

BIG CIVIC PROJECTS WAIT FOR ACTION ON FINANCE SHEET

Every Department of Atlanta's Affairs Is Inextricably Involved by Council's Failure to Agree.

EMPLOYEES ARE IDLE WHILE ROW CONTINUES

Officials Show Material Is Low Now, and City Will Be Heavy Loser by Delaying Purchase.

Just because some members of Atlanta's general council are at loggerheads with the finance committee over the question of how to spend the city's yearly income of $4,856,417, big development projects are said to be in a state of helpless paralysis, and heads of departments assert that the city's business faces a condition narrowly approaching chaos.

Failure of the aldermanic board to pass the 1915 sheet, after council had tacked on it an amendment carrying $56,417 to meet ward demands, has had the effect of halting work which should have started last Monday, and for more than a week city employees are reported to have done little or no work, waiting for council to release the sheet and give the departments operating money.

Monday morning members of council, finance committee members and city officials were buoyed with a hope that the sheet would be adjusted by the conference held in the mayor's office.

Nothing happened to brighten the prospects of advancing the sheet to council or of passing up the money at a specially called meeting. After the finance committee had discussed items in dispute in the sheet, Committee Chairman A. W. Farlinger, made the announcement to newspaper reporters and anxious city heads that no changes were made in the sheet, and, further, that the finance committee will "stand pat."

Chairman Farlinger explained that the hitch hinges on the amount of unearned revenue which should be put in the sheet to balance the overdraft of $38,329.06, which was made apparent after all department demands were met.

To meet this overdraft the committee was forced to anticipate $135,689.96 from the following funds which are due to be paid into the treasury this year: General fund, $14,500; Georgia Railway and Power company, increase, $5,000; and uncollected sewer assessments and tax, $116,189.96.

Want Additional $56,417. Dissatisfied members of council insist that the committee anticipate an additional $56,417 to meet their demands, chief among which is an item of $14,000, due the county commission for money to complete the city work. It was this demand, which was contained in an amendment, which caused the aldermanic board to reject the sheet.

Behind the finance committee and council and the aldermanic board looms Mayor Woodward.

The mayor is dissatisfied with both sheets—the original sheet adopted by the finance committee and the amended sheet, which the aldermanic board blocked.

Mayor Woodward's objection is centered on the amount of unearned revenue included in the sheet, also the amendments.

He has threatened to veto any sheet which contains more than $120,000 of unearned revenue. He asserts that the city will face a deficit in June, and he wants the finance committee to have enough money at that time to take care of the departments until the end of the year.

Task Looks Impossible. Heads of departments who have tried to get the warring elements together said Monday that the task looked impossible. They declare that some departments are very much embarrassed.

Big money has been appropriated in the sheet for streets, sewers and other development projects. Nearly $45,000 has been set aside for sewer material alone. If this money was released immediately the city could stop spending the $140,000 bond balance which the taxpayers allowed the city to use to put the men to work.

With this money available immediately, the county commissioners say they could throw an army of convicts into the city to do the work which should be completed with free labor and the city's cost would not aggregate more than $45,000 for material.

Men taken from the sewer work could be put to work on the streets, for which a fund for new work and repairs amounting to $343,858 has been apportioned, and on Lakewood park, for which the city has agreed to spend $75,000. The county chamber of commerce to spend like sums.

Big Items Included. Various other big items are included in the appropriations for parks, waterworks, schools and bridges. Until the sheet is passed up and approved by the mayor, the departments are helpless, according to department heads.

Farewells, however, amounting to $1,400,000 annually, go on and are paid regardless of whether the sheet is adopted or held up.

"I have a force of men who are practically idle because I haven't got the money to buy material," said the head of one of the city's most important departments. "I need a lot of crushed stone. If I had the money now I could buy it for between 20 and 30 per cent less than usual, and could put all my men to work and get some results for the money I will eventually spend. While the finance committee sits at work on the sheet I am forced to put the men at work on jobs which should not be started until early in the summer."

Probably the department which will suffer most because of the tangled situation is the department of public works.

LIQUOR IS BARRED BY THE PARLIAMENT OF ICE-CLAD ICELAND

Copenhagen, Denmark, January 25.—(Via London).—The parliament of Iceland, thirty-four of whose forty members are elected by popular suffrage, has passed a law forbidding the sale of alcoholic liquors. All the remaining stock in the Danish dependency has been exported.

YOUNG ROCKEFELLER GUARDED BY SLEUTHS

While Telling of Labor Trouble in Colorado—Paid Ivy Lee $1,000 a Month.

New York, January 25.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., active head of the interests acquired or built up by his father, occupied the witness stand for five hours today at the commission on industrial relations inquiry into great philanthropic foundations and the cause of industrial unrest. He under the rigid cross-examination by Frank Walsh, chairman of the commission, as to the policies and action of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

Mr. Rockefeller freely admitted he had no knowledge concerning labor questions, but declared he was in favor of labor organizing "so long as it is to promote the well-being of the workers, and is not a matter of regard for the just interests of the employer and the public, leaving every worker free to associate himself with such groups or work independently, as he may choose."

"Father has invested $24,000,000 in the Colorado Fuel and Iron company," he testified. "The securities are now worth $10,000,000. The company has been much better off had he put his money in a savings bank."

The witness said that if information concerning alleged bad conditions in the mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company was furnished him he personally would do what he could to remedy them.

While Rockefeller testified more than a score of police and private detectives mingled in the great crowd in the room. A bodyguard of detectives escorted Rockefeller to and from the city hall during his examination. All persons while the hearing to the Rockefeller fortune was passing in and out.

$1,000 a Month for Ivy Lee. The witness said he and others realized the public was getting the facts concerning certain large corporations. The witness came to believe it was a mistake to maintain secrecy regarding corporations and determined to get facts before the public. He communicated last spring with Ivy Lee, who then was connected with the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Rockefeller said that in 1911, last $1,000,000, for his services John D. Rockefeller, Sr., paid Lee a salary of $1,000 a month. No wages were made against the Colorado Fuel and Iron company. For his services John D. Rockefeller, Sr., paid Lee a salary of $1,000 a month. No wages were made against the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

When Lee joined the Rockefeller staff he automatically became a member of certain boards, the witness continued. Lee became a director of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company. He had no connection with the Rockefeller foundation.

Rockefeller said he did not see the bulletins written by Lee before they were sent out. Neither did he know whether the public was prepared. He said he had observed a bulletin written by Lee in which it was said that only a few of the employees were dissatisfied with conditions.

Rockefeller said he had heard there was corruption in Colorado politics and that the Colorado Fuel and Iron company was supposed to have furnished money for the corruption, but he disclaimed knowledge of any such incident.

Corruption of Voters. "Would you vote to discharge an officer who furnished money to buy liquor and corrupt voters?" asked Mr. Walsh. "I would not look upon such a thing with favor," replied the witness.

After being questioned on the operation of stores in Colorado mining camps, Mr. Rockefeller said he did not know whether the Colorado Supply company had made a profit of 20 per cent upon its capitalization of $1,000,000. He was not aware, he said, that the Colorado Fuel and Iron company maintained saloons.

Monday morning it was somber and dark with thick clouds that foreboded rain or snow, yet failed to develop into anything but a drizzle, less than Sunday. Except for the threatening clouds, the day would have been just the sort of mild mid-winter day to enjoy.

What this morning will bring is purely a question of meteorological forecast and fate. If it either snows or rains, the weather man will be contented, as he has said it will do one or the other. If it is cold and fair, or warm and sunny—

"Well, it won't be the first time he has missed. You can always forgive the weather man."

January of this year has, perhaps, been the most unusual month in many years. Not that there has been a greater amount of rain, but that it has rained for longer periods this month than any previous January in the weather bureau's history. For an entire week there was no let-up in the rainfall, and once, for three days during the middle of the month, it looked as though the clouds had opened never to close until they had been exhausted.

Ten Fine Days. On the other hand, however, January, 1915, has possessed more pleasant days than any of its precedents. At the beginning of the new year there were at least ten days of pleasant weather that were punctured with the invigorating tonic of spring. The "sunny south" was to be taken literally during those days, and was truly in its glory.

The present cold siege is expected to endure for an indefinite number of days—perhaps all week. You may prepare for any sort of weather.

DAUGHTER OF GEN. LEE RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

Washington, January 25.—Miss Mary Custis Lee, daughter of General Robert E. Lee, was received today by President Wilson. Miss Lee said she had never shaken hands with a democratic president before. She was presented with a large bunch of flowers at the white house.

Atlanta Jew's-Harp Player To Show Fiddlers' Convention A Thing or Two in Harmony

Who will demonstrate musical value of Jew's-harp at Fiddlers' convention.

Comes now one Rex Sharpe, who deposes as follows, to wit: "That as a producer of dulcet strains from the Jew's-harp he is he of whom none other in the land is the peer."

Further, Mr. Sharpe has declared his intention of entering the Fiddlers' convention, which will be held at the Auditorium in Atlanta, February 2, 3, 4 and 5 under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and challenges all comers for the world's championship title upon the Jew's-harp.

Mr. Sharpe hails from the hills of old Tennessee and his bosom is stirred by the same innate musical feeling in playing the Jew's-harp that has made "Fiddlin' John Carson," who comes from the same blue hills, but just across the Georgia line, the idol of all followers of the fiddle.

This staunch advocate of the ancient and honorable Jew's-harp, which in time past has been considered worthy of producing the wherewithal to sooth the savage beast, now lives in Atlanta.

SNOW OR RAIN TODAY, PREDICTS FORECASTER

Von Herrmann Believes Atlanta Is Due for a Most Disagreeable Day.

If you care to read about the weather, then give your attention to the following: One of the things forecast Monday for today is snow. Mr. Von Herrmann, on the roof of the Empire building, says that it is as likely to snow as it is to rain, and that it will do one or the other. On account of the low temperature, he expects snow.

There was a furious blizzard anticipated Sunday, which went off schedule somewhere up around Nashville, Tenn., as it seemed to like the territory. It was predicted to sweep down upon Atlanta with much ferocity and to send the temperature down to a minimum of 10 degrees.

Instead, there was a bleak and dreary day of incessant rain that made the temperamental mood around the fire and growl at the vicissitudes of prohibition. Nightfall came and still no blizzard. Atlanta had expected it so keenly that when it failed to show up there was disappointment.

No Snow, No Rain. Monday morning it was somber and dark with thick clouds that foreboded rain or snow, yet failed to develop into anything but a drizzle, less than Sunday. Except for the threatening clouds, the day would have been just the sort of mild mid-winter day to enjoy.

At the conclusion of the evening Mr. Gilbreath was presented a handsomely engraved view of Chattanooga from Lookout mountain, suitably framed, by Judge Bancroft Murray, the toastmaster, on behalf of the Chattanooga Automobile club, as a souvenir. The dinner was the occasion of probably one of the most enthusiastic good roads gatherings held in the south.

Chattanoogaans and citizens of other towns along proposed routings of the highway repeatedly manifested their interest in the movement by their generous applause of the statements of the speakers that Chattanooga and the entire south had determined to do its part in building the connecting links of tourists of the north, east and west, visit the south in their automobiles in comfort.

Tribute to Clark Howell. The enthusiasm of the boosters reached the highest pitch following the interest manifested by the citizens of the Florida and Georgia towns which Mr. Gilbreath visited en route between Chattanooga and Miami. Mr. Gilbreath stated that the men who were planning the Florida and Georgia plans have already been set on foot for substantial bond issues for the Dixie highway. Splendid cooperation is being given the movement, he stated, by the press.

Mr. Gilbreath paid a glowing tribute to Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, for his assistance in stirring up the interest of people of his state in the highway.

PROHIBITION IS URGED BY ARKANSAS GOVERNOR

Little Rock, Ark., January 25.—Governor Hays today sent a message to the Arkansas legislature urging the enactment of a state-wide prohibition law. The senate several days ago indefinitely postponed consideration of a measure providing for the submission of the prohibition question to a vote of the people of the state.

BRINGS DAUGHTERS HERE FOR SAFETY

Surgeon Major in British Army Describes Slaughter of the Germans in Battle at Liege.

At the battles of Mons, Amiens, Liege, Verdun and Campaigne is the war record of Surgeon Major E. L. Cabendish Browne, of the general military hospital of the British army in France and Belgium, who arrived in Atlanta with his two daughters Sunday.

Major Browne has come to America to seek a safe asylum for his two daughters, and is carrying them to Texas, the home of his wife, who will sail from Rotterdam at her first opportunity. He is on a sixty-day army furlough and will return to France in February.

He was entertained at the University club last night and sat with a few friends, T. E. Pottinger, well-known business man, and Hughes Roberts, attorney, and others, telling thrilling incidents of the battles at which he was present.

Slaughter at Liege. "It was at the siege of Liege," he said, "that the greatest slaughter took place. Just prior to the fall of the forts 12,000 Germans had gained the trenches before the fort, which had been mined with dynamite by the Belgians. The pressing of an electric button inside the fort hurled 8,000 of the gallant German heads into eternity."

"It was at Mons, August 5, that the British forces were decimated by the 42-centimeters and the German snipers. But for a strategic move on the part of General French the Tommy Atkins would have been annihilated."

"I am an Irishman, and not an Englishman, and I want to give the Englishman his due credit at the battle of Mons. If Seumas McManus had been on that battlefield he would have related his statement that it has become world-famous that it was always the Irishman and the Scotchman who came back wounded and killed in the battles. Ninety per cent of the wounded and killed at this fight were Englishmen."

"There is one more point I want to be heard on," said Major Browne. "I wish to say that the Irish-Americans, the Scotch-Americans and the German-Americans ought to be at the battle of Mons. If Seumas McManus had been on that battlefield he would have related his statement that it has become world-famous that it was always the Irishman and the Scotchman who came back wounded and killed in the battles. Ninety per cent of the wounded and killed at this fight were Englishmen."

"Every foreigner who takes the oath of allegiance to America should drop the Irish, Scotch and German prefix to his nationality, and remain neutral."

GIRL SHOTS ALDERMAN AT COUNCIL ROOM DOOR

Deed of Young Woman Broke Up Deliberations of Chicago City Fathers.

Chicago, January 25.—The deliberations of the city council were interrupted tonight when Alderman Frank McDermott was shot down at the door of the council chamber in the city hall by a young woman who said her name was Miss Anne Zippman. The bullet entered McDermott's leg.

The policeman on duty in the chamber said Miss Zippman had been watching the alderman from the gallery during the council meeting. Her actions attracted McDermott's attention and he started to leave the chamber, but was intercepted by Miss Zippman, according to the policeman, and held a brief conversation with her that resulted in the shooting.

McDermott was taken to a hospital where it was said his wound was not serious. He is unmarried.

$18,000,000 INCREASE ASKED BY ENGINEERS

Chicago, January 25.—Eighteen million dollars would cover the normal cost to western railroads if they met demands of their engineers for increased wages, Warren S. Stone, appearing for the men, told the arbitration board here today.

Mr. Stone, assistant general manager of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad, had estimated the added cost at more than $40,000,000. Keefe's figures were based on payrolls for October, 1914, and showed, he said, just what the payroll would have been had the men's demands been in force.

Stone quoted reports showing this to have been the busiest month in several years.

MOVING FOR REPEAL OF COTTON ACREAGE ACT

Columbia, S. C., January 25.—The South Carolina house of representatives today voted 4 to 1 in favor of repealing the cotton acreage reduction act passed at the extraordinary session in October.

The advocates of repealing the measure declared that a large majority of the farmers wished this done. By a vote of 81 to 22 the house refused to strike out the enacting words of the repealing bill, and then sent it to third reading.

The cotton acreage reduction law which the house voted to repeal provides that no more than one-third of each farmer's lands actually under cultivation may be planted in cotton. It was passed at the extraordinary session of the legislature last October.

TRYING TO SAVE HUNGARY TEUTONIC ALLIES LAUNCH NEW ATTACK ON RUSSIANS

ALL WHEAT STOCKS SEIZED BY GERMANY

Step Necessary in Order to Safeguard the Bread Supply as People Have Not Economized.

Berlin, January 26.—(Via Amsterdam to London, 2:05 a. m.)—All stocks of wheat have been seized by the German government, according to the official statement, in order to safeguard the bread supply until the next harvest. This measure, it is said, was made necessary by the fact that the people have failed to economize.

The stocks will be distributed according to the population of the various communities.

MRS. HUGULEY HURT; DRAGGED BY CABLE ATTACHED TO AUTO

Mrs. E. E. Huguley, wife of E. E. Huguley, manager of the Huguley Oil company, sustained two sprained ankles and suffered a nervous collapse Monday afternoon when she was dragged for a considerable distance on Peachtree by a cable attached to a passing automobile. She was assisted by friends to her home, Sutherland Terrace, Kirkwood, where she is resting comfortably.

Mrs. Huguley had been to the Woman's club with Mrs. Thoinwell Jacobs and was about to board a home-bound car at Baker street, when the accident occurred. An automobile in charge of a chauffeur from the Belle Isle garage, which was drawing another car by a cable, passed as Mrs. Huguley stepped into the street. Failing to notice the cable she became entangled and was dragged by it, spectators say.

The first section of Peachtree, near Peachtree before the chauffeur was conscious of her predicament. Although suffering from sprained ankles and painful bruises, Mrs. Huguley insisted on going home. She was shortly afterwards she suffered a nervous collapse, from which she is reported to be slowly recovering.

MRS. SULLIVAN HERE FOR A SHORT VISIT; ON TOUR OF SOUTH

Mrs. Roger C. Sullivan, wife of the Illinois democratic leader, arrived in Atlanta last night from Chicago, and is the guest of the Georgian Terrace hotel. She is accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. R. N. Wolf, Mrs. William P. McEvoy and Mrs. T. F. Sullivan, and two grandchildren, who are the children of Mrs. Wolf and Mrs. McEvoy.

Mrs. Sullivan has come to Atlanta on a tour of the south. (This is the first section of Peachtree, near Peachtree before the chauffeur was conscious of her predicament.)

EX-FRIEND OF BRIDE SHOOT UP WEDDING AND KILLS TWO MEN

San Antonio, Texas, January 25.—Felipe and Manuel Martinez were killed and three other persons seriously wounded when a guest at a wedding ceremony in Eagle Pass, Texas, fired on the bridegroom, a brother of the men killed, Charles Calveras, a former friend of the bride, who is charged with the shooting, escaped by swimming to the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. The bridegroom was not hurt.

WILSON LIKELY TO VETO IMMIGRATION MEASURE

Washington, January 25.—President Wilson will probably sign now veto the immigration bill now before him, until Wednesday, when he will discuss it with Chairman Burnett, of the house immigration committee. Unless he acts one way, or the other, before midnight Thursday the bill will become a law automatically.

Representative Burnett favors the bill, and it is understood to believe that in case of veto the measure can be passed over the veto in both senate and house. It generally is believed the president will veto the bill because of the literacy test feature.

CAPT. DODGE AND CREW SAVED FROM THE SEA

New York, January 25.—The steamer El Valle, from Galveston, arrived today with Captain Dodge and nine members of the crew—rescued from the sea by the cutter Itasca, of Tampa, Fla., January 14, for Baltimore.

Captain Dodge said Saturday night the schooner was displaced in a hurricane about 80 miles north of Cape Hatteras. At 2 o'clock Sunday morning the men were clinging to the sides of the vessel. They remained there for eleven hours, until the El Valle rescued them.

ADULTERATED OATS SEIZED BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, January 25.—Seventy-five carloads of oats intended for export shipment have been seized by federal authorities on the ground that the grain was adulterated within the meaning of the food and drugs act. This action was announced today by the department of agriculture, with the warning that adulterations will not be tolerated.

Heavy Fighting in Progress Along the 300-Mile Front. Much of the Fighting at Close Quarters.

DEADLOCK IS UNBROKEN ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Fighting Continues Saragunary in Alsace Without Decision Being Reached. Situation in the Balkans Simmering, and It Is Believed That Rumania Will Soon Join the Allies.

London, January 25.—The eleventh hour stiffening of the Austrian front to check the Russian invasion of Hungary as the natural sequence of the occupation of Bukovina, seems for the present to be the event of chief military importance. The Russians recognize this and all recent dispatches from Petrograd have emphasized the Austro-German offensive in the south-eastern theater.

Austrian forces have struck at their opponents all along their 300-mile front. Heavy fighting is in progress, but so far as is known in Petrograd no important results have been achieved as yet.

The object of the attack apparently is to relieve Hungary from further danger of invasion by clearing the Russians from Galicia, Bukovina and northern Hungary. Vienna reports state that the Russians already have been checked in Bukovina.

Desperate fighting at close quarters is in progress in central Poland, where many men have died from cold. The most determined efforts of the opposing forces have not resulted in breaking the deadlock.

With great importance, perhaps, are the Russian movements near the East and West Prussian frontiers, of which the German statement today takes cognizance, although insisting that no advances into German territory are feared.

LITTLE CHANGE ON WEST FRONT.

In the western theater there has been a little change that the British newspapers print the official communication with scant comment, preferring to feature Sunday's naval action. The facts concerning this engagement are not given in detail and the admiralty up to tonight had added nothing to the original announcement.

With great importance, perhaps, are the Russian movements near the East and West Prussian frontiers, of which the German statement today takes cognizance, although insisting that no advances into German territory are feared.

ARMIES ACTIVE ON EAST FRONT.

Petrograd, January 25.—(Via London) There has been pronounced activity along the entire Austrian front of 300 miles during the last few days. This is regarded here as marking the initiation of the plans for an Austro-German offensive movement believed to have been adopted recently with the

HARRY THAW FIGHTING TO ESCAPE MATTEAWAN

His Attorneys Make Motion to Send Him to Bellevue Hospital.

New York, January 25.—A motion to have Harry K. Thaw sent to Bellevue hospital so it might be determined there whether he were sane, was made today by Thaw's attorneys at his arraignment in the supreme court here on a charge of conspiring with others in effecting his escape from the Matteawan asylum in August, 1913. Decision on the motion was reserved.

Thaw appeared in court accompanied by two prison wardens. During the discussing and arguing of the motions, his face occasionally would light up with a smile of recognition when at the press table, or among court attendants.

Mr. Stanchfield, one of Thaw's attorneys in announcing he did not expect to apply for bail, said it was his intention not to hamper the course of justice in any way.

Mr. Jerome's rejoinder was that there are but two ways in which Thaw may get out of Matteawan. One is for the superintendent of the institution to certify before a justice of the supreme court that Thaw is sane, and the second is by striking out a writ of habeas corpus.

The law of 1910 had no application in this case, he asserted. The attorney general's office considers this man legally insane and if proper place for him is Matteawan. I ask that he be returned there until he is brought to trial for conspiracy.

Morgan J. O'Brien, also of Thaw's counsel, said it was a serious matter to send Thaw back to Matteawan, when the mandate of the supreme court ordered him returned to the jurisdiction of New York state and if the trial is on trial, for conspiracy, to prove that he is sane, the lawyer said, "no judge would have the courage to send him back to the horrors of an asylum."

Blue Ribbon Dog Registered And Had Private Hotel Room

MISS NELLE FORBES, Pretty Atlanta girl, who owns Lady Bonnie. This collie has a private room at the Holland House in New York.

New York, January 25.—(Special.)—Lady Bonnie is a blue ribbon collie who is spending the winter at the Holland house with her pretty owner, Miss Nell Forbes, and Miss Forbes' mother, Mrs. W. T. Forbes, of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Forbes is a cousin of Colonel Henry Watterson, of Louisville, Ky. When Lady Bonnie first saw the Holland house and incidentally New York city she was very shy. But since she learned to know the employees of the Holland house she seems to be very happy. Lady Bonnie is duly registered at the hotel, where she has a tiny room to herself.

EMPLOYERS HAVE RIGHT TO BAR UNION MEMBERS

U. S. Supreme Court So Declares, and Annuls Kansas So-Called Coercion Law.

Washington, January 25.—The constitutional right of employers to require employees to renounce their union affiliations as a condition of employment was sustained today by the supreme court in a decision, far-reaching to organized labor, in which the Kansas so-called coercion statute was declared unconstitutional.

Associate Justice Day, joining a dissenting opinion with Justices Hughes and Holmes, declared he believed similar laws, in thirteen other states and in Porto Rico fell by the decision.

Under the Kansas statute it was unlawful for any individual or corporation to coerce or influence any person to enter into an agreement, not to join or remain a member of a labor organization as a condition of obtaining or continuing employment. The case today arose from the conviction of T. B. Coppage, a division superintendent of the Frisco railway system, for threatening A. R. Hedge, a switchman, with dismissal if he did not withdraw from the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Persons stopping at the Holland house have admired Lady Bonnie and they are especially interested when at 8:30 o'clock every morning Lady Bonnie reports to Quinn, the captain of the bell boys, and Thomas Henning, one of the porters. Soon afterward either Henning or Quinn take Lady Bonnie for a walk in Fifth avenue. Lady Bonnie simply hates muzzles and it is very hard to get her consent to wear one.

PROTEST BY GERMANY TO THE UNITED STATES

Alleged Neutrality Is Violated by Shipments of Hydro-Aeroplanes to the Allies.

Washington, January 25.—Germany protested to the state department today through her ambassador, Count Bernstorff, against shipments of American hydro-aeroplanes to the European belligerents on the ground that such aircraft are war vessels.

The substance of the opinion of the majority of the court was in this paragraph: "Just as labor organizations have the inherent and constitutional right to deny membership to any man who will not agree that during such membership he will not accept or retain employment in company with non-union men, and just as a union man has the constitutional right to decline proffered employment unless the employer will agree not to employ any non-union man, so the employer has the constitutional right to insist that the employee shall refrain from affiliation with the union during the term of employment."

Justice Pitney, in announcing the majority opinion, made it clear that he did not consider "actual coercion" to prohibit. He declared the decision not only was based on reason, but was supported by the decision of the court several years ago in the Adair case, in which a federal act prohibiting an interstate railroad from discharging an employee because he belonged to a labor union was held unconstitutional.

Justice Day and Hughes held that there was an element of coercion in the anti-union law, which distinguished the two cases, while Justice Holmes was in favor of overruling the Adair decision.

Advertisement for American & Ideal Radiators & Boilers. Text: "Sure heat—no speculation! People who would not for any hoped-for profit risk a dollar in grain or stock speculations, may blindly risk many dollars and health dangers by taking chances of pulling through another winter with inefficient, nearly-played-out heaters. The wise owners and tenants—many thousands annually—stop such speculations, with their entanglements of high fuel expense, low comfort and great health risks, by putting in AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS. IDEAL SMOKELESS Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are sure in their distribution of right volume of heat to all rooms, sure in their automatic heat-regulation, sure of a century or more of durability, sure in getting the utmost volume of heat out of every ounce of fuel, sure in cleanliness—bringing no ash-dust or coal-gases into the rooms—no rusting, blacking, taking down, lifting and storing at season's end. The cost of an IDEAL SMOKELESS Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators will annually average the lowest outlay. For instance: One of these outfits costing $200, and lasting 25 years, represents an investment of only $8 per year. As there is no reason why an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit will not last as long as the building—say 50 years—the investment would be only $4 per year. The saving of a few tons of coal per year, which these outfits easily effect, will pay a handsome yearly profit on this ideal heating investment. No one can therefore afford to continue the wastes, repair-bills, and nuisances of old-fashioned heating. Do not wait to build a new store, school, church, farm or city home, etc., but enjoy comfort and content in the present one. No tearing up partitions or floors, nor disturbing occupants or old heating equipment until ready to put fire in the IDEAL Boiler. Put in quickly by any dealer anywhere should your old heating devices collapse in zero spell. To get sure, simple, sanitary heating—no speculation—investigate today! Iron prices now rule the lowest of a decade, and at this season you get the services of the most skillful fitters. Call, phone or write for "Ideal Heating," free book; tells how to save heating dollars and the way to save buildings from engineers and ciccay! Puts you under no obligation to buy! Better act now. The fire in an IDEAL Boiler need not be kindled in an entire heating season. It is charged with coal easily lasts through the longest zero night. There can be no fuel waste."

MEETINGS

Sunday Night Club.
Mr. Wilford Waters, baritone, was the soloist at the meeting of the Sunday Night club at the Georgian Terrace, and the occasion was a bright and beautiful one.
Mr. Waters unites with an excellent voice and a thorough musician-ship a style which may be called operatic, although there is no lack of concert dignity in his work, and his songs were of most interesting variety from the Italian love song of belcanto smoothness to the rollicking manner of old English ditties.
An exquisite selection was Massenet's "Elegie," with violin obligato played by Mr. David Love.
The Terrace orchestra presented some interesting tunes, including com-

HOW TO HEAL SKIN-DISEASES

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles. At any reliable drugstore get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These will not cost a bit more than seventy-five cents. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected part thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Still More Atlanta Women On Opera Guarantee Fund

Miss Sallie Eugenia Brown, in becoming one of the guarantors to the grand opera fund, testifies to her faith in Atlanta becoming the recognized center of art in this section.
"For five years we have proven our appreciation and love of music in the highest sense," said Miss Brown. "I desire to see the Metropolitan opera as permanent an institution here each spring as French opera is in New Orleans. I have witnessed the opera in many parts of Europe, in New York a number of times, and I can endorse the statements of the many others who have had similar experiences, that nowhere is grand opera more brilliantly worked than in Atlanta. There is a certain atmosphere about it, a spirit and an inspiration that brings the artists, the orchestra and the audience together in that union of forces which we are told is necessary in the great operatic production."

Atlanta Woman's Club Works To Help Unemployed Women

The Atlanta Woman's club held a most interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, Mrs. W. C. Spiker presenting the program of entertainment. Under the caption "Amateurs" the club read an Indian love story, with interpretative music Mrs. Nellie Peters Black brought an inspiring message from the woman's side of the agricultural question in Athens last week. Reports were given for both men and women of several lines of active work pursued by the club. The feature of the business side of the meeting was furnished by Mrs. William Percy on the subject of the club's drive to Atlanta's unemployed women.
The Unemployed Women.
This committee, appointed at the request of the mayor, council and the chamber of commerce, include Mrs. Percy, Mrs. J. P. McGovern, Mrs. Charles Haden, Mrs. Frank Kelly. The committee, through Mrs. Percy, expressed its conviction that the municipal bureau for the unemployed is an urgent necessity, as follows:
"That it is the truest economy to the city to furnish workers with steady opportunity to earn a living rather than to dole out intermittent charity."
"That a municipal employment bureau would be the means of helping at once some few people obtain work, and would serve for all time as an immediate connection between employer and employee, or the jobless man and manless job."

"That it would be the initial step in shaping the labor market in Atlanta, which should be organized and directed by the bureau to improve labor conditions by legislation and administration."
Needs Immediate Attention.
"That Atlanta cannot afford to postpone indefinitely handling this problem which is so vast, and cannot be lightly undertaken. Twenty of the largest cities in the United States have already provided municipal employment bureaus. Mr. Straus, secretary of commerce and labor, states that the question of unemployment is one of the incidents of the great commercial developments of our age, and its remedy the great problem of our civilization."
"We had several joint meetings with the committee from the chamber of commerce, of which Mr. Cator Woodford is chairman, appointed to confer with your committee, and had a personal interview with the chairman of the finance committee of council, Mr. A. W. Faringer, to discuss the appropriate appropriation of a sufficient amount for the annual maintenance of the bureau on conditions not unlike that of women. The necessity of a separate department for women was stressed—to be handled by a woman's board."

BIG CIVIC PROJECTS WAIT FOR ACTION

condition of the sheet is the construction department. Work now in progress, and work which should have started the first of this year, await action by the general council and the mayor.
Conference Held Up.
Chief Nym Hurt is anxious to meet with a county committee to meet up a program of important street work for the year.
Last Saturday the county announced that it was ready to make up the program, but the sheet had not been turned in because the sheet had not been passed.
Last year the finance committee met with the mayor to get a sheet adopted, and it was not until March 2 that the sheet finally reached the mayor for signature.
Mayor Woodward says that the failure of council to pass the sheet on the 15th of last year, cost the city of dollars through enforced idleness of city employees.
Estimates by department heads show that the loss to the city this year will be greater for the reason that in addition to the lost motion picture and the women, the departments will lose money by paying a higher price for material in a few weeks' course.
According to information given out at the end of the finance committee's conference Monday morning, the sheet is now in the hands of the general council. Several members went into the conference determined that at least $17,000 would be cut from operating expenses of several departments.
They were in favor of making $4,000 or order to refund the $14,000 and appropriate $2,500 for force for the police department stables.
Eight Proposed Cuts.
Aldermen Armistead and McDonald together proposed cut. Other members said that they were opposed to changing the sheet, so the committee agreed to make a sheet in the shape as it was more than a week ago.
Fourteen members of council who voted for the $56,417 amendment are standing firm, according to their leader, Councilman Charles De Sauriol. He said that they are determined to stand firm until either Mayor Woodward or the finance committee gives the sheet to the council.
The finance committee must give in, then, to the demand for added improvements. These improvements, in order that they can be carried out, will force the finance committee to cut up the amount of anticipated revenues in the sheet $170,000, and even if the finance committee gave in, Mayor Woodward is certain to veto the sheet.
With six members of council opposed to the amended sheet and four members also opposed to the sheet with the mayor, it will be impossible to override a veto for the lack of a two-thirds majority.
Unless the finance committee make up a new sheet which will please every one, the mayor includes the prospect of work being resumed.
It is likely that some members of council who are dissatisfied with the lack of harmony over the sheet will attempt to throw the burden of making a sheet squarely on the shoulders of the general council when it meets next Monday.
If such a course is pursued it is said that it will not be the first time council has made a sheet of its own.

BRYAN TO GERMANY IN REGARD TO CONSULS

Washington, January 25.—Secretary Bryan tonight made public the text of Germany's note annulling the consular officers or certificates of authority of neutral consuls in Belgium and issued a paraphrase of the American government's reply.
The German note considers the exequaturs have "expired," but the American government takes the view that they merely have been "suspended."
The note also states that the German government has refused to meet the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium, and that the German government has refused to accept the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium.
The note did not give Germany's reasons for refusing to meet the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium, but it stated that the German government has refused to accept the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium.
The note also stated that the German government has refused to meet the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium, and that the German government has refused to accept the American government's demand that they avoid consular operations in Belgium.

CONVENTION PROPOSED FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

Topeka, Kan., January 25.—Arthur Capper, governor of Kansas, will call a convention of the governors of all the states and ten delegates from each state to meet in Topeka, Kan., to discuss a resolution presented to the legislature today by Senator Bailey. The resolution is a bill to establish a permanent peace conference in Europe. The resolution also urges congress to prohibit the furnishing of clothing, food, arms, ammunition, horses, mules and other war equipment to the warring countries.

SAYS NEW CREMATORY MUST FULFILL CONTRACT

Mayson Speaks for the City of Atlanta and Spence for Plaintiff.

In the hearing before Master Frank Callaway, Monday, for the purpose of ascertaining the facts in the suit of the New York Destructor company against the city of Atlanta, the introduction of evidence was commenced after Master Mayson, city attorney, had concluded the showing for the defense.
The Destructor company was under no obligation, he said, to continue burning garbage for Atlanta, and could be held to do so only if they saw fit for the answer of the city, filed months ago, stated that there was no intention to force them to do so merely for the city's convenience.
In reviewing the company's obligations and its alleged attempt to fulfill them, it was stated that no proposal for an official test had been made by the company that the city did not meet so far as lay in its power. The city's position is that the plant has not met contract requirements.
Attorney Mayson also added that the company would be called upon to show that the furnace at present in use was the same as described in the contract. "I don't know anything about furnaces generally, but the evidence shown that the furnace at present in use is the same as that contracted for, it will not be acceptable to the city. It will not avail the plaintiff to get to the court that the one they have installed is far superior to the one promised."
"We intend to show that the city has carried its attitude of aggravation even to the point of suing for damages," said Attorney G. C. Spence, in a short rebuttal. "It has been placing unnecessary expense on the Destructor company in its foolish, extravagant and unreasonable demand for the erection of iron doors, brass knobs and pinte valves, and the like, for the cost of a few thousand dollars, but it illustrates the persistent nagging that our citizens have been unnecessarily subjected to."

W. E. Dow, mechanical engineer for the Destructor company, stated on the stand that the Destructor company, competing firms had been opened, the general council hired Dr. Rudolph Herzig, an expert in boiler work, to advise the city in its selection of the successful bidder. Dr. Herzig stated that the Destructor company, although the figure for the initial cost was far above the nearest competitor. He stated that the figures of the company were reasonable, and that the city should be satisfied with the price of the Destructor company which they proposed to erect would prove satisfactory to the city. Dr. Herzig stated that the Destructor company in the employ of Atlanta, directing the lines of sewers.

FARRAR IN TITLE ROLE OF MADAME SANS-GENE

New York, January 25.—Madame Sans-Genie, a new opera by the Italian composer, Umberto Giordano, will be performed tonight at the Metropolitan opera house. The opera is a musical version of Victorien Sardou's play of the same name. The composer has treated the story with a score that musically fits the libretto.
Miss Geraldine Farrar has the soprano part, and the role of the laundress known as Madame Sans-Genie, who became the Duchess of Dairling. Miss Farrar's accompaniment is by Pasquale Amato sang the baritone role of Napoleon, while the Spanish bass, Andrea De Sauriol, sang the role of the Italian tenor, Giovanni Martinelli, had the role of Lefevre.
The opera was conducted by Arturo Toscanini.

HOW LONG!

The city finance sheet is still tied up and every department of the city's affairs is inextricably involved.

No department knows where it stands; the school system is hopelessly demoralized.

Of all times, this is one which should be marked by forward constructive work, to give employment to unemployed and at a time when material has probably struck rock bottom for years.

The city hall is a storm center of wrangling, discontent, lost motion, dissatisfaction, radiating to the smallest employee.

Is it any wonder? And is there any city of Atlanta's size in America that would stand for this outgrowth, money-wasting, time-killing administrative system?

The disgrace and penalty are nothing new. They are semi-annual spectacles, each January, each June!

And all because of a miserable messback, outgrown, destructive system of city administration which is paralyzing the city and punishing its people.

How long!

THE ENGLISH WAKE UP.

The best evidence that the British admiralty has learned its lesson of vigilance is found in the report of the running fight in the North sea, in which one German armored cruiser was sunk and two were damaged.

The Germans had tried again the trick of slipping away from their naval base and striking the English coast unawares. But the British patrolling squadron sighted and intercepted the raiders, with the results noted in the foregoing.

It is likely we will hear less in the future of the success of German forays on the British coast. As matters stand, and even with German success in destroying isolated English battleships, the English superiority on sea is undoubted.

Despite the fact that the British victory was won largely by sheer force of numbers and superior speed, the moral effect upon the British public is apt to be reassuring, and the corresponding effect upon the German public depressing.

UNIFORMITY FIRST.

The Constitution publishes today a communication from Edwin K. Ward, in which he analyzes the principle of the proposed longer school hours, but says that the city's first duty is to provide accommodations for the system as it stands.

And Mr. Ward is right! It is time and energy wasted to discuss the virtues of seven and a half hours' schooling for 26,000 children, when today the city cannot afford or seems to be unable to afford more than four hours' schooling for nearly 500 children.

As it now is, all but about 500 of the school children go to school at 8:30 in the morning and are dismissed at 2, with intervals for recess.

But the double sessions abomination prevails to the extent that in twenty classes approximately 500 children receive instruction for only four hours of the day.

One of the sessions of the class comes at 8 and stays until 12.

The other comes at 12 and remains at school until 4.

For the vast majority of children there are five and a half hours of education opportunity.

For these 500 there are only four hours. This is discrimination of the worst sort, practiced upon the schools, at a source where it will make its penalty felt in future years.

It is idle to talk about providing seven and a half hours' instruction for 26,000 children, when 500 cannot get even the standard five and a half hours, but must be content with four.

If one-tenth of the energy spent in "educating" the public to an unpopular method were spent in showing the finance committee and council the injustice they are doing these 500 children, something practical would be accomplished.

FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

The women of Atlanta have launched fewer nobler or more useful undertakings than the one that looks to the establishment of an institution for the treatment of the crippled children of the state.

There are hundreds of children in Georgia in need of surgical or medical attention and a vocational training whose parents are unable to supply either. It is to meet this need that the women of Atlanta are addressing their efforts, having hit upon the plan to sell pencils first in Atlanta and then throughout the state as a nucleus to the fund.

The movement does not rest purely upon a philanthropic basis. The pencils the women sell will be as good as any business buys in the course of routine and at the same prices. But the profit goes to a cause the worthiness of which is self-evident.

If it were just for the sake of helping these little cripples the movement deserves to and will succeed. But when it is considered that the ultimate effect will be to transform dependent children into producers, the matter is seen in an aspect still more practical.

A MANLY STATEMENT.

The answer of the administration to its critics in the matter of its negotiations with belligerents regarding alleged contraband, leaves to the impartial mind little to be desired.

The nation and the world are put on notice to the effect that all belligerents will be treated alike; that if England, on the surface, appears to have the preference it is because she has command of the sea, something for which this government is in no wise responsible.

Even with England our attitude has been firm, even stiff, as shown in the recent note, and now in the disclosure that we refused permission for munitions of war to be transported across Alaska.

The European war has, inevitably, stirred up a caldron of prejudices in this country. The administration and congress have constantly been embarrassed. When the gigantic stakes are considered in conjunction with the desperation of the players, the success with which we have thus far escaped entanglement is really wonderful.

THE UNIVERSAL STAKE.

In its praiseworthy campaign to retain in Georgia the estimated $150,000,000 sent outside the state for foodstuffs, the State Chamber of Commerce is laying emphasis on the necessity of co-operation as between merchant, banker and farmer. Officers of the chamber state they have had relatively little difficulty in inducing a large number of farmers to pledge a reduction of the cotton crop and substitute food crops, but complications arise when the farmer demands to know where he will find cash markets for his surplus products.

The trouble, as explained by Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, of Atlanta; Homer Summerour, of Milton county, and others, is that farmers have not been educated into packing their products in uniform style. No one has taught them this need, and the market naturally turns from packages of all sizes and descriptions to the standard western package. Another trouble is that no arrangements are made in the city for resacking, so that Georgia products, equal in quality, can compete with western products on an equal basis.

The Chamber of Commerce is finding a way out of this dilemma, first by inducing bankers and merchants to place food crops upon somewhat the same collateral basis that rules with cotton; second, by inducing town merchants to do their part in educating the farmers in proper packing; third, and perhaps most important, by pledging merchants to accept Georgia food products, all things being equal, when they are presented for sale.

The Chamber of Commerce is working for a universal stake, the stake of every man, woman and child in Georgia. It should have the encouragement of every banker and merchant in Georgia. It is, as much to their ultimate interest to keep money in this state as it is to the interest of the farmer, and especially in the present year, when our agricultural system is undergoing a thorough readjustment. If merchants and bankers throughout Georgia will correspond with the Chamber of Commerce they will receive explicit instructions as to the manner in which they can help work out a problem in which they are themselves so intimately interested.

There is evidence of as great willingness to lynch a war censor as there used to be to lay a baseball umpire on the repair shelf.

This Father Says System Must Be Standardized Before Frills Are Added

Editor Constitution: Miss Dooley's article in your Friday's issue was well written and deserves notice by nightier pens than mine. On the question of long school hours for our children, the fathers should speak out, as well as on all questions pertaining to their future welfare and usefulness as citizens.

No doubt there are a number of fathers, as well as mothers, who will gladly back up Major Gunn in carrying out his very sensible and up-to-date plan. I am, however, only one of those who, in the near future, our school accommodations would be adequate to care for the children in their immediate neighborhoods. As I see it, the present lack of these facilities is the only reason why the plan will not be immediately installed. Major Gunn is wide awake, practical and conscientious and, unfortunately, for parents and scholars, just a little ahead of his time, but he distinctly states that he expects to improve conditions before taking positive steps to bring about the change.

Let the school districts be arranged so as to save the children double long walks to and from lunch, as would now be necessary, and see to it all clamor for the proposed new system.

In a nutshell, the present plan means—school in the schoolhouse for five hours, or from 8:30 to 2 o'clock less one-half hour for recess, with experienced and competent teachers only hearing lessons and school at home for at least two hours more (either in the afternoon when the child is deprived of its necessary outdoor recreation, or in the evening when the child is tired, the mind inactive and the eyes must be taxed with meager lights) with the average inexperienced parent trying to teach new methods never heard of in our day—result, a majority of children not taught at all, during the present session, and that in school or the quiet of the evening hour disturbed, the parents' patience exhausted, and the child retires late, discouraged and unprepared, or, under the proposed new plan, one session and that in the schoolhouse for six hours from 8:30 to 4 o'clock, less one and a half hours for recess—just one hour longer and the child prepares its lessons in the schoolroom under the supervision and instruction of experienced teachers, recites under the same conditions and is dismissed after a session of only one hour longer with no thought of lessons to get for tomorrow, care-free and really at liberty for pleasure and recreation, so far as lessons is concerned. I believe the present system means two or three hours more in the school or under a harder strain and less results.

I say, go ahead, Major Gunn; a little ahead of your time, but the sooner the better for the child and mother considered. I believe you are right in your contention that you would rather prepare her scholar than have it done by a novice, especially when only at the sacrifice of one additional hour each day.

I agree with Mrs. Manson Wilson, that the mother should devote more of her time with the child, direct its afternoon sports, etc., and to this end she needs all the time the child can spare at home to use her ingenuity in setting good habits, instilling principles and undertake to teach lessons when better results may be obtained under the guidance of experienced and competent teachers, who are paid for the task.

A Small Cotton Crop This Year Seems Certain

Editor Constitution: Do you know, or can you find out, the number of mules and horses that have been sold by dealers in Atlanta to Georgia farmers this season—say since the first of last October? We know the United States is in one section of the state, which is quite unusual. On the other hand, a large number of mules and horses have been sold by our farmers to agents of European governments, and these animals have been sent away. I understand that the same thing has been done all over the south.

Customarily, our farmers go to Atlanta at this time of year and purchase mules in large numbers, and send them home for farm work. So far, not one has been bought this year in this section. This important fact should not be overlooked in considering the cotton situation. The scarcity of horsepower on the farms of the south this year is going to have tremendous effect in reducing the production of cotton.

The scarcity of horse-power will do two things: First, it will force an acreage reduction. The farmers can not possibly produce the same amount of cotton with the present evident insufficiency of horse-power. Much that is planted will be planted on ground poorly prepared, which will result in a poor yield.

Second, it will do well, requires rapid and thorough cultivation. With a scarcity of horse-power proper cultivation cannot be given the crop. With land improperly prepared before planting, and poorly cultivated, it does not require any great amount of wisdom to predict the result.

Besides this, the farmers are determined upon reducing their fertilizer bills. This year it has taken fully half the crop, in some instances, and more than half of it in other instances, to get the fertilizer used. These facts, together with the increased acreage given to grain, is sure to result in a small cotton crop this year.

Washington, on the 23d instant, published the following statement in connection with cotton states last fall on nearly 20 million more acres than the previous fall. The increase in wheat acreage is almost as great. The increase in acreage sown to fall wheat and oats in the cotton states amounts to 3,700,000 acres, or over 10 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton last year.

Another fact should not be lost sight of: There is a general bad feeling on the part of farmers toward cotton. They are "out" of the cotton business, and have been for some time. At present the "cotton child" is in bad repute. He is to be chastised and neglected for a season, and the other children given better attention. With this feeling, the farmers will naturally give more attention to corn, hay, truck and other crops than formerly. This will be done at the expense of cotton.

Those who have not yet sold their cotton would do well to consider these things before disposing of it at present prices.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By DREW MASON.

HOME MADE. Why send afar, to Cork or Rome, for Sunday hats or bales of hay? Let's buy the goods we need, and show we're patriots, that way! The giant vessels sail the deep, and bring us, doddads made abroad; we buy such traps, and fail to keep our money on our native sod. Those ships take back our hard-earned cash, to pay the freight for Europe's King of Clay. We bought succotash, and stuff we grow at home; by jings, My wife's new lid was made in France, and 'tis a phony thing, indeed; the broadcloth in my Sunday pants was manufactured in Sweden. The sauce the grocer sent today was brought from Lunnon in a crate; it costs like blitzen—I must pay the duty added to the freight. We sing our patriotic songs, and boost the flag, and seldom cease; but when we want gorgonzola or gongs, we ship 'em from southern Greece. And, as I write, a hundred bankers glare curleques across the foam; oh, profit by these remarks, and learn to buy your junk at home!

The Holland Letter

Max May gained public recognition as perhaps the first, certainly one of the first three, authorities in the United States upon the theory and the practical handling of foreign exchange by an acknowledgment of that position which was made by Channing Rudd, who is associated with the great international banking house of Brown Bros. Such acknowledgment comes appropriately from one associated with that house since it was Alexander Brown, the founder of the house, who first instituted foreign exchange operations upon a large scale (between the United States and England. Mr. Brown, more than a hundred years ago, was an importer of linens at Baltimore, from which port was sent much of the tobacco exported from the United States in his day. The payment of balances was at that time an exceedingly inconvenient process, lacking the characteristics of real economy. Merchants frequently wheeled the Mexican dollar, which was the standard, in wheelbarrows to banks or to ships. Mr. Brown perceived that by establishing sufficient credits at Liverpool and London he would be able to facilitate this trade intercourse through the medium of foreign exchange.

From that beginning have grown the colossal international transactions represented by bills of exchange which have for years characterized the commercial relations between the United States and other nations. In the past few years, the small part of this exchange has passed under the eye of and been handled by Max May, who is vice president of the Guarantee Trust institution, one of the largest of its kind in the world. Two years ago, it was authentically reported that Mr. May passed in one year upon foreign exchange which went through his institution which aggregated considerably over $2,000,000,000. There was reasonably good demonstration that very much (the greater part of the exchange which represented our exports of cotton passed directly or indirectly through this institution upon the advice and action of Mr. May.

Science of Foreign Exchange. The science of foreign exchange, which from one point of view is also an art, is the most difficult to understand of all the departments of modern finance. None but a highly qualified expert has such understanding. There must be profound knowledge of finance, of the world's markets, of credit, of the world's crops and the movement, external and internal, of commerce, and there must often be quick use of the ocean cable.

In the banking world, not only of New York but of the United States, Mr. May had gained enviable reputation before public acknowledgment of his leadership to the department of foreign exchange was made by Mr. Rudd. His counsel was frequently sought by Mr. May in one form or another in the Balkans had greatly disturbed European finance, causing enormous hoardings of money and compelling Germany to turn to the United States for financial relief. The relief which was obtained, the United States sending to Germany in one form or another credits or money which at the time were reported to aggregate over $100,000,000. These transactions were, of course, confidential, but of almost all of them Mr. May had good knowledge, and many of them reflected his counsel.

In the days of chaos which began with the opening of the European war early in August and continued until mid-October, Mr. May was one of the financial leaders of the United States who were earnestly sought. He confessed himself at the time unable to give any advice for absolutely new conditions involving deadlock in trade and an embargo upon financial transactions which had been created. Nevertheless, at that time Mr. May, in an informal and half confidential conversation, intimated that one of the effects of the war might be the shifting to New York from London of the money center of the world.

His prediction—far as that time goes—was based on a conjecture—upon it was hardly more than a conjecture—upon his profound knowledge of the resources of the United States, both developed and undeveloped, and the almost infinite variety of the commodities which it produced. The United States, however, as well as any man in the American manufacturing industry since the year 1900 had been. He could quote almost to the last dollar the amount of exchange issued which represented the sale of American commodities to other nations. He was confident that the modern machinery which represents the operations of finance would be sufficient to bring order out of chaos and the power and reach its maximum in the hands of the man who was the inevitable demand from Great Britain and the Far East for American commodities began to be felt.

No Longer Conjecture. What was said by Mr. May conjecturally late in August he now feels justified in stating as a fact. He has seen the money joined those who are persuaded that New York is speedily to supplant London as the money center of the world. He discovers in the small—relatively speaking—financing transactions which the United States has recently undertaken on the account of other nations one of the indications that the movement of the money center from London to New York is already under way.

Mr. May is in cordial agreement with George D. Roberts, director of the mint, in believing that if it were not established a world-reaching system of dollar exchange—that is to say, exchange expressed in terms of dollars and not in terms of pounds sterling—then it is inevitable that the money center of the world shift to New York. There is something more than sentimental pride behind a statement of this kind. For the instant that dollar exchange supplants pound sterling exchange there will flow from our country vast amounts of money from other countries into the United States, to be utilized as London has heretofore utilized the enormous funds which have come to that market by reason of the fact that exchange was drawn upon London and represented in the terms of pounds sterling.

There are other advantages. Some of the nations which in the past have been accustomed to maintain great credits or balances in London are likely to turn to the United States. That is the significance which is to be found in the recent transfer of gold from China to the United States. Mr. May himself has spoken of this as only a special transaction, but he meant to be understood by that statement that it did not reflect ordinary trade relations between China and the United States. But there is another meaning in the word "special" as applied to this shipment of gold from China. It is special in the sense that German merchants in China have now begun to utilize New York instead of London as a market to draw against this gold their bills will probably be expressed in terms of dollars.

Furthermore, it is inevitable that there be almost inconceivably great exports from the United States to Great Britain and the continent of Europe and other parts of the world when war ends and Germany begins to build up, that nation will call for a very great amount of American commodities and the United States will be in a position to prefer American commodities, other things being equal, to those manufactured in England.

It is of extraordinary importance that Mr. May, pre-eminent as an expert of foreign exchange, should have this money center shifted to New York. It is speedily to become the financial center of the world.

Georgia Chamber Will Co-operate on Mebane's Fancy Cattle Sale Plan

Editor Constitution: Permit us to say that we would be glad to co-operate in the proposed exhibit of live stock in Atlanta, as outlined in Mr. Frank Mebane's letter to Captain J. W. English.

Our chamber has been working most zealously since its organization to develop the cattle industry in Georgia. It is a low estimate to state that there are more than 5,000,000 acres of forest and other comparatively idle lands in Georgia, suitable for grazing, that when supplemented by forage crops at a comparatively small cost, would fatten a million cattle. In the item of soil fertility, the experts estimate that the annual value of the animals at from $15 to $25 each. With a total of a million cattle added to the Georgia supply, it is fair to estimate the sales for beef purposes yearly would be above $8,000,000 a year. In making figures on these matters we rely upon the best source of information available.

Owing to the milder climate and the two-crops-a-year forage in Georgia, we are advised by those who know the cattle-growing industry that an animal in Georgia is carried to maturity at only about two-thirds the cost of the same animal in the northwest. In the comparative expenditure of toll between growing cattle and cotton, the odds are enormously in favor of the former.

We hope you will continue to urge the cattle exhibit proposed by Mr. Mebane. We will ask other cities in Georgia to co-operate and carry the exhibit in whole or in part over the larger towns of Georgia, and thus bring it as close as possible to all the farmers of the state.

C. J. HADEN, President Georgia Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta, Ga., January 25, 1915.

HOTEL SHEETS.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slivaz."

A hotel sheet is a gossamer delicacy used to help produce a love of home among traveling men.

Each hotel bed is equipped with two sheets. At the beginning of the night one of these is beneath the guest and one above him. Four minutes later the sheets have met in the middle of the bed and have leaped upon their victim with a fierce cry. By morning one of them is wrapped about his legs, a very famous marble carving found in Greece explodes this rumor. It shows Laocoon in the grasp of two carnivorous and predatory hotel sheets which have coiled about him in an obscure little hostelry and are strangling him in spite of his struggles.

The hotel sheet is thin and emaciated when first bought, but for all this it is the most active member of the cotton goods tribe. A 16-year-old hotel sheet can travel the length of a hotel bed in ten seconds and has a record of about 300 miles a year. A man half an hour to corner it and drive it back to its lair!

After the hotel sheet is put to work it gets constantly thinner and more diaphanous. But this does not alter the hotel keeper's fond superstition that one sheet and a cotton blanket are enough to keep a guest warm and comfortable in a room heated from a radiator in the end of the hall outside.

Those travelers who have spent many years on the road fighting with the sheet and ungovernable hotel sheet and have unwound it from their necks in two score states and Canada speak bitterly of it and stab it in a vital spot with their toes whenever possible. About the only comfort the sheet-trodden traveling man gets in some sections is to kick a hole through a prehistoric hotel sheet, get himself tangled up in it like a horse in an exploded harness and then fight his way out in the morning, leaving a mangled ruin for the proprietor to enter.

Some states have laws requiring hotel sheets to be 9 feet in length. This, however, only increases the danger. A 9-foot sheet can strangle twice as fast as a 6-foot sheet. What is the use of the law? It is a honor for the honorable pensioning of all hotel sheets through which fine print can be read.

Heffin's Harmful Mouth.

(From The Augusta Chronicle.)

The harm that a man can do with his mouth was never better illustrated than in the flamboyant announcement, made in the Associated Press Washington dispatch yesterday, that "Representative Heffin, of Alabama, told the house today that he expected to see the price of cotton 'go up to around 30 cents in the winter of 1915.'"

Of course, cotton isn't going to sell at any such price next winter—if for many years to come—and any man who is supposed to have sense enough to hold down a seat in congress ought to know it. But, just the same, a lot of farmers may be taken in by this sort of wild talk—and that is how the farm is done.

If there are not enough level-headed and plain-speaking people in the country to head off this sort of loose-talk, it is calculated to do a lot of harm.

First, in persuading many farmers to continue to hold their cotton until they can't sell it for as much as it is now bringing on the market; or, at best, until the carrying charges and depreciation in quality more than offset any rise in price; and

Second, in inducing many farmers to increase—instead of decreasing, as they should—their acreage, in the hope of getting 30 cents for their cotton next winter.

It is easy enough for a congressman to sit up next winter, but if you want to make him sing low, just offer him a few hundred bales at that price—or much less—for delivery next winter.

This is the common-sense and the plain, unvarnished truth of the cotton situation; but we will know that Mr. Heffin's line of talk is certain to prove more "popular" with the farmers than the plain facts. We have the satisfaction of knowing, however, that our remarks will prove less harmful to the farmers than Mr. Heffin's; that is, if very many of them take him seriously.

Shrinking From Charity.

(From The Chicago News.)

Miss Lena Sutherland, a resident of Chicago, being in a destitute condition, permitted her feet to freeze rather than permit to charity.

Now she will be a cripple for life. The world says, "How foolish!" and common sense says, "How useless!" Still, quite true though the woman's delicacy undoubtedly was, there is in it something fine and noble, something reminiscent of an older day when men and women died without thought of appealing to crowd-pity or crowd-helpfulness.

State and private charity can set itself no better task than that of seeking out and securing the Lena Sutherlands, of whom there are a larger number than the public suspects. They are worth saving.

300 SINGERS ALREADY PRACTICING FOR REVIVAL

First Choir Rehearsal Will Be Held Next Sunday—Many More Singers Wanted.

Following a meeting in the Young Men's Christian association on Monday of the committee named to select the big choir for the Chapman-Alexander evangelistic campaign that will begin in Atlanta February 14, it was announced by J. R. Ingman, choir organizer, that there had already been obtained approximately 200 singers and that before the end of this week this total will probably be increased by several hundred more.

It was arranged to have the first choir rehearsal on Sunday next, possibly at the Baptist Tabernacle. By that time the committee will have apportioned the number of alto's and soprano's and tenors and basses so that everything will be in readiness for the formal demonstration. It is planned to have approximately 1,000 voices in the big choir. These voices are being selected with a great deal of care and only those singers who show ability in choir renditions are being enrolled.

The canvassing committee, headed by M. A. Hale, will meet on Tuesday to outline final plans for the big religious census that will be made on the afternoon of February 6. It is planned to visit the homes in Atlanta and to obtain within two hours, the names, ages and religious affiliations of every member of every family in Atlanta. Additional volunteers are needed for this work and those willing to help are asked to get in touch with Mr. Hale at campaign headquarters, 529 Grant building.

THREE ALLEGED TIGERS ARE GIVEN HEAVY FINES

Recorder George E. Johnson tried the "blind tiger" tail Monday, when he fined three defendants $50.75 each on the charge of keeping whisky on hand for the purpose of sale.

W. H. Jones, of 376 Edgewood avenue, drew the first fine of $50 and was arrested late Saturday night while carrying two cases of whisky to his home in a buggy.

His wife, Corine, who live at 56 Fort street, were the others who drew heavy fines. In a police raid on their home Sunday night seventeen quart bottles were found in the attic and two large 44-caliber revolvers in the kitchen. The weapons were ordered returned.

PROF. HAYS TO DISCUSS SMOKELESS COMBUSTION

Professor Joseph W. Hays will deliver a lecture on "Smokeless and Economical Combustion" this evening in the assembly room of the Candler building. Professor Hays is a recognized authority on the subject of smokeless combustion in industrial plants in Atlanta, this lecture, which is free, will undoubtedly prove of great interest to manufacturers, as well as engineers, in obtaining better economy in the boiler rooms.

GRICE INTERPRETS SECTION OF CODE

Attorney General Warren Grice has handed down a decision interpreting the section of the code bearing upon the question of filing the unexpired terms of county surveys to mean that in a case where a surveyor is elected and does not qualify, the ordinary shall appoint a new surveyor.

The question arises at present in Screven, Cherokee and Jeff Davis counties.

SLAYER OF HINMAN SEEKING NEW TRIAL

Columbia, S. C., January 25.—After hearing arguments on the motion for a new trial for George B. Perkins, of Boston, convicted of manslaughter for killing F. W. R. Hinman, of Jacksonville, Judge H. A. M. Smith, of the United States district court, tonight announced that he would deny the motion tomorrow. Perkins was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to three years. Should Judge Smith refuse to grant the new trial the defense will appeal to the circuit court of appeals. Meantime no steps to secure Perkins' release on bail have been taken.

TRIAL OF DETECTIVES AGAIN POSTPONED

Again the trials of Dan S. Lehon and C. J. Hadden in connection with the notorious Burns investigation of the Frank case, were postponed Monday until this morning at 9 o'clock. This is the fourth time the cases have been delayed.

They were postponed Monday at the request of Solicitor Dorsey.

SUIT CO. IS BANKRUPT, SAY SUING CREDITORS

The Southern Suit and Skirt company, of 45 Whitehall, was declared bankrupt in a petition filed Monday in the United States district court. The petition, which was signed by New York, have filed records of unsecured claims amounting to several hundreds of dollars. The hearing before Judge W. T. Newman is scheduled for February 5.

Diamonds Sold On Liberal Terms

All of our Diamonds are marked in plain figures at their lowest cash price. Prices are never cut.

As a rule, you cannot find out from dealers what goods are worth for cash, if they have any idea that you expect to pay for them a little at a time.

Every intelligent business man knows that it isn't practicing to sell goods on long time as cheaply as they can be sold for cash.

We sell Diamonds for one-fifth cash. After deducting the cash payment we charge 6 per cent simple interest on the deferred balance. These payments may be divided into ten equal monthly payments.

Net prices and full particulars are given in our Diamond booklet, and 160-page catalogue. Write or call for a copy of each.

Dr. Soule to Show Value Of Diversified Farming

The executive committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the instance of President Mel R. Wilkinson for the purpose of planning for a meeting of the entire membership within the next ten days. Mayor Woodward, the general council and the county commissioners will be the guests at the membership meeting to listen to a speech by Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Dr. Soule will bring with him some very remarkable moving pictures taken in various portions of the state and showing work on Georgia farms. These include scenes on the demonstration farms and attractive pictures of poultry, live stock and blooded animals. Dr. Soule's speech will be the beginning of a campaign of education, which is expected to put the farmers of the state on the high road to prosperity through diversified crop-raising and animal husbandry.

Dr. Soule will also discuss the relationship of the Southeastern fair in connection with this state-wide movement. He has ideas on the subject which will be invaluable to those interested in this important project.

During his visit here Dr. Soule will go over the fair grounds with a special committee, examining the topography for the purpose of selecting the advantage points for the location of the fair buildings. Charles E. Kaufman, of the department of public works, will be asked to be present.

Cotton Felt Mattress Exhibit Shown in Whitehall Window

A display that is unique and attractive as well as educational may be seen on the first floor of the furniture department of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBois company, on Whitehall street. It presents the high-grade cotton felt mattress in a way that shows how well it is made in Atlanta and of what most excellent quality of goods it is composed.

Upon brass and bronze beds the mattresses are exhibited in such a way that the cotton felt before it goes into the cover, the mattress when nearly completed, and when it is ready to give comfort and refreshing sleep to the sleeper.

The railings and columns around the beds are draped and trimmed with cotton, clean and white, and with many colored flowers.

The display is educational because it presents an Atlanta-made article manufactured with good Georgia cotton that cannot be exceeded by any cotton-felt mattress, no matter where manufactured.

In the show window of the furniture department there is also on exhibit the cotton felt after it has been prepared for the mattress.

Altogether, the display is one of the most remarkable ever made in the city. It is fine enough and instructive enough to have a place in any exposition in the country.

A very pleasing feature in connection with the exhibit is that some very attractive sale figures are connected with it.

NEW YORK SLEUTH GETS THIRTY DAYS IN CITY STOCKADE

Bill Logan, alias J. W. Brown, reporting to be a New York detective, was arraigned before Recorder George E. Johnson Monday afternoon on the charge of impersonating an Atlanta detective, and under this guise investigating the evidence in the hands of city detectives against Mrs. Annie Stoe, whose trial on the charge of running a bord house at 193 Spring street is now pending in superior court.

Logan recently came to Atlanta from Birmingham, Ala. he told the recorder, and was employed by T. B. Norwood to look into the evidence against Mrs. Stoe.

Detective Bass Kesser arrested him when he is alleged to have visited the home of Ethel Pylant, 871 Marietta street, the 16-year-old girl witness on whose testimony the indictment against Johnson recently bound over Mrs. Stoe under a $1,000 bond.

Recorder Johnson sentenced him to thirty days in the city stockade, or the alternative of paying a $25 fine.

SUNDAY IS ANXIOUS TO VISIT ATLANTA TO HOLD REVIVAL

Billy Sunday says he is coming to Atlanta as soon as possible. He expresses a special desire to do so in a letter recently received by an evangelistic committee composed of the different churches of the city appointed to get big evangelists to come to Atlanta.

Sunday, however, is not coming to Atlanta until he can come "foot-loose," according to Charles Burs, president of the Atlanta Gideons. By this he means that Sunday will not come obligated to any denomination or body of people.

It is, therefore, possible that when Sunday comes to Atlanta he will come suddenly and with few arrangements with any denominations. But he emphatically declares that he has always wanted to come to Atlanta, and that he intends to do so as soon as possible.

MISS BROWN TO ADDRESS ATLANTA GRADED UNION

The Atlanta Graded union will hold its regular meeting this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Philathea hall of the Wesley Memorial church. The feature of the meeting will be an address by Miss Brown on "How We Got Our Bible." Miss Brown is well known through her work with the Teachers' training class in the Second Baptist church, and is excellently equipped to handle this subject. Preceding the talk of Miss Brown, the usual department conferences will be held.

COLLEGIATE WORK IN SUMMER SCHOOL OF UNIVERSITY

Athens, Ga., January 25.—(Special.)—A department of college work in the summer school of the university will be asked to be authorized by the trustees of the institution, following action by the faculty tonight. The matter of recommending a summer session of the university proper will not be made. The collegiate department in the summer school will be under the supervision of the chancellor, summer school president Franklin college, and president State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. Credits will be given for work in the proposed department toward a degree in regular college courses.

Already there is a provision for those looking to masters' degrees for those who have finished approved college courses and take three consecutive summers' work in the summer school.

MRS. GOODWIN DIES AT BALTIMORE HOME

The news was received by relatives in Atlanta Monday of the death Sunday night of Mrs. John B. Goodwin at Baltimore. Mrs. Goodwin was the wife of John B. Goodwin, former mayor of Atlanta, now secretary to the grand sovereign lodge of Odd Fellows.

Since Mr. Goodwin's election several years ago to his high office, his family have resided in Baltimore.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Goodwin was Miss Emma McAfee of Atlanta, and had a number of relatives and many friends in this city. Surviving her are her husband, two sons, William McAfee Goodwin and John B. Goodwin, Jr., and one grandson. She was a cousin of Mrs. W. A. Maddox.

Funeral services will take place in Baltimore today.

$100 REWARD OFFERED FOR THOMPSON'S SLAYER

The governor has offered a reward for the arrest of Dewey Henderson, charged with slaying Homer Thompson at Whitehall Mills, on the Chatahochee river, November 17 last. There had been a slight quarrel, when, it is alleged, Henderson drew a knife and inflicted a wound that caused the death of Thompson two days later.

Henderson escaped. He was indicted, and is now wanted by the sheriff of Fulton county. He is described as being about 16 years of age, slight of build and weighing about 100 pounds. His hair is light, his eyes blue and his complexion fair.

BAPTISTS MAKE PLANS FOR BIG MEN'S MEETING

At a meeting of the Baptist Ministers' association yesterday morning at the First Baptist church, the coming Baptist men's meeting at Atlanta on February 23, 24 and 25 was discussed. Plans were outlined for the entertainment of visitors and the necessary committees were appointed. It was stated that the meeting will be one of the largest of the kind ever held in the south, and much business will be transacted of special interest to the Baptist and other Christian churches of the south, and of the great work they were doing for the cause of Christianity and for the social uplift of the state and nation.

FLAMES DESTROY OAKHURST HOME

The residence of T. M. Overby, 50 East Lake drive, Decatur, Ga., was burned Monday at 5 o'clock and its contents a total loss. The house was partly covered by insurance.

The fire is supposed to have originated from an oil stove in the back of the house. This is the first fire to occur in what was formerly Oakhurst since its incorporation into Decatur.

MEETING WILL PLAN SYSTEM IN CHARITY

Distinguished Ministers and Educators Will Gather in Atlanta Today.

The world is beginning to realize the truth of the saying "The poor you have with you always," and is beginning to handle the situation on a scientific, organized and business-like basis.

To this end a distinguished body of men will gather in Atlanta this morning for a three-day session at the Piedmont hotel. They style themselves the committee on systematic beneficence, and state that they are here for business and that they hope to work out a propaganda and general plan of procedure in the science of handling the needy and destitute of this country that will work the desired wonders for the present stringent condition.

The conference will be made up mostly of prominent ministers of the confederacy. The delegation is made up of Secretary Robert E. Vincent, president of the American Theological summary, Austin, Texas; Professor A. E. Spencer, Clinton, S. C.; Dr. J. M. Clarke, Shawnee, Okla.; Dr. A. J. Alexander, Lexington, Ky.; Dr. J. I. Vance, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. A. L. Phillips, Richmond, Va.; Rev. J. L. North, Elmwood, Ark.; Rev. Egbert W. Smith, Nashville, Tenn.; S. D. Weakley, Birmingham, Ala.; L. Ross Lynn, Jacksonville, Fla.; Oscar Newton, Jackson, Miss.; J. A. Lyon, New Orleans, La.; T. A. Brand, Wilmington, N. C.; D. K. Wallhall, Wainnesboro, Va.; Ernest Thomson, Charleston, W. JOHN TERRELL IN RACE FOR FIRE CHIEF'S JOB

Captain John Terrell, of fire company No. 11 has announced for chief of the fire department to succeed Chief W. B. Cummings, whose term expires next July. When an election will be held by the general council.

Captain Terrell has been an active member of the fire department for twenty-four years. He was captain of company No. 6 for fourteen years, and a number of other companies of the fire department. He is only 45 years of age, still in the vigor and strength of youth, and has been a citizen of Atlanta for the past twenty-five years.

He says that he believes his chances of election are good as he has many friends working in his behalf and a number of council members have promised him their support.

The only other announced candidates for chief of the fire department are Chief Cummings, the present incumbent, and Captain W. E. Coffey, of company No. 4.

ATLANTA CONTRACTOR LANDS FLORIDA JOB

News reached Atlanta Monday that R. M. Hudson, the local contractor, has been awarded a contract for construction of water mains, sewers and paving in Manatee, Fla. The contract aggregates $210,000.

It was also learned that Mr. Hudson has purchased a number of bonds of that city.

COUNTY WILLING TO AID DEVELOP MADDOX PARK

If City Gives $1,500, Fulton Convicts Will Do $10,000 Worth of Work.

The county will be in a position to do about $10,000 worth of work this year if the city will immediately make available about $1,500 for Maddox park improvement, is the assurance County Commissioner Oscar Mills has given to General Manager Cochran, of the park department.

Maddox park is located in the fifth ward. It comprises about eighty acres, and is regarded as the prettiest piece of park property in Atlanta. It has never been developed, and until recently it has been used for a part of the city stable.

Commissioner Mills is anxious to develop the property. He said Monday that he will suggest to the general council that the city sell forty acres of the tract, and if a sale cannot be made, that the city only develop fifty acres for a park and let the remaining acres be as they are until some other time.

Commissioner Mills says that because of the close proximity of Maddox park to the Bellwood convict camp, it will be an easy matter to put the convicts at work on the property at such times as the weather will not permit sending the men to other parts of the city. There is a force of between 200 and 300 men at the camp, and if they can put in forty hours a week on the property it can soon be properly developed.

In addition to grading the property, laying out the walks and roads, Commissioner Mills said that he has been assured that the county will dig an artificial lake this year, erect a bath-house and put a concrete bottom in the swimming pool. Manager Cochran said Monday that he will urge the city council to take advantage of the opportunity immediately.

Dear Sirs:

On Feb. 11, 1914, less than a year ago, I closed my account with your Bank by withdrawing $1,201.85 from your Savings Department. You were very kind and let me have this money without my book, for which I am sorry, as the man who was with me caused me to make a bad investment; rather the "Land" that he sold me proved to be a "Lake" in the State of Florida. Will you please give me the name of the party to whom I made this "draft" payable. Signed MRS. D. H.
