John Little might so well repeat in her Atlanta home a program of Russian music she once presented after dinner in her beautiful Macon home. Russian music now is delighting New York audiences, and Paris, so say those who know, is making a fad of Russian and Norwegian and Scandinavian music and literature. The sun parlor of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson would be a charming place for a group of spring songs.

And these programs so boldly suggested, here need not do away with dancing, indeed, dancing must now really follow every entertainment where the "inner man" has been refreshed and lavishly nourished. The musical program need not be long.

"MEET ME AT THE ANSLEY"

A remark often heard in Atlanta. Why? Because the Hotel Ansley is the recognized bright spot in Atlanta. The management of this hotel caters to the desires and whims of its guests—thereby pleases.

Service—and genuine service—is the slogan of The Ansley, and because it has been conducted on such lines is why it is so popular with not only the traveling public, but all Atlantans.

The Rathskeller is known as the most popular dining place in Atlanta and one of the show places of Atlanta, being conducted as a strictly high-class Cafe and catering only to the best class of patronage, it has become known that The Rathskeller is where one may take his wife or family and enjoy a good meal, good service and hear the finest music in the city. The only Electric Chime Staff Bells ever installed in the south are now being installed in The Rathskeller, and will be in operation next week. Come and hear them.

The Tripod Paint Co.

37 and 39 N. Pryor St. ATLANTA, GA.

Just something to stimulate the intellect and give people confidence in themselves, and what they can talk about.

It would revive general conversation among men and women, the interchange of ideas which made the French "salon," and "salon" hostesses so famous, and gave society in the older countries that piquancy which makes us delight in reading of it.

Those people were no more gifted by God with brain than are we. They just used it differently; applied it more faithfully. They were individual.

That is what should be the more cultivated with us—individuality—without so much uniformity, with convention still kept high on the pedestal!

"Home of the Redfern"

Redfern Corsets

Beautiful Corsets

For Delineating the Natural Figure

Yes, beautiful is the proper expression to describe the REDFERN MODELS for Spring—dainty in appearance as the finest lingerie so light and flexible that you wonder how they can support the figure.

This is where the scientific touch of the Redfern designers comes into play; for every REDFERN MODEL is so fashioned as to mold the form in graceful lines, and support with a sense of relaxation that is luxurious.

Well dressed women everywhere are wearing REDFERN CORSETS. You can easily distinguish the wearer of a REDFERN by a figure resiliency that is most appealing.

There is no corset that we know—and we know every corset worth knowing—that responds so admirably to every figure requirement, and we fit dozens a day.

"Normal Figure"

Many of the new styles this spring are the topless "normal figure" models—which show such features as the "Curved Clasp" now so popular in Paris; and admirably adapted for certain types.

Whatever your preference, whether for a topless, low or medium high corset, you can make no better selection for shape, comfort and general satisfaction than a Redfern.

Redfern Corsets

Whatever price you pay for a Redfern, it is fitted by a corsetiere who has received her instruction from our corset counsel, who in turn has been thoroughly familiarized with the REDFERN MODELS through the designers of these corsets.

The Redfern here displayed shows one of the new lightly boned models—a white, smooth, cozy-fitting corset—a corset that you run, play, do anything in, and know that your figure lines are right

The visit here of Miss Jeanne Jonas, daughter of Mr. I. S. Jonas, is a source of pleasure not only to her own friends, but those of her mother, who at the time of her passing was one of the most beautiful and talented women in the state. She was Miss Jennie Echols, her beauty that combining fair skin with dark eyes and gold-lighted brown hair. Miss Jonas inherits much of her mother's beauty, and is a charming and lovable young woman. She has been visiting Mrs. James Palmer, who was Miss Van Hildard Spalding, but will be with her father later. Mr. Jonas has taken temporarily the home of Mrs. Harry Chamberlin, near Peachtree and Eighth streets.

Miss Dorothy Hebert comes from New Orleans soon to visit Miss Elizabeth Morgan. Miss Hebert is a graduate of the Sacred Heart convent, of which her mother is a member of the alumnae, and she is a most attractive and talented young woman.

Hebert made her debut in New Orleans last winter, and was one of the maids of honor to the Queen of Comus, during Mardi Gras. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Octave Hebert, and her mother, a member of the Lewis family, is a leader in the exclusive patriotic societies, among them the Order of the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of the American Revolution. Miss Hebert has been invited to join the Society of Colonial Dames in Savannah.

Miss Mozelle Neely, of Waynesboro, Ga., who will be one of the visitors here grand opera week, is one of the most popular young women in the state, as her mother was before her. Miss Neely spends her winters in Augusta, where, in the young set there, she is a belle. Mr. and Mrs. Neely will make the trip from Waynesboro to Atlanta in their touring car, and they will be at the Georgian Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lincoln Gately have returned from the north, where they visited Mr. Gately's family in upper New York, and Mrs. Gately's sister, Mrs. John Alton Harris, at her handsome home, Riverside Drive. Mrs. Harris has a most interesting circle of friends in New York, many of them of the English colony in New York. Dr. Harris having been an officer in the British army, and having rendered efficient service.

Mrs. Harris is one of the most popular women in the southern society, and at her dinners, which are always brilliant occasions, she assembles the most interesting people from among her own and her husband's friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gately also visited their daughter, Mrs. Frank Swift. Mr. and Mrs. Swift having bought a charming home out from New York city. Their nephew, Mr. Lamar Washington, also resides in New York.

Macon will send a most representative delegation to Atlanta opera week, among them Mrs. Henry Wortman, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Winship and Miss Casey, Mr. S. S. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamar, Mrs. Florence Wadley

Worker for Equal Suffrage

MRS. FRANCIS SMITH WHITESIDE. Who is one of the leading spirits in the woman's suffrage movement in Georgia.

"Stick to Democratic Party," Writes Anna Shaw in Letter To Suffragettes of Georgia

Mrs. M. I. McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Equal Suffrage association, has received a letter from Rev. Anna Shaw, president of the National American Woman's Equal Suffrage association, a letter in which she advises the Georgia suffragists to be careful of politics.

The letter in part follows: "I shall be glad to be of any service I can for you in Georgia, and I am so grateful to you for your loyalty to the national association and the national work. I hope that Georgia will keep aloof from the union in Washington, whose aim is to attack the democratic party in revenge for the fact that they have not pushed the suffrage amendment through congress this winter. It is such folly to go south attacking the democratic party. Who do they expect will give us suffrage in the south if democrats do not? "This going around with threats and clubs is so contrary to the whole spirit of the national association that I do not see how any society auxiliary to the national can have anything to do with it. With sincere regards and looking forward to a pleasant visit with you next year, I am, Faithfully yours, (Signed) "ANNA HOWARD SHAW."

Coleman. The Winships and the Lamars will be at the Georgian Terrace. Mrs. Coleman will be with her aunt, Mrs. William Green Raoul. Mr. and Mrs. Wortham and Mr. Dunlap will be with Mr. and Mrs. John Little, Mr. Dunlap arriving April 26.

Miss Casey is the sister of Mrs. Emory Winship, and a most attractive and popular young woman. She has been the recipient of many attentions in Macon this winter, and plans for her entertainment are being made in Atlanta.

Mr. Frank Munsey, who comes from New York for opera week and will be with Mr. and Mrs. Little, has many friends in Atlanta, made here on previous visits. He will be entertained during his visit here by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ellis, Colonel Willis Ragan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman, Mr. and Mrs. Doughty Manly and others. Mr. and Mrs. Little entertain twenty guests for him at supper after the first night of opera at the Capitol City club.

The guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ellis for opera week are Mr. and Mrs. James Sprunt, the latter Mrs. Ellis' sister, from Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Sprunt is consul there for both England and Germany. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marchison, of New York, will also be with the Ellises. Mr. Marchison is Mrs. Ellis' only brother, and one of the most distinguished of the younger American architects. His charming wife is a Frenchwoman, and one of the most admired young hostesses of New York and Narragansett.

Mr. Otto Kahn's party numbers eight, and they arrive early in opera week and will be at the Terrace.

BRENAU SOCIAL NEWS.

An occasion of distinction in the social calendar was the reception Wednesday afternoon by the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, in honor of their house guest, Miss Davis, of Westfield, d. Texas. Miss Davis, Miss Esther Irvine, Miss Elsie Ragan, Miss Sarah Wadley and Miss Stella Groover stood receiving the 140 guests invited. Misses Carrie Smith, Sarah Hobbs and Ruth Pettit served punch. Miss Louise Pearce rendered a continuous musical program, consisting of piano selections, which contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon. A two-course buffet lunch was served.

The Beta Sigma Omicron sorority of Brenau college, Gainesville, Ga., Friday afternoon, and an elaborate reception, the honoree being Mrs. V. Judson Adams, formerly of Atlanta, but recently of Knoxville. Mrs. Adams is prominent in social and sorority circles, possesses a charming personality and is a French graduate. Those in the receiving line were Miss Mary Andrews, of Atlanta, Ga., and her sister, Mrs. Adams of Knoxville, Tenn.; Miss Jessie Bounds, of Moxie Point, Miss. BESSIE TIFT COLLEGE.

The celebration of Founders' day at Bessie Tift college was one of the most successful in the history of the institution.

One of the chief features of the morning exercises was the song contest, where and the songs were original. The prize went to the sub-freshman class and the sophomores received honorable mention.

The address of the day was delivered by Dr. Darden, of Dalton, Ga. His subject was, "Woman's New Place in the World's Progress," and his development of the subject showed him to be a broad and clear thinker. Dr. Darden said that woman's suffrage is coming, and it is a sign of progress, but the danger is that woman will forget that she is the complement of man, and not an independent masculine attribute. He said that woman and man each has an important place and he showed by a forceful illustration how, by their united efforts, they can accomplish more than they can accomplish alone.

Much interest and pleasure were added to the exercises of the day by the message of Mrs. H. C. Fryer, of Bessie, Ga. Mrs. Fryer is a graduate of the class of 1898, the fifth class that ever graduated from the college. The field day exercises in the afternoon consisted of contests in captain ball, tennis and basketball. The seniors were victorious in all three.

In the evening the Mercer Glee club gave a concert in the college auditorium. This is the fourth year of the glee club to the college, and it proved this time that it is maintaining its usual high standard. It is under the direction of Professor Carver, of the faculty of Mercer university.

CHIPLEY, GA.

The lovely home of Mrs. J. P. Williams was the scene of one of the prettiest parties of the season, given Saturday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. P. J. Hopkins. A recent addition to the young married set of Chipley, Mrs. Williams was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. J. P. Hopkins, and Misses Pattie Key and Lillian Delemar. Mrs. Walter Tucker served punch. About fifty guests were invited.

Among the Chipley people going to Columbus Wednesday to attend the Hopkins marriage were Mrs. N. V. Boddie, Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mrs. Frank Tigner, Mr. Charles Murrah, Mrs. Oscar Tucker, Misses Beachy McGee and Bess Jenkins, Messrs. Frank Hopkins, Durand Miller and Wiley Wisdom.

OXFORD, GA.

Miss Katherine Magath was hostess to the Reviewers' club Wednesday morning at her home on Benson street. After the regular routine of business a pleasant hour was spent at rook. At the conclusion of the game a seated luncheon was served. Miss Magath was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Julius Magath, Mrs. Miller, and Misses Katie Key and Lillian Delemar. Mrs. Walter Tucker served punch. About fifty guests were invited.

Among the Chipley people going to Columbus Wednesday to attend the Hopkins marriage were Mrs. N. V. Boddie, Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mrs. Frank Tigner, Mr. Charles Murrah, Mrs. Oscar Tucker, Misses Beachy McGee and Bess Jenkins, Messrs. Frank Hopkins, Durand Miller and Wiley Wisdom.

Before Easter Plantings

Of all the weeks in the year the week before Easter always shows the most gardening and planting.

Good Friday has always been the first day in the year that it was considered safe to plant beans in and around Atlanta.

All through this week it is safe and timely to plant beets, radishes, spring turnips, lettuce, onions, carrots, etc. Beginning next Friday start beans, squash, cucumbers, etc., as well as the tenderest flowers.

The home garden is a producer, not an expense account. The vegetables from even the smallest of city back yard gardens make an equal saving in the store bills, as well as better health through increased use of vegetables.

This is the right week to start, if you have not already done so.

Clean Up, Paint and Plant

It's a fine idea to clean up and paint up in the effort to have a clean and fresh looking Atlanta for the "Shriners." But that's only for a week.

We are thinking about ourselves and other Atlantians who have to stay here all the year. We want an all-summer-and-fall "Atlanta Beautiful."

A cleaned up look don't stay; the freshness of paint soon dims; but the flower beds you plant in the side and front yards grow larger and better and brighter through the whole summer.

Patch up the ragged spots in the lawn with grass seed; start beds of geraniums, coleus, salvia, etc.; fill up the porch boxes and put ferns on the porches. These will make a sure enough, all season "Atlanta Beautiful."

Ferns Fine, healthy specimens. 60c and $1.00 each.	Geraniums Latest introductions Large size flowers; best shades and colors. 15c cents; $1.50 per dozen.
Big Ferns Magnificent; extra large. $1.50 and $2.00 each.	Pansies Hastings' Pansies are superb. Come and see them. 50 cents dozen.
Tuberose Bulbs Double Extra Large Pearl Blooming size bulbs. 15 cents dozen. By mail, 25 cents dozen.	Gladioli Bulbs Finest new shades and colors. Dozen, 20 cents. By mail, postpaid, 35 cents.
Dahlias Big field grown roots—quick bloomers. Six colors. 15 cents each; $1.50 dozen.	Sago Palms Importation just in from Japan. Bulbs from 1 to 7 lbs. 15 cents pound.
Tomato Plants In fresh every morning from our greenhouses; Hastings' best varieties; early, medium and late. 25 cents dozen.
Double Delivery Service Reaches all part of Atlanta twice daily, insuring prompt delivery. If you can't come, phone your order. Bell Phones Main 3962, Main 2568; Atlanta Phone 2568.

Will Be a June Bride

MISS HELEN HOBBS, Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Hobbs. Her engagement is announced today to Mr. Edward S. Gay, Jr.

Georgia Women on National Program of Drama League

At the fourth annual meeting of the Drama League of America, to be held in Philadelphia, April 23, 24 and 25, with headquarters at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Georgia will have two representatives on the official program in Mrs. William Clark Spiker, of Atlanta, and Miss Caroline Cobb, of Athens.

The general topic of discussion at the various sessions will be drama and audiences of the day. On April 23 there will be a celebration of Shakespeare's birthday, with brilliant and appropriate ceremonies.

Mrs. Starr Best, of Chicago, at the opening session of the convention, will discuss the influence of the Drama League through its centers.

At the afternoon session of April 23 the speakers are Dr. Baker, of the faculty of Harvard university; Miss Ogilby, of New York; Mrs. Isaacs, of New York; Mrs. Spiker, of Atlanta; Miss Cobb, of Athens; Mrs. Shippman, of Hartford; Annie Russell will give a special performance in the Little Theatre in Philadelphia, the same evening.

The speakers of the morning of the second day's session include Mrs. Otis Skinner, Mrs. Herman Ostrander, Harrison Gray Blake and William Ames.

The speakers for the afternoon session are Benedict Papot, of the University of the North West; Archibald Henderson, of the University of North Carolina, and Folia La Follette, of New York, who will talk on psychology of audiences.

On the subject of dramatic criticism the speakers will be Walter Dill Eaton, Oliver Saylor and Charles Coffin. The same evening a fifteenth century French play will be given by amateurs, under the direction of M. Patelin.

The speakers of the concluding sessions will be Meredith Nicholson, Roland Holt, Mrs. Anna Nathan Meyer, August Thomas, Percy Mackaye and Percival Chubb.

Plays Indorsed.
The last play indorsed by the Drama League is "Too Many Cooks," by Frank Craven at the theater on Thirty-ninth street, west of Broadway. The producer is William A. Brady. The first performance was given on February 25. The theme is the right of young people starting out in life to work out their happiness according to their own individuality, and the disastrous results of even well-meant interference. Aided by the symbolism of the building of a house.

ADAIRSVILLE, GA.
An elaborate dinner on Saturday evening was the first of a series of entertainments for a group of Shorter girls in for the spring holidays. Miss Vane Veach was the entertainer and besides her house guests, Miss Ruby Baynes and Miss Emmie Pitts, there were Miss Sarah Frances Gaines, her guest, Miss Lucile Tolleson, Miss Hallie Gaines and a number of young men.

Miss Veach entertained two groups of girls at dinner on Monday and Tuesday.

A pleasant affair of Monday night was a rook party given by Miss Alice Butler for the ladies of the club. There were three tables of players and a salad course was served after the game.

Miss Sarah Frances Gaines had the young ladies for a spend-the-day on Sunday. On Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bishop gave a dinner party for Miss Gaines and her guest, Miss Tolleson. Miss Veach, Miss Baynes and Miss Pitts were also guests of this occasion.

A game party was given by Mrs. E. D. Veach Tuesday afternoon as a compliment to Miss Sussie Veach and her guests. Mrs. Veach entertained by Mrs. J. A. Stewart. The college girls and some other friends made up three tables.

The Symphony club held the March meeting with Mrs. J. L. Wray. Several of the grand operas to be given in Atlanta this season were up for discussion. The April meeting of the club will be with Mrs. E. E. Rickenbaker.

CEDEARTOWN GA.
Mrs. Graham M. Norman was the delightful hostess on Wednesday afternoon at her beautiful home on College street at an Easter party given in honor of her sister, Mrs. Rosa Roberts, of Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Norman was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. Wray Pickett, Mrs. E. S. Ault, Mrs. Martha Rughan, Mrs. W. H. Trawick, Mrs. Miss Sarah Frances Gaines, Mrs. S. H. Smith. Punch was served by Mrs. J. H. Worrill and Mrs. W. G. England, Jr. Miss Myrtle E. Veatch entertained most delightfully on Friday afternoon in honor of the members of the Young Ladies Union club.

Mrs. J. R. Barber was the hostess to the ladies' class of the First Methodist Sunday school at her home on College street Thursday afternoon. Delightful refreshments were served.

NEWMAN, GA.

Mrs. James Farmer was hostess for a beautifully appointed dinner party Monday evening. Covers were laid for eight and four courses were served.

Miss Louise Atkinson entertained the reading circle Thursday afternoon. Mrs. E. B. Bishop directed the literary program with the following ladies contributing: Mesdames I. P. Bradley, J. P. Jones, E. A. Fields, Mesdames Helen Long and Bessie Arnold.

Mrs. T. S. Bailey entertained the Young Women's club delightfully Wednesday afternoon. Twelve members were present and the hostess served a salad course with stuffed apples and whipped cream.

Mrs. H. C. Arnall, Jr., was hostess for her card club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Tom Farmer was the club troop and Mrs. J. T. Kirby drew the consolation. Luncheon was served at the card tables in the late afternoon.

Mrs. Roy Merrill entertained the New Domino club Thursday afternoon. A delicious seated luncheon was served in the late afternoon.

Miss Jessie Manget complimented a few of her friends with a charming dinner party Friday evening. Four couples enjoyed Miss Manget's hospitality.

Miss Nellie Lou Walton entertained the Crochet club Friday afternoon. A delicious luncheon was served in the late afternoon.

TURN GRAY HAIR DARK WITH Q-BAN

Not Greasy or Messy—Harmless—Darkens Naturally and Evenly.

That old-time hair remedy, Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer, for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is the best treatment for gray hair, and folks are using it to keep their hair a good, dark, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest value. Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied, as Q-Ban darkens the hair so evenly and naturally. Simply rub Q-Ban, like a shampoo, on hair and scalp on retiring, and a few applications, besides, prevents soft luster and appearance of abundance which makes the hair so attractive and fascinating. Besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. It is a sure, safe, and sure to darken your gray hair. Make a personal trial of Q-Ban and see for yourself. Large 50¢ bottles sold and guaranteed. Only 50¢ by Edmondson Drug Stores, 11 E. Brook and N. E. Pryor streets, Atlanta, Ga. Out-of-town people supplied by mail.—(Adv.)

Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., To Celebrate Anniversary

The twenty-third birthday of the Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be celebrated on April 15 at a large reception to be given at the chapter house on Piedmont avenue. The entertainment is to be in the nature of a reunion of the members, and each one will be privileged to bring a friend.

A beautiful musical program will be a feature of the afternoon. The Atlanta chapter, the second to be organized in America, numbers many prominent women in a membership of more than 400.

Mrs. James O. Wynn is the present regent of the chapter, this being her second term of office.

Those who have served as regents are Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. William Dickson, Mrs. Frances H. Orme, Mrs. Porter King, Mrs. W. G. Raoul, Mrs. J. L. Biers, Mrs. John M. Stator, Mrs. Frances Block, Mrs. I. T. Sage, Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Sr., Mrs. Thoma H. Morgan, Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster and Mrs. Sam D. Jones. With the exception of Mrs. Biers all are now living.

The officers and the chapter, the executive board and ex-regents will be the receiving party. The occasion will be one of the bright events socially of the month.

The Doctor's Advice by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, and the symptoms or diseases are of similar nature. If you wish further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Eliwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope to reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name should be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any drugist can order for you.

1. This will stop itching scalp and dandruff and make the hair grow, and you will not be bothered with stringy straggling locks.

2. "Lenses" writes: "I do not weigh enough for my height. I am dull and listless and have frequent headaches. Please advise what will help me."

3. Answer: "Your condition is due to the lack of red blood corpuscles. You should take nothing better than 5-grain hypophosphite tablets, which can be purchased at any up-to-date drug store in sealed cartons with full directions. These tablets will cause the body to assimilate the fatty elements of food and thus give you strength and added color to the skin. Your weight will increase and you will not be troubled with headache. These are recommended by physicians and taken according to directions you will surely gain weight."

4. "Troubled Miss G." writes: "Every winter I am troubled with severe attacks of rheumatism, which sometimes keeps me in bed for weeks. Please advise some cure for me."

5. Answer: "My favorite prescription for rheumatism, and one that I know has relieved thousands of people, is made by mixing: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams, sodium salicylate, 4 drams, wine of colchicum, ½ oz., compound camphor, 1 oz., comp. fluid balsam of Peru, 1 oz., syrup sarsaparilla, 6 oz. Take one teaspoonful at meal time and at bed time and you will soon be well."

6. I. P. B. writes: "Can you please prescribe medicine which will relieve me of such distressing symptoms of kidney and bladder, as the following: Pains in small of back, soreness in region of bladder, frequent calls at night but scanty flow with pain, burning and foul odor, purting of urine, etc."

7. Answer: "Those seeking relief from kidney and bladder disorders should take the balsam-wort tablets, a very successful formula sold in sealed tubes at all directions."

8. "Annette" writes: "I have been greatly annoyed lately by coughing and a tickling sensation in the throat and hoarseness after singing. My bronchial tubes are affected."

9. Answer: "You can be very easily relieved of this bronchial trouble by using essence mentho-laxene. This relieves quickly and certainly brings about a cure by its tonic and laxative action, and therefore is superior to ordinary preparations, which only relieve, but can feel the medicine working on the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes, giving a feeling of freshness and strength to the entire system. Purchase a 2½-oz. package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to the directions on bottle and take each to ten doses daily and you will soon be cured of your trouble."

10. Mrs. B. T. writes: "I suffer much with indigestion, heavy feeling in stomach, bloating, belching, etc."

11. Answer: "For indigestion, dyspepsia and such symptoms as you mention, I advise the use of tablets triopentine, packed in sealed cartons with full directions. They prove very effective.—(adv.)"

12. "I am 42 years old and I was very strong and vigorous until I began to fail and now I am trembling, nervous, weak, timid, dependent, and I have lost my brightness and pleasure for me. I think I need medicine for my nerves."

13. Answer: "At your age many are afflicted as you are and the very best treatment for such conditions is 5-grain codonine tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions. It is a tonic, restorative treatment of very great effectiveness in overcoming the depletion of nervous system."

14. Mr. B. D. asks: "Is it safe to reduce one's weight which 170 pounds and would like to reduce at least 40 pounds. What is a safe, harmless remedy?"

15. Answer: "Obtain any well-stocked drugist a tube of 5-grain codonine tablets and take as per directions accompanying. These tablets are very easy to take and quite reliable for obesity or fatness."

16. "Miss K." writes: "Could you publish a remedy for liver and kidney trouble and the usual diseases that arise from that source? I am troubled with dizzy spells, faint spots before my eyes, and also with rheumatism."

17. Answer: "If you will get 5-grain saluber tablets (not sulphur tablets) and take according to directions, you will not only be relieved, but if you continue the use of these tablets you will be gradually relieved of all the troubles you mention. They will purify the blood and also overcome your rheumatism."

18. "Worried" writes: "Your child can be easily cured of bed-wetting by using lacture capsules, 1 dram. Lacture, this aromatic, 2 drams and comp. codonine, 1 oz. Give him 10 to 15 drops in water before each meal. This is equally good for old people."

19. Mrs. L. C. writes: "Our family of five all are afflicted with catarrh. A friend told me that your prescription cured her and her child. Please tell me what to use."

20. Answer: "I have found in my long experience that there is nothing superior to antigentic. Antigentic powder when used according to the directions which are to be found in each 2 or 8-ounce box. Try it and you will be delighted."

21. Hannah writes: "I would like to get something that would make my hair soft and fluffy. My hair is gray and I can do nothing to keep the color of it."

22. Answer: "To get the surplus oil out of the hair and keep it soft, and fluffy, get a 4-oz. jar of plain yellow minoyl and use it regularly. This will stop itching scalp and dandruff and make the hair grow, and you will not be bothered with stringy straggling locks.

Will Lecture in French Before Alliance Francaise

Under the auspices of the Atlanta branch of the Alliance Francaise, M. Andre Bellessort will lecture here Monday, April 6, at 3 o'clock in the ball room of the Ansley hotel. Mr. Bellessort holds an eminent place in the literary domain. He is a critic of great value and has written several books; among them are "La Jeune Amerique," "Liens Invisible" and others. He is a collaborator in the La Revue des Deux Mondes, La Revue Francaise and Le Revue Bleue. He is lecturing all over America as the official lecturer of L'Alliance Francaise. He has met everywhere with great success, principally in New York, where he delivered several lectures before the members of L'Alliance Francaise, who founded the French theater. The subject chosen by the members of the Alliance is France and the Paris that foreigners do not see. The subject will treat on French theaters, homes, manners, traditions and customs. Members are urged to be very prompt in arriving at the lecture as Mr. Bellessort must leave the city immediately after his lecture. They are also requested to present their receipted cards of membership, otherwise they must pay the price of admission, 50 cents. The Alliance Francaise held its regular meeting at the University club Friday afternoon, April 3. After a delightful "exhibition" on "Flaubert et Son Art" by Mrs. Sifter, the alliance adjourned to meet Friday, April 17, at 8:15, at the University club.

Leading Citizens Helping In Better Baby Campaign

In the establishment here of a permanent child welfare exhibit with the accompanying department of child hygiene, the Georgia division of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations are receiving a hearty cooperation from a number of Atlanta's leading citizens. Mrs. W. H. Wiggs is chairman of the committee in charge of the proposed exhibit and the extension work of the organization, and the committee of men co-operating with her are Colonel W. L. Peel, Robert Zahner, Robert Alston, Mel R. Wilkinson, Dr. Bates Block, Wilmer L. Moore, Hugh Willet, W. M. Hutchinson, George W. McCarty, Fitzhugh Knox, V. H. Krieger, James R. Little, John Morris, H. L. Wiggs, Walter R. Rich, Walter Ballard, George Hope,

Henry S. Johnson, Frederic J. Paxton, and Dr. Fred G. Hodgson.

These men were visitors to the welfare exhibit, which was held in Atlanta in November and December, and which so clearly showed the need for a better-baby campaign in Georgia. Within the entrance hall of the old Leyden house, where it was held, was a chart which showed that in 1913, in Atlanta, Ga., five hundred babies died before they were one year old. During the exhibit a large percentage of the babies brought for medical inspection showed that they were victims of the lack of, or the wrong kind of, nutrition.

In rooms adjoining, trained nurses showed the way to prepare nutritious foods of various kinds, others showed the practical things pertaining to the everyday care of the baby. The kind of room a baby should sleep in, the kind of bed he should have, were illustrated. Then the kindergarten training which should be his, the kind of school-room that is wholesome, the games he should play and the playground facilities due him, were all explained in the child welfare exhibit. What can be done for defective children in the school, and in the home, was brought out, and the institutional work being done for the child without a home were shown.

It is to have in Georgia a permanent exhibit of this nature on broader scope, that the Georgia Division of the Mothers' Congress and the Parent-Teacher association are trying to establish. They have received $100 from the national board of the organization in Philadelphia, to start the necessary fund of $1,000. Donations are coming in from all ends, and the treasurer of the fund, Mrs. W. H. Wiggs, urges that contributions be sent by check, either to her, care of The Constitution, or to her residence, 575 West Peachtree street.

A Permanent Work.
The desire to establish this permanent exhibit was the expressed message of the retiring president, Mrs. James H. Little, and the new president of the Georgia Mothers' Congress, Mrs. Howard Payne, of Elberton, is heartily in favor of the movement. The new executive board of the Georgia Congress of Mothers includes, beside the board of officers, Mrs. George Haugh, vice president Atlanta district; Doctor Catherine Collins, of the state board of health; Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, Mrs. W. H. Wiggs, Mrs. James R. Little, Mrs. John Rowlet, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell, Miss Catherine Wooten, Miss Caroline Cobb and Mrs. Hugh Richardson. The latter was the first to give $100 to the work of launching the extension work of the Mothers' Congress in Georgia.

Mrs. Haugh Talks.
Mrs. George Haugh, who is the newly elected vice president of the Atlanta division of the Congress and of the Parent-Teacher association, is enthusiastic in her support of the child welfare exhibit and child hygiene movement, with headquarters in Atlanta, and she is busy organizing the forces of the Atlanta association in the direction of making a success of the movement. For that purpose she will call a meeting soon of all local associations.

Whitaker-Haner.
The marriage of Miss Edna Stuart Whitaker and Mr. Carl Haner, Jr., of New York city, will be an interesting social event after Easter. Miss Louise Massey will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Misses Katherine West and Agnes Kibbe. The best man will be Mr. George Bauer, of Savannah, and the ushers Messrs. Stratton Hard, Newton Wing, Addison Marshall, Walter Aichel, Homer and Stanley Wimlish. The vested choir will assist at the church ceremonial, and a reception will follow at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. C. Courtland Whitaker.

Interesting Concert.
Hear de Cortez Wolfungen, tenor, will make his last appearance in Atlanta in a concert given under the auspices of the music committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, Mrs. William L. Leavelle, chairman. He will be assisted by Mme. Carthew Yortown, soprano; Alexander von Skibin, sky, violin, and Miss Mildred Harrison, accompanist. The concert will take place Tuesday, April 14, in the Baptist Tabernacle, at 8:15 p. m. Admission, 50 cents.

Make Home Bright With "Fixall."

Don't let the contrast between the gay life down town and a dull, unattractive home drive some of the family away and leave the others discontented and unhappy. There's no excuse for rough, unsightly floors, dingy wood work and scarred, unsightly furniture since Fixall has been made so that anyone with the love of beauty and the will to work can use it. ROME, GA.

The Alumnae association benefit at Graham's tea garden Monday was a great success financially and socially. Dinner parties, afternoon tea parties and supper parties emphasized the popularity of the association, and the day's proceeds will nicely commence the fund for alumnae hall on Shorter hill. The coming of Miss Clara E. J. Jennings, instructress of artistic dancing, from New York was a welcomed advent during the Lenten season and the dancing contingent is devoting the hours for parties to learning the correct way of executing the latest steps which are really beautiful. Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Van Hoose tendered the Alumnae association a beautiful five course dinner Monday evening.

In the college dining hall at the regular hour the menu was served, plates being laid for forty-two guests, who were enthusiastic over the pleasant evening. Mrs. C. N. Featherstone entertained at her attractive home on the Summit on Tuesday morning for Miss Margaret Pruden and her trio of guests, Misses Anne, Kylie, Mary Payne and Vallye Young, student associates of Agnes Scott. Miss Gladys Willingham had as her guests at her sisters, Mrs. P. W. Lipscomb's, Friday the Bachelor Girls Bridge club and a half dozen young matrons entertaining them in honor of her sister, Mrs. Tim Willis, of College street. Miss Eleanor Wilcox was hostess of a high noon luncheon at the home of Miss Shorter college chums. Miss Shorter girls were guests of Mrs. T. W. Lipscomb at luncheon Thursday. The Woman's club held a most interesting meeting Wednesday afternoon in connection with the commerce fall. This being the date for election of officers, the present corps was re-elected. Mrs. W. Van Hoose was paid a glowing tribute for her excellent leadership and wise administration of the fiscal year of the young club. Mrs. Van Hoose appointed Mrs. John H. Reynolds as delegate from this district to the biennial in Chicago. The club elected Mesdames Sprull, Ponce, Madeline Wyly and Jay Harper as delegates all of whom will attend the session. Miss Paul Swanson was hostess Wednesday afternoon to a dozen bridge players in honor of her cousin, Mrs. James Tim Willis, of Columbus.

CARROLLTON, GA.

IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL

By Isma Dooly

DR. and MRS. HOWARD BUCKNELL had a charming and individual feature of entertainment for the guests of a dinner party they gave Tuesday evening when, after dinner, Dr. Bucknell showed some of the trophies of his hunt in British East Africa, the memorable trip taken last year, and covering much of the ground of the Roosevelt party.

It was certainly a big game you went after," remarked one of the ladies when she saw the huge rhinoceros head, one of several of the larger trophies brought back.

About twenty or more of the trophies are mounted and in his upstairs hallway here, while the others have been sent to his summer camp in the Adirondacks, where there is quite a wonderful collection of trophies from the famous hunting grounds of the world.

STORY OF THE HUNT.

Mrs. Bucknell has a collection of wonderful tiger skins, which cover the upstairs hallway, all brought by Dr. Bucknell, whose hunt in Africa included six weeks' time. The story of the hunt and the equipment proved most interesting. There were thirty natives who accompanied the hunter, and they had many and varied experiences. One evening, arriving rather late at a point where a railroad was in course of construction, the party rolled themselves in their blankets and lay under the trees sleeping calmly and fearlessly under the sky.

One day the hunters were out in the trees nearly from the little platforms built out from the branches. Queried by the guides, they proved to be the men employed in constructing the railroad. The lions in that section had been so bad, lately, the men had constructed the little hammocks in the trees so they could sleep with safety, while the young American hunter, all unawares, had slept below.

A beautiful pheasant, with the plumage described on his famous "gold-breasted pheasant," is a trophy from one of Dr. Bucknell's hunting trips in England. It is a beautiful specimen of the American bird, and a great compliment, for in England gentlemen who hunt can not take away the "bag." That is always the possession of the host. The huntman, too, who has the misfortune to kill a hen pheasant, buries it, and the "rest is silence," only the cock pheasant is legitimate prey for the sportsman.

While Dr. Bucknell was on his African hunt, Mrs. Bucknell spent the time in Italy, where her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bucknell, was also the latter's daughter, who is married to an Italian nobleman and artist. Mrs. Bucknell had her portrait painted by the famous Roman artist, and the portrait, in a carved frame of one piece, is encasing in its beauty.

WHAT I KNOW OF ART.

There are always as many opinions about the art portrait as there are people who see it. The picture which presents the ideal the beholder carries of the subject, therefore the different opinions always so freely expressed by the beholders.

I know very little about the "science of art," but I know what pleases me, and I have never seen a portrait which so delights me as this one Noel has painted of Mrs. Bucknell. I will not talk about the "color scheme," the "technique," the "atmosphere," and all those things people talk about when they look at a portrait, but I cannot refrain from rejoicing in this portrait. That buoyancy and health and life and spirit which the face of Mrs. Bucknell eloquently proclaims fairly faces you and challenges you from the canvas.

She lives and speaks through clouds of blue and gray.

Mrs. William Lawson Peel discussed most eloquently to me recently on the subject of the power and value of what is termed the frivolous things of life. Colonel Peel, it seems, remarked to her that he did not see why people made so much "ado" about boxes and getting one and not getting one, and worrying so much about the clothes they wear to opera, when Mrs. Peel explained to him the significance of these things.

"The boxes and the costumes of the women are a part of the union of forces which go to perfect a great dramatic or operatic effect," Mrs. Peel rightly reasons. She recalled the singing here of a great artist. People went in any sort of costume they chose, women in tailor suits, men in business suits, nobody seeming to realize that clothes frequently are a part of the tribute which should be paid to genius and art, or individuals of importance. After the entertainment the program, splendid indeed, a party of these varied people remained to the club to have supper with the artist.

"It offended my eye as I looked about and saw the lack of brilliancy in the dress of the assembly," said Mrs. Peel. "Old hats and new hats on some, no effort at toilet beyond the commonplace; nobody seemed to be especially inspired, and I realized then and there that the so-called superficial things are very necessary to the complete success of occasions, especially when these partake of the artistic in any way."

"It is the duty of people who go to the opera, no matter where they sit, to wear the best they have and look the best they can. They will enjoy the performance more if they are in the presence of the cooperation all Atlanta people should feel in anything Atlanta does. Atlanta women are the prettiest in the world; they are not economic about dress, and why should they not like to sit in boxes and conspicuous seats and wear the greatest clothes? It is one of the portraits which tell the story of the 'inner beauty,' and therefore is the real 'thing of beauty' that will be the joy forever."

This same beauty which belongs neither to youth nor maturity, but is rather the artist's power to draw out the very character and inner mystery of his subject, has another example in Atlanta in the portrait of the late Mrs. Thomas Eggleston, painted by Charles Frederick Naegle, of New York. Mrs. Eggleston was far past seventy when she gave the artist several sittings for the picture. It was realistic—wonderful in its expression as a likeness, and yet the thought of age never comes as one admires the spiritual beauty of the portrait.

Seeing it, there is realized that response to the presence of a supernatural something—the soul.

This same something I recall meeting in the miniature of a little child, which was painted by Lucie Stanton, of Athens. She knew the little child and loved it, and so did I. It went home to God one day, but when the miniature was painted and I saw it, it was as if the spirit had come back to shine through the frame and I feared at first to speak or breathe, lest it vanish. These are the kind of pictures that give joy to those who don't have time to quibble about the right "color scheme," "what the artist's meaning is," the "technique," or that much-abused term "atmosphere."

AN INTERESTING CHAT.

I can recall no after-dinner conversation which held a group of people more entertained than that in which that distinguished woman, Mrs. William H. Felton, was the leader a few evenings ago. She was the guest of her kinspeople, Mr. Lee Douglas, and Miss Douglas, at the Georgian Terrace, and wore with such grace on her snowy-white hair a little headpiece of old Valenciennes lace. Her black gown of some soft material was long, but never hampered her stately step. Her conversation adapted itself at any turn. She is a marvel in this—that she could so perfectly be a figure at the court of St. James, plead her own case in the Barrow county court or in any drawing room, attract men, young and old, even though bouquets of debutantes were on all sides.

With all her intellect of masculine vigor, with her knowledge of politics, good and bad, as they may be, with her dealings with men in affairs of business (she looking after all her own business), she has all the feminine charm that the world ever has believed winsome woman should possess. This charm is in voice and manner and movement, and her wit is so much the wit akin to "esprit"—a something only that word means, that she is the woman unique in her time!

Mrs. Felton's seventy-fifth birthday was an occasion of congratulation among her friends some time ago. She is the woman too highly evolved to think of age or discuss it, and it would be the man or woman woefully provincial who would think of age in her presence.

When asked about her plans for the spring and summer, Mrs. Felton remarked (with a twinkle in her eye): "I need a little rest and recreation, dear; I am going to Washington to hear the debate on the 'tolls.' I feel sure it will be interesting, 'dear-heigh!'"

"By the way, that witicism of Champ Clark directed to one of our representatives, 'Shoo ty, don't bother me!'—and here Mrs. Felton laughed heartily—was not original. I remember well, in those troublesome times, when Ben Butler in congress was making himself, as usual, obnoxious, that 'Sunset Cox' of New York, said the same annihilating shoo-ty tribute to Butler."

Here Mrs. Felton whispered to me a few things she suspected and anticipated in Georgia politics, and we were talking confidentially on this subject when the music upstairs sounded those notes of the modern dance that distract people, no matter what they are doing.

SHE SEES THE NEW DANCES.

"I have never seen any of the new dances," said Mrs. Felton, as she accepted an invitation to go upstairs, and was soon the center of a group in the little ballroom. She did not time and time and Mrs. Felton's achievements during three generations.

Bridge Club.

she did think pretty Miss Sallie Cobb Johnson for the pleasure her graceful dancing gave. Miss Johnson dancing a new hesitation, and all kinds of new steps in the "one step."

Among the little party in the room was Captain Graham Johnson. Mrs. Felton looked at him in a scrutinizing way, asked his name and still looked "Where have I seen him, or someone he so much resembles," she mused.

"Maybe you knew his grandfather, Governor Ligon," someone suggested, and Mrs. Felton recalled at once that she knew so well in Washington, that splendid type of the cavalier. Captain Johnson was presented, and she told him in a brilliant fashion many incidents concerning his distinguished grandfather, who was one of the group of southern men in Washington, when Dr. and Mrs. Felton, of Georgia, were among the stirring figures in national political life during the Hayes administration. I believe.

"The men of today in Washington are not what they were in those days," Mrs. Felton said rather regretfully.

She withdrew from the party early, giving the excuse that she had an interesting business engagement the next morning, and "if I make the trade I anticipate," she said to me joyfully, "I'll ride home to Cartersville tomorrow in my own automobile."

"Don't try to drive it yourself in that part of the country," I urged, "for your peckish Corra Harris has bought an automobile, too. She may be learning to drive hers at the present moment."

I wonder what the speed limit is for the twentieth century woman anyway, thought when I recalled Corra Harris' school in the city, and Mrs. Felton's achievements during three generations.

Development of North Side Marvel of Real Estate World; Millions Are Being Spent in Attractive Subdivisions

Plans Completed for John W. Grant Home; Most Magnificent Residence in the South

The busy era of development has settled over the north side. Estimate have it that more than $3,000,000 is being expended in the north side development of Fulton county.

With the coming of the Oglethorpe university and the establishment of the Capital City Country club at Brookhaven the select suburbs to the north of the city have assumed added vigor and have given ever-increasing momentum to the splendid and attractive realty projects now under way.

There will be more development from Brookwood to Silver Lake and in that general vicinity within the next ten years than in all the rest of Fulton county put together, is the opinion of a large number of real estate men who talked to reporters for The Constitution.

Within the past few years a variety of elaborate country homes have been erected in the suburbs of the north. New and excellent driveways are being excavated throughout the section.

Sewerage, water facilities, electric light and telephone service are being extended throughout the community and cemented sidewalks are being laid.

SILVER LAKE ESTATE. As the result of a comprehensive development plan formulated through the effort of L. P. Bottenfield, the Silver Lake estates, a corporation for which charters have been formally asked, will be organized at a meeting to be held in Atlanta on April 25 with an authorized capital of $500,000.

The object of this organization will be to develop rapidly and put upon the market the Silver Lake estates property, comprising 500 acres of beautifully wooded ground, Silver Lake and fronting on Peachtree road at the site of the new Oglethorpe university.

Mr. Bottenfield, realizing that the Silver Lake property has certain natural advantages which cannot be duplicated anywhere else around Atlanta is planning to make the estates an ideal home community, and the contemplated development is one of the biggest and most important suburban improvements in the history of Atlanta's growth.

"We have already accomplished a great deal in a preliminary way," Mr. Bottenfield declared, "and we hope to have some of the property actually on the market within the next thirty or sixty days."

The stockholders of the Silver Lake estates include not only well-known Atlantans, but prominent business men and representative citizens in other parts of Georgia and from all over the south. The list of our stockholders insures a strong and representative directorate and able officers.

During the organization meeting all possible preliminary work is already under way. The underbrush is being cleared out, and 7 miles of roadway have already been cut, and now only need clearing and grading. A total of 9,000 feet of frontage, and practically one-third of the property is opened up.

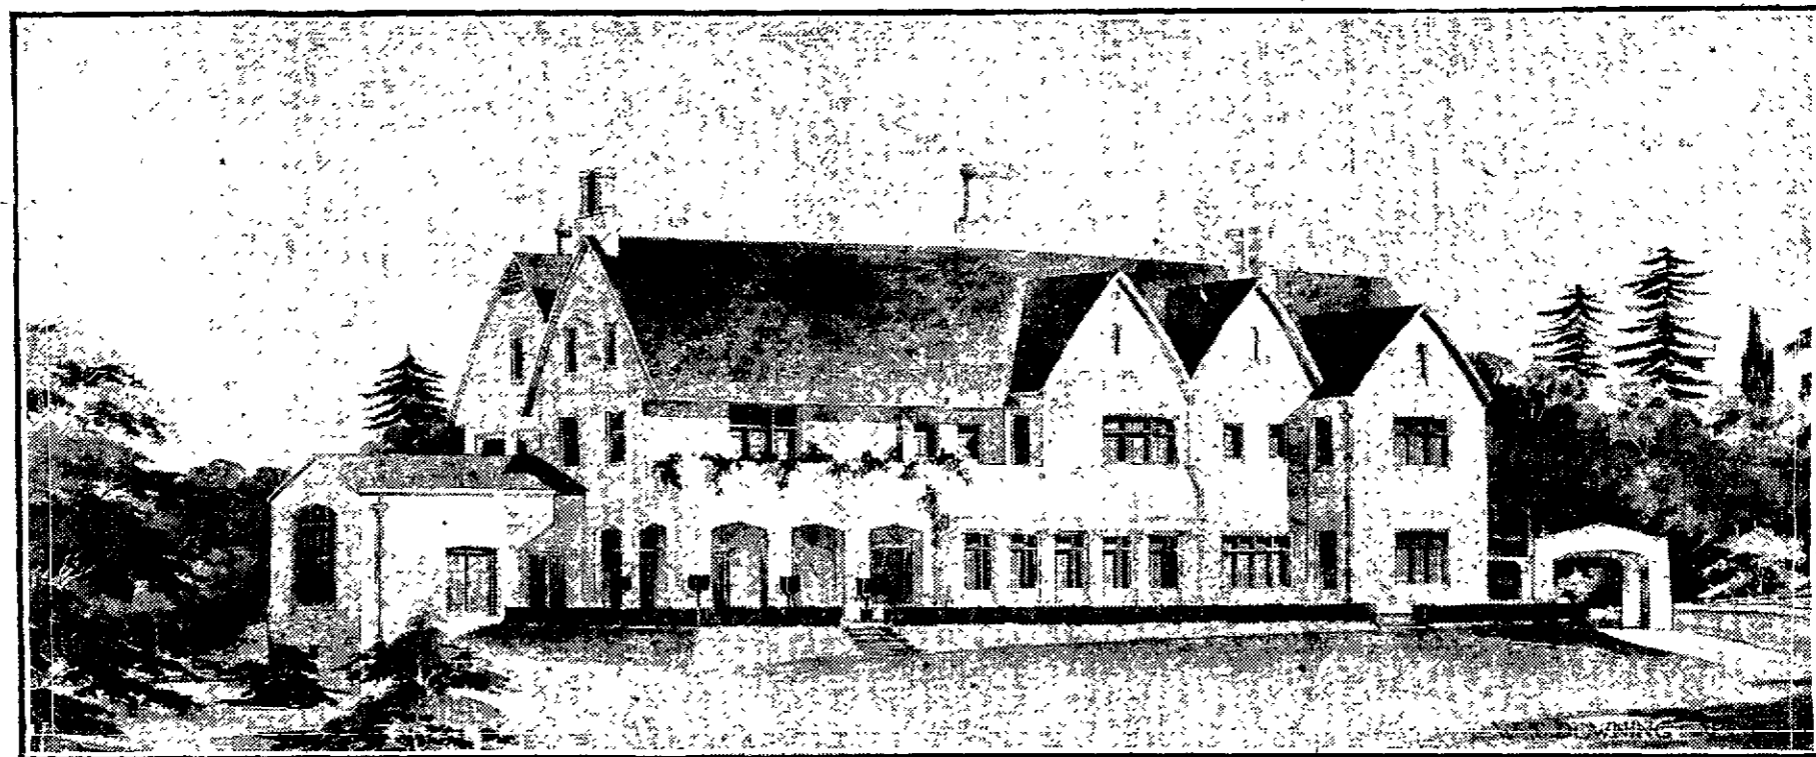

The whole property is to be broken into paved roads, graded sidewalks, water and sewers, so that while residents will be able to enjoy a landscape and free and airy surroundings, they will also have all the conveniences of the city dweller.

SPACE FOR PARKS. "We propose to deal generously with the question of reserving special space for parks, and there will be building restrictions, which will give to the whole property the air of breadth and spacious beauty, which is found only in the highest class residential localities. The restrictions will be such as to preserve the beauty of the landscape and the essential high class quality of the property to perpetuity."

"With the street car line running already nearly all the way to the estates, transportation facilities right to the lake and over the whole property will be furnished this summer. The property is just a fraction over 9 miles from the heart of Atlanta, and with rapid electric service and the main line of the Southern railway running past our door, the Silver Lake estates will soon become a recognized and integral part of the Atlanta community. The section is far enough away to have all the delightful advantages of true suburban life, yet near enough in for the business man's convenience."

"Long before this present development was ever taken up, hundreds of Atlantans who were familiar with Silver Lake have recognized it as the most beautiful spot anywhere within a radius of many miles of the city. We are going to make a still more beautiful spot, as well as more accessible. We are going to build a bath house and a boathouse. There will also be a provision for refreshments, and we are planning to run a road around the way around the lake, a circumference of 4 miles.

"We expect to see the lakeside be-

John W. Grant home on Pace's Ferry Road, designed by W. T. Downing, architect.

The south's most magnificent residence is to be erected on Pace's Ferry road at the junction of Andrews drive by John W. Grant, who, at present, is touring Europe with Mrs. Grant.

The designs have been completed by W. T. Downing, the architect, and work began on the grounds several days ago. Work is being superintended by W. L. Cosgrove, construction manager. Dirt already has been broken for the structure.

The home and grounds, it is estimated, will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000. The structure will be erected of cement and will be of the English country villa type, both interior and exterior.

Will Cover 130 Acres. The grounds will cover 130 acres or more of native woodland. They will be interspersed with beautiful driveways wide and curving. The topographical survey has been made and is in the hands of the landscape artists who will soon set to work to beautify the native ruggedness of the expensive estate.

The region in which the Grant home is to be located is fast becoming the most select of the north side territory. Among those who occupy homes in the community at present are Robert F. Maddox, Edward Alsop, James L. Dickey, Clark Howell, Albert Howell, Edwin Brandon, W. H. Kiser, Joseph Rhodes and John D. Little, while other influential residents of Atlanta are planning to build there this summer.

The Grant home will set back 600 feet from the road on the crest of a small summit and will front on Pace's Ferry road. It will be two stories with attic and will be constructed of reinforced concrete, floor slabs and columns. Purlish slate will be used in roofing. There will be no woodwork on exterior except window frames.

Design of Interior. The interior has been thus designed: Hall, 20x21. Music room, 20x23. Morning room, 20x30. Library, 12x20. Reception room, 18x20. Dining room, 31x23. Tea room, 16x18. Which does not include all necessary porches, kitchens, galleries, pantries and storerooms, etc. The entrance vestibule will be several feet below the main floor and on either side will be a large cloak room about 12 feet square.

There will be eight bedrooms on the second story, each room having individual bath and dressing room. The attic will contain a number of bedrooms with bathrooms and billiard room. Formal gardens, tennis court and other outdoor accessories will be situated in the rear of the building. In the extreme rear will be located the garden, gardener's cottage, orchard, barn and other accessories.

Typical of that trend is the space between Oglethorpe university and the Brookhaven area. Which is Oglethorpe park. "It is proposed to deed to the Capital City club a site for a new country club building. I have submitted a proposition which has been received favorably by the club officials. Oglethorpe park, when completed, will comprise one of the most naturally beautiful residential colonies in the south. The present terminus of the Peachtree road trolley line is only a few feet beyond the entrance to Oglethorpe park. It has been prophesied that some not far distant day, that end will be extended and projected through the Oglethorpe property.

Six thousand feet of the big tract of Oglethorpe park property fronts on north Peachtree road, which is already open to Dunwoody from the main Peachtree road. Fulton convicts have begun regrading that road, in preparation for the pavement to come. The proposed extension of the Welton road into the Brookhaven area crosses Oglethorpe park. The property straddles the Fulton-Dunwoody north and south boundary. All of the immense park, with the exception of a single jump of fifty acres, is in one piece in the original tract.

It comprises the S. C. Stovall property, the Hart property, the Carter, the Mabry, Anshorn and Ashford properties. They have all been combined into the Oglethorpe park estate owned by S. E. Davidson, who is in direct charge with Mr. Ansley, of the park development, has had this to say of the north side as a future residential community. IRRESISTIBLE TREND TOWARD NORTH. Oglethorpe Park lies midway between Silver Lake and Oglethorpe university site. It is situated in what is destined to become the most exclusive home community of the aristocratic north side suburbs. Its tracts—distributed in parcels from two and one-half to ten acres—will soon be placed on the market, owing to a rapidly-increasing demand. "Work has been progressing on Oglethorpe Park," said Mr. Ansley yesterday, "more rapidly than was anticipated. Gangs of men have been laboring for days and have begun to perfect our model of the residential park we have planned. "The north side is the exclusive residential section of Atlanta. Within an amazingly short time it will comprise homes of such elegance that the south's most famous residences will be eclipsed. Realty promoters and private citizens have grasped the excellent opportunities that lie within their reach in the suburban district to the north. "The main entrance to Oglethorpe park is through the Stovall property, and opens 200 feet on Peachtree road. This drive narrows to 75 feet, the width of Peachtree, just within the entrance, and continues at that width in a flourishing arc around to the north and northeast through 13,000 feet to Oglethorpe university grounds. walks and shadowy lanes through great depths of forest."

WOODLAND HILLS.

Thousands of dollars are being spent in developing Woodland Hills, the scenic wonderland of the north side suburbs, which is being promoted by W. E. Worley, who has had an active part in many of the city's most successful realty undertakings.

Woodland Hills is in one of the most select spots of the new residential community being penetrated by dwellers seeking homes in the suburbs. It borders on Pace's Ferry road, Emory chiffe road and Cheshire Bridge road, all popular automobile thoroughfares.

It is beyond Piedmont park a slight distance and is likewise a neighbor to fashionable Druid Hills. New roads and driveways intersect the subdivisions. Mr. Worley, in talking of the Woodland Hills project, was enthusiastic.

"It will undoubtedly be one of the most successful residential undertakings in the northern suburbs," he said to a reporter for The Constitution. "We already have felt a great demand for tracts, and, from present prospects, it looks as though our present acreage will not suffice to supply the heavily increasing demand."

Woodland Hills is the most easily accessible colony in suburban Atlanta. It is bounded by many of the most frequently used roads in the northern part of Fulton county, and it is honey-combed with roads that have been in use for years and with new driveways that have been graded and are in course of construction.

"Atlanta is succeeding unerringly toward the north. The future residence of the fashionable citizen and the wealthy business man will not be within the city limits, but will be upon some country estate.

Woodland Hills is naturally equipped for an ideal community. Its broad expanses of hills and forestland, with valleys and level stretches here and there, offer excellent advantages for dwellers. Our subdivisions are being organized so that there will be liberal space, and so that each home will command its grounds.

LANDSCAPE ARTISTS AT WORK.

"Landscape artists have been at work and are modeling the tract along the most modern lines.

"The Briarcliffe road, formerly the Williams Mill road, a popular highway, is being tunned to the Cheshire road. Gangs are at work sweeping roadways and avenues preparatory to paving and the laying of chert. The scenic artists in charge of Woodland Hills are following the popular theory of the value of driveways, and are modeling them in long, curving lines, and are placing them liberally throughout the estate.

"The seaboard Air Line railway runs along the border line of Woodland Hills. A proposed station will be built at a convenient spot, which will add to the convenience of all residents of the hills. Woodland road, a long sweeping highway that traverses the entire area of Woodland Hills, crosses the railway through an underpass.

"It curves gracefully beyond the railway tracks, and weaves its way into Woodland circle, another beautiful byway. At the intersection of these avenues, a small park will be constructed in the wide space created by the intersection. Both roads then widen as they cross the estate to Arlington road, which they join.

"Woodland Hills is reached through Highland avenue. It is beyond Druid Hills. Its inducements are incomparable. Its scenic wonder, alone, is sufficient to allure a home in such territory is comparable only to dwelling in some country wonderland, where there is nothing to mar the native beauty and advantages of the community."

PEACHTREE HEIGHTS PARK.

Home building is progressing rapidly in Peachtree Heights Park, one of the handsomest and most attractive residence sections in suburban Atlanta.

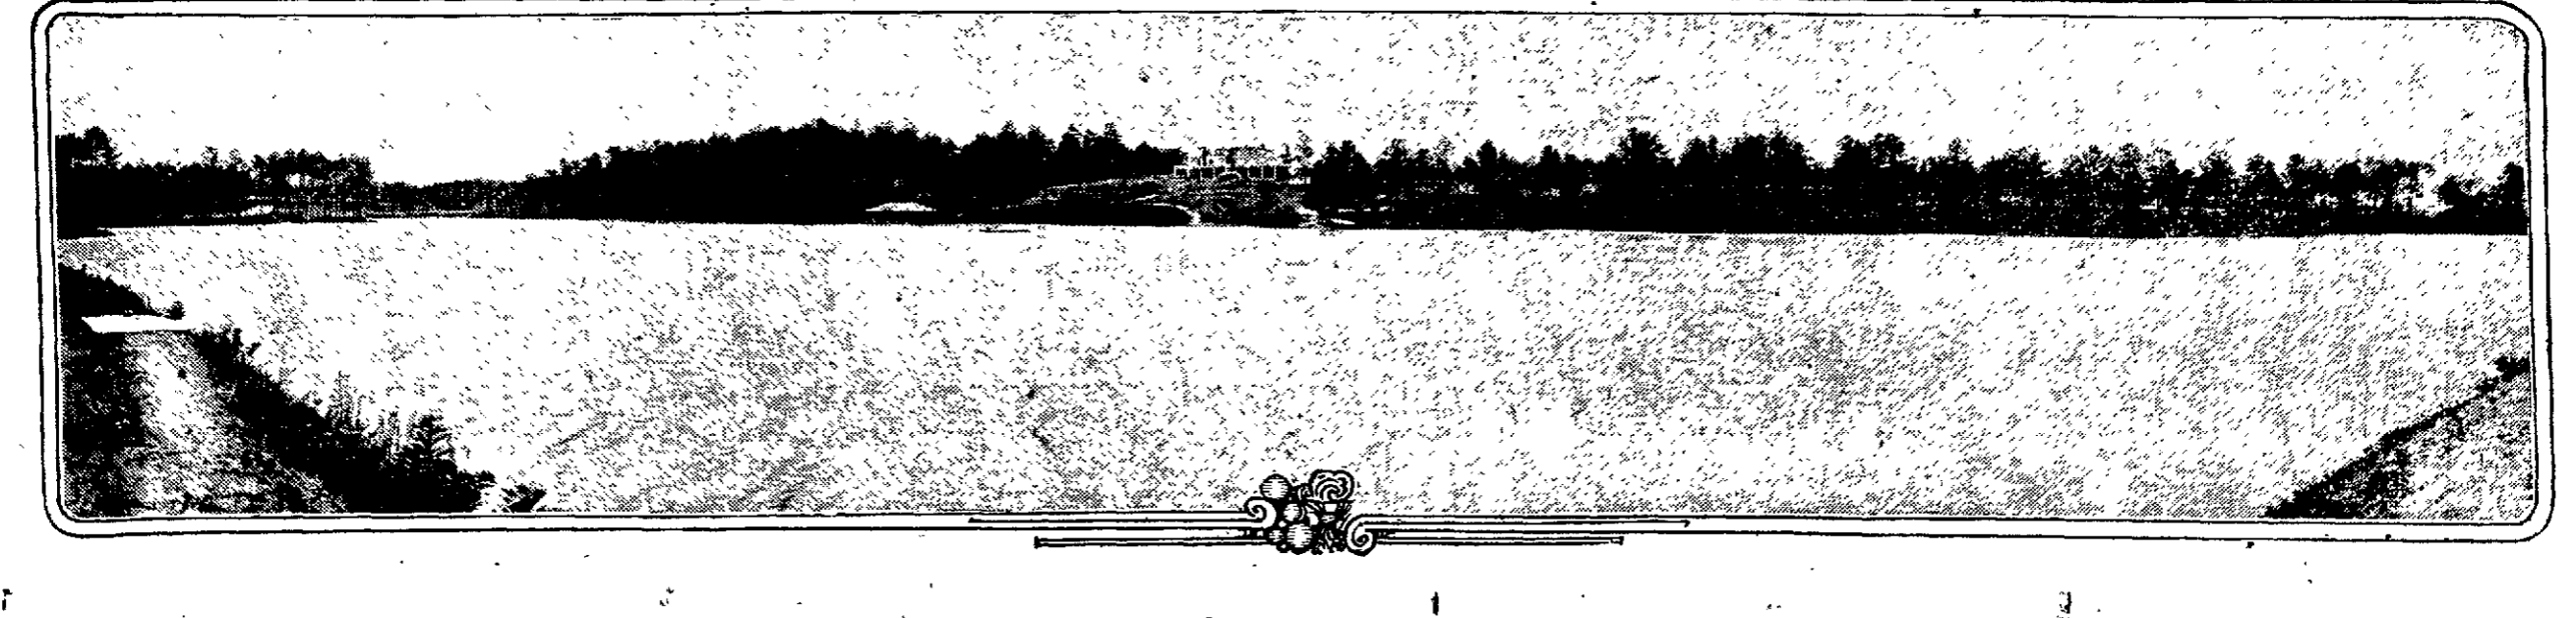

Additional roads are being rapidly opened, graded and paved, while the old roads have been reconstructed and gravelled new, so that, altogether, the driveways through the park are now among the finest and among the most popular with automobilists.

Smooth cement sidewalks have been laid and other improvements are now progressing rapidly. Handsome homes are being built on Peachtree street by J. Epps Brown, Hudson Moore, and a number of others are in course of erection over the park.

The magnificent home of E. R. Kirk, on Andrews avenue, is rapidly nearing completion and will soon be occupied.

Great Success of Country Boy
In Atlanta Real Estate Field;
Repaid for Faith in N. Fulton

Top, county home of B. F. Burdett, near Sandy Springs camp ground, a short distance from the Roswell road. One of the handsomest country homes in Fulton county, from which he has come to his office and gone back each day in an automobile without missing a single day in four years. The home is eleven miles from the center of the city. Bottom photo, Mr. Burdett. Photo by Hirschburg & Phillips.

In 1909 the owner of some small farms and a sawmill in the northern section of Fulton county—
In 1913 the proprietor of a business, the annual sales of which have reached three-quarters of a million dollars, and to which he comes in his handsome automobile each day from his magnificent country home—
That is what his faith in Atlanta and Fulton county real estate has done for B. E. Burdett, of the Burdett Realty company, of this city.
Both 54 years ago during the first years of the civil war, in the upper part of the county on the Chattahoochee river, near Powers ferry, Mr. Burdett was engaged in the country, purchasing in 1882 a small farm, which he sold four years past at six times its original cost and purchased the place on which he now lives.
It was not until 1909, however, that Mr. Burdett made the plunge into the real estate business, which has made him one of the wealthiest citizens of the county outside of Atlanta. When seen by a Constitution representative Saturday he talked interestingly of the wonderful returns he has secured from his faith in Atlanta and Fulton county land, and says he has never lost a dollar on a single purchase yet.
"When I made up my mind to enter the real estate business four years ago," he declared, "I was induced to do so by my absolute conviction that the opportunity of a lifetime lay in the investment in and selling of real estate around Atlanta, especially in that section which lies between Brookwood and the county line to the north. Hearty Repaid.
"And I have been richly repaid for my faith in the value of property in this vast section of the county. Not for a single day has the price ceased to increase, and you can mark my word for it the time is coming—and at not so far distant a day at that—when the Peachtree road property will be the highest-priced and most sought-after land of its kind, not only in and around Atlanta, but in the whole south.

"It was two months before I made a sale when I first came to Atlanta to enter the real estate business, and my first year's commissions only totaled $2,500. The second year, however, my sales ran up over the $800,000 mark. Of this, $170,000 was in a sage land and the balance in central and semi-central property.
"My faith in the future of the northern section of the county has been growing in leaps and bounds during these four years, and I am now handling three big acreage tracts from which we expect to get magnificent results. One of those tracts is on Piedmont avenue, near Peachtree road, another on the Peachtree road, and still another on the Decatur and Chamblee roads. There is at least $100,000 worth of property in the total acreage, and in ten years it's going to be worth from two to five times that great development in store.
"You can mark my word, property that is now complained of by some purchasers as being high will be looked back upon in the near future as an opportunity lost. The best developments are set for north Fulton, and I don't believe there is anything in the world that can stop it. That section of the county is going to show ten times as much development during the next decade as all the rest of the county.
"I attribute the remarkable amount of trading in this land lying directly north of Atlanta to the fact that the people of this city have, in such great numbers, been turning their eyes to the country to supply them with homes. They are getting tired of the hustle and bustle of the city and of the constant changes made necessary by the encroachment of business, and they are accordingly coming out into the most beautiful section of the county to build their homes.
"I haven't missed a week day in the past four years at my office, coming down early morning in my automobile and returning home to supper. I've got the prettiest home in my section of the county, and I wouldn't swap my country place for a single home in Atlanta to live in for pleasure and comfort.

Prosperity of North Fulton.
"With the citizens of Atlanta becoming more and more disgusted with the congested conditions in its residence districts, they are pouring into the northern section of Fulton county. This means prosperity for north Fulton during the next few years such as has been seldom experienced by any section of a county.
"And the fact that north Fulton has everything in the way of natural advantages that could possibly be asked is going to keep the tide turned that way after it gets to flowing good.
"So keep your eye on the property lying between Atlanta and the northern county line if you want to see a remarkable development during the next few years."
Mr. Burdett says he has invested in numerous tracts of land in North Fulton, and has never yet lost a dollar on any of them, but on the other hand, has made as much as 100 per cent profit within six months' time. He is an enthusiastic believer in North Fulton property, and has sufficient grounds for his convictions, as his four years' experience with real estate, which has been principally in this section, has made him one of the wealthiest citizens of North Fulton. He is senior member of the firm of Burdett Realty company, president of Brookwood Real Estate company, and president of Piedmont Water company, which company is now laying a water main from Ansley Park along Piedmont avenue, a distance of about four miles, to Peachtree road. He believes that the possibilities of North Fulton property are greater now than ever before.

$60,000 APARTMENT
FOR THE NORTH SIDE

Handsome New Building Will Stand at Corner of Juniper and Third.

Interesting building developments of the past week included the announcement of the Mackle-Crawford contracting company that the firm was completing plans and specifications for an elaborate $60,000 apartment building to be erected for F. E. Mackle and T. L. Swift at Juniper and Third streets.
A. N. Canton, the architect, is completing the plans. The building is expected to be complete within a few months. It will be erected on a lot 100x140 on property leased from Mrs. Bertha M. Swift for a period of 25 years.
Another north side development that attracted much attention, especially to subscribers interested in property in the vicinity of Brookhaven club, was the announcement of Mr. Quimby of the $12,000 residence he is to erect on Brookhaven drive east. The structure will be modern in detail, and one of the handsomest in the territory.

Silver Lake Estates

Will Be Organized April 25th

ANNOUNCEMENT

SILVER Lake Estates, with an authorized capital of $500,000, chartered to purchase and develop, for residence purposes, the famous Silver Lake property, is ready for organization.

☐ Subscribers to Silver Lake Estates, who live all over the South, will meet in Atlanta Saturday, April 25th, for the purpose of adopting their charter and by-laws and electing officers and directors.

☐ The names of these subscribers, including some of the most substantial citizens and business men of Atlanta, of Georgia, and of other southern states, give ample assurance that officers and directors of the highest class will be chosen for the management of the company's affairs.

☐ Immediately following organization, the work of development, which is already under way, will be pushed as rapidly as men and money can make it go.

☐ With seven miles of road frontage already developed, needing only road paving to perfect it, and with 9,000 feet of frontage on roads already paved, more than one-third of Silver Lake Estates will soon be in shape for home-building.

☐ Within thirty to sixty days building lots in Silver Lake Estates will be ready for inspection and purchase by prospective home-builders.

☐ With Oglethorpe University to be built at once, practically as a part of Silver Lake Estates; with the restrictions which will be thrown around building there; with perfect water and sewer systems installed as one of the foremost developments; with transportation service which will be supplied, and with Silver Lake, the prettiest body of water in North Georgia, as a centerpiece, Silver Lake Estates will rapidly develop into one of the most attractive and desirable residence communities in the South.

☐ Many Atlantans, many Georgians, are eagerly awaiting an opportunity to purchase home lots in Silver Lake Estates, and have urged us to let them know when they would be ready for sale.

☐ We make this announcement for their benefit as well as for that of the subscribers whose interest and investments have made possible the development of one of the most attractive residence communities anywhere in the South.

Twentieth Century Activities of Atlanta Increasing Popularity of Suburban Homes

Each Normal Man Wants to Possess His "Own Principality"

By Isma Dooly

Twentieth century activities and the natural inclination of normal man to possess his "own principality," are influences carrying to the summits of Atlanta's outlying property, substantial permanent homes and making of Fulton county "The Land of Hearts' Desire."

Inventive genius, which has brought the automobile and that prosperity which has made the purchase of it possible, have put no speed limit to the longings of the busy, tired citizen, who is so wonderfully urbanizing the rugged beauties of the hills and knolls now covered with living green and perfumed with spring flowers. Atlanta's suburban lands challenge the ready effort of the landscape artist.

When he talks of a "sunken garden back here," he finds it there; when he talks of terraces down to it, he finds the terrace, and the many building sites about suburban Atlanta, where nature has been the landscape gardener, make the stranger who comes marvel at what God has done for us.

WHAT A COUNTRY HOME IS.
Even before Atlanta's regional bank has come to mark Atlanta one of the nation's chosen centers of success, the first expression of progress had come in the number of Atlantans who were making "homes" in the country. For homes do not mean places merely to eat and sleep, and exist, but places where man can look around and call all he sees "his home," and make of that home as far as his eye reaches, what he wants it to be.

First they were called "summer homes," and they were not pretentious in structure, but the "baby" was so much better there, and "papa" was so much better when he got there for his evenings, and "mamma's" nerves were so much the better with only the bird songs to break her slumbers during the summer months, that these summer homes have become homes for all the year round, and are becoming complete and substantial country "seats."

Strange as it may seem to say it now, the first lead to country life among Atlantans came when the Piedmont Driving Club was built, and people drove out there to get cool in the "good old summer time." The first golf was played there; the first tennis, and it was very near the club the first horse show held, and Atlanta's blue-ribbon winners had their outings within the view of the clubhouse.

Then people began to build their homes farther out. Mr. Joseph Thompson being the first Atlantant to establish a permanent residence in what was known as the country then.

He bought "Brookwood," and that hospitable home became famous in southern social life. Farther out people began to go, and Mr. J. K. Otdley purchased the property so far out on Peachtree road that to go to "Joyeuse," which he named his first little summer cottage there, was an all-the-afternoon trip, even behind his sporty horses.

IT WAS "WAY OUT" THEN.
Mr. Nunnally began soon after the making of Brookhaven, and Mr. Morsplendid home which Mr. John W. Grant will build on his property on Pace's Ferry road, the grounds in landscape scheme and the house in structural plan and detail to be one of the handsomest residences in the south.

The Lamar house stands waiting for a purchaser on the road farther out and is possible of being made one of the most picturesque of homes. The John D. Littles have purchased a villa site on the same road and the Linton Hopkins and the Charles Remsens have beautiful building sites far out.

The Hunt Chipleys already are living the year round in a beautiful bungalow on the Wesley avenue road, and Mr. David Woodward has selected one of the most desirable sites yet to be crowned by his permanent home.

THEY'RE ALL PLANNING THEIR NEW HOMES.
Whether you go through Habersham drive, which leads in and out to roads everywhere showing knolls and forested hills and spots already designed for homes, or whether you go straight out Peachtree road, over the county line, you find the Atlanta citizen planning for his home.
And now to take up the country sports, the Piedmont Driving club so well begun, has arrived the beautiful little country home of the Capital city club. The suburban dwellers have wonderful opportunity for their favored golf on one of the sportiest, most picturequely set golf links in the country.

The club is leading on the tired citizen in his quest for rest, for pure air, for quietude—for his "very own" and it is a center for the social meeting of all residents in the different outlying sections, Mr. E. Rivers, Mr. Lee Barnes, Mr. John Aldredge, Mr. Hugh Dorsey, all planning to be "at home" the year round at their summer homes.

The more one thinks of the wonderful roads being built all around and through the county; the more one is carried out these roads on the wheels of modern invention, the more one realizes that Atlanta has been richly endowed in surroundings, in lands fertile, in lands picturesque in their natural beauty and in lands which invite ever the busy man of affairs to realize that long life and happiness depend upon how much time he can get off from the city's stress and strain and how much of the time he can really live in the atmosphere of forested slopes, rhododendron banks and air laden only with purity and the perfume of blooming flowers.

DRIVES ON NORTH SIDE FOR SHRINE DELEGATES
Entertainment Committee Will Take Visitors Along Atlanta's Scenic Highways.

A chief object of members of the various entertaining committees for the Shrine convention will be to carry visiting Shriners on auto journeys through the scenic highways of the north side suburbs.

Atlanta's principal automobile highways extend through this area—especially the more popular routes. A reason of this is the excellent roads, while another is the scenic beauty of the territory.

Wide and level driveways cut through thickets of forest and emerge into wide expanses of green fields that mount over valleys. The section's scenic value is attributed by realty promoters to be one of its greatest assets.

For miles and miles macadamized and charted roads wind through forests and rustic scenes. To Chattahoochee river, the Pace's Ferry road and others are in excellent condition and furnish ideal driving.

From Buckhead to Roswell, the Roswell road is in perfect trim, while the Peachtree road, leading past Brookhaven and into Chamblee, is likewise perfect. The Pike road to Norcross—which is the continuation of the Peachtree road—is suitable for speedy travel.

The Athletic club drive, which ex-

RESEARCH BUREAU IS BEING PLANNED BY CIVIC CHAMBER

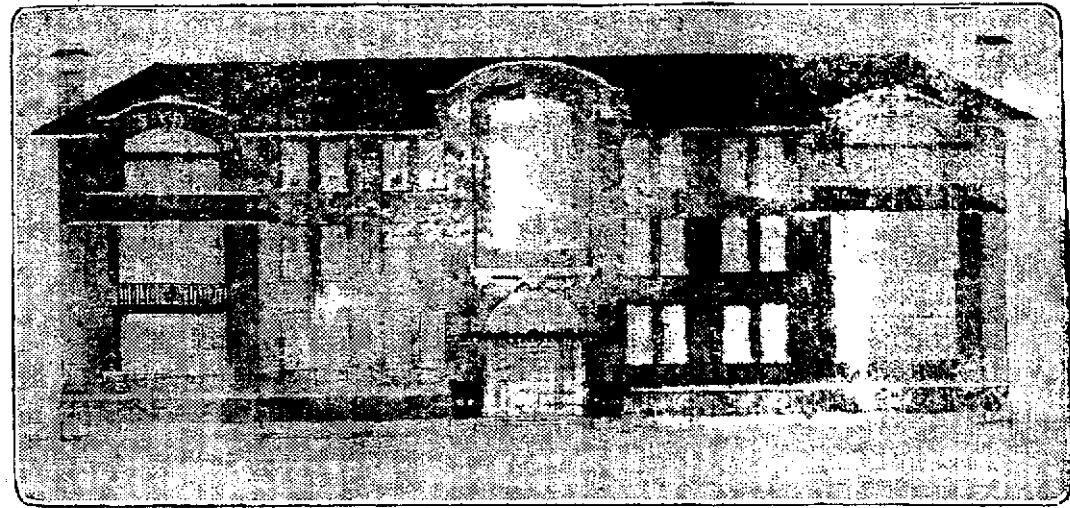

Realty men of Atlanta have suggested that the chamber of commerce establish a bureau of research to gather statistics upon the new and permanent residents who are to be brought to Atlanta by the coming Shriners' convention.

As in Los Angeles, where the idea was given its first experiment, the chamber of that city was amazed at the number of new citizens it had obtained from the crowds that attended the Shriners' convention the year it was held in the California city.

As is the case in every city in which the Shrine holds forth, numerous attendants become attracted with the city and move into it.

Civic officials and city hall authorities have decided that the idea is a good one, and have assured the chamber of hearty support in case the move is taken up.

$10,000 EVERY MONTH FOR NEW OGLETHORPE

The promoters of Oglethorpe university—the Princeton of the South—are looking forward to the work of actual construction, which is expected to begin immediately.

An expert survey has been made of the grounds with the view of breaking dirt for the proposed building. The topographical survey is now under progress and will soon be submitted to the landscape artists who are to construct the most beautiful grounds possessed by any southern educational institution.

Plans and specifications for the structure will be drawn at an early date. They are merely awaiting the outcome of the survey and the surveyor's report.

The university now possesses a half-million in cash and real estate. Contributions are still coming in at an average of $10,000 monthly.

The presence of the proposed uni-

Chamber of Commerce Plans Community Industrial Building

That the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, under the guidance of Mell R. Wilkinson, president, and Walter G. Cooper, secretary, is planning a community industrial building, is a rumor that has persisted in the business world for the past several days.

Industrial experts have long agreed that such an enterprise would be of endless value to manufacturing interests of the city. Such a building would bring together allied industries to work in co-operation.

A number of manufacturing enterprises, it is said, have already signified decided interest in the project. Co-operation has been liberally assured.

The proposed Silver Lake project is another enhancement to the community's charms.

Upon the completion of Oglethorpe, the area in which it is to be located will become one of the most exclusive residential sections in the south. Handsome dwelling places thickly populate the area now. Others are in course of construction, while a surprising number of new homes are being planned daily.

NEW CLUBHOUSE FOR BROOKHAVEN

When Option to Buy Is Exercised Capital City Country Club Will Build Handsome Home.

"The establishment of a country club at Brookhaven by the Capital City club has proven a wise and popular step. I think the club will unquestionably exercise its option to buy the property in June, 1916, and when we do, we will erect one of the handsomest club buildings in the south."

This was the statement of Robert F. Maddox, president of the Capital City club, to whose efforts is due much of the credit both for the leasing of Brookhaven and for the successful maintenance of the attractive country club.

"The tract," continued Mr. Maddox, "consists of 150 acres, ideally adapted as a country club. The lake, clear as crystal, and ideal for boating, is one of the prettiest in the state."

"The golf links, now nine holes, is being enlarged to an 18-hole course, which gives promise of being not only the sportiest in the south, but without question the most picturesque."

"The clubhouse, while attractive, both as to interior and exterior, and while answering its purposes at the present time, will probably give way to a larger one when we exercise our option to buy, and it is safe to assume that the Capital City will build a clubhouse of which all Atlanta may justly feel proud."

"The members of the club, without exception, as far as I have been able to ascertain, are tremendously pleased with the success of Brookhaven so far, and nothing will be overlooked in continuing to increase its usefulness as an ideal country club."

MANY NEW APARTMENTS PLANNED FOR NORTH SIDE

Renting Agents Say There Is Good Demand for Modern Apartments.

Of the practically 100 apartment houses in Atlanta the great majority, and by far the handsomest and most luxurious, are on the north side of the city.

One not familiar with the renting business in Atlanta would imagine that this number of apartment houses would be all sufficient to supply the demand, yet renting agents, whose business it is to keep Atlanta supplied with homes, say that the demand for first-class apartments exceeds the supply to a very large degree.

This demand is reflected in the announcement of plans for about a half dozen new north side apartment houses in the last two weeks.

John D. Babbage, Jr., has already started work on his $50,000 structure at Piedmont and Lafayette drive in Ansley Park, and the walls of the first story are practically complete. This building will be three stories high and will have a curving frontage of some 200 feet. In its architectural details and in its grounds it will be one of the most attractive small apartments in the city. The main decorative feature will be a sunken garden in front of the building. A. N. Canton is the architect and R. M. Walker is the builder.

Third Street Apartment.
A. N. Canton is also the architect of a handsome new apartment building which F. E. Mackie and T. L. Swift will erect on Third and Juniper streets. This building will also cost $50,000. It will be three stories high, of solid brick construction, and will contain eighteen apartments, supplied with every modern luxury. The Mackie-Crawford construction company are the builders of this apartment house. The Strauss-Epstein company has announced plans for a beautiful little three-story apartment house on Piedmont avenue overlooking Piedmont Park.

Walker Brothers, the wholesale grocers, have just purchased a lot on Ponce de Leon avenue, near the South-east railway belt line, on which they will erect a three-story apartment house, to cost $30,000.

There are also plans for several more apartment houses on the north side, one or two of these being in the West Peachtree neighborhood.

Investors are rapidly recognizing the value of apartment houses as a good place to put their money. Many investors instead of building have recently purchased apartment houses which have already been built and rented for several years.

Among apartment houses which have recently been sold are the Byron on West Peachtree, the St. Bride and the Vermon.

The consideration given for the Byron apartments was in excess of $125,000, its annual rental is placed at $15,000.

NORTH SIDE DEVELOPER

E. RIVERS, Secretary and treasurer of the Peachtree Heights Park company, which has developed one of Atlanta's most attractive and valuable home sections.

EDWIN P. ANSLEY

Edwin P. Ansley says: "I back Oglethorpe Park with all my judgment. It will be the greatest country estate proposition in the south."

GROWTH OF NORTH SIDE REAL ESTATE MARVEL

Many others are preparing to build this summer.

"When we get through with Andrews avenue, running from Peachtree through to Pace's Ferry, we will have the only concrete road in the south," said E. Rivers, secretary and treasurer of the Peachtree Heights Park company. "From Peachtree road through, Andrews avenue will be built of solid reinforced concrete, and will be the finest driveway in the country. Several handsome homes are already being built at the Peachtree end of it, while at the other end John W. Grant has just begun to erect a magnificent residence."

"With Andrews avenue we will have three splendid driveways traversing the park and entering Pace's Ferry road; Habersham road from the lower end of the Park to Pace's Ferry has already been built; Andrews avenue is now in the course of construction, and Nacoochee drive will be built later. These are, of course, in addition to Peachtree."

AN ABUNDANCE OF GOOD ROADS.

"Three other well paved roads will cross Peachtree Heights Park to the Howell Mill road. These are Wesley avenue, which has already been completed through from Peachtree to the Howell Mill road; Battle avenue, which has been cut out and will soon be graded and paved; and Peachtree Heights road, an entirely new driveway, which will be cut through the park."

"From Peachtree Heights Park we also have two cross roads through to Piedmont avenue. These are Masons avenue and Wesley avenue. The latter has just been passed up, and will be built within a short time from its present terminus eastward to Piedmont. These are the only cross roads to Piedmont avenue between Brookwood and Buckhead."

"From these facts it will be seen that one can hardly drive out to North Atlanta without going through Peachtree Heights Park. The principal roads and driveways cross it and wind through it in many directions, and it has become one of the most attractive of Atlanta's sections to the sightseer and visitor."

"When we decided to develop Peachtree Heights Park as a residence community, we secured the services of the ablest and most expert landscape gardeners and topographical engineers we could find anywhere in the country, and told them that we wanted the most attractive residence park that could be developed. We knew we had the best property in Atlanta for that purpose, and we have spared neither time nor expense to make the development complete."

"By nature this tract is as pretty as can be found anywhere in the city, and we have left in it the beautiful forest trees just as they grew there. The park has retained its natural beauty, and driveways cross it and wind through it in many directions, and it has become one of the most attractive of Atlanta's sections to the sightseer and visitor."

PERFECT WATER AND SEWER SYSTEMS.

"We have placed throughout the park perfect water and sewer systems, with which connection is made to the home as easily and as quickly as within the heart of the city. Telephone and electric light service is available for every home so that all essential conveniences are there awaiting the home-builder."

"There is no home section anywhere around Atlanta that has so good a trolley service as Peachtree Heights Park. According to the official figures of the Georgia Railway and Electric company, it requires but twenty-four minutes from Five Points in the heart of the city to the park. The cars run on ten-minute schedule, so that city in one direction and home in the other are of easy and quick access. The best trolley time made to other home sections is twenty-five minutes, while some of them require thirty and even forty minutes.

"Peachtree street, Atlanta's foremost residence boulevard, is already built up to Peachtree Heights Park. Many of the handsomest homes of Atlanta's prominent citizens have been built beyond it. The trend of Atlanta residence development always has been and always will be north. Peachtree Heights Park is in the very heart and center of this development, and that it must appeal to the home-builder there can be no question."

"With these advantages it is also apparent that homes built here are subject to sure and rapid enhancement in value. This fact has already been too well demonstrated to require comment in the case of the homes which have been built in and around Peachtree Heights Park."

"There has not been and there will not be any let-up in the work of development in this park. We are pushing it now just as rapidly as it is possible for men and money to do, and every detail of the work as originally announced will be carried out, and more. We are doing work now which was not originally contemplated in the development of the park because, as the work progressed, we found that it would add to its beauty and convenience; and we shall continue this work to its ultimate completion when we will give the people of Atlanta the finest and most attractive residence park to be found anywhere in the south."

AT BEAUTIFUL BROOKHAVEN.

Developments are being pushed in property in vicinity of the Brookhaven club property. Charles P. Glover, the well-known real estate man, a main-spring in civic affairs and in the business sphere, has taken over a tract of this land and is improving it vigorously.

An overhead pass has been erected over the Southern railway on Peachtree road near Goodwin's crossing, while Holbrook road crosses the railway through an underpass. The latter highway now extends to the Fernwood estates.

The Brookhaven estate is extending the club drive east and macadamizing it. A cement sidewalk is in course of construction. Other improvements on the club grounds include nine additional holes to the golf course, which now makes it an eighteen-hole course, and are being erected.

The influx of dwellers toward the Brookhaven estate has given momentum to realty promoters of the vicinity. Three new homes, elaborate in detail, are being erected.

"Homes in the country," said Mr. Glover to a reporter for The Constitution, "are being more and more appreciated. The successful business man and his home-loving family are rapidly realizing the advantages and comforts of a suburban home."

NEW SUBDIVISION MADE BY EWING.

J. H. Ewing, of the firm of Ewing & Smith, is planning to subdivide twenty home plats in 100 acres of property in vicinity of the Brookhaven club, which he expects to develop, then place upon the market at an early time.

The property is located between the club grounds and the Williams Mill road and is considered as valuable as any tract within the community. A demand for plats has already been made. The subdivisions will be in home tracts from 5 to 10 acres. The total acreage will comprise a model residential colony which will be easily accessible to the city. The Brookhaven trolley line is within slight distance of the proposed property.

"I am a great believer in the promotion of interests in the Brookhaven vicinity," said Mr. Ewing to The Constitution reporter, "for I believe it will eventually become one of the most aristocratic and successful home communities in the south. It has natural opportunities that exceed any suburban locations in the south."

"Not until here of late has there come a realization of the wonderful advantages of the northern section of our county. For all these years this region has lain, overlooked a jewel in the crown. Soon and very soon at that—magnificent homes will rise among the trees and upon the sloping hills of the properties and the Brookhaven community will be decidedly the showiest show place of the country."

L. P. BOTTENFIELD

Mr. Bottenfield and his splendid sales force have just completed plans for the organization, on April 25, of Silver Lake Estates, a corporation which will purchase and develop the famous Silver Lake property—one of the biggest real estate achievements Atlanta has ever known.

Autos Connecting Home With Office Make Atlanta Ideal "City of Suburbs"

Country Homes Are Made Easily Accessible

There is a close connection between the development of the automobile industry and the development of suburban life around Atlanta, as well as every other city and town in the country. The elevator made the skyscraper possible. The automobile and the trolley have made fast-growing suburbs possible, and the man who owns an automobile has a direct incentive to build his home farther out, where property is cheaper and the air cleaner for himself, his wife and his children.

Before the evolution of the modern type of automobile, the citizen who wanted the combination of a country home and city employment was restricted in his choice. He had to build either near a smoky and noisy railroad or invest in property within almost actual touch of a trolley.

The auto, whether high-priced or low-priced, has changed all that. It has increased enormously the ranging radius of the man who lives in town. It has made him more or less independent of the railroad and the trolley. It has opened up possibilities of owning a pretentious or a snug country home off the main line of travel. He knows that whether he wants to visit friends in the city in the evening, go to grand opera or attend to business his machine waits for him, responding to a touch to carry himself or his family to their destination.

The Auto Brigade.
Take any of the roads on the north, south, east or west sides of Atlanta. You will find them increasingly lined by the homes of people who own and use automobiles. Go for a stroll off the main roads, and you will find springing up single houses and colonies of homes, owned or being bought by men who depend upon their cars to keep them in contact with work and with the activities of centralized civilization.

The funny papers used to teem with jokes about the commuters. But another type has been evolved that threatens to snatch the laurels of the commuter, and that is the type represented by the automobile brigade.

When Work Is Over.
Almost any afternoon you can see negotiating five points, cars of all sizes and degrees, bound for the four compass points of the suburbs and laden with folk who make their homes where there is ozone to spare, room for a bit of garden and for chickens. Go out toward Peachtree Heights, Brookhaven, Druid Hills, Silver Lake, Lakewood, the Grant Park section, West End—any and all of them, and the story is the same.

Based on the Auto.
Life in these territories is largely based on the auto. Gasoline is the motive power that links country with city, that makes it feasible for the man whose minutes are valuable, to live amid quiet yet work amid the maelstrom of business.

Few more significant developments have come in Atlanta's history. The striking feature is that the tendency increases daily.

In Its Infancy.
Men who own any type of auto are seeing the advantage of getting back to nature, so far as their homes are concerned.

A great many men are beginning to argue that it is cheaper to buy and maintain an auto and live farther out at less expense and more healthfully.

Hog Cholera Endangering Our Meat Supply.

Judson C. Welliver, Washington correspondent of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, writes in the current issue of that publication under the title "The Nation Strikes at Hog Cholera." In reporting a bill to appropriate $500,000 for the federal government's part in this anti-cholera campaign, the house committee on agriculture declares that the whole question of the national meat supply is involved. Right now an alarming decrease in the country's supply of hogs is taking place. Following is an extract from Mr. Welliver's article:

"Hog cholera is a big national problem, one that touches the meat supply of the nation, the cost of living, and the economic posture of the whole farming community. Estimates of the annual loss by hog cholera are so varied and represent so many points of view that they mean little. The department of agriculture puts it at $75,000,000 of direct loss, but that is necessarily only a part of the actual damage done. If that many hogs die of cholera in a given year there will be fewer hogs in succeeding years."

"But this is only a narrow view. The hog is a sort of by-product of the production of beef. Men who raise meat animals on business principles, in the corn country, figure that if they come out even on the steers the hogs that follow the steers will earn a profit on the whole transaction. The two necessarily go together in the best meat-manufacturing process. I choose to kill the hogs or the fear of it keeps farmers from raising hogs, then the steer-and-hog combination is smashed and there will be disposition to get out of meat-raising entirely. This is re-than to do without an auto and live within the corporate limits.

Automobile dealers say that purchasers and prospective purchasers tell them that frequently a controlling inducement with them is that by buying an auto and hiking to the suburbs they can cut in half, or save entirely, the cost of the annual summer vacation.

A City of Suburbs.
From these conditions, it is not difficult to prophesy that soon Atlanta will be known throughout the country as the "city of suburbs."

Already, the town's suburban development far surpasses that of many cities several times its size.

As Atlantans realize more and more the part the automobile plays and may be made to play in the program of living sanely and inexpensively, suburban development will take on a phenomenal impetus, adding to the net population and increasing the city's activities in every important direction.

garded by the authorities as one of the gravest aspects of the whole situation. Hog cholera is only a loss to our beef-growing industry than to the production of pork."

Milk Values.

(From The Progressive Farmer.)
If you do not appreciate already the value of milk in the diet and the importance of having plenty of it at all seasons, just consider how much it takes of other foods to equal one quart of milk in nourishment. A standard quart of milk contains 3.3 per cent protein, 4 per cent fat, 5 per cent carbohydrate and 7 per cent mineral matter, or a total of 13 per cent nourishment. Here is what it takes of each of certain other foods to equal a single quart of milk in food values:

- 13.9 ounces beef; or—
- 33.2 ounces oysters; or—
- 19.2 ounces boneless codfish; or—
- 19.1 ounces eggs; or—
- 4.1 ounces cornmeal; or—
- 5.1 ounces wheat flour; or—
- 4.9 ounces macaroni; or—
- 5.1 ounces cornmeal; or—
- 25.7 ounces potatoes; or—
- 2.1 ounces dried beans; or—
- 61.2 ounces cabbage; or—
- 39.2 ounces apples; or—
- 2.7 ounces bananas; or—
- 4.8 ounces prunes.

This map tells you two impressive facts about Peachtree Heights Park:

The People who live there, and How quickly you can get to and from your home there by trolley.

Read over these names and when you have noted them, there is but one conclusion you can possibly reach. It is this:

These men have built their homes where they did because they were building in Atlanta's best, most attractive and most valuable home section.

Here, to the North, is Atlanta's "show" section; always has been and always will be. It is where the automobilist most frequently drives; it is where the visitor is first taken.

There is a ten-minute trolley schedule to and beyond Peachtree Heights Park, on the Buckhead line, and the official time from Five Points is only

24 MINUTES

The official schedule figures speak eloquently.

But this is not all. Peachtree Heights Park offers you

CITY CONVENIENCES:

- Water, sewers, telephones, electricity.
- A pure and untainted atmosphere.
- Large, roomy lots.
- Plenty of parks and playgrounds.
- Beautiful forest trees.
- Well paved roads and driveways.
- The highest class neighborhood.

Compare this with other high-class residence property, then get the prices from us or from your own agent.

You will be convinced that Peachtree Heights Park is your best home opportunity, for its location means rapid and sure enhancement in the value of your home while you are living there.

There will be more development and building between Brookwood and Brookhaven in the coming four years than in all the rest of Atlanta put together. This sounds broad, but watch the prediction, and Peachtree Heights Park is in the Center of It.

Come to see us and we will be glad to show you these lots; or have your own agent take you out.

Trolley Time Tells the Story

Good transportation service is one of the first requisites in selecting a lot for building a home. "How quick can I get to business?" and "How quick can I get home?" are the questions to be answered.

And here is the answer. The time from Five Points, the business center, to Peachtree Heights Park, by the official figures of the Georgia Railway and Power Co., is quicker than to any other of Atlanta's new residence sections. Read the figures:

TIME FROM FIVE POINTS TO—	MINUTES
Peachtree Heights Park (Buckhead Line)	24

Brookhaven	40
Druid Hills (Schedule 30 min. with layover)	27½

GO AND SEE

Drive out today and take a look at Peachtree Heights Park. Stop your car at some spot that particularly interests you. Get out and have a walk over one or two lots and study them; you will enjoy it and you will realize the truth and force of all that we have been saying about this splendid home property.

OGLETHORPE PARK

Will Have the Most Beautiful Driving System in the South

OGLETHORPE DRIVE, A BIG BOULEVARD extending through the S. C. Stovall property, past the Capital City Country Club and through the Hart estate, lying just north of the Brookhaven estates and the Country Club; thence into DeKalb County and through one land lot to Oglethorpe University grounds and Silver Lake properties; thence on a direct route to Chamblee and extending north by way of Peachtree road, with a network of lateral drives leading in every direction completes the system.

These properties will make only a few tracts, as it is to be cut into lots of two to five acres each. Each tract will be developed upon its own merits, and a carefully selected building site will be provided in each instance. The route selected follows a ridge higher than any part of Peachtree road, overlooking the entire country. With the beautiful club property and lake in the foreground, it has the effect of a mountain plateau, with a great formal garden extending in all directions.

Some of the finest landscape engineers of this and other sections have inspected this property and express wonder that this plan has not been discovered sooner. Below are the indorsements of some of the officials of the Capital City Country Club, and also a plat showing the proposed Boulevard:

 CAPITAL AND SURPLUS $1,000,000
 ATLANTA, GA., March 14, 1914

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
 Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

I have seen the preliminary plans for connecting from Peachtree Road the Capital City Country Club properties and the Oglethorpe University a 4 and Silver Lake properties by the development of land lots 10, 11 and 12. This will join these valuable properties closely together and, when carried out, will be of much benefit to all the properties involved and one of the most important improvements made in the northern end of Fulton and western part of DeKalb County for many years.

I should think the merits of this proposition would fully warrant the County Commissioners of Fulton and DeKalb in co-operating liberally with you and your associates in opening up this property, which is sure to mean a large increase in the taxable returns from this section and its rapid development.

As you know, I have no personal interest whatever in any of this property, except my interest, as President, in the future welfare of the Capital City Country Club. Knowing your ability and success in developing property in this and other sections of the country, I have confidence in your judgment, and believe that if your present plans are carried out, your expectations in the success of this enterprise will be fully realized, and a second Atlanta park is destined to be developed in this beautiful section of Fulton and DeKalb County, part of DeKalb County.

Yours truly,
 Wm. P. Anderson

 CANDLE BUILDING
 ATLANTA, GA.
 March 13th, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
 Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

The plan you have outlined for connecting the property adjoining the Capital City Country Club with that adjoining the Silver Lake Estates, and for a drive to be built on the north side of the Capital City Club property to connect with the University site, that would be 1/2 hundred feet longer than the present drive, is one of the broadest developments undertaken around Atlanta.

I did not know until I saw your plat that only one land lot separates the properties of Brookhaven Estates from that of the Silver Lake Estates, nor that a drive could be built on the north side of the Capital City Club property to connect with the University site, that would be 1/2 hundred feet longer than the present drive.

The fact that you are willing to change your plans, so that your proposed driveway around the Club property be for an attractive Boulevard system around the Golf links, and are willing to locate your drive on the north of the links, fifty or more feet from the Club property, and allow the size the use of this space that is very necessary to make this part of the drive as wide as they should be, is another evidence of your generosity in dealing with your neighbors. It occurs to me, that your neighbors, and the public, have profited more than you have, in all of your developments; but it is that broadness of vision that has made your developments successful.

I believe the Club and the University will cordially co-operate with you to the fullest extent in carrying out your development plans, and I hope that all adjoining property owners will do the same.

Wishing you success in all your plans I am,
 Very truly,
 Wm. P. Anderson
 Chairman Golf Committee,
 Capital City Country Club.

ATLANTA, GA., March 28, 1914.

MR. R. F. MADDOX, President Capital City Club, City.

Dear Sir: Believing that the present Country Club house and grounds are rather contracted and inadequate for a club of the dignity and standing of the Capital City, I have been trying to find a way to make the approaches to the club more convenient, and to furnish a beautiful and adequate site for the club's permanent club house, and to that end I have secured the agreements (shown by copies herewith enclosed) from Mr. S. C. Stovall and Mr. A. V. Gude, Jr., which explain themselves.

The present club house can always be used for refreshment and bath house purposes, but the club should have a handsome country club house, with large restaurant and ball room, plenty of porches and sleeping rooms above for such of its members as would like to make their week-end or permanent home there.

The members of the Capital City Club are Atlanta's wealthiest and most influential citizens, and its membership contributes ninety-five per cent of the money for all public enterprises for Atlanta's good that are brought to a successful conclusion.

If the club had a beautiful site on which to erect its permanent club, I believe its members would quickly subscribe to a bond issue to pay for such a club, and to induce the street car company to extend its car line to said site.

Mr. Stovall has agreed to donate the lot or tract marked "B" adjoining the club property, and I am willing to donate the tract marked "C" for a club site, and I am also willing to co-operate with Mr. Stovall in grading the driveway marked "Club Drive" across the club's property and that agreed to be deeded to it, provided the club will secure an extension of the Peachtree and Brookhaven car line from its present terminus to the north line of the property agreed to be donated to the club by me.

For the consideration named, and in order for the club to secure additional land for its new Golf Course, at a point where the new links are very much congested, I am willing to deed to the club the tract of land marked "D" on the enclosed plat, provided the club agrees to maintain said tract for club purposes, such as Golf Links, Park.

The Driveway marked "Club Drive" could connect the present and proposed new Club Building, both with an electric and an automobile drive. The driveways shown on the enclosed plat will furnish the most attractive driving system in the South.

As I am having permanent plats made of Oglethorpe Park, showing its Driveway system and subdivision into tracts for country estates, and the connections of its drives with existing or proposed driveways, and with adjoining properties, I ask that you have a call meeting of your Directors immediately and see if they favor and will recommend an acceptance of the proposed system of driveways through the club's property, and of the tracts agreed to be donated for club purposes on the terms and conditions herein outlined.

I think it is well, in all growing communities, to "look to the future." Eight years ago Ansley Park was a tangled mass of lumps, limbs and underbrush; today it is one of the handsomest residence parks in America, with nearly three hundred homes, and last year was assessed by the city at $2,600,000.00, and paid to the city and county $50,000.00 in taxes. It increased 11,000 per cent in eight years.

The Forsyth street section increased in property and taxable values 1,000 per cent in five years.

The street car line can be extended along Oglethorpe University road to a point where "Club Drive" can connect with it and other proposed roads about 1,000 feet from the present club house. A road is planned from this point to the Weiuca road and to the Peachtree and Dunwoody roads, which last named road is now being regraded and widened by the county.

As Oglethorpe Park will soon have nine or ten driveways into it, a few weeks' work will convert from sage fields, lumps and limbs, into a beautiful suburban residence section.

When the Piedmont Driving Club burned, a few years ago, I offered my present home site (then in the rough) and forty acres adjoining, for a Golf Course, in exchange for its present five-acre site. Some of its members hooted at the proposition. Since that time, dozens of the same members have come to me and expressed their regrets. Therefore, I say, let's look to the future growth of Atlanta and its suburbs before the club rejects an offer to acquire additional property that it will never have again, except at a large cost.

Respectfully submitted,
 EDWIN P. ANSLEY.

ATLANTA, GA., March 26th, 1914.

MR. EDWIN P. ANSLEY, Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Sir:—I am willing to grade the 50-foot driveway shown on the plat of Oglethorpe Park marked "Club Drive," from Peachtree road to the entrance to the present Capital City Country Club, provided the Brookhaven estates will donate to me the five-foot strip or reservation lying between my property and lots marked 21, 22, 23 and 24 of their plat, and also provided that Mr. A. V. Gude, Jr., will donate a strip of fifty feet wide across the lots controlled by him for street purposes, so as to give the best possible entrance to the club for driveway and street car purposes. And, in consideration of Mr. Gude's donating said strip, I agree to donate to him sufficient of my land adjoining his to compensate him for the loan of said strip, and any damage that he may sustain by reason of the driveway going diagonally across his lots.

I am further willing to co-operate with you in grading the driveway marked "Club Drive" its entire length and deeding to the club the lots or tracts marked on the Oglethorpe Park plat as lots "A" and "B," provided the club will secure the extension of the Peachtree and Brookhaven car line to the northern limit of the property that you offer to deed to them for club purposes. Very truly,

Atlanta, Ga., March 28, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
 Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:—The entire membership of the company owning the Silver Lake Park Property, of which I have been president for a number of years, have believed in the property as one of the most beautiful in the state. We furthermore know that the property from the Capital City Country Club, lying north and reaching to our property, is in a direct line of development.

Oglethorpe University, with its magnificent future, and the other splendid improvements sure to materialize in this immediate section, will contribute to the upbuilding of one of the finest residential suburbs imaginable. The projected development of the plateau, with its beautiful forests, and the system of drives you are now building, will enhance every foot of property in this entire section.

Every enterprise you have supported has brought abundant success, and the first-class improvements you are contemplating on this property means that values in this section will increase very rapidly.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:—In consideration of the agreement of Mr. S. C. Very truly yours,

These Lots Will Last Only a Few Days

DAILY, SUNDAY, TRI-WEEKLY.
ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Ga., April 3, 1914.

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Ansley:--Of all the real estate development enterprises which have been undertaken in Atlanta during the past twenty years, it seems none offer better opportunities than the Oglethorpe Park movement and the immediately adjoining enterprises, all of which, practically united, affect some 1,500 acres of as attractive suburban property as adjoins any city in the United States.

It was inevitable when the Capital City Club took over the Brookhaven Country Club with its wonderful scenic attractions that every acre in that immediate section should be brought at once into the public eye for development as a high-class residence section. This movement was crystallized and emphasized when the Oglethorpe University movement assumed definite shape assuring the establishment of a great Southern University on the Silver Lake property. If any doubt remained, all that was necessary to assure the success of the movement was the touch of your magic hand as a developer.

The story of your work in transferring Ansley Park from a wilderness to one of the handsomest residence sections of Atlanta is known throughout the country, as is also your splendid development of the Forsyth street section which, in a few years, has become one of the most active business sections of the city, with property valuations increased, I understand, over 1,000 per cent in five years.

Now that you have taken hold of an extensive development plan of the property lying between the Capital City Country Club and the Oglethorpe University site, the transformation of that whole section into an aggregation of beautiful country estates is assured.

Nature has done everything possible in contributing to the beauty of this section, and you are fortunate, in being able to secure the services of Mr. S. Z. Ruff, whose ability has been demonstrated in the landscaping of Ansley Park and Druid Hills. Mr. Ruff is an artist of rare ability and he is fortunate in having such a splendid subject for development.

Your plans furnish additional inspiration for the further development of the Capital City Club. Its golf course is already one of the best, and the additional acreage offered will make it as perfect as any in the country. I am sure the Club will assist you in every possible way to secure the extension of the electric car lines which, in the very nature of things, will be extended to the Club and to Oglethorpe University.

It is gratifying that the other real estate developments in that section are co-operating with you just as you are co-operating with them, and with this combination the results will no doubt be equally as gratifying as have been the result of your efforts on the Forsyth street and Ansley Park properties.

Very truly yours,

Clark Howser

ATLANTA, GA., March 28, 1914.

MR E P ANSLEY, City

Dear Sir -- I have investigated your proposition of developing the large tract of property lying between the present terminus of the Peachtree road car line, adjacent to the Capital City Country Club, and extending to the Oglethorpe University site, and I congratulate you most heartily on the broad vision that enables you to afford this splendid opportunity to investors who are seeking locations for country estates ideally located.

I understand your plans contemplate building of roadways and drives of sufficient width to accommodate an extension of the car line, and in this connection, I cannot refrain from stating that I know it to be a fact that the people of Chamblee are particularly anxious to have the car line extended, and I feel safe in stating that they will contribute liberally to this improvement.

The extension of the car line through the property which you are developing, to Chamblee, would, in my opinion, very soon result in splendid homes being erected all along the extension, and I pledge you my heartiest co-operation in the matter.

Yours truly,
W M HUTCHINSON, Sec and Treas

Atlanta, Ga., March 27, 1914

Mr. Edwin P. Ansley,
City

Dear Sir --
On last Tuesday I happened to be near the property that you are now developing on and near Peach tree road.

You showed me over the country estate. I was amazed at the aggressive and progressive way you are going at the work. It is the biggest thing of the kind that I have seen in and around Atlanta. It will fill a want that has been needed a long time--homes, to be located on acreage instead of lots 50x150.

The people of this city will and should be proud of your latest subdivision, one which I believe will be the best for many years to come.

I unhesitatingly say the property offers the surest and quickest profit to the speculator that I have ever seen.

It only needs to be seen to be appreciated.
Yours very truly,
W A VERNON

Parcel One All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the City of Atlanta, being composed of parts of City Lots ten (10), one (1), nine (9) and two (2), in block number three (3) and in Land Lot number seventy seven (77) in the fourteenth (14th) district of originally Henry, now Fulton County, Georgia, fronting on the southwesterly side of Alabama street thirty seven (37) feet, and extending back southwesterly to and across Kenny's Alley one hundred sixty eight (168) feet, more or less, to the line dividing original Lots numbers nine (9) and two (2) from numbers eight (8) and three (3), with the reservation of a strip twenty (20) feet in width through said tract for alley purposes, being the strip now constituting Kenny's Alley, said tract of land being about one hundred eighteen (118) feet deep from Alabama street to the alley and about thirty (30) feet deep from said Kenny's Alley to the south line of said lot, both parcels being included in the tract hereby conveyed, said tract being bounded on the southeasterly side by lot of R. J. Lowry and on the northwesterly side by lot of Mrs. Jane L. Grant (formerly Jane L. Crew) and being improved property known, according to street numbers of said City of Atlanta, as numbers 51 and 53 Alabama street, together with said lot immediately in the rear on the southerly side of said Kenny's Alley; said premises being the same property conveyed by United States Mortgage and Trust Company to William A. Hemphill by deed dated July 1st, 1902, and recorded in Deed Book 162, page 325, in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, and being more particularly shown upon a plat of said property made by Hall Brothers, Civil Engineers, Atlanta, Georgia, March, 1914.

Parcel Two Also, all that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the City of Atlanta, being part of Land Lot number seventy seven (77) in the fourteenth (14th) district of originally Henry, now Fulton County, Georgia and being Lots numbers thirty-one (31) and thirty-two (32) of the subdivision of the property surrendered by the State of Georgia to the heirs of Samuel Mitchell, deceased, and more particularly described as commencing at the corner formed by the intersection of the northeastern side of Alabama street with the northwestern side of Central Avenue (formerly Loyd street), and running thence northwesterly along the northeastern side of Alabama street forty-nine and one-tenth (49 1/10) feet, more or less, to line of property of James R. Brown, thence northeasterly along the line of Brown sixty-eight and two-tenths (68 2/10) feet to a point situated at the northwestern corner of a platform, thence southeasterly along the north eastern side of said platform forty-nine and forty-four hundredths (49 44/100) feet, more or less, to the northwestern side of Central Avenue, and thence southwesterly along the northwestern side of Central Avenue sixty-one and six-tenths (61 6/10) feet to the beginning point, said premises being improved property, together with all the right, title and interest of the estate of W. A. Hemphill, deceased, in and to a parcel of land lying on the northeasterly side of said tract and more particularly described as beginning at the north easterly corner of said tract and at the northeasterly corner of said platform, and extending thence northeasterly along Central Avenue, fifteen and four tenths (15 4/10) feet to the line of the property of the State of Georgia, used as a right of way for the Western and Atlantic railroad, thence northwesterly along the line of said property of the State of Georgia forty-nine and forty four hundredths (49 44/100) feet to a point, thence southwesterly sixteen and one-tenth (16 1/10) feet to the northwestern corner of said tract and to the line of said platform, and thence southeasterly along the northeastern side of said platform forty-nine and forty-four hundredths (49 44/100) feet, more or less, to the northwestern side of Central Avenue, upon which last described tract there is situated one railroad track and a portion of a second railroad track, all of said premises being the same property conveyed by Mrs. Lucile H. Harrison to W. A. Hemphill by deed, dated April 20, 1887, and recorded in Deed Book E. 3, page 73 in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, said premises being more particularly shown upon a plat of the same made by Hall Brothers, Civil Engineers Atlanta, Georgia, March, 1914.

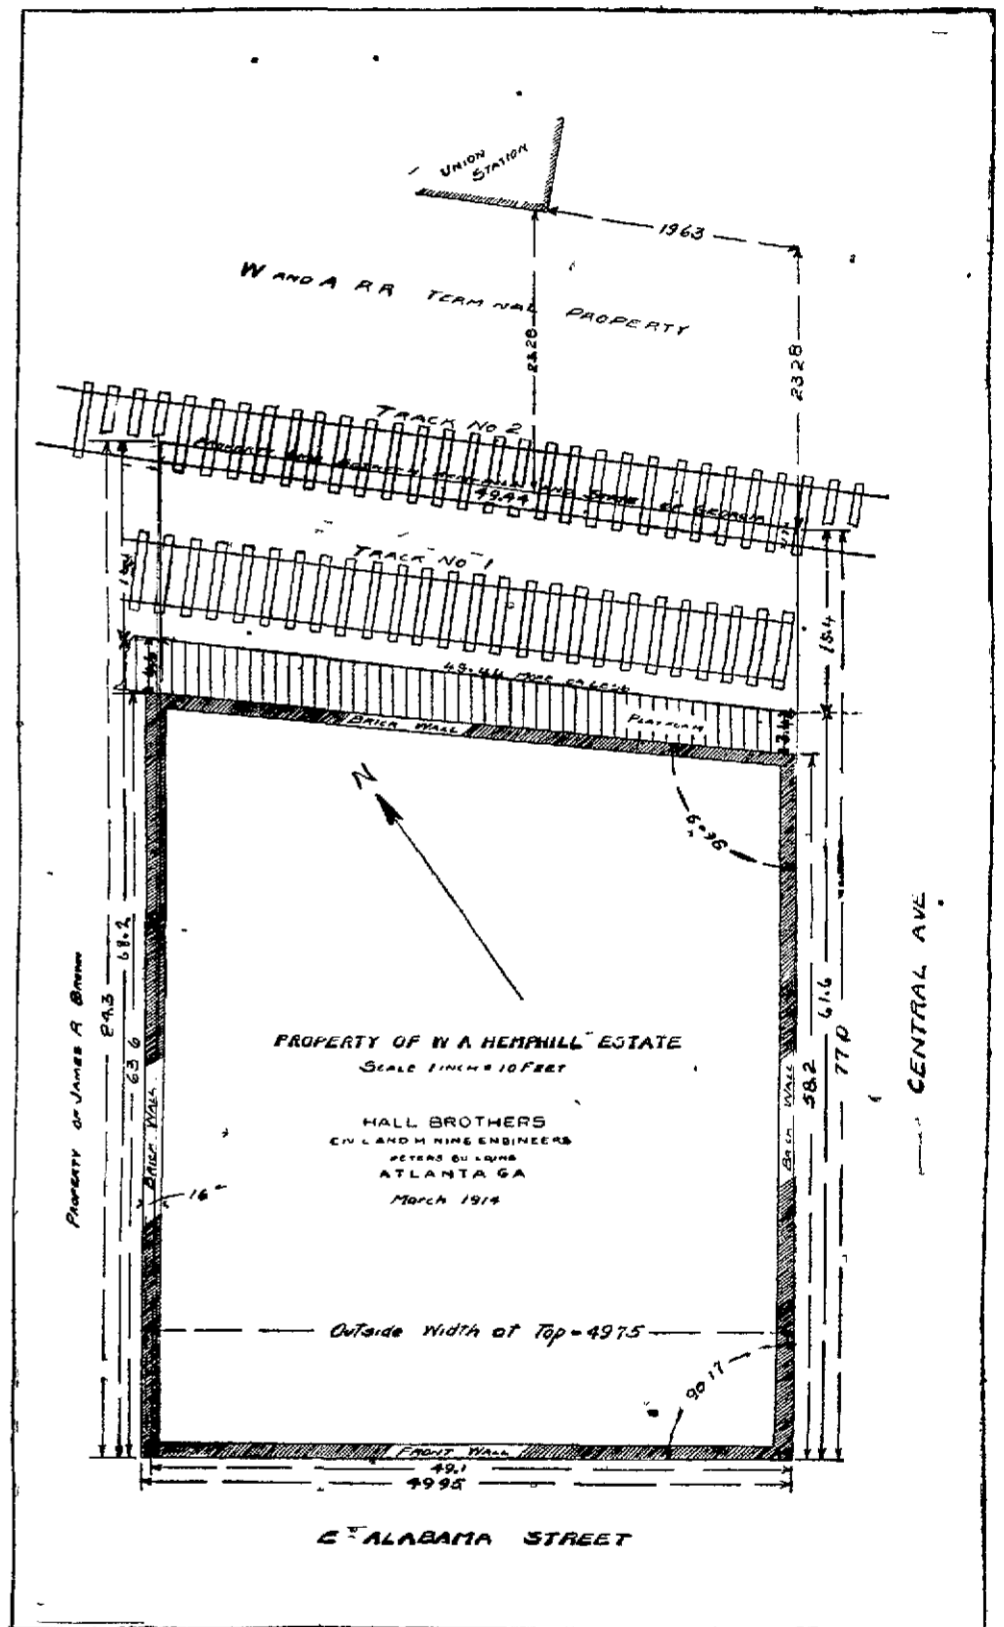

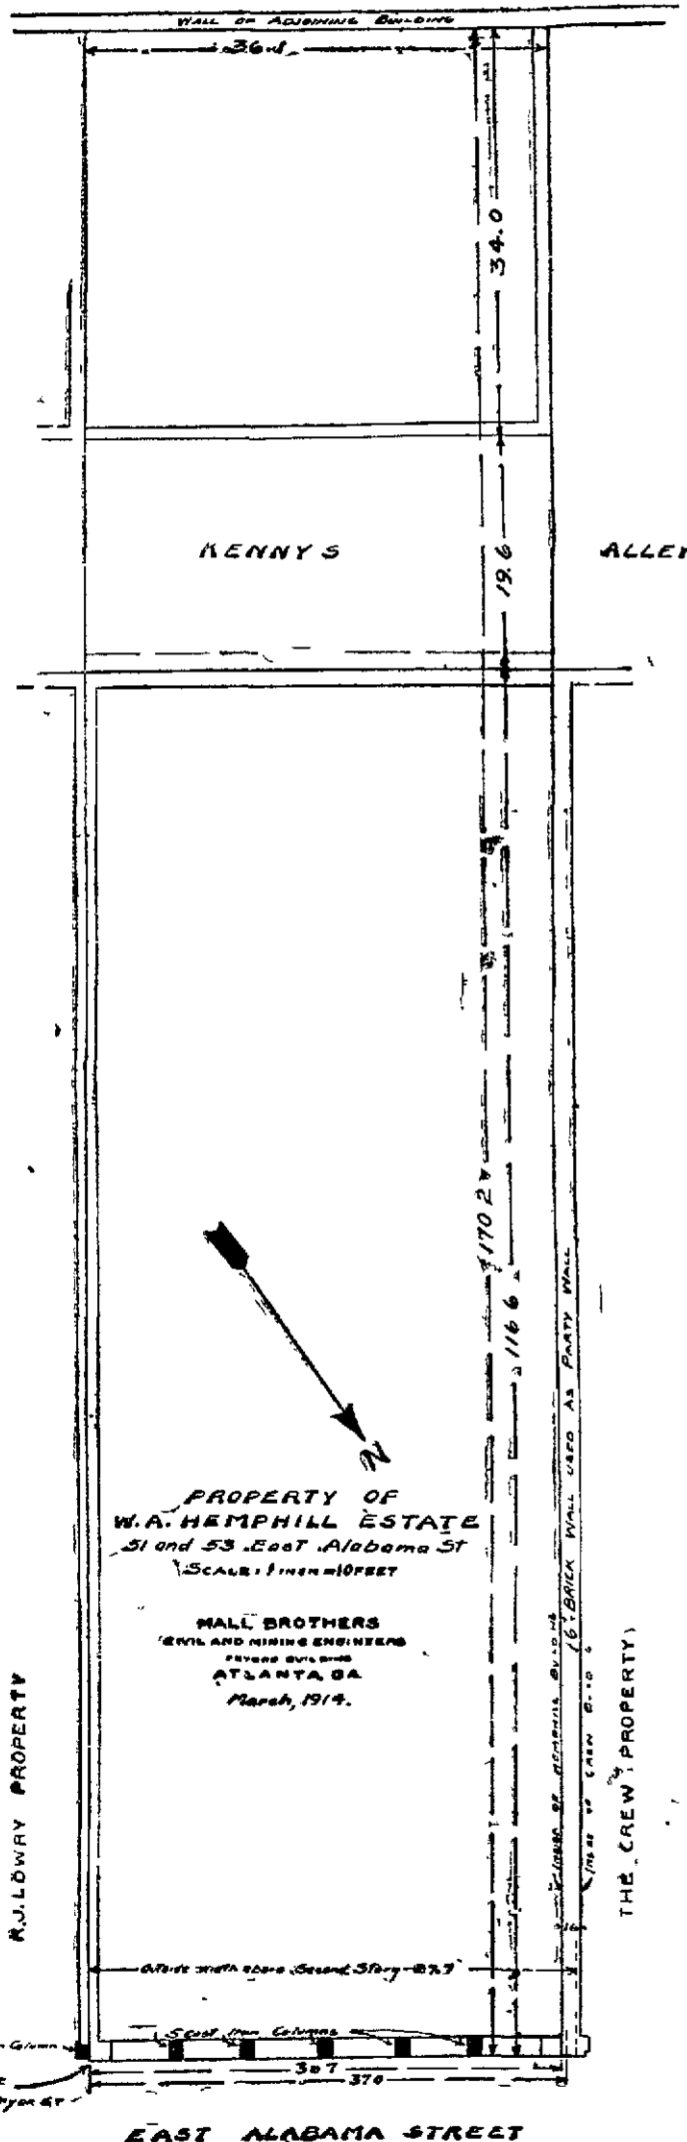

Said two parcels will be offered for sale separately.

Terms One-fourth cash and the balance payable on or before one, two, three, four and five years, with interest on the deferred payments at the rate of seven per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually.

Said sale to be made subject to a confirmation by the Judge of the Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia.

R. A. HEMPHILL, Commissioner.
W. F. CRUSSELLE, Commissioner.
J. W. MAYSON, Commissioner

as aforesaid in Case number 27712, in the Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia.

This is a chance of a lifetime, and under ordinary circumstances these parcels of land would not be upon the market. The property is in a most ideal location, always rented and pays a handsome income, and we are safe in saying that the public will not find this property on the market again in many years. Some day the State will rebuild the old depot and the city will finish the plaza plan in this district, and will make this property worth double its present value.

The terms will be one-fourth cash, balance on or before 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years, bearing interest at 7%, payable semi-annually. The Title Guarantee Company will issue Certificates of Title.

ED HOEDT

THE clearly defined waist line and the flaring tunic appear on the suit of needlecord material. The soft white collar is of corded silk, and in front the jacket buttons quite low over a vest of white silk. Hat of milan straw the color of the suit, with a high black plume placed on the side.

Beneath the puffed panniers of the frock of green flowered silk is a plaited ruffle of plain green taffeta. Double frills of white tied with narrow black ribbon finish the sleeves, and a bow of black net with small flowers of yellow satin finishes the girdle. The white chip hat is effectively trimmed with a fancy plume in black and white.

SCALLOPS and buttons in deep violet gayly trim the wash frock of white crepe. A finely wired collar of shadow lace softens the neck and joins the vest of Shirred net. The net also forms the undersleeves. The wide girdle of violet crepe fastens a little to the left of the back with a buckle of mother-of-pearl. A white chip hat with cream or white silk is faced with black moire, and is trimmed with a standing spray of bright colored flowers.

Jim Jolly's Hope of Few Days of Freedom Is Pinned to His Faithful Daughter

Jim Jolly, the dean of Georgia's convict camps, is the first picture. The small upper print is of Victoria Norris, the girl of whose murder he was accused. The picture below is Mrs. Della Henderson, Jolly's daughter, who is seeking to free her father so that he may go west, and, at the age of 70, begin all over again. The last photo is of the old man and daughter.

By Belt Craig.

They were playing a graphophone out at the Adamsville convict camp when I went to see Jim Jolly. A group of convicts were gathered in the whitewashed shack around the bent and battered old machine. It strove valiantly to dispense the only entertainment that is afforded the striped-garbed and haggard convict.

It was playing "There is Rest for the Weary." They allow religious tunes at the convict camps, for they have the idea that hymns exert moral influence. How they expect to mull moral influence from the wheezy old graphophone that greeted my ears, however, is positively beyond me to learn.

But the wheezy old thing rattled on and came to the chorus, and I honestly believe that there is no musical instrument—matter not how inefficient in any degree—that can mar the depressing beauty of this aged hymn. It is like the Rosary—no matter where nor how you hear it, it is beautiful. It is one of those inspirational songs that sets the sinner to brooding, the lover to loving, and exhilarates the saint.

I asked for Jim Jolly. The assistant superintendent carried me around the building and pointed to a room and withered old man sitting in the shadows with a comely woman in blue who clasped his hands. I stepped and gazed upon the scene. Enhanced by the tune that came from the graphophone, it reminded me of a page of some old and exquisite tragedy I had read a long time ago.

THEY HELD HANDS.

I hesitated, afraid for the moment to break the silence that enveloped them. They gazed with empty eyes across a vista of rolling green that stretched over the hills and valleys which stretched as far as eye could see on all sides of the camp.

She held his hand and he held hers like sweethearts, only there wasn't the ziddiness of lovers about them. Instead, there was the solemnity of philosophers, the slow, depressing air of tragedy. It could be told at a glance that the handclasp and attitude of the two expunged rock-boat trial attachment.

"It's a fine old tune, ain't it?" the old man spoke, his gaze riveted upon the landscape.

"It is," she answered, "and it's true."

"Is it?" he queried never shifting his gaze.

"You just wait and see, you dear old daddy, you."

And, then, I interrupted them and told them I had come to write a story about him.

Jim Jolly is big-framed and stalwart, although age has inflicted a perceptible droop in his shoulders. Age and the labors of a convict camp. Deep roots of sadness reflect in his eyes and his hair is flecked with silver.

His cheeks are so sunken that it seems as though he bites the inner flesh every time he clamps his jaw. He looks like a walking pimonion of death, and you intuitively speak to him in subdued, funeral tones.

But what else could you expect of a man of seventy years who had spent half of his days in a Georgia convict camp on a life sentence? Or in any other camp, for that matter?

Your first impression would be that he had never had a chance, and that he was as good as done for.

But he disagreed with you. Emphatically.

He who gazes with resignation upon his future and looks with melancholy upon the present could sincerely observe Jim Jolly's example!

The future is fraught with Fate, says the benighted youth—a Fate that has harmful designs upon me.

It is fraught with some thirty-odd more years of freedom, says Jim Jolly.

FREEDOM THROUGH DAUGHTER.

And this freedom, if it ever comes, is to be obtained by his daughter, the comely young woman in blue who clasped his hand in silence when I found Jim Jolly, who for the past five years or more, has worked relentlessly to free her aged dad.

In the face of kindred opposition and ostracism from her family, Mrs. Della Henderson, who herself is 49 years old, has promoted a campaign for these five years for her father. She feels that she is about to realize success and that within a few months the old man will breathe the elixir of unbounded liberty.

Jim Jolly—daddy James the daughter calls him—is the dean of Georgia's convict camps. He is the most responsible trustee in the state's entire prison organization. He has never received a punishment lash—not even a demerit for misbehavior. His life, even though in prison, with the stain of murder on his escutcheon, has been spotless.

For thirty of the thirty-five years he has served he has never worn a stripe nor chain. He has, all through that time, been a "trustee." Why he has even journeyed from Adamsville to Atlanta—2 miles or more, on trains more—alone on errands for the camp. And he always returned. Once he was taken ill while on the route. Doggedly plugging his way back, he came near dying in the effort to regain camp upon the time allotted for his trip.

He is the most remarkable character in Georgia's prison annals. The very fact that he has lived to reach the age of seventy through thirty-five years of imprisonment is sufficient to allot him a goodly share of the limelight. His record for good behavior, his infinite faith in his daughter's efforts to free him and his unflinching hope of the future distinguish him.

There is none other like him. They'll tell you that at all the convict camps. And, behind him, in the dim and tragic past, is the wretched story of the murder of a pretty country lass, for which Jim Jolly was sentenced to life.

And this is the story:

STORY OF LIFE AND DEATH.

Victoria Norris was pretty 19 and blonde, and her figure was rounded with the curves of the healthy rural creature. She was full of life and spirit, and she had a lot of the tomboy in her. Her sister married James Jolly—the Jim Jolly of the Adamsville convict camp—who was a prosperous planter near Clarkston, out in DeKalb county.

And, when her sister married, Victoria went to live with her and stayed three years. Her sister's husband ran a big plantation that stretched for miles away. You could stand on the back porch and watch a mile away—the miniature figures of the plowmen and their mules, accented against the mountain background as the sun lowered in the skies.

She reached the age of 19. All girls, more or less—if they are normal—believe that the age of 20 is the cave-door to the chasm of spinsterhood, and that if marriage is not accomplished within the space of 18 and 20, all future chances are lost to oblivion. Some of them outgrow it. Others don't, but live to see the day when they wish they had—outgrown it.

And, pretty Victoria, somehow or other, became engaged to Billy West, a neighbor, who was the Lochinvar of the community, and who had broken as many sad hearts as he had won—which weren't few, by any means. And the wedding day was set and Victoria began to arrange for all nuptial preliminaries.

With this latter view, she decided to drive to Decatur, catch a Georgia train—which was one of the few railroads running in that vicinity in those days—and come to Atlanta to purchase her trousseau. James Jolly, her sister's husband, was to drive her to the station in the family surrey.

With happy farewells and bucolic "bon voyages"—whatever they were in those days of 1875 when country maidens embarked for the city on such transports as household surreys—the bride-to-be and her brother-in-law set out for the railroad, from whence she was to journey to Atlanta for her bridal gown.

And she never came back. Jolly, the story goes, told them at his home that he had seen her safely to the railroad depot—which was the term for station in those days—and that she had boarded a train for Atlanta. Pretty soon letters began to come to her kin presumably from the missing girl, who was supposed to be visiting in Tennessee towns.

Strange, but true, she never mentioned the wedding, for the gown of which she had set out for Atlanta.

Later, the letters began to fail. No more came within a year. Suspicions began to accumulate in clouds over the Jolly home. Two years following the girl's strange trip for her trousseau, Jolly left for Mississippi. There was some scandal attached to his departure, which was hasty.

In 1878, he was caught in Mississippi. They brought him back to DeKalb county and lodged him in the Jail. A confession of some kind was exacted from him. The old man won't talk about it. In fact, he won't talk at all of the crime nor its circumstances.

"It's been so long ago that I tried to forget it, and have come mighty near it. And, I don't want to think about it any more. And that's why I don't want to talk about it."

TAKES THEM TO THE GROVE.

But, he tells this much of it. He directed them to the two-foot grave on the hillside, where the road narrowed into a mountain path between Decatur and Clarkston, and where was discovered a skeleton, adorned with a white dress, and with an engagement ring on the third finger of the left hand.

One moonlit night, handcuffed and a prisoner, he led a party of deputy sheriffs to the tragic spot. He pointed it out exactly, putting a heel directly over the turf that held the gruesome relic of DeKalb's most noted crime.

DeKalb officials say that the old man confessed to the crime, but he declares he did not. His story is that the girl's father—who has long been dead—had buried her when she fell from the surrey in which she was being driven to the station, and died from the wounds got in the fall.

On this story, Billy West, the groom-to-be, was arrested. He was held in prison, but later released. Jolly was tried in DeKalb courts and sent to prison for life. He strongly maintained his innocence at the trial. His words, upon leaving the courthouse for prison, were:

"God, some day, will show the truth, and I'll live to see it."

And then, there's another story which has to do with three successive dreams of the slain girl's sister, Jolly's wife. It is this:

"When the community began to fear that Victoria had met death, rumor began to invade Jolly. One night, shortly after her husband's departure for Mississippi, Mrs. Jolly had a vision. It was a dream that the body of her girl sister lay beneath the soil at a point along the public road which she traveled with Jim Jolly en route to the railroad at Decatur."

Three successive nights this dream came to her. It was so startlingly vivid that she told her household of it. Upon her husband's arrest, he was told of these visions. They had such an impression on him, the story goes, that he confessed to knowing where the body had been buried, consequently leading the deputies to the improvised burial place.

But the old man denies this story. He says that Billy West had joined him and Victoria as they drove to the station, and that the horse had become frightened, running away in a wild panic. The girl, in jumping from her seat, was crushed on the roadway. Billy West, Jolly says, fearful that he would be accused of murder, buried the body while Jolly, unaware that the girl had met her death, went in search of the runaway horse.

"I never knew the girl was dead," Jolly told me, "until Billy West told me. He told me where she had been buried, and threatened me with death if I did not keep his secret."

But the story of Jolly's prosecutors was that he had made advances upon the girl, and that, as she attempted to evade him, her dress caught in the surrey, throwing her head foremost from the vehicle.

The crime—and Jolly's connection—acted a family feud. Relatives of the aged prisoner's wife and the slain girl prosecuted him vengefully. None of them have ever visited him during his long imprisonment. His kin-in-law have strove, repeatedly, to thwart efforts to procure the convicted man's pardon. This has been the biggest obstacle in the path of Jolly's daughter.

Recently, she circulated a petition throughout Georgia, which contains hundreds of names, pleading for her father's freedom. She appealed to Governor Brown and other state executives without success. Her efforts are now being directed toward Governor Slaton.

OTHERS DESERT HIM.

She is the only relative or friend of the old man who visits him. His days are long and dreary in the gray, kalsomined environs of the Adamsville camp, where even the ground and trees are whitewashed to prevent pestilence. Once each month she goes to him, remaining all day. It is the only comfort he feels in the tragedy that has blotted his life like a vicious guillotine that plunged to sever the career of prosperity he knew on the DeKalb plantation.

But, now, he hopes to be freed. And he is going to begin all over again, out west, somewhere, where he can find pleasant existence among people and surroundings that won't be reminding of the miserable past.

It's a mighty hard task to undertake, this beginning anew at 70, but Jolly feels that he is capable. The mere realization, after thirty years of duration, that liberty is his, and that the tragedy of his life is a closed book, will be inspiration to excel the elixir of youth.

"Old Man Jim," as they call him out at Adamsville, figures that he has given a life's service to the state of Georgia. He argues that the average years of the average man are thirty-five. He has been in prison for exactly that length of time. And he doesn't base any of his argument on his monumental good conduct. Good behavior is a matter-of-fact business with the old man.

"Now, you take the insurance statistics," he says, "the life rate is thirty-five years, and sometimes shorter. My daughter, here, was allowed only twenty-seven. The death rate will show that the average life is thirty-five years."

"I've given the state of Georgia the life of service it demanded when it put me in prison. And I've given it good service. I helped build two railroads, and I've done my big share of construction work on every road in Fulton county. And, when it came to being leased out under the old system, why, I did as much labor as the rest of 'em—more than some."

"I've had my punishment, God knows I have. The state has exacted its vengeance. All I want now is a chance to live the rest of my years in a decent man's life. I want to be free, and I want to be away from all old associates and memories. I want to take my daughter and go away where I can work and forget, and where I will know that the only guard who stands over me is the God above."

"Don't you think my punishment has been enough? I have been banished by my family, fought by the kin of my wife, and kept in prison more than half my life. I bore it all as stoically as I could, and when I first entered the convict camp I determined that, inasmuch as I was due to be a prisoner, I was going to be a good one. And I have been—they'll all tell you that."

STATE LEVIES ITS TOLL.

"That state has levied its toll. It has obtained a life of laboring service and a life of good conduct. What more could it ask? All I seek is freedom in return. Freedom so I can live what few years are left in comfort. I deserve it. And I firmly believe I will get it."

"That's why I have been able to live so long."

Living on hopes! That's Jim Jolly! It's the reason he has preserved the blood of life in his gaunt and haggard frame, and why the biscuits he turns out of the camp oven every day are like offerings of inspiration, and why his savory cabbage and white meat are enough to tempt dignified visitors to sit at the camp table among the striped prisoners to partake of the brown-making food that is cooked by the old man.

The last year or so, Jolly has been in charge of the Adamsville camp's kitchen. He is too old to follow the long line of convicts with pick and shovel and sledge. So, they leave him to the kitchen, where, as all his fellows at Adamsville agree, he should have been long ago.

Not that he can't work. His biscuits are so wonderful, and so big and fluffy and—

"Well, you'd eat one, yourself, if you saw it."

Those biscuits are like the hopes of Jim Jolly. So big and sincere and so good to fall back upon when the hungriness of his soul conquers dreams of freedom. Maybe, if Jim had lost all hope, his biscuits would be hard and crusty and crumbly and flat. After all, cooking is an art—a great art—and all art needs inspiration. Jim Jolly's inspiration arrives from his hope.

The hope of a convict of 70 to begin all over again.

Which, if he ever attains, will make the third life he has lived between birth and death—

The life of prosperity on the DeKalb ranch before the tragedy of Victoria Norris—

The life of freedom and contentment he expects to live in the west where he can forget and—

Madame Ise'bell Beauty Hints

LESSON V. The Eyes are Face Powder Injurious.

No feature of the face is so compelling or possesses such possibilities of beauty as the eye, and no feature is so commonly neglected, due to the general idea that beautiful eyes are a gift of nature and that little can be done to improve them. My experience proves to me that such is a wrong idea, and that the eyes not only can be improved, but that their beauty can be preserved long past youth.

Coloring of the Eyes.

Most children have attractive eyes, and yet the expression of the child's eyes does not compare to that of the mature eye. In regard to pigmentation the advantages lie with youth, for the iris, the part of the eye that holds the coloring matter, is prone to change early in life. Why it does so, no one has been able to state with precision. Melanin, that which gives the coloring to the skin, the hair and the eyes, has been isolated, but its source is still a mystery.

Between forty and fifty the entire physical make-up of the body changes, for the reason that waste goes on faster than renewal, there is apt to be a marked change in pigmentation, the skin loses color, the hair becomes gray and the eyes grow lighter. This is a natural change, and while it can be mitigated, it cannot always be prevented, but any marked change in coloring at an earlier period of life is premature and should be corrected and prevented.

Our eyes are wonderfully good servants, and, considering the little care and often absolutely abuse they receive, do remarkably good work. Why do we reward their service with make-up? Improved eye health and beauty would be the result, and the charm of the youthful eye would last into middle age.

The beautiful eye should have clear whites with no tinge of yellow, the color of the iris should be well defined and the skin over the lids and about the eyes unwrinkled. How often do we see this? Very rarely after early youth, and many women in their twenties have a network of tiny wrinkles about the eyes and the color leaves much to be desired.

Wrinkles About the Eyes.

Wrinkles and lines about the eyes come from frowning, squinting, holding the eyes half closed and in not keeping the flesh about them lubricated and fed. Many women in massaging the face rub cream lavishly over the cheeks and forehead and over the bony structure of the nose (which needs it the least) and entirely neglect the eyes. The skin about the eyeballs is thinner than on any other part of the face, there is less fatty tissue under it, and it falls quicker into wrinkles. Oculists state that comparatively few people have absolutely normal eyesight, those who have, do not take care always to read or work under proper conditions of light, and the result is that most adults and many children so overwork the muscles about the eyes as to form wrinkles and loose falling flesh.

Reading in Bed.

That reading in bed is bad for the eyes has become almost a truism. Parity reading in the recumbent position, in most of us which bids us believe that anything very pleasant is necessarily bad. Most people like to read in bed, an unlookable habit which, when indulged in by one member of the family, is apt to be frowned on by the rest. But in truth, the only reason why reading in a reclining position should have bad consequences is poor light and incorrect habit of holding the book or paper. If the light is directed on the printed matter and this is so held that the eyes are kept wide open, no harm will result. If the light is insufficient or badly directed, and the reading matter held so that the eyes have half closed, eye strain and wrinkles will be the consequence.

Keep the Eyes Open.

The health and eye beauty are one, what is good for health is good for beauty. If the eyes are not kept open, squinting, there is something wrong with the light, or the eyes need strengthening. The first step in the beautifying and improvement of the eyes is to keep them open and not to allow the muscles about them to relax.

Look up the glasses, open the eyes and draw up the corners of the mouth, the face immediately looks younger and better, and the eyes feel better. Repeat this exercise at intervals during the day and it will not be long before the improvement is permanent.

The bad effects of relaxed muscles are shown in several ways, the flesh at the outer corner of the eyes droops, fans of wrinkles form, and the eyeballs beneath the eyes draw up towards the inside corners. For the lines at the outer corners I gave directions in my last lesson in Facial Massage, but I will repeat them now.

Massage Movements for the Eyes. Beginning with the left eye, place the first and second fingers of the left hand one above and one below the eyeball, slightly stretching the skin. Moisten the second finger of the right hand with a reliable massage cream and, with a series of little rotary movements, massage the space between the two fingers. Repeat on the right side. This is better done at night for the reason that the good effect of stroking out of the skin will continue during sleep. For the wrinkles that form beneath the eyes, converging toward the nose, it requires the following massage movement.

About the second finger of both hands with massage cream, place them at the corners of the eyes, bear the nose and move them, lightly and briskly beneath the eyes and towards the temples. Repeat at ten times every evening, using all the cream that the skin will absorb. In the morning bathe with cold water.

HOW "CRAZY DOW," AN ECCENTRIC COMPANION, FOUGHT THE DEVIL IN GEORGIA

Despite His Crankiness, No Minister Could Draw a Larger Congregation.

By Rev. Thomas M. Elliott.

Lorenzo Dow was the quietest and most eccentric preacher of the gospel that ever labored in Georgia. The one hundredth anniversary last month of his last visit to this State is the golden jubilee of the stories and incidents of the singular preacher, as related to them in their childhood by their parents.

Dow's eccentricity as a preacher was of such an extreme nature that he was called "Crazy Dow," and was known by many people as "Crazy Dow." His peculiarities were manifest in his speech, his sermons, his eating, his sleeping, his traveling, and in fact in every phase of his life. Eating irregularly and at strange hours, sometimes would suddenly arise from the table to begin a sermon or start on a journey, calling his horse. He slept on the floor the greater part of the time, often preaching lying down or sitting on a stool, and at a moment's notice, at times that he was considered a tramp and had dogs set upon him. He refused more money than he received, and frequently began 1,000-mile journeys with less than a dollar in pocket. Arriving at a home after dark and asking for lodging, he sometimes left the house before day the next morning.

With all his crankiness, Lorenzo Dow was one of the most notable preachers of the century. He was well known to no man was more popular, and no preacher could draw a larger congregation, or secure a congregation on so short notice. For over twenty years he devoted himself to preaching the gospel to the most wicked generation of the South. More than once he visited every state in the Union, and all across the ocean to England and Ireland. During his twenty-four years of active ministry he preached to an average of twenty-five congregations ranging in number from twenty-five persons to eight thousand. Sometimes his pulpit was a log in the woods or in the parlor of a residence; again it would be a platform raised on a stump, or a meeting house, and still again it might be the judge's stand in a courthouse, or from the speaker's stand in the house of congress.

To Preach a Week.
The people of Fayette county preached with Lorenzo Dow. He was a large boulder on which Lorenzo Dow used to stand while preaching to the multitudes gathered about him in the natural amphitheater below. This huge rock resembles the famous rock in England, and is also in the fact that it stands solitary and alone in the midst of a small plain, no other such rocks being known in that immediate section. It is supposed that the rock was brought to this section of the world, when the entire continent was covered with ice. Rising sheer from the ground surrounding it, the rock measures some 25 feet in length, and 12 feet in height. It is located about a mile west of the town of Fayetteville, in plain view of the national highway, on the plantation of John L. Graves.

One hundred years ago last month Lorenzo preached his last sermon on this spot. Fayette county citizens do not tire of relating the stories told them of Lorenzo Dow by their parents. The story they relate with great pleasure refers to Lorenzo's stay at a home in the neighborhood which made much brandy and stored it in his collar. Visiting in the neighborhood and well known for his shrewdness, Lorenzo was asked by the brandy-maker to show him a Yankee trick. Consent being given, Lorenzo carried the brandy-maker to his cellar, carrying with him a small sugar. Two barrels of brandy were placed on a high table. A hole was bored into one, and the brandy-maker was directed to insert his finger into the hole. This done, a similar hole was bored into the remaining barrel, with the request that a finger be placed into that hole. Thus, with a hole in each barrel, his fingers extended to the bottom of the barrels, Lorenzo announced this was a perfect Yankee trick, and walked off, leaving the bewildered brandy-maker imprisoned for many a weary hour before relief was given him.

He "Raises the Devil."
Another story of Lorenzo Dow's raising the devil, in a stormy night Lorenzo applied at a farmhouse for lodging. While waiting for bedtime Lorenzo observed the behavior of the man present toward the man and woman were not man and wife. His suspicions were later confirmed. Shortly after returning he was awakened by an unusual sound. The true husband had returned home unexpectedly and had a quarrel with the wife. To add to the seriousness of the situation, the husband was drunk. To make his escape the woman's lover was hidden in a barrel of the cotton. In the morning the husband's wife implored him not to make so much noise, as Lorenzo Dow, the preacher, was in the house. "Lorenzo Dow in my house," roared the drunken man. "Well, I have often heard of it, but I never saw it." Lorenzo was informed of this fact. "If I have got to raise the devil, I can do so." With a torch in his hand he proceeded to hunt for the devil. The drunk man was stationed at the door with a club, instructed to hit the devil as he would pass out. Lorenzo approached the barrel of cotton and dropped fire in it. Just jumped the hidden man, who, like Lorenzo, was drunk and making a noise. Making a dash for the door, the drunken husband was so bewildered that he forgot to hit him at all. "Lorenzo, you shall raise the devil, and that's a fact." The drunken man never again visited that house.

Came to Georgia in 1802.
Lorenzo Dow first came to Georgia in 1802. During the previous year his health was so feeble that he decided to leave his life. Seeking rest, he boarded the ship on the coast of Virginia. Another boat, Peleg Latham, captain, bound for Savannah, was found and Lorenzo embarked. A fifth part of his passage being given him on account of the cause of his going. In Georgia was only one person he knew, Hope Hull, a preacher under whose ministry Lorenzo had been converted. Landing at Savannah on Friday, January 8, 1802, Lorenzo walked through the town, finally entering a graveyard, where he spent two hours in prayer and thanksgiving for deliverance on his journey. Later that afternoon he distributed handbills and preached his first sermon in Georgia.

FIRST CAMP MEETING IN GEORGIA, CONDUCTED BY LORENZO DOW.

that night to about seventy white people and negroes together. On the following Sunday Lorenzo Dow preached two times in a negro meeting house with the consent of Andrew, the black preacher who had been appointed and whipped till blood ran down his back on account of preaching. Andrew was the only preacher in the town and effort was made to get rid of him. A Savannah seaman was made the hope of the people and offered to Lorenzo, but he refused it. That was in Georgia and over a hundred years ago.

Augusta was next visited by Lorenzo. He had dreamt of Augusta and when he came in sight of the place it was not unfamiliar to him. In that city he stayed with a family three days and nights, but was refused the fourth night because he would not go into the darkness to the home of a respectable negro. Leaving before day the next morning, he walked 9 miles to the home of Hope Hull. Agreement was made that the Hulls should make arrangements for Lorenzo to preach on the courthouse in the neighboring town, but Lorenzo outran Hull and arrived at the town first, where he went to the Hulls and secured his own appointment. Walking 20 miles from Hope Hull's, Lorenzo came to the next house in the night. Securing lodging, he arose at midnight to find the house empty and still again it might be the judge's stand in a courthouse, or from the speaker's stand in the house of congress.

Steak and Pudding.
Lorenzo and another preacher were traveling together when they came upon a home and asked to be given dinner. Waiting for dinner, Lorenzo observed that things in the house were not in a proper manner. He sat down at the table and the other preacher went to the kitchen to see where he could see the cooking of the dinner going on. The lady of the house, busy with preparing some pudding and beefsteak for dinner, called upon a 10-year-old boy to attend to the pudding. The boy, while she made some pudding, while she headed "boy turned the steak from side to side in cooking it, Lorenzo noticed that the boy every moment or so would scratch his head, letting the flycatcher fall into the frying pan. Lorenzo then observed the boy was no steak at that dinner, but said nothing to the other preacher about it. At the dinner Lorenzo contented himself with eating the pudding. After the brother preacher asked him why he was scratching his head and he told him the boy was cooking it. "Why didn't you burn it?" "Well, mister," said the boy, "I couldn't wear my cap while cooking the steak, as my ma had taken it to cook that pudding in, that you eat up."

Leap From Window.
In the same state of North Carolina, while preaching on one occasion, Lorenzo realized that he would just have time to close his sermon in order to get to his next appointment on the following day. He was in the middle of the service, he jumped out a window from the pulpit, leaped upon his horse and rode at full speed to Union church, seventeen miles away, where he preached, then continued his journey to Dover, where he preached on one occasion. Lorenzo was in the middle of the service, he jumped out a window from the pulpit, leaped upon his horse and rode at full speed to Union church, seventeen miles away, where he preached, then continued his journey to Dover, where he preached on one occasion.

A Stringent Liver.
An instance of his stringent manner of living and working is given in his first year's service, when, in eight months' time he traveled over four thousand miles, through heat in the valleys, the scorching sun beating down, and through cold upon the mountains. Frequently he slept upon the floor, where he could see the stars above peeping in upon him, and the frost nipping him so that his skin on hands, feet, nose and ear would peel off; oftentimes traveling through mud, and at times he was so tired and so worn out that he could not proceed, forcing him to alight and stamp out a path for his horse before he could proceed; preaching in the day and traveling at night to reach the next appointment, journeying thus in the darkness fifteen or twenty miles and preaching fifteen or twenty times a week. The record of his labors and sacrifices to preach the gospel reads like an added chapter to the Acts of the Apostles, and is recorded in New York state in 1794, he on June 17, preached five times and rode thirty-five miles. On the 18th he rode thirty-five miles, preaching five times and speaking to two different class meetings. On the 19th he rode twenty-five miles and preached six times. On the 20th he rode thirty-five miles and preached five times. In North Carolina, the following record is entered: "February 14, Today I rode forty-five miles across the dismal Allegheny mountains, by the warm springs. On the way a young man, a traveler, came in and said that he had been robbed of $71 on the way. I gave him half of what I had with me. My horse having a navel gall come on his back, I sold it for the saddle, bridle, cloak and gun. I got on credit for about three-fourths of the value, with an uncertainty whether I should ever be paid—lost forever—thus I crossed the French Broad river in a canoe, and set out for my appointment, but fearing I should be behind time, I hired a man whom I met on the road with two horses to carry me five miles in haste for three shillings, which left me but one shilling of a dollar. In our speed he observed there was a difficulty, which I could clamber the rocks and cut off some miles, so we parted, he having gone only two-thirds of the way, yet insisted on the full sum. I took to my feet the high way as fast as I could pull on, as intricate as it was and came to a horrid ledge of rocks on the bank of the river, where there was no such thing as going around; and to clamber over the rocks would be at the risk of my life, as there was danger of slipping into the river, however, being unwilling to disappoint the people, I pulled off my shoes, and with my handkerchief fastened them about my neck, and creeping upon my hands and feet, with my fingers and toes in the cracks of the rocks, with difficulty I got safe over; and came to a house where a woman and a hired man were waiting for me. The man, who was the chief object with her, so our extremities are other's opportunities. I got, with difficulty, my appointment in Newport in time."

Firm in Convictions.
No man could be more thoroughly consecrated to his convictions than Lorenzo was to his. With his whole mind he believed in the commission of sin, and felt that damnation awaited him if he refused, or let the counsel of man interfere. "With a faith that often opposed reason, he pursued his course, yielding to impressions and inward emotions that could not be excited by the counsel of men. His inward impressions led him to do things that convinced many people that his mind was unbalanced, or that he was possessed of the devil. Should he awake at midnight and feel an impression to move on, he would rise, and persuasion could prevent him. In traveling, if he felt an impression that he should leave a given community and go to another, he would do so, and he would not be deterred by the counsel of men. Should he awake at midnight and feel an impression to move on, he would rise, and persuasion could prevent him. In traveling, if he felt an impression that he should leave a given community and go to another, he would do so, and he would not be deterred by the counsel of men.

Miraculous Incidents.
Miraculous incidents sometimes occurred at Lorenzo's meetings. At a meeting in Macleod's, England, a boy who had been dumb for many years was converted and became so happy as to desire to express it to others, which he did in speech and song. Another strange incident that came upon the people at a meeting was that he called "the jerks." Many people were afflicted with the trouble, and Lorenzo thought it a judgment sent of God upon a wicked generation. The jerks could come upon every class of individuals, of all ages, young and old, white and black, saint and sinner, and could not be accounted for on natural principles. Lorenzo thought the most pious people were most afflicted with it, and those who were most diligent in their piety. Lorenzo thought it a judgment sent of God upon a wicked generation. The jerks could come upon every class of individuals, of all ages, young and old, white and black, saint and sinner, and could not be accounted for on natural principles.

Seized by Indians.
Many a time did he come to feel the need of friends, and on numerous occasions his life was endangered, either by the hands of men, or from beasts of the forests. Traveling in Mississippi he came upon a camp of Indians who thrust for the blood of a white man, to avenge the death of one of their fellows. The Indians surrounded him and seized the bride of his horse. He called upon his source of inspiration for guidance in this critical moment, and following his lead he was safely delivered. On another occasion, in the Chickasaw territory, panthers surrounded him, but he was safely delivered. Coming upon a place in a forest where twenty paths intersected, he knew not which way to go; but his inward voice directed him safely. When in London a mob was on his track, he eluded their search by taking an unexpected course, in obedience to his inspiration.

states that, fifteen months later, when he heard of Ross and Coburn being in Washington, he could measureably interpret the peculiar dream.

How He Met Wife.
As in every other phase of his life, Lorenzo Dow was peculiar when he came to marry. In his diary he records the manner of meeting his wife and subsequent marriage. He says: "Samuel Miller came to my meeting, and asked me home with him. I asked if he had any children. He replied, 'A young woman brought up I call my daughter. I stayed all night, but it so happened that not a word was passed between her and me, though there were 300 in the family. I went to my appointment, but while preaching, she called me in common, reaching down only to God and myself, but through my mind, which caused me to pause for some time. Returning from my evening appointment, I asked Miller if he would object to my taking her as my wife, about matrimony. He had no objection. When I got to the door I asked his wife abruptly who had been there that day, and what they had been doing in my absence. She told me that Peggy was ready to marry any one who would continue traveling. This resolution being similar to my own, and she stepping into the room at that time, I asked her if it was true. She answered, 'Yes, she had been waiting for you, which I asked her if she would marry me. She made no answer, but retired from the room. This was the first time I ever spoke to Peggy.'"

Dow then went southward, to be gone eight months. He and Peggy agreed to make their matrimony a matter of prayer during that time. With the understanding that, if she found no one she liked better than he, she should find no one he liked better than she, they parted. After an absence of nearly two years, at a journey of 2,000 miles, he returned to Peggy, believing the whole matter to be of providential leading, and married. One child, a girl, blessed the union, but died in England when only a few months of age.

Lorenzo Dow had strong convictions regarding marriage, and frequently preached on this subject. He argued that the marriage of two of the same sex, or of two of different sexes, was not a sin, but the plurality of wives, Lorenzo thought the marriage of divorced persons and the taking of soul mates to be nothing less than adultery. He did not think it was a sin to appoint a divorce, and there would be no unhappily ones. His conception of true matrimony is the agreement of the parties. A union of heart and promise of fidelity to each other before God, and that was the only condition of a true marriage. He judged unhappy marriages to be caused by the following: Marriage for money, mistaking fancy for love; marriage for sake of parents, and being unequal yoked together.

Commended to Preach.
His next trying experience occurred one day soon afterwards, when alone in private devotions the words, "Give us a word of prayer," were impressed on his mind, and he was depressed on account of youth and unpopularity. Depressions came upon him as a struggle ensued. For a period of several months, through sickness, various trials he fought, and he had no peace. Finally, after many violations and dreams, he came to the decision, that he would preach, and the following January 7 began his journey, at the age of 18 years.

From then on Lorenzo Dow was known as an itinerant preacher, who became a name of renown, remarkable men of his age for his zeal and labor in the cause of religion. His eccentric dress and style of preaching attracted great attention, while his shrewdness and quick discernment over the multitudes that attended his ministry. He traveled extensively in England and Ireland and reported, he visited almost every portion of the United States, indeed, he visited every part of the world, and he preached, speaking to nearly thirty years more than any other man. He wrote several books, the proceeds of which were used to build meeting houses. His purpose and inability and questioned. He was a Methodist in principle, though not connected with that denomination. He died in Georgetown, District of Columbia, February 18, 1870, at the age of 68 years. It is believed that he was a true Christian pilgrim seeking a heavenly country and that he now rests in the City of God.

Rural Progress Means More to City People Than to Farmers.
In the current issue of Farm and Poultry, written by John Keyes, the editor, writes of the progress of rural progress in the cities of America.

"Dr. Henry J. Waters in his address to the Dry Farming congress stated that rural progress means more to the city man than to the farmer. To be sure, unless he is a thinker he hardly realizes it, for the streets along which he goes are covered with stalls of vegetables, carcasses of animals, and innumerable eating places. Odors of cooking rise from numberless kitchens, a larger volume of steam rises from the chimneys under his feet, and the air is filled with the noise of the city. Yet there is, he heard there only a few days' supply of bread, in the city, and the city man is so dependent on the farmer that he must pay in the deficit.

"I think that such a superb task should not have aroused in the farmer a more stinging pride in his profession. A vision of business and a greater thirst to become a conspicuous leader in the economic world, the farmer, too, that today, when the lure of the professions is so strong for the young man, the profession of farmer's wife more properly co-operator and assistant in the management of the farm, and wholly reverts its amazing dignity. As Alfred W. McCann says, 'the history of life on the great farm is the history of the farmer and his family who supply food to the world, without an abundance of which, at the end of the civilization would eventually blough off and in the end perish miserably.'"

Miraculous Incidents Were Not Rare at Meetings Conducted by This Un-couth Minister.

God, and requested the preacher to pray for him.

At a public feature about the jerks was that no man accompanied it, unless the victim resisted. The motions of jerking were entirely involuntary, similar to St. Vitus dance. Lorenzo, observing a young woman jerking as he preached, she had been so long in a state of such behavior, and suggested that if she had no regard for her character, to leave it off. The young woman replied that she would, if she could. Taking her hand, Lorenzo admonished her, not to be so long in a state of such behavior, but she exerted every nerve to resist it, but instantly jerked so violently as if she would have jerked out of her skin, if possible.

How He Became Christian.
In concluding this sketch of America's most indefatigable and eccentric preacher of the gospel, it is well to consider the peculiar circumstances in which Lorenzo Dow came to be a Christian.

When four years of age he began to muse about God and heaven and hell so much so that he would leave off playing. When thirteen years of age he had a vision in which he saw a man across a mist of darkness in a glassy place, in which a throne of ivory overlaid with gold was seen with God sitting on the throne and Jesus Christ and angels attending. The angel Gabriel came to him to approach the throne with a trumpet in his right hand, asking the boy if he wished to enter that earth, he admonished him to return to earth and be faithful. Soon after the vision Lorenzo was so perturbed about his soul, that he went to a Methodist church, where he was baptized, and he was so strongly believed in by the people at that time, that he determined to destroy his life. Taking a gun to the woods, he was about to shoot when a thought came to him that if he waited a few days something might develop that would help him.

At that time the Methodists had become very active in Lorenzo's home town, and he was attracted to their preaching. Hull's text was "Is There No Balm in Gilead?" etc., and during the sermon, he pointed his finger directly at Lorenzo, and exclaimed, "Young man, you are a sinner. Providence has shown above your head and nothing but the brittle thread of life prevents you from falling into endless perdition." Hope Hull stamped his foot on the floor, and he fell backwards, and he grasped his cousin sitting next to him. Attending a funeral he would not look at the corpse, lest he might become infected with the disease. He said, "I wish he might fall near the grave, and I would have him buried in the same grave as I am upon him. In other visions he saw himself carried off to hell by two devils and heard God say, "Cast him into the fire." Spending a night in prayer, he felt the power of religion he so much sought. He felt the fear of guilt and hell pass from his mind, as if a hundred pounds burden had fallen from him, and he felt the power of God flow in love to God and all mankind.

FROCKS FOR HOME WEAR

CHARMING frock of figured silk is worn by the figure to the left. The waist is in one with the sleeves and is gathered into a cord at the back. Ruche of white tulle finishes the neck and edge of the sleeves. The graduated ruffle on the waist is tucked into a girde of black satin. The puffed upper section of the skirt falls into drapery at the back. The skirt is rounded off at the foot with the right side overlapping the left.

CHIC frock of green cashmere de soie is worn by the central figure. Embroidered velvet forms the flaring collar, small points on the bodice and cuffs. The lower section of the waist begins at the pointed sections of velvet and is bloused into the girdle of blue satin. Similar material forms the buttons. A square section of the material trimmed with a button and pointed tab of embroidered velvet is placed at the front of the skirt below the girde; into this section the skirt is softly draped.

THE semi-tailored cotton crepe worn by the third figure is one of charming simplicity. The skirt is cut on peg top lines. Buttons trim the skirt, which opens in the front. The slashed waist is cut on kimono lines, the fullness is held in place by cords and buttons. Velvet trims the cuffs and the collar and forms the belt, lace is used to trim the collar and cuffs and forms the medici collar.

Last Week's Results:
Peacock 5, G. M. A. 3.
Stone Mountain 16, Marist 1.
Boys' High 16, Donald Fraser 1.

The local prep league ushered in its 1914 season on last Friday with three games.

All of the games were rather large scores, but this was due to all of the red hot prep teams having had no games since the opening of the season. There should be plenty of good games later on in the season.

Boys' High Wins Easily.
Boys' High had very little trouble in disposing of Donald Fraser, as the latter school had their eyes on the ball. When they struck out, Donald Fraser had tallied 16 runs to their opponents.

"Peace Day" of Educational Value

Messages heartily indorsing Miss Baxter's work as chairman of the state committee on peace arbitration are published today from Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, president of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and Professor M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of education.

The peace movement is primarily a plea for justice, for the substitution of the system of law for the system of war. The peace party stands for world organization. More has been done for the world organization since The Hague conference of 1899 than in all the history of the world before.

The United States is said "to represent the greatest and most influential peace society in the world, because it illustrates over a broader area and with greater power than is anywhere else the case the beneficent operation of the three great principles of interstate free trade, an interstate court and federation, which are all that is necessary to extend to international affairs to give us precisely the kind of organized world we want."

Club women of Georgia, of America, have direct responsibility to create such public opinion as shall encourage our government to take the most advanced steps in the decision that must be made as to what questions can be submitted to the coming momentous conference.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Supt. Brittain Praise Work of Peace Committee

Our committee on peace arbitration has been hard at work. Miss Alice Baxter, state chairman, presented her plan of work in an exceedingly strong article on our club page two weeks ago.

A recent speaker on universal peace made the statement that it costs $1,700 to fire one gun during war, and that this amount would educate one boy or girl at college.

It is also stated that two dollars out of three in the federal treasury go to pay for past wars and preparation for future wars, leaving only one-third for constructive purposes.

Quoting from Mrs. Lucia A. Mead, "Peace advocates are sometimes accused to urge disarmament. None but impractical extremists desire to take a third step before they have taken the first, and no men of prominence in the peace movement belong to this class. Disarmament must be preceded by reduction of armaments. Reduction of armaments must be preceded by limitation of armaments."

News of Mass.-Georgia School

The Cross Model school opened the latter part of November with the best attendance and spirit that has been manifest since it has been in Cass. Educational Work of the D. A. R.

Each year the work of the Georgia Daughters of the American Revolution has widened and expanded; new chapters have been organized, and increased activity is reported among the chapters.

The question of immigration in the last few years has been one of vital importance to all southerners. They bring us many gifts, these strangers; they are willing to give their best to the new country which they have chosen for their home.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are striving to educate those true and primitive Americans who have been shut out from the world and enlightenment for years. They wish to mold these boys and girls strong and courageous men and women.

The Martha Berry Industrial School for Boys and Girls, founded and conducted by a Georgia Daughter of the American Revolution, is a splendid example of the good being accomplished in north Georgia.

In today's columns will be found important announcements of the scholarships offered through the national society. Cannot some Georgia girl win one of these?

Contributions were made at the recent conference to Martha Berry and Mineral Bluff schools. Any chapters not present, and desiring to contribute, can send their contributions to Mrs. William Nelson Benton, state treasurer, Augusta, Ga.

The report of Mrs. John M. Graham, chairman committee of patriotic education, will be published on the page today, and will be read with interest.

Fine Report of Committee On Patriotic Education

In the work pointed out for us by the constitution of our society, our educational work has been the spirit of the motto which has always appeared on the state conference year books as the motto of the society in this state—that of Georgia's philanthropic founder.

In recent years we have been placing more stress than ever before upon the patriotism and helpfulness to our countrymen and countrywomen, especially to the young who need the opportunities we can give them to develop into worthy successors of our patriot forefathers.

Since the last conference we have made good progress in this work. Efforts of our state committee on compulsory school attendance, which are discussed in the report of its able chairman, Mrs. A. O. Harper, have gone far toward securing for Georgia a law which will give better opportunities to children prevented by ignorant or indifferent parents from getting the first elements of an education.

FIVE D. A. R. SCHOLARSHIPS

Miss Alice Bristol, head of one of the finest private schools in the country, has presented to the National Society, D. A. R., a scholarship in the Bristol school. This scholarship is valued at $1,000, and gives to the recipient not only the advantages of the high grade of the faculty, but also the delightful home life of the school.

PROSPERITY AHEAD.

The ship of prosperity in Atlanta and throughout America is weighing anchor.

The prophecy is based upon infallible indications!

As regards Atlanta, the regional bank question is settled. Atlanta wins!

But it did not require the additional stimulus furnished by the federal recognition of Atlanta's importance as the business center of this section of the south.

As regards the country as a whole, the most important step has been taken in the organization of the new currency system.

The interstate commerce commission meditates an early decision on the important eastern railroad rate cases.

It may be helpful to an understanding of prevalent tendencies in journalism to analyze why The Constitution should be classified not only as the "standard southern newspaper," but equally as a "standard American newspaper."

The sustained program of The Constitution has been to give the news sanely, fairly, conservatively. Its consistent policy has been to maintain an editorial attitude free of fanaticism, fanaticism, jaundice, bigotry—always eschewing sectionalism, provincialism or geographical bias.

The Constitution has not considered that its mission ceased with symmetrical presentation of the news. It has believed its duty to lie in the permanent development of city, state and section.

The creed that attracts us is the creed of substance and construction. We have had no sympathy with the purulent, meretricious sensationalism that builds temporary success at the expense of decency, of private feelings, of public dignity.

It is possible, even probable, there is room in the national field for the two types of papers—the rank and hysterical sensationalist, the even and well-modulated conservative.

The planting of the current season is farther advanced than in ten years. Prophecy about crops at this stage is tentative.

The fundamentals of prosperity in Atlanta, as in the nation, are wholesome. The banks have plenty of money. They have been hesitating about letting it out because of the uncertainty that inspired caution.

That uncertainty is disappearing, both in the national and the local sense. It looks like summer seas, smooth sailing, record cargoes for the ship of prosperity!

servatism on part of congress, confidence on part of the business man—

And we will enter upon an inheritance of universal prosperity exceeding the banner years that found their climax in the fat years around 1906.

DREAMS THAT COME TRUE.

The Constitution publishes elsewhere today an interesting special section presenting the story of the development of suburban properties on the north side of the city and with the administration of which such men as Ansley, Glover, Rivers, Worley, Bottenfield, Burdette, Holmes, Barrett, Smith & Ewing, and others conspicuously identified with Atlanta real estate expansion are connected.

In commenting upon the outlook for the development of these properties Ed Ansley, in many respects one of the most remarkable geniuses at real estate development the south has ever produced, says: "In the next five years the progress of the section here involved, including not only that in which I am interested but all of the territory contiguous, will surpass even the dreams of the promoters."

Ed Ansley is a man who does not go off half-cocked. He has only to point to what he has done in the phenomenal Ansley Park and Forsyth street projects to submit convincing testimony of his qualifications as a practical prophet.

Three cardinal factors give feasibility to the forecasts of the firms whose announcements appear today. Taken separately, either would justify the hope of the promoters. In combination, they are irresistible.

(1) The Silver Lake development; (2) the taking over of the Brookhaven Country club by the Capital City club, with the consequent enhancement of values near and far; (3) the marvelous response to the Oglethorpe university movement, which great institution is to be in that vicinity.

Bearing in mind the caliber and reputation of the men behind these projects, their success is merely a matter of routine fulfillment. The enterprises are, in a way, an epoch in Atlanta's realty world. They are valuable, also, as being indicative of similar activity in the real estate market on the south side, and in other portions of the north side of the city.

THE BEST SIX NEWSPAPERS.

Among the brightest and most observant of American weekly periodicals is "Life." In a recent issue it discusses with a correspondent the best types of American newspapers, naming The Kansas City Star, The Springfield Republican, The Boston Transcript, The Chicago Tribune, The Baltimore Sun and The Atlanta Constitution—this excluding the New York city field.

The purview of "Life" is national. It has no personal interest to serve in voicing its opinions. Its views carry the weight of judicial detachment.

It may be helpful to an understanding of prevalent tendencies in journalism to analyze why The Constitution should be classified not only as the "standard southern newspaper," but equally as a "standard American newspaper."

The day is the day of the optimist, with facts at his back. Common sense on part of the interstate commerce commission, con-among her first duties to route dirt and disease-breeding uncleanness. There is every reason why this instinct for cleaning should be broadened to include the neighborhood as well as the home.

But a beginning must be made, and one can be easily dramatized by two such big events as grand opera week and the assembling of the Shriners.

If the slogan of "clean up and paint up" is to materialize for grand opera week, there is no time to be lost. Though Atlanta is young, as the age of cities count, and as her wonderful progress is measured, she yet has had time to gather an accumulation of buildings of all sorts and conditions, badly in need of paint and renovation.

An important element of the campaign is the cleansing of public buildings and ornaments. Our policy of accepting public monuments, then letting them accumulate crime and dirt, is a violation of the civic code and a distinct discouragement to public-spirited citizens who may be tempted to make such slightly gifts to the city.

Atlanta is one of the few cities in the south that supports a whole regiment. What such an asset may mean in times of riot or disorder, it is needless to elaborate.

Each year, there is a recurring dispute as to whether or not employers shall be lenient to employees in the matter of membership in the regiment. The inconvenience visited on the employer is negligible.

Gyp the Blood was a child hood companion of Lefty Louie and the story of his entrance into law-breaking is much the same as that of Lefty's.

With Lefty he frequented pool rooms. For a while he was an errand boy when Zelig was killed a letter from Frank was found on his body reciting these facts, saying: "Although I'm a wop, I know you'll stick by me."

Such are the histories of four young men now looked upon as desperate and hardened criminals. Yet beyond their connection with one crime, the world has shown no concern in the stages by which their criminal careers developed.

What Makes Murderers? Putting Gunmen Under Lens of Cold Science

BY WINTHROP D. LANE, Survey Press Bureau.

How are "gunmen" made? "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank" will die in Sing Sing during the week of April 13, unless the governor of New York intervenes.

AN society seems to ask is did they kill Rosenthal, the gambler and "squealer," who was shot in July, 1912? And will they pay the penalty? Doubtless this is society's first responsibility.

"Lefty Louie" was born in the heart of New York's congested lower east side. The family is one of respectable, orthodox Jews.

After an illness at the age of 6, the doctor said that Louie must have all the fresh air he could get. At that time the family was poor and the only fresh air for Louie was the street.

In a couple of years he became, says his father, a "street fiend." The first misdeed his family knew about happened when he was 11 or 12.

Whitey Lewis came to this country with his family from Poland in 1890, when he was 12 years old.

His first arrest came when he was 16. He pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree and was sent to Kilmer reformatory.

There he pitched into a struggle with a fellow who taunted him for being a Jew, and Whitey, who had a knife in his hand, cut his persecutor.

Two of Whitey's brothers have been arrested, one for picking a pocket.

Dago Frank was confirmed in a Protestant Episcopal church at the age of 16. His family attended the church regularly, and it has been said that Frank sang in the choir.

By what steps he came to be a member of the notorious Jack Zelig gang, it is difficult to learn. The attorney, who defended him and the other gunmen, says that he is "the city and conundrum of the four."

Gyp the Blood was a child hood companion of Lefty Louie and the story of his entrance into law-breaking is much the same as that of Lefty's.

With Lefty he frequented pool rooms. For a while he was an errand boy when Zelig was killed a letter from Frank was found on his body reciting these facts, saying: "Although I'm a wop, I know you'll stick by me."

Such are the histories of four young men now looked upon as desperate and hardened criminals. Yet beyond their connection with one crime, the world has shown no concern in the stages by which their criminal careers developed.

No threat to the birth-rate, when the stork arrives even on the streets in Macon.

Georgia Should Exhibit At Frisco Exposition

Editor Constitution: The building of the Panama canal has drawn more than the casual attention of a large part of the world to the southern states of North America and the part they will take in future commercial and industrial history.

The coming Panama-Pacific International exposition offers to the southern states exceptional opportunity to present to the thousands who will visit that great fair their claims to the consideration of prospective home-seekers and investors.

It is to be hoped that Georgia, the empire state of the south, will grasp this opportunity to advertise her rich and varied material resources and also her outlook for educational and intellectual achievements.

Of course, the first requisite for such an enterprise is the money to defray the expense and the providing of this fund rests largely if not wholly with the Georgia legislature at its next session.

Many conservative and farseeing business men believe that an adequate appropriation for representation of Georgia at this great exposition would be fully justified.

That it is the duty of the legislative body to conserve the state's funds goes without saying, but there is a duty no less imperative to utilize far-reaching opportunities such as the Panama-Pacific exposition will afford to advertise the state's resources and activities at a time when to neglect to do so would be to a degree irreparable.

Any exhibit representing the state of Georgia would naturally include her geology, agriculture and other material resources, but I wish to emphasize the importance of an appropriation taking into especial account her educational and intellectual activities.

View of the inconceivable advantages which would result from representation of the great commercial center of Georgia at the world's greatest exposition, we do not look optimistically to our legislature for an adequate appropriation for the purpose?

Awaking to realization of the fact that there are no white or negro germs, but germs nevertheless, the Louisiana State Board of Health has called a conference of southern health officials to meet in New Orleans April 23 to discuss the adoption of some plan or general program for improving the health conditions among the negro population.

The negro knows little of sanitary science, but there is no doubt that he is willing to be taught. Hygiene and sanitation have long been the rule that conditions have become a serious menace to the whites and negroes alike, for the two cannot be considered separately when it comes to a matter of public health.

Miserable shacks, owned by white people; absolute lack of any sanitation; no paving of sidewalks; standing water winter and summer; absence of sewers and water connections—all these, and more, have been largely determining factors in the high mortality. Consumption, as a result, is on an alarming increase, the rate being double that among the whites.

As Business Proposition, Colonel Hall Appeals for Integrity of Georgia Fifth

Editor Constitution: Atlanta is the only city south of Baltimore which has a full regiment of militia. This is a distinction which Atlanta should be loath to relinquish from a standpoint of civic pride, but it is not of this that I want to talk.

We are told that this is an age of commercialism and I want to show the business men of Atlanta in this statement that from a purely color-bloated business standpoint there is no better investment they can make than to encourage their employees to belong to the militia.

The only money we get from the city of Atlanta for the support of the Fifth regiment is a thousand dollars for janitor service and supplies. This amount invested by the city would pay for the services for a year of one policeman.

Atlanta's force of 300 policemen is admittedly numerically too small, even for normal times. The value of the militia in Atlanta is not theoretical. It was proven in the time of the big riot. It is the fact of all cities, no matter how well governed, to meet occasions of that kind periodically.

The presence of a regiment of militia in Atlanta has a direct effect on fire insurance and tax rates. It has an effect on all big business interests. Investigation shows that in all instances the ten days' camp is accepted by the employee as his vacation time.

The only thing that Atlanta has to subscribe to keep the regiment intact is the paltry thousand dollars from the city and the fact that the militia is a part of the city's defense force.

The militia is further shown by the fact that it has directed that all government employees be permitted and encouraged to join the national guard.

Atlanta ought to be proud of her militia. As a matter of fact, Georgia stands highest in efficiency and equipment among all the southern states.

First Feminist Monarch Is Boasted by Spain

The Conversion of King Alfonso Caused Chiefly by His English Queen—Has Thrown Himself Into the Cause With the Ardor He Lately Gave to Sport—Will Go Down in History as the First Feminist King.

Madrid, April 4.—King Alfonso has thrown himself heart and soul into feminism. That is his latest sport. He has been moved to this by accident and by his queen, Victoria. When Alfonso last month went to Santander to talk to the mayor about his new palace, he said to a welcoming group of pretty maids from the Bay of Biscaya's coast that "Spain's schools need first and last a system of practical training for girls in order that these may become workers and citizens as well as wives and mothers." This amazed the pretty Biscaya maids, whose chief notion of being workers and citizens is sitting for hours at a time up to their noses in the neighboring sea baths of Sardinero.

Alfonso's conversion to feminism's sacred cause started loyally with his own family. Until lately Alfonso regarded his kinwomen in true Moorish spirit, and he made a fuss when even his elderly mother, the queen dowager, drove down the Prado without a chaperon. He made a frowny face when his aunt, the Infanta Eulalia, adopted the feminist occupation of authorship. Now with another aunt Alfonso has done just the opposite. He has actually changed the statutes of the Alfonso XIII Order to admit this aunt, the Infanta Maria de la Paz, the second sister of the late Alfonso XII, who is married to Prince Ludwig Ferdinand of Bavaria, and resides at Munich.

Strong for the Cause.

Princess Ludwig Ferdinand has thrown herself boldly into the feminist cause. In particular she aims at spreading knowledge of Spain, and helping Spanish students in south Germany. With this aim she endowed in Munich the Pedagogium Espanol. At first people said that Alfonso was much amused at his aunt's feminine propaganda. Later he so radically changed his mind that he sent her the gold cross of the Alfonso XII order. This order was founded ten years ago to reward the men who have distinguished themselves in the sciences and the arts. The king and the queen have declared categorically that no woman may be decorated. Alfonso has changed the statutes. In a receipt he says: "The statutes need amendment because Spain is full of distinguished women who are striving, creating, and reforming, and these have the same right to be encouraged by the state as men have." Alfonso's next feminist step was to distinguish two famous Spanish women. One is an actress, who is also a feminist philanthropist, the other a famous authoress. The actress is Senora Tubau, a leader of the Spanish comic stage. Senora Tubau has made successful efforts to improve the material and moral position of women on the Spanish stage. She founded in 1909 a juristic institute for actresses' defense, and she fought through three judicial instances (ending up in Madrid supreme court) a lawsuit to break the claim of impresarios to make life-contracts at low salaries with young actresses of talent, who are thereby kept in a state of slavery. Alfonso sent for Senora Tubau, and congratulated her, saying: "I should like to have given judgment myself, but I am not an autocrat."

Decorated for Actress.

He put down the actress' name on the list of persons to get the Alfonso XIII order next year. This is the first time a Spanish actress has ever got a Spanish decoration. The other lady whom Alfonso singled out for distinction is the novel writer and literary historian, Senora Emilia Pardo Bazan, the most talented and indefatigable of Spain's women writers, whose works fill forty-four volumes. Senora Bazan has also written plays for the Teatro Espanol. She lectures as professor in the School for Higher Studies of the Madrid Athenaeum. When Alfonso was told of the efforts which are being made by the ministry of education to improve schools for girls he said: "Why don't you call in Senora Bazan?" Soon afterwards the authoress was appointed a member of the supreme commission of the ministry. Alfonso has also intervened against the academy, which rejected the candidature of Senora Bazan on the ground of her sex. As a result of the king's intervention Senora Bazan will next year be elected.

Nuns Suspected Evil Designs.

Alfonso's visits to Santander town led him to make another excursion into feminism. Alfonso and Santander are great friends. Both are active and sport-loving. Santander's enterprising citizens lately resolved to bring their town and the adjacent watering places by capturing Alfonso. They, therefore, built for the king on an eminence above the town a big chateau. The notion is that Alfonso will spend his hot summers and days to Santander. Madrid's citizens to whom the town is more easily accessible than the fashionable San Sebastian. When Alfonso inspected the chateau he found that some of the designs for wall decorations are the work of young women, trained by nuns at Burgos, which is not far off. He remarked that the decorations executed by men were inferior to the originals which the nuns were working from, and he sent his secretary to Burgos to bring to Santander the two young women who did the designs.

Advocates of Women's Rights.

Advocates of women's rights in Spain say King Alfonso got his feminism from his wife, Queen Victoria. When Queen Victoria arrived eight years ago she had persistent quarrels with court ladies owing to what they considered her improper notions of feminine freedom. Up to that time no young Spanish queen had ever gone out of doors except in company of a much older woman. The Spanish men themselves considered this a law of propriety, and they stared and almost demonstrated in 1866 when their queen was seen in the El Retiro park with only one young lady and an officer in attendance. Ever since then Queen Victoria has been making efforts in a feminist direction. At first Alfonso was not at all edited by her feminism.

activities relate to the training of women in Madrid. He lately visited the technical training school for daughters of officials of the Southern railway, and offered to pay the expenses of importing an Italian teacher of mosaic work. Alfonso is further spurting into feminist activity his cabinet. A whole series of feminist laws has been passed which bring Spain in this matter up to the most advanced countries of central Europe. The most important is the law regulating labor of women in factories, workshops and mines. As a result of this law the number of girls engaged in rough and unhealthy labor in mines has fallen off by 80 per cent. Under an administrative change women have been admitted to nine sub-departments of state ministries. As some officials threatened to make trouble, the minister of the interior issued an order threatening with dismissal any officials who show disrespect to their women colleagues. Two years ago Alfonso signed a law which compels all stores and offices to have a separate specially marked chair for every woman and girl in their employment, and it is now a punishable offense to prevent female employees making use of the chairs. Another reform in the feminist direction deals with the provision of marriage portions for widows and female orphans. Instead of these being deprived on marriage of such state pensions as they draw owing to their husbands or fathers having been state officials they will in future have the pensions capitalized in order to create a dotal fund to solve one of the gravest Spanish questions, as it is almost impossible for young women of the middle classes who are without money to marry. In Madrid, where there are 19 women to 100 men, the position is particularly bad.

Influenced by His Wife.

Advocates of women's rights in Spain say King Alfonso got his feminism from his wife, Queen Victoria. When Queen Victoria arrived eight years ago she had persistent quarrels with court ladies owing to what they considered her improper notions of feminine freedom. Up to that time no young Spanish queen had ever gone out of doors except in company of a much older woman. The Spanish men themselves considered this a law of propriety, and they stared and almost demonstrated in 1866 when their queen was seen in the El Retiro park with only one young lady and an officer in attendance. Ever since then Queen Victoria has been making efforts in a feminist direction. At first Alfonso was not at all edited by her feminism.

Arranges to Decorate an Actress and a Woman Writer for Conspicuous Service—Is Responsible for the Passing of Many Feminist Laws That Bring Spain Up to the Level of the Most Advanced of European Countries.

Even more than his polo playing it caused trouble with the queen. The queen started in Madrid, Valladolid, Salamanca and Barcelona intermediate schools for girls which have a technical and scientific basis and aim at reforming the old Spanish schools in which religion and the domestic virtues are the basis of all training. In 1912 the queen started in these schools special courses of physical training on Swedish lines. In her Madrid schools the girls took to athletics which were formerly unknown in Spain, and also to games. Today Madrid has two girls' hockey clubs. Alfonso regarded with suspicion the technology and the science, but when he discovered that women were capable of sport his heart was touched. Senora Teresa Telleas, a leading feminist, says that only after this did Alfonso begin to see that there is something in feminism. He attended a girls' hockey match, and interviewed the captains of the teams. He asked one captain what she was training for. "Not the hockey profession," said Alfonso. "No," said the hockey girl. "For the profession of engineer." That concern of Alfonso's, an engineer under Spanish law, said Alfonso. "Not now," said the girl, "but, thanks to your majesty's advocacy, I may be able to in four years' time." The queen's early feminism, however, science and technology could be exalted and consecrated by sport gave Alfonso some respect for science and technology and this incident finally put him on the feminist path.

So Today Alfonso Is the Leader of Spain's Feminists.

So today Alfonso is the leader of Spain's feminists. Even his ultra-modern aunt, Eulalia, may hope to be forgiven for her precocious book-writing. That concern of Alfonso's, an engineer under Spanish law, said Alfonso. "Not now," said the girl, "but, thanks to your majesty's advocacy, I may be able to in four years' time." The queen's early feminism, however, science and technology could be exalted and consecrated by sport gave Alfonso some respect for science and technology and this incident finally put him on the feminist path.

London, April 4.—It is again being said that Lady Warwick is about to publish her reminiscences, the ones withdrawn some years ago. She is quite within her rights, as it was not specified at the time that they should never see the light. An awful lapse for those who were concerned. Her brother-in-law, the Duke of Rutland, who hated that any member of his own or his wife's family should come prominently before the public, is dead now so Lady Warwick will have a free hand. But, of course, society is quaking, more especially some of the highest in the land. Lady Warwick is a good friend, but she can be a good foe too.

United States Blamed for Trade Slump

United States and Not the Balkan War Is Blamed. This Country Is Said to Set the Trade Pace for the World Because It Has the Greatest Producing and Consuming Public.

Berlin, April 4.—Europe, and probably the other continents, are on the eve of a first-rate trade depression which may be the worst and duration the longest since 1901 and 1908, is the view that is being daily expressed by Europe's best authorities, by ministers, bankers, manufacturers, exporters and economical experts. These ministers, bankers and experts are warning the manufacturers and exporters against plunging into big enterprises, as the world, they say, is suffering from overproduction, and only by a sharp production in economical activity can equilibrium be restored. The soundness of these forecasts is proved by the fact that they were first made not after there was an actual decline in industrial activity; some of them were made more than a year ago, at a time when prosperity seemed assured. They were made because 1912 showed all the signs of being a pre-slump year, and because the prosperity of the four years' period, 1909-1912, had begun to take the character which always adumbrates a quick and serious decline.

Where Slump Was First Felt.

Bad trade was first of all predicted and first of all felt in central and east Europe, notably in Germany, Austria, Hungary and Russia. Herr von Harnstein, president of the German Imperial bank, nine months ago warned against expansion of credit in view of the coming slump, and the president of the Austrian State bank issued the same warning. Both were accused of pessimism, but today other state officials and nearly all private experts admit they were right.

staked their reputation upon a continuance of prosperity. The reason was that western Europe showed then no sign of depression, whereas there were plentiful signs in eastern Europe. It is now admitted that the depression wave is spreading west, and that no part of Europe will escape.

United States Accused.

Experts say that the United States is responsible for the decline. They reject the current doctrine that the Balkan war played the chief part. They deny even that the Balkan war was mainly responsible for the fall in stock exchange quotations, although the decline started simultaneously with the war. The securities fall, they say, was merely an anticipation of the trade depression, just as the drop in stock prices in 1900 and 1907 anticipated the depressed trade of the following years.

European Financiers Say Trade Depression Is One That May Surpass the Slumps of 1901 and 1908. Extravagance of United States—World Suffering From Over-Production.

Until lately Russia was boasting of unexampled prosperity. She had three good harvests in succession. In the last few months there has been a sharp decline in the metallurgical and the cotton industries. The late mayor of Moscow says that 20,000 unemployed lately left the city, and returned to their villages. The cotton manufacturers predict that the output this year will fall by from 20 to 30 per cent. The view of the president of the Society of Southern Metallurgical companies is that "we are in sight of a period of bad trade, such as has not had for 13 years."

Involve Great Loss.

European economical experts declare that these retreating trade slumps involve an enormous economical loss which is not at all compensated for by the periods of good trade which usually follow them. Herr Kolben says that "trade prosperity and trade depression cannot be set up in opposition to one another as a good thing and a bad thing. The alternative is that the boom is almost as bad as the slump. The two things, in fact, cannot be separated. The boom is as much against the desirable course of things as the slump. When trade is good and the demand for labor is greater than the supply, there is no gain worth mentioning. The workmen gain a little in higher wages and they lose this in strikes, which invariably follow during good trade. The market factors do not gain all the benefit which might result from good trade, because he cannot get enough labor to meet the increased demand for his products. Hence, good trade is not fully turned to advantage, and the phrase is a misnomer. Also it names inevitable bad trade. On the other hand 'bad trade' is entirely an evil. The ideal is an equable state of trade represented by a straight line, and not by a curve which is too high or too low. Equable trade, factories would never run short of labor or of orders, and unemployment would be unknown."

NEW PERSIAN DANCE TELLS OF EPISODES

It Has Been Introduced into London by Mrs. "Montie" Eliot.

London, April 4.—Mrs. "Montie" Eliot was introduced into society dancing and has led more cotillions than any woman of her age. She is the first to introduce into London the new Persian dance, which is so much talked about in Paris. It is very picturesque and each phase of it tells an episode. So far it is only her immediate friends who have seen her rehearse it, and she has been rehearsing it for some time. Mrs. Eliot was, of course, Miss Post, a daughter of Lady Warwick and the late Arthur Post of New York, and she brought a huge fortune to her husband when she married a few years ago.

"Lucille was pleading for the honor of the man she loved—pleading as only a woman can plead. There at the water's edge a soul stirring tragedy was enacted. The aviator—a man among men, was being asked by the girl he loved to risk her life, and his own, to save the name of his strongest rival. Torn between conflicting emotions, he stared at her, half unbelievably, as with appealing intensity she pointed wildly out across the bright blue water to where the majestic liner was steaming rapidly towards the horizon. Lucille hung breathlessly on the aviator's every action. His lips opened for protest, but there was something in the entreating eyes he could not resist. Breathlessly she watched him, awaiting his decision. There was a curiously twisted smile upon his lips when he faced her again. 'Get in' he mentioned. She had won her appeal."
