

GEORGIA TO HOLD ELECTION TODAY

Progressive Candidates Oppose Democratic Nominations for Two Places in the United States Senate.

POLLING PLACES. The following polling places have been located by Ordinary Wilkinson for today's election:

Today is election day. In Georgia, as well as other states of the "solid south," the east and west, the slogan will of the people will be expressed on issues involving the tariff, cotton, liquor, suffrage and party preferences.

The campaign in Georgia has been just a trifle more vigorous than usual. Charles W. McClure, progressive, and a personal friend of Colonel Roosevelt, entered the race against Senator Hoke Smith for the long term, and C. E. Hutchens is after the short term on the progressive ticket in opposition to Representative Thomas W. Harwick.

Georgia is one of the states in which state and national elections are to be held in this state the ticket embraces United States senators, congressmen, governor and state officers, all members of the legislature, judges, solicitors and county officials.

When hunting rooms or board, why tramp streets and stairs when there's an easy way that is a better way?

COTTON IS BARRED FOR NEXT SEASON IN UPPER EGYPT

London, November 2.—A decree has been issued prohibiting the cultivation of cotton in the upper Egyptian basins in 1915, according to Reuter's Cairo correspondent.

Turkey's Apology Too Weak for Allies Bloody Deadlock Continues in France

Turkish Troops Ready to Strike at Russia

(1) TURKISH CAVALRY ON THE MARCH. (2) TYPE OF TURKISH INFANTRY.

Turkey has cast her lot with Germany and Austria in the world war. Her hostile act in firing upon Theodosia, a Russian support in the Black sea, indicated that she had at last prepared to strike at the czar's possessions. This was taken to mean that Greece would join the

GERMANS DEALING VERY HARD BLOWS, BUT FAIL TO GAIN

Allies Strike Back Just as Hard, and the Losses in France and Belgium Are Appalling.

LAST EFFORT BEING MADE TO GET TO THE CHANNEL

Belief Is Expressed That if the Germans Fail They Will Fall Back to Positions in Central Belgium.

London, November 2.—The Germans continue to strike hard blows on the allies' lines in their endeavor to get through to the coast. Thus far they have found every road blocked, but apparently disregarding losses they continue to attack.

The floods, the Belgian army and the British fleet having barred their way southwestward along the coast, the Germans are now striking on a line stretching from Ypres, in Belgium, to La Bassée, farther south in France, but seemingly with no more success.

The stubbornness of the fighting along this line may be gathered from the fact that the town of Messines, which the Germans now occupy, has been taken and retaken no less than four times since last Saturday, each time with enormous losses in killed or wounded.

Attacks also have been made along the entire battle front, as far east as the Vosges region, but according to the French report with the Germans having no more success than in the northwest.

GERMANS MAKE LAST EFFORT

The belief is growing here, and it also has been expressed by those returning from Belgium, that the German effort to make a last effort to break through to the coast and that if it fails they will fall back to positions prepared in central Belgium.

Although the fighting is continuous on the east Prussian frontier, in Poland and Galicia, there is no important change in the situation, and it is believed none is likely until the Russian armies come up with the Germans, who are retiring from the Vistula toward the Warthe river. Of this it is considered likely another big battle will be fought.

The backbone of the rebellion in South Africa seems broken. Colonel Maritz's command in the northern Cape province has been defeated. Several of the raiders and most of their men have been captured. General Beyers is in flight and General De Wet has opened negotiations for surrender, it is said.

The German cruiser Karlsruhe has added three more British steamers to her list of captures in the Atlantic. One, the Van Dyck, is a vessel of about 1,000 tons.

There were reports today of naval activity in the Straits of Dover. A dispatch from Dover said a British torpedo boat destroyer was observed in action apparently against a German submarine.

ALLIES REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS

Paris, November 2.—The following official communication was issued by the French war office at 11 o'clock tonight:

"Between the North sea and the Oise today German attacks have been less violent than yesterday.

"In the region of the Aisne a violent German offensive between Fraire-en-Leprieux and Vailly has failed."

"The French official announcement given out in Paris this afternoon says that yesterday the German attack on the French left wing, particularly between Dixmude and the Lys, continued with great violence. In spite of the counter attacks of the enemy in this region the French made slight progress.

"Our left wing: The German offensive continued yesterday with the same violence in Belgium and in the north of France, particularly between Dixmude and the Lys. In this region, in spite of attacks and counter attacks on the part of the Germans, we made slight progress on almost the entire front, but the village of Messines, a part of which was again lost by the allied troops.

"The enemy undertook an important movement against the right bank of the Aisne, which also resulted in failure. The same outcome attended several night attacks delivered in the heights of the highway Desdames.

"In the region of Rheims: Between the Argonne and the Meuse, and on the heights of the Meuse there was noticed yesterday a recrudescence of activity on the part of the enemy's heavy artillery. The bombardment of these places, however, did not show any appreciable result.

"On our right wing an offensive movement of reconnaissance by the enemy on November 1, 1914, was possible. The converse applies to vessels outward bound.

Allies Insist Turkey Must Dismantle Fleet And Demobilize Army

All German Officers Must Also Be Dismissed. Entente Powers Hold That Apology Amounts to Nothing So Long as Germans Control Turkey's Fleet and Army—Generally Believed Turkey Will Enter the War—Bulgaria Begins to Mobilize Her Army—Britain Is Prepared to Resist Turkish Attack on Egypt—Russia Orders All Turks From Empire.

Constantinople, November 2.—(Via Amsterdam to London, 11:30 p. m.)—The Servian minister will leave Constantinople tonight or tomorrow.

Bulgaria Begins to Mobilize

London, November 2.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome says:

"A message from Sofia declares that Bulgaria has ordered the mobilization of her second line of troops. The first line troops already have been mobilized."

Turkey Must Give Guarantees

London, November 2.—The grand vizier of Turkey has apologized on behalf of his government for the warlike operations of the Turkish fleet under German commanders in the Black sea, but it was stated authoritatively tonight that the Porte will have to go much further than this before the powers of the triple entente will agree to resume friendly relations with the Ottoman government.

The apology came after Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish ambassador to Great Britain, had been handed his passports.

SHIPS ARE WARNED TO SHUN NORTH SEA

London, October 2.—The entire North sea has been declared a military area and merchant vessels entering it will be exposed to the gravest dangers from mines it has been necessary to lay, and from warships which are searching night and day for suspicious craft.

This action has been taken as a reply to the laying of mines by the Germans in the water north of Ireland.

The secretary of the admiralty tonight made the following announcement of the virtual closing of the North sea to traffic:

"During the last week the Germans have scattered mines indiscriminately in the open sea on the main trade route from America to Liverpool via the north of Ireland.

"Peaceful merchant ships already have been blown up with loss of life by this agency.

"Narrow Escape of Olympic. The White Star liner Olympic escaped disaster by pure good luck, but for warnings given by British cruisers other British and neutral merchant and passenger vessels would have been destroyed.

"These mines cannot have been laid by any German ship of war. They have been laid by some merchant vessel flying a neutral flag.

"In these circumstances, having regard to the safety of peaceful commerce on the high seas and to the maintenance within the limits of international law of trade between neutral countries, the admiralty feels it necessary to adopt exceptional measures.

"They, therefore, give notice that the whole of the North sea must be considered a military area. Within this area merchant shipping of all kinds, trade of all countries, fishing craft and all other vessels will be exposed to the gravest dangers from mines which it has been necessary to lay from warships searching vigilantly by night and day for suspicious craft.

Warning to All Vessels. All merchant and fishing vessels are hereby warned of the dangers they encounter by entering this area, except in strict accordance with admiralty regulations as to the date of November onwards the admiralty announces that all ships passing a line drawn from the northern point of the Hebrides through the Faroe islands to Iceland do so at their own peril.

"The same warning is being issued to trade to and from Norway, the Baltic, Denmark and Holland are advised to avoid the sea route, so far as the Hebrides through the Faroe islands to Iceland do so at their own peril.

NEWSPAPER CAMPAIGN TO CUT COTTON ACREAGE

Editors of South to Meet in Memphis Nov. 12, to Discuss Situation.

Memphis, Tenn., November 2.—After an exchange of views by a number of the newspapers of the south, a call was issued tonight for a conference in this city November 12 of representatives of all the daily and agricultural papers in the southern states to discuss the cotton situation. The general purpose of the meeting is to organize a system of publicity that will encourage a voluntary reduction of the cotton acreage next year and the planting of unused lands in other crops.

It is planned to adopt a system of reporting pledges to reduce acreage to a central body, which, in turn, would inform the trade within thirty days to what extent reduction is contemplated. Plans for a united effort for crop diversification will be formulated. Cotton, in its relation to banking and the country merchant, also will be considered.

"From investigations already made by some of the papers," the announcement states, "sufficient data has been secured from farmers to warrant the belief that proper publication of voluntary pledges of curtailment of production will result in a general reduction, the extent of which made public would offset the price of the present cotton crop to a point nearer its value than the prices now quoted."

The call is signed by The Memphis Commercial Appeal, Raleigh, N. C. News and Observer; Columbia, S. C. State; Atlanta Constitution; Atlanta Journal; Birmingham News; New Orleans Times-Picayune; Jackson, Miss. Clarion Ledger; Arkansas Gazette and Houston, Texas, Post.

12 PERSONS KILLED BY LIQUOR BOUGHT FROM DRUG STORE

Bristol, Va., November 2.—Twelve persons had died here tonight as a result of drinking liquor that contained wood alcohol last Saturday. All the victims, according to the authorities, purchased the liquor at the drug store of D. A. Bisbee, who is under arrest. Feeling in the town ran high today, and the sheriff removed Bisbee to Middlebury.

About thirty others who are said to have purchased liquor at Bisbee's store on Saturday were watched by physicians today. Several were reported dangerously ill.

YOUNG BRIDE TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Family Misunderstanding the Cause of Action, It Is Stated.

Mrs. Gladys R. Sandford, 17 years old and a pretty bride of a few months, attempted suicide Monday evening about 7 o'clock by means of carbolic acid. It is said that despondency, arising from a nervous condition and a family misunderstanding, was the cause of her act.

According to her husband, who is a conductor for the Georgia Railway and Power company, Mrs. Sandford had been in the best of spirits, entertaining two friends of the family, who had called and remained for supper.

While Mr. Sandford was accompanying his guests to the car line, his wife sent Edward, 12 years old, son of J. R. Verner, with whom they are rooming, at 29 Hull street, to a nearby drug store for the acid. Without leaving a note for her absent husband or notifying other parties in the house of any unusual intentions, Mrs. Sandford swallowed the acid. She had told the little boy that the drug was needed as a disinfectant.

When Mr. Sandford returned a few moments later he found his wife lying across their bed. Mr. and Mrs. Verner did all in their power to relieve the suffering woman until the arrival of the Grady ambulance. At the hospital it is believed that she will recover.

METROPOLITAN STARS COME FROM WAR ZONE

Geraldine Farrar and Strika Tell of the Discomforts They Endured.

Boston, November 2.—Twenty principals and seven-five members of the chorus of the Metropolitan Opera company arrived from the European war zone by way of Naples on the steamer Caronia tonight. High salaried singers, used to traveling in luxury, told of seemingly endless journeys in third-class railroad cars, freight cars, farm carts and boats in their efforts to escape from the trouble area.

Among the passengers were Enrico Caruso, Emmy Destinn, Miss Geraldine Farrar, Director Guallo Gatti-Casazza, Conductor Arturo Toscanini, Giorgio Polacco, Miss L. Bori and Freida Hempel.

Miss Farrar was in Munich when war was declared. She first went to Amsterdam, hoping to obtain passage there for New York, but hearing the North sea was mined, decided to go to Naples.

"All I remember," she said, "is what seemed to be constant travel in smelly, dirty, third-class trains, sleepless nights and a boat in their effort to escape from the trouble area.

"After being hunted about for eleven days, waiting on sidings for troop trains to pass, sleeping in crowded cars and often going hungry, we found ourselves back in Munich. We planned the Stars and Stripes prominently on our coats and stood in their front. This time we went through Switzerland, where traveling was just as uncomfortable as on our trip to Amsterdam."

Caruso said he had been living "simple life" on his farm outside Florence, Georgia Polacco and his wife, who were in London when the war began, hurried to Casabad, where they were detained for fifteen days by the authorities. They made the journey to Milan after they were released in farm carts and freight cars.

CHINESE FLOOD SPREADS

Washington, November 2.—Official dispatches from the American legation at Peking report that the flood in the Hwai river district in China is spreading and that a million people are affected. No details were given.

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION; PEOPLE ARE IN PANIC

Naples, Via Rome, November 2.—Mount Vesuvius is again in eruption, and the inhabitants in its vicinity have become greatly alarmed. On Sunday special prayers were made and processions of people went to favored shrines as a repetition of the disaster of 1906 is feared.

The activity of the volcano first manifested itself by deep detouring rumblings. This was followed by gigantic columns of smoke, and soon thereafter an abundant eruption of lava began.

The last serious eruption of Mount Vesuvius occurred in the spring of 1906. Several villages were destroyed and the property loss was estimated at $20,000,000. About 300 persons were killed and 50,000 were rendered homeless and often going hungry, we found ourselves back in Munich. We planned the Stars and Stripes prominently on our coats and stood in their front. This time we went through Switzerland, where traveling was just as uncomfortable as on our trip to Amsterdam."

Caruso said he had been living "simple life" on his farm outside Florence, Georgia Polacco and his wife, who were in London when the war began, hurried to Casabad, where they were detained for fifteen days by the authorities. The stamp taxes on documents will go into effect December 1.

TURKISH ARMY MUST DEMOBILIZE. This would give Russia such superiority in the Black sea that there would be no danger of Turkish fields. It is suggested also that demobilization of the Turkish army would be demanded, which would mean that those troops which have crossed the Egyptian frontier must be withdrawn. However, as the terms of Turkey's apology, which apparently was made in London, have not been published and must be considered by the entente powers before the apology is accepted or refused, there seems to be a long way to go before diplomatic relations between the Ottoman government and the allies can be resumed. An added difficulty is that the ambassadors of the entente powers have left Constantinople, which will make it troublesome to ascertain whether the whole Turkish cabinet concurs in any agreement reached. Meanwhile a report comes from Constantinople of the seizure of another Russian steamer and also that Bulgaria, which had been asked to choose between the two, has decided to commence to mobilize her second line troops.

HOW TO HAVE LONG BEAUTIFUL HAIR By a Hair Specialist. It is not hard to stop the hair from falling out and promote its growth if the right means are used. There is no hope for the scalp where the hair roots are dead and the scalp is shiny. However, to those who have not reached this condition, immediate steps should be taken to stop it before it is too late. Here is a simple recipe which you can make at home, that will stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and eradicate scalp eruptions and scalp burners. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 oz. of glycerine, and apply to the hair, rubbing with the finger tips, two or three times a week. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home. This recipe not only promotes the growth of the hair, but darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy.

BRITAIN TRUSTS LORD KITCHENER. Concerning the campaign in Egypt, Lord Kitchener will meet the situation. Turkey, it is argued in London, will be forced to accept a guaranteed territory. First, the invasion of Egypt, second, the blockading of the Suez canal, and third, the attack on the British in India as well as among these religious wars in Egypt. It is stated by a London agency which Great Britain regards with the most concern, although nothing has been heard of the British in Egypt. Mohammedans have been convinced, in any large body anywhere, that their religion is the true one. The week is likely to see the crystallization of the sentiment in Italy and elsewhere, as regards Turkey's entrance into the conflict.

AMERICAN CITIZENS ARE LEAVING TURKEY. Ambassador Morgenthau Reports That Conservative Turks Do Not Want War. Washington, November 2.—Turkey's apology through the grand vizier "for recent events in the Black sea" was announced today at London, was a sequel to events which Ambassador Morgenthau reported today in confidential cipher messages to the state department. It was accepted here as indicating clearly that conservative members of the Ottoman cabinet purpose to avert war with the triple entente. Mr. Morgenthau cabled under date of 5 p. m. Saturday that shortly after the Russian ambassador demanded his passports from the Turkish government, a circular note called on a certain neutral diplomat and asked him to go to the Russian envoy to ascertain if an apology by Turkey for the bombardment of Russia's coast was being received and would be accepted and would pacify Russia.

GERMANS MUST GO. The neutral diplomat saw the Russian ambassador, who said that his instructions to leave Constantinople were absolute, but that when all German sailors, soldiers and officers were dismissed summarily from the Turkish navy and when he had been advised of the dismissal of Turkey he would return and resume diplomatic relations with the Ottoman empire.

TURK APOLOGY UNSATISFACTORY. London, November 2.—A Central News dispatch from Bordeaux says: "The French government has issued a statement in reply to a note of the triple entente powers, confined itself to protesting against the German warships into the Dardanelles and expressed a desire to remain at peace. In default of the dismissal of German officers in the Ottoman service, the government of the triple entente will be unable to maintain the passive attitude which it has offered to adopt. The Ottoman government not having thought it its duty to give, by dismissing the German officers, the mark of sincerity which the triple entente requested, the ambassadors of France, Russia and Great Britain, in conformity with the instructions of their governments, demanded their passports from the grand vizier and left Turkey. From the information received from North Africa, it appears that the Mussulman world intends in no degree to throw its lot with the Turks."

MARTIAL LAW FOR EGYPT. Washington, November 2.—Martial law was proclaimed today in Egypt throughout Egypt. An official notification by the British charge d'affaires at Cairo was delivered to American diplomatic agents there. On orders from London, the commander-in-chief of the British forces took control of the situation and issued orders to suppress all outbreaks. GERMAN GOLD FOR TURKEY. London, November 2.—The following dispatch has been received by Reuters from Constantinople by way of Sofia: "The Russian ambassador, after receipt of the news of the British attack on Odessa, immediately sought an interview with the grand vizier to ask for his passport. The grand vizier was informed, however, that the grand vizier was too ill to be seen. The Russian ambassador, saw the grand vizier the following afternoon and found him greatly distressed. He stated that the incident, concerning which he protested his innocence. It is understood he expressed the hope that the triple entente would pause before taking an irretrievable decision. The Russian ambassador stated that Constantinople political circles that an adjustment might be reached through a complete and voluntary repatriation of the German officers and crews, disarmament of the cruisers Goeben and Breslau and demobilization of the Turkish army. In diplomatic quarters, however, the opinion is expressed that such a course would be rejected by Turkish chauvinists. War is regarded as inevitable. A striking evidence of the extent to which Germany is backing Turkey was afforded by the receipt a few days ago by the Constantinople branch of the Deutsche bank of $1,000,000 gold."

NO AMERICANS HURT AT ODESSA. Washington, November 2.—No Americans were injured in the Turkish bombardment of Odessa and the American property was insignificant, according to a report today from the American consul at Odessa. The consul cabled that the local authorities at Odessa claimed the Turkish boats which had entered the harbor were under the command of German officers.

TURK GUNBOATS AT GULF OF SEZ. London, November 2.—A Rome dispatch to the Central News asserts that Turkish gunboats are reported at the entrance to the Gulf of Suez. Turkish detachments of Turkish cavalry, according to the same dispatch, have reached the village of Akaba, Arabia, on the gulf of the same name.

TURKS SINK THEIR OWN SHIPS. Amsterdam, November 2.—(Via London.)—A Constantinople dispatch says: "According to reliable news an Anglioteine bay, Asia Minor, forty miles west of Smyrna, where the small Turkish steamer Kanli-Adda were anchored. The commander of the Turkish boats asked the captain of the Anglioteine steamer Kanli-Adda were anchored up his own vessel to prevent their capture by the allied fleet."

MOSLEMS RALLY TO RUSSIA. Petrograd, November 2.—A dispatch

CANADIAN VOLUNTEERS NOT HAPPY IN ENGLAND. Salisbury, Eng., October 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Members of the Canadian contingents are anything but happy in their camps on the lonely Salisbury plains. They are the distances to the inhabited part of the country as great as at the Viceroy's camp, and the parsimony of the country in providing food has added to their discontent. English-born members of the contingent are especially anxious to visit relatives and friends, but few of them have been granted leave.

CANADA WILL FURNISH TWO ARMY DIVISIONS. Ottawa, Ont., November 2.—Canada's next contingent of soldiers for European service will consist of 15,000 men. The British war office has asked that the second expeditionary force bring the extra men of the first contingent up to the strength of an army division. Canada now has in England a full army division of between 22,000 and 23,000 men and four additional battalions of infantry. Enlistment will be continued to keep the two divisions up to strength. Army authorities expect that once the units get into active service, yearly reinforcements will be required at the rate of 70 per cent of the total forces engaged.

NOBEL PEACE MONEY FOR THE BELGIANS. The Hague, Netherlands, November 2.—(Via London.)—The Netherlands government, at Amsterdam, has published a report from Christians saying that the managers of the Nobel institute have decided to give this year's peace prize, which amounts to about $40,000, to the Netherlands government to be applied toward the support of Belgian refugees in Holland.

GERMAN DESERTERS INTERNEED AT FRISCO. San Francisco, November 2.—The first troops of warring European nations to be interned in this country were taken in charge here today by United States marines when four men said to be deserters from the German submarine cruiser undergoing repairs at Honolulu, arrived on the Pacific mail steamer Korea. The German deserters were taken aboard the United States cruiser Cleveland and supposedly will be interned in this country during the war.

GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS ORDERED FROM RUSSIA. Washington, November 2.—Russia ordered all German and Austrian subjects to leave Russia within the next two weeks, according to a notification received today by the United States government.

MORE BRITISH VESSELS TAKEN BY KARLSRUHE. London, November 2.—A dispatch to Lloyd's Shipping Agency from Larva, Greece, reports that the German submarine Asuncion has landed there the passengers and crews of the British steamers Sandeek, Kurask and Glanion, which were captured by the German cruiser Karlsruhe in latitude 1 south, longitude 10 west.

ALL TURKS MUST QUIT RUSSIA. London, November 2.—(11:25 a. m.)—A Petrograd dispatch says the prefect of police has issued an order expelling from the country within a week all Turkish subjects.

HAD PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS. All Over Face, Burnt and Stung So Impossible to Get Any Rest. Ashamed to Go in Public. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

"27 Dabney Ave., Vicksburg, Miss.—About four years ago pimples and blackheads came all over my face which worried me. First they were very red, then they would come to a head and after they were opened they burnt and stung so badly it was impossible to get any rest. At night it was almost unbearable. I got much sleep and could not keep my hands off my face. I was ashamed to go in public for almost everyone had some remark to make of the way my face looked. I took some patent medicine but that did not good. I also had my face cuticura and did not get any good. I then sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them and they did so much good I decided I would give them a fair trial. So I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and I was completely cured. (Signed) Mrs. E. D. Richards, Jan. 1, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail. Children prefer Cuticura Soap because of its soothing emollient properties in all cases of irritation of the skin and scalp, especially when assisted by light touches of Cuticura Ointment. PLAN TO HURRY FOOD TO HUNGRY BELGIANS. The Rockefeller Foundation Steamer Will Leave New York Today. New York, November 2.—To lose no time in carrying out its decision, announced yesterday, to help the destitute non-combatants in Europe with the Rockefeller millions, the Rockefeller foundation was encrossed today with plans for setting the first relief ship away tomorrow, and immediately sending its own commission to Europe to direct further work. This is the first time that the Rockefeller foundation, whose endowment is $100,000,000, has undertaken such a large-scale work; its philanthropies heretofore having been concerned with work along scientific lines. The first move in sending a relief ship to Europe immediately involves an outlay of $75,000, and from the announcement of plans it would appear that this was only a small part of what was contemplated, and that the appropriation migration will be the largest individual donation ever made for war relief. The commission which will be sent to investigate conditions will leave within a few days. The chairman is Wickliffe Rose, director general of the international health commission. Other members of the commission will soon be named. Praise for the plans of the Rockefeller foundation for the immediate relief of the non-combatants in Belgium is contained in statements made public today by Henry de Bevelin, Belgian consul general, and Lionel Hueston, a member of the Belgian relief committee. The importance of the Rockefeller foundation relief measures may be realized when it is known that not more than ten days' supplies remain for the Belgian people, according to Mr. Hueston's statement. "This aid could not come at a more fortunate time. A splendid organization has been provided throughout Belgium for the distribution of supplies which is recognized by both the Belgian and German governments. This organization is composed of prominent Belgians, who will see to it that the food supplies reach those for whom they are intended."

RUSSIAN ARMIES ON THE OFFENSIVE

Petrograd Reports Steady Advance Beyond the Vistula—Germans Reported Driven in Eastern Prussia.

Petrograd, November 2.—The following report from the general staff of the Russian command in chief is made public here tonight:

"On the front in eastern Prussia our troops have repulsed German attacks directed against Vlodzislaw, driving the enemy from the eastern edge of the Rominten forest and advanced to the north of lake Kusperod.

Beyond the Vistula, our troops continue the offensive without having stopped. Only in the region of Opatow the Austrians attempted to resist us with considerable forces. They were repulsed. Beyond the Opatow river the Austrians hold a fortified position in Galicia on the San river our troops entered the village of Nisko, where fierce fighting took place.

On the rest of the front the situation is virtually unchanged.

The military correspondent of The Novoe Vremya, explaining the changing dispositions of the enemy's forces, says that the Russian troops are moving south and southwest toward the west Galician frontier and Cracow, while the Germans, retreating from Warsaw, are falling back west and southwest toward the San river.

"As the Russian troops from Warsaw and Novoe Georgievsk follow the Germans the Russian east Prussian corps is moving toward the regions northwest of Warsaw and are occupying both banks of the Vistula below Warsaw.

German officers captured say the impassable roads have forced the Germans to follow the double tracked rail road from Warsaw to Czestochowa through Shierulice and Piotrkow.

The southern divisions are following the railway lines from Kielec toward Cracow while the German extreme left wing is drawing reinforcements from Thorn and Mlaw.

BATTLE UNDECIDED, DECLARES BERLIN.

Berlin, November 2.—(Via Amsterdam.)—The battle in progress between the Germans and Russians in the Balkans and Austro-German front is drawing to a close, according to an announcement issued here today, communications undecided.

The Austrians would appear to be slipping themselves for a renewal of the fighting between the main forces of Austria and the Austro-German allies.

The Austrians and the Germans have completed their preparations for a renewed offensive. The Austrians are moving forward in the direction of the Russian line. There were several encounters, in which the Russians were driven on.

The Austrians in southern Galicia have succeeded in crushing back the Russian left flank, which for several days had been making a desperate stand in carefully prepared positions between Tulka and Stary-Sambor. The Austrians are now in the process of pushing the Russian retreat from this region to entrench themselves. They had a strong field position of access by the broken nature of the country. Consequently it was a hard task to effect them. The Austrians claim a complete victory and report that the enemy was driven from the positions.

The Austrians also report further successes in Bukovina. They have repulsed a Russian attack and they have defeated a Russian force to the north of Kuthyn, making a desperate stand. The British cruiser Hermes last Saturday was made public here this afternoon. No particulars however were given.

AUSTRIA REPORTS RUSSIAN REPULSES

Manchester, Mass. October 2.—Dr. Konstantin Theodor Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador here, gave out here a wireless message from Count Von Berchtold, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister regarding fighting in the Balkans, which was received here.

In Russian Poland attacks on our positions have been repulsed. Several detachments of our troops have been sent to the front.

A battle lasting several days in the Tulka and Stary-Sambor districts ended in a Russian victory. The Austrians are bombarding Chelnowitz (Czernowitz).

In Servia our troops have advanced. Notwithstanding the desperate resistance of the Servians, we have taken five more places.

GERMANS CLAIM SOME PROGRESS.

Berlin, November 2.—(Via London.)—German headquarters issued the following report:

In our attacks on Ypres further ground has been gained and we have taken the city.

In the fighting in the Aronne successful forward movements have been made. The enemy has suffered several losses.

In the eastern theater the situation is unchanged. Russian attempts to break through near Tzjtkhemmen failed.

Information given out today for the press in official quarters is as follows:

The progress of the fighting on the front in the north is favorable. The report given out yesterday with its news that the French had been thrown back across the Aisne at a point near Soissons and that the operations already had been extended to the west front of the Aisne is regarded as the most favorable issued for some time past.

Letters from the front reaching Berlin describe the fighting as a series of sharp attacks on the part of the Germans, which forced the way southward by repeated attacks. The toll of death was not light on both sides.

FIGHTING MARKED BY FEROCITY

Berlin, November 2.—(Via The Hague to London.)—Fighting now on the northern front is of a particularly savage character. The day of the wounded suffer from bayonet wounds which often pass completely through the bodies.

The Austrians along wide stretches of the battle front in northern France have removed the civilian populations from the vicinity of the front, thus depriving the enemy's main sources of information. The French artillery which in the night struggles along the Aisne showed a certain superiority as a result of this information is now working to its advantage.

The Germans are using armored cars in a particularly effective manner in bringing up supplies of ammunition and provisions to the front. The Austrians are being used to maintain communication with their divisions.

The report that the Austro-German commander Goltz had tendered his resignation as governor general of Belgium is denied.

IT'S BUTCHERY, SAY GERMANS.

Amsterdam, Holland, November 2.—(Via London.)—The Hague dispatches contain the following:

All German attempts to break through the lines in the Aronne, Niport and Dinmude have failed. In spite of the greatest sacrifices the Germans have not gained ground on the only flank of the front.

Communication with Ostend is almost completely interrupted. Attempts to break through the lines are being made, but with no success.

The Austrians are continuing to cross the frontier near Stius in large numbers. They declare that it is no longer a question of battle, but of butchery.

A Telegram dispatch from Stius says a German attempt to break through the front is being made.

It is reported the dispatch adds that the Austrians yesterday occupied Glatigny on the Ostend-Niport canal which means that the Austrians have suffered a heavy loss.

A strong detachment of German troops with heavy guns arrived at the front yesterday from Ghent. The troops are going unopposed to the front.

TEAM WORK MAKES BOSTON CHAMPIONS ON BASEBALL FIELD

otherwise it will be necessary for the Germans to withdraw behind the Rhine. The situation is very serious. The German general von Meyer was killed at Dinmude Friday.

ARMORED TRAIN ROUTES GERMANS.

London, November 2.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail in northern France, telegraphing under date of Saturday, relates how a force of ten thousand Germans was completely routed and scattered by an armored train.

He says:

The Germans had almost surrounded a British regiment, which fought on doggedly though so vastly outnumbered. Suddenly an armored train shot up the railway line which the British were holding. The train poured broadsides of machine gun fire, mowing down the Germans as they were until the line on each side was covered with heaps of German dead. The rest fled precipitately and the British pursued.

GERMANS QUIT DRIVE AT CAIS.

Rottterdam, November 2.—(Via London.)—Advices from Belgian coast towns state that the exchanges of artillery fire between the Germans and the warships which were most of these towns, Westende, Westkerke and Midsdelkerke are all in ruins. There has been no further fighting. The German march on Calais and present advances point to an abandonment of that movement.

RIGHTS OF U. S. VESSELS RECOGNIZED BY BRITAIN

Washington, November 2.—By releasing the Standard Oil tank steamer Puritania to the British government, Britain has reached an understanding with Denmark that the oil will not be exported to Germany.

The United States government has declined to recognize any authority on the part of the British government to detain such cargoes with or without an embargo, but as long as there are no further seizures there will be no ground for pushing the protest.

A suggestion from British sources that American vessels seeking to enter the North sea would save trouble by voluntarily stopping at a Scotch port to have their cargoes viced has not met with the approval of the state department, probably because of a desire to avoid recognizing any British authority over the movement of these ships.

GERMAN SUBMARINE ATTACKED IN CHANNEL

London, November 2.—Heavy firing was heard off the foreland at Dover to day. The British gunners fired in succession. The concussion rattled windows at Deal.

A British torpedo boat destroyer could be seen outside Goodwin Sands and it was surmised that the British ship had attacked a German submarine known to be in the channel.

BELGIANS ARE PEOPLE WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Between Six and Seven Million Made Homeless by Destruction Wrought by Germans.

Brussels, November 2.—(Via London.) Between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 Belgians have little or nothing to call home. They are a people almost without a country.

Foodstuffs, forage, horses, cattle and automobiles not commandeered by the Belgian army when the war broke out have been seized by the Germans. Practically every acre is now swept of everything valuable.

It is estimated that there are now 200,000 Belgians in England and 800,000 in Holland.

The lowest estimate made here places the number of Belgian homes destroyed or so badly damaged as to be uninhabitable at 1,000,000. Malines, Louvain, Liege, Namur, Charleroi, Mons, Dinant and a score of smaller places have been so shattered by the artillery fire of the opposing armies that less than half of the normal population are recently sheltered.

A report from Luxembourg says that the supplies for the bread line have been exhausted and the feeding can be renewed only when American food arrives.

Cattle Seized for Armies.

The seizure of cattle for the armies has left the country without beef, milk and cheese. The supply of grain ordinarily imported from the United States and Canada, however, is being used to feed the eastern portion, but now that the fighting has become the scene of fighting Bruges, Ghent, Antwerp and Ostend are suffering the same distress which earlier befell the eastern part of the country.

At Liege the Pilsburg of Belgium (the steel industry) has been brought to a standstill. At Antwerp the New York of the Belgians, all shipping has been seized. Hundreds of Belgian warships are dead in Flemish battle fields. The drivers and freight handlers are in hospitals or with King Albert's army. Newport and Ostend, the latter suffering Atlantic City to an American, are occupied by the Germans and the day of the Belgians is filled with German wounded. A row of hotels along the beach at the resort fly the Red Cross flag.

Brussels, the deserted capital, has been spared destruction but its industries are shut down. Lace workers are being fed at soup kitchens. The stores have no food to sell and the public has no money to buy if opportunity offered. Members of noble families have discharged their servants and joined the bread line.

The fear is commonly expressed that the city with its famous buildings will be destroyed either by attack or by the Germans themselves, should they be compelled to retire.

German Money in Use.

German money is in general use. Military proclamations in all the store windows announce that the mark must be accepted. Brussels has no postal communication except with Germany. Everything is censored. No railways operated in central Belgium. Most of the lines are without bridges. Canals are the only avenues for the shipment of freight.

Belgians here estimate that one-fifth of the Belgians remaining in the country have employment of some sort. These include farm owners and lessees. The best crop has been ruined by the armies and sugar factories are closed. There are no horses or other equipment for harvesting or trains to move the small amount of crops that have survived. The devastation of war and few able-bodied men to assist the women who are endeavoring to ward off starvation by gathering what little remains of the crop, in the field.

Antwerp's diamond cutters are in the army. Malines tapestry factories are in ruins. Many cotton mills are in ashes and those that still stand are closed. All universities and schools have been abandoned. Nearly all physicians are at the front or serving in the hospitals. Few churches are fit for occupancy as hospitals or otherwise. Convent homes have been deserted by the sisters. Many are so badly wrecked they could afford no shelter.

Canada leading from Belgium to Holland and the one railway line between Antwerp and Brabant connect the Belgians' only communication with neutral territory. There are no mails or telegraphic service to Dutch territory.

Isolation Complete.

The disheartened Belgians are unable to communicate with their relatives whether they are refugees in Holland or soldiers on the battle line. Their isolation is almost complete. To the grief over their dead and the exile of their government is now added the awful specter of starvation.

The single ray of hope is afforded by the American commission for relief in Belgium. The liberality of Holland is described as splendid but the country's grain supply is exhausted. Great Britain having limited Dutch importations, the sole source of an adequate food supply is the United States.

Even the few Belgians with money cannot buy food. There is no wheat flour, coffee or salt to be had at any price. In many cities conditions are worse than in country districts. Bakeries are closed and vegetables are the only diet. Supplies that the American commission is shipping will help a little, but thousands of Belgians positively are hungry.

Imperfect means of communication have proved the American minister, Brand Whitlock and other prominent men, from advising the world fully of the terrible situation that confronts the Belgians as winter opens. The absence of King Albert and high government officials has made it impossible for the local authorities to make their plight known.

HEAVY GERMAN GUNS ON NORTH SEA ISLAND

London, November 2.—A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam says that German 42-centimeter guns have been moved from Borkum island, in the North sea.

Borkum is a small island belonging to Prussia at the mouth of the Ems. It is sixty miles southwest of Helgoland and is the most southerly of a string of islands that skirt the German coast from Cuxhaven to the mouth of the Ems. With several islands owned by The Netherlands, constitute the Frisian group.

The strategic value of Borkum island, which is six miles in length and two miles wide lies in the fact that it commands the estuary of the Ems and might perhaps be used as a submarine base and also in the defense of La't Friesland, the district of Prussia that forms the northwestern most corner of Hanover and of the German empire.

German submarines are known to be operating along the southern shores of the North sea and heavy guns placed on the German islands might be valuable in defending their base.

SCOTLAND IS ANGERED BY ANDREW CARNEGIE

London, November 2.—A dispatch to a news agency from Dundee, Scotland says that local sentiment against Andrew Carnegie because of his alleged pro-German attitude is so strong that the statue of Mr. Carnegie, which was erected by the citizens of his native town last June was pelted by a crowd of Carnegie films which have been exhibited at moving picture houses have been withdrawn the correspondent says.

GERMANY AND BRITAIN TO EXCHANGE SUBJECTS

Washington, November 2.—Germany and Great Britain have reached an understanding through the medium of the American government whereby each will permit all enemy subjects except those between the ages of 15 and 50 to return to their respective countries. In no case will women and children be detained. The duration of those between 15 and 50 years is due to the fact that both Germany and Great Britain desire to keep their own subjects who would bear arms from joining their colors.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION IN EUROPE WELL HANDLED

(From The Los Angeles Courier-Journal)

David Lubin of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome does not believe the American people can reduce the cost of living by penalizing the trusts.

In an interview in The New York Times Mr. Lubin insists that the way to stop the trusts from fixing prices on goods is to take the goods away from the trusts.

This is to be accomplished through the organization and co-operation of producers and the establishment of a national marketing commission to supervise the distribution of food products.

Mr. Lubin points out that this plan is being followed with great success in European countries. If those densely populated countries he says were to permit their food products to drift into the hands of trusts it would create a state of permanent famine and starvation and soon would result in revolutionary uprisings. To illustrate his point about taking the goods away from the trusts he adds:

An illustration

Supposing Mr. Armstrong were to send his bananas to Denmark with commission to start in egg trusts there and with a checkbook with a large amount of cash behind it to buy eggs. When would that manager have to buy them in Denmark? He would have to buy them in the grocery stores at retail for the wholesale end of the egg business in that country is in the hands of a few trusts. This is not only so in Denmark, but it is so in Germany, in France, in Austria, in Italy, in Belgium, in Holland, in all Europe.

There are no middlemen for farm products in continental Europe and this is because of the fact that the European farmers are not semi-political organizations and are usually the case in the United States.

Where Europe has been beaten

Systematic marketing has been high in developed in Europe while in this country it barely has made a beginning. The day is coming when the products of the United States will adopt the European method and when their organizations will stand for something other than sound and fury.

All of Europe and the European farmer is a great deal less intelligent than the American farmer, but it happens to be the fashion in European countries for the thinking man to think and devise ways which will be effective in promoting the best economic interests of the farmers, partly for the farmers' sake and partly for the consumers' sake. In this country ought to be able to handle the problem of food distribution to good effect as it has been done in Europe.

Brussels, the deserted capital, has been spared destruction but its industries are shut down. Lace workers are being fed at soup kitchens. The stores have no food to sell and the public has no money to buy if opportunity offered. Members of noble families have discharged their servants and joined the bread line.

The fear is commonly expressed that the city with its famous buildings will be destroyed either by attack or by the Germans themselves, should they be compelled to retire.

German Money in Use.

German money is in general use. Military proclamations in all the store windows announce that the mark must be accepted. Brussels has no postal communication except with Germany. Everything is censored. No railways operated in central Belgium. Most of the lines are without bridges. Canals are the only avenues for the shipment of freight.

Belgians here estimate that one-fifth of the Belgians remaining in the country have employment of some sort. These include farm owners and lessees. The best crop has been ruined by the armies and sugar factories are closed. There are no horses or other equipment for harvesting or trains to move the small amount of crops that have survived. The devastation of war and few able-bodied men to assist the women who are endeavoring to ward off starvation by gathering what little remains of the crop, in the field.

Antwerp's diamond cutters are in the army. Malines tapestry factories are in ruins. Many cotton mills are in ashes and those that still stand are closed. All universities and schools have been abandoned. Nearly all physicians are at the front or serving in the hospitals. Few churches are fit for occupancy as hospitals or otherwise. Convent homes have been deserted by the sisters. Many are so badly wrecked they could afford no shelter.

Canada leading from Belgium to Holland and the one railway line between Antwerp and Brabant connect the Belgians' only communication with neutral territory. There are no mails or telegraphic service to Dutch territory.

Isolation Complete.

The disheartened Belgians are unable to communicate with their relatives whether they are refugees in Holland or soldiers on the battle line. Their isolation is almost complete. To the grief over their dead and the exile of their government is now added the awful specter of starvation.

The single ray of hope is afforded by the American commission for relief in Belgium. The liberality of Holland is described as splendid but the country's grain supply is exhausted. Great Britain having limited Dutch importations, the sole source of an adequate food supply is the United States.

Even the few Belgians with money cannot buy food. There is no wheat flour, coffee or salt to be had at any price. In many cities conditions are worse than in country districts. Bakeries are closed and vegetables are the only diet. Supplies that the American commission is shipping will help a lit-

SCOTLAND IS ANGERED BY ANDREW CARNEGIE

London, November 2.—A dispatch to a news agency from Dundee, Scotland says that local sentiment against Andrew Carnegie because of his alleged pro-German attitude is so strong that the statue of Mr. Carnegie, which was erected by the citizens of his native town last June was pelted by a crowd of Carnegie films which have been exhibited at moving picture houses have been withdrawn the correspondent says.

GERMANY AND BRITAIN TO EXCHANGE SUBJECTS

Washington, November 2.—Germany and Great Britain have reached an understanding through the medium of the American government whereby each will permit all enemy subjects except those between the ages of 15 and 50 to return to their respective countries. In no case will women and children be detained. The duration of those between 15 and 50 years is due to the fact that both Germany and Great Britain desire to keep their own subjects who would bear arms from joining their colors.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION IN EUROPE WELL HANDLED

(From The Los Angeles Courier-Journal)

David Lubin of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome does not believe the American people can reduce the cost of living by penalizing the trusts.

In an interview in The New York Times Mr. Lubin insists that the way to stop the trusts from fixing prices on goods is to take the goods away from the trusts.

This is to be accomplished through the organization and co-operation of producers and the establishment of a national marketing commission to supervise the distribution of food products.

Mr. Lubin points out that this plan is being followed with great success in European countries. If those densely populated countries he says were to permit their food products to drift into the hands of trusts it would create a state of permanent famine and starvation and soon would result in revolutionary uprisings. To illustrate his point about taking the goods away from the trusts he adds:

An illustration

Supposing Mr. Armstrong were to send his bananas to Denmark with commission to start in egg trusts there and with a checkbook with a large amount of cash behind it to buy eggs. When would that manager have to buy them in Denmark? He would have to buy them in the grocery stores at retail for the wholesale end of the egg business in that country is in the hands of a few trusts. This is not only so in Denmark, but it is so in Germany, in France, in Austria, in Italy, in Belgium, in Holland, in all Europe.

There are no middlemen for farm products in continental Europe and this is because of the fact that the European farmers are not semi-political organizations and are usually the case in the United States.

Where Europe has been beaten

Systematic marketing has been high in developed in Europe while in this country it barely has made a beginning. The day is coming when the products of the United States will adopt the European method and when their organizations will stand for something other than sound and fury.

All of Europe and the European farmer is a great deal less intelligent than the American farmer, but it happens to be the fashion in European countries for the thinking man to think and devise ways which will be effective in promoting the best economic interests of the farmers, partly for the farmers' sake and partly for the consumers' sake. In this country ought to be able to handle the problem of food distribution to good effect as it has been done in Europe.

Three Crackers Lost For 1915

SPORTS—CONDUCTED BY DICK JEMISON.

THREE CRACKERS LOST BY SMITH

Holland, Jennings and Williams Go to Minneapolis, in American Association, Next Year.

Manager Bill Smith of the Crackers has lost three of his players. They were lost at the end of the past season when they were traded to the Minneapolis club by Washington last night.

Mike Kehring, scout of the Washington American, was in Atlanta yesterday and while here he had to talk to a certain man for the Minneapolis club.

From Arkadelphia, Ark., is going to go back to the same outfit.

Some time ago a million owner and manager of the Minneapolis club stated that he was going to get six players from Griffith but he could not give out his names. The three Crackers are three of the six.

Long May Come Back

There was no mention of Jimmy Long so it is possible that the Crackers will have him back in the fall. But Griffith is going to give him a thorough try out first.

If Rabbit does not come back Bill will have to build up a new outfield. The infield and with Long gone will be almost unplayable. The outfielders are taking to Chicago and the Crackers are taking to St. Louis. The infielders are taking to St. Louis and the outfielders are taking to Chicago.

BILL SMITH WILL LEAVE ON FRIDAY FOR MINORS' MEET

Manager Bill Smith of the Crackers will leave here Friday for the minor league meet at the American Association in Minneapolis, Minn., which will open there November 10.

Bill expects to be able to negotiate some trades at this meeting. He will build up his team for the season and will select his outfielders and catchers.

Jackets Have Not Beaten Auburn Since 1906 Season; But Once in Ten Seasons

By Dick Jemison

If the Jackets were ever due to trim the Auburn team they are due this year. In fact they are long overdue. The last victory was in 1906 when the Jackets won by the score of 11 to 9. Since then there has been a steady stream of Auburn victories for eight years Auburn has been victorious.

In five of the eight years the Jackets were not able to cross the Auburn goal line. In the other three they were able to register but six points each.

Mike Donohue assumed charge of athletics at Auburn in 1904. In 1905 the team did not play. In the nine years that Auburn teams under Donohue have played the yellow Jackets in eight of the years his team has been retained the victor.

Former Scores

Here are the former scores of the two teams:

1904—Auburn 12 Tech 9
1905—No game
1906—Tech 11 Auburn 9
1907—Auburn 12 Tech 6
1908—Auburn 13 Tech 6
1909—Auburn 8 Tech 6
1910—Auburn 11 Tech 4
1911—Auburn 11 Tech 4
1912—Auburn 27 Tech 4
1913—Auburn 3 Tech 0

The Jackets will if they are able to score on Auburn be the first team that has been able to do this season. The Jackets will furnish Auburn with the stiffest opposition that they have encountered this season. There is no question about that and no one realizes it better than Mike Donohue.

Reynolds Tichenor, former Auburn star assisting Donohue this season was in Atlanta Saturday with Center Tech getting a line on the Jackets and they believe that the Jackets are stronger this year than last.

Auburn will have several cripples in the line and it is doubtful in some instances whether or not the men will be able to play, though the coaches believe that all the cripples will round up to form to play at least a part of the game.

Arnold Thugson and Keadley are said to be almost certain to be out of the game though it is possible that their injuries may answer to treatment sooner than expected.

There will be no overconfidence from either camp. Both have been taught a lesson. Florida scored Auburn and Alabama defeated Tech and only because of overconfidence. Nothing else. Tech will probably open up her game some in an effort to win Auburn's support. Auburn will not be so sure of her line plungers than she did last year.

VIRGINIA STUDENTS CELEBRATE VICTORY

Team Given Rousing Welcome. Gooch Given Credit for the Victory.

Charlottesville, November 2.—(Special)—When the Virginia team returned Monday night at 9 o'clock on the Memphis special they were given the grandest reception ever given a Virginia team. They were met by the whole student body and carried to the university in a trolley.

The game was received in detail Saturday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. where Rob McWhorter and Harry V. A. per outthrew the game on a black board. The hall was well filled and everyone was predicting victory over North Carolina on Thanksgiving day. The cry on to Richmond has already started.

Little did one realize what great part did the European war play in the victory for the southern championship for it kept Gooch from going to Oxford and gave to Virginia the greatest quarterback and broken field runner in the whole south. Without Gooch Virginia could not have hoped for even a look in for the southern championship but when he is in the whole team plays five times better ball.

The New York newspaper writers even went so far as to say that Gooch was head and shoulders over any man on either team in the Yale game. One thing every Virginia supporter knows is there would have been a far different tune last Saturday if it hadn't been for Fobby Gooch.

AD WOLGAST BEATEN BY FREDDIE WELSH

Bout Stopped in Eighth Round Because of Injury to Wolgast's Right Arm.

New York, November 2.—Freddie Welsh of England world's champion light eight pugilist defeated Ad Wolgast of Cadillac Mich. former holder of the title here tonight. Wolgast stopped the bout in the eighth round when Wolgast complained that a small bone in his right arm was broken.

A doctor who examined the injury announced that the ulna bone was fractured. Both men worked up at 135 pounds at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Welsh led off with two jabs to the face. Wolgast hored in for the body, Welsh in the quicker jabbed and looked his left while Wolgast got in two hard lefts to the body.

In the second round Wolgast ignored Welsh's jab and administered punishment with both hands on the body. This was the only round in which Wolgast had the advantage.

In the third Welsh shot his left repeatedly to the face, side stepping so cleverly that many of Wolgast's swings went wild. At the end of the fourth round Wolgast's right eye was bleeding. Welsh kept up those tactics in the fifth and sixth his footwork being too fast for Wolgast. In the seventh round it was seen that Wolgast was not using his right hand and in the eighth Welsh gave him a merciless drubbing. A smashing right uppercut sent Wolgast to the ropes and Welsh was pounding him with both hands at the belt.

Wolgast returned to his corner with his right arm limp at his side. The referee examined the injury and stopped the bout.

Kircher and Browning Ready

T Sh Th B l

At the end of the season the Jackets will be heavier than the Jackets while the Jack backfield will probably average a little more than Auburn.

In speed there will be little to choose Auburn will have the weight and experience and it is the latter department that will eventually tell the tale as the game progresses though the Tech players have been learning and learning fast.

There will be no overconfidence from either camp. Both have been taught a lesson. Florida scored Auburn and Alabama defeated Tech and only because of overconfidence. Nothing else. Tech will probably open up her game some in an effort to win Auburn's support. Auburn will not be so sure of her line plungers than she did last year.

Numbering Players Would Add Interest to Football

The Jack football management could make a hit with the football fans of Atlanta by the adoption of the numbering system for the players.

At the present time every ten persons who attend a football game in Atlanta do not know any member of either team to play and those who do know them cannot distinguish them from the others when they get on their molasses and eat in a huff.

It is every player was numbered and the corresponding number on the back of his jersey appearing in the score cards is a way of the park it would add to the interest of the game and make more football fans.

For instance well suppose that some player gets away on a sweeping kick and the opposing team goes to the line for a touchdown. Hardly 100 of the 300 spectators present know who he is.

If he has the number 7 in a big white figure on his back every one by referring to his score card would know who the player was and give him credit due.

Start of visiting teams are advertised by the press before a game and the fans go to see those stars as much as the game itself. But when once in action unless some more fortunate neighbor happens to know the man the fan would have to be in doubt as to whether he saw the star play or not.

Then too the numbering would be a lesson to the fans. They would know how to follow each number and eventually would begin to understand the finer points in interferences, etc. by noting that the same two or three numbers appeared in such and such a play and different numbers in another. Added to the numbering system could also be found from the newspaper in which the name of the star is to be found on a substitute from the visiting team to identify the players while still on the home team they are at less hit the time to know who carried the ball when two men are of the same build.

This would be a real letter reading for the football fans who for one reason or another might be detained from the game and a more accurate description of the game would be furnished them.

There are many other incidents in connection with a football game that the numbering system would furnish good food for the football fans. For instance on a forward pass that spectacular feat of the modern game the fans would like to know who threw the ball and who caught it. In this one feature alone there is always a buzz of conversation when a successful forward pass is completed and knowing who the men were by the numbers would cause more talk.

Auburn is going to adopt the numbering system in her game with Vanderbilt in Birmingham, November 14. Why not install it and give it a thorough try out when the men of Donohue play the Jackets at Grant field next Saturday.

Certainly it looks like it is well worth a trial if nothing else. Those who have tried it have found it of constant success and have never gone back to the old order of things.

Big Field Gun on Exhibition To Prove Need of Artillery

The bosoms of many Atlantans swelled with pride on Monday when they gazed upon the 3-inch field piece of Battery B, Atlanta Field artillery, of the national guard, which was placed on exhibition in front of the Grady monument, Marietta and Forsyth streets, for it was an extremely business-like and capable looking sort of an implement of warfare.

But when the observer turned to the statistics upon a card placed over the entrance to a tent, pitched just in the rear of the gun, he was inclined to top cold sweat from his brow, for these statistics show that the United States has but 34 such guns in her entire national guard and standing army combined, while other nations have anywhere from 954 in the case of Japan to 4,432 owned by Russia, and the chances that the United States would stand in an artillery duel such as has been in progress along the Azores in France in the present European war, would be pitiable. Even Mexico has 170 such guns as against only 144 in the regular army of the United States, the remaining guns being assigned to the national guard.

The other nations of the world own these guns in the following numbers:

Italy 1,470	England 1,170	Austria 1,864	Germany 3,866	France 2,356
-------------	---------------	---------------	---------------	--------------

These field pieces are 1395 inches which are the latest and most accurate type unless perchance, France has a slight improvement upon them.

These guns have a range of about four miles, which means that this gun located in front of the city hall where it now stands, could shower solid projectiles and shrapnel upon an enemy holding Fort McPherson. The shrapnel—which means a shell loaded with small shot—can be made by a time fuse to explode at any given point within the range of the gun, or it may be made to explode upon contact. Moreover, the gun can be aimed to hit any given target whether visible from the location of the gun or not.

On account of the lack of such guns in the United States, this piece is exhibited in Atlanta to help educate the people to a realization of the need of more such guns.

In Georgia there are twelve of these guns four each with the two batteries in Savannah and four with the Atlanta battery. This gun represents a part of about $200,000 worth of equipment in the possession of the Atlanta battery.

On account of the interest, many manifested the gun will remain in the same place today.

The list of the Atlanta delegation, appointed from here is as follows: R. F. Shedd, chairman, Clark Howell, James R. Gray, John Temple Graves, J. D. Price, Walter G. Cooper, A. M. Smith, W. H. About twenty Georgia counties are offering land for the Belgians and over six hundred families can at the present time be cared for on the basis of home and land rent free for one or two years and reasonable financial assistance.

$1,050,000 BOND ISSUE BEFORE BIBB VOTERS

Macon, Ga., November 2.—(Special)—Tomorrow will decide whether or not Bibb county is to have the privilege of issuing bonds in the sum of $1,050,000 for county improvements and the question has overshadowed the election for statehouse officers, senators, and the various charter amendments to be passed on. While there is no great opposition to the bonds, it has been hard to arouse interest many taking the view that it will be a hopeless task to carry the election since two-thirds of the registered voters must cast their ballots for the bonds.

It is going to require 2,800 votes to carry the election and so far the committee in charge has only secured the names of about 1,500 who have promised to go to the polls and vote for the bonds. Every available automobile in the city will be pressed into service tomorrow carrying voters to the polls and 200 people have volunteered to aid in getting the vote out.

The bonds if carried mean an expenditure of $600,000 for a new courthouse, $150,000 for public schools, $150,000 for good roads, $150,000 for bridges and $100,000 for a new county hospital.

The highest yield which was made by the winner of the contest was 90 2/3 bushels per acre produced by John Duncan at a cost of 26 1/3 cents per bushel the next highest was that of Charlie Snow who raised 81 bushels on his acre.

MR. RICH & BROS. CO. RR

GUTIERREZ NAMED FOR MEXICO CHIEF

Peace Convention Selects Villa Sympathizer to Succeed Carranza—Carranza Insists Villa and Zapata Must Leave Mexico.

Mexico City, November 2.—A dispatch received here from Aguas Calientes says that General Eulalio Gutierrez was elected provisional president of Mexico City shortly after midnight last night. The election is for a period of twenty days only.

The Aguas Calientes convention voted to meet in Mexico City later. General Gutierrez has been prominently identified with the Mexican revolutionary movement that resulted in the expulsion of General Huerta from the republic.

Commenting today on the action of the Calientes convention, Foreign Minister Pablos said:

"The high officers of this government believe that this convention had no right to name a successor to General Carranza. If General Villa and General Zapata refuse to leave the country with Carranza we will have to fight for these three chieftains to leave the field. General Gutierrez is a brave and honorable soldier, but the convention must give up to General Carranza's demands."

A Villa Sympathizer. Gutierrez was appointed provisional governor of the state of San Luis Potosi by Carranza at the beginning of the constitutional revolution. He is generally considered as a Villa sympathizer with Villa in the present controversy.

The naming of Gutierrez as head of the chief of the nation came as a surprise. He had not been named as a possibility for the office.

The new president of Mexico comes of a family of revolutionists. He became a revolutionist he was a grocer.

The constitutional peace convention has been in session at Aguas Calientes for nearly a month. Last night it accepted the resignation of General Carranza as first chief of the constitutional party. The resignation was accepted unconditionally. Villa resigned at the same time from the command of the northern division of the army. It then became incumbent upon the convention to elect a new president. Its right so to act already has been questioned in Mexico.

The convention was called after General Carranza had entered Mexico City. It was called to settle the differences between the revolutionary factions in the republic, to decide upon a new constitution, to determine the presidential succession. Generals Carranza, Villa and Zapata all were represented by delegates.

GEN. CARRANZA MAY FIGHT VILLA.

El Paso, Texas, November 2.—Although General Carranza has stated that he would give up the executive power at the completion of the transactions of the Aguas Calientes convention, the chief of the constitutionalists thought had not recognized Eulalio Gutierrez, appointed by the convention to be temporary president of Mexico.

Carranza, now in power at the national capital, today requested the demand for explanations from the convention, which previously had refused both himself and Villa. He pointed to a possible conflict between the Carranza and Villa factions. It was stated that both sides had begun troop movements. The short term of office, limited by the constitution, is a factor in the demand.
