

BEAVERS PREPARES TO FIGHT CHARGES OF BOARD MEMBERS

Walter McElreath and Geo. Westmoreland to Defend Suspended Chief of Police at Trial Thursday Night.

FURTHER CHARGES ARE PROBABLE, SAYS W. P. FAIN

Chief to Summon Witnesses—Commissioners Assure Fair Trial—Men and Religion Movement Leaders Meet.

Chief James L. Beavers, under suspension pending trial Thursday night on charges preferred by the police board Monday night, Tuesday morning engaged Walter McElreath and George Westmoreland to defend him at the formal trial. He also went to the police headquarters and secured about thirty subpoenas with which to summon witnesses in his behalf.

"I will have no statement to make for the present," said Chief Beavers, "but I will make one later, and everything will come out in the end. Chairman W. P. Fain, of the police board, announced that those members of the board who brought the charges against Chief Beavers would summon a large number of witnesses to substantiate their charges.

Among these witnesses will be some of the leading citizens of Atlanta. Lodge further charges. Chairman Fain announced that further charges of insubordination would be lodged against Chief Beavers for his actions at the board meeting Monday night when, after being repeatedly ruled out of order by Chairman Fain, Chief Beavers persisted in criticizing Commissioners J. W. English, Edwin Johnson and the chairman.

"I will summon witnesses to testify as to what happened at that meeting," said Chairman Fain, "and all the newspaper reporters who were present will be asked to testify as to his behavior."

Chairman Fain also announced that Chief Beavers' trial would take the regular course of all trials, and gave assurance that the trial would be fair and impartial.

Chairman Fain in this regard, said Commissioner Andy King, "I, too, am going to see to it that Beavers gets a fair trial. It is the charge that he is not substantiated, of course, I will not vote to discharge. On the other hand, if they are proven, I will vote according to my convictions."

However, statements by Commissioner S. A. Wardlaw, Tuesday, were to the effect that he did not expect Chief Beavers to get much of a showing at his trial.

"It is all out and dried," said this commissioner, who was chairman of the probe committee that returned the report against Chief Beavers out of which grew the charges filed against the police chief on Monday night.

"I will take my defeat gracefully, though I am doubtful if the charges brought against me will probably be rightfully come out of the probe report, as claimed, because I do not think the probe report was a condemnation of Chief Beavers."

"It is apparent that there are enough votes to oust Chief Beavers and I expect him to go at tomorrow's trial regardless of developments. They have got their minds made up to fire him, and he has no chance. What he has done, and the question of the charges brought against him, will be decided when the vote to discharge him is taken."

Criticism by Marion Jackson Tuesday to the effect that he thought Mayor Woodard and the members of the police board should be recalled by the voters, and that he probably would circulate a petition with such a view, were met with a disposition to utterly ignore them on the part of members of the board.

"It doesn't concern me what Mr. Jackson wishes to do," stated Commissioner King. "If he wants me recalled, it suits me, but I am going to vote on this subject according to my convictions."

"I firmly believe that Mr. Jackson is only springing a lot of hot air about his recall."

LOCAL OPTION BILL GETS ADVERSE VOTE BY THE COMMITTEE

Whatever hopes the local option advocates had of seeing provisions of that character come before this legislature were blasted when the house committee on Monday voted yesterday that the bill be do not pass. This was the only bill of this character introduced in the legislature this year.

Mr. Bale, of Floyd, who introduced the bill, made a ten-minute speech to the committee before they were into executive session. The adverse vote followed. "This bill does not call for local option to be declared by the legislature," said Mr. Bale. "It contains a referendum which, if the bill should be passed by the legislature, would require that the people vote on it at the next election. Legislation of this nature is of the class of provisions by the legislature which is called police regulation. The people should be given the chance to say whether they desire to be governed by such legislation."

Mr. Bale's bill was killed by a vote of 10 to 2. Mr. Stark, chairman of the committee, made the following statement after the committee meeting: "We voted this morning only on the local option bill by Mr. Bale of Floyd, and that bill was reported adversely."

"I was sorry that the committee failed to act on the Fullbright substitute for the Webb-Kellogg bill. I think this matter ought to be reported on. While I am conservative on these matters as being, I do not think from any standpoint coca-cola is doing as much harm in Georgia as is beer, still I think the legislature ought to have the right to pass on these bills."

RECEIVER NAMED FOR NASHVILLE

All Officials Except Two Are Suspended Under the Tennessee "Ouster Law." Several Officials Indicted.

Nashville, Tenn., July 27.—Chancellor Allison this morning appointed Master in Chancery Robert Vaughn receiver for the municipality of Nashville. A few minutes later Judge Matthews, in the first circuit court, in response to proceedings under Tennessee's new "ouster law," suspended from office Mayor Hilary E. Howe and Commissioners Robert Elliott and Lyle Andrews and City Treasurer Charles Meyers.

The receivership suit was brought by Miles Burns, comptroller, and other taxpayers, but since institution of the suit Burns has resigned as comptroller. The ouster proceedings were instituted by a number of taxpayers, the law requiring at least ten signatures to the petition.

Under indictment. J. M. Wilkerson has recently resigned as city commissioner. Andrews, commissioner, was suspended from office by vote of the commission, but the legality of their action being questioned, he was included in the ouster proceedings. He, together with City Comptroller Miles Burns, City Treasurer Charles Meyers and Assistant City Treasurer W. H. West, are under indictment in connection with the disappearance of certain bonds and records from the office of the comptroller. West's whereabouts is unknown.

An audit and survey of the city's books is being conducted as a result of various charges of mismanagement and irregularity. Out of these charges have developed petitions for receivership and ouster. In the hearing of evidence before a commissioner in chancery in this receivership case much light has been thrown on the conduct of the city's financial affairs, issuance of bonds, letting of contracts and numerous charges of petty graft have been heard.

The Commissioners Left. Commissioner Park Marshall, elected by the commission to succeed Andrews, and Commissioner J. D. Alexander, of the fire department, against whom no proceedings have been instituted, are continuing members of the city commission. It is asserted that the city's credit and financial standing are in no way involved, the movement being directed against officials for alleged objectionable conduct of their trusts.

Defendants in the ouster case announced an appeal, but under provisions of the statute they are barred from doing so until the supreme court's final action.

Public Favor. Public favor, won by sincere advertising, can be easily lost unless the public is continually reminded of the existence of the merchandise and its desirability.

Mr. Merchant, do you, as a keen, progressive, far-sighted business man, know of any better method of placing your goods in the spotlight of public favor than The Constitution?

Don't you know that thousands of families consider The Constitution the standard guide of "where-to-buy"?

Why not join the ranks of those who associate the words "Constitution" and "Results" as inevitably as "Advertising" and "Prosperity"?

The Constitution brings the highest percentage of results because it reaches the people who have money to spend and spend it for dependable merchandise.

PROHIBITION LEADERS PREPARE FOR ACTION

In Caucus at Anale Hotel Name Fullbright Floor Leader.

That an organized effort to secure the passage of certain radical prohibition measures will be made was indicated when the prohibition leaders of the house met in caucus last night at the Hotel Anale, named Henry J. Fullbright, of Burke, floor leader and supported him with a strong advisory board.

The board is composed of Representatives Hopkins, Dickerson, Yeomans, Edwards, Dorris and Culpepper. The only thing the house temperance committee did yesterday afternoon was to recommend unfavorably the Fullbright local option bill, whose passage in the house, if it had been recommended favorably, would have been very doubtful. But as yet the house temperance committee has not presented any bills for the consideration of the house.

Whether last night's prohibition caucus was connected in any way with the temperance committee's meeting yesterday afternoon was not stated last night, but the caucus is regarded as the initiative of a strong prohibition movement to prevent the death of prohibition measures in the house committee, as it is claimed has happened in the past, and to bring before the general assembly the measures which have been introduced for some sort of decisive action.

Probably a stronger leadership could not have been selected for prohibition in the house than that chosen last night. The meeting was presided over by Judge Hopkins. A number of Atlanta prohibition workers were present as invited guests. They included Thomas B. Felder, W. Woods White, Dr. H. M. DuRoss and others.

4,300 Cases Handled by Recorder Johnson in Space of 98 Days

Names in Big Police Court Docket Represent Those Who Have Run Whole Gamut of Petty Crime.

When Clarence DeLong, a negro, charged with disorderly conduct, had been fined $5.75 by Judge Johnson in the recorder's court Monday afternoon, the big docket book on which is entered the disposition of all cases was filled to the last line, showing that four thousand three hundred prisoners had passed before the judge in the 98 days between April 19 and July 26, 1915.

Between those two dates Judge Johnson has passed upon cases running the whole gamut. On the chicken thief and the murderer he has sat in judgment. He has listened to heartrending statements by mothers and fathers pleading for wayward sons and daughters and sometimes in the same hour watched the hardened criminal receive sentence with the calm of one long accustomed to hearing similar words.

The first man whose name appeared on the big book Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock on April 19, was George Miller, a negro, charged with disorderly conduct. The judge fined him $10.55, and made the first marks on the first page of the big volume.

MINISTER EXONERATED FOR KILLING IN 1870

Rev. W. H. McCart, Who Slew Monroe Smith, Acquitted at Covington.

Covington, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Rev. W. H. McCart, charged with the murder of Monroe Smith, a neighbor, forty-five years ago, was acquitted this afternoon after the jury had deliberated an hour and five minutes.

McCart, who is gray-haired and evidently over 60 years old, told the jury that he felt justified in shooting Smith on the double ground of self-defense and because the latter had insulted McCart's mother.

"I have thought of this thing often during the forty-five years since I killed him," he said. "If I had my life to live over, I would do the same thing. He insulted my mother, and would have killed me if I hadn't shot him. All the witnesses who testified to the tragedy of 1870 were aged, and some were so deaf that they were questioned with difficulty. Shortly after the killing and the consequent indictment, McCart left Georgia and since then had been engaged in many lines of work in various parts of the globe. For the past few years he had been a missionary in the Hawaiian islands. He returned to Newton county recently."

McCart made his statement to the jury in clear voice, and spoke not longer than ten minutes. He asserted that his mother had told him of injuries at the hands of Smith, and that the following morning he had been missionary in the Hawaiian islands. He returned to Newton county recently.

PRISON FARM MESSAGE COMPLETED BY HARRIS

To Be Presented Today—Will Not Censure Prison Commission, But Lack of Funds.

Governor Harris yesterday afternoon completed writing his special message to the general assembly upon the subject of the state penitentiary, and the message will be presented to the house and senate some time this morning.

The contents of the message were made public yesterday, but it is understood that Governor Harris will outline the conditions that he found at the farm and will explicate the prison commission for responsibility for the attack on Frank and for any undesirable conditions that he may have found at the prison. The blame for conditions, it is believed, will be placed upon the lack of funds.

Looking to bettering conditions the governor, while he will not name any specific sum, will recommend that the general assembly be as liberal as possible in its appropriations for the state penitentiary. Harris will also call attention to the present law which, it is claimed, provides that the revenue derived from tax on the sale of near beer shall be used by the prison commission to get her money back. Mrs. Martha M. Leland, a Montreal widow, former Cleveland restaurant cashier, today filed suits aggregating $100,000 against Frank Rockefeller, brother of the oil king.

GERMANS HALTED IN WARSAW DRIVE BY RUSSIAN FORCES

Where the Kaiser's Armies Are Moving at All It Is Yard by Yard and at Tremendous Cost.

BATTLES ARE AT HEIGHT ALONG A BROAD FRONT

Fighting Especially Severe in Territory Where Von Mackensen Is Engaged. French Are on the Offensive in Alsace.

London, July 27.—Austro-German attempts to envelop the Russian armies defending Warsaw and to capture the Polish capital, which for a time progressed almost with the momentum of the offensive that cleared Galicia of Russians, have been almost halted, and where the Germans are moving it is only yard by yard and at tremendous cost.

The German field marshal, Von Mackensen, has taken a few villages on the way to the Lublin-Cholm railway, between the Vistula and the Bug rivers, and the Austrians, by a counter offensive at Sokal, have taken positions which will make the German flank safer, but Berlin once more reports that "otherwise the position of the German troops under Von Mackensen remains unchanged."

Along the western bank of the Vistula from Ivangorod to Novogorodsk even a smaller advance apparently has been made, while along the Narow, Von Hindenburg, who has been trying to drive a wedge in behind the city, is largely occupied in meeting Russian counter attacks.

These counter attacks, according to Petrograd, have forced Germans who had crossed the river to return to the northern bank at points, but Berlin asserts they failed and that the German advance is moving eastward.

The Russians, defeated in the Baltic, have recently been repulsed, but Berlin says an attack from Mtau was repulsed.

Further north the Germans continue their advance eastward towards the Petrograd railway, but there is a lot of territory to cover before this is reached, and it is considered more likely that General von Buelow, in charge of the German forces, will retreat to threaten Russian armies facing Von Hindenburg.

Everywhere the battles are at their height, especially that in which Von Mackensen is engaged. Military critics here believe that this is the most critical engagement of the campaign, for the whole German plan depends on Von Mackensen's reaching the Lublin-Cholm railway.

With interest centered on the east, the important French offensive in Alsace has been almost discarded. Paris reports another success north of Munster, which apparently is the French objective, and the repulse of a German counter attack. The French have concentrated the heaviest artillery in this region and with high explosives have been tearing up the German defensive works, among the strongest along the whole front.

Artillery also is playing an important part in the battle on the Isonzo, where the Italians are reported to have concentrated for three days their fire on the Austro-German lines. This fire is said to have succeeded in the village of Serok. We captured one Zeppelin and 700 prisoners and several machine guns. An enemy counter-attack from Constantinople was repulsed by armored motor cars.

On the left bank of the Vistula at daybreak Monday there was a successful bayonet charge, the enemy's attack to approach the front. Russian forces, however, (southeastern front) being repulsed. On the Vistula and the Viegars tranquility prevailed.

PEOPLE TO RATIFY CHARTER CHANGES

Council at Meeting With Fulton Delegation Passes Motion Urging Support of Measure and Putting Matter Up to Voters.

General council last night at a joint conference with the Fulton delegation in the house went on record as disapproving of certain changes in the city charter without first having them ratified by the vote of the people of Atlanta.

On motion the body unanimously voted to ask the people to ratify the act placing the election of a waterworks superintendent and chief of construction in the hands of council, and the act to pave streets on the ten-year payment plan.

Disagreeing with the Fulton county representatives in their views on proposed amendments, general council passed unanimously a motion urging the Fulton delegation to advocate a bill providing for the amendments. The bill has been introduced in the house of representatives and was referred to the committee on municipal government. Although the action of the whole committee will doubtless be governed largely by the opinions of the Fulton members, the representatives from this county refrained from taking any concerted action in the matter at the joint meeting with council last night.

In regard to the proposed plan of ten-year payments by property owners for street paving, the council motion instructs the Fulton members to try to give further protection to the property owners against undesirable solicitation by contractors, to increase the percentage of property owners necessary to warrant the paving of a street from 51 per cent to 66 2-3 per cent, and to provide for the advertisement of intention to pave a street three times instead of once.

Councilmen urged among other amendments that the selection of general manager of the city waterworks department and of the chief of construction be taken from the power of the people and placed in the hands of council.

Although the legislators did not pass any formal motion on these recommendations, the members individually indicated their opposition to the pavement plan, and to the removal of the people's power to select the waterworks and construction officials. The chief of police, Walter E. Andrews, Judge C. H. Atkinson and Honorable E. B. Blackburn.

Atkinson Opposes Plan. At the meeting last night Judge Atkinson stated that he was opposed to the plan of paving already contracted for the street pavement on the people owning frontage on the street. He said that the city should bear one-third of the expense in order to induce the contractor to accept the city officials.

Representative Walter Andrews made a plea for legislation in favor of "the little man." He said that the big man could take care of himself, but the little man was going to saddle the little man with a ten-year indebtedness, stated the gentleman from Fulton. "There is too much room in this new pavement plan for the contractor to make a profit. They have come to me and asked me to support the amendment, hoping they to persuade you to let them pave these streets whether necessary or not. They will play both ends against the middle."

"If this should become the paving policy of this city you would see the worst middle that ever happened on the pavement plan. I don't want to show to make those who live on a street put down sidewalks, paving, sewers and everything. It's the city's street. Isn't the city interested? Isn't the city partner?"

"The city partner" was weak and humble a man, he is entitled to have this council protect him, and you are not going to do that if you leave him alone to deal with the contractors."

Councilman Ashley stated that all the most progressive cities of the north have paving policies along this line. He outlined the present Atlanta law, under which 51 per cent of the abutting owners on a street sign a petition to have the street paved. Then the city, he explained, pays one-third, and the owners have three years in which to pay the other two-thirds.

Defending the amendments proposed by council, Councilman McCord stated that it is against the law for any contractor to solicit contracts for paving among the property owners. He considers the proposition "perfectly fair and reasonable."

Let People Decide. Councilman Freeman asked that the representatives be requested to refer the proposition to the people. "Do not kill the amendments," he urged, "but let the people of Atlanta vote on it, and believe they will adopt it. They will also adopt, I believe, the ten-year payment sewerage plan. Extension of payments on sewer and street improvements is what the people want."

Tom Winn, of the county board of public works, stated that council could never raise money for street construction through a bond issue, because it would so overload a bond issue that the people would vote it down. He charged Atlanta with practicing an economy policy of "extravagant economy." He stated further that the city was all-

MOB STORMED LEGATION TO SEIZE THE BUTCHER

Oscar Was Shot to Death Before Door of Dominican Representative—Rebels Control City—President Guillaume Takes Refuge in French Legation.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, July 27.—A revolution more terrible in the toll thus far taken than any even in the days of Nord Alexis, flamed today at the Haitian capital. It was an offshoot of the movement to the north, where the adherents of Dr. Rosalvo Bobo, twice expelled from Haiti, for several months have been striving to break the powerful Haitian president, General Vilbrun Guillaume.

One hundred and sixty men, including a former president of Haiti, General Orestes Zamor, have been executed by order of General Oscar, governor of Port Au Prince, who last in the day was dragged from the shelter of the Dominican legation and riddled with bullets.

Number of Dead Not Known. President Guillaume and members of his family have taken refuge in the French legation, an attack upon which has been threatened; the presidential palace has been partly destroyed after an attack which lasted for hours, and the revolutionists are in possession of the city. How many persons have been shot down in the streets and the government buildings cannot be learned, but the clashes between the local supporters of the president and the rebels were carried on with furious determination on the one side and desperate resolution of the other.

Eventually President Guillaume, General Oscar and the chief of police, who were defending the palace with the aid of the president's personal staff and other troops who had remained loyal, were obliged to flee. At that time one section of the palace was burning.

In State of Panic. Port Au Prince has been in a state of panic for days. No one knew when he might be seized and cast into prison; there has been wholesale arrests, apparently without cause, by order of the president or some of those close to him.

Successes gained by the revolutionists in the northwest were convincing proof to the president and government officials that their course soon would be run. Therefore they viewed with suspicion various individuals and organizations. One regiment of soldiers was disbanded. It is this regiment, which at 4 o'clock this morning descended on the palace.

Guillaume and those who acted as his guard offered a stubborn resistance, but were greatly outnumbered. The palace was abandoned by the president, but some of the other continued its defense.

Wave of Indignation. Soon word of the massacre of the police prisoners was circulated and a fierce wave of indignation swept over the capital. Many who had not originally been identified with the rising took up arms. The Dominican legation was invaded and the governor of Port Au Prince paid the price with his life.

A similar execution of political prisoners took place in March, 1903, though it was by no means so great an extent. Nord Alexis then was president. His officials declared that those executed were engaged in a revolution, but a few months later Nord Alexis was deposed and deported from the country.

So far as is known no foreigner has suffered in the present rising and it is expected that American warships will be sent to Haiti.

Purpose of Postponement. From British sources however, it is learned that the main purpose of asking the postponement of publication was to give the British government opportunity to consider and, if necessary, comment on the communication called from Washington, July 17, on cases before their prize courts.

He Is Given Life Term, Also Death Sentence; Queer Arkansas Mix-Up

Little Rock, Ark., July 27.—Sam Bell, convicted of killing four of his wife's relatives in Conway county, was sentenced to life imprisonment in one case and to the electric chair in a case tried later. The attorney general held in a similar case that it is optional to pardon a prisoner whether he accepts a pardon. As it stands officers say Bell cannot be executed under the death sentence, nor can he be sent to the state convict farm under the life sentence, because he is supposed to occupy the death cell in the life term.

HUSBAND DROWNS, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Herman J. Martin, Patrol Leader, Drowns in Trying to Save Tom Butler at Shelnut Pond Tuesday.

While his beautiful young wife stood on the bank and watched him make a heroic effort to save the life of Tom Butler, a member of the East Point Boy Scout patrol, who was drowning in the Shelnut mill pond, near Chamblee, Ga., at noon Tuesday, Herman J. Martin, patrol leader of the Boy Scouts, fought with the drowning boy and sank to his death before her eyes.

Mr. Martin was employed as a stenographer at the Atlanta Utility works, and resides at the corner of West Washington avenue and Sims street, in East Point. Tom Butler, the boy he was trying to save, resided on West Washington avenue. Mrs. Martin later attempted to commit suicide with her husband's revolver, driven out of her mind by the tragedy.

Sought to Reach Raft.

Mr. Martin was patrol leader of the troop and, with his wife, was chaperoning the party. They had all been in swimming just a little before 12 o'clock, and one of the boys, Tom Butler, who was not considered to be a good swimmer, was in the middle of the pond, swimming toward a raft on which Wright Hudson, another camper, was waiting for him.

According to Hudson, who was seen shortly after the tragedy by a Constitution reporter, he had noticed that the Butler boy was swimming in a fatigued way, but thought he could make it to the raft.

Just before taking the last stroke to the raft Butler uttered a cry and sank beneath the water.

Mr. Martin, who was standing on the bank keeping an eye on the boys, immediately jumped to the rescue, and, appearing to be just in time to grab him as he came up for the first time, Butler then found his arms around Martin's neck and in the manner they struggled in the water for a few seconds while the other boys in the party all swam toward them.

Used With Cramp.

According to the Hudson youth, Martin must have been attacked by cramp, as they both went down and did not come up a second time.

Mrs. Martin, wife of the young patrol leader, who was standing on the bank, was horrified at the scene being enacted before her eyes.

When she saw her husband sink and stay under the water she threw her

BECKER MAY BE HEARD ON HIS NEW TRIAL PLEA

Justice Ford May Elect to Hear Condemned Man's Story From Own Lips.

New York, July 27.—Whether Charles Becker, twice convicted of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will be in the electric chair or not will be decided by Justice John Ford, who, after receiving briefs on a motion for a new trial filed by Becker, also filed a supplemental brief covering points raised by District Attorney C. A. Perkins. Since Justice Ford can call for witnesses and indicate his desire to hear them, it was believed he would decide that Becker be brought from Ossining to testify in his own behalf.

Becker's failure to testify at his trials as follows:

In the case the defendant remained silent during his trial not through fear of any disgraceful revelation or through a reluctance to admit a damaging confession, but through a quixotic notion of loyalty to a plaintiff, itself in violation of the defendant's duty. Indeed his conduct in this respect is so extraordinary that it will be considered incredible.

The district attorney's brief contends that the justice has not the sovereign power to grant a new trial to a convicted felon. The justice's jurisdiction is limited by statutory provisions. The so-called new evidence is declared to be cumulative and inadmissible to impeach witnesses at former hearings. It is declared valueless because "the great mass of evidence is irrelevant. It is contended also that the so-called new evidence was known to the defendant at the time of his second trial.

It was reported tonight that Becker was preparing another motion for a new trial. The statement was said to be given out by the execution takes place.

COUNCIL DIRECTS CREMATORY PROBE

Committee of Ten Named at Special Session Tuesday to Determine Whether the Odors Arise From Plant.

A special committee of ten was named by the general council yesterday afternoon to make an investigation of the crematory, the main object of which will be to ascertain if any disagreeable odors arise from the burning of garbage.

During the meeting Attorney George Spence, of the firm of Evans, Spence & Moore, who represents the New York Destructor company, gave a detailed account of the operations of the crematory and of the fight he claimed had been made against the company by Mayor Woodward and Councilman Claude L. Ashley.

"We have been unjustly attacked," he said, "and we have already reached a point where we are ready to close down the crematory whenever the city may desire it done. We know our cause is just and we know we will get every dollar of the city's money."

Mayor Reads Letters of Complaint.

The meeting was called by Mayor Woodward, who read a number of communications from citizens who made complaint of odors arising from the crematory. The mayor read the following some of the letters to Judge Newman, of the United States district court, because the crematory was now in the courts. Judge Newman, he said, had replied that he thought the city might advise the city what to do.

The chief complaints came from officials of the Terminal station, who claimed that the odors from the crematory were almost unbearable.

Councilman Ashley submitted a report from the sanitary committee which visited the crematory last Sunday. The report stated that the plant was not made to burn all the garbage and that the pit had not been cleaned out during the entire month of July. The odors from decayed garbage, it was stated, were bad and could be detected three or four blocks away.

Reduce Daily Consumption.

The committee offered a resolution calling upon the sanitary department to haul only 200 tons of garbage a day to the crematory and dump the rest some other place.

Alderman Thomson offered a substitute naming a committee of ten to make a thorough investigation of the plant and report to council next Monday afternoon.

Mayor Woodward made a brief statement before the council and he had made his duty and it was now up to the members of council to give the people the right answer.

Spence was invited to address the council. He gave a complete history of the fight that the city had made against the crematory ever since Mayor Woodward went into office. He said the mayor had elected the crematory and he showed statistics to prove that the plant had done all that it could do. He said he had written Councilman Ashley, he said, to have his fight as soon as the mayor placed him at the head of the sanitation department.

Chief Justice Fair and Just.

"The sanitary chief," said Mr. Spence, "has done all he could to be fair and just. He is the chief officer and he has done his duty. What has been done to the fire chief and the police chief and he is no fool."

He said the company was ready to close down the plant at any time.

Mr. Spence had with him a brief of the operations of the plant. He said the special master of the United States district court and he read statements from it to show that under the sworn testimony the company had carried out its contract in every particular and that the city, through the mayor and the chairman of the sanitary committee had caused the company trouble and expense without any cause what ever.

Spence Claims Fight Unfair.

Mr. Spence spoke for thirty minutes and during that time furnished the council with much information about the operations of the plant. He concluded by saying that any fair-minded and just man would know if he took the city's case to court that the fight on the company had been without cause or excuse.

W. E. Gloag, general baggage agent and W. E. Sauer, an employee of the Terminal station, stated that the odors from the crematory made the Terminal station untenable. He said that the odors were so bad that he had to leave the station. He said that the odors were so bad that he had to leave the station. He said that the odors were so bad that he had to leave the station.

SAILORS OF EELANAW TAKEN ON SUBMARINE

Washington, July 27.—Information on one point—whether the American steamer Eelanaw's captain was requested to deliver and the contents of his cargo and was willing to do so—is needed before American officials can determine the nature of representations which may be made by Germany on the vessels destruction by a German submarine.

The Prussian American treaty of 1825 provided that the vessels of either party, when encountered in time of war, should not be captured. The treaty was given up. Should it develop that the Eelanaw's skipper was being successful in obtaining the United States will present evidence describing the occurrence as a violation of that treaty.

The German commander evidently followed the rules of visit and search to the letter, according to official reports that are being received here. Caution taken for the safety of the crew. Consul General Skinner, at London, sent today the following message:

Eelanaw's crew proceeding to inquire the captain to jettison ship stores to consular agent at Kirkwall. It had ample time to leave ship before being fired upon. The crew on board submarine and remained some time. Ship's boats taken in tow 50 miles.

Previous messages reported that the crew landed at Kirkwall in the Eelanaw's boats.

The saving of the crew removed from the case aspects which might have been brought into the case. In the absence of tension today for officials regarded the case only as diplomatic, and the discovery probably will be admitted by Germany. It was thought the fact that Germany is occupying the moorings of the Eelanaw in the case of the William P. Frye had led to the belief that a similar position would be taken in this instance.

A circular note Germany sent to neutrals which reached here, which offered to arbitrate disputes which might arise in connection with attacks on neutral vessels, was discussed today on the possibility that in the event of a deadlock on the interpretation of the treaty the subject might eventually be submitted for arbitration.

Merchant of Aberdeen Is Shot From Ambush

B. J. Perry Believed to Be Dying—Had Been Active Against Moonshiners.

Fayetteville, Ga., July 27.—(Special) B. J. Perry, a prominent merchant of Aberdeen, in the western part of this county, is believed to be dying tonight as the result of being shot this morning by an unknown party while squirrel-hunting in Black creek swamp, a mile from Aberdeen.

Although struck by a load of buckshot in the face, throat and chest, Perry managed to crawl 100 yards to a road before becoming unconscious. Lunt Grier, driving by in a buggy, found him and carried him home.

Perry has had but few conscious moments since the shooting, and the few words he has been able to speak to his wife have been only the information that the attack was intentional, and that he does not know who his assailant was. It is believed that he was shot from ambush. Doctors in attendance state that he is sinking rapidly.

Perry has been taking an active part in trying to stop illicit distilling in his section of the county.

AID TO RESERVISTS MATTER FOR COURTS

Washington, July 27.—The state department contemplates no interference in cases before the department of justice in which foreign subjects have been indicted for alleged aid to their countrymen, homeward bound for military service.

This was the impression conveyed to day to the Russian ambassador, who called at the department regarding Montenegrin agents under arrest in Chicago and Seattle. The ambassador was told that as the department of justice had started proceedings, nothing could be done until the courts had passed on the questions involved.

The Russian embassy is calling for Montenegrin interests here in the absence of a minister from Montenegro. A similar reply was made recently to the British ambassador, who inquired as to the status of British subjects indicted for alleged aid to their countrymen. It is recalled as certain that diplomatic protests will follow convictions.

The British view is that the act prohibits only the hiring of persons here for service in the foreign army in other quarters. It is argued that the prevention of the enlistment of American citizens in foreign armies was what the foreign enlistment act sought to accomplish, and that it did not apply to citizens resident in the United States.

When You Patronize Home Industries You Are Doing Your Part Toward Upbuilding Your Home Community

AND YOU ARE GETTING JUST AS GOOD GOODS AS MONEY CAN BUY

Some people buy blindly—or thoughtlessly. They haven't stopped to consider that right here under their nose—right in their own home community—that their neighbor is getting his pay envelope from one of our local manufacturers who make just as good goods—at no higher price—than those they have bought with an imported label.

If they bought more of the goods made at home they would help to create employment for more people. And then there's the satisfaction to the retailer when home factories are patronized.

These manufacturers are big contributors to the development of a community. They employ our home people. The money the retailer pays them goes right back into the hands of home people with which to buy clothes and groceries and pay house rent—and school the children.

If you are a retailer, carry home-made goods. If you are a consumer, insist upon the goods made at home. These manufacturers will serve you and please you.

TECH'S MODEST REQUEST.

In presenting the state a new and splendid power plant, magnificently equipped with modern machinery of all kinds for the practical instruction of its students, representing a value of $200,000, the Georgia School of Technology is asking the state for an annual appropriation of $10,000 for its operation and maintenance, a sum equivalent to just 5 per cent of the investment.

When the small and inadequate power plant which the institution has been using until now failed in service, and conditions reached a crisis for lack of necessary power to operate its machinery, appeals for relief were several times made to the legislature, but without result.

Under these circumstances Tech officials, aided by public spirited citizens, made an appeal to the people of Atlanta and raised $80,000 for the erection of a new building which is now nearing completion.

For this building presidents of leading machinery manufacturing concerns of the north and east have gladly supplied the equipment, giving something like $125,000 worth of it solely on a basis of the advertising value involved in its use by hundreds of students who will ultimately become the industrial leaders of the south.

There is involved in the legislative action upon this appropriation the very efficiency of the institution. Deprived of power, its facilities for practical instruction would be useless, and that character of instruction is the vital element of technological training.

PATRONIZE HOME LABOR.

The Atlanta Clearing House for Unemployed, which has gained recognition from the United States department of labor for its good work, is asking the co-operation of the Atlanta public in a more loyal patronage of home labor.

ployed, who are a subject of national as well as state and municipal concern. The Atlanta agency draws no aid from the city, the state, nor any civic institution. The expenses of the office are paid by a public spirited citizen, and the board of directors is composed of five well-known Atlanta women.

At the recent meeting in Detroit, Mich., of representatives of employment bureaus, state commissioners of labor, and officers from the United States bureau of labor, the most definite message sent out was that the establishment of the public registry for the unemployed was a negative aid unless it carried with it the supplementary effort to find employment for the people, and to interest employers generally in their obligation to the employment bureau.

To assume that Atlanta has not her part of the unemployed in this moment of world-wide distress would be irrational. She has her element of unemployed among both men and women, representing the professions, business, the trades and domestic labor.

The Atlanta institution for the unemployed is not asking money, but co-operation from citizens generally, in helping place the unemployed in creating labor for them, one hour's time goes farther than the giving of one dollar indiscriminately.

PROTECTION FOR LAND TITLES.

There is something well worth thinking about in the proposal pending before the Georgia legislature to place adequate and much needed protection around Georgia land titles.

When a man puts a dollar in a bank, federal and state laws throw every possible safeguard around it. Each bank must conduct itself in complete accord with laws laid down by state or nation, as the case may be, and if there is any deviation they are promptly called to account for it.

No such provision is made with reference to the ownership of real estate. A man may own a piece of real estate worth $1,000 or $100,000, and it is equally subject to doubt arising from multiplied irregularities almost as numerous as the number of counties in which legal records of real estate transactions are kept.

Why shouldn't the man with a valuable piece of property which is a fixed and immovable entity be just as much entitled to protection as a man with a dollar in the bank?

There is a bill pending now in the legislature to remedy this evil, but strangely enough they have not aroused that degree of enthusiasm which the circumstances of the situation demand. One of these measures proposes a system of land title registration—a simplified form of the plan already adopted by other states; another seeks to perfect and unify the recording of titles and all the documentary evidence relating to them.

The Constitution publishes today a comprehensive statement from J. T. Holleman, who, having been long engaged in the business of making real estate loans all over Georgia, is in a position to know just what are the difficulties with which Georgia land owners have to contend, and something about the remedies that are needed.

Mr. Holleman's statement is most interesting, showing in detail the difficulties with which real estate owners now have to contend. A perusal of it will convince any man of the necessity of some action which will have the effect of relieving the doubt cast upon many transactions in land because of the numerous variations in the method of keeping the records—almost as many as there are counties in the state.

Far from viewing it as a trespass upon their province, the clerks of the superior courts and other county officers interested, will undoubtedly welcome legislation which would result in furnishing them a well-defined and systematic plan of keeping county records. They are as deeply interested as any one in a satisfactory solution of this problem.

The land registration bill and that proposing supervision of county records are companion measures. They will work well together. The two systems, properly carried out, would bring about a revolution in the protection and safeguarding of titles in the state that would put value into every piece of property in it.

As it is, we are transacting the biggest business that is carried on in the state in a careless and slipshod manner, which jeopardizes every foot of farm land in Georgia. There isn't a man in the state that would carry on his own business under the same conditions as must often be accepted by those who buy or sell or lend money on land.

There is no need of the legislature spending any great amount of time on this matter. The experiences of other states are known; it is known, too, what forms of laws have brought the best results. These have been studied and presented in the pending measure. The legislature cannot go wrong in enacting them.

Georgia's Lost Monument To Gen. Nathaniel Greene

By Sam W. Small.

Those Tar-heels up in North Carolina put one over on us Georgians in very nifty fashion. And we were there, officially represented, consenting to the throw-out.

At Guilford, early in the month, there was unveiled a splendid equestrian statue to Gen. Nathaniel Greene, the Revolutionary genius from Rhode Island, who was so able a lieutenant to Washington, and who drove Cornwallis from North Carolina and Lord Rawdon from South Carolina.

At the close of the war Greene returned to Rhode Island for a year, but his interests in Georgia drew upon his affections, and he sailed back to Savannah with his family and took up his residence at Mulberry Grove.

In one of the early congresses after the permanent organization of the government under the constitution—but which congress I cannot now recall—a resolution, or act, was passed making a liberal appropriation from the national treasury for the erection of a monument to General Greene, which memorial was to be located in Savannah.

A few years ago the writer brought the matter to the attention of then Congressman William G. Brantley, who promised to look up the matter and endeavor to revive the appropriation, so that the Greene memorial might be erected in Savannah.

It matters little how good our real estate laws are, if the county records are not properly kept there will be title troubles of all sorts. As a matter of fact, the real estate laws of Georgia are not so good as those of other states, and better than a good many.

Editor Constitution. The Constitution is doing great work for the people in the open belt in protecting against cotton blockades by Mr. Brantley. I want to pull off my hat to you and say that you have led in this great movement, and I hope, by continuing hammering at it, you will get results.

LAND TITLE CONDITIONS IN GEORGIA APPALPING; REMEDY IS ESSENTIAL

Editor Constitution. I read with interest the communication of Mr. David C. Barrow, of Pelham, Ga., in your paper of the 12th inst., in which he commends the bill introduced by Senator Boykin for the purpose of creating the office of supervisor of county officials and county records.

The supervisor or the Torrens registrar will find that the county lines in numerous instances are definitely known and cannot be located, that the land lot numbers in many counties have been abandoned in the past, and that the land lot lines have disappeared, they will find the area of the state lying east of the Oconee river which has never been surveyed into lots and where the lands are described by metes and bounds and by monuments that have long since been destroyed.

Every banking institution in this state, whether doing business under the state or national law, must make sworn returns of its assets and liabilities, and these returns are published in the newspapers.

Deeds Improperly Executed. The supervisor and the Torrens examiners will find on the records thousands of deeds and mortgages that were improperly executed and are voidable at the option of the grantor or the mortgagee.

It matters little how good our real estate laws are, if the county records are not properly kept there will be title troubles of all sorts. As a matter of fact, the real estate laws of Georgia are not so good as those of other states, and better than a good many.

NEW AUTO TAX BILL REPORTED FAVORABLY

Provides Distribution of Fund According to County's Total Mileage.

The committee on ways and means yesterday afternoon recommended that the Jones automobile license tax bill be passed by substitute and it will be reported back to the house this morning.

The bill, which was drawn by Mr. Jones, of Coweta, was to take the tax on the basis of the county's mileage. It was referred by the ways and means committee to a subcommittee.

The two principal changes in the substitute are in the scale of taxation and in the manner of distribution of the general road fund accruing from the sale of license tags.

The present law provides that the general road fund derived from this source shall be divided among the various counties of the state upon a basis of rural route mileage. There is at least one county in the state, and maybe several which have not a single mile of rural route mileage.

The substitute bill amends the original law so that the basis of distribution to the various counties shall be the public road mileage outside of the county limits of towns in the county.

PASSAGE PREDICTED OF ENDOWMENT BILL

Resume Debate Today—Necessary 126 Votes for Adoption Said to Be Assured.

The endowment bill which seeks to exempt college endowments from taxation was still being debated when the house adjourned yesterday afternoon.

The consensus of opinion among members of the house is that the bill will be passed. It has already passed the senate. As the measure calls for a constitutional amendment, it will take a two-thirds vote of the house for it to pass, which is 126 votes.

Mr. Blackburn, of Fulton, resumed the debate Tuesday morning, the house having adjourned Monday when he had the floor. He spoke for half an hour.

Mr. Edwards, of Haralson, spoke against the bill taking the position that to exempt the college endowments from taxation would be the same as appropriating the amount of the taxes.

Mr. Atkinson, of DeKalb, spoke in favor of the bill because it will give the young people of Georgia who must be equipped for the battle of life.

Mr. Atkinson's able address, which he made at this session of the legislature, had the profound attention of all the members of the house, and at one time was applauded.

Committees Approve Measures Affecting State Health Board

The tax provided for in the bill to enlarge the powers of the state board of health for the better preservation of the public health by conserving the purity of the natural water supplies of the state, brought up a long discussion in the house committee on hygiene and sanitation yesterday.

The bill, which was introduced by Mr. Allen, of Jackson, and Mr. Sheffield, of Early, was recommended to pass by substitute when the tax was prorated according to population of the municipalities. Instead of a single tax for each town and city the bill was made to provide a tax of $100 yearly on all cities over 25,000 inhabitants, $50 for towns between 10,000 and 25,000, and a tax of $25 for all towns under 10,000.

NO SEPARATE PEACE SOUGHT BY TURKEY

Reports Denied by Turk Minister—Admits Turkey Would Welcome Peace.

Geneva, July 27.—(Via Paris)—Nedjemken Effendi, the Turkish minister of justice, who came to Switzerland last week, has been operated on for appendicitis at Lausanne, and will be accompanied by F. Passun Eskeff Effendi, who accompanied Nedjemken, denied reports today that he and Nedjemken were here invested with official powers to open separate peace negotiations with the triple entente powers.

"Turkey did not desire this war," F. Passun Effendi said to the Associated Press correspondent, "and would gladly see the arrival of peace, but all recent rumors concerning Turkey seeking a separate peace are untrue."

Asked what was the object of the visit of himself and Nedjemken, F. Passun Effendi said that it was due primarily to the necessity of an operation on Nedjemken and secondarily that they might spend a holiday in Switzerland after the great strain both had been under since the war began.

With regard to the stoppage of the passage to Constantinople to Turkey by Romania, F. Passun Effendi said: "In such a situation Turkey naturally cannot have an abundance of ammunition, but we are working hard at the end. The Turkish soldiers are fighting with the greatest heroism and death and that if we are defeated our national liberty will be ended. The Balkan war was a war of injustice because Turkey gave more liberty to Macedonia subjects than they deserved."

Tassen Hussan Bey, former Turkish governor of Palestine, is also in Lausanne. He stated that he had declared the Austro-Germans would be the victors.

The note was written in a clear, legible hand and showed no trace of nervousness. The body was carried to Fort Gaines, his former home, for interment.

GRADY TRUSTEES URGE $500,000 BOND ISSUE
Declare Amount Proposed by Council Not Sufficient for Needs.
Colonel Robert J. Lowry, president of the Grady board of trustees, and other members of the board, in the regular monthly session Tuesday afternoon, declared that city council ought not to appropriate in the general bond issue less than $500,000 for improvements at the hospital.
"Conditions are such at Grady," declared Colonel Lowry, "as to make it mandatory upon council to grant us more than $375,000. I have heard scores of voters say they would fight the bond issue unless Grady hospital was given a larger appropriation than $375,000, which has been allotted us for needed improvements requiring not less than $500,000."
"If there is no other way for us to get council to apportion more money for Grady in the proposed general bond issue," said Dr. W. E. Foster, "I for one, am in favor of passing resolutions framing in violent language, demanding from council that Grady hospital needs be recognized, and at least $500,000 be given this institution."

Dr. Martin, who is president of the Grady Training School for Nurses and a vice president of the Grady trustees, declared that Councilman J. L. McCord and J. C. White had done all for Grady in getting $375,000 apportioned that could be done and urged that no action be taken asking for more than this amount.
"I agree fully with everything that has been said about the needs of Grady requiring at least $500,000," said Dr. Martin, "but think it would be unwise for us to ask for more now, as council has already passed a resolution asking the city attorney to draw up an ordinance for the general bond issue, including Grady hospital's apportionment of $375,000."
No action was taken in this respect, but a committee was named to work with a committee of council, headed by Alderman J. N. Eadsdale, to confer with the county commissioners in regard to a plan to make Grady hospital a county and city institution. This committee is to report before any action is taken by the board.
The following trustees were named on this committee: Elkin, Newell and Martin.
This committee, with the addition of the names of Trustees Hirsch and Foster, was also empowered by a resolution in Vermonter to make a study of the police committee of council to ask that a "quiet zone" be installed around Grady hospital, and that traffic with the exception of rubber-tired vehicles, not be allowed on Butler street near the Grady hospital.

Roosevelt Trooper Leaves Pen to Go To Mother's Funeral
Permission Granted From Washington for Life-Term in Federal Prison to Make Trip Under Guard.
The principal mourner at the funeral of "Aunt" Sallie Carlisle in LaGrange today will be under the guard of a uniformed man with an automatic revolver in his pocket.
It will be her son Mathew, colored, fighter under Theodore Roosevelt's historical command at San Juan, who is now serving a life sentence in federal prison.

His family live in LaGrange. It was twenty years ago that he last saw his mother, an aged, ante-bellum negroess, who held the good will of the entire community. She died Monday and her funeral will be held today.
The prisoner pleaded with Warden Zerbst to be permitted to attend the ceremonies.
The warden was so deeply touched with the thought that he was talking with Attorney General Gregory in Washington, Gregory wired back permission to make the trip, and why Mrs. Carlisle, under custody of Captain of Guards Julian Schoen, will leave Atlanta this morning at 8 o'clock, returning tonight at 7.
All expenses of the trip will be paid by the prisoner.

Burns Wife's Gown In Grate; Must Pay Her Monthly Alimony
Elbert F. Patton, a young telegraph operator, didn't like what he termed the "bizarre" style of his wife's new empire gown, so he burned it in the home grate precipitating court action that resulted in a verdict commanding him to pay $20 alimony to Mrs. Patton and her attorney's fees of $20.
One of the main contentions of the young wife, who is a telephone operator at the Capital City club, was that her husband, in a fury of anger, had set fire to her new gown which she had helped her mother make. The husband's answer to this was that it was innocuous and unbecoming to his wife.

Columbus, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Dr. Hugh H. Hays of West Point, David Rowe and Wade Usery were arrested by Columbus police officers this morning.
The police were informed that three men were coming this way with the stolen machine. Two officers, one in an automobile and the other on foot, followed the men to a point 5 miles north of Columbus.
