CHAIRMAN ASHLEY SCORES CONDITIONS AT GARBAGE PLANT

Issues Criticism After the Council Sanitary Committee Pays Sudden Visit to Crematory Sunday Afternoon.

MEETING OF COUNCIL NECESSARY, HE SAYS

Declares Action Must Be Taken to Dispose of Garbage Plant Cannot Handle. "Odors Almost Unbearable," He Claims.

Chairman Ashley Sunday afternoon took unprecedented action. It is said, when he called a special meeting of the sanitary committee and with six of the seven members present escorted them to the crematory, where a thorough investigation was made.

"We found all three furnaces running at full blast," stated Mr. Ashley, following the investigation. "The city is paying for a six-day run of the plant, yet they are operating seven days and even at that rate fail to handle the garbage we supply."

"The odors were so bad members of the committee could hardly endure them, and I don't blame the people at the terminal station from registering complaints with the mayor."

Asked if the crematory people lived up to their contract would they find it necessary to operate on Sunday, Mr. Ashley said:

"If they fulfilled their contract their pits would have been empty and washed out by 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Instead of that when we reached the plant at 4 o'clock there were many tons of rotten, filthy and unhealthy garbage piled up so that by noon Monday the limit had been reached and our sanitary wagons will not be able to place any more refuse there."

Mr. Ashley said that the crematory people complained last year that the

RED CROSS UNITS TO LEAVE EUROPE

American Doctors and Nurses to Be Withdrawn From War Zone October 1 Because of Lack of Funds.

Washington, July 25.—American Red Cross doctors and nurses will be withdrawn from European battlefields October 1 because of lack of funds, a Red Cross announcement tonight said.

The two units in Belgium, where the greatest need exists, may be continued, but the other fourteen will return to the United States.

The Serbian sanitary commission and other work supported by special contribution will go on as long as those contributions are available, but the general fund of $1,500,000 collected in the United States will be exhausted on October 1.

The American Red Cross, by October 1, will have maintained its personnel in each country a year, with the exception of the Belgian units and the sanitary commission," says tonight's statement.

Funds Becoming Exhausted. The tour of duty required of each surgeon and nurse does not exceed six months, so that a number already have returned and others are being sent.

By October a large number of those now in Europe will return. The cost of the transportation of these surgeons and nurses, going and coming, makes a constant and considerable financial demand upon the Red Cross treasury.

The monthly payroll also is a large item of expense. In view of these facts and because its funds are rapidly becoming exhausted, the American Red Cross has decided, by October 1, of the present year, to withdraw its personnel now in Europe, possibly with the exception of the units in Belgium.

Papers Are One in Agreeing That the Demands of the United States Will Not Be Granted by Germany.

WILSON IS ATTACKED AS BEING PRO-BRITISH

American Note Is Various Described as Being Partial and Domineering. President Wilson Is Accused of Obstinacy.

Berlin, July 25.—(Overseas News Agency Dispatch to Bayville, N. Y.)—The latest American note to Germany concerning submarine warfare was received most unfavorably by the German newspapers, in which it was printed Sunday.

The Vossische Zeitung in a lengthy editorial says: "The refusal to accept Germany's practical proposal to protect American passengers shows an absolute lack of readiness to understand the German standpoint. The principle that belligerent states must protect neutrals is untenable if applied in the fullest sense, as it would mean abdication to neutral states. It is true that belligerents must respect neutral rights, but only provided neutrals do everything to prevent their citizens getting into situations where protection is impossible."

Victory the Supreme Law. "Victory over the enemy is the supreme law for every belligerent. Those who render more difficult this task than does international law supports the enemy. The war on land has shown clearly that restrictions are necessary. A person who remains within a beleaguered fortress or walks into a gunfire zone risks his life without the right of protection from his home government."

The same also is true of naval warfare in spite of the mistaken phrase, "freedom of the seas." It is granted that the ocean is free for peaceful travel, but naval battles also take place on it. Neutral ships sailing between fighting battlefields run the risk of being hit by shells and also of being struck by mines. The submarine's only instruments are the firing of torpedoes.

Not Neutrality, But Partiality. "Those who demand that Germany should conduct the war according to rules laid down by some academic professor who has never seen a submarine, who liberally unfriendly act. While Germany always is glad to respect American friendship, she has considered everything that can be conceded. One more would be considered humiliating by the Germans whose armies have been victorious upon all the battlefields in the east and west."

Wilson Called Pro-British. The Tagliche Rundschau and The Kreuz Zeitung similarly declare that the American note is for decided on Britain to show at least an equal respect for the spirit of international law as the president demands from Germany.

901 DEAD BODIES TAKEN BY DIVERS FROM DEATH SHIP

Possibly One Hundred More Bodies Still Held in River Mud—Of 2,408 Excursionists on Eastland, 1,002 Are Reported Saved.

GRIEVING THOUSANDS PASS THROUGH MORGUE

Many Funds Have Been Started to Relieve Those Left Destitute by Tragedy. State and Federal Officials Begin Investigation.

Chicago, July 25.—Bodies of 901 persons drowned when the steamship Eastland capsized yesterday at its wharf in the Chicago river, had been recovered tonight after forty hours of searching by divers.

The total dead was put at approximately 1,000 by Coroner Hoffman, whose reports indicated that possibly 100 bodies were held in the mud of the river by the superstructure of the boat. While only 1,002 of the 2,408 passengers of the Eastland have registered as saved, it was thought that about 475 survivors, including the crew of 72, had failed to report.

About three-score bodies were recovered from the wreck before dark tonight, but after that divers discovered only one corpse before they quit work for the night.

There was much confusion in the tallying of bodies recovered owing to duplications and removals. As a result all sorts of estimates were scattered about the city with guesses from 1,300 to 2,300, but officers in charge of clearing the wreck have been unable to tabulate more than the 901 bodies listed.

The Morgue Is Cleared. The morgue was cleared tonight of all but a score of corpses, all other victims having been identified.

Investigations to determine responsibility for the calamity will be underway tomorrow in a dozen quarters. City and county officers were unanimous in declaring that some blame rested with federal inspectors, alleging they permitted the steamer to operate while unsafe.

Chicago, appalled, is just beginning to grasp the significance of one of the greatest or machine disasters. While the grieving thousands who lost relatives walked through the morgue in the Second regiment armory, gazing into the faces of the dead, Chicago citizens and city, state and federal officials turned their

ITALIANS GAINING AGAINST AUSTRIANS

Invaders Continue Their Advance at Several Points. Austrian Attacks Repulsed With Heavy Loss.

Geneva, July 25.—(Via Paris.)—Dispatches to The Tribune from Chiasso and Laibach say the fall of Gorizia is imminent, as the city has received the heaviest bombardment thus far in the war.

The battle continues on Carso plateau, with both sides losing heavily. The Italians, the dispatches say, have taken many prisoners.

The correspondents say that the Austrians counter attacked on Monte Nero and recaptured some trenches. The Italians at Ternova are reported to have forced back the Austrians two miles.

It is asserted that the Italians, virtually are masters of the north shore of Lake Garda, where many torpedo boats are adding in the attack on Rivara.

ITALIANS REPULSED, AUSTRIANS CLAIM. Vienna, July 25.—(Via London.)—The Austrian war office has issued the following in regard to the Italian theater: "In the region of Gorizia the hostile action was linked all day to artillery firing. Night attacks on our positions on the border of the Doberdo plateau again failed with heavy losses."

CONCESSION BY RUSSIA TO SOCIALIST DEPUTIES. Petrograd, July 25.—(Via London.)—The Russian government has decided to give socialist and labor members of the duma representation of the military and naval committees in proportion to their numbers.

Heretofore socialist and labor deputies have not been admitted. This important concession is designed by the government to show that all political parties are harmonious in this time of war.

At Only One Point Have the Austro-Germans Been Able to Make Any Advance in Effort to Reach Warsaw.

RUSSIANS THREATEN FLANK OF THE GERMANS

While Warsaw Is Under Heavy Pressure the Austro-Germans Have a Lot of Stiff Work Before Them if They Are to Capture the City.

London, July 25.—Only the northern tip of the pincers the Austro-Germans, for more than a week, have been trying to close around Warsaw and the Russian armies in the Polish salient have moved the last few days.

This point has forced its way across the Sarew river, between the fortresses of Pultusk and Rozan, and is advancing toward the Bug river, which stands for the greater part of the way between it and the Warsaw-Vilna railway, its objective.

The other point, which Field Marshal von Mackensen is directing at the Cholm-Lublin railway, has gained hardly a yard since it reached the village of Relovetz, just south of the railway.

GERMAN FLANK THREATENED. In stubbornly resisting the German advance the Russians are making a continual threat at Von Mackensen's flank along the Bug river from east of Cholm to east of Lemberg. Between Krylow and Sokal their attacks have been especially severe, compelling the Germans to send reinforcements to meet them.

Along the Vistula, south and west of Warsaw, there has been little change except for the German occupation of positions evacuated by the Russians when they drew in their line.

While Warsaw is under heavy pressure the Austro-Germans have a lot to stiff work before them if they are to capture the Polish capital. After crossing the Narew they still have the broader Bug, lined with fortresses, to face; while in the south the Russians have good positions north of the Lublin-Cholm railway, which might prove the undoing of the army that attacked them.

Many are of the opinion that the most dangerous attacks at the moment are those in the provinces of Courland, Kovno and Grodno, at the line of communication between Warsaw and the northern interior of Russia. These attacks are being delivered for the most part by cavalry and doubtless will be met in due time by a concentration of Cossacks.

STATE PRISONERS WILL BE SEARCHED, ASSERTS DAVISON

Prison Commission Chairman Tells of Probe of Attack on Frank and of Plans to Prevent Future Trouble.

BOARD MEETS TODAY IF RAINEY RETURNS

Answering Criticisms of Investigation, Davison Says Commission Has Nothing to Conceal From Public.

The first result of the visit of the prison commission to the state prison farm at Milledgeville on Saturday for the purpose of investigating the attempt by William Green, life convict, upon the life of Leo M. Frank will be an order requiring the warden of the state prison to see that all prisoners are searched every night before they go to bed to prevent prisoners from concealing upon their persons weapons with which to commit attacks similar to the one made upon Frank. The order will be issued by the prison commission on Monday.

This information comes from Judge R. E. Davison, chairman of the prison commission, who returned to Atlanta, last night from his home, where he went Saturday night after leaving Milledgeville.

PROBE OF COMMISSION. Judge Davison also made public the entire proceedings of the executive session of the prison commission. Governor Nat L. Harris and Adjutant General J. Van Hout Nash, from which newspaper men were excluded on Saturday at the prison.

Judge Davison also said that on Monday a meeting of the prison commission will be held. If Judge E. L. Rainey returns to Atlanta in time, and a report of the investigation will be formally entered upon the minutes of the commission.

The findings will exonerate all officials or employees of the state prison from the responsibility of the attack upon Frank and will state that Green planned and made the attack unaided, and that he alone is to blame. Should Judge Rainey not arrive in Atlanta in time for this meeting, Judge Davison stated that the meeting will be held as soon as he gets here.

Meanwhile Green will remain chained to his concrete post at the state prison, pending the final outcome of Frank's condition.

Judge Davison was surprised to find that accounts of the visit of the commission to the prison, as published in The Macon Telegraph and The Augusta Chronicle, took a critical view of the proceedings of the commission, particularly with regard to the exclusion of newspaper men from an executive session.

ARMY-NAVY CHIEFS FRAMING REPORTS

On Which President Wilson Will Base Policy for National Defense—Big Increases Planned for Army and Navy.

Washington, July 25.—Pending President Wilson's return from Europe, the war department is busy assembling information on which the new military policy will be found.

It is known that the army and navy boards at work on the needs of the respective services already have their tasks well advanced. It had been planned to lay the reports before the respective secretaries within a month.

Army plans look to the building up of an army of 500,000 men regulars and militia within territorial United States.

Such a program would carry with it of necessity an increase in navy personnel and probably the enlargement of the naval academy at Annapolis.

Both kinds are equally, delicious and cost about the same per cup.

Perry Dips the Memphii In the Kalsomine Vat; Hurls Strong in Pinches

By Herbert Caldwell. Memphis, Tenn., July 25.—(Special) Inserting the punch when the punch was productive of scores, the Crackers made enough insertions of Jack Bushelman's right-handed shots this afternoon to give the Chicks a 2 to 0 licking.

The Cracker punch was there, and the story of three Atlanta scores and near Memphis scores, which remained unscathed until the eighth inning. Scott Perry, a husky right-sided pitcher, hurried with considerable accuracy and effectiveness and herein also lies the principal reason why the Chick punch was missing. The seven hits accumulated by the Atlanta team were distributed in six innings and turned out by five Chicks. Perry disposed of eight Chick batters via the "B" O' route.

Bushelman, who made his debut in Memphis stockings, kept himself continually in trouble through his wildness, but managed to pull himself out of such a hole which he dug himself in with the exception of the fifth, when the Cracker score in that round was 2-0. Moran singled to center and Baldwin at third. Bushelman sat down six Crackers on strikes, but issued five passes.

Leads' First Tally. After securing but one hit off Bushelman during the first four rounds, the Crackers stuck in a punch in the fifth. The ultimate result of a hard hit to Blisland was safe when Baldwin put the hook to his grounder down the line. The Cracker kept after Bushelman in the sixth, and hard hitting produced another pair of markers with one out. Moran singled to center and pitched second. Manning tripled into the overflood on the left field bank and a runner scored. Bushelman pitched a teaser down toward Baldwin, which he beat out while Manning was counting. Jenkins sent a terrific drive to Allison and Kaufman set foot eighth when two Atlanta base runners pitched at third base. Kaufman advanced to second. The Crackers threatened again in the eighth when two Atlanta base runners pitched at third base. Williams pitched and was sacrificed to second by Lee. Williams was snuffed out trying to lead third. Moran pitched a roller to Baldwin, which he had beaten out, but Baldwin heaved over Ebel's head and Moran kept going. Ebel pitched down and threw to Mitchell, who tossed to Baldwin at third, and Moran slid into Baldwin's waiting hands.

Chick's Gas Chase. The team with the missing punch showed themselves in the first inning, when the opportunity offered for the laying of the foundation of a victory. After the first inning the Chick batters slashed an uppercut at about everything Perry sent up to them, and they went about as fast as they went to a short aerial loop which fell in the hands of the Cracker out and infield.

Back to the first: The Chicks got three runners on bases before there was an out, and then was unable to put one around the complete route. Allison started with a single. Perry then hit Crutcher on the hand. Stewart beat out a snout which was intended for a sacrifice and the sacks were jammed.

Erizcoe "Eust Em" Lord ambled to the plate, and Briscoe's effort was a weak lift to Moran to short center. Lord punched three times and punched the air upon each occasion. Ebel sent a fly to left field on which Lee made a beautiful run and catch. Lee ran for the second time, off the foul line, and going at top speed, reached out and bagged the ball.

The Chicks got a man around to third in the third, but he lived the inning out. With one out, Stewart walked and went to second on Lord's infield demerol. Perry's wild pitch sent Stewart to third and then struck out Schiel for the second time.

Perry Chicks' Master. In the eighth the first Chick up, Lord, was safe when McDonald threw his slow squibber high to first. Perry then sat down Schiel and Ebel in succession on strikes, and Baldwin lined to Blisland, who made a jumping one-handed stop of the foul line. Evidence of inability of the Chicks to do anything with the delivery of Perry is shown in the fact that Kaufman, at first base for the Crackers, had but six putouts and two of them came in the third inning. The Atlanta infield had but six ground hit balls to handle. They had five assists, and McDonald carried a drive and scored for the Crackers, had four putouts and furnished two spectacular catches, once in the third and once in the sixth, and in the sixth he reared to his right and flagged a fly from Mitchell's bat.

Today's game will be called in detail at Dick Jewison's baseball parlors. The game starts at 7:30 and will be against Robertson as the probable pitchers.

Chick's handicaps will apply in all matches, which will be for eighteen holes. The winner of the first flight will come into possession of the Mackle trophy donated by F. E. Mackle, while the winners of the three other flights and the runner-up of the first flight will be given suitable awards by the golfing committee.

The first round must be played by Wednesday, the second by Saturday. The semi-finals will be played by Wednesday of the following week, and the finals by the following Saturday.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Pittsburg 4, St. Louis 1. St. Louis, July 25.—After getting the lead in the fourth inning in today's game, St. Louis was beaten by Pittsburg, 4 to 1. McGraw opened the inning with a triple and scored on Yerkes' single. Two more got on and then Davenport passed Wickett, forcing in Yerkes. Oakes grounded to Davenport, who fumbled, allowing Berry to score. Kennedy pitched to Drake, Bergerhammer scoring on the throw-in.

Poor Judgment at Bat Has Been Main Trouble With Locals All Year

By Dick Jewison. The Crackers have played bad baseball in many games this season. They have at times fished poorly, hit poorly and received poor pitching. When one thing was not wrong it was something else.

But after a careful study of their work, we believe the real reason why the team is not out in front and romping home with the pennant, as the team on paper ought to do, as the result of poor judgment at the bat. That covers the Cracker case exactly. That explains why they are in the second division.

COLOSSAL TRAGEDY STAGED IN POLAND

Second the Unhappy Country Has Endured—Prostrate Land Under Heels of Fighters From Four Sides.

London.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The desperate fighting now going on around Warsaw and throughout the eastern zone of operations centers attention on the colossal tragedy of Poland, the second that unhappy country has endured, the first having stirred America to its depths when Kosciuszko went there to tell Poland's own story and left its memories in the statue of the Polish liberator in one of the public squares of Washington.

But that first tragedy was as nothing compared with what Poland is now undergoing the entire theater of eastern fighting being within the territory of the old kingdom of Poland, with Russian armies tramping over the country from the east, Austrian armies from the south and German armies from the north and west all compressing Poland as in a double vise from four sides marching and fighting on a scale of unprecedented magnitude, and leaving a train of wreck and desolation even greater than that of Belgium or Serbia. This is the testimony of disinterested eye witnesses, Polish, English and American who have recently traversed the stricken regions including C. C. Gibson of the Rockefeller Foundation who declared on his return that this was one of the greatest tragedies of the world had known, the devastation of Belgium shrinking in comparison. through from Poland except the official reports of military operations from the three sides is censored and garbled and gives only the picture of fighting without that of the prostrate country under the heels of the fighters pressing from four sides. But from eye witnesses returning from Polish student refugees from the scoured district, and from letters to those who have sought asylum here there is a mass of information on the real conditions at the scene of these gigantic eastern operations much of that information flows into the hands of Miss Laurence Alma-Tadema daughter of the great English artist who for three months has been working day and night as the secretary and directing genius of the Polish relief committee whose officers and patrons embrace about every name of note in England—peers, cabinet members, ambassadors, artists and authors.

Magnitude of Tragedy.

"Think of the magnitude of this appalling tragedy," said Miss Alma-Tadema to a representative of the Associated Press. "It is difficult for us in England or America with conditions so different to cast the mind's eye across Europe and grasp the fact that all the titanic eastern battles are being fought on Polish soil. And it is not only a gigantic struggle of invading armies from without some following another with all their train of ruin and desolation but it partakes almost of civil conflict with Pole fighting against Pole. There are, she went on, about twelve million Russian Poles, and about the same number of Austrian and Prussian Poles. All of them have that intense longing to see Poland rise again as a united kingdom. And yet of these 24,000,000 Poles, a million are soldiers are fighting in the Russian ranks, and another million are fighting in the Austrian and German ranks—literally brother against brother. One of the reports reaching me tells of a body of Polish infantry on the Russian side charging at a body of the enemy with bayonets raised and the battle cries ringing from both sides only to disappear as they came to grips. Both were shouting the cry of Poland—and on that instant, as if inspired by a common impulse every bayonet was lowered and every man in the facing ranks fell on his knees and in their common language breathed the Lord's prayer. That was Poland's prayer on the battlefield of the terrible eastern conflict."

Here is another thoroughly authentic account, said Miss Alma-Tadema, a Polish infantryman raised his rifle and fired point blank at an advancing foe only to see him pitch forward and hear him cry out in Polish "My God I have a wife and three children. And this agonizing thing is in my hand in the ears of the brother Poles who had fired the shot torturing him might and main. He literally went mad and was taken from the ranks a raving maniac."

Poles Are Fighting Poles.

It was natural that the Russian Pole should cast his lot with Russia and this loyalty has been rewarded by the inspired proclamation of Grand Duke Nicholas promising freedom for Poland a pledge which every Russian Pole accepts in good faith as fore-shadowing the reunification of the Polish nation. On the other hand the Galician Poles showed a perfectly natural first movement of allegiance to their own faith and language and some semblance of freedom. This and the laws of compulsory military service brought almost a million Poles into the Austro-German ranks to fight against their brothers in the Russian ranks. And yet in both Austria and Prussia the overwhelming majority of the Poles are at heart solidly with the kingdom of Poland.

When Mr. Gibson of the Rockefeller Foundation returned from Poland he told Miss Alma-Tadema of the terrible scenes he had witnessed in the stricken regions of Poland. They planned for extensive measures of relief to be sent through Germany, with the approval of the British government. Germany consented but the officials here doubted the good faith of Germany's letting large supplies of food pass across Germany to Poland. And so the situation halted and now another plan is on foot to get supplies into Poland by way of Switzerland without passing through German hands.

One of the spots Mr. Gibson pictured was a Polish village where he passed a cemetery toward dusk and saw a crowd collected. On inquiry he learned it was the joint funeral of twelve children who had died that day and he learned further that this was the normal average in this and other stricken villages—twelve children a day dying of starvation. At one point he noticed an old woman who had crawled sixteen kilometers to get a handful of black bread. These were merely a few instances out of a great number which led him to the conclusion that the desolation in the wake of the armies in Poland was far beyond anything he had seen where he had made a similar inspection.

The Polish student group here is also receiving frequent mail advices from their friends in the various parts of Poland. One of the latest reports of these student letters summed up recent advices which got through as follows: "Out of 127,000 square kilometers in old Poland, 81,000 square kilometers have now been occupied by the Austro-German armies. The departments which have suffered most are Kaliska, Piotrkow, Kielce, Radom, Lublinska, Lodz and Plocka. Also four districts of the government of Lomza, ten districts of Lublinska, and one district of the city of Warsaw. Four districts of Lublinska, one of Kielce, and one of Plocka, out of 12,000,000 inhabitants of this region 5,000,000 have suffered. In the villages, 20 per cent are completely leveled to the ground, not a trace of the buildings remains and the heaps of smoldering rubbish and ruin."

Like Tribes of Gypsies.

The present are pictured as moving about like great tribes of gypsies over the blackened fields carrying and pushing their belongings in small carts. Miss Alma-Tadema gives a graphic picture of this wholesale exodus. "Industries and lands are now a wilderness and arable lands are sown with the bones of the dead. The fields are over and over by Japanese battle waves, nothing remains. The barns and icks, the houses and the houses and the stables or ruin everywhere. The women and children have been driven from their homes and are now in the woods the masses the major house the old castle in the park are all deserted. There is no one to look after the trees while the children shiver and starve to death."

And this is from one of the best informed Polish authorities in England the energetic young woman official of the Polish committee. One of the names of England's great names and the center into which pours all this mass of information concerning the colossal tragedy of Poland.

There are many other enthusiastic Polish workers here notably Mrs. Stanislawa Began the Polish wife of the prominent English painter Robert Begg. She is a member of the committee looking after the relief work. She has been in London since her husband's death in 1914. She has a hope under the stars that she will see her husband's family her home built just after Poland was torn into three parts and she has a hope that she will see her husband's family her home built just after Poland was torn into three parts and she has a hope that she will see her husband's family her home built just after Poland was torn into three parts.

The Constitution is not responsible for advertisements of out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

In a well considered address before the convention of advertising men which recently met in Chicago, President George M. Brown, of the General Roofing company, made it clear how, through careful use of the daily newspaper as an advertising medium, the manufacturer is able to place in the hands of the consumer a high-grade article, backed by his own guarantee, at the lowest possible price.

Although successful at the outset in placing its product through salesmen, with jobbers, President Brown found there was a limit to distribution by this method. Competition necessitated new and more extended selling plans, and the modern plan of aiding the jobber and retailer through carefully-prepared newspaper advertising campaigns, in the territory which they covered, was adopted as the most logical and effective method of marketing.

It was soon found, as President Brown states, that this line of campaign was exactly what was needed; that the public, taught to expect it, wanted to know about the quality and character of the product offered; in fact, expected it and desired to become familiar with it. The General Roofing company soon discovered that it was this familiarity with and understanding of a good product, through truthful advertising in daily newspapers, which proved the strongest factor in building business.

The interesting point President Brown makes is that increased sales not only take care of the expense of an advertising campaign of this character, but, as the result of the much larger volume, enable the company to place its goods in the hands of the consumer at a minimum price. The operations of his company have demonstrated beyond doubt the fallacy of the sometime entertained idea that the consumer pays the advertising bills. The conclusions reached by President Brown were these:

We regard the newspaper as having the greatest influence in advertising, as we believe it has in various other fields today. We believe that its influence can be increased. We believe that advertising is the up-to-date modern method of selling goods—just as the printer has replaced the peddler, the oil made-by-hand methods, and with the big future ahead for newspaper advertising, we hope to see every improvement possible, to the end that we and other manufacturers may receive the greatest possible aid in having the qualities of our products better known, and in having the consumer, who needs such products and can use them to better advantage than anything else, know all about them. We expect to develop our business to the point of the greatest efficiency in selling. The cost of advertising is large, but it is the greatest possible aid in having the newspapers in future advertising, as a matter of good business for us, and in order to reduce the cost of building volumes, so that the consumer will continually get more for his money.

It is through creating a much greater volume of business that newspaper advertising does its work in lowering the selling cost, making greater aggregate profit for the producer and at the same time safeguarding the interest of the consumer—protecting him both in the matter of cost and, as presented by the reputable newspaper, in that also of quality.

FOR BETTER LAND TITLES.

There should not be a moment's question as to legislative action on the Turner bill to create an adequate, safe and satisfactory system of land title registration for Georgia, which has been recommended for passage by the general judiciary committee of the house.

Almost every man who has anything whatever to do with Georgia land titles has been crying for relief in this respect for the last two decades. In the meantime, titles have become still more and more involved; some of them, instead of being cleared, have sunk deeper into the mire of technical doubt.

After nearly a quarter of a century of agitation and discussion, Georgia has, finally, an opportunity to make a splendid beginning in this work. Taking the Torrens land registration system as a basis, leading Georgia lawyers have worked out a far more simple system than it offers, and one which works right in with the machinery of our courts.

The simplicity of the Georgia measure is emphasized in the fact that the whole work of title investigation, validation and registration is to be done through our superior courts, without requiring the creation of a special court for the purpose, as is involved in the original Torrens system. It is thus that Georgia proposes to graft the new system upon her present institutions, rather than create a new institution to take care of it.

We take it that 90 per cent of the property owners in Georgia would gladly pay the small fees necessary in connection with the registration of their land titles, and yet, under this measure, registration is wholly a voluntary proceeding with every owner of real estate. He may take advantage of the opportunity or not as he wishes. When it is considered that his certificate of registration is even better than a guaranteed title examination, backed by a bond, because the state stands back of it, and that sale and transfer can be made upon the basis of it without further investigation, the value of it immediately becomes apparent. It is not presumed that there is a property owner in Georgia but would say, upon an understanding of this aspect of the matter, that it is a good thing.

The problem has been studied for years now by some of the ablest lawyers of the state. They have viewed it from every conceivable viewpoint; they have considered it as applied to existing institutions in Georgia. And out of this study they have perfected a bill which not only meets Georgia's requirements, but accords thoroughly with Georgia's institutions.

The measure provides a cheap but thorough and comprehensive system by which any person who owns a tract of land in Georgia may have his title confirmed and established by a decree that will stand the test in any court in the world, and which, at the same time, will make it practically out of the question for anyone but the true owner to register it and thus to steal another's land.

This is the whole gist of the proposition. It compels no property owner; it simply invites. It makes a way for systematizing land titles only where it is desired, and it provides for the issuance of a negotiable receipt which is better than any possible private guarantee, because the name of the state and the decree of its court is back of it.

It is impossible to conceive of opposition to this measure. In settling the land title situation we provide a more stable and substantial foundation for general business; we strengthen credits; we end the doubt and uncertainty with which many a property owner is surrounded today.

The unanimous passage of this bill should require no more than the suggestion which will come with the due arrival of its turn in calendar order, before the general assembly.

"MASTER FARMER."

The degree of master farmer is now one of the coveted honors of the Utah State College of Agriculture. It was conferred recently on five citizens of that state. The Abilene (Texas) Reporter says the institution figures that men who live on farms and are successful in special lines of endeavor should be publicly honored. Here is the point made by our Texas contemporary:

Doctors, lawyers, school men, ministers, etc., have conferred upon them honorary degrees and the farmer, too, has not been forgotten. We believe that his service to the country deserves. Wherever and whenever a constructive man is found tilling the soil in a way to make two blades grow where only one grew before he should be sought out and honored. His work should be called to the attention of others and his methods published to the world. We say let the schools of Texas honor our worthy men of the soil by conferring upon them the degree of master farmer, a degree, if deserved, will rank with D. D., LL. D., or any of the rest of them, and oftentimes he who receives and wears the degree of master farmer will win respect not only the high regard of his neighbors and friends, but he will receive the lasting gratitude of progressive men everywhere.

It is the day when the progressive farmer looms large in the world's work—among men who are doing things; new honors are constantly coming his way; for it is a time of greater farm efficiency, and the efficiency of the tillers of the soil makes for the real upbuilding of the country's industries.

TWO PICTURES.

Here are two vivid pictures—sermons in paragraphs. The first is Europe, as the Louisville Courier-Journal sees it:

Fields from which every stalk of corn has been cut by bullets, villages in which every home has been razed by shells, wheat crops where every tree has been felled by cannon. A country stripped of its foolish hide by the vampire war!

The second is of America—in peace and prosperity. It is the striking contrast of The Chicago Herald:

Corn crops nearly three billion bushels; wheat crop, nearly a billion; chickens; oats crop a billion and a third; other crops in proportion; not a drop of blood required to produce them; they don't seem so lacking in "kittens" after all.

Two pictures—the sermons of war and peace in a few lines.

Mexico's little revolutions have plenty of capitals to revolve around.

Seems like old times to hear the Colonel damning the mollycoddlers.

They may talk up and down the country, but the old Ship of State is too big a boat for lightweights to rock.

Testimony of war correspondents is that the Turk isn't "the terrible." An English writer says he is more humane than the Christian killers.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

By PAUL L. STURTON

Reflections of the Sun. Says the sad Sun, as he mopped his brow: 'They're doing much amiss; It's a mighty foolish nation wants a place as hot as this! My furnaces are sizzling; It's hot as hot can be, And all day long, with fearful thirst, I've tried to drink the sea!

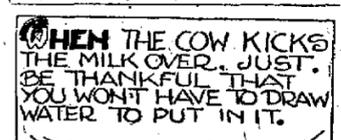

"Red hot, and still a-heating, It's seventy times hot seven! I'd like to grab a comet's tail And bat my worlds from heaven!

"There is no holiday for me; when twilight crosses a time And Earth down there has gone to bed, I've got to light the moon; No chance at all for cooling off in spaces 'round about— To call a million hurricanes to blow the red stars out!

"Red hot and still a-heating, It's seventy times hot seven! I'll have to grab a comet's tail And sweep my worlds from heaven!"

Occupation of the Optimist. "I'm short on 'the bright side of life,'" the stranger explained, "and I called to see the celebrator optimist. 'Walk in. Here over there, in a dark corner, tryin' to persuade himself that it wasn't a stone wall that knocked his head sideways.'"

UNCLE JULES SAYS —

WHEN THE COW KICKS THE MILK OVER, JUST BE THANKFUL THAT YOU WON'T HAVE TO DRAW WATER TO PUT IN IT.

Speaking of Weather. (As it is in Billville.) It's hot enough without tellin' us where we're going to.

The brighter day has hit us, but somebody must have told it to go to blazes.

Funny, how the saints with a firm trust in Providence crowd the middle of the room during a thunderstorm.

Hottest weather shouldn't keep us from moving. Even where the brimstone is the folks hop high.

Neither Record.

I. He made the laws that pleased the state— No tiresome, long debater, And while they didn't call him great, He kept a growing grater.

II. His work was still his sole reward— The angels knew his story, And, toil being done, he praised the Lord And went the way to glory.

"More Truth Than Poetry." The Winsboro News and Herald credits the opening stanza of the following poem to The Columbia State, but rounds out the idea in the rhyme of a local versifier:

"There is a man in our town Who surely foolish is; He never planks some dottars down To advertise his bil.

"And he's the chap we hear complain Because he gets no trade; He does not know his neighbors' gain By ads they have displayed.

"But then we know a man in town Who surely is more wise; He says when planking dollars down, 'It pays to advertise.'"

"And he's the one we hear rejoice When trade begins to gain; He says to us with gladome voice, 'Just let those ads remain.'"

War Reflections. Extract from a Judd Lewis prose poem on war. In the Houston Post:

"The world is full of men scattering the peaceful countryside, from every house and school, so many men have gone and died, and wives are dead from grieving and babes are dead from bread and heaped in gory trenches brave men are lying dead. If I could roll a melon to each brave soldier's feet the war would stop; that moment while they sat down to eat."

As the Philosopher Sees It. The world looked good to Adam, With its roses steeped in dew, And since that day It's looked that way To all who've traveled through, And there ain't a fightin' nation's Goin' to make it over new.

The Limit. "When we see a man with a wrist watch on we always change our views about capital punishment," says The Dalton Citizen.

Safe! Says the paragraph man of The Macon News: "Now that Harry Thaw has been declared sane, we will cease to worry about where we will spend our 'last days. If he can go free, then we're safe."

Big Blessings. Editor John Hall, of The Salem (Ark.) Sun, is the author of this prosperity rhyme, which fits the situation in Georgia:

"Biggest corn you ever saw, Finest taters ever grown; Orchards full of ripenin' fruit, Biggest crop of peaches and ham; Lord blesses a harvest bounty, All over pious Fulton county."

"For What We Receive." "We think we thank the Lord for his blessings," says Deacon Spriggs, "but we don't; for while we're in the thanksgiving business we're wondering if something isn't coming just a little better than we had before."

A Georgia Toast. A health to human living, There's fruit on every bough, The good Lord is forgiving, And we'll all reach home—somehow.

A Sable Opinion. De Lawd didn't make no man a millionaire, but de millionaire made de money dat can't slip in whar de Lawd is.

Has Not Yet Called

Police Board Meeting, Says Chairman Fain

Denying that he has ever made a statement which he wished to see Police Chief James L. Beavers tried on charges of inefficiency and insubordination, Police Commissioner Andy King expressed great surprise last night at statements published Sunday to the effect that he had circulated a petition among the police commissioners, securing seven of twelve members to sign same, asking for a special call meeting tonight to bring the charges against Chief Beavers.

Chairman W. F. Fain, who has been out of the city for the week-end, declared that he had not been petitioned to summon the police board for a call meeting tonight for the purpose of bringing charges against Chief Beavers.

"If there is such a petition," said Chairman Fain shortly after returning to the city last night, "I know nothing of it."

"Of course, if during the day I am presented with such a petition, signed by seven commissioners, a majority, I will have to call a meeting. If the commissioners then want to bring charges against Chief Beavers and a majority vote for charges being brought, I will appoint a committee to file them."

Chairman Fain declared that he did not see anything contained in the recent probe report that looked like occasion for "formal charges" against Chief Beavers.

"There were a few recommendations," said the chairman, "made in the report, but nothing contained in it to seriously involve Chief Beavers."

Vice Chairman W. A. Vernoy, Mayor James G. Woodward, ex-officio member of the police board, and Commissioner Robert C. Clarke stated positively last night that they knew nothing of a petition asking for a special meeting tonight.

However, Commissioner King admits that a member of the police board approached him with a petition asking for a call meeting tonight.

"Without knowing the purpose of the proposed meeting," said Commissioner King, "I signed the petition, which, at that time, had two names to it. I got another commissioner also to sign the petition, and am now informed that there are seven names to the petition."

Commissioner King averted that neither he or the commissioner he says he induced to sign the petition knew that the purpose of the meeting asked for by the petition was to bring charges against Chief Beavers.

Police Chief Beavers knew nothing officially last night of the alleged move to bring formal charges of insubordination and inefficiency against him.

It has been rumored for some time, however, that a move would be made at an early date to bring charges against Chief Beavers, which would be based on the recent probe-report, by his enemies on the police board.

THE PALM LEAF FAN.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "A Good Old Swank."

The palm-leaf fan is a 5-cent substitute for a $500 summer trip which is used with great success by millions of people.

The operation of this wonderful device is very simple. The performer grasps the fan firmly in his right hand and waves it back and forth, thus producing a cool, refreshing breeze about his person and his surroundings. As the operator continues to work he produces a gentle perspiration. This evaporates in the breeze, producing a delightful feeling of coolness equal to that obtained in a $4 a day room on the sea side of a summer hotel.

The palm-leaf fan can be bought anywhere and can be carried around with no exertion at all, but many people are discarding it in favor of the mechanical fan which works by electricity and can produce a windstorm for 1 cent an hour. The electric fan, however, is not as good as the gasoline fan. This consists of a gasoline engine with an automobile attachment. By means of this appliance a man can fan his entire family and one or two neighbors all evening at a total expense of 45 cents for gasoline, 25 cents for oil, 25 cents for depreciation and 70 cents for ice cream sodas and cigars.

It is no wonder that with such vast improvements the palm-leaf fan is looked down upon coldly by all who are prosperous and adopted with enthusiasm by all who intend something to become prosperous.

The principal fault of the hand-billboard as produced by this sort of fan is that it requires muscle. Nothing is conserved in these days but muscle. A man would laugh at the idea of wearing out his wrist during the week operating a palm-leaf fan when he needs every ounce of his strength on Saturdays and Sundays to put the things yard on a football which cost him 75 cents and will be seized by his opponent, unless it gets to the hole first.

It is also impossible for a woman to manipulate a fan and reserve the delicacy of wrist necessary to sit through a long whist party at a fair profit.

For these reasons the cost of fanning has increased about 11,000 per cent in the last few years and has occasioned many bitter complaints over the rising price of porterhouse steaks.

A 5-cent substitute for a $500 summer trip.

Law me—first time I been cool all day.

SMASHING GLASS TICKLES FANS. (Woodbury (N. J.) Dispatch to The Philadelphia Record.)

Every time there is a game of ball on the West End diamond the clubs have to put up a fund for smashed pluss. In fact, it is hard to tell which the spectators enjoy the most, the game or the glass-smashing. Adjoining the diamond are a greenhouse and a laundry with skylight. One is in the range of liners, the right field and the other is in the way of ordinary fouls to left.

As every broken pane in the greenhouse costs 10 cents and some of the panes in the laundry considerable more, the expense of a game often rises. At the end of the scrimmage the manager usually passes the word on the suggestion, "Chip in for glasses." The spectators put up, and with a smile.

MANY CHURCHES HONOR DR. WHITE

AT FAREWELL SERVICES ON SUNDAY

With a series of unusual sermons two mornings ago, the presentation of tokens in affectionate appreciation for his work while in Atlanta, Dr. John E. White was bid farewell by the church people of the city Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock and later at 11 o'clock. Sunday night Dr. White preached to over 4,000 people in front of the state capitol building, his last sermon in Atlanta.

At the Second Baptist church in the morning Dr. White was presented with a handsome chest of silver by members of his congregation. Superintendents of the different Sunday schools presented the beloved minister with a silver pitcher with the names of each engraved upon its side at the Sunday school exercises.

Farewell messages were delivered by C. H. Steiglitz, superintendent of the English Lutheran Sunday school; E. E. Gurnwell, superintendent St. Philip's; W. C. Mansfield, Trinity Methodist; LeRoy Rogers, First Christian; A. D. Adair, representing the board of deacons; Mrs. A. C. Newell, vice president Woman's Missionary and Benevolent society; Mrs. F. J. Paxton, president Business Women's league; C. C. Wayne, president Baptist Young People's union; Dr. T. Spalding, former pastor Second Baptist.

At the conclusion of the exercises, presentation of the silver tributes was made by John J. Eagan and Dr. John S. Spalding. At the same time F. J. Paxton was presented with a silver goblet in honor of his birthday by members of his Sunday school class.

At the regular church services of the Second Baptist church, Dr. White preached his farewell sermon to his congregation, after which he presented every member with a handsomely bound book written by himself especially for that occasion.

Following his sermon Dr. White married two young couples, baptized one person and received two church letters.

The sermon, preached by Dr. White from the steps of the capitol was on "Love," and as the last sermon which the divine was to preach in this city, it was made the best.

Dr. and Mrs. White received handsome gifts all during the day. Dr. White leaves Atlanta to accept a call to Anderson, S. C. Baptist church.

ANCIENT GLORY OF EGYPT RECALLED

IN SERMON BY THORNWELL JACOBS

In the second of his series of sermons dealing with the rise and fall of the great cities and empires of the world, Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university, told his hearers at the Central Congregational church on yesterday morning the story of Egypt, which alone among empires, as Dr. Jacobs said, practically died of old age, an ossified people.

As an introduction to his address Dr. Jacobs recalled the mention of his hearers to the remarkable fact that all of the great empires of the world and the civilizations which they develop have arisen in the sheltered nooks of the earth's surface.

"There was Greece surrounded by water, Italy situated Rome, protected by the Alps, the Adriatic and the Mediterranean; Spain by the Pyrenees; Great Britain by the Atlantic with the Libyan desert and the North sea, and in this particular instance Egypt with the Libyan deserts and the Sahara on one side, the Syrian desert and the Red sea on another, the Mediterranean on another and the Cataracts of the Nile obstructing all communication with the south. Along this marvellous fertility of soil, between the first cataract and the delta, a distance of approximately 700 miles, dwelt the people, the source of the Nile, the life of their people that the world has ever known.

"For example, there was the first fixed date in history when the Egyptian Christ for at this early time the astronomers of Egypt had discovered the length of our year as being 365 days, and had created a calendar of this length, the remarkable point being that they began it on the day when Sirius rose at sun rise in the delta. We find also the first writing of the alphabet, this being the treasury of the southern kingdom. The treasury of the northern kingdom of the delta was called the red house. It was the two divisions of Egypt which was united under Menes, the first of the great emperors of the two countries.

"It was also the first writing of the alphabet, for it is not to the Greeks nor even to the Phoenicians that we must give thanks for our modern alphabet, but to the Egyptians, who gave it to the Phoenicians and to men who lived in the delta approximately 3500 years before Christ.

"And then there is the first masonry, for one may see the remains of a structure in the world if he will go to Abydos, the sacred burial ground of the earliest kings, in the delta, the first masonry being the tomb of King Khasekhemut of the second dynasty.

"And we will find there also the first heaven, the first of the world, where the grain is taller than ever seen on the banks of the Nile and the departed dwelt in security and plenty." It was surrounded by water. The departed might induce the hawk or the falcon to bring across on their wings or to be friendly spirit brought in a craft upon which he might float, but the majority depended upon the services of a ferryman.

"Nationalism was the source of the ancient people of the first two, in the hall of Osiris, judged by forty-two judges, he pleaded with the gods, while his heart was weighed in the balance of truth, and the heavier, the symbol of truth, in order to test the truth of his plea.

"In the year 4000 B. C. we find the first negro problem. Sesostris the third erected on each side of the Nile marking his southern boundary, a line inscribing the following significant inscription: 'No Egyptian boundary shall cross it by water or by land, with a ship, or any herd of the negroes, except a negro whom shall cross it on a raft, or with a commission. All kind treatment shall be accorded them, but without allowing a negro to pass by water or by land (this point) to the north of the Nile.'"

"And in Thutmose the third we find the world's first great general." Here Dr. Jacobs mentioned the battle of Megiddo, and the extension of the Egyptian empire to its furthest limits.

With the Exchanges

SETTLEMENT. (From The Settlement.)

Mr. Golden had a new office boy. A few days after his arrival some money was missing from the cash drawer.

Mr. Golden called the private office, Mr. Golden said, severely: "There is $10 gone from my cash drawer. Albert, now you and I are the only people who have keys to that drawer."

"Well," replied the boy, cheerfully, "I suppose we each pay $5 and say no more about it!"

A Word About a Vital Department

We feel a pride in the splendid line of Medicines and Toilet Articles produced in our Atlanta Laboratory. We recommend and guarantee every one to be good, reliable and worthy of your full confidence.

It requires much professional skill and a vast amount of labor to establish and maintain such a Laboratory.

Far in advance of the stores that have no more pharmaceutical ability nor professional pride than to recommend to you preparations the formula of which are unknown to them. When we say to you this is a good preparation we back it up to the limit—we know the formula—we make it and can truthfully offer it to our trade.

EASTLAND OWNERS OPPOSED SAFETY Secretary Redfield Makes Public Letters—President Wilson Orders Thorough Probe—United States Inspectors Blamed.

INVESTIGATION IS ORDERED BY PRESIDENT WILSON. Cornish, N. H. July 25—President Wilson today ordered that the department of commerce investigate thoroughly the sinking of the excursion steamer Eastland in the Chicago river with a loss of many hundred lives.

Acting Secretary Sweet of the department, sent the president word that the causes of the disaster would be looked into, and the president directed that nothing be left undone to fix the responsibility.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 25—William C. Redfield, secretary of the department of commerce, who is in Syracuse, tonight made public his correspondence between the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship company, owners of the steamer Eastland, and the department of commerce relating to the new seaman's act.

Secretary Redfield believes that under the seaman's act the passenger-carrying capacity of the Eastland could have been reduced from 2,570 to 1,352. The steamship company opposed the seaman's bill. The correspondence comprises four letters.

In the first letter, W. H. Hull, general manager of the steamship company, registers a protest under date of June 25, 1915, against the seaman's bill, being made effective on November 1.

"I am confident," he writes, "that the disastrous effects of this bill to American steamship lines are already apparent in every one, and believe that an opportunity should be given to have this act modified or entirely cancelled."

To this secretary Redfield replied, June 23.

"It is a little difficult to see how you expected me to be satisfied but without involving me in a flat breach of my oath of office, which is to enforce the law, I have no alternative but to see what laws shall be obeyed and what shall not be obeyed. What is it specifically in the law to which you object?"

Effect on the Eastland. On June 30 Mr. Hull wrote:

"Replying to your letter of June 23, in which you ask what is it specifically in the law to which you object, I can answer this in no other way than to state the effect it would have in the operation of our steamship Eastland."

"The loss of capacity this season from June 12 to September 3, inclusive, is limited to only 2,570 people, is equipped with the present life rafts and life boats and has life rafts and life boats capacity under the last inspection for 1,352 people."

In order to keep the maximum carrying capacity at the present figure we would have to increase her equipment in life rafts and life boats to 2-3 per cent. This is a physical impossibility. If it were possible to put this per cent of all on board, but only 50 per cent of the weight that would be added to her upper deck would make the boat drift."

If our life-saving equipment is allowed to remain as it is at present her carrying capacity would be increased 10 per cent of 1,352. You can see that a daily reduction of 50 per cent in carrying capacity would be necessary to considerable during the season in operating revenue."

Would Increase Expenses. "The requirements of the seaman's bill would necessitate the use of more and able seamen would increase the number of our crew and would afford an opportunity to other seamen to fix an arbitrary wage and tie up the boat without provocation. Even if the seaman's act were to increase the passenger rate, and it certainly will not, the increased carrying capacity and the fact that we would be at the mercy of the so-called able seamen would render it difficult to carry on the business in addition to that, there is no reason for an increase in life-saving equipment."

The boat in question is constructed of steel throughout. Her run between New York and Boston is approximately sixty miles, which she will make on an average of three hours and ten minutes. She has a time in excess of one hour and thirty-three minutes from shore and at all points of her run she carries on an average of six to ten minutes of all steamers. Assistance in case of trouble could readily be obtained from shore, Michigan City and the ports of Chicago, Michigan City, Milwaukee, St. Joseph and South Haven."

"I sincerely believe it will be impossible to operate this boat under the seaman's law and make expenses. This will naturally affect the stock and the bonds and in the case of a sea-going company will render the boat unprofitable and worthless."

realize, as you state, that it is your duty merely to enforce the law, but I have taken the liberty of stating to you that we specifically object to that portion of the law relating to life-saving equipment, able seamen and certificated lifeboat men and give the reasons therefor in answer to your above question."

Reply of Redfield. To this Secretary Redfield replied July 14 expressing agreement with the frankness of Mr. Hull's letter to the department of the operation of the Eastland secretary Redfield wrote in detail that this is a sea-going service boat, running from June 12 to September 3, during which period it is under the seaman's act, and to have lifeboats and rafts for 75 per cent of all on board of which 75 per cent may be rafts and life preservers for everyone carried.

"This has been permitted from May to October, and under these conditions you are licensed to carry 2,570 people and passengers—70,000 and have lifeboats and rafts for 774 with life preservers for all. You mention that your vessel is at times in excess of one hour and thirty-five minutes and that she is at times within ten hours of the shore, and that other steamers. You say at all times is within ten to sixty minutes of shore."

Your position is, therefore, one in which in case of serious accident you are left at least one half hour from help, and even twenty miles from shore, while possibly having on board as many as 1,799 persons for whom there are neither lifeboats nor life rafts. I do not criticize this. It is an opportunity to other seamen to fix an arbitrary wage and tie up the boat without provocation. Even if the seaman's act were to increase the passenger rate, and it certainly will not, the increased carrying capacity and the fact that we would be at the mercy of the so-called able seamen would render it difficult to carry on the business in addition to that, there is no reason for an increase in life-saving equipment."

bers of the employees organization found purchase of tickets for the annual lake trip almost compulsory. Call for Relief Fund. Acting Mayor Moorhouse and his advisers today decided to raise a $200,000 relief fund to be distributed by a subcommittee acting under the direction of the National Red Cross, the Associated Charities and the municipal health department. In addition to this the Western Electric company, whose employees formed most of the ill-fated excursion party, announced that $100,000 from its employees' insurance funds was available for relief. Numerous private relief funds were started.

Day of Gloom. This Sunday was a day of gloom for Chicago. Ministers said more people attended church than for many Sunday past. Chicago turned to prayer and thought. The preachers nearly all asked congregations to join in prayers for the bereaved.

With the details of the catastrophe summed up people shuddered that close to the throbbing heart of one of the great cities of the world a thousand people could go to their deaths with hundreds of persons powerless to aid standing within a stone's throw—that that great mass could drown in a narrow river twenty feet from the dock.

Coroner Hoffman issued an appeal to the public for a fund for the burial of whatever dead may remain unidentified. City officials declared that all the dead should have proper burial. In churches and homes throughout the city prayers were offered for the thousands whose hearts have been pierced by grief. The day was one of gloom. There was more than the usual Sabbath quiet and the crowds of outdoor pleasure-seekers were thin.

Baseball games again were postponed. Various Theories as to Accident. Various theories as to what caused the Eastland to turn over were discussed. The four considered most probable were that the boat was overloaded, that she was not properly ballasted, that a tug that made fast to warp the Eastland from the docks started pulling too soon, that congestion of passengers rushing to the port side started by some passing sensation tipped the steamer over.

Electric company officials said today that not more than one-third of the victims were employees, the others being members of employees' families or friends.

Survivors storied many details of the catastrophe and events preceding and following it. All the Eastland's passengers, except two or three hundred who clung to the starboard rail or climbed out starboard port holes, were thrown into the river, crushed into the slimy mud of the bottom or imprisoned between decks.

Listing of Boat Notified. Listing of the boat was noticed, some 15 minutes before she turned over. Captain Pedersen said five minutes. When full realization came the slow list had become an overturn, started by some passing sensation tipped the steamer over.

walked in it today had given up hope and with clenched hands steered themselves for the sight they sought, but dreamed. As fast as identifications were made the bodies were turned over to undertakers and carried to lines of hearse drawn up alongside the armory.
