JURY DEADLOCKED IN MURDER CASE OF MRS. CARMAN

After Deliberating for Several Hours, the Twelve Men Have Been Unable to Agree on a Verdict.

MRS. CARMAN NERVOUS ABOUT DELAY OF JURY

In Summing Up, the District Attorney Was Very Severe on Mrs. Carman and Her Relatives.

Minneapolis, N. Y., October 25.—The Carman jury was still out at 2:30 o'clock and the prospects of a verdict during the night seemed small.

Minneapolis, N. Y., October 24.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman after listening all the afternoon and evening to the summing up of the defense and the prosecution and the charge of Justice Charles H. Kelby, retired at 9:45 o'clock tonight to begin its deliberations.

At midnight the Carman jury was still out. It had been deliberating two hours and fifteen minutes. During the first hour of the jury's deliberations Mrs. Carman remained in the chambers at the rear of the court. An hour and five minutes after the jury had retired it sent out a request for some testimony.

Mrs. Carman highly nervous was brought out into the court room. Three women friends and a prison guard followed her. She took a seat at the counsel table. The jury then suddenly decided it did not desire the testimony and the defendant was led back to the chambers.

Disputed the State's Case. The defense of the woman charged with the murder of Mrs. Louisa Bailey rested its case in the morning session and several witnesses in rebuttal were called.

Then for more than three hours and a half John I. Graham, Mrs. Carman's chief counsel, dissected the state's case. He severely criticized the methods of conducting the case particularly referring to the manner in which the prosecutor had guarded the witness, Celia Coleman. He asserted that the "slayer" of Mrs. Bailey undoubtedly was a man. He scouted the testimony of Celia Coleman and Frank Farrell.

In summing up his case District Attorney Smith said Mrs. Carman was a calculating scheming woman who deliberately murdered under the spur of jealousy. He laid emphasis on the testimony of the witness, Celia Coleman.

Now the defendant on Mrs. Carman as a calculating scheming woman who deliberately murdered under the spur of jealousy. He laid emphasis on the testimony of the witness, Celia Coleman.

Private Swearing, Charged. Don't you think it would be human to a woman to get mistreated after hearing a noise fainting out that a woman had been shot and then not have the curiosity to go into the doctor's office and see who it was?

The district attorney then took up the testimony of other members of the Carman family and said it was untrue as the witnesses had motives to testify falsely.

Justice Kelby began to deliver his charge shortly after 9 o'clock. He did not discuss the facts of the case but explained in different degrees of homicide. He cursed at some length the credibility of the witnesses and said that a majority of the evidence in this case was admitted for the purpose of impeaching other witnesses.

Saw Man Run Across Lawn. Rudolph Loeve first witness called today testified that he was on his way to Dr. Carman's office and within 15 feet of the window when the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey was fired. Loeve heard the shot, looked up and saw a man run across the lawn and leap over the fence. He testified.

Loeve was very deaf. He spoke English with a pronounced accent. Loeve said after he had heard the After Long Negotiation the Bankers and Federal Reserve Board Members Have Reached an Agreement.

$35,000,000 OF THE FUND TO BE RAISED IN SOUTH

New York Will Put Up $50,000,000 and the Other $50,000,000 Will Come From Non-Cotton States—Reserve Board Will Control Loans.

Washington, October 24.—After weeks of negotiation between bankers and federal reserve board members a tentative agreement was reached tonight when the board virtually approved by which a fund of $135,000,000 will be raised to care for the surplus cotton crop and extend aid to cotton producers. The plan is slightly different from that originally proposed but loans will be made on cotton at 6 cents a pound bearing interest of not more than 6 per cent for one year with a privilege of six months extension.

The reserve board will have direct supervision of the fund but probably will operate through a committee of bankers and business men. All details of the plan were not made public tonight. New York bankers have agreed to subscribe $50,000,000 to the fund and southern banks are counted on for $85,000,000 more. The remaining $10,000,000 is to be raised in non-cotton producing states.

McAdoo Outlines Plan

Secretary McAdoo outlined the plan tonight in the following statement: "The federal reserve board today continued consideration of plans for relief of the cotton situation giving special attention to a plan suggested by Albert E. Wiggin, J. S. Alexander, A. J. Hemphill and William Wood, of New York, and Festus J. Wade, of St. Louis, for the raising of a cotton loan fund aggregating $135,000,000. This plan has been evolved from that originally proposed by Mr. Wade. Full details cannot be given until it is submitted to bankers in order that they may be advised of its merits or demerits."

It has been approved tentatively by the federal reserve board, and bankers in the leading financial cities will be asked immediately to subscribe the necessary $50,000,000. The plan is to be subscribed by cities in non-cotton producing states. The remaining $85,000,000 is to be provided by the cotton states.

To Loan at 6 Cents a Pound

The new plan contemplates the loaning of money on cotton at 6 cents a pound and at an interest rate of one per cent for an additional period of six months. It is provided that all surplus cotton shall be without charge but that the borrower shall pay 3 per cent in interest on the loan. The expenses of administration which are estimated will not exceed one eighth of 1 per cent. The plan is to be used to make good any losses which may be incurred on loans that may be made on cotton at 6 cents a pound. The plan is to be used to make good any losses which may be incurred on loans that may be made on cotton at 6 cents a pound.

Foreign Exchange Depends on Plan

It was pointed out that upon the adoption of the plan largely dependent on the conference between the board members. Sir George Paish and Basil B. Hackett, representing the British treasury, and the new York bankers looking to the adjustment of conditions in the foreign exchange market.

$7,000,000 of Emergency Currency Is Taken Out By Ga. National Banks

$9,000,000 More Will Be Called Into Requisition as Soon as Sufficient Cotton Receipts Are Offered.

National banks members of the Georgia National Currency association have already taken out over $7,000,000 of emergency currency.

This information was given at the conclusion of its executive committee meeting in Atlanta Saturday. It was also made known that Georgia is using 25 per cent of all the emergency currency that has been issued in the nine cotton states.

Deputy Poindexter Finds Way to Keep From Putting Child in Tower.

Little Frances Constance McDonald a wee bit of a baby who has not yet seen three months of life was a prisoner Saturday morning while Judge George Bell of the superior court sought to untangle the domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. McDonald the parents.

A Baby Prisoner

Deputy L. Poindexter went to the home of McDonald in College Park to serve the papers in the husband's writ. When he reached there he found that the papers commanded that Frances Constance McDonald be taken into custody and when he inquired for the person named in the writ he was informed that said person was a baby of three months.

School Board Members Say That They Were Not Informed That There Were More Than Six Double Sessions Still in Vogue in the Schools

School Commissioner Dan Green chairman of the finance committee said he did not know there were more than six double sessions remaining until informed by Superintendent Slaton last Thursday. Commissioner Green's committee handles the school board funds. He explained that at the meeting of the finance committee held last Wednesday he asked Superintendent Slaton as to the number of double sessions in effect then.

Board of Education Surprised to Learn There Are 21 Classes Taught After 12:30 O'Clock.

COUNCIL GAVE $11,812 TO PUT END TO SYSTEM

22 Double Sessions Abolished, But There Is No Chance for Change in 21 Until First of Year, It Is Said.

Double sessions are still menacing Atlanta's public school system. Regardless of the education board's promise that it would abolish the evil if the finance committee appropriated $11,812 in the October budget and despite the fact that a majority of council voted to approve the sheet on the assumption that the sessions would end before January 1st, The Constitution learned Saturday that there are still twenty-one such sessions.

BATTLE OF TITANS FURIOUSLY RAGING WITHOUT DECISION

Immense Armies Continue to Pound Each Other on Lines Extending From the North Sea to Swiss Frontier in West and From Baltic to Carpathians in East.

ALLIES ADVANCE AT SOME POINTS AND GERMAN FORCES AT OTHERS

Neither Side, However, Claims Anything in Nature of Definite Success in Fighting in Belgium and France—Losses on Both Sides Are Tremendous, and It Seems Certain a Decision Cannot Be Very Much Longer Delayed—Russians Report the Austrians and Germans in Retreat.

Geneva, October 24.—(Via Paris)—A Basel telegram confirms the retirement of General Helmuth von Moltke as chief of the German general staff on October 22. He requested to be relieved because of ill health. His resignation was accepted but it is not known who will succeed him.

London, October 24.—A German submarine has been rammed and sunk by the British destroyer Badger, Commander Charles Freemantle, off the Dutch coast. The Badger's bow was somewhat damaged.

Ceaseless Hammering Is Done By the Armies of Belligerents

London, October 24.—The immense armies of the belligerent powers continue to hammer each other ceaselessly on lines extending from the North sea to the Swiss frontier in the west, and from the Baltic sea to the Carpathians in the east. The net result, however so far as can be judged from official reports issued tonight is that they gain a little here only to lose a little elsewhere.

Germans Cross the Yser Canal, According to A Berlin Report

Berlin, October 24.—(Via Amsterdam and London).—German army headquarters makes the following official announcement under today's date: "The fighting continues severely in the district of the Yser Canal. In the north we succeeded in crossing the canal with great force. "East of Ypres and southwest of Lille our troops are slowly advancing. "British ships yesterday bombarded Ostend without results. "In the Argonne forest our troops also are advancing, capturing some machine guns and a number of prisoners. Two French aeroplanes were brought down. "North of Louvain, near Fleury, the French declined our offer to permit the burial of the dead and the recovery of the wounded who are covering the field in front of the French batteries. "West of Augustow the Russians renewed their attacks, but were repulsed.

FIRST FOOD SHIPMENT FOR HUNGRY BELGIANS

Cargo Leaves London Tuesday. Thousands of Belgians Are Facing Starvation.

London, October 24.—The first shipment of 2,500 tons of food to Holland for relief of the Belgians will leave London Tuesday. The cargo will consist principally of wheat, rice, beans and peas.

Charles Devezoux, burgomaster of Charleroi, and Emile Buisset, deputy in parliament for that district, arrived in London today and presented to the American committee a formal statement of conditions in Charleroi and Belgium. According to the statement 1,500,000 persons and that 30 per cent of its food supply must be imported.

Continuing the statement says that the population of Hainaut numbers 1,500,000 persons and that 30 per cent of its food supply must be imported. This district was occupied by the German army early in the war and the man army imposed fines to be paid in food. These levies continued until the German Government ordered that cease after representations had been made to him of the desperate plight of the people.

On October 13, the statement continues, the government of Belgium informed us that the week ending today was the last one during which we could obtain any supplies for the relief of the Belgians. We applied to the Dutch government through the Belgian minister, but were informed that the Dutch supplies only for their own needs. We then came to England to appeal to your countrymen to assist us in our need.

We have established 100 soup kitchens and relief stations in the Charleroi district and their daily issue rations to upwards of 500,000 people. The industries of our district are almost entirely paralyzed and our money is exhausted. In the whole province at least 300,000 persons now on our list are in need of charity.

The statement concluded: "We have done its best to defend us against overwhelming forces; our people are suffering and our money is exhausted. We appeal to the American people in vain."

GERMANY COMPLAINS OF BRITISH ACTION

London, October 24.—Reuter's Amsterdam dispatch says that the German government has issued a communication to the neutral powers condemning the British action in the seizure of German merchant vessels. This violates the engagements of the declaration of London.

MARITZ AND HIS REBELS REPORTED SURROUNDED

London, October 24.—A Reuter dispatch from Cape Town says: "The rebel leader, Colonel Maritz (at the head of the rebellion in British South Africa) is understood to have been surrounded by British forces. He has a force of about 70 or 80 German gunners who have a few maxims and a couple of field guns. The British forces are in the south coast Africa but found his retreat cut off."

It is understood Maritz sent an offer to surrender if his followers were granted free pardon and the Germans released. The offer was refused. No notice was taken of his message. It is unofficially reported that four rebel leaders were arrested and sentenced to death. The sentences were referred to Pretoria for confirmation.

ALL BELGIAN REFUGEES MAY RETURN TO HOMES

London, October 24.—The burgomaster of Brussels, M. De Weert, according to a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam, that the Dutch government and the Belgian government in London have agreed that all Belgian refugees will be allowed to return to Belgium except those liable for military service.

RUSSIANS PREPARING TO FIGHT FOR LEMBERG

London, October 25.—(3:35 a. m.)—A Copenhagen dispatch from Copenhagen says German advisers declare the Russians are making desperate preparations to retain Lemberg. The entire civilian population is assisting the troops in the construction of trenches and fortifications.

AUSTRIANS OPPOSED BY SUPERIOR NUMBERS

Copenhagen, October 24.—(Via London).—Vienna dispatches quote Field Marshal Baron Hoytzenhoff, chief of the general staff of the Austrian army, as saying that the Austrian army is fighting against greatly superior forces and its object is only to hold back the Russians.

SERVIA IS ACCUSED OF BACKING ASSASSIN

Sarajevo, October 24.—(Via Amsterdam and London).—The prosecutor made his closing address today in the trial of alleged assassins of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria. The evidence, he said, had proved that the Serbian army was a hindrance to the throne, had been in communication with men hired to kill the archduke. The court was a hindrance to the throne, he declared. The Serbian government had supplied the assassins with money.

ing—the Austrians and Germans on one side and the French, Belgian and British on the other. "During the day our ships were persistently attacked by the enemy's submarines. We were forced to retreat without success at the Wildfirth and the destroyer Myrindon. "The British again attacked and balloons aided in directing the attack. The British gained a fine and favorable. No loss was sustained by the flotilla yesterday."

ALLIES CLAIM STEADY ADVANCE

London, October 24.—Another descriptive recital of events in the north of France from an eye-witness attached to the British general headquarters was issued by the official information bureau today. It is dated October 17. It declares "the fact that the Allies are steadily advancing and that the enemy is giving way before us has proved a most welcome and a cheering change. Continuing, the report says: "As the campaign goes on the tendency of the Germans to rely on their splendid war material with which they have been so amply provided rather than on the employment of masses of men has become marked. "There are now indications, however, that their supply of material is becoming exhausted."

The narrative then quotes from pamphlets dropped by German airmen on the ground that they are only pulling chestnuts out of the fire for the English.

GERMAN LOSSES REPORTED HEAVY

London, October 24.—A Daily Mail correspondent, telegraphing from "in the field," says "the fact that the battle fought near Neuport Thursday was of extraordinary violence. The British and Belgians, aided by British warships, morally massacred the Germans, who attempted to push out columns of tanks to surround the beach. The British and Belgians brought up strong reinforcements from their center and the Rhine region to reinforce their right wing."

BIGGEST BATTLE OF THE WAR

Paris, October 24.—The correspondent in Bellegard, France, of the Echo de Paris, writes that the following dispatch is his paper: "Major Morath, in an article in the Berlin magazine, 'Der Tag', says that the battle of the Yser is being fought between Lille and Dunkirk. He says it is a combat of life and death and that the issue depends on the rate of the operations in France. On the contrary, General Blume, writing for The Berlin magazine, says that the battle in France will finish only when the forces of one side or the other are exhausted."

ONLY FEW GERMANS LEFT IN ANTWERP

London, October 24.—A dispatch to The Times from Flushing, dated Friday, says: "A telegram from Breda, Netherlands, states that only a few hundred men of the German army remain in Antwerp. The staff left the hotel St. Antoine and during the night of Wednesday and the early hours of Thursday the German troops were driven out of the town. The passage of the columns occupying ninety minutes. The troops went southward in the direction of the railway. "The whole environs of the town are deserted and the German entrenchments which have been occupied in rebuilding the bridges and railway lines, has disappeared. The Bavarians, thrown into the Scheidt."

GERMAN TROOPS LEAVING COAST

London, October 24.—The Germans are being driven back and working around Dixmude toward Lille," says a Rotterdam dispatch to The Daily Mail. "They claim to have captured the town of Dixmude and the night of Friday, leaving their position open to a flank attack. A strong German force was seen Thursday near the Dutch-Belgian border at Hamont, going westward."

Violent German Attacks Repulsed According to French War Office

Paris, October 24.—The following official communication was issued by the French war office at 11 o'clock tonight: "From the sea as far as the region to the south of Arras, the violent attacks of the enemy have everywhere been repulsed. "West of the Argonne region we have carried the village of Melcourt, which commands the roads leading from Varennes to the valley of the Aisne. "There is nothing to report on the remainder of the front."

"During the afternoon the war office gave out a statement to the effect that the Germans have made progress to the north of Dixmude and in the vicinity of LaBasse, but that the French have made material advances to the west of Neuport, in the region of Langemark, and between Armentieres and Lille. "The text of the communication is as follows: "The battle continues on our left wing. The enemy has made progress to the north of Dixmude and in the vicinity of Neuport in the region of Langemark and Lille. It is a question of inevitable fluctuations in the line of combat, which, however, maintains itself as a whole. "On the rest of the front several German attacks by day and by night have been repulsed. The serious places we have made slight progress. In the Woerwé district our advance has been checked by the action of the forces of Mortmare, to the south of Thiaucourt, and in the forest of Le Petre, north of Font-aux-Bois. "The Germans are retreating to the south of Warsaw as well as to the west of Vangorod and Nova Alexanderia. Dispositions are being made in Galicia on the Sandomir front. At Przemysl the Russians have taken 100,000 German prisoners."

THE YELLOW PERIL Japanese Warnings.

The Japanese early sought for the truth, and their earliest knowledge was the principle that their strength depended on a healthy stomach. They eat very little and practice "Jiu-Jitsu"—muscular exercise from youth up. The stomach is the body from which radiates our vitality, strenuousness, our fighting strength. A healthy stomach turns food into energy and power for the blood stream. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery refreshes and tones up the stomach, and removes all poisons from the system.

The first day you start to take this relief medicine, germs and accumulations begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the bowels and kidneys. "In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitality and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and all skin blemishes disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys are all healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache and constipation. Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today at any drug store. It is a powerful blood purifier, so penetrating that it even gets to the impure deposits in the joints and carries them out of the system. It is not a secret remedy, for its ingredients are wrapped in a paper. For free advice or free booklet on blood, write Dr. W. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DESTROYER OF HAWK BACK IN GERMAN PORT

Amsterdam, October 24.—A dispatch from Berlin says that an official announcement has been made that a German submarine which sank the British cruiser Hawke is now returned safely to port. The British submarine, the British steamer Glitery by a German submarine near the Norwegian coast, is also officially confirmed.

officers in Belgium is taking part, the French report admits that the Germans have made progress at some points, but declares that at others the allies have been just as successful. "It is evident that along the coast the Germans have found it difficult to advance in the face of the hard fighting force drawn along the Yser canal aided by the British and French ships, which are bombarding them from the sea. It probably is the most picturesque battle ever fought. On shore the troops of five nations are fighting—

WARSHIPS CAUSE TERRIBLE LOSSES.

Thus far the warships have had the better of it, for while they are reported to have inflicted terrible losses on the Germans trying to advance along the coast, they themselves have suffered little or no damage and have warded off submarine attacks.

The British admiralty has issued an interesting account of operations of this fleet, explaining that the ships have fired on the German batteries in the vicinity of Ostend. It probably was this which led to reports from Holland that the Germans have been driven back in that direction and also to the statement that the allies had recaptured Ostend.

Around Lille, which the Germans hold, there have been unusual fluctuations, the French gaining in one area and the Germans in another not far distant. There has been so much fighting here, as well as farther south toward Arras and Ypres, that even the accounts of the wounded being taken daily to the hospitals cannot be exaggerated.

The situation in the district between the fortresses of Verdun and Toul, where two armies have been battling for months with gains and losses amounting to virtually nothing as far as distance is concerned. Today both sides claim success in a battle in which there are so many casualties that the Germans seek permission to bury their dead. This plea was refused.

RUSSIANS STOP GERMAN ADVANCE.

In Poland the Russians have compelled the Germans to desert from their first attacks on Warsaw and Ivangorod, are preparing for a repetition of the offensive by bringing up more men and guns. Farther south they have not been able to make the Austrians, now under German officers, and stiffened with German troops, give up their attempt to cross the San river.

GERMAN ADVANCE.

The Russians, also, apparently are engaged in operations on the East Prussian frontier, as the German official report refers to an unsuccessful Russian attack at Augustowo. Of fighting in Bosnia, accounts are so contradictory that no judgment can be formed. The Austrians have defeated the Serbians and Montenegrins, while both those powers say the Austrians are being repulsed. The Bosnian frontier has been repulsed.

BELGIANS HOLD YSER CANAL.

London, October 24.—Fierce fighting is going on in the district between Neuport and Ostend as well as around the coast, and the Belgians are holding a late Reuter dispatch from Sluis, Holland. "The Yser canal is being obstinately defended by the Belgians," the dispatch says. "The bombardment was kept up all night, but without effect. At noon heavy firing was resumed, but the battle has not yet been decided. "The Germans are guarding the light house at Knocke as a measure of precaution against a possible landing. "The Belgian marines have occupied the village of Hoyat and villages between Sluis and Breda. "The Belgian marines have taken place from Bruges and yesterday an army corps arrived from Antwerp and moved on Ghent, on its way to Thourout and Westende. Long trains conveying wounded soldiers and the number of doctors not large enough to cope with the work. "Fighting has been a sanguinary character. One German soldier related that at one point between Ostend and Neuport 1,000 of his comrades were buried in a single field."

SHIPS ENFILED GERMAN RIGHT.

London, October 24.—The admiralty today issued the following announcement: "The British monitors and other vessels of the British bombardment flotilla fired on the German right, and the British warships were effectively in concert with the operations of the Belgian army. "Much damage was done to the enemy's naval fire and the prisoners taken yesterday and the day before testify to the heavy losses the enemy has suffered from this cause. "Fire also was opened in the afternoon on the German batteries near

CONGRESS QUILTS; COTTON FILIBUSTER BRINGS NO RESULT

When Southern Members Became Convinced They Could Get No Relief They Consented to Adjournment

COTTON RELIEF FIGHT TO BE RESUMED DEC. 7

Agreed That Relief Measures Shall Have Right-of-Way When Congress Reconvenes.

Washington, October 24.—After being in continuous session since the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, a period of nearly nineteen months, the sixty-third congress adjourned its second session today when prolonged efforts to procure cotton growers' relief legislation finally collapsed. Leaders in this movement agreed to adjourn, however, only on condition that pending cotton relief measures would have right-of-way when congress reconvenes December 7.

Not more than fifty members of the house and less than a quorum of the senate were present when the general adjournment without day, The end was accomplished through passage of a concurrent resolution ending the session at 4 p. m. but clocks were turned ahead in both chambers, adjournment in the house occurring at 3:25 and in the senate at 3:27.

Clock Thanks House Members.
The longest and most laborious session that congress has ever known, I congratulate you most heartily on being able to adjourn at last. I wish to thank every member of the house—democrat, republican, progressive and otherwise—for the courtesy shown to the speaker. Now, in the language of "Tim" Tim, "God bless us every one."

Chairman Abandoned.
In announcing abandonment of his filibuster for cotton legislation, a conference of southern senators and representatives, Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, and Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Texas, and House Speaker Charles D. Wick, of Virginia, presiding in the absence of the vice president and President Pro Tempore Clark, announced that the senate was adjourned. The remaining senators hurried to their homes.

House Adopts Resolution.
The house adopted a resolution authorizing adjournment of a committee to investigate cotton conditions in the south and report possible measures for relief by December 15. On the committee were Representatives Mann, Austin, Henry, Lever, Ruffin, Bell, of Georgia, and Langley.

No Extra Session.
With the return of President Wilson from Europe, it is generally known that predictions of an extra session of congress in November to consider cotton relief legislation were not made on the authority of Mr. Wilson. Officials close to the president said he would not call an extra session. While he favors the Lever bill for the government licensing of cotton, he is understood to believe both can go over until the regular session.

Secretary's Decision.
The program for the December session will include the Philippine bill, remaining in the senate, and the government shipping bill and cotton legislation. It is believed that the extra session will be called for next spring unless some unusual emergency arises. The adjournment in March to officially open the Panama canal and the San Francisco exposition.

German Guns Pounding French Barrier Forts
Correspondent of the Associated Press Describes the Operations of the Kaiser's Army From Verdun to Toul.

SUCCESS AT ST. MIHIEL WON AT BLOODY PRICE
Austrian Heavy Artillery Aiding the Germans—Gallant Defense of the Roman Camp Fort Made by the French, But It Finally Fell.

With the German Army Before Metz, September 30.—(By Courier to Holland and Mail to New York, Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—A five-day trip to the front has taken the Associated Press correspondent through the German fortresses of Metz, Sarrebrücken and Metz, through the frontier regions between Metz and the French fortress line from Verdun to Toul into the actual battery positions from which German and Austrian heavy artillery were pounding their 24-inch shells into the French barrier forts and the ranks of the French field army which has replaced the crumbling fortifications of steel and cement with rammed parts of iron and blood.

Battlefield in Entirety.
From an observation point on a hillside above St. Mihiel, the great battlefields which German artillery is endeavoring to break through the line of barrier forts between Verdun and Toul and the opposing French front line, could be surveyed in its entirety. In the foreground lay the level valley of the Meuse with the towns of St. Mihiel and Bannoneur nestling on the green landscape. Beyond and behind the valley rose a tier of hills on which the French at this writing are estimated to hold an entrenched position, checking the point of the German wedge, while French forces from north and south head up the slopes of the triangle trying to force it back across the Meuse and out from the walls of the French fortress line.

Stormed by Bavarian Infantry.
About three miles away across the Meuse a quadrangular mound of black, ploughed up earth on the hillside marked the location of Fort Les Paroisses, which had been seized by the German mortar and machine gun fire. The Roman camp, so named because the Roman legions centuries ago had selected this site for a strategic encampment, had been stormed by Bavarian heavy guns had been put out of action and artillery officers stated that Fort Lionville, 13 miles to the south and the source of the river, was virtually silenced, only one of its armored turrets continuing to answer the bombardment.

Good Marching Discipline.
Beyond Gorze, however, the road leading westward through Chambley, St. Bon, Vignulles, Metz, and Moulins was crowded with long columns of ammunition wagons and automobile trucks, all moving in good order. A line was observed, part of the road being always left free for the passage of marching soldiers or motor vehicles. Life seemed most comfortable for the drivers and escorts, as the army in advance had been long in the position and its railroad base was so near that supplying it involved none of the distance the road had brought on the superhuman exertions falling to a lot of the train in the flying march of the German armies toward Paris.

RUSSIAN FORCES PRESS GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS

trian troops are seeking again to establish themselves on the Vistula. The Russian forces have crossed the river and are offering strong opposition.

THREE GERMAN SPIES SENTENCED AT GENEVA
Geneva, October 24.—(Via Paris.)—Three German spies, having headquarters in Geneva, were sentenced by the third military tribunal here Friday. The three are Lieutenant Colonel Otto Ulrich, of Berlin; Dr. Wohlender and Herr Koller. They were charged with plotting against England and France, and thereby violating Swiss neutrality.

GERMANS CHECKED AT THE VISTULA
London, October 24.—Describing the recent fighting, the Petrograd correspondent of The Post says that the Germans had determined to cross the Vistula in the neighborhood of Ivanogorod, where the river is a quarter of a mile wide.

Enormous Risks Taken.
The correspondent comments that this action is another instance of the daring strategy of the Russians of the great war. It is a risk which Russia can afford because she has limitless forces of men to call upon, while other countries like England and France cannot afford to do so.

Great Battle Raging.
Telegraphing from Vladimir, in the Russian government of Volhynia, under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of The Times says:

Guns Behind Screens.
These and the artillerymen were enjoying their midday rest, a pause which sets in every day with the regularity of clockwork. The German heavy guns, two in this particular position, were hidden behind a screen of thickly branching trees or muzzled pointing toward a round opening in the forest roof. The gun carriages were screened by a row of logs.

Next Shot Nearer.
A short wait and the observer from his post near the village ordered "next shot fifty meters." The German gunner made the slight correction necessary, and once again sent its shell through the air, but this time it broke, and the men were ordered to load again.

VERDUN IS GOAL FOR THE GERMANS

Claimed That the Kaiser's Forces Are Drawing a Ring Around the Great Barrier Fortress of France.

London, October 24.—The German ring around Verdun, according to The Cologne Gazette, is becoming closer daily, says a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen. All the French attacks have been in vain.

Force Efforts by Germans.
"Though the French official communications continually state that the situation on the right wing is unchanged," he says, "they do not mean that the opposing armies are marking time. The Germans have made fierce efforts to get Verdun. These efforts were as fiercely repelled and the French field army still stands between the army of Metz and the coveted fortresses of Toul and Verdun."

Day of Fixed Forts Gone.
"The whole history of this war, however, goes to prove the utter futility of fixed forts under present conditions. The best type of fortifications seems to consist of those from which the guns can be easily moved to a new point as soon as they are located by the enemy. The day of the fixed fort is over. The German army, after the retreat of the French, has placed a battery of 42-centimeter guns on the site of Camp Des Romains, which commands St. Mihiel and a large part of the Woivre. It is most important that the French recapture this position, but it will take the most severe kind of fighting to do so."

GREAT ANXIETY FELT IN PARIS Believed That Safety of the Capital, and Perhaps of France, Depends on Titanic Battle Now Raging.

Paris October 24—Paris has lived through another tense day with no decisive news of the battle on which the safety of the capital and perhaps of France is believed to depend. Anxiety has increased all the week. It has seemed as though each day must see the culmination of the titanic efforts of the two great armies.

Paris shops which have been doing much business since the first of the month are nearly empty again while the crowds have increased around the newspaper offices displaying the fragments of news posted on bulletin boards.

The crowd is greatest at the headquarters of the government in Paris in the Boulevard des Invalides where official announcements are issued.

The people gather also at the Yvette Gate through which runs the main highway from the north to see the dispatch bearers arriving in motor cars or on motorcycles.

Fighting is proceeding within one hour's ride by swift motor when the roads are clear.

Some persons say that when the wind is right cannonading can be heard in the northern suburbs.

Convoy of automobile ambulances from Paris hospitals have gone to the front to convey the wounded not to be sent to hospitals near the fighting lines. Extraordinary precautions being taken against wheeled vehicles including bicycles leaving the limits of the so-called entrenched camp.

Both sides have suffered heavily. The Black Watch and Royal Irish regiments have been in the last of the fighting and the British casualties are heavy although smaller than that of the Germans who are estimated to have lost 1700 men.

The Germans at this point appeared to have an inexhaustible supply of a machine gun which they were using in a way that was new to the British.

The allies however refused the Germans whenever the possibility of a possible attack home.

The battle along the Belgian frontier of the allies is holding their own and the general position is regarded as satisfactory.

KINDNESS TO ITALIANS SHOWN BY THE CZAR

Rome October 24—A proposal by Emperor Nicholas of Russia that all American prisoners of Italian nationality taken by the Russians in Galicia shall be sent to Italy on condition that they shall not be permitted to return to their own country has aroused much discussion.

Washington October 24—There will be no further interference by British submarines with American commerce at the gateway to New York.

AMERICAN OIL PROTEST BEFORE GREAT BRITAIN

London October 24—The American protest against the British seizure of the American oil ship Platara was the subject of a ministerial conference today but no decision was reached.

Germany Got One Oil Shipment

Washington October 24—Private letters received at the British embassy here from Denmark state that one big fuel shipment from the United States was sent promptly on its arrival in Copenhagen to the German army and naval base at Kiel.

GERMANY IS PLANNING ADVANCE ON DUNKIRK

Correspondent of Berlin Paper Says Calais and Boulogne Will Also Be Taken.

Berlin October 24—(Via The Hague and London October 24) A German correspondent today announced that the German military commander in the Channel States is planning to advance on Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne.

JAPANESE BATTLESHIP TAKES GERMAN VESSEL

Honolulu, October 24—In sight of the harbor, the Japanese battleship Hizen captured today a small German steam schooner supposed to be from the Marshall Islands.

ANTWERP'S RETURNING TO NORMAL CONDITIONS

Antwerp October 23—(Via Rotterdam to London October 24)—Antwerp is gradually returning to normal conditions. About 100,000 of its inhabitants most of whom fled the city when the Germans occupied it have returned.

Some shops are opening in the poorer sections of the city and a few older women with dog carts are offering apples and vegetables in the once busy markets.

Belgium's German soldiers and German officers many of whom have their wives with them are living quietly in the leading hotels which are forced to keep open for the army.

NO TRIBUTE HAS BEEN LEVIED BY THE GERMANS

No tribute has been levied on the city except that the Germans have demanded supplies.

350,000 PRISONERS TAKEN BY GERMANS

New York October 24—Records of the German war office according to Dr. William A. Spring formerly of Boston, on September 19 showed a detailed list of prisoners taken by the German troops and detained in military camps.

Will Discuss Peace Here, States West

NEWS OF THE WAR SUMMARIZED

The situation along the North sea coast and for many miles to the south appears to have changed little in the past few days.

The British and French warships continued to pour shells into German ranks and the Germans are guarding points along the coast to be ready for possible British landings.

Germany is said to have sent many thousands of reinforcements to aid the right wing in forcing its way through what is from a strategic viewpoint, the most important piece of territory in northern Belgium.

Belgium's German soldiers and German officers many of whom have their wives with them are living quietly in the leading hotels which are forced to keep open for the army.

WILL DISCUSS PEACE HERE, STATES WEST

Washington will stage the last scene of the conflict which has torn Europe asunder according to Senator William West who returned from Washington Saturday.

It is the belief of Senator West that the terms of peace will be made in the United States and the pact which will bring peace again among the nations of the world will be signed at America's capital.

America is absolutely neutral," Senator West explained. "We are on friendly terms with the nations of the earth and it would not be surprising to me if the peace pact is signed in Washington."

Senator West does not agree with some people who deplore the fact that the United States does not possess a sitting meeting place for kings and peacemakers.

I HAVE SPENT $10,000.00

To give the people of Atlanta the most modern and completely equipped dental offices in the south. This has been my life ambition through a successful dental practice of 24 years. I believe I have achieved it, and I cordially invite your visit, your inspection and your patronage. E. G. GRIFFIN, D.D.S.

Arrangements Are Perfect

The arrangements of the new Gate City Dental Rooms are practically perfect. You enter the reception room done and furnished in mahogany, and are at once impressed by the soft and inviting color tones of ceiling, walls and velvet floor covering. There is no sign of operating room in sight. These are screened as effectively by opaque glass as if they were not in the same building. Every piece of furniture, every implement, everything, is new--absolutely new and clean. Adequate description in brief space is impossible. You must see to appreciate.

ATTRACTIVE RECEPTION ROOM IN Dr. E. G. GRIFFIN'S NEW GATE CITY DENTAL OFFICES.

ONE of the EIGHT LIGHT, AIRY and SANITARY OPERATING ROOMS. Not an instrument in sight.

My Great Faith In My Home City

It is my great faith in Atlanta, my home city, which has prompted me to go to this extraordinary expense at a time of well-known business depression. I have spent more than $10,000 to give Atlanta the best dental rooms in the south at a time when others are retrenching. I have done this because I know how to appreciate the Atlanta Spirit which has made Atlanta grow, and will continue to make it grow as no other city in the south. In my opinion, Atlanta and prosperity come pretty near being synonymous.

No Expense Spared

I have spared no expense to give you the best that modern dentistry affords. In fact, I have spent considerably more than $10,000 to do it.

I have provided a system of sanitation that is perfect; every instrument is sterilized immediately after use.

I have adopted the most approved and successful methods for the prevention of pain in all dental operations.

The operating rooms are light, airy and attractive. There is not a dental instrument in sight.

The reception room is as comfortable and attractive as the finest parlor. You are invited to come and see it.

 Defective teeth worse for body than alcohol.
 Boston, October 16.—Defective teeth cause more destruction to the system than alcohol, according to speakers at the convention of the Northeastern Dental Association today. Dr. W. A. White, of the New York state board of health, said 45 per cent of the failures among school children were due to tooth troubles.

Trade Conditions to Profit By Regional Banks' Opening, Declares Governor McCord

Joseph A. McCord, who recently was chosen governor of the new federal reserve bank Atlanta district, returned from Washington Saturday noon, where he had been in consultation with the federal treasury authorities concerning the opening of the Atlanta bank.

Mr. McCord announced that the Atlanta reserve bank would open probably on November 15 and certainly not later than November 30.

When asked if he thought the opening of the reserve bank in Atlanta would relieve the present depressed business condition of this section and help out the cotton situation, Mr. McCord replied:

"I most certainly do believe that the opening of the bank will do a lot to re-establish normal trade conditions in the south. If I did not believe this I would not be resigning my position as vice president of the Third National bank. I am optimistic regarding a change for the better in business conditions when the reserve bank opens. In the first place, there will be more money released by the national and other banks over the country to be applied to general business, which will give a kick to the business generally. When our bank opens and stock has been taken the national banks of the city will automatically drop their reserves on the 15th and will have 15 per cent more to lend. This will give the city alone some two million dollars. The same thing will take place over the entire section.

"The optimistic opinion on the part of personally in regard to a change for the better things to come to pass within the next few weeks is the opinion of Washington, that trade conditions in the south have undergone a wonderful change within the last two weeks for the better.

Better Than Reported

The southern farmer is in a better condition than it has been reported he is. He will only have to lose this year's profits on his cotton. It is his own fault and no relief ought to be expected from Washington. He has been getting 11 to 13 cents a pound on his cotton for the last five years and he has failed to save any of his big profits. If he had saved a part of his profits in the past he would be in a position to easily lose this year's profits on his crop.

"The federal reserve bank will open on a strictly business basis. I will not be able to say much about the bank until the board of directors will meet some time this week. I do not want to give out the time or the place where they will meet because they will be busy and I should do that they would be flooded with applications for positions.

However, the bank will open with a much smaller number of clerks than the public expects. It will not require twenty-five clerks to handle the business of the new bank. The manifold system in bookkeeping will be able to do as much work as five men in an ordinary bank.

Will Get Stock First

The first duties of the bank will be to get in its stock. From the first the bank will be sold in gradually. Then we will be confronted with organizing the force and getting matters to running smoothly. As first the bank will be organized in a house work of its member banks. Other duties at first will be to discount the paper of its member banks. No commercial paper will be discounted until a few days and then the member bank presenting same must endorse same.

Mr. McCord denied that he had made any statement in an afternoon paper which was published in Atlanta Saturday that he had in mind certain information that would help the cotton situation. He said that he had no information of the kind and that he was unable to give it out present. This is a serious situation, said Mr. McCord, and if he had any information of the kind he would not have been in the position to resign his position as vice president of the bank.

PARENTS CENSURE SCHOOL SESSIONS

appeared before the committee and asked for more money to be added to the double sessions. Chairman Humphrey said: "The committee gave the board $11,812 additional. The board's position was made with the understanding that the board would employ forty-five additional teachers and would abolish the double sessions. If the double sessions have not been abolished, then the board has not carried out its obligation to the city and if the money appropriated by the board is not used for the purpose for which it was intended then the board of education is usurping its power and authority."

Why Money Was Given

"Did the finance committee understand that the $11,812 given to the board in addition to other money was to be used only to employ teachers?" Councilman Humphrey asked.

The board was given the money with the understanding that it would be used to abolish the double sessions. The double sessions have not been ended then that is a matter for the board to worry about.

Mayor James G. Woodward also declared that he had understood that the board was to abolish the double sessions with the additional October appropriation.

Mr. Woodward's comment on the failure of the board to abolish the sessions was severe.

At the time the finance committee was asked to appropriate $11,812 for the use of the school board in abolishing double sessions there were forty-three instances among the schools where one teacher was forced to teach two classes at the same time between the hours of 8:30 and 12 o'clock and take a fresh class at 12:30 o'clock and continue teaching until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Teacher for Each Class

Since the appropriation of $11,812 was made by the finance committee the school board abolished the system of double sessions and employed one teacher for each class. At the present time there are not two classes in the city taught by the same teacher.

Members of the board of education declare that the money appropriated at that time was given to employ additional teachers to plan and conduct Saturday that it is his understanding that Superintendent Slaton appointed forty-five new teachers—fifteen regular teachers and thirty temporary teachers—and assigned one to each class to relieve the strain on teachers who prior to the action of the finance committee were forced to teach morning and afternoon sessions.

"The board hoped to be able to make all the sessions uniform except in the case of the high school," Superintendent Slaton to go ahead and use additional classrooms and basements and libraries. These places were to be used to end the double sessions. In my opinion an infringement on the right of the federal government of states' rights too strong and radical. The representatives realized several days ago that the cotton farmers of the south would get no federal aid and they would have to look after their own interests. He said that if he had encouragement he would have remained in Washington to the end.

CANDLER'S PLAN PRAISED BY WEST

Proposed Legislation in the Senate of Too Radical a Nature, Says Senator From South Georgia.

Declaring that the proposed amendment in the United States senate to help the farmers of the south was of too radical a nature and that if it had been passed it would have done more harm than good, Senator West of South Georgia, last night said the reason he left Washington was because he realized that the south could expect no aid from the government. Otherwise he stated he would have remained in Washington to the end.

For more than an hour Senator West talked to a reporter about the cotton situation the European war legislation passed by the last congress, and the effect it would have on the cotton crop. He said that he had been in the south for several days and had seen the cotton crop in various parts of the state. He said that he was compelled to vote against the attempt to place a tax on the farmer. He said proposed legislation to place a tax on any overproduction.

I know that there is cotton selling at 7 1/2 cents a pound and because the government is buying 5,000,000 bales of cotton at 10 cents a pound or one cent more than the market price, it is using this cotton the government was to be empowered to demand that the farmer reduce his acreage so much that it would place a tax on any overproduction.

Perhaps India's loyalty is best shown however by the action of Sir Pertab Singh, the regent of Jodhpur, who has offered his troops and themselves and when the Indian government accepted the offer of the regent was too old and the maharajah too young for service in the field they hurried to Simla and deputed the regent to the viceroys to explain to them that they could do good work for the empire at home as in Europe. Sir Pertab Singh's offer was accepted and his troops against the emperor's enemies.

It is no disparagement of Sir Pertab Singh to say that he has a personal interest in the German cause. He accompanied the Indian contingent in the Boxer campaign in China in 1900 and Sir Valentine Chitral, the foreign secretary of the Indian government, is a personal friend of his. He is a man of high character and has a high opinion of the conduct of the Germans in the Boxer campaign. He is a man of high character and has a high opinion of the conduct of the Germans in the Boxer campaign.

ENGLISH EXPERTS TROOPS SENT AGAINST GERMANS Are Finest in the World.

London, October 24.—There has been no more thrilling event in English history than the magnificent loyalty of the Indian princes. The announcement in parliament last week that the 700 native princes not one had failed voluntarily to place himself and his people at the disposal of the emperor and that 70,000 of the pick of the Indian army was then on its way, created something of a sensation here. By the time this is printed they will have been in the field for some time fighting the Germans. It is now known that the princes of India and their people are the finest fighting force in the world. They are expected to do more than hold their own but to take the offensive against the Germans. They are expected to do more than hold their own but to take the offensive against the Germans.

From the outbreak of the war the viceroy and his council have been overwhelmed with telegrams and letters offering men money and personal services. The viceroy has received only from the princes of British India and from the independent and semi-independent rulers all around her borders. The viceroy has received only from the princes of British India and from the independent and semi-independent rulers all around her borders.

Prayers of countless thousands of British subjects in India will be offered for the success of the Indian army. The viceroy's telegram to the Maharajah of Rewa a great native prince and was soldierly in its directness. It was a message of the emperor's orders from his majesty for the 'my men'. All that I possess for the emperor was the message of the Maharajah of Patkotara, and the whole of the state from the Maharajah of Bharatpur.

India's Loyalty

Perhaps India's loyalty is best shown however by the action of Sir Pertab Singh, the regent of Jodhpur, who has offered his troops and themselves and when the Indian government accepted the offer of the regent was too old and the maharajah too young for service in the field they hurried to Simla and deputed the regent to the viceroys to explain to them that they could do good work for the empire at home as in Europe. Kitchener Has His Way, And He Doesn't Care Who In All England Knows It

London, October 24.—There are a lot of people in England who are finding out that with Lord Kitchener at the war office it is not so easy to obtain favors as in the days when this department was administered by politicians. This is particularly so in a number of high and mighty personages who have been accustomed to going in on the nod as they say of the theater deadheads and demanding what they would in the way of appointments and privileges for themselves and their friends. Here are two stories which show Kitchener's way of dealing with these people.

A few days ago one of the most powerful newspaper proprietors in England made up his mind that he did not like the war press censorship and that he would submit to it any longer. So he put on his hat and called on F. E. Smith M. P. the chief of the press bureau and delivered his ultimatum. You had better see Lord Kitchener," said F. E. Smith, and calling a boy in but told him that his caller should be conducted to the war secretary.

When F. E. Smith submitted his ultimatum to Lord Kitchener after listening to the ultimatum. If you don't give me your word on the spot that we will hear no more of this nonsense I will send a man to get you out of your papers within half an hour. The newspaper owner decided to submit within thirty seconds.

The other story concerns London's most powerful newspaper, the "Herald," which is owned by the sons of wealthy men and

JONES OF VIRGINIA, AND HIS "PARAMOUNT ISSUE"

From The Chicago He

Representative Jones of Virginia in the house Monday declared that the time is ripe for a declaration that the American people do not intend permanent subordination to the Philippines.

The time is not ripe unless we are prepared to concede independence at an early date. The announcement that we are going to give the Philippines independence is a declaration of war against the demand for immediate independence.

Philippine agitators will be continually asking that the United States already committed to independence and that it ought to keep its promise. And the answer we fail to do so the greater will be the discontent.

The United States will impose on the Philippines a government which will be a government of the Philippines. The American people are not so strongly attached to the Philippines as Representative Jones imagined.

What is more the anxious and unscrupulous may wake up in a few years and demand that the United States should give the Philippines independence. The American people are not so strongly attached to the Philippines as Representative Jones imagined.

WAR IS BOOSTING PRICE OF AMERICAN HORSES

(From Wall Street Journal)

America will have to pay higher prices for horses and mules next spring if Europe keeps on buying for its cavalry and its commissary services in the conduct of the great war. In both the northeast and the southeast areas have been purchasing freely. Orders for 10,000 head were recent placed by the Kansas City (Mo.) and Atlanta Horse raising districts through Tennessee stockyards and the horse country of the south generally are contributing largely to these demands.

The price for a pair of horses before the war was usually $125. Selections by military standards usually sell for a few more than the market price.

Statistics of the horse population of different countries at war show that there is a great shortage of horses. Her total of horses in France is 1,200,000 head. In England it is 1,000,000 head. In the United States it is 1,000,000 head. In the United States it is 1,000,000 head.

WALTER COLE PEACOCK SENATE PRESIDENT

He Calls Congress Traitor, and Would Give Legislature the Power to Convene Itself.

Hawkinsville, October 24.—(Special.)—The democratic constitutional convention of the fourteenth senatorial district met here this week for the purpose of electing a senator for the next year.

Colonel T. F. Busbee offered the reading of the report of the committee on the democratic nomination of the fourteenth senatorial district.

He said that some plan along the line of bonding the state for a given amount, covering the proceeds of the sale of them into the state treasury to be held for the purpose of relieving such situations as have suddenly, without our fault, come upon us, might be worked out.

While the power to call the legislature together is vested in the governor, he favored an amendment to the constitution, if necessary, to give that body the power to convene itself, with the proper limitations and restrictions, thus allowing the lawmaking body to assemble when the governor does not.

Hon. J. Pope Brown addressed the convention on the issues of the day, making his remarks by suggesting that the convention adopt resolutions endorsing the senator-elect for the presidency of the senate.

"SOUPER AND THE' DANSANTS"

BEAUTIFUL "TRELIS ROOM" OF THE ANSLEY HOTEL.

The "trellis room" at the Ansley hotel is the most unique setting Atlanta has yet afforded for the all-absorbing social diversion of the day—dancing.

It is an appropriate setting, gay and full of color, as picturesque as the dances to be demonstrated there by Miss Gail Forbush, of New York, and her partner—and in equally good taste.

Twice a week the dancing world—and that includes the whole social world—will assemble in the "trellis room" on Monday evenings from 9 until closing time, and Friday afternoons from 5 until 7 o'clock.

The dancing will be as good as vaudeville and much more artistic, will be interspersed in the program of general dancing, and the beautiful decorations of the "trellis room" will make these occasions as picturesque as the demand for them promises they will be socially popular.

Mrs. Forbush, who has been in Atlanta, now only a short time, has established for herself a warm place in the hearts of Atlantans who delight in things terpsichorean.

At these Monday and Friday demonstrations the dinner and tea service will be of the best, and as the number of each demonstration is limited to 175 it will be absolutely necessary to make table reservations in advance.

MILITARY SERVICE IS NEEDED BY U. S. SAYS CIVIC FORUM

After a lively debate on the question of whether or not the United States should have compulsory military service, the Civic Forum decided Saturday night at its weekly meeting in the chamber of commerce that compulsory military service is needed by this country.

As argued by the affirmative, however, compulsory military service would not mean that all men would have to enlist in the regular army, but that all able-bodied men should serve for a definite period in some military organization, such as the state militia.

Service in the militia does not require men to give up their regular business or profession, but only requires a few hours of military training each week, and it was on this argument that the affirmative won the day.

Dr. P. D. Dyer, Jr., George T. Northern and Francis X. Forbush upheld the affirmative, while the negative was defended by R. E. Lee, C. S. J. Highsmith and E. Leonard Crawford, attorney at law.

The affirmative also pointed out that the present financial depression in the United States—whether it is caused by the status of the banking interests of the country, or by the disturbance which the war has caused to foreign trade.

The negro then asked Mr. Gilbert to change a dollar note, which Mr. Gilbert told him he could not do it.

When the negro began to curse him and stabbed at him with a knife, Mr. Gilbert caught him by the hand during the struggle which ensued the negro ripped Mr. Gilbert's pockets and got his money.

Two negro men held up at the point of a gun and robbed J. Becker last night at 11 o'clock in his grocery store, 260 Chestnut street, and relieved his cash drawer of $30 cash, the keys to the store and some valuable papers.

NEW YORK FIRE CHIEF IN ATLANTA ON VISIT

John Kenlon, chief of the fire department of New York city, is spending today in Atlanta looking over the city department with Chief Cummings and inspecting the fire situation.

Chief and Mrs. Kenlon arrived Saturday afternoon and registered at the Piedmont hotel. They will leave Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock for Washington, where the chief will make the same inspections that he makes here.

Chief Kenlon has visited a number of cities with the purpose of adding, as he says, to his knowledge of the fire-fighting business, and declares that he is not out to "teach," but to "learn."

He spoke highly of Fire Commissioner Bob Adamson, of New York, former city editor of The Constitution, declaring that he had made a high mark in New York city, due largely to early training and natural ability.

In regard to the fire situation in Atlanta, the chief stated he was exceedingly well impressed with the solidity of the buildings here, and that this city would never have a conflagration like that which swept Chicago in the 70's. He also declared that Atlanta to him was very much like New York, the very atmosphere being like that of his native city.

J. L. COURTNEY STABBED ON AUGUSTA STREET

Augusta, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—A courtier interested in racing was stabbed on the street yesterday afternoon by H. L. Reeves, of Ga. S. C. After a short altercation between the two men, which it was merely the resumption of an old quarrel, Courtney was stabbed in the neck.

Courtney was taken to the hospital, where the hospital authorities say, and Reeves has been locked up.

Thomasville Is Preparing For Nut Growers' Convention

Thomasville, October 24.—(Special.)—The meeting of the National Nut Growers' association in convention here next week will be held in the auditorium of Young's college.

The lower floor of the building will be used for the display of nuts, which will be an interesting feature of the meeting.

While the word "nut" in this section has grown to mean primarily the pecan, and this association is generally regarded as a meeting of pecan growers, it really includes various other varieties of nuts, and the Persian walnut has a special place on the program.

It is not, perhaps, generally known that the Persian and English walnuts are the same, and that the former is the proper name for the nuts. These nuts are natives of Persia, but were carried to Greece and later to Italy from where the Romans carried them into England.

Being first brought to this country from the island of Java, the name of English walnut was given them, and as such they are popularly known here. The crop of Persian nuts is a large one in California, and they are grown successfully in other parts of the country also.

Up to a few years ago this crop far exceeded the pecan crop, but since 1909 the pecans have shown a large percentage of increase over the walnuts and are outstripping them every year.

There will be many veterans in the pecan business present at the meeting of the association, men who have really made the pecan industry what it is today.

Overcome, they will now take up those that confront the pecan grower of today.

ELKS' CHARITY BALL WILL BE BIG EVENT

Elaborate Preparations Are Being Made for Carnival on November 23.

Anxious to help the poor of Atlanta who are suffering as a result of existing industrial conditions, Atlanta Lodge No. 8 B. P. O. E. will begin this week making elaborate preparations for a charity ball and carnival to be held at the home on East Ellis street on November 23.

In common with nearly 1,200 sister lodges throughout the country, the local branch has always exerted its best efforts to make the Christmas cheer for the many in need of those who would otherwise face a dreary holiday season. Investigation by members of the lodge has shown that the extent of the work must be done this year.

Letters will be sent out within the next few days to the 1,000 Elks here asking them to help make this carnival and time a success by direct into a Christmas charity fund which will be distributed personally by a large band of volunteer Santa Clauses. The fund will be named after the women who will be named as patronesses. Among them will be Mrs. John W. Sisk, Mrs. Mrs. J. P. Andrews. Formal dress will not be required for the occasion so as to attract the largest number of guests. The object of the fund is to relieve the suffering of the poor.

Rural Life to Be Discussed By Club Women at Convention

A great deal of interest is centering in the session on "Country Life" which the club women will hold during their conventions. Its purpose is to bring the message of the federation to the women of the rural districts through the home and school improvement clubs. Mrs. Eugene Heard, chairman of the rural life department of the federation has asked Miss Celeste Parish, state supervisor of rural schools to preside. Miss Parish having made an exhaustive study of rural conditions and wishing to give the federation help in working for rural betterment under different directors.

Question of Guidance.

My committee has given much thought to the forces and agencies that will aid in bringing about a new rural society and it seems that it is to be largely a question of guidance. The federation has the home and school improvement clubs is what we need. Mrs. Eugene Heard discussing the work.

I recently attended a meeting of the Teachers Institute of Elbert county and after hearing the reports I realized as never before the need of rural social centers places where persons may naturally meet and where a real neighborhood interest exists. Therefore the home and school improvement clubs express the best cooperation of all social and economic forces that make for the welfare of the community. The organizations and the presidents of the districts would attend these teachers institutes no doubt a great number of these clubs

MASONS AT MACON FOR ANNUAL MEET

Twenty-Eighth Annual Convention Will Convene on Next Tuesday.

Macon Ga. October 24—(Special)—The eyes of the Masons of Georgia are now centered on Macon for the twenty-eighth annual communication of the Georgia Grand Lodge. It will be held in the city during the coming week beginning Tuesday and continuing for two and possibly three days depending on whether or not it is possible to complete the business in two days.

The gathering is the most important one each year in Masonic circles and it is anticipated that fully 1,500 accredited delegates will be in attendance including many other members of the delegates will bring their wives. The fact that the railroads have offered extremely low rates is expected to see all of the business in two days. The delegates will bring their wives. G.A. ELKS WILL FORM STATE ASSOCIATION WEDNESDAY NIGHT

It is announced that a state association of the Elks Lodges of Georgia will be organized in Macon next Wednesday night, this being done with the sanction of the grand lodge. Several years ago Georgia had a flourishing state association and large conventions were held annually. However, at that time the state associations had no affiliations with the grand lodge and as a result it did not survive.

There will be delegates from every lodge in the state at the meeting here Wednesday and splendid entertainment will be provided by the local lodges. The following have been named officially to represent the Macon lodge: C. R. Wright, R. C. Jordan and J. T. Cyhan.

GREAT FILM TRIUMPH COMES BACK TO GRAND

Movie Lovers Gratified Over Kellermann's Return to the Grand All Next Week.

When the Grand theater last night flashed upon its screen the announcement that Annette Kellermann was returning in the world's greatest film triumph, Neptune's Daughter, there was an audible gasp of enthusiasm among not only those who saw her when she played the Grand in June to 40,000 movie lovers, but to the many present who were unable to attend.

The Kellermann picture broke all audience records in Atlanta. For an entire week the Grand was barely able to accommodate the multitudes of people who flocked the city on foot to the streets and an extra curtain of police was required to keep them in line. This alone is assurance that new records will be established upon its return to the Grand.

All those who witnessed Kellermann's great triumph had no description of it. Description too would be futile, as the last word in photographic and dramatic art. Produced at a cost of $50,000, reviewers have pronounced it the sublime achievement of motion picture science and art.

Picture the wonderful Kellermann in the role of the slim, bottom of the Caribbean sea.

The making of Neptune's Daughter cost $50,000 and six months of relentless labor. The entire company of 700 performers was transported to the Bermuda islands where scenery, sunlight and water were more advantageous. The submerged scenes are the furthest step in photographic science. To take the scene in an entire carload of sulphuric acid which in closed an immense diving bell in all tight enclosure—in which the actor, Kellermann, and his cameraman were lowered to the bottom of the sea.

The story of Neptune's Daughter was written by Captain Leslie F. Lee, a well-known writer of the day, and the dramatic daughter of Father Neptune is happy in her submarine home until mortal fishermen hunt her body, sister in their net. A love affair develops which she consults the water witch who transforms her into a mermaid.

Converted into the form of a living girl, Annette sets about to trace the source of her father's death. She locates it at the throat of William J. Rex, the ruler who has granted fishing rights to the United States. Determined to exact revenge from the king, she contrives to meet him in a roomer one night on the banks of a wooden pool where Annette water-logged that she is unable to powerless to resist the evil of the king's tempter and is nobly plunging into the hidden life.

A love affair develops that is replete with dramatic situations and a fine story line. It is a picture that is taken in all the picture is just what New York and other reviewers say it is. The sublime achievement of the moving picture art.

Every day will see a great picture presented upon the screen at the Montgomery this week. All have been carefully selected by the management and are in keeping with the high plane of entertainment always provided at this popular motion picture house. The admission every day is the same—cents and ten cents. No variance in price at any time. Monday and Tuesday the offering will be "The Lynbrook Tragedy" and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the offering will be "The County Chairman" and Saturday the offering will be "The Woman Who Dared."

A new epoch in the development of the motion picture industry is marked by the offering of this distinguished theatrical producer to the motion picture public the sensational run of the original production established a new record in theatrical history.

The film adaptation due to the limitations of the oral stage permits of even a more vivid and more elaborate interpretation than was possible in the stage version. The film version is presented with many members of the original cast, including the immortal characterizations of Susa and George Ade.

Aside from the unique importance which attaches to the production of this first offering of this distinguished theatrical producer to the motion picture public the sensational run of the original production established a new record in theatrical history.

The film adaptation due to the limitations of the oral stage permits of even a more vivid and more elaborate interpretation than was possible in the stage version. The film version is presented with many members of the original cast, including the immortal characterizations of Susa and George Ade.

On Saturday "The County Chairman" and a rip roaring Vitagraph comedy "Uncle Bill."

Shubert production in five acts featuring the bewitching motion picture actress Barbara Tennant. Released by World Film Corporation and presented at the Grand Monday and Tuesday.

Alice Joyce at the Alamo No. 2 Monday in "The Lynbrook Tragedy"

Residents of Lynbrook were recently shocked to learn that Evelyn Gregg, the well known actress had ended her own life. A mystery had always surrounded Miss Gregg despite the fact that she was constantly in the public eye.

It seems that Miss Gregg who was somewhat eccentric, invited to her home party Ruth Malloy, a designer of gowns in order that the modest might study her style. At the same time she extended an invitation to James Mitchell, a young playwright in whom her interest was more than professional.

Chancing to come upon the young couple as they exchanged confidences the actress saw that the younger woman was winning the playwrite and she began at once to practice on him the wiles which had enchanted men in days gone by.

An unexpected arrival at the Lynbrook home put an end to the festivities of the guests and hostess about the most startling tragedies of recent years. Carl Malloy, an uncouth tramp who was a younger man than his family and wrecked his life through an infatuation for Evelyn Gregg, learned of the actress' presence in the east and determined to confront her.

Brooding over the blight upon his life he waited for Evelyn Gregg to know no bounds when he beheld the woman about to destroy the happiness of his daughter. But the actress' own conscience prevented Malloy from becoming a murderer.

shot rang out and the horrified guests discovered their hostess dead a smoking pistol in her hand.

One struggle of Ruth Malloy who came near suffering the unhappiness experienced by her mother at the hands of the actress are portrayed by Miss Alice Joyce in the powerful two part Kalem drama "The Lynbrook Tragedy" which will be shown Monday October 26 at Alamo No. 2.

"Officer 666."

Howard Dabbrook, one of the best known actors in New York city, has been engaged to play the lead of "Officer 666" in George Kleins film version of the famous Cohan & Harriss success "Officer 666." He will be ably supported by a cast which includes Della Connor, Ada Alvir, Lois Burnett, Sidney Beaward, Dan Moyle and Leo Kuhl.

Mr. Dabbrook has worked for Beaward, William A. Brady and others. The Vanishing Bride Within the Law, The Divorced and Little Women are well remembered successes in which Estabrook has played the lead.

At the Strand.

On Monday and Tuesday the Strand offers "When Broadway Was a Trail" a Shubert production featuring Barbara Tennant. The picture is a love story of old New Amsterdam and depicts the early days and settlement of New York city.

Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday are Keystone comedies at the Strand and this house has the exclusive rights on these big comedy features. Beginning at 11:15 on Wednesday and thereafter on every other Wednesday a two reel comedy will be shown in which the Keystone stars will appear. Next Wednesday, October 29, a picture is presented in "Dough and Dynamite."

"AL" FOWLER

Manager of Alpha Theater

Al Fowler known to his friends as Al has recently been in the management of the Alpha, that very little picture house at 84 Whitehall street, where movie patrons have come to learn that all pictures shown are good ones. Immediately things began to take on an improved appearance when Al was placed in charge and there are many more contemplated changes to be made in the near future.

Mr. Fowler boasts of being a Georgia cracker born and raised in Atlanta. For a number of years he has been on the roll as advance man for different theatrical companies and was also for some time in the film producing business. A peculiar incident in the name of the theater, Alpha, as it happens to be the same as Mr. Fowler's. He says watch the Alpha grow.

KLEINE TO RELEASE "WOMAN WHO DARED"

The Woman Who Dared featuring Francesca Bertini is the title of a new five part serial to be booked through the various Kleine branch offices next month. Miss Francesca Bertini well known to American picture fans plays the lead in a story which fairly sparkles with dramatic situations and daring exploits. The important sex drama has not been stolen by a foreign spy from the points of view of the count is the story. The story is a love story which is the hands of the spy, entices him into a filtration and then in an unusually powerful situation forces the papers from his hand. An exciting race between a railway locomotive and a flying automobile makes a striking climax. The story moves rapidly from the start of the first reel and never falters for a moment. The Woman Who Dared is a whole well suited to Miss Bertini's temperament and abilities and is unquestionably her best work.

NELMS HERE TO FORGE CHAIN AROUND INNISES

Brother of Missing Girls Wants to Have Prisoners Indicted in Fulton County.

Marshall Nelms has returned to Atlanta to forge a chain of prosecution around Victor E. Innes and his wife, who are charged with causing the disappearance of the Nelms sisters, so that escape will be impossible, even though Texas courts fell down entirely in their efforts to convict.

He arrived Saturday morning from Birmingham, where he consulted with authorities in regard to prosecuting Innes and his wife in Alabama in event they were not executed for murder in Texas. In Atlanta he visited Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, seeking to prepare indictments against the accused man and woman in Fulton county.

Leaving Atlanta, he will, in all probability, go to Tennessee and Louisiana authorities and force other links to his chain. All these will be on the ground of conspiracy to murder, which, he charges, was plotted in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana, as well as Texas.

Texas laws require that the body or identifiable parts of the victim, must be submitted by the prosecution. The fact, however, according to Nelms, is confident of conviction on a charge of conspiracy, which would send the suspects to prison for a term of not more than ten years.

Nelms' idea is to have them also indicted in Alabama, Georgia, and, if possible, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The Georgia laws are being consulted by the solicitor general, Attorney Reuben Arnold and Nelms. Tuesday afternoon it will be decided whether or not the matter will be submitted to the Fulton grand jury.

"I have no doubt whatever," Nelms told newspaper reporters Saturday night, "that Innes and his wife will be convicted in San Antonio. We have a world of evidence against them."

Nelms will return to San Antonio Wednesday.

Massengale Is Anxious To Hear From Chairmen About Election Ballots

St. Elmo Massengale, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, announces that he has not heard from a large number of the chairmen of the county committees relative to the printing of ballots.

Mr. Massengale asks that each chairman of the county committees in the state who has not informed him that the ballots have been properly printed, according to the specifications of the state committee, do so at once.

Mr. Massengale has just mailed a letter to the ordinary of each delinquent county asking him to co-operate with the county committees in having this matter attended to promptly.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS AT WINECOFF MONDAY

Although the public opening of the Hotel Winecoff's southern gardens will not occur until Tuesday night, the Rotary club has engaged the gardens for their semi-monthly meeting on Monday night.

The remaining paraphernalia for the new gardens arrived Saturday, and by Monday night the decorating will be completed, the feature of which will be artificial crimson and variegated ranunculus roses, numbering over 9,000.

Professor W. W. Hubner, musical director at the Atlanta theater, has been engaged to lead the orchestra at the Winecoff and Mrs. Frank Peterson, the well-known soprano soloist, will also be on the program regularly. An artist has been engaged to play the flute, but as yet the Winecoff authorities have not interested the pronunciation of his name far less the spelling of it.

Mrs. G. T. Guernsey Will Offer For President General D. A. R.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of the state of Kansas have announced that Mrs. George Guernsey, of Independence, who is the present state regent, will be a candidate for the office of president general in 1915, having been unanimously endorsed by her state and chapter.

She has been one of the most prominent figures in the affairs of the society in the west for a number of years and has for the past six years been one of the most popular members attending the annual meetings of the continental congress held in Washington.

She is a native of Ohio. Her father, a clergyman, being from Virginia, and her mother from Pennsylvania. She is the wife of a banker, and added to a charming personality she is a woman of splendid executive ability.

The following is her platform: 1. Elimination of all party limitations. 2. One term of three years, with no re-election, for all national officers, in order to prevent the distractions consequent upon a campaign for a second term.

3. All elected officers to have complete and unhampered control of their own offices, and to be held responsible by congress for the proper conduct of their offices.

4. No mileage for officers or committee chairmen. 5. Regular board meetings to be held four times a year.

6. Committees of appeals to be elected by the congress for the adjustment of otherwise unsettled differences in state or chapters, whose decisions shall be final.

7. Magazine to be restored to publication by a responsible firm. 8. A "fair and square" deal for every daughter.

MRS. G. T. GUERNSEY.

JUDGE BROYLES RESIGNS. AID BELGIAN SUFFERERS.

George Johnson Will Doubtless Fill Unexpired Term.

Recorder Nash R. Broyles will cease to be "Judge Briles" after November 15, the date upon which he becomes judge of the court of appeals.

Recorder Johnson tendered his resignation to the mayor and general council Saturday morning. He was nominated to succeed on the court of appeals bench and will assume the place to which he has been elevated by the voters of Georgia soon after the return of the election which will be held on November 3.

It is understood that council will elect George E. Johnson to the place which Judge Broyles will vacate. Mr. Johnson was elected recorder in the recent city primary over three other candidates, but his term to which he has been elected by the people does not begin until next July.

Judge Broyles' resignation is as follows: "To the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta, Gentlemen: I herewith tender my resignation as recorder, to take effect on the 15th day of November next. While gratified at my promotion by the people of Georgia to the court of appeals, it is with genuine regret that I sever my official relations with the city of Atlanta.

"I have served her for nearly sixteen years as recorder, longer than any of my predecessors in that office, and I shall always be grateful to my fellow citizens for their constant and unwavering support of my administration of the law.

"I believe that today Atlanta is the most law-abiding city in the union. That she may continue to grow in civic beauty and righteousness is my earnest prayer. Sincerely yours, "NASH R. BROYLES."

WAR STAMPS FOR BEER RECEIVED IN ATLANTA

The internal revenue department in the federal building Saturday received its first batch of new war stamps for beer, which call for a 50 per cent increase on the brewer. The old price was $1 a barrel. Stamps for tobacco and other commodities will be received later.

Benefit Vaudeville Show Will Be Given at the Grand.

A society vaudeville performance to aid the sufferers of Belgium will be given at the Grand theater next Thursday night. The program will be furnished by entertainers from the ranks of Atlanta society and from the bill of the Forsyth theater.

Tickets are now on sale at $1 each. The affair is being promoted by Henry L. DeGive, Belgian consul in Atlanta who has received from the consulate in Washington a graphic report on the suffering of King Albert's devastated kingdom.

Hundreds of dollars will be realized by the performance. Every cent of the proceeds will be forwarded to the Belgian minister in Washington. It was at first announced the show would be given at the Lyric, but Jack Wells last night wired permission to use the Grand.

JOHNSON TO ADDRESS DEAF-MUTE BIBLE CLASS

Seaborn J. Johnson, of Talladega, Ala., visiting relatives in the city, will address the deaf-mute Bible class at St. Mark's Sunday school this morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Johnson is of a family long interested in the education of the deaf in Alabama school. He is gifted as a speaker in the expressive sign language of the deaf. It is a rare opportunity for the deaf of the city and their friends to enjoy Mr. Johnson's address this morning. All are invited and urged to be present.

ALLOWS PUBLICATION OF PARKHURST STORY

Judge George L. Bell Saturday modified his restraining order against The Atlanta Saturday Night prohibiting the publication of an article, "The Venetianess of Mr. Parkhurst," permitting the publishers to run the one story, but restraining them from printing others. The injunction was issued at the plea of Mr. Parkhurst, former advertising manager of the paper.

AT THE THEATERS

McIntyre and Heath.

(At the Atlanta.)
Friday and Saturday, November 6 and 7, brings to the Atlanta theater John Corbett's magnificent comedy, "The Ham Tree," which has furnished these quaint comedians, McIntyre and Heath, with the material they have ever had for the expression of their peculiar, but nevertheless, artistic humor. It is one of the comparatively few musical comedies that will bear being seen more than once, for each scene is packed with full, tuneful, vivacious music, while the costumes and scenery are extremely effective.

"Peg o' My Heart."

(At the Atlanta.)
It is a pleasure to announce that once more the theatergoers of this city will be given an opportunity of witnessing the magnificent comedy of recent years, "Peg o' My Heart." Mr. Morosco, the producer of the play, may rest assured that the audience will not make a mistake in sending "Peg" this way once more, for no play was as thoroughly enjoyed as this one. The impression on all who witnessed it last year as did "Peg o' My Heart." Miss Blanche Hall was the queen in the title role, with the remaining characters ably portrayed by her supporting cast. It will be presented at the theater November 3 for a full week.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)
Acts of unusual quality will make up the program of entertainment at the busy Forsyth this week. There are seven acts on the bill, several of which are of headline quality. Others that are recognized cards in the most exclusive vaudeville houses in America. There has been unusual care exercised in arranging the program and in the selection of the acts. It is a fact that the Keith Vaudeville had so much fine material at their disposal as at any other moment in their history. It is a matter of judgment as to what features to assign to bills in New York and along the coast.

McIntyre and Heath in "The Ham Tree" at the Atlanta, November 6-7.

Monday and Tuesday, November 2 and 3. One of the current novelties which attract considerable attention in Madison Square Garden, New York, last spring, and has since been one of the leading attractions, is called "The Ham Tree." It is a "silk-hat tournament" or "brooching the tree." Twenty cowboys, all wearing high silk hats, and each armed with a light riding whip, engage first in individual battles with opponents, and then in a general melee, each trying to knock off the other's hat. The winner is the one who remains on his feet and whose hat remains on his head. The performance is called "The Ham Tree" because of the fact that the hats are made of ham. The show is a very popular one, and is being presented in many places. It is a very interesting and amusing performance, and is well worth seeing. The show is presented by Joseph C. Miller, who is the owner of the show. The show is presented in many places, and is well worth seeing. The show is presented in many places, and is well worth seeing.

Future of the South Will Be Discussed by Dr. Hillis

(At the Grand.)
More than forty thousand persons witnessed the picture triumph, "Neptune's Daughter," at the Grand last June, but there were still thousands who were unable to see it. For this reason the Grand has booked it for a return engagement at this week's continuous performance. Kellermann's great picture goes to introduce to Atlanta the picture "Neptune's Daughter," which is set in an epoch in southern moving picture realism for the first time. It is an uninterrupted run of nine days at the Grand. Atlanta is not the only movie center in the world where a picture is demanded. Since its first exhibition at the Globe theater, on Broadway, it has been presented to more than eight million people all over America. It is positively the greatest picture ever shown in the world. The picture is something new in the entertainment world. It is something that is following each other in a way that is dazzling. The picture is something new in the entertainment world. GREAT RIDE IN FOUR BY MITCHELL

Sealed Bonnet Car Greeted by Cheering Thousands on Finishing 7,518-Mile Trip in Pittsburg.

The Constitution Saturday night received the following telegram telling of the close of the great trip of the Mitchell Four, which made 7,518 miles in thirty days:

Chicago, Ill.—The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.—A big ovation greeted the Mitchell sealed bonnet car as it ended 7,518 miles in Pittsburg in thirty days, averaging over 250 miles a day. The car was filled with representatives of the press, police, noble matheus and assistant chief of police Bartley, who pronounced them absolutely intact. The car was greeted on the streets by representatives, newspaper reporters and automobile men, greeted the car on the outskirts of the city and accompanied it through Pittsburg.

The streets were lined with cheering groups, and Drivers Zirbes, Barnett and Hiesley were greeted with enthusiasm. The streets were blocked for miles and the traffic squad could not keep traffic open. Pittsburg's enthusiastic welcome to the Mitchell Four on its arrival in Pittsburg was perfect. The motor was running smoother than when it left the factory. The car is in such splendid shape that the company is considering the advisability of continuing the run from Pittsburg to California.

Does Diversified Farming Pay? Ask P. H. Grant, of DeKalb Co.

Decatur, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—The farmers of DeKalb county are firm believers in diversified farming, cotton being only a secondary consideration with them. These men are now worried about the low price of cotton and the high cost of living.

P. H. Grant, whose farm is located near Chamblee, in this county, on R. F. D. No. 1, is an example of this class of farmers. Although he is 65 years of age, he is active and energetic. He has just returned from a visit through the south, and in addition coming to Decatur every Friday with a load of products from his farm. Here is what he has done on 13 acres during the past eight months, doing all the work himself:

One bale of cotton, 200 bushels of corn, oats for home use and for sale, wheat enough for a year's supply of flour for himself, wife and little grandchild, year's supply of sorghum syrup, 1,600 bundles of fodder, four loads of peavine hay, put up enough for his own family for two years, hogs enough fattening to run his family for two years, sold 42 hogs of pigs from two brood sows, 4000 pounds of butter in eight months at 30 cents a pound, sold two milk cows and has a beef cow for sale, also marketed seventy-two dozen of eggs, $28 worth of chickens, 60 bushels of fruit, $12 worth of vegetables and a large amount of peas, kershaws, potatoes, etc.

He feeds all milk above home consumption to his hogs, also feeds them apples, peaches and vegetables during the summer and fall months. In addition to this Mr. Grant sold 700 pounds of meat of his own raising last winter. He planted this year one acre in cotton, seven acres in corn, one acre in vegetables and four acres in wheat and oats. After paying all expenses for the year out of his sales he has deposited $300 in the DeKalb bank, and has the bulk of his crop as additional profit.

ALABAMA PLANTER SEES RUIN IN COTTON

Huntsville, Ala., October 24.—(Special.)—That ruin awaits the cotton farmers of the south unless they reduce their acreage next year is the opinion of W. E. Garth, a prominent capitalist and planter of this city, who has just returned from a visit through the southern and central Alabama. He was convinced that Alabama has produced a record-breaking crop of cotton this year. "We are just beginning to realize that the south has produced a very large cotton crop," he said, "probably the largest in history. Hence the fact that such a large crop has been produced in the south is a disaster to the cotton farmer unless they reduce their acreage fully one-half next year, and two-thirds would be far better. I see only bankruptcy in another big cotton crop." Mr. Garth's estimate of the Madison county cotton crop this year is 30,000 bales, the largest ever grown.

LIGHT BRIGADE CHARGED JUST SIXTY YEARS AGO

London, October 24.—Tomorrow in Balaklava day, the sixtieth anniversary of the charge of the Light Brigade, will be celebrated in London. The two officers and eleven men left of the six hundred who were killed in the re-union and dinner should be abandoned and the funds devoted to the men who are now fighting.

NAB STOCK SOLICITOR FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Huntsville, Ala., October 24.—(Special.)—A telegram from Cincinnati last night announced the arrest of Louis Gibbs, who was here last summer as the representative of the American Treadway shoe company, and who has been indicted by the grand jury here on a charge of embezzlement. It is alleged that Gibbs took subscriptions for stock in the company, collected the money and did not turn it in to the company officials. It is asserted that he obtained more than $1,000 in that manner.

GERMANY TO RESPECT OUR MONROE DOCTRINE

Ambassador Von Bernstorff So Informs United States Government.

Washington, October 24.—Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador, announced today that Germany would respect the Monroe doctrine, whatever the outcome of the European war. A note to that effect had been presented to the state department by the ambassador.

The text of the communication was withheld by department officials. The Acting Secretary Lansing made this announcement: "The German ambassador on September 23, in a note to the department of state, stated that he was instructed by his government to deny most emphatically the rumors to the effect that Germany intends to use the Monroe doctrine in the present war, to seek expansion in South America." Discussion of the ambassador's note was crossed by a published statement of Dr. Deuring, former German secretary of state, calling attention to the fact that his government had notified the United States of its intentions in South America. Dr. Deuring and German officials have attributed these rumors to Germany's enemies in the present war, believing they were designed to influence public opinion in the United States against Germany.

FOR RAILWAY GROUPS RIPLEY MAKES PLEA

Kansas City, Mo., October 24.—Establishment of railway "groups," somewhat after the manner of regional regiments, each group to be governed by a board of directors on which the government would be represented, was urged by E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, in a speech here tonight. Mr. Ripley said the idea was his own. The present system of management cannot last, it almost may be said to have broken down already, said Mr. Ripley. He urged the government to bring one or more seats on railroad boards, and the power of absolute veto, a economic reform of common ownership might be practiced.

TWO MORE BANDITS ARE SHOT TO DEATH

Bellingham, Wash., October 24.—Two more of the five bandits who robbed the bank at Bellingham, Wash., Saturday night, killing a boy and wounding two citizens and carrying off $20,000 last Saturday night, were shot to death by police officers early today. One of the five was killed and another wounded and captured. The other three were taken to a hospital, one of whom members was slain.

HUNTSVILLE RECORD FOR BUILDING BROKEN

Huntsville, Ala., October 24.—(Special.)—All previous building and amounts invested in new houses here have been broken in Huntsville this year. The contractors are busy, and have work for months ahead.

The Irony of War.

Recently the Salvation Army held a congress in London, and 50,000 marchers were in the parade, pledged to the abolition of war. Hope Upset in Saturday's Games

Yellow Jackets Can Come Back; They Prove It

Defeat the Virginia Military Institute Eleven 28 to 1. Fumbles Cause V. M. I. Score.

By Dick Jenison. The Tech Yellow Jackets proved Saturday that they can come back.

The Atlanta Tech Yellow Jackets defeated the Virginia Military Institute football eleven 28 to 1 Saturday in a game that was more fiercely fought than the score indicated.

The Atlanta Tech Yellow Jackets of the Saturday previous was just as predicted in these columns, the tonic that the jackets needed to make them into that football is other than a tonic.

Not only did they recover from that beating and defeat Saturday but they came from behind. The visitors led at the end of the first half 13 to 0.

Tech tied the score in the third quarter, and in the fourth quarter put their stars roller in motion and scored every thing before them, scoring three touchdowns in seven minutes actual playing time.

Costly Fumbling. The Jackets really out played the V. M. I. boys in the first two quarters, but their passing, kicking, punting and punting that caused fumbling in the backfield proved disastrous to their chances of a march for a touch.

It was a fumble that paved the way to the only touchdown that the V. M. I. boys made during the game. The center with the ball well in V. M. I. territory, Captain Bain, of the visitors, picked up the ball and kicked it into the outbacking every pursuit for a touchdown.

Eventually "Held" read the riot act to his hopefuls before halves, for they started after the star fields hammer and tongs in the third and fourth quarters in the final session.

It was this same costly fumbling that resulted in a story for the "Thin Red Line" of Alabama a week ago. Until this is eliminated, the jackets must hope to come with some of the stronger opponents that she is facing.

But for the fumbling we believe that the jackets would have run up double digit scores that would have kept their goal line from being crossed.

The Stars. Patten, Cushman, Hayes and Fielder were the stars for Tech. On the offensive, Press and Goree did the best work for Tech. Although the entire line showed herculean effort, Tech wrought up, while Gray did the best work for the visitors.

Patten's punting showed plenty of drive to them, and after he got through he showed splendid kicking and punting ability. In the fourth quarter he ran 52 yards for a touchdown on the opening play.

Hayes and Fielder started in end runs through a broken field. They were well guarded by the Tech defense, but when they got loose they showed an ability to dodge that added to their effectiveness.

Wisdom Goree was the only Techite who could penetrate successfully. He was well guarded by the Tech defense, but when they got loose they showed an ability to dodge that added to their effectiveness.

Press' Great Work. But to Jim Press goes the lion's share of the credit for the victory. He is a tower of strength to the jackets, and it is a pity that he cannot get into the line to show his splendid kicking and punting ability.

Then, too, he is the best punter on the coast and his punting is well timed, plenty of distance and high enough to permit his teammates time to get down on the opening play.

It was in acting as an interloper for the man with the ball that the big fellow showed his best work. Repeatedly he cut in and out of the line, pulling the man with the ball to reel off additional yardage.

He cut in and out of the line, pulling the man with the ball to reel off additional yardage. He cut in and out of the line, pulling the man with the ball to reel off additional yardage.

Jackets Improve. The jackets show improvement in their team play. They are rapidly becoming a more unified unit.

The green men in the team are rapidly becoming a more unified unit. They are rapidly becoming a more unified unit.

The game result. V. M. I. won the toss and elected to defend the south goal. Jim Press kicked the ball 28 to 1.

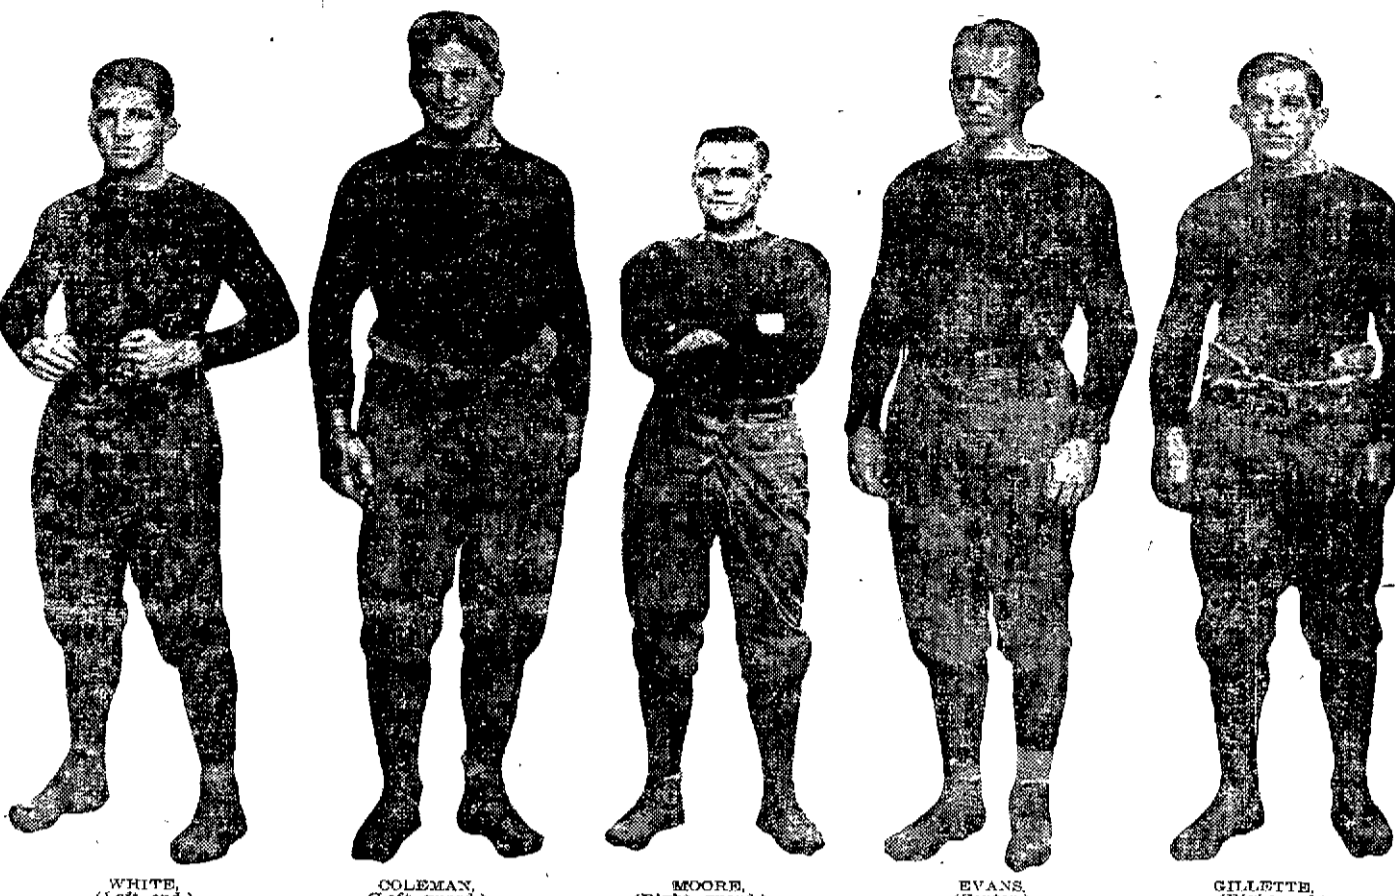

At the start of the second quarter, Tech was forced to kick. Press again kicked the ball 28 to 1.

AMATEUR TWIRLER SIGNED BY LOCALS

Bill Smith Grabs Robertson, Who Twirled in Welchance Benefit Game.

Robertson, the notorious, Ga. boy who made a good impression twirling in the Welchance benefit game at Ponce de Leon September 19, has been signed by a trial with the Crackers next spring.

Robertson was signed by Manager Smith on the tip of Joe Dunn, the Crackers' veteran receiver, who caught Robertson in the game. Joe was enthusiastic in his praise of what the youngster showed in this game, and predicted a future for him in baseball.

Good control, a splendid fast ball, with a sharp hop to it, a fair curve and average speed is the youngster's stock in trade. With careful coaching he may be made into a star.

It looks like Bill Smith has picked up a find.

By the Air Route Tar Heels Nose Out Vanderbilt Eleven In Fiercely Contested Game

Nashville, Tenn., October 24.—North Carolina defeated Vanderbilt here this afternoon in a closely fought football contest by a score of 19 to 5.

In the third quarter, when Vanderbilt was leading by 9 to 3, the Commodores attempted a kick. The ball was blocked by Ramsey of North Carolina and rolled back of Vanderbilt's goal line where Ramsey fell on it for a touchdown.

Vanderbilt's touchdown was made on a long run by Quarterback Curry, followed by a forward pass and a short line plunge. Both sides drove kicked a goal.

Captain Sikes, of Vanderbilt, who had been declared ineligible, was ruled eligible today and played in the game. The star for Vanderbilt was Curry, and for North Carolina, Taylor played most brilliantly.

North Carolina outweighed Vanderbilt 5 pounds to the man, but Vanderbilt's line and back were better set up for this, and the two teams appeared evenly matched. Vanderbilt's playing on the whole was more brilliant, but North Carolina's game was more consistent.

Vanderbilt fumbled repeatedly, and each time a North Carolina man slipped in and dropped on the ball.

Close Punting. Time after time North Carolina drove down the field for gains on forward passes, only to be held by Vanderbilt at a critical striking distance.

The Commodores repeated North Carolina's program when they secured the offense. The teams swayed up and down the field, kicking repeatedly in this department of the game. North Carolina started, Vanderbilt men several times falling to stop or fumbling the long, high whirling punts of the Tar Heel kicker.

The game ended in darkness with the ball in North Carolina's possession on Vanderbilt's 22-yard line.

Carman made Vanderbilt's touchdown for Ramsey, of North Carolina, who recovered the Vanderbilt kick that rolled back over the Commodore goal line for a touchdown.

The drop kicks were made for Vanderbilt, by Cody, and for North Carolina, by Taylor.

Game in Detail. Vanderbilt won the toss and Josh Cody kicked off. After a few minutes' play, Taylor punted to Vanderbilt's 50-yard line. Steady gains and a double forward pass brought Vanderbilt to North Carolina's 5-yard line. Drop kick failed. Ball punted several times with gains on both sides.

Vanderbilt's 1-yard line and tried unsuccessfully for a goal. Curry made 48 yards around left end and a double forward pass netted 35 yards more for Vanderbilt, bringing the ball to North Carolina's 1-yard line.

Carman went through for a touchdown, but Curry kicked wide. A gain by Curry of 20 yards around left end helped Vanderbilt to its opponent's 10-yard line, and Taylor kicked a goal.

Ball on North Carolina's 10-yard line at end of first half. Score, second quarter: Vanderbilt 5, North Carolina 3.

Cody kicked off to North Carolina. After the ball had returned to Vanderbilt's possession, Chester attempted a punt, which was blocked and Ramsey went for a touchdown. Taylor returned the ball 33 yards on Vanderbilt's kick.

Ammie Sikes was taken out in the first quarter, had not yet returned to the game. A forward pass, Fuller to Taylor, netted 35 yards. Taylor carried the ball to the 45-yard line. Score and third quarter: Vanderbilt 5, North Carolina 10.

Sikes went back into the game at left half and punted to North Carolina's 25-yard line. A number of forward passes went incomplete. A punting battle shifted the position of the ball to the 50-yard line, neither side being able to get the best of it for several minutes of play. Two attempted drop kicks by Taylor from the 40-yard line failed.

The game ended in darkness with the ball in North Carolina's possession on Vanderbilt's 22-yard line.

Constitution's Sporting Editor Named on Committee to Pick S. I. A. A. Championship Winner

Birmingham, Ala., October 24.—(Special.)—The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association cannot afford to play favorites or politics. It would not be fair to the institution, if the powers that be did so.

But it appears as if they are in deciding the winner of the championship of Tech. Both were technically guilty of the same offense, and the one is reinstated and the other is not.

Where's the puff? High Tech's heads believe that if Vanderbilt is offered the S. I. A. A. title, it will be wrecked by her subsequent withdrawal from the association, which makes no difference as to Tech's opinion or good wishes.

FORWARD PASSES DOWN ALABAMA

Tennessee Wins the First Game From "Thin Red Line" in Twelve Years. Score Is 17 to 7.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 14.—Tennessee defeated the University of Alabama today 17 to 7. The game was featured by the team work of Tennessee and the line bucking of the Tennessee halves. Tennessee scores resulted from two touchdowns in the first period and a goal from the field in the second period.

The first touchdown was scored after about ten minutes of play on a forward pass. Thompson to May to Cameron, which netted a gain of 25 yards. A few minutes later, after the ball had been carried down the field on line-bucks, a forward pass, May to Carroll, gained 25 yards and scored the second touchdown. Carroll on both goals, and early in the second quarter Cameron drop-kicked a goal from the 25-yard line.

Alabama scored in the second quarter when Vandegriff tackled, caught the ball, knocked from the arms of Captain Keller of Tennessee, in mid-field and ran 45 yards for a touchdown. Later in the fourth period Vandegriff tried for a goal from placement from the 55-yard line, but missed it.

Alabama's regular quarterback, against whose playing a protest was filed by Tennessee Thursday, did not participate in the game. This loss to Alabama was balanced by the absence from the Tennessee line-up of Red Palmer, head halfback, who is suffering from a sprained ankle. This is the first time Tennessee has beaten Alabama in twelve years.

- Newman High Wins.
 - Newman, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—The Newman high school team defeated the Fourth District Agricultural and Mechanical college this afternoon, 12 to 0. Although the day was a bad one for football, yet there was a very large crowd to witness the fierce football battle.
 - The features of the game were the line-bucks of Powell and Carpenter, who gained at least 5 yards at every attempt, and the long end runs of Camp and Powell. The Newman line held the Aggies well, and was unable to penetrate this strong defense. Hallum featured for the A. & M. boys, but failed to get any yardage during the third quarter, while trying to stop an end run by Camp.
 - The local play of the West Point High next Friday, and the game is looked forward to as being a very interesting one, as the Aggies are reputed as having a very strong team.
 - The local football fans are very much pleased with the coaching of White, a former Wake Forest star, as he has developed a very strong team, considering the light material.
- Morgan 20, Athens Aggies 9.
- Fulton, Ala., October 24.—(Special.)—The Athens Agricultural college football team went to Fayetteville yesterday to meet the Morgan team. The Morgan team is a very strong team, but the Athens team won by a score of 20 to 9.
- Thomasville 10, Camilla 9.
- Thomasville, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—The Thomasville high school team played a nothing-to-nothing tie this afternoon in a remarkably well-played game.
- The game was contested throughout, Thomasville threatening the goal several times, but always failing to get the ball over.
- The local aggregation pulled off four forward passes for substantial gains.
- The game was only marred by the off-side play of Camilla on two occasions, and a penalty for stalling by Bullard, for the visitors, started, while Lamb and Duvon, for the locals, were most successful.
- Marietta 26, Decatur 9.
- Marietta High school defeated Decatur high school in football Saturday afternoon by a score of 26 to 9.
- Both teams played well, and Marietta's gains were made through the line. These scoring drives were made by Brumby, Maddox and McCleskey, for Decatur, Chambers and Bates.
- Umpire, Saxon; referee, Quillian.
- Marietta will play Allanta Boys' High next Thursday in Marietta.
- Washington & Lee 72, Wake Forest 9.
- Lexington, Va., October 24.—Washington and Lee today defeated Wake Forest 72 to 9. End Summs and Halfback Young, of Washington, and Lee had to go to the side lines because of injuries, and Tackles Miles, of Washington, and Lee and Blackman, of Wake Forest, were retired on charges of fighting.
- Davidson 16, Citadel 9.
- Charlotte, N. C., October 24.—Strong football tactics of Davidson featured by good broken field running by Fullback McKinnon won from the Citadel here this afternoon 16 to 9. Davidson resorted to line shifts and attempted forward passes, only one of the latter being successful. Davidson's

PACKEY M'FARLAND RETURNS TO GAME

Stockyard Champion Seems Serious in Pulling a "Come-Back"

By James J. Corbett.

New York, October 24.—(Special.)—Well, Packey's back to no other than Mr. P. McFarland, and he is making a noise like a regular fighter again. Getting back in the game after retirement from the ring following his marriage, or at least a start of the youngster to get some free advertising for the particular brand of brew he turns out.

Personally, I hope McFarland intends to return. We miss that boy, and notwithstanding the knocks the scribbles hand him about always getting the best of the weight thing, none misses him more than those same boys. Packey was always good material for a story, and as a ring entertainer the best in the business. Every one McFarland ever matched with had a chance to knock the cutting Chicagoan block off before they met, but once in the ring the result was always the same old story.

Packey's challenge to Welsh reads like business at any rate. And, by the same token, at the present writing, it looks as though Packey is about the only boy who could trim the champion. He did it in Friday's own yard once upon a time, and I guess he could repeat—provided, of course, the boys could come together on the same terms. But, leader, rest assured that Welsh is not going to inconspicuously himself to make a match with the marvelous Packey.

Washington and Jefferson Springs a Real Surprise By Defeating Old Eli

New Haven, Conn., October 24.—Washington and Jefferson's eleven finished the first real surprise of the season here by defeating Yale today, 13 to 7. The visitors' impetuous Yale attack after the first period kept the Blues' backs on the defensive for the remainder of the game. Washington and Jefferson's touchdowns were both due to well-executed forward passes. Yale's touchdown in the first period was on a double pass.

Savannah 9, Piedmont 9.

Savannah, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—Savannah High school and Piedmont institute played a scoreless game here today, pitting up one of the suburban football games seen in Waycross in several seasons. Both teams got close to goal, but could not make the needed gain. Line bucking was indulged in most continually. The last quarter was played so late darkness overcame the teams before time was called.

Auburn 19, Wake Forest 9.

Birmingham, Ala., October 24.—Alabama Technological institute of Auburn defeated Wake Forest 19 to 9. The game was slow and tame, little brilliant playing being done by either side. Auburn played an open game. There were frequent fumbles, and had Auburn improved her opportunities the score would have been at least two touchdowns more.

Princeton 16, Dartmouth 12.

Princeton, N. J., October 24.—Princeton opened the new Palmer Memorial stadium here today with a 16 to 12 victory over Dartmouth. The Dartmouth team had a powerful attack, but the Princeton line held. Princeton's attack was slow, always kicking in her own territory.

Army 14, Holy Cross 9.

West Point, N. Y., October 24.—The Army defeated Holy Cross, 14 to 9. The visitors showed unexpected strength on the defense and twice during the first half the Army was held on the visitors' 1-yard mark.

Cornell 28, Brown 7.

New York, October 24.—Cornell defeated Brown here today, 28 to 7. Cornell's line punging and end running attack bewildered Brown. In the final quarter Brown scored a touchdown by a skillfully mixed attack in which the forward pass was used repeatedly.

Syracuse 20, Michigan 6.

Syracuse, N. Y., October 24.—In the first big intersectional football game of the season, Syracuse defeated Michigan here today, 20 to 6. Neither team uncovered a variety of opening. The first half saw no scoring. Michigan lost its fighting spirit in the second half. Not once did Spavin, whose foot work was heralded here as the only one of the westerners, get a chance to try a field goal. Syracuse tried twice, but failed.

Wisconsin 7, Ohio State 9.

Columbus, Ohio, October 24.—Wisconsin defeated Ohio State today in a fast, close game, 7 to 9. Each team made a touchdown in the second quarter, and quarterback Bellows kicked a goal, something Captain Graf, of Ohio, failed to do.

Chicago 21, Purdue 9.

Chicago, October 24.—The University of Chicago football eleven defeated

University of Georgia freshmen defeated the Clemson freshmen here today in a good football game, 29 to 9.

The Athens high school defeated the Fifth District Agricultural school this afternoon here, 20 to 9.

Athens High Wins.

Athens, Ga., October 24.—(Special.)—The Athens high school defeated the Fifth District Agricultural school this afternoon here, 20 to 9.

Penn 7, Carleton 9.

Philadelphia, October 24.—Two forward passes helped Pennsylvania defeat the Carleton Indian football team today, 7 to 9. The red men outplayed the Pennsylvanians in the first half, carrying the ball to the latter's 5-yard line in the first few minutes. A quick rally prevented a score. Later the Indians threatened the Pennsylvania goal. There was almost a complete reversal of form in the last two periods. The single touchdown came in the final quarter after two long forward passes.

Alley Lowers Record.

Hampden, Minn., October 24.—The world's 100-mile record of 1:32.34, for a dirt track, established by Ralph Mulford at Galesburg, Ill., two days ago, was lowered to 1:31:30 by Tom Alley, winner of today's invitation automobile race here.

Nebraska 24, Michigan Aggies 9.

Lincoln, Neb., October 24.—The Michigan Agricultural college football eleven was swept off its feet today by the University of Nebraska in the first meeting of the two teams. The final score was 24 to 9.

Iowa City 10, Iowa 9.

Iowa City, Iowa, October 24.—The University of Iowa football team was defeated by Minnesota, 7 to 9. The Iowa touchdown was earned by a series of short plunges.

Notre Dame 33, South Dakota 9.

St. Louis, S. D., October 24.—Notre Dame overhauled the University of South Dakota football team here today, 33 to 9. All the scoring was in the second half. Both teams made much use of the overhead game.

TAUNTS RILED FREDDIE WELSH

Champion Has Signed for Bouts With Baldwin, Wolgast and White in That Order.

BY JAMES J. CORBETT
(Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.)

New York October 24.—(Special)—The newspaper lampooning Freddie Welsh and his manager have been subjected to practically every epithet the lights of the world have known. It is about this country after winning the title has evidently served the purpose of its authors as Welsh has booked a series of matches which will keep him busy in the ring for some weeks to come.

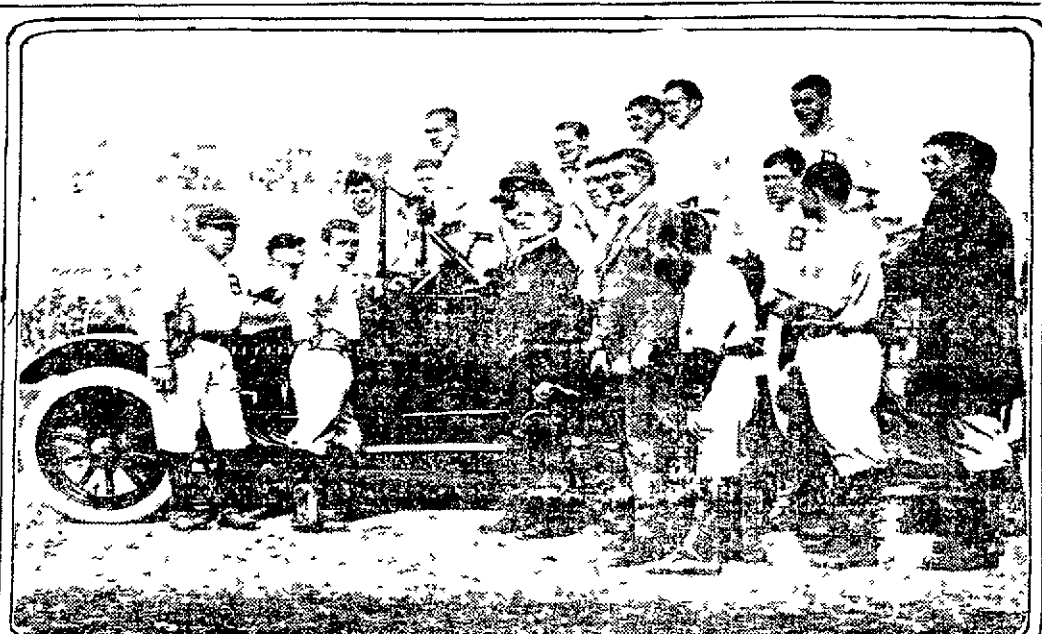

Welsh's first start will be with Matty Evers in the veteran light-welterweight division on a decision in Boston next Tuesday night. Baldwin should be a wish to warm up and that is about all that is expected of him. As he will find it pretty hard to maintain the pace Welsh will set for two rounds.

Matty and Freddie are not strangers in the ring, and having met twice the manager has decided to let the victor of the twenty rounds with Fred the victor on points. In 1908 when Welsh was just beginning his sensational career he boxed Matty then an experienced youngster of four years and the boys were even at the end of the fight. Welsh was about even at the end of the fight.

Welsh's second trial may prove a harder task still for the victor. He is expected to outpoint the bigger man with the great effort. But in Ad Wolgast—the heavy middleweight of Madison Square Garden November 2—the champion will meet a man whose style differs from his own. Welsh has the average bigger Ad's specialist in body. Welsh will be in a tight spot at the end of the fight. He is expected to outpoint the bigger man with the great effort. But in Ad Wolgast—the heavy middleweight of Madison Square Garden November 2—the champion will meet a man whose style differs from his own.

Welsh's third bout will be with White. The manager has decided to let the victor of the twenty rounds with Fred the victor on points. In 1908 when Welsh was just beginning his sensational career he boxed Matty then an experienced youngster of four years and the boys were even at the end of the fight. Welsh was about even at the end of the fight.

WINNER OF CHALMERS TROPHY

John J. Evers winner of the Chalmers Trophy for 1914 in the National league receiving a ovation upon the presentation of his Chalmers "Light Six" in Boston Monday October 12, just before the Braves third victory over the Athletics. Evers is standing in front of the car with his hand on the wind-shield. Beside the car hat in hand stands Ren Mullord, Jr. chairman of the Chalmers Trophy commission.

Johnny Evers Is Greatest Money Player in Game

By Ernest J. Linnigan.
Rap Van Winkle Was a Lucky Man according to a popular song writer but he had little on Johnny Evers, captain of the Braves according to the records of the national commission. This show that the Keystone King has picked up something like $12,000 of extra money as his share of the players pool from the receipts of the world's and Chicago city series. John has been in the sets of contests for the world's title and the same number of Chicago series. The shares of the teams John was connected with from these series amounted to just $268.24 and the keystone king certainly got one twentieth of this sum. Evers is a grand little money player. Facing in the fall games pitchers of the highest class John had battled 283 in forty eight contests for the championship of the world and of the Wundy City getting sixteen off every hurler he stacked up against except the pitcher of the White Elephants. It is question able if any other major league player could have done better than Evers against such high grade pitching. He failed to angle in a third of these conflicts made one safety in each of eighteen games two in each of ten and three in each of four. If John's full hits eleven were glooned off Ed Walsh six off Phil Dornan five off Harry White three off Jim Scott three off Joe Bush two off Nick Altrock two off Joe Benz two off Eddie Cicotte two off George Mullin two off Eddie Summers two off Eddie Killian two off Ed Sauer two off Eddie Plank one off Bob Shaver one off Chas. Bender one off Frank Owen one off Frank Smith one off Hank Lane and one off Red Russell. Of these wallops nine were doubles. John of Troy has stolen twenty bases in the forty eight worlds and Chicago city series in which he has participated. His best work on the paths has been accomplished in the games with the Sox in 1903. Then he swiped six sacks in five contests on Bill Sullivan and Freddy Payne getting one large in each of four combats and two steals in one tussle. Evers has sacrificed four times. On the defensive Evers has played 570 ball he having a total 248 out of 261 chances. John started seven double plays for the teams he played with and had a hand in eight more.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS TO SETTLE HONORS

By James J. Corbett
New York, October 24.—(Special)—The title of middleweight champion of the world is being contested by two of the best fighters in the world. The contest will be between the champion, Chip Clabby, and the challenger, Mike McCoy. The fight will take place in New York on November 1st. Clabby is a former champion and has a record of 100 wins and 10 losses. McCoy is a former champion and has a record of 80 wins and 10 losses. The fight is expected to be a close one.

CATTLE TICKS GONE IN CHATTOGA COUNTY

Leary, Ga., October 24.—(Special)—According to an order of the board of county commissioners the eradication of the cattle tick in Chattoaga county for the winter months on November 1. Much benefit has been derived from the work accomplished by the inspectors the past month. When the work was begun the ticks had a good headway and many cows were dying but the quick work of the inspectors soon stopped the epidemic. Several dipping vats have been in operation over the county and the inspectors with the co-operation of the cattle owners have completely wiped out the cattle tick in this county.

FEDS ADJOURN. Discuss Financial and Legal Matters at Meeting.

New York, October 24.—The annual meeting of the Federal League adjourned tonight. We spent the greater part of the day discussing financial and legal matters of a private nature. President Gilmore said afterwards, "I can say positively that the Federal League will continue its course with assurance given us today as to substantial financial backing. The league circuit remains as last season but if it is found desirable to make a change the executive committee will attend to that and if necessary another general meeting will be convened." President Gilmore said he had received a list of twenty-five major league players from Larry Schlicht of the Buffalo club all of whom were reported to be willing to go over to the new organization.

WAYCROSS NAMES GOOD ROADS DELEGATES

Waycross, Ga., October 24.—(Special)—President H. J. Benton of the board of trade, today named a committee of five to represent the board of trade at the National Good Roads congress in Atlanta in November. He named as members of the committee A. M. Knight Sr., J. D. T. Bowden, M. L. Burr, Oba Giddens and F. P. Taylor. The members of the Way county commission are also going to attend the meeting as well as representatives of the city government.

BOATWRIGHT FOR HEAD OF VIRGINIA LEAGUE

Norfolk Va., October 24.—The directors of the Virginia Baseball League in annual meeting here today re-elected J. O. BIGGEST WEEK EVER FOR OVERLAND CAR

1,400 Autos, Representing a Value of More Than $1,300,000, Are Shipped.

The biggest week in the history of the Willys-Overland company closed on Saturday, October 17. The volume of business done during the six working days broke all previous records of the company.

Actual shipments were made totaling 1,400 Overland cars, representing a value of more than $1,300,000. This figure is evidence of shipments of motor trucks and other products sold by the Willys-Overland company, which would greatly increase the total.

Since the start of the fiscal Overland year in July, 11,400 cars had been shipped up to and including October 15. This is an increase of 40 per cent over the shipments made during the corresponding period of last year, and is 500 per cent greater than those of two years ago.

"We submit these figures," declares John N. Willys, president of the company, "as tangible proof that, in spite of the European war, the automobile business is better than ever before."

"On October 15 the Willys-Overland company had on hand unfilled orders for $4,500,000 worth of Overland cars, or one-third as many as we had the same date last year. This is in spite of the fact that our daily shipments are larger than ever before, averaging over 350 cars per day. A force of 3,000 men is working in our Toledo factory, which, in many departments, we are operating twenty-four hours a day in an effort to keep pace with the increasing demand for cars."

Another encouraging feature is the fact that we are now shipping a daily average of more than 810,000 worth of cars to foreign countries. Although our foreign business was practically at a standstill shortly after the mobilization of troops in Europe, it has gradually become active again today. It is practically normal again. The increase in Overland sales in other foreign countries is doing much to compensate for our loss of trade in the troubled sections of Europe. Since July our sales abroad have increased 100 per cent of what they totaled during the same period last year.

Considering the fact that shipments of cars to all the belligerent nations ceased entirely during August, this showing is highly gratifying.

We attribute much of our recent success in this country to bumper crops and the large prices at which farmers have been able to sell their produce. Fully 90 per cent of all Overland sales are being made in the rural districts.

The farmer has come to consider the motor car a practical necessity. The sale of automobiles continues to increase in spite of the war and the conditions it has created in America, because cars are bought on the same basis as any other necessary article.

Another encouraging feature is the fact that merchants in all walks of business life are investing their money in automobiles for the benefits that will accrue in the ownership of a car. The car that will give the best return on his investment is the one that makes direct trade to the business man. If he did not get his money's worth in an automobile, he would put his dollars into something else.

CASTLE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER SHOW IN CHICAGO

Harley-Davidson Motor Company Exhibit Proved Huge Success, He Says.

Gus Castle, manager of the southern branch of the Harley-Davidson Motor company, returned last week from Chicago, where he has been attending the third annual motorcycle show, which, from all reports, was a huge success. Speaking of the show, Mr. Castle states that it was a great show and a successful one, both in interest, attendance and display. One of the great surprises was the immense attendance of motorcycle dealers from all parts of the country. Judging from this attendance, one would hardly think there was any such thing as a war in Europe and the orders given and the interest taken indicate that the motorcycle dealers from all over the country are expecting to do a tremendously big business during the coming year.

Every indication and sign spelled prosperity. The attendance of riders and prospective riders was the largest yet recorded at any motorcycle show. Last year's show was a whooper, but this year's show was even better.

The models of the various machines shown carried quite a number of improvements, and the present-day motorcycle represents the minute.

As far as our own exhibit was concerned, the Harley-Davidson Motor company, it was a huge success. In all of the previous shows I have attended I never before saw such interest. Our booth was crowded from 10 in the morning until 10:30 at night, and the only way we could get the crowds out was to turn the lights off. It was the general verdict that the Harley-Davidson in the 1915 models showed wonderful and marked improvements and the first three days of the show over six thousand machines were sold by contract.

The Harley-Davidson business during the past year closed with an increase over the previous year of 35 per cent and is today recognized as the standard of the motorcycle industry. Fortunately I was able to obtain a part of the Chicago exhibit, which we have brought to our Atlanta branch and they are now on exhibit at 224 Peach tree street.

"We are showing cut-out sections of the three-speed, also cut-out sections of the new mechanical oiling device. Quite a number of people have called and examined our line, and we can only see prosperity and a big business ahead for the coming year. Orders in hand for immediate shipment exceed those of the same time last year by over 500 per cent. While the season of 1914 for the southern branch was a big success, from the way that business has started off for 1915, the proportionate gain will be very large."

PLAN BIG "FORD DAY" AT FOUR-COUNTY FAIR

One of the features of the Commerce Four-County fair from October 28 to 31, will be Ford day. Wednesday, October 28 has been designated as the date on which the most popularly used automobile ever built will be honored at the big mammoth parade through the streets of Commerce and to the fair grounds will be held the same to be participated in by owners of Fords in all the territory of northeast Georgia. Invitations have been extended to nearly five hundred owners and responses have already begun to pour in containing the assurance that you can count on me to help make Ford day a success.

A special representative of the Ford company's mechanical department will be there to give a lecture on the "Care and Operation of Fords." He will tell how they are made, explain every piece of mechanism, how it operates and will tell every thing that is worth knowing about the car.

WAYCROSS AUTO FIRE APPARATUS PROVES O. K.

Waycross, Ga., October 24.—(Special.) A fire on the edge of the city yesterday demonstrated to the city the value of the one that makes direct trade to the department. A blaze that might have wiped out a whole section was stopped with only a slight damage. Chemicals carried by the city's auto apparatus enabled the firemen to fight the fire no water being within reach.

MRS. MILLER RECOVERS FROM EFFECTS OF GAS

Mrs. C. R. Miller, who has been suffering all since Tuesday night from inhaling gas when asleep, is now rapidly recovering. Mrs. Miller left the gas burning and later it went out coming on again and filling the room. Physicians worked several hours before restoring consciousness. Complications set in afterwards.

BUICK TIES UP WITH FIVE OTHER MACHINES

It Took Whim of Dame Fortune to Rob Buick in the Milwaukee Race.

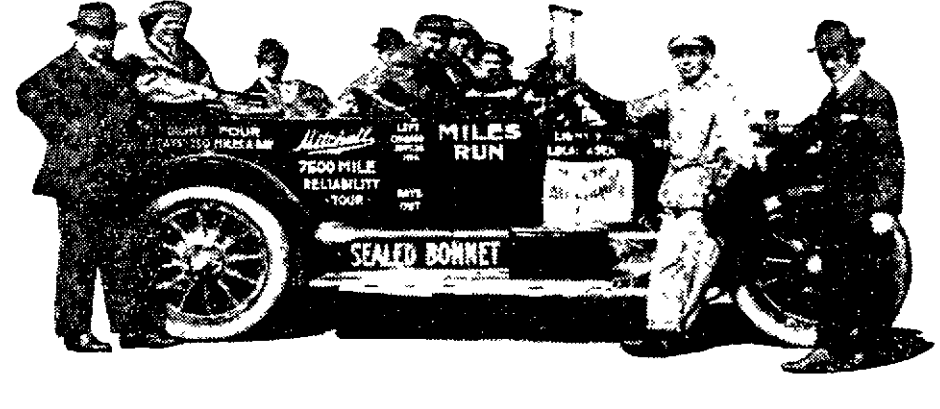

In the contest for the Milwaukee Free Press trophy for the best reliability score, the Buick came out first. In awarding this cup it was decided to engrave the names of the six cars tied for first place on the cup and draw lots for it. When it came to a matter of luck in the drawing, Dame Fortune did not smile on Emil Hokanson, the Buick driver, this cup going to Eddie Schank, who drove a Studebaker.

This score, however, only adds to an already long list of Buick victories and emphasizes the Buick's superiority in Buick valve-in-head motors and Buick quality of construction and design in power fuel economy, speed, reliability and endurance.

Emil Hokanson of the Hokanson Automobile company, Madison, Wis., has piloted the Buick cars through several Wisconsin victories. He says it was not the driving, but the car that should have all the credit for winning and all along the road the spectators showed by their demonstrations that the Buick was good wishes and loyalty during the run.

Note How Goodyears Dominate Every Street

Look About You—See How Men Regard Them

No need to tell you which tire serves best if you will simply look about you. Note how many men use Goodyears—men who want what you want. No other tire has ever won so many.

The quality tire—the sturdy tire—is told by this verdict of users. Men gravitate to it. And the trouble-savings which brought them will sometime bring you.

These Four are the most compelling reasons for using No-Rim-Cut tires.

They can't be rim-cut. Countless blow-outs—due to wrinkled fabric—are saved by our "On-Air" cure.

Loose tread risk is reduced 60 per cent in a patent way.

Punctures and skidding are combated, as in no other tire, by our double-thick All-Weather tread. It is efficient, smooth-running, enduring.

Not one of these features can be found in any other tire that's built.

Compel Respect

Goodyear tires compel respect. We spend fortunes on features which no one else employs. And we spend $100,000 yearly in tests and experiments, seeking new ways to improve them. We sell them at quantity prices.

Our methods must appeal to you. We urge you, for your own sake, to learn what they lead to. Find out what safety, what comfort, what endurance men are getting from Goodyear tires. Then let your judgment tell you which tire to adopt.

When you call for Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires you will get tires like these. Any dealer will supply you.

MITCHELL-LEWIS CO.,

Mitchell sealed bonnet seventy-five hundred mile thirty-day reliability car finished Pittsburg today in blaze of glory at twelve-ten, noon, front of Pittsburg Public Service Building. Speedometer registered 7,518.4 miles. Seals inspected and pronounced intact by Chief of Police Noble Matthews, Assistant Chief Bartley and two members of President Wilson's private bodyguard. Twenty-five Mitchell cars filled with representatives of Mitchell-Lewis Motor Co., Williams-Hasley Motor Car Co., newspaper, automobile and tire men. A tremendous ovation for this little car that has sustained every claim made by Engineer John W. Bate. Seals not broken. It would have been a shame. Engine was running more smoothly than day it left the factory. May send car to California before breaking seals. Drivers Hasley, Zirbes and Barnett cheered to the echo and in fine shape. Car will be special feature at Pittsburg Auto Show, in Mitchell booth. President Wilson's bodyguard, after seeing the Light Four, has selected a Mitchell Six for President Wilson's private car.

REOPENING OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE NEAR AT HAND THE FINANCIAL COMMUNITY WILL BE GRANTED, WHILE THE TESTIMONY OF THOSE FAVORING THE RAILROAD CASE WAS COMMENTED UPON AS BEING MUCH MORE WEIGHY AND CONVINCING THAN THAT OF THE OPPOSING PARTY.

GETTING IN SHAPE TO REOPEN DOORS All Interests Working for an Early Resumption of Business on the Stock Exchange.

New York, October 24.—(Special).—The financial community is in a much better frame of mind than at any time since the closing of the security markets. This is a direct result of the clearing up, or movements with such in view, of the most difficult problem of foreign exchange and international credit.

There are various plans under foot for taking care of foreign liquidation, but nothing definite is in sight save the suggestion of a selling or restricting trading that holders of American securities in Europe will not be able to market all of their weakly held shares in a market that is at least as good as the one in Europe.

As to the War Tax. While considerable opposition was raised to the levying of a war tax when it was first proposed, little talk against it has been heard since the bill was introduced in congress.

Reports of railroad earnings for August and September lead to a total of $207,867,743 gross, a decrease of $5,856,341 from a year ago, and $89,616,462 net, a decrease of $1,000,000 from August, 1913, indicating a reduction in operating costs of over $5,000,000.

As a result of the favorable condition of the banks, not only in New York, but in most of the leading cities of the country, a steady gain over the past few weeks has been reported.

All eyes of bankers, stock market and investors in this country were turned toward the hearings of the interstate commerce commission as to the petition of the eastern railroads for higher rates.

WHY FREIGHT RATES Those Who Believed That the Commission Would Reverse Decision Are Not So Confident.

New York, October 24.—(Special).—Wall street is not as confident as it was a week ago that the interstate commerce commission will reverse its decision and hand down a decision allowing the eastern railroads to raise their freight rates 5 per cent.

For example, Judge Clements, who was presiding in the place of Harlan, asked Daniel Willard if he thought the railroads should be given the right to raise their rates.

At the same time, the commission is expected to reverse its decision on the question of the two exchanges simultaneously.

New Orleans Reports That Purchasing Saturday Was Not as Easy as Earlier in the Week.

New Orleans, October 24.—The week in the cotton market closed with a fairly steady tone, January trading at 10 1/2 cents for middling and 6 cents at all.

Continued rains in Texas and the storm centered over that state were the chief factors strengthening influences on the cotton market.

At the same time, the commission is expected to reverse its decision on the question of the two exchanges simultaneously.

WILKES-LINCOLN FAIR. Success of This Year's Event, Just Closed, Suggests Including 7 Counties Next Year.

Washington, October 24.—(Special).—The success of the third annual Wilkes-Lincoln county fair, which closed today, demonstrated the wisdom and foresight of the farmers and business men of the two counties at the head of the enterprise.

The result has been as the fair management had expected. In the face of unpropitious circumstances, the fair has carried home the lessons which it sought to teach.

WILSON FAVORS RIGHT INSTEAD OF GAINING President Hopes for Great Rush of Christian Spirit on Doers of Evil.

Pittsburg Pa. October 24—President Wilson came here today to address a philosophical religious meeting of men in celebration of the founding of the Young Men's Christian association of Pittsburg branch sixty years ago and of the organization movement it set on foot in 1844.

The president had let it be known that his visit would be of a non-political character and no public receptions were arranged.

In opening his address the president said he felt that by being away from Washington congress could have more leisure to adjourn.

He said he was glad to see the young men of the Young Men's Christian association.

ACCUSED OF MURDER, DAVIS MAY NOT LIVE TO FACE NEXT TRIAL

Washington Seeking to Reach Agreement About Neutral Vessels.

Brunswick Ga. October 24—(Special)—Virgil H. Davis the white man who has been occupying a cell in the Glynn county jail for more than a year and who has twice been tried charged with the murder of his wife may not face another trial according to the statement of those who have watched the man's failure in health during his confinement.

That Davis is now almost in the last stages of tuberculosis is generally admitted and he is falling in health rapidly.

Davis was arrested in Brunswick in 1911 and was held in jail two or three months longer before his next trial.

WHAT IS A TRADING STATEMENT?

It should be designed to show the Gross Profits on trading. That is the excess of the amount charged for goods sold over their purchase price, together with any expenses attendant on their acquisition. A grocery firm, for instance, prepares a Trading Statement at the end of the year to show what it has made or lost by selling goods. In preparing such a statement the services of a Certified Public Accountant are valuable in locating leaks and tightening loose joints.

SOCIAL LIFE IN MACON

Macon, Ga., October 24.—(Special Correspondence.)—The initial social affair of the past week was a box party at the Grand Monday evening to witness the performance of "The Midnight Girl." It was given by the groomsmen in the Curry-Williams wedding party, and included Misses Louise Curry, Virginia Lamar Sparks, Fleta Holmes, Marian Williams and Emily Leonard, Messrs. Frederick Williams, Basil Wise, Steve Crump, Leo Sheridan, George Husny and Sam Pearson. Miss Curry was lovely in coral-colored satin, trimmed in cream lace; Miss Fleta Holmes wore pink tulle, with pink chiffon corsage; Fleta's hair ornaments, Miss Emily Leonard's becoming dress was of yellow crepe de chine; Miss Marian Williams wore pink charmeuse, draped in pink chiffon, and Miss Lamar Sparks, a pretty white crepe de chine, lace trimmed. After the play the bride party, including the bridesmaids, were at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Aiser, in North Highlands. Crimewoven and apparatus tents were used in decorating. Savia banked mantels and cabinets, and was also in the table. A white wedding bell was suspended from the chandelier, just over a pretty afternoon party for Miss Curry, Friday afternoon. Miss Louise Williams was hostess at a delightful bridge party for Miss Curry and her friends, again on Saturday afternoon. The bridge party was held at the home of Miss Fleta Holmes, the cordial young hostess. Miss Juliette Boardman, Miss Louise Curry, and a bridge tea for Miss Curry Monday afternoon, and Mr. Leo Sheridan will be host at the Saturday evening party at the Hotel Macon on Monday evening in honor of the bride party. Tuesday evening after the wedding party, Miss Curry will give a supper at the Tea Room for her attendants.

With all the cotton balls given over the southern home could possibly surpass in beauty and brilliance the one at the Hotel Dempsey on Friday evening. The snowy, fleecy staple was used in every conceivable way for decorative purposes in the ball room, and the cotton ball dresses worn by fashionable matrons and maids rivalled in beauty and grace those of silk and velvet. King Cotton, impersonated by Mr. Sam Dunlap, surrounded by his courtiers, entered first, followed by five fair maids in cotton court costumes; Misses Myrna Humphries, Louise Callaway, Margaret Casey, Fleta Holmes and Allene Gutman. Next came Miss Winifred Wadley, carrying the crown, then the beautiful queen, Miss Margaret Casey, of San Francisco, whose long court train was held in place by fasteners John I. Hall and Hubert Duckworth. After the coronation the minut was danced by four young couples in court costumes. Following this, were special dances by Miss Kathleen Harper and Mr. Randolph Jaques, Miss Emma Bruce and Mr. Emmette Fetner and Miss Birdie Baber Blackshear and Mr. Palmer. Some visiting belles on this occasion were Miss Jennie D. Harris, of Atlanta, with Mrs. Robert Barnes; Miss Martha Fort, of Atlanta, with Mrs. Arthur Goddington; Miss Nell Prince, of Atlanta, with Miss Martina Burke, and Miss Mary Dudley Fort, of Danville.

Thursday afternoon, at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Hall, the free kindergarten auxiliary met to make the final arrangements for the cabaret dinner they are giving at the new Hotel Macon on Monday evening. The unique invitations, showing black cats, witches, pumpkins and "such like," bespeak a Halloween affair; the prominence and popularity of the patronesses are a guarantee for an assured success, and the fact that the fair waitresses in bow-tie caps and apron, are some of Macon's prettiest society girls gives an added charm to the anticipation.

SAVANNAH SOCIAL NEWS

Savannah, Ga., October 21.—(Special Correspondence.)—The announcement this week by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hilton of the engagement of their daughter, Lucy, to Mr. Charles Grant Tennant, of Pine Bluff, Ark., is a source of joy to Mr. and Mrs. James Tognant, of Fairburn, is of great interest to Miss Hilton's Savannah friends. The couple intend to spend the winter but not to return at their summer home, Nyack, N. Y.

Invitations were issued this week by Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Tiedeman for the marriage of their daughter, Inez, to Mr. Charles Chapin, of Detroit. The marriage will take place Wednesday evening, November 4, in St. John's church and will be followed by a reception at Carleton Hall, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Tiedeman. There will be a large out-of-town party here for the wedding. The only Savannah girl among the bridesmaids is Miss Dorothy Clifford Baldwin, and the only other bridesmaid from this part of the country, Miss Hazel Society, of Waynesboro. Miss Helen McBunnie, of Winona, Minn., will be maid of honor, and in the center of the bridesmaids, Miss George Galt Bourne and Miss Edith Adams, of New York; Miss Doris Roberts, of New York; Miss Frances Long, of Merion, Pa.; Carsten Tiedeman, the bride's young brother, and Tom Tiedeman, of New York; Jules Gleason, of New York, will act as best man. The night before the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Tiedeman will entertain the bride party with a dinner-dance at the DeSoto. A musical-tea at the Hotel Savannah was given Tuesday by a number of ladies interested in the extension work of the Young Women's Christian association. The guests were Misses Emily and Elizabeth Bayeno, Helen Hayward, Heloise Gray, Helen Knox, Misses Edna and Alice McLeod, Katharine Tew, Louise Deacon, Rosalie Dane, Marjorie Cuts and Jean Cunningham, who were the hostesses. The party was given by Mrs. Gordon Harrison, Mrs. de Bruyn Kops, Miss Mary Ellen Knorr, Miss Cole (Inburn), Rudolph Jacobson and Cecil Davis.

Misses Louise Hewlett has sent out invitations for a domino masquerade at her home in East Hill avenue Thursday evening, October 29. It will be a Halloween party for her little cousin, Miss Gleason, and a number of children have been invited. These will be the first big parties of Savannah's social season.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Cunningham left this week to attend the meeting of the American Bar association in Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Elliot and General and Mrs. W. S. Elliot are also in Washington for the meetings, and they will be joined there by Mr. Mayhew Cunningham.

Miss Dorothy Baldwin will return from their summer home at Flat Rock the first part of November.

G. N. & I. COLLEGE NOTES.

On Monday evening the music faculty gave a recital in the auditorium to an interested and appreciative audience. Quite a number of town people were present. The recital was given by members of the faculty, specially invited, as it was not open to the general public. All numbers were well rendered and each performer received enthusiastic applause.

After the recital Monday evening, in compliment to Miss Mable Evans, one of those who took part, Miss Murphy entertained in the dining room at the home of the teachers' home. An hour was pleasantly spent, after which hot chocolate and sandwiches were served.

Miss Louise Grayson, of Cumberland, Md., has been the attractive guest of Miss Olivia Smeunier the past week. On Monday afternoon Miss Smeunier was hostess in honor of her guest at a theater party at the College. Miss Jane Gray in the "Little Grey Lady." The guests were asked to tea before the picture party, and the occasion was most pleasant. Among those who were Miss Smeunier's guests were Misses Harper, Turner, Fagot, and Mrs. Bethune, Strozier and Mesdames Bethune and Bonner.

About thirty-five happy girls, accompanied by Miss Leonard's party, broke themselves to the country home of Miss Emily Cook on Wednesday afternoon to spend the afternoon with this young hostess. Games were played for an hour, and the most delightful refreshments served. Miss Cook is a member of the senior class.

Rev. Mr. Edmondson, of Carrollton, visited his daughter, Elizabeth, a day or so this week. He was present at chapel on Tuesday and interested the students with a short talk.

If women always wore the right kind of corsets, thousands of surgical operations would be avoided. A bad corset causes suffering—and worse. A good corset, properly selected and fitted, brings health. Nemo Corsets have done more good for womankind than all others combined. They are ultra-stylish, but healthful. Corsets for all figures; slender to stout. $3 to $5. No extra charge for Mrs. Richardson's service. All are welcome.

Meyers-Sugarman Wedding

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was the Meyers-Sugarman wedding, held at the Educational Alliance hall, Tuesday evening, October 20, at 8:30 p. m. The bride was Miss Ida Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Meyers. The groom, Mr. Samuel L. Sugarman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Sugarman. Miss Rosa Meyers, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mr. Meyer L. Sugarman, brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Rosa Sugarman, Miss Rae Hadas and Miss Sara Mendel; the groomsmen were Mr. Isaac Taylor, Mr. Isaac Hirschowitz and Mr. Leon Sugarman.
The bride wore a beautiful duchess satin gown, trimmed with real lace and pearl ornaments. The maid of honor wore a handsome white crepe meteor trimmed with lace and accented with pink Killarney roses. The bridesmaids carried shower bouquets of American Beauty roses. The bridesmaids wore white crepe meteor gowns trimmed with hand-made ornaments, crystal hands and Charilly lace.
Mrs. M. L. Sugarman, mother of the groom, wore a handsome brocaded black satin trimmed with white lace, jet and a touch of gold, a corsage bouquet of red carnations.
Mrs. I. Meyers, mother of the bride, wore a handsome navy satin trimmed with silver lace. Her corsage was of red carnations.
The color scheme was red and white. The hall was beautifully decorated with palms and red and white decorations. The dining-room was beautifully decorated.
After the ceremony 160 guests were served with an elaborate supper.
The bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Cincinnati, Dayton, Covington and Chicago.

Dramas of the Allied People

At the meeting of the Drama League at the Georgian Terrace Friday afternoon, the first of the series of dramas to be selected from the great dramas of the people now at war was read by Miss Bannan, the reader, from the play "Henelle".

Dramas from the French one by a Belgian writer, a Russian drama and a group of English plays will be read, these interspersing interesting programs of varied features to be presented during the fall and winter.

Reports read by the officers at the meeting Friday indicated the prosperity of the organization in membership and interest. Mrs. Spiker the president, and Mrs. Harry Stearnes secretary, read the various reports of the year's work. The meetings will take place in the palm room of the Georgian Terrace.

Domino Club Entertained.

Miss G. H. Lloyd entertained her domino club Thursday morning at her home in Druid Hills in honor of Mrs. L. A. Turner of Fitzgerald. Invited to meet were Mrs. W. M. Lewis, Mrs. H. Dobbs, Mrs. Edna Chambers, Mrs. E. L. Huber, Mrs. Willie Dohbs, Mrs. E. W. Evans, Mrs. Robert Hopkins, Mrs. W. A. Beyer, Mrs. Fred Stewart and Mrs. J. L. Turner.

Hunter-Wilson.

The marriage of Miss Mary Rebecca Hunter and Mr. Ernest McKerrin Wilson, of Birmingham Ala., was solemnnized yesterday at North Avenue Presbyterian church at noon by Dr. Richard Orme Flinn. The attendants were Miss Roberts Hunter, of Forsyth, Ga., Miss Jewelwyn Wood and Mr. Edward A. North. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home at 1107 S. Canmore street, Birmingham, Alabama.

Hyperion Club Dance.

The members of the Hyperion club will entertain their friends at an informal dance on next Friday evening in their clubrooms in West End. The club will be attractively decorated and refreshments will be served. The dance will be in celebration of All Hallows' eve.

Dance at Segado's.

Miss Lillian Viola Moseler will cooperate with members of the DeKalb and Fulton county branches of the Equal Suffrage party of Georgia in giving a dance Friday evening November 6 at Segado's.

A feature of the evening will be demonstrations of the newest dances and the occasion promises to be a delightful one.

In The Whirl of the World

By Isma Dooly

No record made by Atlanta as a progressive city is more to her credit than the market she affords in the materials designed for the furnishing and beautifying of the home.

The many new homes which have been built in Atlanta during the last year and the number in course of building prompted the orders last spring which have brought to Atlanta a display of carpets, rugs, hangings and upholstery of all kinds that place the Atlanta market in such materials second to none in the country.

These materials, many of them being displayed for the first time last week, have been in their huge importing cases chased by foreign men-of-war into nearly every harbor of the country. Those expected through New York have come by way of Boston harbor, with marks that indicated long and circuitous journeys by sea—but they are here and alluring in their expression of the highest art in manufacturing.

Exhibited near them are American-made goods of the same character that eloquently proclaim that the standard of American manufacture, especially along textile lines, has made marvelous progress in the last ten years.

Whether, therefore, the foreign-made goods are selected or the lower price and patriotic prompt purchase of American-made stuffs, the Atlanta market today affords a variety of both that invites the most exacting criticism.

EVERYONE MUST HELP

Temporary emergency in a war, the terrors of which the whole world staggers under, demands that every man and woman of the nation do his and her part toward putting the shoulder to the wheel and helping, not this man, that one or the other, but every man and the country-at-large.

The first call is for the country that is ours and the home interests that are ours. To the women the ways and means of helping come through that business, essentially theirs, of looking after the house, its practical and more ornate needs and making the purchases for it.

Whether the walls are to hang with old world tapestry or Oriental rugs lie on the floors, Atlanta women can feel safe this season in buying what they need at home and finding infinite variety to draw from.

The Atlanta shops show the old world tapestries and the Oriental rugs in the same department with those American-made.

The Atlanta woman today who does not make a careful survey of her own shops before she goes elsewhere to buy not only fails herself and the good citizen, be he husband or father, who pays her bills, but she fails in her own very high calling of helpmate, which extends out of the home into her civic responsibilities.

Woman's factorship has been boasted as one of the century's most telling influences in progressive municipal life. Atlanta women have given illuminating example of that in their efforts philanthropic, artistic and social. Now the call is made upon them to throw their influence into conditions, practically industrial, and to furnish and replenish their homes from the market here, filled by Atlanta dealers, with the most beautiful materials and furnishings that European and American manufacturers have produced to meet the century's demand.

WOMEN MUST HAVE LICENSE TO SHOOT.

As unjust as it may seem to some of them, since they have nothing to do with making the laws, those women of Georgia who are found of hunting will have to get a license to indulge in the sport just as men do.

Georgia's game warden is a chivalrous gentleman, but he is nevertheless required by the oath of his office to preserve the honor and integrity of that office, and any lady who shoots birds in Georgia will have to have a license to do it, and any lady who has birds in her refrigerator out of season may be called upon to explain the same. She can no longer call what she serves during the forbidden season "little chickens" and not be in danger, the law already passed on the subject and the game warden forced to enforce it firmly, though, perhaps, tenderly.

Four women were the first to take out license to shoot game in Rabun Island the other day, when the hunting season began, and they had to pay the price that men do. As Georgia is not generally known to be a militantly suffrage state and the women, as a rule, are law-abiding, there can be no possible objection to their being given a license to hunt when they apply for it.

ATLANTA'S LITTLE "SALON"

Through the interest of the Atlanta Art association in local artists there will be opened in the art rooms of the Ponce de Leon, November 7, a little "salon" in which the best work of Atlanta's artists will be exhibited.

Not more than six specimens from each artist's collection will be chosen, the jury of award to pass upon the specimens November 4, and artists requested to send their work to the art rooms by November 1.

Oil paintings, water colors, etchings will be featured, also china painting, and specimens of the various branches of decorative art. Many pieces of sculpture will be shown and rare pieces of pottery.

Artists wishing information on the subject of the exhibition may obtain it from Mrs. E. W. Moore, secretary of the art association, and a leader among the promoters of the local salon.

To Miss White.

In compliment to Miss Sina White, whose marriage to Mr. Cherry Emerson on November 11 will be anticipated by a number of parties, Mrs. James S. Young will entertain at bridge Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. D. I. MacIntyre, Jr. will entertain at bridge luncheon Friday afternoon at Mrs. MacIntyre's home at Brookhaven.

Others entertaining will be Mrs. Oscar Palmour, Miss Mary Frances Rowden, Mrs. Beaumont Davison, Mrs. E. C. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. White will entertain the bridal party at dinner the night of the rehearsal.

How Mrs. Petersen Had Her Cotton Gown Made

MRS. NICOLAS PETERSON, Vice president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. The gown worn by Mrs. Petersen was made of Tift county cotton, woven on an old-fashioned loom by an old-fashioned woman of ante-bellum days. The gown was fashioned by Mrs. Petersen herself, to be worn at the woman's cotton session at the state convention in Albany.

It takes as long for a Georgia woman today to have a cotton gown woven and dyed and made in Georgia as it would take to have it manufactured in Paris, made there and shipped, according to the story of Mrs. Nicholas Petersen, of Tift, Ga., tells of the cotton gown she will wear to the "cotton session" to be one of the features of the state convention of the Georgia club women in Albany.

"I determined that my 'cotton session' gown should be as much of a Georgia product as possible," explains Mrs. Petersen. "I had to travel about in Troup county for several days before I could find an old lady who could weave. When I did find her she said:

"I can't weave anything on earth if I only had the loom, but I haven't seen one in years." Then the search for the loom, which was resurrected from all over the county, one piece here, another there—in some instances certain pieces had lain buried in earth for years and were so water-soaked that they were like lead almost. I had to take the shuttles (shickels, as she called them), and bring them to town to the agricultural school and have them dry them out and polish in order to use them at all. I know I have ridden nearly one hundred miles getting up this dress. When I took her to the cotton mill to get the warp and filling, the superintendent could not convince the old soul that he could give her warp just ready to be put on the loom. She insisted she must have the yarn and do it by the old hand method. He finally, by warning some for her to see, convinced her that he was right. She is so happy over getting into possession of her long lost 'dolly' (it really reminds you of that little poem) that she asked if she could not have enough of my material to make her little granddaughter a dress for next school closing. She wants me to make it."

The Art Salon.

An art salon, which is planned to be an annual event, will be opened under the auspices of the Atlanta Art association on November 7 at the Ponce de Leon apartments. The response which is meeting the first venture proves that the idea of a salon is a good one, and the association looks for splendid results.

Mrs. E. W. Moore, chairman of the art committee which has charge of arrangements for the salon, is anxious to the fact that all paintings for the salon must be sent in to the Ponce de Leon by November 4. The jury chosen to select the work to be exhibited will meet on November 4 to consider the paintings submitted, and the salon will open on the Saturday following.

There are a number of talented artists in the city, and the salon will be of unusual merit, even though it is the first to be held in the city. Several art and antique dealers, who have excellent work, while some of the younger ones have displayed marked ability.

The art association particularly desires that amateurs who have never before exhibited their work submit paintings and drawings for the salon. In this way it hopes to get in touch with new talent. Children also are especially invited to submit their work and they will have a special section.

A complete and very beautiful exhibit of the Fulmer pottery from New York will add an extra feature of interest. Plans for the November salon and for succeeding ones will be discussed fully Wednesday morning at the regular meeting of the association, and all members are urged to attend.

Hallowe'en Ball.

The Argentine club will entertain its members and their friends on Friday evening at the clubrooms in West End with a fancy dress masquerade costume ball, which promises to be the gayest event of the week for the younger set. The ball will be decorated in the Hallowe'en style, and the directors have a number of surprises planned for the evening.

The following have been invited to chaperon the young people on this evening: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. England, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jarvis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Ware Holiday, Mrs. John W. Rowlett, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Lister, Mrs. L. S. Fred Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Starke Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ison and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wood.

White-Emerson.

Of broad social interest will be the marriage of Miss Sina White and Mr. Cherry Emerson, which will take place November 11 at the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

Miss Sina White will be her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. B. C. Milner, Jr., will be matrons of honor. Misses Nellie Ferguson, Lila White, Laura Ripley and Theodosia Williamson bridesmaids. Mr. Phinizy Gault, groomsmen. Messrs. Ed Carter, E. M. Stout, Moody Burt and Austin Emerson, groomsmen. Messrs. Brooks Bell, D. I. MacIntyre, Jr., W. R. Snyder and Frank Legg, ushers. Afterwards a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Woods White.

Psychological Society.

The Atlanta Psychological society meets Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in room 123, Piedmont hotel. The subject for consideration is Emerson's essay on compensation. All interested are cordially invited.

For Miss Wallingford.

Miss Elizabeth Wallingford, of Kentucky, will arrive Tuesday to visit Miss Laura Cole, and a number of entertainments are being planned in her honor. She will be one of the guests of honor at Miss Louise Parker's breakfast Wednesday.

Miss Cole gives a tea Friday afternoon at home for her, and Mrs. Charles Boynton gives a dinner party Saturday evening at her home. Miss Gladys Riggs, of Chattanooga, has a luncheon Monday, November 2, at the Capital City club, and Miss Martha Crane entertains at dinner Tuesday evening, November 3.

halls, where all the mysterious emblems of the hobgoblins appeared—witches, owls, bats, black cats, and the rest. The young ladies received in masquerade. After dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served. On the reception committee were Misses Thelma Hodge, Adelle Trammell, Minnie Gilbert, Thelma Bradley, Pauline Wither, Pearl Hawkins and Maud Montgomery. The witches were Misses Pauline Wither and Anne Harvey. Among those serving were Misses Martha Krieshaber, Bessie Wrenn, Ethel Aram. Miss Grace Davis was pianist for the dancers.

Cooking School.

The Woman's guild of All Saints church will conduct a cooking school from October 25 to November, at All Saints' Sunday school room. Mrs. Dull will be in charge. Monday will be given to paper-bag cooking. Tickets, $1. Any single lesson will be 25 cents. Arrangements have been made for the attendance of cooks.

At Woodberry School.

The young ladies of Miss Woodberry's school gave a beautiful Hallowe'en party the past week-end in their handsome new building. Woodberry Hall. Numberless lights glowed softly through the stately white columned veranda and down the corridors and Dance to Argentine Club.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. England entertained the members of the Argentine club with a dance at their home on Druid place, Friday evening, which was one of the most pleasant events of the week. The house was beautifully decorated in bright fall colors, delicious punch was served, and the music was delightful.

Parent-Teacher Club.

The Parent-Teacher club of Hill Street school will hold its regular meeting in the vestry of the Temple at 8:15 o'clock, instead of Friday. There will be a nursery with competent young ladies in charge to care for little ones too small to leave at home. Full attendance is urged.

Council of Jewish Women.

The Council of Jewish Women will meet in the vestry of the Temple at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. T. S. Scuttles will give an interesting talk, illustrated with stereopticon views, on "Municipal Recreation." A social hour will follow. All of the members are invited to be present.

Missionary Societies.

The Woman's Missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of the Atlanta district, will hold their third quarterly meeting at Collins Memorial church, Bolton, Thursday, October 29. Take river car line at city hall. Box lunch.

To Argentine Club Officers.

The most enjoyable parties of the week was a dinner given Saturday evening to the officers and directors of the Argentine club and their young friends by Mr. Morton Dickinson, at his home on East Pine street. The colors of the Argentine club, blue and white, were used in the decorations, which were very elaborate. Mrs. John W. Rowlett and Mrs. C. Adams assisted in entertaining the young people, and there were many appropriate half-minute speeches by several of those present.

Staff of Class Annual.

The following have been appointed members of the staff of Facts and Fancies, the Washington seminary annual: Editor-in-chief, Frances Winship; literary editor, Elizabeth Reid; class editor, Rosslyn Jenkins; business manager, Dorah Heyman; assistant business manager, Jessie Tappan; art editor, Marion Dunsen; society editor, Frances Long; joke editor, Fan Esther Melem; advertising manager, Helen Bliss; advertising committee, Mae Crichton.

Special Music.

The public is cordially invited to the service of music at Trinity Methodist church this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The excellent work of this large chorus, so recently organized, is a delightful surprise to all who have heard it.

Mr. Sheldon, the director, has arranged a beautiful program for the first service of music, one of the numbers of special interest. An old, old solo hymn, was sung to Mr. Sheldon by Judge W. R. Hammond, and Mr. Sheldon has arranged for the quartet to be sung from the echo organ and has incorporated it in his program. "The Guide of the Past." This number will be given in full. The following is the program: "Prelude Organ." "Holy, Holy, Holy"—Chorus. "Savior When Night Involves the Skies" (Shelley)—Mr. Hubbard, quartet and chorus. "Art Thou Weary?" (Sheldon)—Quartet. "By Babylon's Wave" (Gounod). "Echoes From the Past" (Sheldon)—Male quartet and organ. "Prepare Ye the Way" (Garrett)—Chorus.

Woman Suffrage League.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage League on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Carnegie library. Mrs. Francis Smith Whiteside, president of the league, will preside. Miss Susie Egan, Miss Olive May Osborne will tell of their many experiences while in Europe. Mr. A. D. Hall of Washington, D. C., prominent in the peace movement, will give an address on "Peace." Miss Laura Smith of Chicago, will give a talk on "Suffrage." All members are urged to attend.

Missionary Luncheon.

A pleasant affair of Monday was the luncheon for the W. M. H. Society at the country home, Cliff Forest, near East Point. There was a program of scripture lesson, music and a strong appeal made by Mrs. E. E. Wilson for the great cause. The delegates elected to the district conference at Bolton were Mrs. W. A. Cannon, Mrs. Caveny and Mrs. D. C. Holley.

At Piedmont Driving Club.

The Piedmont Driving club was the scene of a most enjoyable evening, about one hundred and fifty club members and their friends enjoyed the dinner and dancing. W. J. Black entertained for Miss Helen Hawkins and Mr. Arthur Clarke. Miss Helen and Mr. Clarke were assisted by Miss Mary Hawkins, Margaret Hawkins, Elizabeth Hawkins, Anne Akers, Messrs. Burton Clarke, James Ragan, Ernest Otley, Walter Nash, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Daniel. Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gunby had a party of twenty-five for Miss Isabel Robinson, a debutante. Other entertainers were Mr. Lamar Hill, Mr. Willard M. Burney, Mr. Doster Lowndes, Mr. J. W. White, Mr. Cator Woodford, Mr. W. E. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Inman.

At Poultry Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McConnell entertained the following guests at their lovely country home, "Poultry Farm," the past week: Miss Mary Webb, Mrs. Z. R. McConnell, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. C. A. Blount, Mrs. Sapphronia Webb, of College Park, Mrs. Sapphronia Thomas, Misses Mattie and Mable Camp, of Atlanta.

Birthday Party.

Miss Charlotte Meador, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Meador, entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree street, in celebration of her birthday. Pink chrysanthemums and enchantress curtains decorated the room, and the score cards were hand-painted in figures of old-fashioned girls. Miss Elizabeth Crawford won the prize for ten score cards and the consolation, a silver picture frame, was won by Miss Mary Cohen. Miss Crawford was given a gift of cream lace with yellow ribbons. The guests were Miss Grace Goldsmith, Miss Alice Stearns, Miss Sarah Schoen, Miss Mary Cohen, Miss Frances Ellis, Miss Elizabeth Crawford, Miss Willmetine Perdue, Miss Inne Crawford, Miss Anne Grant, Miss Orme, Miss Mary Frances Coledge, Miss Anne Stringfellow, Miss Marjorie Stringfellow, Miss Frances Kern, Miss Elizabeth Kern and Miss Mary Coledge.

Series of Parties.

In compliment to Miss Lawson Hines, a popular member of the debutante set, and to Miss Hallie Morton of Tennessee, who is visiting Miss Mary Hines, Mr. Julian Thomas will entertain at dinner tonight at home. His guests will be Miss Hines, Miss Lawson Hines, Miss Morton, Mr. William Hines of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. Frank Spradling. Mr. Cator Woodford will entertain at dinner at the Driving club for Miss Lawson Hines and Miss Morton. Miss Mary King will give a party in their honor, and others will entertain. Dinner party at the Hallowe'en dinner dance for the same attractive honor guests will include Miss Morton, Miss Hines, Miss Morton, Miss Ida Winship, Messrs. Cator Woodford, Mr. Fred Hoyt, Dr. J. G. Williams, Mr. Palmer Johnson.

Cotton Dance.

The Don't Worry club is going to hold their opening dance in the form of a cotton dance. The sale that the boys bought at 10 cents a pound will be in the floor of the dance. The dances will be around this sale. An usual Don't Worry success is expected. The dance will be held at the Technical Educational alliance, 90 Capitol avenue, October 27.

Dennis-Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Littleton Dennis issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Lucile, to Mr. George Wesley Walker, on Thursday, October 22, 1914, at the Church of the Transfiguration in the city of New York.

Vesper Club Dance.

One of the most brilliant occasions of the past week was the opening dance given by the Vesper club in their superb new headquarters at Third and Peachtree streets. More than seventy couples, including a score of chaperons,

Face Paint Tabooed; Remove Skin Instead

"A few years ago only the class of women painted their faces," says Daily Madras in Chicago News. "It was a sign of social ostracism and was tabooed in refined circles. The custom has become so universal we must admit it is to be deplored and to be shelved as soon as possible." How foolish to seek artificial "beauty" of this sort, obtained from artifice and moral standpoint, when it is so easy to obtain a truly natural complexion by the use of ordinary macerated wax, which may be had at any drug store in original one-ounce package. This macerated wax is so effective, harmless and inexpensive, no one need think of using anything else for the purpose. Applied like cold cream at night, Madras is pure and harmless and adheres until washed off. Blends out blemishes; prevents sunburn and return of discolorations. The Players' Club.

For the benefit of the Belgian sufferers, members of the Players' club of Atlanta will for the first time present a play written by a member of the club, Mr. Waller. He will direct the play and participate in it. The rehearsals will take place every day. Others of the club to take part are Mrs. W. S. Jarnagin, Mrs. Ransom Wright, Mrs. W. P. Nicolson, Miss Catherine Hoke Smith, Mr. Thornton Marve, Mr. F. M. Mikell, Mr. Hill Saul and Mr. Hamilton Douglass, Jr.

The tableaux vivants are being directed by Miss Catherine Ellis, and will include scenes of pictures showing heroes and heroines of the present war.

O. E. S. Ball.

Impregnable music and a fine floor will make the city Auditorium a scene of gayety and pleasure on October 25, the occasion of the Eastern Star ball. A beautiful drill, presented by the drill team of the O. E. S., will be one of many attractions. This body is composed of members from several chapters of the order, and they are well and uniformly drilled by the officer in charge of the drill patrol. Much interest attaches to this unique feature of the program. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cummings will open the ball. Mrs. Cummings is the chairman of the state committee. The ball is given for a noble cause. The public is urged to attend. Tickets on sale at the door at a reasonable rate.

Duran-Perry.

Mrs. M. A. Lowe announces the engagement of her niece, Willie Lee Duran, to Dr. W. T. Perry. The marriage to take place in December.

Athletic Club Dance.

The last dance of the season was held in the pavilion at the East Lake Country club last night and was largely attended. The dances hereafter will be at the Athletic clubrooms on Auburn avenue.

Miss Parker's Breakfast.

Miss Louise Parker will entertain at a breakfast Wednesday morning at her home on Fourteenth street in connection with the dance given by the Virginia, the guest of Miss Mame Kirkpatrick, Miss Elizabeth Wallingford, of Kentucky, who will visit

Miss Laura Cole, and Miss Marguerite Goldsmith of Washington, D. C., the guest of Miss Wyckoff. Mrs. W. B. Bostick, the guests of honor and their hostesses, the party will be completed by Miss Gladys Dunsen and Miss Helen Chryser.

Chrysanthemum Show.

The second annual show of the College Park Chrysanthemum club will be held Tuesday afternoon, October 27, at the residence of Mrs. G. B. Finley on East Princeton avenue. The hours are from 3 to 6 and 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening. The public is cordially invited.

When You Dance—Wear La Maxixe

—The New Dancing Model of

R&G

RUSTLESS CORSETS

YOU cannot dance gracefully unless you wear the right corset. In La Maxixe you have a corset flexible as your own body. It gives just the needed support at the waist and hips, but allows perfect freedom above the waist.

La Maxixe E-250—for slender figures—is practically boneless. No harsh rubbing on the delicate bones of the hips. Soft and comfortable as a French waist. La Maxixe E-254—for medium figures—is a little more firmly boned and has elastic sections to allow freedom of motion in the dance. Both have long straight hips and extremely low bust—perfectly producing the new uncorseted figure effect. Price of either of these models, $3.00.

See La Maxixe styles today at your favorite store. Find the one that fits you exactly. Know the unrestrained joy of dancing in a corset made just for dancing. The new Laced-front R & G will also interest you.

A brilliant event in the height of the social season will be the wedding of Miss Helen Dargan and Mr. Dozier Lowndes, which will take place on the evening of November 20, at All Saints' Episcopal church.

Capable Young Artists Give Beautiful Recital

For those lovers of music who heard Miss Jane Fassett, of New York, and Hugh L. Hodgson, of Athens, in recital Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Hodgson, there was a pleasure as complete as to find in great measure the "aching void" occasioned by Atlanta's more than usual dearth of music the present season.

When he played "Traumerel," by Strauss, a musician in his audience who had heard him play the same thing last spring as an encore, exclaimed: "Why that is what I had thought was a composition of his own. I knew he composed, and 'Traumerel' was so fresh in its inspiration, so ultra modern in thought and conception, that I gave Mr. Hodgson credit for it."

Miss Fassett's singing, too, was a joy. She sang groups of Italian, French and English songs, and preserved for each selection its period and its individual character. Her voice is not yet of great volume, but perfect in tone quality and ease of production.

ACWORTH, GA.

The wedding of Miss Pauline Collins to Mr. Alvin S. Collins, of the Baptist church last Wednesday evening, was a brilliant social event. The maid of honor was Miss Edna Barrett, bridesmaids were Misses Louise Axtree and Nellie Lovingood.

A Message For All Women

MME. ISE'BELL, whose fame is largely due to her women who use her formulas, follow her teachings and advise others to do likewise, says "Youth and beauty are woman's cherished possessions. Do not imperil them by using inferior toilet preparations. Put up in large quantities at low prices. The savings of disease and time are no more fatal to beauty than the use of improper powders and creams, especially compounded for the balmacaan counter."

Below we name the products of a lifetime of study, honest intent and intelligent brain. They are regularly purchased and used by such well known women as Misses Ellen, Gertrude Elliott (now Lady Forbes-Robertson), Blanche Butts, Cicie Loftus, Maude Lillian Berr, Louise Paulina, Isabel Rauh, Zefie de Lussan, Marcella Sembrich, Trice Frigrenza, Lucy Weston, Ruth Peckler, Vesta Tilley, Effie Simonson and hundreds of others. These famous women have made a study of beauty and health. None knows better how to preserve and maintain the advantages of a clear skin and good complexion.

The Full Sweep of Our New York Purchases Is In! Your Critical Inspection Is Invited!

Women Assembling Winter Wardrobes Will Be Delighted With the Styles

New Suits! New Coats! New Gowns! New Blouses! All Approved by Fashion!

Three weeks ago our buyer went to New York. He wasn't seeking "jobs" nor "bargains." There was plenty of such "plunder" on the racks—our buyer wanted STYLES.

He found them, gave the makers sufficient time to reproduce them, and now—after three weeks—those new garments are here.

These new suits and gowns are not here "by the thousands." Rich's customers do not care to see their individual selection duplicated on every corner. But in each model there is sufficient variety so that every figure can be becomingly fitted with the minimum of alterations. We shall be pleased to show you these new garments whenever you are ready—preferably tomorrow.

More Than 200 New Suits Are Here to Sell at $23.50 to $29.50

BECAUSE most women prefer to pay about $25 for their new suit, we have specialized around that price. At $23.50, $25 and $29.50 you will find more than thirty different styles in

- | | | |
|-----------------|---------------|----------------------|
| Redingote Coats | College Coats | Fur Trimmed Coats |
| Long Coats | Basque Coats | Braid Trimmed Coats |
| Short Coats | Belted Coats | Velvet Trimmed Coats |

- The leading style is the style you like best.
- Broadcloth heads the fabrics; gabardines and serges follow.
- Browns, greens, blues and black—all are equally good. Coats are silk, satin and Skinner satin lined.
- Saleswomen trained in styles will help you make a pleasing selection.

In the Higher Priced Suits From $35 to $90

Women can choose from highly individualized models, scarcely any two alike.

A Kloffit Petticoat Should be Neath Every Skirt, Because

The petticoat provides a smooth foundation, insuring a perfect fit. Because of their patent gusset seam at side, Kloffit petticoats fit without a wrinkle. Made in Messaline Charmeuse Jersey Crepe de Chine in white, black and every leading color, $5. Kloffit cotton petticoats of black, saffron, $1 and $1.50.

Velvets & Velvet Combinations Are the Vogue in the Newest Dresses

VELVETS, silks and satins—queenly fabrics in regal combinations. A velvet jumper and tunic over satin drop; velvets combined with satin; or velvets standing majestically alone. Their fresh loveliness leaves description dumb—please see them. Various in blacks, blues and browns. $25 to $65.

More & More New Dresses in Serge & Satin Combinations

THE designers have developed new styles. Observe the new military motif with heavy braids and buttons. New ideas in sashes and girdles, too, many embroidered and beaded. Clever style touches in collars, a quaint turn to the cuff, jumpers and middies—a melange of newness and charm. All the dresses are moderately priced.

Smart Looking Coats for Fall

PLAIDS, Donegal Tweeds and mixtures for novelty; rich, satiny broadcloths for staple wear; fur trimmed corduroys for smart dressers. Prices start at $11.50 for Sport Coats in big block plaids, climb slowly to $35 for fine broadcloths, then jump to $45 for the corduroys.

New Skirts for Dress or Golf or for practical wear. Some are plain; some show the tunic; some have wide satin girdles; some the hip yoke—each smart and fashionable for its various purpose. Black leads, $5.00 to $18.50.

Golf skirts of corduroy, blue, black, brown, $7.50 and $8.50.

Misses' Skirts to Wear With Middy Blouses. Neat checks and dark green and blue plaids. Two side patch pockets. $5.00.

Have You Seen the New Blouses?

THE new combinations of silk and lace? Of satin over chiffon? Of chiffons with silk girdles?

—Or the new lace jumpers, edged with braid? The Roman striped crepe de chine? The black laces over chiffon? The white messalines?

NO, you haven't seen them. We say it boldly, confidently, because many of these blouses have just come in. Fresh from the maker's needle—new as November—advance styles you will surely like. Too many for description—this list of varieties and prices:

- Cottons, $1 to $3.50.
- Lace Blouses, $3.95 to $20.
- Crepe de Chine, $3.95 to $10.
- Messalines, $3.95 to $10.

COLORED STATE FAIR BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER THIS YEAR

Macon Ga., October 4.—(Special)—At the colored state fair, which will be held in Macon November 18-25, attention will be given to farming and cattle raising, and all the colored farmers who attend will be urged to raise less cotton next year and more food-stuffs, more hogs and more cattle. The colored farmers are quite a factor in Georgia and if they will turn their attention to the diversification of the crops a long step will have been taken in the right direction.

President E. K. Wright of the colored state fair announces that all arrangements for the fair have been completed and that there will be more exhibits and a larger premium list this year than ever before. The most liberal premiums are offered for staple products of the farm such as corn, potatoes, oats, rice, cotton, vegetables of all kinds, mules, horses and hogs. In addition to these there are premiums for domestic work. Colored farmers and their wives are urged to bring their "best" to the fair, and everything that is considered worthy of a premium and some farmer from this section may win several of the premiums.

The amusement features this year are also better than ever. The famous roller coaster which will be used during the white state fair, has been leased and it will prove quite an attraction. It is the biggest roller coaster ever seen in the south. It cost $5,000 and will be kept in Macon as a permanent amusement. The midway will be crowded with all kinds of high-class amusements and there will be the motorhome, "Coca" wheel, ocean wave and in addition to all these there will be horse racing, that will be well worth a special trip to the fair to see.

Anna Wade Richardson, Famous Negro Educator, Dies at Marshallville

Marshallville Ga., October 24.—(Special)—Anna Wade Richardson, founder of Lamson Normal school and who was one of the most remarkable negro women in Georgia, died here yesterday.

Her parents were owned by Dr. J. D. Wade. When a child she was ambitious to obtain an education. Securing assistance, especially from northern sympathizers, she went to the midwestern Atlanta university, and also from a college in Boston.

She made her life-work teaching and uplifting her race. Through her efforts she secured funds from northern sympathizers sufficient to build a commendous college and dormitory for Lamson Normal school of which she was president for about twenty-five years.

The school will now be conducted by her son, E. S. Richardson Jr., and her daughter, Blanch.

Berrien Will Enlarge Boys' Corn Club Show Into Fair Next Year

Nashville Ga., October 24.—(Special)—The Berrien County Corn-club show, which has just closed, was the biggest event of the year. It surpassed all previous corn shows held here in all respects.

The largest crowd ever seen in Nashville was here on the last day, which was October 21.

The five boys who raised the most corn on one acre each will be given a free scholastic in the agricultural department of the State university.

Master Ben Giddens, who won first prize last year with 116 bushels on one acre, again took the first prize this year. He raised 122 1/2 bushels on an acre at a total cost of only $37.50. The Douglas band furnished music for the occasion.

The citizens of Berrien are so gratified at the success of this year that they are determined to have a fair in 1915.

DECISION EXPECTED IN YARYAN SALE CASE

Brunswick Ga., October 24.—(Special)—A decision from the United States court of appeals is expected early next week in the famous case of the Yaryan hat and suit company, and upon this decision depends much as to the future of the case. The decision is on the petition of one of the factions of stockholders to set aside the sale of the plants at Brunswick and Gulfport, Ala. on the ground that Judge Sheppard was without jurisdiction in ordering the sale of these plants. In the event the action of Judge Sheppard is confirmed then the plants will be turned over to their purchasers, but if the higher court decides that Judge Sheppard was without jurisdiction then the plants will probably go through the bankruptcy court in Ohio. Much interest is manifested here in the decision.

ROME ATHLETIC CLUB READY FOR BUSINESS

Rome Ga., October 24.—(Special)—The Rome Athletic club which numbers on its rolls ninety-eight young men has performed a permanent organization with John W. Harris as president, R. M. Wirtz vice president, Carl Betts secretary and Robert W. Wirtz treasurer. These officers together with C. D. Young, H. L. Latham, C. J. Wirtz and H. C. Geringer make up the board of directors. The club has fitted up quarters on East First street with a gymnasium and basketball court.

THOUSANDS ATTEND SINGERS' MEETING

Euclid Ala., October 24.—(Special)—Several thousand visitors are attending the annual convention of the Harp and Henry county Musical Association now in session at Belcher Bethel church in the lower portion of the county. The singing is being led by well known Sacred Harp singers of both counties.

STRING OF FIFTY WILL RACE IN ROME

Rome Ga., October 24.—(Special)—The string of fifty horses will be given in Rome on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. A string of fifty horses, said to be among the best ever put together in the south will be brought here and will be raced at the track of George G. Stiles, west of Rome.

ONLY TWENTY-SIX MEN READY TO VOTE IN ROME

Rome Ga., October 24.—(Special)—There is apparently little interest in the election on commission form of government to be held November 24 in order to vote in the election it is necessary to pay taxes for 1914 and to date but twenty-six men have registered.

Monday another gala day in our dress goods section

Popular woolens

---at popular prices $1.00 Yard

We expect to reach this week high-water mark in our wonderful selling of popular wool and silk and wool fabrics for ladies, misses and children's dresses, suits and wraps. To make the sale attractive, we shall offer $1.25 and $1.50 values at $1.00, as follows:--

- 42-inch gabardine serges, all colors
- 52-inch storm serges, extra qualities
- 42-inch French serges, hard finish
- 44-inch French poplins, lustre finish
- 42-inch crepe epingles, in all shades
- 42-inch silk and wool crepes
- 52-inch sponged and shrunk granites
- 44-inch wool armures, lustre finish
- 42-inch tailor serge suitings
- 45-inch wool satins, black only

A notable display of stylish broadcloths

2,500 yds. Imported sponged and shrunk broadcloths 52 inches

This event will quicken the enthusiasm among smart shoppers. The sea-son's most favored fabric. A $2.00 value at $1.50 yard.

This is one of the best values we have ever offered, and consists of about 2,500 yards of imported broadcloths, fully 52 inches wide, sponged and shrunk, velvet surface, lustrous finish, twenty-two popular colors. These have just arrived, and will be shown for the first time tomorrow in our popular dress goods section.

Luckily we gave the order for them in the early spring, and although they have been somewhat delayed in transit, from the other side, they come at an opportune moment to emphasize our great sale of dress woolens.

At regular prices, in any store hereabout (where they can be found at all), they would be $2 to $2.50 a yard.

You can buy them from us tomorrow in cadet, wistaria, leaf, stone gray, china blue, afro brown, gendarme blue, olive, Prussian green, taupe, Austrian green, wine, garnet, tan and navy.

Our suits strike the keynote of popular favor

Beautiful reproductions of foreign suits

Suits of broadcloths, gabardines, wool poplins, French serges

A great showing of about one hundred assorted suits in original styles, in several modes, some of them featuring long redingote effects, others long straightline coats with yoke fronts. Many new styles of skirts are being shown, notably skirts with tunics, flared panels, and others with popular yoke effects.

In this line of pretty suits you will find several styles of semi-dress suits in various materials, in redingote and Russian tunic styles. The broadcloths are of fine materials, in several new models, with yoke skirts cut on straight tailored lines. Many of these styles are trimmed with silk plushes, velvets and satins, many new materials in trimmings being shown.

Thought, originality and care are evident in every piece. Of course, the colors are right. Russian green, afro brown, midnight navy, Prussian blue, seal brown, black and combinations, all sizes, both young ladies and women's.

$25.00 to $50.00

Another example of real value-giving in silk section

A great sale of attractive crepe de chines

1,000 yards Imported all silk crepe de chines 40-inch

This sale will crowd our silk section, as it introduces a $2.00 value imported crepe de chines, at $1.50 yard

A New York importing house, famous for supplying fine dressmakers' trade throughout the country, has turned to us as the outlet for his surplus stock of more than 1,000 yards of imported crepe de chines.

They will go on sale Monday at $1.50 a yard, and will prove to be one of the greatest attractions ever offered by our silk department, which already has a wonderful record for striking value-giving.

As is known to all good dressers, this fabric lends itself most charmingly to the making of negligees, petticoats, dressing jackets, waists and all items of a well dressed woman's wardrobe, as well as being a supreme fabric favored by fashion this season for evening, street, dinner and afternoon dresses. This fabric, if found at all, cannot be seen otherwheres at less than $2.00 a yard. It is shown in all good colors and black and white at $1.50 a yard.

Popular silks

---modestly priced $1.00 yard

We specialize tomorrow, at one-price, several lines of popular silks, with view to making this a banner day in our silk section.

Many of the fabrics quoted below are worth $1.50 and $1.75 a yard, none of them less than $1.25 a yard.

- 36-inch black costume pallet de soie
- 36-inch black and colored messalines
- 36-inch imported chiffon taffetas
- 36-inch silk costume poplins, all colors
- 36-inch Roman stripe velours
- 42-inch all-silk chiffons, all colors
- 24-inch black millinery velvets
- 24-inch costume velveteens
- 36-inch lining satins, all colors
- 36-inch lustre finish costume taffetas

A sale of waists

at $5.00 each
---on second floor Monday

Several new models in dressy blouses at one price Monday. The very latest style waists will be shown in pretty blouses of crepes, laces over chiffons, pussy willow taffetas and mourning waists and wash silk blouses all good colors at this popular price.

A sale of skirts

at $5.00 each
---on second floor Monday

Separate skirts are becoming quite a feature this season and promises to become more and more popular as the autumn advances. Copies of best imported models will be shown here tomorrow at a popular price, including all of the new yoke styles and tunic styles.

A sale of petticoats

at $5.00 each
---on second floor Monday

In brilliant silks, in jersey, satins, crepes, mesalines and taffetas. Unusually splendid values tomorrow in all good colors in every approved style of flouncings, tucks, platings, many lace trimmed styles are included.

A sale of sweaters

at $5.00 each
---on second floor Monday

Oriental silk sweaters in two-toned effects of red and black, green and gold, purple and gold, also in solid colors of green and red; included in the assortment are all-wool sweaters with rolling Byron collars in navies, blacks, reds, oxfords and white.

At Crest of Series of Fat Years, South Needs Confidence, Not Cowardice!

The Constitution does not now stop to fix responsibility for the failure of congress to meet its obligation to the people of the cotton belt in the crisis brought about by the European war. If so minded we could draw up a full indictment. We leave that to the people. They have more acuteness of intelligence than that with which they are credited. Their memories are long. They have been disappointed—grievously disappointed—in the failure of congress to act. More than that, the people of the cotton belt have not understood the failure of their representatives to even summon the democratic members in caucus, which could be done by the call of a comparatively few members. They read the announcement that the democratic president pro tem. of the senate, Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, fighting for relief, gives up in disgust and goes home, declaring that the whole performance is a jockey and that he will take no further part in the vaudeville. So much for national aid.

The special session of the Texas legislature has, as anticipated, refused to make outlaws of the men who plant more than an arbitrary maximum of cotton to the plow. Since Texas is the key state in the cotton belt, without the co-operation of which nothing may be accomplished, it may be taken as settled that the fate of action by individual or state penalty is decreed. The house of representatives of South Carolina also has refused to take punitive measures looking toward legislative reduction. In each state the proposal to interfere with individual right by summary action has failed. So much for state agencies, expressed through state sovereignty.

Now, what about the present financial status and financial reserves of the southern states?

The Constitution makes the deliberate assertion that the south has not in its whole history, ante-bellum or post-bellum, been in better condition to withstand a temporary pressure of hard times.

The civil war stripped the south to the bone as no people have been stripped in history. There were not even the "makins" left, as in France after the Franco-Prussian war. Everything had to be done over again, from the ground up. How the south came out of that crisis is history.

For the past ten years the south has been piling up wealth, mobilizing reserves, burying mortgages.

Year by year cotton, now reviled as a curse, has been bringing in eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen and fifteen cents.

We are in the position of the thrifty man piling up a nest-egg against a rainy day, or a man with healthy digestion laying up fat on which to tide over when disease and malnutrition strike him.

Individual bank deposits, savings and checking are larger and more numerous than at any period of southern history.

We still depend too much on cotton as a source of support, but we don't depend on it like we did in reconstruction. We have manufactures. We have lumbering. We have mining and quarrying and shipping. And each and every one of these industries, big and little, is an anchor tugging the south away from the shoal waters of adversity.

Now as to cotton.

Of course, fifteen million bales of cotton at ten, eleven or twelve cents is better than fifteen million at six and a half or seven cents.

But, for the sake of argument, assume as the worst that the south receives only six and a half cents for its cotton crop of this year.

That will foot up, roughly, one-half a billion dollars. Does half a billion dollars, added to the south's accumulated surplus and to its income from numerous other sources, spell disaster!

It does not!

It does spell economy and prudence and thrift and care and self-control.

It does spell courage and confidence as against unmanly and insane cowardice.

And with ordinary attention to conditions as now confront us, this section should enter within the next year the most prosperous era of its history.

But to reach that end one thing above all others must be done.

NEXT YEAR'S COTTON CROP MUST BE CUT TO APPROXIMATELY ONE-HALF THE CROP OF THIS YEAR!

Next year the world will not need, and cannot, save at starvation prices, absorb a normal crop. It will have to digest the huge surplus left over from this year.

We have made great progress in the past twenty years in corn and cattle raising, in supplying ourselves with the necessities of life from our own acres.

We haven't made nearly enough progress!

We have steadily cut down the revenue we send to other sections.

We still export for meat and bread hundreds of millions. That meat and bread must, this year, be raised at home; the millions kept here.

Cotton must be reduced one-half; two-thirds would be better.

Who can assure that cotton shall be reduced and meat and bread produced?

THE BANKER, THE MERCHANT, THE FARMER!

These factors form the three-pronged grapple with which the south hangs to the shore-line of safety this year and next, and afterward.

The keynote is CO-OPERATION!

Let the banker, in town and country; the landlord, on the acres or absentee; the tenant, the merchant, the "cropper," all co-operate in the doctrine of a scant crop of cotton, a bumper crop of foodstuff; let them ostracize the man who tries to "run the hog" over his neighbor; let them each make reduction of cotton and production of food the irreducible minimum for financial help.

THAT DONE, THE SOUTH'S ACCUMULATED SURPLUSES WILL DO THE REST; AND THE YEAR WILL SEE US ENTERING ONE OF THE MOST PROSPEROUS ERAS IN SOUTHERN HISTORY.

That is the situation as The Constitution sees it.

"God's in his heaven; all's right with the world"—and especially that part of it that lies south of Mason and Dixon's line.

Now, quit kicking and get—TO BUSINESS!

ation. Commissions and state authorities here and throughout the country are displaying a spirit of fairness and equity in seeking to help the carriers, which, if it had been even suggested eight or ten years ago, would have been ridiculed as a figment of idle imagination, an iridescent dream.

It is all striking evidence of the fact that it makes a wide difference whether the railroad situation is being handled by the politician or at the bar of public justice. One might have thought from some of the talk let loose a few years ago that by now the railroads would have been crushed into acquiescence with what seemed to be the public will, to make them perform their service for nothing. Now the legal representatives of the people are granting them concessions, and the people recognize them as simple acts of justice.

The pendulum of justice may take a long swing, but it always comes back. Politicians were able for a time, through demagogic appeals to passion and prejudice, to arouse a large portion of the public at least, to a point where they were almost ready to rip up the rails. But a sentiment of that sort could not last. The people, at heart, are fair and just; they hate oppression, whether it be directed at individuals or aggregations of individuals. The sense of justice of the average Georgian, the average American, is well developed; and that in the long run he is always ready to be just.

But more than this, we find that the vast majority of the politicians who made or endorsed these appeals to the passions of the people, after arousing them by appeals to passion, and who used them as a means of riding into office, occupy a very different attitude from that they took on the stump or which they made the basis of their appeals for elections. Whether they have had a change of heart or whether their hearts have always been right and their appeals were used for temporary political deception, it is nevertheless true that many of them are among the foremost today in according necessary concessions to the very organizations which they so freely denounced when they wanted votes.

It is gratifying to those who refused to make use of these demagogic trades to serve the ends of personal ambition; who, foreseeing that turn of the tide was inevitable, declined to depart from their convictions and build upon a foundation of political insanity, to view this evidence of the correctness of their positions, although they maintained them at some personal cost. They can now calmly look back upon those political incidents strong in the conviction that they pursued the right course—the only course consistent with justice and equity—the very course which has been finally adopted by those who made political capital by talking loudly the other way.

The pendulum has swung back. Principles of fairness and justice have supplanted talk of oppression and threats whose execution would have amounted practically to confiscation.

The country will be the better off for it for this return to reason in dealing with this great question.

They won't even give Carranza credit for wanting to resign—even when he thought the office was too hot to hold him.

WILMER PLEADS FOR ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Editor Constitution: In common, I have no doubt, with many others who have lamented the lack of adequate support given to the Associated Charities, I read your editorial in Friday's issue with great satisfaction. I simply cannot believe that Atlanta is going to let the Associated Charities die and plunge us back into chaos, when such splendid work has been done and just now at so critical a period in our city's history. Atlanta has too much money, too much intelligence and too great a heart to let this catastrophe happen. But it certainly will happen unless people who have the means to help, who understand how essential to the higher life of our city this institution is, and who have hearts that respond to human need, will come forward at once, and make arrangements to assist in the present difficulties, but place it upon a secure footing for the future.

Our trouble seems to be that Atlanta, with all its brain, its heart, and its money, is too busy to stop and think.

I really want to get back to miscellaneous begging, the neglect of the self-respecting worthy and the pauperizing that characterized the old regime?

Do we want to dump out onto the streets the thousands now being intelligently and sympathetically guided to independence?

Do we really wish to lose for the city the splendid services of the trained experts in that office—Mr. Logan and his noble band of helpers?

Do we desire to be without any sane guidance in civic betterment?

Do our churches fail to realize how impossible it is to connect rationally with the city's needs without the Associated Charities?

Do we lack the information or the intelligence to perceive the fallacy of a kind of repeated absurdity (I can use no other word) that the money spent on salaries and office expenses had better be given to the poor?

Would it really be a good idea to abolish all the doctors in town (of whatever school of medicine) and leave a single doctor, but drug stores and hospitals, with none to prescribe or guide in their use?

Would it really be a better plan to throw away ten million dollars in a single year in dribbles on the streets or at our doors to beggars than to use that money, or as much more as might be secured by the necessary expense of planning, seeing and adequate relief in each case of need? Does the expenditure of relief money require no intelligent or expert knowledge?

And what of the churches in this crisis? Are they going to "pass by on the other side" like the priest in Leaning Tower, and will there be no good Samaritans to step in and administer adequate relief?

I do not believe I can bring myself to frame such an indictment against our beloved city.

For one hour of Henry W. Grady, to arouse our people to a realization of the danger to their health, their duty and their opportunity!

(REV.) C. B. WILMER.

The Holland Letter

Horace G. Knowles, whose long service as United States minister to Bolivia qualified him to speak with authority on the relations which should be established between the United States and South America, delivered a practical address to the members of the American Exporters' association at their annual banquet in this city on Thursday evening of this week. Mr. Knowles asserted that our responsibilities and our opportunities with respect to South America are not to be presented from the same point of view. For sixty years the United States has stood menacingly toward the rest of the world for the purpose of protecting the South American nations from the ambitions of other nations which have always looked with covetous eyes upon South America. Having done that, we stood still. When South America needed money for internal improvement or for the establishment of banking institutions or when seeking markets for her products or when attempting to establish commercial and trade relations no encouragement was given by the United States, but great encouragement was given by England, Germany and other European nations. Now of a sudden these sources of South American prosperity are closed and if the United States is to gain such opportunities in South America as heretofore England and Germany have possessed this must be done by acknowledging our responsibility as something equal to the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine.

One of the responsibilities which may lead to excellent opportunities is the duty of attempting to establish in South America what is sometimes called dollar exchange.

Mr. Knowles might have made incidental reference in his address to an earnest attempt now under way to secure the establishment in several of the South American nations, and ultimately in that of the purchase of gold behind the expression "dollar exchange."

All of the South American countries it has been impossible for anyone who possessed American money, even in the form of gold, to get it exchanged for current money, except at a discount. Even the five-dollar gold piece would not be accepted for its full face value. It is never exchanged for more than three or four dollars, which count is much greater than this. In order to secure and maintain the trade with South America which we ought to have, it is essential that we should have a coin of exchange which stands as high in South America as does the Bank of England note or exchange drawn on Bolivia, which country Mr. Knowles is to represent at the Panama exposition in San Francisco as chief commissioner.

He spoke in an informal way with the government officials respecting the possibility of securing a coin which would pass current at its face value and which could be pressed in terms of dollars. The Bolivian authorities received the proposition with cordiality. So later did representatives of the government of Peru and of Chile.

The Dollar Exchange.

Shortly after Mr. Knowles arrived in New York he sent to the United States designer of coins to draft a design suitable for a coin of the denomination of $5. The design was first of all, shown recently to the mint director, not only in New York, but also in Philadelphia. Of course, the designer could not speak authoritatively as representative of the federal government, but the impression he made was such that it is not to be wondered at that the mint director should be so enthusiastic.

It is not to be wondered at that the mint director should be so enthusiastic, for the design was shown to the secretary of state as to its artistic beauty. The face of the coin will, if adopted, contain two figures, one of which symbolizes the ancient Indian race of South America and the other American womanhood.

On the reverse side of the design is left a blank for the reason that if the coin is adopted there will be stamped upon the reverse side the coat-of-arms of each one of the South American nations which adopts the coin.

Director Roberts spoke with enthusiasm of the plan, it appeared greatly to him. He went so far as to say to Mr. Knowles that the South American nations could be assured that the United States mints would make the coin of the highest quality of metal for mintage. All that the South American nations would find it necessary to do would be to send bullion to the United States mints, which would then strike the coins and return them to the South American nations.

The National City Bank of this time much occupied with attempting to facilitate the international financial relations between the United States and South America and in the way of establishing financial credits with one of the South American nations. Representatives of this institution are now at the larger cities of South Ameri-

The Cross on the Battlefield

By Frank L. Stanton

I.
 ON a battlefield, as still
 As the stars that do God's will,
 Silent, in the stellar-deep
 Where new worlds awake from sleep;
 Flame-swept field, to carnage given,
 'Neath the pitying Lights of Heaven,
 Stood, unshattered still, a shrine—
 Christ's cross in the battle line!

II.
 HATE and horror—War's despair—
 Swords had clashed around it there
 On the cold and crimsoned sod,
 Where the dying cried to God;
 Farther than War's thunder rolls
 It had seen the flight of souls
 Of the fallen of the fray
 Rising to the Judgment Day.

III.
 RISING to God's mighty Throne
 Where, unheralded—alone,
 Stripped of battle-triumphs, stand
 Cruel kings of crimsoned hand;
 Kings that in the war-clouds dim
 Sent the souls of men to Him;
 Kings that through storm-driven years
 Left a wailing world in tears.

IV.
 STOOD a Cross there, on that field,
 Stronger than a battle-shield;
 And within its shadow lay
 One that moaned his life away;
 One—a soldier of the strife,
 Near that Cross of Death and Life;
 He had crept from battle's loss
 To the Shadow of the Cross.

V.
 THERE his soul had found release
 From the strife to God's great Peace;
 Weary hand and grief-rent breast
 To God's sweet, eternal Rest.
 Borne on Mercy's healing wings
 Far above the wrath of kings;
 Heavenly gain for earthly loss
 From the shadow of the Cross.

VI.
 ON the war-fields still remain
 Crosses, shadowing the slain;
 Crosses by the kings defied—
 They that know the kind Christ died,
 Bowing meekly to God's will—
 For the Peace they murder still!
 All their golden thrones as dross
 To the shadow of His Cross.

VII.
 MAY the Christ's Peace without end
 On the wars of earth descend;
 Heal the wounded hearts that weep
 Where sad lives lone vigils keep
 For the unreturning feet
 Lost where War's wild thunders meet,
 Whispering: "Life knows not of loss
 In the shadow of Love's Cross."

F. J. Paxton and R. J. Lowry Urge Patronage of Home Industries

From Colonel F. J. Paxton, president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, and Colonel Robert J. Lowry, the president of the Atlanta Clearing House association, come hearty endorsements of The Constitution's advocacy for the patronage of home industries.

Following is the letter from Colonel Paxton:

Editor Constitution: The Constitution's splendid work in advocacy of the patronage of home industries is directly on the line of a constructive effort to build up the resources of the south by patronizing home industries, and if we had started a movement similar to this fifteen or twenty years ago the serious problem now confronting the south could not have occurred.

With patronizing home industries must at the same time come the education of our people to raise diversified crops; in fact, the raising of all the necessities of life, as well as many of the luxuries.

The newly organized Atlanta Retail Merchants' association will co-operate with you along the lines outlined in your letter. As president of the association, I appointed a strong committee, and it has already taken the matter up with your paper, as well as with The Georgian and The Journal. (Signed) F. J. PAXTON, President, Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association, October 24, 1914.

Following is the letter from Colonel Lowry:

Editor Constitution: I want to commend the splendid editorial that appeared in Friday's Constitution relative to patronizing home industries.

This has been my practice for many years, believing it to be the only way of building up our many trades. I find that the article in your issue, which I have bought in Atlanta, compares favorably with those from any other city, and it now behooves us more than ever to do our utmost to foster and encourage the Atlanta markets by giving them our patronage.

If you will look over your advertising list, you will find that everything necessary for comfort and pleasure can be bought right here in our city; so, let everyone make it a rule to patronize home products.

Of course, it must be understood that they must give us just as good stuff and at as reasonable prices as can be purchased elsewhere. I know from my own experience that the quality of the goods purchased in Atlanta is equal to any in the United States. So let us all stand by our own institutions, which will be a great impetus to them and will mean so much to our city.

ROBERT J. LOWRY, October 24, 1914.

ca. President Vanderlip and his associates have accurate knowledge of the difficulties in the way of establishing financial trade relations with South America which are in part due to the fact that the South American nations have made London their financial center. Exchange is drawn on London and heavy credits are maintained in London in favor of the South American governments.

The executive officers of the City bank spoke with approval of the plan fully as soon as that manifested by the secretary of state, Mr. Bryan, and the director of the mint, Mr. Roberts. These officers are causing the plan to be published in an early number of their new periodical, The American, which is devoted to South American interests. There seems to be no reason, in their opinion, why a gold coin of the face as well as intrinsic value of $5 which bears the stamp of South American nations should

CHAPTERS FROM THE FAMOUS GERMAN WAR BOOK

II—THE DUTY OF A NATION TO MAKE WAR

BY GENERAL F. VON BERNHARDI.
Second of a series of articles in which the German view of war and peace is authoritatively set forth by a member of the German general staff.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT GENERAL VON BERNHARDI'S REMARKABLE WAR BOOK.

Since the war began, the world in general has come to look upon one book as personifying the German nation's attitude towards war, or, at least, that part of the German nation that believes in what has been described so frequently these latter days as militarism. Written in 1911 by General F. von Bernhardi, of the German army, it upholds the right of a nation to make war, the historical necessity of making war, the duty of a nation to make war at certain periods of its development, and it urges upon the German nation the necessity of waging war for the proper growth of the nation—for its "place in the sun," as the Kaiser has so picturesquely expressed it—and for the happiness of the people in general. Under the title, "Germany and the Next War," General von Bernhardi also outlined his ideas of what the next war that Germany engaged in would be like. His program is actually being carried out today both on land and sea so far as the power to do so lies in Germany's hands.

This book—so many brilliant and authoritative quotations have been made from it—so many references have been made to it in print—that, in order to give our readers, irrespective of their sympathies in this war, a clear idea of what this remarkable book by General von Bernhardi urges and teaches, we have arranged with the publisher of the authorized American edition, Longmans, Green & Co., to print six articles from it. Herewith we present General von Bernhardi's arguments on the right of a nation to make war, and this will be followed next Sunday with his arguments on the duty of a nation to make war. We think you will agree with us that General von Bernhardi writes in traditional military frankness and clarity, and that he marshals his arguments strikingly and tellingly.

maintain peace, though at a great moral cost. According to all human calculation, the participation of Prussia in the war of 1866 would have given the allies a decisive superiority of personnel and military resources to the crash of 1866, and would have meant the final overthrow of Prussia as a state had not the moral qualities still retained these which Frederick the Great had ingrained on her by his wars.

At the darkest moment of defeat they shone most brightly in spite of the political downfall, the defeat of Frederick's legacy kept that spirit alive with which he had inspired his state and his people. This is clearly seen in the quite different attitude of the Prussian people and the other German states in regard to the Napoleonic tyranny. The power which had been acquired by the Prussians through long and glorious wars showed itself more valuable than all else in the eyes of the people which created it, it was not to be broken down by the defeat of 1806, and rendered possible the heroic revival of 1813.

The German wars of unification which broke up the region of the Rhine in spite of a thousand sacrifices, brought forth a rich harvest. The inability and political weakness which the Prussian government showed in 1848, culminating in the disgrace of the 1870, had deeply shaken the political and national importance of Prussia. On the other hand the calm conscious strength with which she faced once more her duties as a nation, which in the same year was soon abundantly manifested by bringing about our wars of unification in order to improve radically an untenable position and secure to our people healthy conditions of life, fulfilled the long-reit wish of the German people, and raised Germany to the undepicted rank of a first-class European power. The military and political position which she won by the sword laid the foundation for an unparalleled material prosperity. It is difficult to imagine the results of the progress which the German people would have had had not these wars been brought about by a deliberate policy.

The most recent history tells the same story. If we judge the Japanese standpoint with an unbiased mind we shall find the resolution to fight Russia was not only heroic but politically wise and morally justifiable. The Russian giant, but the purely military conditions were favorable, and the Japanese nation which had rapidly risen to a high stage of civilization, and whose progress in the sphere of industry is complete her development, and to open new channels for her superabundant activities.

defeated in war may be better than not to have fought at all." It must further be remembered that every success in foreign policy, especially obtained by a demonstration of military strength, increases the power of the state in foreign affairs, but adds to the reputation of the government at home, and thus enables it better to fulfill its moral aims and civilizing duties.

When a state is confronted by the material impossibility of supporting an longer the political situation which the power of its enemies has forced upon it, when it is clear that the rival states must gradually acquire from natural reasons a lead that cannot be won back, when there are indications of an offensive alliance of stronger enemies who only await the favorable moment to strike—the moral duty of the state toward its citizens is to make every effort to bring about a success of its political aims. When on the other hand, the hostile states are weakened or hampered by affairs at home and abroad, when its own warlike strength shows itself, it is imperative to use the favorable circumstances to promote its own political aims. The danger of a war may be faced the more readily if there is good prospect that good results may be obtained with comparatively small sacrifices.

GEORGIA BRANCH National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations

- ### OFFICERS OF CONGRESS.
- President—Mrs. Howard A. Payne, Elberton.
 - Recording Secretary—Miss Lottie Barnee Columbia Ga.
 - Corresponding Secretary—Miss Laura Shewell Dalton Ga.
 - Treasurer—Mrs. R. E. Hudgins, Elberton, Ga.
 - Auditor—Mrs. Roger Dewar, 27 E 5th St., Dalton, Ga.
 - Press and Publicity—Mrs. Eugene E. Mitchell, 1249 Peachtree street, Atlanta, Georgia.

The executive board meeting of the Georgia Congress of Mothers was held in the parlors of the Ansley hotel, October 16. The reports from the different branches of the state were very interesting, and showed great progress. Many chairmen spoke of the things already accomplished through their committees, and gave definite outlines for the work they expected to do the coming year.

Dr. Toepel, chairman of the department of defective, delinquent and dependent children, told of what had been done for a small number of these children. He said that the majority of them were left without education or care by both city and state. He insisted that the state owed these children an education, and that there should be a school for crippled, blind and dumb children, and that every child should be cared for in such manner as to lessen his dependency upon the state.

Dr. McKay, of Dalton, chairman of the department of the better babies contest in Macon Mrs. W. C. Spiker, chairman of literature, said she wished to have a literary clearing house in each city, and to have a list of books suitable for children and their needs, and she will supply any mother or club with this literature.

Mrs. John Rowlett gave her report of the baby-saving campaign, and said that she had secured 100 babies. The reports of other chairmen will be published later.

for this reason are rather handpicked in regard to any financial undertaking. But Miss Annie Brown, principal of the Glenwood grammar grades, appealed to us for help, speaking of the need of a reception in domestic science in the schools, they do not feel able to buy other things the schools really need, so our Atlanta committee met at work and expects to have a favorable report by next meeting.

Although we had unfavorable weather for both meetings the keen interest shown was very encouraging. Quite a number of new members were added to the roll at each meeting. We have an interesting program coming and expect to have very interesting readings or discussions at each meeting, and that will be helpful to every mother and teacher.

Called Meeting.

The Parent-Teacher association of Calhoun school will have its first meeting of the year on Thursday afternoon at 8:30 in the school building. A full attendance of members and visitors is urged.

War for Honor's Sake.

Finally cases may occur where war must be made simply as a point of honor, although there is no prospect of any other result. The honor of the state has also to be borne. So at least, Frederick the Great thought. His brother, Henry, after the battle of Koenigsberg, advised him to give himself up to the feet of the Marquis de Posadowski in order to purchase a peace with France. Again, after the battle of Kunersdorf his position seemed quite hopeless, but the king absolutely refused to abandon the struggle. He knew better what suited the honor and the moral value of his country, and preferred to die sword in hand than to conclude a degrading peace.

The criterion of the personal opinion of the individual "rests in the last resort on the question whether he has recognized and developed his own nature to the highest attainable degree of perfection, and whether the standard is applied to the state, then "its highest moral duty is to increase its power." The individual must sacrifice himself for the higher community, of which he is a member, but the state is itself the highest conception in the wider community of man, and therefore the duty of self-annihilation does not enter into the case. The Christian duty of sacrifice for something higher does not exist for the state, for there is nothing higher than it in the world. The individual is not to sacrifice itself to something higher. When a state sees its downfall staring it in the face we applaud if it succeeds in its efforts to save itself. It is not an allusion to an allusion not only is unusual, but contradicts the idea of self-preservation, which is the highest goal of a state.

Line and Tuberculosis

D. R. ROBERTS BARTHOLOW, former professor in Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and widely famed as a medical writer, says in the eighth edition of his authoritative Materia Medica (1895), on pages 215 and 216:

"Clinical experience has shown that it (referring to a calcium salt) possesses the ill-defined property known as alterative, removes certain toxic or morbid materials and secures their secretion by the organs of elimination. . . . The testimony which has lately been published in respect to its curative powers in consumption is certainly very striking."

Of course, Dr. Bartholow does not refer to testimony published regarding results obtained through the use of Eckman's Alterative, since the ingredients as to be easily assimilated by the average person, thus overcoming the objection often raised to the use of calcium.

In any event, its record is such as to warrant a trial—unless other treatment is producing desired results—and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to take. Your druggist has it or will get it, or you can order direct.
