

Japs Have Ultimatum Ready To Present to China Today If Demands Are Not Granted

Document in Hands of Japanese Diplomats at Peking, Who Are Trying to Persuade Chinese to Accede.

FURTHER CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY CHINA

If Ultimatum Is Presented, Appeal Will Be Made to United States, Great Britain, Russia and France.

Peking, May 7.—The Japanese legation has informed the Chinese foreign office that Japan would be unable to accept the further concessions offered Thursday by China and would present an ultimatum before 3 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon, unless the twenty-four demands were accepted by China without qualification.

The Japanese legation continued yesterday its efforts to persuade the Chinese government to concede Japan's demands without the necessity of serving the ultimatum, which was received early yesterday.

The secretary of the legation visited the foreign office and informed Vice Minister Tsoo Yulin that the legation had received the ultimatum and that it would be presented unless China agreed to Japan's twenty-four demands before 7 o'clock in the evening. Tsoo Yulin immediately visited Yuan Shi Kai, and after a conference with the executive and other members of the government, conveyed to the Japanese legation the following further concessions:

More Concessions Made.

China retracts, regarding Chantung province, that she would grant Japan everything that already had been granted to Germany there by treaty. China agreed to grant Japanese the right to work mines in south Manchuria and eastern Mongolia, that all disputes between the Japanese in Manchuria, of whatever nature shall be under Japanese jurisdiction, that schools and hospitals be placed under the Chinese, thereby reserving land ownership to grant a concession to Japan to build the Nan-Chang-Chow Fu railway if Great Britain consents to the release of China from the restrictions of the Twenty-One Demands two years ago. The Japanese claim they requested the concession for this railroad in 1907.

China's Three Stipulations.

The three stipulations China made to the demands in the nature of counter proposals last Sunday were that China asked the right to participate in an international conference for a rearrangement of the altered status of Chantung indemnity for the losses incurred in consequence of the Twenty-One demands and the restoration of the status of Shantung as before the war.

It is said that the Chinese government has resolved to communicate with the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, and that the nature of this communication will depend on the nature of the ultimatum.

TIME LIMIT EXPIRES SUNDAY.

Tokio, May 6.—Official announcement was made here this afternoon that Japan has sent an ultimatum to China. The Kokumin Shimbun states that in its ultimatum Japan stipulates that China must accept unconditionally the Japanese demands.

The newspaper says in an extra edition that this was decided upon by the imperial council.

JAP DEMANDS SCORED BY BRITISH PAPER.

London, May 6.—The Daily News today says editorially:

It would not be easy to parallel such demands from one power to another as Japan has made on China. In many respects they are more stringent than the Austrian demands on Serbia, which led to the European war. "China has done nothing to incur such a penalty. She offers no menace to the nations which she would so joy her own liberties in her own way. If China had a military nation she never would have been thus challenged. She had neither the will nor the power to take an unfriendly and inconsiderable course toward her powerful neighbor, and it is grotesque to suggest that she is responsible for the crisis."

It will be the last and the most bitter tragedy of this war if one of its consequences be that an unoffending nation whose independence and integrity the Anglo-Japanese alliance has guaranteed is to be despoiled by one of the signatories of that alliance.

JAPANESE CIVILIANS FLEE FROM MUKDEN.

Mukden May 6.—(Via Peking)—Japanese consular orders have resulted in a general flight of Japanese from Mukden. The value of a gold yen has increased thirty silver cents and a rich harvest was reaped by exchange brokers. All Japanese except a few bankers and railway officials now have left.

All classes of Chinese view the exodus with stolid indifference, not inquiring or molesting in any way the persons leaving the city. Although the natives are deeply perturbed, the city remains quiet.

Japanese troops occupy strategic positions in Mukden while Chinese soldiers are reported to be moving into the remnants of the city. The Japanese residents in that district are coming north.

Hankow, May 6.—(Via Peking)—The Japanese barracks here have been destroyed.

TENTH ST. SCHOOL NEEDS ARE SHOWN

Finance Committee Convinced That Request for $15,000 for Improvements Should Be Granted.

After a careful personal investigation Thursday members of the council finance committee declared they were convinced that the request of patrons of the Tenth street school for $15,000 for improvements should be granted, and that the proposed open-air school rooms should be built to take care of the pupils next fall.

The committee was directed through the building by Miss Ella Dunlap, the principal, and L. N. Landrum, assistant superintendent of education, who pointed out the crowded condition of the rooms, the cracking and falling plastering, the insanitary conditions of the toilets and the need of artificial lighting.

While the committee was at the school the afternoon classes began to assemble for their studies, since all the 577 pupils enrolled cannot be accommodated at the morning session.

One of the committee asked a crowd of children how many of them would rather attend an afternoon session under the double session system than attend the morning session. Only one child held up her hand. Four of the six grades are forced to attend classes at the afternoon session.

"We are already wondering what to do with so many of the children begging for seats in the outdoor study quarters the patrons are asking for," said Miss Dunlap. "I have told them we will probably have to draw straws for places."

Alderman Armistead, a member of the party, said the Lea street school outdoor quarters had proven very popular with the children and had improved in health and were able to do better work in their studies.

Chairman Farlinger, of the finance committee, said there was no use denying the need of more room and a building for the school, and the finance committee will not do but include in the June money sheet to be prepared this month $15,000 for these improvements.

PFITZER KILLED; TWO BADLY HURT

L. E. Lyons and E. A. Grubbs Injured When Automobile Turns Turtle Near Bainbridge.

Bainbridge Ga., May 6.—(Special)—L. E. Pfitzer was killed, L. E. Lyons badly hurt about the head and body and E. A. Grubbs slightly hurt near here today when the automobile driven by Lyons overturned.

All the men apt government veterinarians stationed here by the bureau of animal industry at the station for eradication of hog cholera.

The machine which was going at a good speed, left the road and in the effort to get it back to the driveway a rise on the side overturned it completely.

Backs Between Seats.

Dr. Grubbs escaped by leaping the car turn and ducking between front and rear seats.

Pfitzer was crushed, but lived several minutes.

The party was found after about twenty minutes when escaping gasoline had already rendered Lyons unconscious. Grubbs was in the road apparently trying to locate someone to help him lift the car. Lyons, before losing consciousness begged someone to look for Pfitzer, saying "Pfitz seems to be badly hurt."

Climax at Man.

The dead man was a resident of Cincinnati where the body will be sent tonight. He was an Eagle, a Knight of Columbus and an Elk, the latter order being in charge of the local arrangements.

Lyons is from Louisville, Ohio. Grubbs is a native of Minnesota. The bureau of animal industry has ordered Dr. Hurteman here from Athens to take charge of the station and continue the work.

Beauty Contest Ends Saturday Evening at 6 O'Clock Sharp; Candidates Are Working Hard

They're off at top-speed, those busy contestants in The Constitution-Universal Beauty contest the winner of which is to take a free trip to Universal City, the San Diego fair and the world's exposition at San Francisco.

Interest and activity in the contest are at fever heat. The contest closes Saturday night at 6 o'clock, and the winner will be announced Sunday morning. Jones the lucky girl will embark on the next day or so for New York, where she goes to join the big party of girls from other states who are to make the tour.

The journey will require at least twenty-two days, and will traverse along the route, including Chicago, Denver and points in New Mexico and the far west, elaborate entertainments and celebrations will be given.

Souvenirs from some of the biggest manufacturing firms in the country will be given to the girls aboard the monster special train that will carry the jubilant party across the continent.

For example, Marjorie Benton Cooke, author of "Bambi," is expected to contribute an autographed volume of this book to each girl. Colgate & Co. will present them with handsome sets of toilet articles, the International Handkerchief company have added a dozen dainty handkerchiefs for each passenger aboard the train, the Famous Players Souvenir company are giving to each girl a half-dozen "Mary Fuller" silver teaspoons.

There will be music and dancing on board, and, in most of the big cities, dances and theater parties as well as other forms of attractive entertainment, will be given to the beauty candidates on board the Universal's big special train. Joseph Rosenthal, of M. Rosenthal & Son, is presenting a beautiful loving cup to the girl chosen as the most beautiful girl in the United States who will be selected from the list of winning contestants.

The huge party of girls is to be accompanied by such celebrated women as...

To Christen New Super-Dreadnaught

ESTER ROSS.
To Miss Ester Ross, native of Arizona and daughter of the city of Prescott, will go the honor of christening the battleship Arizona when that monster of the deep slides from the ways in the Brooklyn navy yard on June 19. The appointment of Miss Ross was announced by Governor Hunt. Miss Ross is a typical representative of Arizona's younger generation of women. She is 17 years old on November 5, 1914, and has lived all her life in Prescott. A committee of fifty leading citizens from all parts of Arizona has been appointed by Governor Hunt to attend the launching, and a special train will run from Phoenix to New York.

Pathetic Plea Made By Loving Daughter For Her Aged Father

"I Love Him; I Am Willing to Die for Him, and I Want Him," Young Woman Tells Recorder.

Judge I want my father. He may have been drinking, he may be crazy, and it may be true that he tried to commit suicide, but he is still my dear old father. I love him. I am willing to die for him, and I want him.

Such was the pathetic plea made by Mrs. B. B. Farmer, of 33 Colley avenue, a young married woman, in the police court Thursday afternoon when her gray-haired father was arraigned for trial.

J. B. Behols, a veteran of the confederate army, had been arrested for drinking to excess. When on his way to the police station he tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a knife. He had bravely faced the bullets of the union soldiers, but he could not face trouble, distress and disgrace.

Spectacle of Despair.

He stood in court with his clothing dyed red with the blood that had flowed from the wound across his throat. He was a spectacle of an absolute despair. He was ever seen in the police court.

"I am just tired of life," was all he said.

But his faithful and loyal daughter was there by his side to beg and plead for him.

The recorder did not wish to let him go free because he feared the old man, in his desperate condition might do harm to either himself or his family.

"I am not afraid of him," pleaded the loving daughter, "drunk or crazy I know he will not harm me. I want to take him out of prison and carry him home with me where I can minister to him. I am willing to be placed in the insane asylum, but all I want now is to have him under my care."

The recorder was touched by the plea, but he declined to let the old man out of prison.

"You can let him remain in jail," he said, "where he can have medical attention and then take out a writ of lunacy."

"I Want My Father."

"I want my poor old father with me, again pleaded the daughter. "If he was your old father, judge, wouldn't you want to take him home with you?"

"Parents were in the daughter's eyes, and her voice trembled with emotion. The recorder hesitated, and said:

"I will think the matter over when seeing that he had but one thing to do, he added.

"I am sorry for you and for your father, but the best thing for him and for you is to let him remain in custody until he can be sent to the asylum."

The old man was led away by an officer, while the daughter looked longingly and lovingly after him with misty eyes, and left the courtroom weeping.

Germans and Austrians Claim Many Successes In Gigantic Offensive

RUSSIANS RETREAT BEFORE AUSTRIANS

Vienna Reports Austrians Have Crossed the Wisloka River, and That Tarnow Has Been Captured.

Vienna, May 6.—(Via London, May 7, 12 30 a m.)—The Austrian southern wing has crossed the Wisloka river. The Russians are retreating eastward of the Lupkow pass.

An official communication issued this evening by the war office says:

"At 4 o'clock this afternoon the last Russian positions on the heights east of the Dunajec and the Biala rivers were gained by our troops.

"Tarnow was captured by us at 10 o'clock this morning."

German Advance Unchecked.

Vienna May 6.—(Via London, 11 09 p m.)—The strategic achievement of rolling up a hostile battle front by a flank attack, of which Chancellorsville is one of the few successful examples in modern history, is in full progress in west Galicia.

The Austrian cavalry and infantry followed the Gorlice turpik and have already reached the Wisloka river. The supporting artillery dropped shells on the road from Semlerod to Jaslo, one of the principal lines of the retreat for the Russians in the Duka region.

The Russian forces have been in full retreat since dawn of May 5, and are being closely followed by the Austrian Carpathian army, according to official advices reaching here. More than 50,000 prisoners already have been captured by the Austrians in west Galicia.

Field Marshal von Hoytzenberg's plan is working out with precise regularity with respect to this section of the front. Headquarters expresses confidence that the portion of the Russian army under General Radko Dimitrieff, which is attempting to defend positions west of Lupkow pass, cannot make good its retreat.

Cannot Avoid Capture.

Detachments of this army may work their way out, but it is declared the bulk of the army with the heavy artillery and baggage, scarcely can avoid capture. In view of Field Marshal Hoytzenberg's rapid advance through the Gorlice breach in the lines.

Progress on the northern half of the front is slower. The Russians are holding desperately to Tarnow and Wai mountain—a fortified crest 1,500 to 2,000 feet high between the Biala and Dunajec rivers—to enable them to get quantities of stores accumulated behind Tarnow away and cover the retirement of the armies to the southward.

The question as to whether the Russians can make a successful stand on the line of the Wisloka river is the important one from the Austro-American military viewpoint. If they cannot the breach in the Russian line is considered complete and the situation for the Russian Carpathian armies undoubtedly would be critical.

The heaviest artillery was employed in these operations. The 12 centimeter mortars in action, however, were not the noted German guns, but of Austrian make. They were designed originally for coast defense purposes but have been found exceedingly valuable for land use. They are considered 650 pounds heavier than the German mortar and are understood to be comparatively mobile and quickly set up.

The effect of these mortars during the artillery preparations for battle is described as overpowering. Shells from them have reached the supply depots behind Tarnow. The Austrians also are equipped with highly effective smaller howitzers of new type which were put into the field during the latter stage of the war.

Mr. Thomson stated that he would introduce at the next meeting of council a measure calling for a complete revision of the assessment of many of the social clubs and other institutions listed as being of a benevolent nature.

IMPROVEMENT BONDS VOTED BY EAST LAKE

$30,000 Will Be Spent for Schools, Water, Sewers and Streets.

With votes to spare, East Lake citizens yesterday carried a bond issue for $30,000 for public improvements, the issue was held out of registration of 83 votes, 83 were cast. Only 46 were needed to make the necessary two-thirds required.

Mr. manager announced the following vote of the several items: Water bonds, 51 favorable and 11 against; school bonds, 55 favorable and 7 against; sewer bonds, 53 favorable and 10 against.

Major Thomas D. Palma stated that he was gratified at the outcome of the election, and wished to thank the city aldermen and others who had assisted him in securing favorable action on the issue.

TWO-YEAR-OLD GIRL DIES BY DRINKING PATENT FLY POISON

Rockmart, Ga., May 6.—(Special)—The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherrill, proprietors of the Commercial Hotel of this place, died this afternoon as a result of drinking poison used in a patent fly-killer.

PLANS HIGHER TAX FOR SOCIAL CLUBS

Alderman Thompson Will Introduce Resolution at Next Meeting of Council Providing Readjustment.

Social clubs and other organizations not operated for profit that have had the advantage of a nominal tax rating for several years may shortly be forced to pay nearly double their present tax if council acts favorably on a resolution to be introduced at the next meeting by Alderman Albert Thompson.

A complete revision of the assessments of these institutions is contemplated and the ordinance providing that they be assessed at a 'nominal' rate may be amended with material changes.

Alderman Thompson made a report to the aldermanic board Thursday to the effect that many of the social clubs are paying on from 15 to 40 per cent of their actual property holdings, when the law provides for 60 per cent.

To comply with the letter of the law would mean to double the taxes of some of these institutions.

The proposal of Alderman Thompson was made after the aldermanic board failed to concur in a resolution adopted by council providing that the Order of Red Men be allowed to pay taxes on only 25 per cent of their holdings.

"The intent of the ordinance is to allow a 'nominal' tax rate because these institutions are valuable assets for the city," said Mr. Thompson. "To my mind we have some millionaires that are just as valuable and we had just as well allow them to pay a 'nominal' rate."

Mr. Thomson stated that he would introduce at the next meeting of council a measure calling for a complete revision of the assessment of many of the social clubs and other institutions listed as being of a benevolent nature.

Ad-less Town

Can you imagine a city where no one ever advertised anything?

Can you picture the business stillness—the all pervading quiet?

Pretty hard to visualize in this age of "up and at them"?

Advertising has become the very vitals of business activity. And its power is most highly shown in Constitution advertising.

If your goods or your business is not being advertised in The Constitution the world is walking away from you.

Readers will profit by shopping in The Constitution before going downtown today.

ad the key to the French coast ports The Pall Mall Gazette says "It is folly to say that Ypres has more of political than of military importance, and adds: "The Germans would be more encouraged by success at Ypres than by anything since the fall of Antwerp. If such an event occurs we must instantly recognize it and admit it to be a defeat, and a grave one in place of a party cabinet, a national ministry ought then to be formed and a new military levy made. Happily there is yet no need to anticipate a retreat from Ypres, much less a German march to Dunkirk and Calais."

CLAIMS OF GERMANY DENIED BY FRANCE

Other German claims relate to successes in the Vosges, where the Germans say in an attack along the north side of St. Michel wedge they took upwards of 2,000 prisoners and that they repulsed French attacks on the southern section of the wedge near Fliva. This was usual during the last few days, entirely disagreeing with the French account of the actions.

Of the Dardanelles operations up to Sunday Premier Asquith gave the house of commons some news today, although the number of troops landed was withheld. As 29,000 were landed the first day and the disembarkation continued for a week while the French have also joined the British and Austrians on the Gallipoli peninsula. It is apparent that the force is a formidable one.

The premier while issuing a warm up to the casualties were heavy pays a glowing tribute to the troops through whose exertions progress toward the Gallipoli peninsula is being made.

An Athens dispatch says that the Turks again have been defeated. Petrograd dispatches report that further defeats have been inflicted on the Turks on the Turkish Persian frontier near Dink and near Yps on the Caucasian border.

2,000 FRENCHMEN CAPTURED IN WORD

Berlin May 6.—(Via London)—In the German official statement issued today the announcement is made that German soldiers forced the French troops to evacuate positions in the Ally. The statement says that the French captured more than 2,000 prisoners. The statement adds that they also lost two cannon and a number of machine guns and mine-throwers.

Over the whole front artillery duels progress now. We made further progress near Ypres (Belgium) and have taken the Van Helle farm and another farm near the Mossines-Ypres road. We made 100 prisoners and took 10 machine guns.

In the Forest district to the west of Combrès we made an advance and captured four French officers and 150 men. We also took four machine guns and mine-throwers.

In our attack yesterday in the Ally wood we achieved our object by forcing the enemy to evacuate his positions. More than 2,000 Frenchmen among them 21 officers, were made prisoners. We also took two cannon and several machine guns and mine-throwers. The number of Frenchmen killed was extremely heavy.

French Driven Back

The enemy attacked us in the region north of Fliley and near Croix des Carmes. North of the former place the enemy pushed forward as far as our trenches. At one point in this sector fighting continued at all other points the French were beaten back. In the eastern theater Southwest of Mira south of Szadow and east of Kossonia (Pusian Couland) fighting continued.

Southwest and southwest of Kalvaria our positions were attacked several times yesterday by strong Russian forces. All these attacks failed with very heavy losses to the enemy.

The enemy attacked our position on the left bank of the Dnieper with out success.

Enemy were dropped on the fortified town of Kozlov during the last night in the war area to the east of Tarnopol and to the north of that place. In the vicinity of the mouth of the Dnieper the enemy continued his attacks. The number of prisoners taken was more than 40,000. It is thy of note that this is the Russian front.

In the Beskid mountains on the Lupkow pass road, an attack is being made by the forces under General Cavalry von der Witz simultaneously with an attack made by the Austro-Hungarian army, which is co-operating with the Germans. These attacks are progressing favorably.

Hands on Dukla Pass.

Reuter's version of the last Berlin official communication contains additional details of the fighting in the Beskid mountains after the statement in the original communication that the enemy advanced against our bridge heads on the Pilek river with success. The Reuter version says: "We bombarded the fortresses of Grodno (about 150 miles northeast of Warsaw) last night.

In western Galicia rear guards of the retreating enemy offered a desperate resistance to the allied troops under General August von Mackensen which broke down on the heights on the left bank of the Wisloka river above and below the mouth of the Ropa river.

We not only forced a crossing of the Wisloka at several points but firmly put our hands on the Dukla Pass the road and the place.

REVERSES ADMITTED BY THE RUSSIANS

Petrograd, May 6.—(Via London)—The following official communication was issued today:

Engagements took place near Libau (on the Baltic) with German troops today.

We were victorious which resulted favorably for us south of Mitau (Coulund) and near the village of Ercolau.

On the right bank of the Orzica on the evening of the 4th we repulsed an impetuous attack by the enemy which had been prepared for by a first fire lasting an hour and a half. We inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Let of the Mlaw railway we succeeded in capturing the station. The capture of the farm which still remains in our hands. The Germans left about 200 dead on the field.

Elsewhere the enemy has shown no disposition to attack.

amounts to 2,000 men, including 40 of us thrown back a considerable distance. Along the course of the Upper Lomnica we had some successes yesterday morning.

EVERYTHING CALM, FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, May 6.—The official communiqué issued by the war office this evening said: "There is nothing to report."

The French war office this afternoon gave out this report: "The press was repulsed with heavy losses. The attack made by the Germans from Steuwart yesterday at a point near Zwartlen attacked the trenches of Hill No. 60 occupied last month by British troops. The course of which they again made use of applying gases. The British position, but our allies subsequently delivered a counter attack and recaptured a portion of the trenches previously lost.

In the forest of Ally the counter attack of the British troops of the day made slight progress and we recaptured a portion of the position which the Germans had occupied during the morning. During the night the Germans delivered a counter attack against the position of the British troops. The British position, but our allies subsequently delivered a counter attack and recaptured a portion of the trenches previously lost.

FIGHTING CONTINUES ON HILL NO 60

London May 6.—The British war office tonight issued the following communication:

There is nothing to report on the British front except the more of our lost trenches on Hill No. 60 southeast of Ypres and that fighting still continues in that locality.

Elsewhere the enemy has shown no disposition to attack.

BERLIN EXPECTS MORE VICTORIES

Berlin May 6.—(Via London)—Military successes of the past week have probably affected popular feeling in Berlin. Operations in the Russian Baltic proving of Courland, in Galicia and in Belgium indicate a German offensive on a large scale and are accepted as presaging even greater success.

It is understood in well informed quarters that the German troops in Courland now are preparing to be attacked by land and air. Field Marshal von Hindenburg himself is in command there. His design appears to be to take Libau and probably Riga as well and enclose these ports as bases for traversing Russian communications with Petrograd.

The Russians already have sent reinforcements from Kovno for resisting these operations. The results of which soon may be known.

The Russians also are attempting to resist the Austro-German advance in Galicia and have brought up reinforcements from the Carpathians. In formation received here, however, indicates that the Russian line being swept along before the Teutonic allies or else captured. Austrian reports say that a general Russian retreat is in progress extending to the south of Dukla pass where the Austro-German attacks on an impenetrable Austrian front exhausted the initiative of the invaders.

Berlin Watches Gallies

Further developments in Galicia are awaited here with breathless interest. It is believed events there may have decisive turn to the entire eastern campaign. The view held here is that the whole Russian position in the Carpathians now is becoming precarious. It is understood that strong pressure is being brought to bear on the retreating Russians by the focus of General von Mackensen and Field Marshal Hindenburg, which are undoubtedly being from the west.

The operation of the Austro-German force now threatening the Russian lines between the Dniester and Biala is regarded as a first class performance. The German troops are standing particularly as it is the result of a frontal attack against strongly fortified positions. The Austro-German force has broken through the Russian line, which was strongly protected behind a dike on the left bank. The Austrians behind a dike on the west shore advanced pontoons by cutting through the dike and depositing the pontoons among high reeds along the shore. They refilled and reloaded the pontoons in this way a sufficient number of pontoons were completed on three nights for a crossing. When these preparations had been completed a terrific artillery bombardment enabled the Austrians to bring their stream with comparatively little loss.

Russians Moved Down

The Austro-German attack near Gorlice is described as an unparalleled artillery performance. The Russians believed their position near Gorlice, artillery of the allies from 42 centimeters down so completely overwhelmed the Russians that they were unable to take the opposing positions at the first rush.

These operations were veiled by a heavy bombardment of Russian positions in the vicinity of Gorlice. The Austrians and Germans bringing up a powerful force for the great push eastward toward Lemberg.

The Russians still hold one strong position on a range of hills more than 100 feet high near Tuchow, but the position is being gradually pushed to the north and south.

It generally is believed in Berlin that the situation at Ypres, Belgium where the British and Dutch are engaged is commanding also is considered highly promising. It is believed here the British and French hardly will be able to hold the town of Ypres for another week. The Germans are said to have gained nearly three miles during the last few days their opponents withdrawing steadily. Advice from the British and French is that the British government the remainder goes to a prize fight on the claim that it was kept for Germany.

Asquith Highly Satisfied With Progress Against Turks

British Troops Displayed Unsurpassed Courage and Skill, Premier Tells House of Commons.

London May 6.—The operations in the Dardanelles are being pressed forward under highly satisfactory conditions Premier Asquith told the house of commons this afternoon.

The premier said in part: "At daybreak of April 25 the landing occurred the troops making use of six landing places. By nightfall 25,000 men had been disembarked in the face of a fierce opposition by infantry and artillery entrenched behind successive lines of wire entanglements.

The leading troops of the 29th division were held up all day to the west of Seddul Bahr but at sunset they succeeded in a fine attack along the heights which made possible the taking of a good position covering the disembarkation of the remainder of the division.

The landing brigade of the Austro-Han and New Zealand corps went in the morning at 30 o'clock. The enemy opened a heavy fire at point blank range but the beach was rushed with good effect and the attack carried out with the utmost dash up the slope.

The French forces effected a landing at Kum Kale and advanced with great gallantry. Every report speaks of the magnificent operations in the naval forces. I regret the casualties were very heavy including the death of Brigadier General Napier.

During April 26 the disembarkation continued. The troops ashore were subjected to continuous and determined attacks from the enemy but these in every case were repulsed with heavy losses. The 29th division under command of General Hunter with great valor carried the Turkish position at Seddul Bahr which consisted of rocky ravines ruined houses and wire entanglements.

By evening of April 27 the 29th division was firmly established across the Gallipoli peninsula having advanced two miles from the point of landing. They were joined by French troops who having fulfilled the task of opening the hostile batteries on the Asiatic coast, which interfered with the landing on the Gallipoli peninsula, had recrossed the straits. The Australian and New Zealand corps defeated every counter attack and steadily gained ground.

The disembarkation continued April 28 and 29. By May 2 a further advance had been made by the French and British troops on the Asiatic coast and of the peninsula and the Australian and New Zealand corps had been reinforced by the royal naval division. The positions everywhere had been consolidated.

In the successful performance of this one of the most difficult operations of the war a landing on the beach in the face of determined opposition the troops engaged displayed unsurpassed courage and skill.

The operations are now being continued and pressed forward under highly satisfactory conditions.

BRITISH CAPTURE TIP OF PENINSULA AND WESTERN PART

London May 6.—The Dardanelles correspondent on The Chronicle sends this dispatch under date of April 30.

During the early fighting the Turkish positions ran from the crest above Maidos to the crest above Boghazi. The allied forces were along the shore at the mouth of the valley and occupying the Zasmak valley.

The allies extended their positions along the northern ridge, and the Turks position on the southern ridge became extremely dangerous.

April 28 the point of interest was the southern tip of the peninsula, where forces were landed in Mordo bay and north of Gaba. During the afternoon these troops occupied the district extending a distance of about a mile and a half from the point of the peninsula.

At midday allied batteries began a general advance. The Turks replied from positions a mile from Krithia which the guns of the fleet had set alight earlier in the day. Just north of this village is Achinba peak, 60 feet high which dominates the region and is the chief obstacle to the allied advance. The Turks retreated gradually in that direction from their positions in the southern part of the peninsula.

Before evening the allies had stretched their line across the peninsula, advancing another mile and a half, while the Turkish forces had retreated to the outskirts of blating Krithia. By nightfall the town was virtually in the hands of the allies and the fleet was shelling Achinba preparatory to an attack on the position there. The same afternoon there was activity also in the northern position, below Gaba. Today I evidently good progress was made in throwing the force across the peninsula there with the object of commanding the narrow gorge from the heights above.

At this time a firm footing has been gained by the landing forces, which assures the allies control of the tip of the peninsula and the entire western section.

The Turks considerably reinforced, attacked the allies camp at Krithia early Tuesday morning but were repulsed, losing 1,500 dead according to advices from Mytilene received by the Exchange Telegraph company from its Athens correspondent. The allies have advanced into the interior the dispatch says and now occupy positions of great strategic importance.

A report from Fendos says that British warships continued yesterday the bombardment of Turkish positions in the Dardanelles and also of Smyrna.

3 MORE VESSELS SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINES

London May 6.—The schooner Earl of Latham was sunk by a German submarine off Kinsale Ireland. The crew permitted to take the small boats was rescued by a trawler.

The submarine fired nine shells at the schooner before she sank.

The trawler Strattor of Grimsby, was sunk in the North sea yesterday by the gunfire of a German submarine. The crew was taken on board the submarine.

The steamer Cathay from Copenhagen for Chinese ports was sunk either by a mine or torpedo late last night in the North sea. She went down in twenty minutes. Her passengers and the members of her crew totaling 41 persons, took to the small boats and all were landed safely at Ramsgate today.

The Cathay was a Danish steamer of 2,596 tons 296 feet long.

TURKS BADLY BEATEN IN FIGHT IN CAUCASUS

London May 6.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company says: "Details have been received here of the defeat by the Russians of a Turkish army corp in the Caucasus. An effort was made by 80,000 Turks under Djabir Pasha to invade the Dikman Khori region which the Russians occupied.

The entire Turkish force was hurled against the Russian positions but the Muscovites although numerically inferior held their ground. Each successive attack was repulsed at the best point. The Russians then began a counter attack and completely routed the exhausted Turks, who retired in disorder. The prisoners include the famous leader Binko.

Brilliant Social Program For Country Club Opening

In the informal opening on Saturday of the new country house of the Atlanta Athletic club at East Lake will be the climax of the week's social life, and the inauguration of another beautiful home of country club enjoyment.

The clubhouse, which was planned to be one of the most attractive in the country, is declared by those who have known much of country club life to embody all that the ideal implies of comfort and beauty. It is expected that the entire club membership will be present Saturday to have their first real inspection of it, and the occasion will be made one of social brilliance. The company will include only club members and ladies.

Showers for Wesley House.

A mass meeting of the executive committee of the Board of City Missions was held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, Mrs. C. A. Mauch, Mrs. W. M. Jenkins, Mrs. A. L. Norris, Mrs. Sage Hardin, Mrs. J. E. Bivins, Miss Susie Wells, Mrs. R. J. Bates, Dr. Florence T. Hay, Miss Willie May Bridwell, Mrs. Frank Atter, Mrs. J. C. Kinzie, Mrs. H. W. Grant and Miss Eloise Guyton.

To Misses Couch.

A delightful occasion of Tuesday afternoon was the card party and miscellaneous shower at which Misses Edith and Maude Couch entertained at their home on North Moreland avenue, the honor guest being Miss Pearl Dempsey, a popular bride-elect. The living room and dining room, where the game was played, were decorated with a profusion of pink roses and mountain laurel, and the pretty pink color note was continued in the tea and bon-bons.

Top score was made by Mrs. James Callaway, who was presented with a Kewpie bride, and Miss Dempsey received a white ivory picture frame.

A delicious ice course was served, the tea being frozen in the wedding shippers and the favors were pink crepe wedding bells. Miss Caroline Shivers served punch.

Those invited to meet Miss Dempsey were Miss Willie Richardson, Miss Kathleen Ashe, Miss Gladys McWilliams, Miss Ruby Martin, Miss Gladys Throver, Miss Lily Hansen, Miss Frances West, Miss Louise Fritchett, Miss Caroline Shivers, Mrs. James Callaway, Mrs. Allen J. Young, Mrs. James M. Hewitt, Mrs. Couch.

Alliance Francaise.

Mr. Lordinans will give a very interesting talk and reading to the members of the Alliance Francaise this afternoon at the University Club at 3:30 o'clock.

The company was seated for dinner at a large round table in the dining room, and its decorative color scheme was a rainbow combination. The centerpiece was an effective arrangement of pink roses and peonies, in the midst of which were caught bows of

Supper-Dance at Driving Club To Follow Annual Meeting

The reception and dance following the annual meeting of the Pleasonton Driving club will be a brilliant event of Tuesday afternoon and evening, and meeting to take place from 5 to 8 o'clock, after open house to follow.

The occasion is always one of the most beautiful and most popular in the club year, and the setting this year will be more than usually attractive in the enlarged outdoor space for supper and dancing, and in the beauty of the terrace and its surroundings.

Atlanta Window Is Entered In Big National Contest

A little of the beauty of May meadows has been transferred to Whitehall street this week in a flight of gay-tinted butterflies which fill one of Maier & Berke's natural windows.

Each carries a gold watch on its back, the butterflies picturing the central theme in a clever advertising idea, which celebrates the semi-centennial of a famous window.

The window has been entered in a national contest inaugurated by an advertising club to mark this semi-centennial, and the attractiveness of the display, which stops the holds every passerby; its unique appeal, which is as direct as it is picturesque, promises to put Maier & Berke in the prize-winning class.

A practical detail of the picture is a highly-jeweled watch shown under a convex magnifying glass, which brings out in striking detail some of the excellencies of the movement; and the display, which is a masterpiece in the history of the factory producing this make, are stated in a few pointed paragraphs in a modest corner of the window.

The scheme of the window is complete. Old Father Time in the background has just discarded his traditional hour-glass, and is examining with evident delight his modern substitute—a beautiful thin-cased watch; while the great flock of butterflies, in all their natural hues and bright contrasts of color, are in full flight towards him with other watches, to gain for their burden the approval he has already showered upon the watches for sale.

1867—Time Piece—1915 is the title of the display, which has already been 100 busy since it was installed to be halted by its beauty.

L. Throver, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Black, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Park, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Egan and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Chase.

May Festival.

A May festival will be given this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the school grounds of the North Avenue Presbyterian church school.

The program will be given by the children of the different grades: (a) dramatization, first grade; (b) English singing game, second grade; (c) Greek fables, third grade; (d) Old Pipes and the Dryad (dramatization), fourth grade; (e) Morris dance, third grade; (f) Old English country dance, fourth grade.

Children's Party.

Master John L. Harper, Jr. will entertain forty boys and girls at an afternoon party Saturday at his home on Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brine will entertain twenty guests at dinner, followed by dancing, this evening at the home of Mrs. Brine, 1100 North Avenue, for Mrs. Mary Robinson, of Kentucky.

Dinner-Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kritegaber entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. G. S. Amodeis, who is invited to meet her here Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grossman and Dr. and Mrs. Sommerberg. The table was beautifully decorated in pink roses.

Mrs. Harless to Entertain.

Mrs. A. E. Harless will entertain fourteen guests at luncheon today at Druid Hills Golf club.

To Mrs. Flandrau.

A number of informal entertainments this week will be given to meet Mrs. Blair Flandrau with Mrs. Don A. Pardee.

LAGRANGE PLANS TO ENTERTAIN TOURISTS

LaGrange, Ga., May 8.—(Special.)—The itinerary of the proposed "Seeing Georgia" tour of autoists has been arranged so that LaGrange will be included among the places to be visited.

To Mrs. Bliss.

Mrs. Lucile Owens Bliss, of Chicago, who is visiting Mrs. Jerome Beam, has been an attractive guest of honor at a series of informal entertainments and the club parties this week. Yesterday Mrs. Daniel Riden, of Norfolk, entertained six guests at Mrs. Bliss and Mrs. Beam at bridge.

Song Recital.

At the Barill School of Music on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock a song recital will be given by Miss Ethel Power, assisted by Miss Ruth Thompson. Their program will be an interesting one of classic and modern compositions.

Violin Recital.

A violin recital by a group of students, under the direction of Mrs. Theodosia Morvan Stephens will be an interesting event at the club house at 2:15 o'clock at the Baptist church in Kirkwood. Miss Caroline Moore, a piano accompanist, will assist. No admission will be charged.

At First Christian Church.

The annual May feast of the First Christian church will take place today, and all members and friends of the church are cordially invited to be present.

For Miss Holder.

Misses Marian and Edna Perdue will entertain at a small and informal dancing party this evening at their home in Inman Park for their visitor, Miss Kathleen Holder, of Jefferson.

Under Canopy of Greenery Miss Hunter Weds Mr. Hendee

Cornelia, Ga., May 6—(Special)—Before an altar of pines beneath the peristyle at "Yonah Vista" the country place of Mr. and Mrs. William Bogert Hunter at Cornelia, Miss Ruth Hunter, their daughter, was married Thursday to Mr. Searle Hendee, of Chicago.

The ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. John E. Ellis, was held in the open in the midst of a transplanted forest of greenery and mounded lawn. Some fifty guests were assembled on the broad lawn in front of the bridal bower.

As the first strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were carried across the lawn the bride, accompanied by her father, left the entrance of the home preceded by Master Augustus Whendler, as page, Miss George Erwin, as flower girl and tiny Miss Helen Heltman, who carried a great wild tulip, in the heart of which was the wedding circlet. They were followed by the mother of the bride and the groom's parents, who took part in the procession an innovation which added a distinctly touch to the original character of the formalities.

Groom Joins Bride. It was as the party reached a gateway opening onto a broad avenue of low pines, deeply carpeted with roses and mountain flowers and extending in a graceful curve across the green from the drive to the peristyle, that it was joined by the groom and the minister. Walking slowly to the soft strains of music, which were made more than usually appealing by the artistic touch of Mr. Cornwall Little Miss Heltman dressed as the fairy of a happiness and good fortune, strewed the way with ribboned notes from her store of wedded wishes.

way with ribboned notes from her store of wedded wishes. These bore the message of "Love, the joy and happiness rare, follows a marriage in open air" and Change the name and note the letter fortunate changes for the better.

At the terminus of the pine avenue, which was formed by the white bars of the peristyle, banked with cedars and gaudered with vines interwoven with rhododendron, wild magnolias and azaleas, the bride and groom turned, facing the minister, and the guests who were some distance from them. Then, while the breeze still carried the soft chords of the march faintly from the wedding, the simple words were spoken and the couple united. The party returned to the gateway of the avenue, where the wedding party was greeted by the parents and then received the words of congratulation and the hope of joyous happiness extended to them by their friends.

Wedding Breakfast. A dainty wedding breakfast was served at small tables grouped under the fragrant shade of a honeywood tree. The party was seated in an inclosed summer house at the end of the peristyle, which abode was covered with cedar, holly and branches of wild flowers. To this the tables with their wealth of roses added bright touches of color. The bride, fitted in harmoniously before the natural background of greenery.

Knocks Are Plentiful For City Government At Luncheon of Ad Men

Mavor James G. Woodward and Julian Boehm had harsh things to say about Atlanta's political embryo Thursday at noon during the luncheon of the Ad Men in the Hotel Ansley. The mavor without dealing in personalities charged that there was a ring machine in the city hall that not only had control of the city government but likewise dictated governmental affairs of the county.

There is a certain ring element in the city hall he stated "that has control of Atlanta and the government of Fulton county. We are coming to a crisis and we must find some method whereby we can revise the city government of Atlanta from top to bottom. But he all that as it may regardless of all else I am trying my utmost to serve the best interests of the bits in every manner possible.

Shortly later when Julian Boehm arose to his feet, he likened the city government to a disorganized industrial plant that was a mess. "If we were running a business like the city government with the foreman going one was a subordinate going another and every element in a state of demoralization I'm like Mavor Woodward—I'd clean them out in one sweep till them to step to— with out any unnecessary delay and give them to understand that I was running things."

All estimated there were less than four minutes of polite in the club luncheon but the brevity of it was equalled only by the spiciness of it.

TEACHERS WILL GET CREDIT FOR WORK DONE OUTSIDE CITY

Over the protest of Alderman I. N. Ragsdale, the aldermanic board Thursday approved two measures passed by council Monday relative to the action of the board of education in allowing teachers credit for work done in other school systems.

The ordinance providing that the board may give teachers brought here from other systems credit for work up to three years was passed with only the vote of Alderman Ragsdale against it. The resolution ratifying the action of the board in action already taken relative to giving credits was also passed. Both measures were introduced by Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, chairman of the school committee of council.

Alderman Ragsdale said he opposed the measure to give credits for work done in other schools because he believed it would get the election of teachers into politics and be unfair to local teachers. He said he favored paying all teachers alike. Before the two measures can become effective they must have the signature of the mayor. He has said that he opposes the credit system and believes the act ratifying the alleged illegal act of the board of education is illegal, and he may veto both papers.

The display of hats which will constitute the "feature" of the bazar is under the direction of Mrs. Jasper N. Bell and Mrs. B. B. Hudgins and will be an elaborate one. The hats have been trimmed with hand-made artificial flowers by Mrs. Hudgins whose ability is well known in Atlanta.

LONG DROUTH BROKEN AND CROPS FLOURISH

Thomasville, Ga., May 6—(Special)—The serious drouth which has prevailed in this section of south Georgia has been broken by rains this week, and it is expected they have come in time to remedy the damage done. The most seriously affected will probably come out again in some parts of the county, though some farmers think too far gone in others it helped. The corn watermelon and other crops were not materially damaged by the drouth, but like cotton, are rather backward, and will grow more rapidly now that the soil has moisture enough to benefit them.

 If we may rely upon the Rome cables that the divergence between Austria and Italy is too wide to permit of agreement we may readily accept the conclusion that war is all that is now left for Italy. And it is not too much to say that Italy would welcome it in the hope of greater ultimate remuneration than she can hope to gain through peaceful negotiation.

Italy has seized what, of all others, appeared to be the psychic moment for the demand upon Austria for the return of the rich provinces at the head of the Adriatic seized from her more than half a century ago. She has taken advantage of conditions to insist upon a restoration that shall be complete, and back of the government in making this demand is crystallized Italian sentiment.

We might read Austria's answer in Franz Joseph's pathetic, "Let me die without dishonor," which cables have carried around the world. Austria, still, is willing to give some, but not all. Italy, with the upper hand, demands all, admits of no compromise. Compromising Italian ministries were forced to give way in the face of a determined public sentiment. Indications are that it is a matter of only a few days until Italian armies are in the field for Italy, but upon the side of the allies.

Should Austria accept the humiliation, hampered as she is, of meeting the Italian demands in toto, Italy would be bound in honor to continue neutral; and with the return of her lost provinces and her saving in money and men, she would be, after all, perhaps the greatest gainer in the European struggle without having unlimbered a gun.

But there is a deep-rooted impression that Italy is anxious to get into the struggle in the hope that at the end of the rainbow there is even a bigger pot of gold than the provinces whose complete restoration she is seeking. It is this sentiment which is believed to be back of the insistent demand that Austria shall yield to the last farthing. The war party wants no better excuse than Austria's refusal. Italy believes in the cause of the allies; she looks to them ultimately to triumph and dictate the terms of peace. She believes that her own entrance will bring quicker termination to the struggle; and for that service she could demand not only her lost provinces, but a right to sit and vote at the long table when European map reconstruction is undertaken.

There is the game over in the Dardanelles, in which Italy is exceedingly interested. Her vessels are reported ready to rush to the aid of the allies as soon as the declaration is made. There is not a nation adjacent to the Mediterranean but wants a say as to the future of the Dardanelles.

Altogether, Italy would undoubtedly be better satisfied with war than without it, and Italian sentiment is perhaps the better suited that Austria refuses complete restoration. The critical moment is evidently approaching; trained guns are in readiness, and any day may bring news of hostilities commenced simultaneously with war's declaration.

BUYING AWAY FROM HOME.
 Accustomed as all of us have been to deprecate the fact that the Georgia farmer, in the large aggregate, continues to spend his cotton cash for western grain and hay, instead of growing them at home, Georgians will read with surprise and, no doubt, humiliation, a statement just made public by the state department of agriculture, indicating the extreme extent to which we have gone in buying from other states those products which we can grow here in quality and quantity the equal of any soil in the country.

This statement made public by Commissioner J. D. Price is based upon careful inquiry among the wholesale merchants, brokers and commission men of Atlanta. It sets forth the amount of staple products handled in the Atlanta territory within the last twelve months, and the percentage of each bought from other states or grown within Georgia's limits. The figures will prove startling:

Atlanta bought from other states and distributed within the year, according to these figures, 92.8 per cent of 3,127,049 bushels of corn, 100 per cent of 2,700,000 bushels of wheat, 99.67 per cent of 5,690 carloads of hay, 99.21 per cent of 2,888 carloads of oats, 100 per cent of 167 carloads of rutabagas, 78.8 per cent of 41,000 bushels of white peas, 100 per cent of 268,500 cases of canned tomatoes, 96.94 per cent of 544 carloads of cabbage, 40 per cent of 813 carloads of sweet potatoes, 47.6 per cent of $340,200 worth of eggs, 48.1 per cent of $475,000 worth of poultry, and 100 per cent of all the lima beans, peanuts and onions sold through this market. These are but a few of the most striking figures given; the difference between the percentages stated and 100 per cent represents the amount of these products grown in Georgia and handled through the Atlanta market.

If these figures were not the result of careful and persistent inquiry, and furnished therefore, as approximately accurate, they must appear incredible. Is it an indictment of the Georgia farmer, or the Georgia consumer, or both? Must not the Georgia dealer also share part of the burden of responsibility? Is it that our whole system of production and distribution is wrong? Where shall we go to find the root of the trouble and stop this drain upon a prosperity whose attainment would know no limit, if we could only learn to live at home?

Atlanta is but one city—the largest, it is true, but only one—of a dozen or more extensive Georgia markets. We must take it, by analogy, that they, too, are buying in similar proportion away from home. What would the figures reach in the aggregate, if a complete state summary were made? Thought of it almost brings a shudder of protest.

When we point to the Georgia farmer who has been in the habit of growing cotton and then more cotton, neglecting often every food product, we are sometimes told that he has been made the victim of a system which demands cotton as the price of his continued existence. There is fallacy in the argument; every farmer in Georgia can emancipate himself from cotton, if he will only make the effort. The proof of it is in the thousands who have already done it.

We cannot believe that the Georgia consumer demands the foreign product. More than half the sweet potatoes he consumes, according to these figures, are Georgia-grown; every one of them should be. Is there any reason why he should reject the Georgia cabbage, the Georgia onion or Georgia canned tomatoes?

If the Georgia farmer will put into his product the quality which the Georgia soil can give it, and offer it in an attractive package, we cannot conceive of the Georgia merchant who would refuse to handle it or the Georgia consumer who would reject it for the foreign grown.

We are forced to believe that primary responsibility for this drain upon our resources rests with the Georgia producer. If he would feed Georgia first and make cotton his surplus crop he would get just as much for his cotton crop and at the same time build a substantial bank account upon home consumption.

Every farmer in the state should study these figures and profit by them.

DEPEW'S LOST OPPORTUNITY.
 Dr. Chauncey M. Depew is very much alive and 81. It was because of those four-score years plus one that the Montauk Club of Brooklyn brought him forth from his retirement the other night and celebrated the fact that he was still here. Referring to it, Dr. Depew remarked that he hoped the Montauk club "would keep it up."

Dr. Depew's return to momentary prominence was in the role that made him most famous, that of after-dinner speaker, and he touched upon everything from politics to trousers, up or down, as one may choose to put it, and then back again. Among other interesting things he told was how he was portly knocked upon his door and he refused to open:

In 1877 I had an option on a fifth of the Bell Telephone stock for $10,000. I consulted the most famous telegraphic expert in the country, and he advised me to drop it. "It is a dud," he said. "It is merely a fake," he said. Had I followed, my strong faith in the enterprise I would today, if alive, which is doubtful, be a hundred millionaires.

It is doubtful whether he would have profited in the long run, had he embraced opportunity upon the threshold. He has touched the gamut of high political, business and social ambition, and rounded out a good old age with vigorous mentality which those hundreds of millions might, as he intimates, have cut short by a score or more of years. And if memory plays fickle with his exploits of statesmanship and big business, he will at least be sung through the ages as the highest exponent of the postprandial art.

When the toastmaster of another century shall have remarked, "We have with us tonight," we can fancy the honored guest responding, "As Chauncey Depew once said," and proud to borrow from the master of them all the best of stories that will lighten the burden to those to whom stern duty forbids escape.

The shorter and uglier word has been loafing around the Roosevelt-Barnes trial, anxious for exercise.

Under its new name Culebra Cut may change its tactics and give them the Galliard Glide.

 "To show my contempt for your paper I've patched all the broken window panes in my house with the latest copy, without reading a line in it."
 To this the unruffled editor replied:
 "A man with broken window panes in his house is a slow, unprogressive citizen; but, notwithstanding his 'contempt,' he practically admits that our paper filled a long-felt want. In the use to which he has put it he will have more light in his windows than he ever had before."

JUST FROM GEORGIA
 By Frank L. Stanton
 He Takes the Fiddle Down.
 I.
 Wherever Joy's a-singin'
 He takes the fiddle down;
 It's glory, halleluia,
 And hurrah for the town!
 Grab your zony, pardners
 And swing 'em all aroun'
 And ho, for the dancin' time in Dixie!

II.
 Wherever Joy's a-singin'
 The world—jes' anywhere,
 Is reachin' for the music.
 That's singin' in the air.
 No world's sighs and sorrows,
 It's "Right side up with care."
 And move to the dancin' tunes in Dixie!

III.
 Come up from the lowlands
 Before the night is late;
 Sweatharts with kinees
 For lonely lovers wait;
 Enter to the dancin',
 Latchstring's off the gate,
 Ho, for the dancin' time in Dixie!

Exchange of Compliments.
 An offended subscriber wrote the editor of The Adams Enterprise:
 "To show my contempt for your paper I've patched all the broken window panes in my house with the latest copy, without reading a line in it."
 To this the unruffled editor replied:
 "A man with broken window panes in his house is a slow, unprogressive citizen; but, notwithstanding his 'contempt,' he practically admits that our paper filled a long-felt want. In the use to which he has put it he will have more light in his windows than he ever had before."

A Banjo Tune.

Mighty sweet in Maxtime, and yonder comes the June.
 With all the world a lover, a-singin' to the moon;
 Hand me down that banjo, I'll hit you off
 Of "mighty sweet and good times in the country!"

II.
 Mighty sweet—the mornin's when you lose yourself in light,
 Wander to the Promised Land—all its joys in sight;
 Hand me down that banjo, you'll be dancin'
 Till it's night
 To "mighty sweet and good times in the country!"

Final Word in Potluck.
 George Bailey waited until the rest of the editors—supposed to speak with authority—had had their say as to "potluck," then spoke this final word in The Houston Post:
 "Ethically, potluck purifies the heart and conscience, politically it imparts unflinching faith in the principles of an imperishable and invincible democracy, it exalts and enables one's patriotism, and tends to righteousness and salvation."

In the Lower Region.
 "The fires down here are cold and dead," explained the Imp of Night.
 "The devil's gone to war," he said.
 "To see that hell's raised right,
 I fear they'll put him quite to shame—
 'They've beat him at his own red game!"

Mr. Summers' Mistake.
 A correspondent of The El Dorado (Ark.) Times made this philosophical comment on a news item:
 "Joe Summers was splitting wood the other day and accidentally cut his foot, which has kept him from walking much since. He should not have been doing woman's work, anyhow."

Word From the Hurricane.
 He heard the hurricane a-hummin'
 An' then sidestepped it, onward comin'
 Like a regiment a-drummin'
 He up, an' to himself, says he:
 "The hurricane tells this to me:
 'Whatever you do, where'er you be,
 On ringin' soft, or singin' sea,
 Don't let 'em lay you on the shelf,
 But be a hurricane yourself!"

Their Good Intentions.
 The Macon News says that "the newspapers that are printing passages from the Bible every day explain that they do so in the hope to follow the anything in the Bible is news to some of their subscribers."

Charmed.
 Watch out, Mister Eschbird—
 You lookin' mighty well;
 Jaz's a rattlesnake'll charm you,
 Then ring his br'kfas'-bell.

Importance of Being President.
 Says The Branchville Banner: "Woodrow Wilson now feels how important it is to be president. He has just received season pass No. 1 for all the Georgia State league games."

Horse Comes to Funeral.
 (La Crosse Wis.) Dispatch to The Philadelphia (Pa.) Record:
 One of the most notable cases of animal devotion to an owner was that today of Babe, a horse driven by Andrew Robinson, a La Crosse grocer, who died last week and whose funeral was held today. The horse had been driven for a dozen years by the grocer, when he was driving his own delivery wagon.
 When he died the horse was sent at his wish to Irish Coule, 18 miles away, with a provision that she be allowed to spend the rest of her life without work in the fields at pasture. Babe, however, leaped the fence and appeared at the Robinson home just in time to follow the horse to the cemetery, without even a halter on her neck.

Striking Evidence of Diversified Farming in Sumter County
 Americus, Ga., May 6.—(Special).—Within one mile of Americus there is the most extensive and beautiful grain field, or rather farm, to be found anywhere in Georgia, a striking evidence of diversified farming and modern methods in agriculture. Eighteen hundred acres of waving grain, oats, wheat, rye and corn, in one compact body, strikes the beholder, and elicits admiration.
 Last year this same farm, the Arles plantation, owned by rich and progressive South Georgian, produced 1,200 bales of cotton on 1,200 fertile acres. This year, under stress of conditions, the cotton area is out to less than 500 acres which, it is estimated, should produce at least 350 bales.

Grain Average Increased.
 But the area in grain was increased in proportion. Five hundred acres are planted in wheat, and a magnificent crop is already assured. Seven hundred acres oats, wheat and rye headed, grow alongside the wheat field with only a road separating the two crops, while a solid, compact grain field of 1,300 or 1,400 acres in one vast body, highly fertilized, these grain crops are growing luxuriantly. The 500 acres wheat, it is estimated, will yield 30 to 35 bushels per acre, while the 700 acres of oats should yield 50 bushels, easily. Great cornfields also promise a harvest of that commodity. The splendid tract in grain reminds one of Ohio or Kansas, rather than cotton-ridden south Georgia.

There are wheat and oat fields all over Sumter county this year, and a wheat crop of at least 125,000 bushels, and twice that yield in oats, seems assured now, as rains came the past week to save the suffering crops.

To Be Made Show Place.
 It seems the purpose of the owners of the Arles plantation to make of it a model grain and stock farm, and a wonderful show place in south Georgia. The fine farm is traversed by the Central railway, while the famed Andersonville-Thomasville highway comes in that direction also, and even now attracts the attention of hundreds of tourists. It is a splendid object lesson to hundreds of Sumter county farmers who are turning from cotton to more profitable crops.

Raising of fine live stock for market will also be a feature of the Arles farm, and already several car loads of fine hogs and cattle have been purchased, and will be pastured upon the grain fields when the oats and wheat is harvested. Large crops of hay and hogs, which will be fattened, will be shipped to the Moultrie packing plant, or elsewhere. This fine farm cost the owners about $150,000, and is the site of the former Bagley-Gober peach orchard.

Another enterprise to be established there at once is a great modern and model dairy and creamery. A herd of registered Guernsey cows has been purchased, and one of the largest and best arranged dairies in Georgia will soon be in operation there. And this is an ante-bellum cotton plantation transformed into a modern and model stock and grain estate.

Davis St. School Children Say Their Fathers' Club Was First One in Atlanta
 Editor Constitution: For some time we have been wanting for the good work you have been doing in behalf of the schools, and we decided this morning, when we gathered the first blossoms from our rose garden, to send them to you with our thanks for the many kindnesses you have shown us and for your loyalty to the schools and to the children of Atlanta.

In your paper this morning you gave an editorial notice to the Fathers' Club of Tenth street school district. We should like for you to know that our school has had for four years the first and best of its kind, the only fathers' club in Atlanta. This club was formed for the purpose of securing for us a new school building, but so far has secured nothing except promises.

We hope that you will keep up the fight until we and all other neglected children in the city have school buildings, like those provided in some districts.

We have never been able to understand the justice of giving everything to some sections of the city and nothing to others. People in every part of the city pay the same taxes, don't they?
 With best wishes, we are your little friends,
 THE CHILDREN OF DAVIS STREET SCHOOL CIVIL LEAGUE.
 Per O'Neill Stoner, School Sec'y.

Praises Miss Dooly.
 Editor Constitution: Mrs. Boehm and I want to thank Miss Dooly for the splendid articles on our schools that are appearing in the Constitution and that emanate from her versatile pen.

She is so thoroughly informed as to the conditions that exist and as to the conditions that SHOULD exist that the mere reading of her various articles is an education, and the studying of them brings inspiration to one who tries to help bring about betterment in public school conditions.

Preached for Husband.
 (Pittsfield Mass.) Dispatch to The New York World:
 Mrs. Harry C. Leach, wife of the pastor of the Morning Star Baptist church, in an emergency, filled her husband's pulpit at both morning and evening services here today, preaching two sermons.

Mr. Leach was on Friday called to Maine by the illness of his mother, and his wife volunteered to preach. Tonight her subject was "The Heavenly Vision." Mr. and Mrs. Leach have been married about twelve years. This was her first appearance as his substitute in a pulpit.

A Combination That Can't Be Excelled By Any Newspaper

COMPLETE service of the Associated Press, reinforced by special correspondents in the most important cities in every country on the civilized globe; special representatives in every large city in this country; correspondents in every city, town and hamlet in Georgia. These are what make up the news service of The Sunday Constitution.

A TWELVE-PAGE feature section the like of which the south never saw before, the features written by the best writers obtainable, the art work done by the best artists known to the newspaper fraternity; the newest and funniest comics; the news of fashions illustrated in four colors; a double page of moving pictures.

THESE features, combined with the unparalleled news service, make a combination that can not be excelled by any newspaper—not equalled by any newspaper that Dixie ever saw.

If you wish to keep up with the times, if you want to read the news while it's new, and at the same time know that what you are reading, if you want to read a newspaper that reflects the spirit of the south, if you want features that will appeal to you and the whole family—real features, not trash or hash—

HERE are a few of the features you will find in The Constitution next Sunday:

Should City Man Woo Country Maid?
 MISS DOROTHY BRENNER is a city girl. She married a city man. After a few years of married life she wrote her husband next time "to get a girl from the country—a chicken off the farm." Miss Brenner is something of an Aristotle, and her story in Sunday's Constitution, setting forth the reasons she and her husband could not get along in double harness, is wonderfully interesting—even if her conclusions are not correct.

Both Members Of This Club
 THEY are twins, aged 19 months. Their papa says they are the paperweight pugilistic champions. They have challenged any paperweight fighter in the world to meet either of them at 35 pounds ringside. These two tots are always in the "pink of condition" and their papa and mamma tell how they keep them so. The full-page story is attractively illustrated with photographs of the remarkable youngsters.

Why We Snore and Dream Of Purple Elephants
 THIS is the title of one of the interesting discussions in the page of "Science and Near-Science Up-to-Date," which is one of the most popular pages in The Constitution's all-star feature section.

Dorothy Dolan's Housekeeper's Page
 THE CONSTITUTION refrained for years from running a housekeeper's page—held back until the expert and the artists could be engaged who could get up a page worth-while, one that carried real interest, and that was really helpful to housekeepers. You will find such a page every Sunday in The Constitution.

The Bathing Girl Is Abroad in the Land
 EVERY girl wants to know what is the latest in bathing suits. Every girl can find out in The Constitution Sunday. There will be two full pages, each reproduced in four colors, one entitled "For the Bathing Hour," the other entitled "Bathing Accessories."

Nothing Could Be More Amusing
 THAN "baby" in search of a home and "Hank and His Animal Friends," unless it were possible to get Baby and Hank and all the animals on the same page. The popularity attained by these two comics in a short while is one of the marvels of the newspaper world.

That Double Page of Moving Pictures
 EVERYBODY is a movie fan nowadays. Everybody wants to know who's who in the movie world, what's coming in the way of movie plays. There isn't but one way to find out absolutely, and that is by reading the double page which The Constitution devotes every Sunday to news and notes of the film world. It is the only way to get "behind the screens with Britt Craig."

These are only a few of the high points in next Sunday's Constitution. It is jammed full of features. You must not miss it. If you are not a regular subscriber, be one now.

You Cannot Keep Up With the Times Unless You Read THE CONSTITUTION

HUMANE SOCIETY ATTACKS POLICE

Officer Camp Declared Inefficient, and Officials Say They Received Little Help From Police Chief.

Policeman Camp, detailed by Chief Beavers to patrol the city as humane officer, was declared inefficient at a meeting of the Atlanta Humane Society yesterday, and the organization appropriated money from its treasury to employ a man to protect suffering animals.

President R. C. Congdon stated that he had tried to get Camp to report once a week. He said that the officer did this about three weeks only. He said that he investigated the cases that Camp had reported and that they were only those that had been phoned to him that he had made practically no cases on his own initiative. He stated that he wrote Chief Beavers, and that the chief told him that if he would come before the police board he would get Camp to resign, but that the commissioners told Camp that the chief was his boss and to pay no attention to the society.

Mrs. R. E. Rambo stated that she, Mrs. R. C. Congdon and Mrs. A. V. Gude went to the chief and that he told them he would investigate. She stated that she saw a low gragger by the name of some one, that an Italian organ grinder was jerking and maltreating his monkey also in the presence of officers and they made no effort to stop them. She said that she asked the chief to send a man where they were doing some grading on Spring street and investigate charges of extreme cruelty there. She stated that there never was an officer there and the chief absolutely ignored all petitions.

Colonel Orville Hall vice president of the society stated that the inmates from the cases should pay for a good man. Dr. Henry Barnes stated that he would be glad to assist any officer.

On motion from B. B. Coew it was moved that a sum of money be appropriated from the treasury to employ an officer.

CANDLER TO SPEAK AT NATIONAL MEET OF THE AD CLUBS

Bishop Warren A. Candler of Atlanta has been invited to address the Associated Advertising Clubs of America at their convention in Chicago June 20. The occasion will be a triangular address upon Law, Finance and Theology. Bishop Candler who will make an address on the subject of one of three topics of international note. Elihu Root will speak upon the subject of law.

This news was given by a short address to the Atlanta Ad Men's club at a luncheon in the Hotel Ansley Thursday by S. C. Dobbs former president of the National Ad Men's clubs. "It is an unprecedented tribute to a Georgia man," said Mr. Dobbs. "Bishop Candler was selected as one of America's most eminent authorities upon a subject that eclipses law and finance. The speaker to talk upon finance has not been announced in an effort to make Dr. Candler's address more prominent."

FARLINGER TO INSPECT CENTRAL WAREHOUSES

Chairman A. W. Farlinger of the council finance committee and a member of the city purchasing department, under the old regime will leave Saturday for an extended visit to New York and other eastern cities to make a study of the various paving materials and city purchasing departments. An attempt was made by Mr. Farlinger to get an appropriation from the city to pay the expenses of a committee from the purchasing department that they may inspect central warehouses and other features of the purchasing departments of the larger cities, but council turned down the proposition on the ground it was illegal.

BUILDING ERECTED FOR BIBLE CLASSES

The work of preparing the grounds at the Deulah Heights Bible school has culminated in the erection of a small but quite attractive house for the Bible school classes during the summer. Beginning Wednesday there will be lectures and classes and important studies in seasonal work. The work is in charge of Miss Sadie Wightman 78 North Broad street.

Logan to Attend Conference.

Joseph C. Logan general secretary of the associated charities left yesterday evening to visit relatives in Virginia and to attend the National Conference of Charities and Corrections convening in Baltimore May 12 until May 25. Miss Lottie Ramspeck will have charge of the local charities during his absence. Logan is a member of the committee on time and place of the national organization and will also make an address on fundamentals causing family breakdowns.

A Sensible Suggestion For Husbands

STRIPLIN TO MANAGE SOUTHEASTERN FAIR

Meridian Man Will Assume His Duties in Atlanta on Monday, May 10.

R. M. Striplin secretary-manager of the Mississippi-Alabama fair at Meridian, Miss., since its organization six years ago, has been chosen manager of the Southeastern fair in Atlanta and will assume his duties Monday, May 10. He wired his acceptance of the offer Thursday morning. His election was unanimous.

The local fair directors made a careful investigation of Mr. Striplin's ability as a fair manager and also had strong testimonials.

For several years Mr. Striplin was manager of the district fair at Corinth, Miss. and was also secretary of the commercial body there. When the Mississippi-Alabama fair was organized six years ago he was placed in charge at Meridian and made it one of the leading agricultural and live stock fairs of the south.

Mr. Striplin for the past three years has been secretary of the Meridian board of trade and cotton exchange, operating the activities of the fair as a association through that office.

Last year Mr. Striplin was honored by being chosen president of the Southern Association of Fairs and Expositions. He is also a director of the National Trotting association and several other organizations of a kindred nature.

April 26, 1915.

Mr. E. Rivers,
Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Sir:

I built my home in Peachtree Heights Park because I think it the choice location of the County, and I never expect to change it. Since moving there I like it better and better every day. We have all the conveniences, without any of the disadvantages, of life in the city, and on account of the location are exempt from city taxes.

The transportation facilities are satisfactory, and we get to business about as quickly as those who live two or three miles further in. We have water and sewers, electric lights in the street and in the home, telephones, satisfactory delivery service, good roads and sidewalks, police protection, parks and pure air. We have plenty of room and, what is best about it, we are far removed from the dust and smoke and noise of the city. Altogether, I regard it as an ideal place to live and I would not change for any other section in or around Atlanta.

Very truly yours,
Hudson Moore

Business Is Better

Business Is Better

"The depression of the past few months is giving way to buoyancy and optimism. Thoughtful and far-sighted business men see the coming of prosperity and are preparing for it"

HUGH W. WILLET

Business Is Better

"Business is here—lots of it. And it will get better and better as the effort is made, and the fall's business will undoubtedly be one of the best we have ever known."

J. E. C. PEDDER
General Agent Bradstreet's

Mr. Moore's letter tells the story—shows you what leading Atlantans think of this section. We have many others. Here is what a few of them say:

"I think the Peachtree Heights section is unsurpassed for home-building purposes."

JOHN M. SLATON.

"It is the property that appeals to me most for residential purposes."

GEORGE W. FORRESTER.

"Atlanta is growing more rapidly northward than in any other direction, and this property lies in the immediate line of development."

EDWIN P. ANSLEY.

"We regard the Peachtree Heights Park section as one of the finest residence sections in or around Atlanta."

J. R. SMITH AND J. H. EWING.

But we don't want you to take anybody's word for it. We prefer that you go and see for yourself.

We are going to give you an opportunity, in the very teeth of the greatest prosperity the south has ever known, to buy these lots AT YOUR OWN PRICE—and it's the last one you will have.

As you know, it has all the city conveniences, is rapidly building in fine homes, and---but go and see it; that's the best way.

Go and look at it before the sale. Look everywhere else. Make any comparison you wish. You can't find any more home property like it, because there is no more.

Take the Buckhead car, or drive out Saturday. You will regret it if you are not there.

New York, May 6.—A further decline at the opening of the cotton market today was followed by a rally of approximately $0.50 per bale, and while the advance was not held under the close, the close was steady, last prices still showed net gains of from 10 to 15 points.

There appeared to be a good many over-night selling orders around the market, and the early trading was also encouraged by the very weak showing of the Liverpool cables, and the fact that the market had advanced 10 to 16 points on the old crop and of 3 to 5 points on new crop months.

It was reported that a good many over-night selling orders around the market, and the early trading was also encouraged by the very weak showing of the Liverpool cables, and the fact that the market had advanced 10 to 16 points on the old crop and of 3 to 5 points on new crop months.
