COUNSEL FOR STATE AND DEFENSE IN HOT ARGUMENT BEFORE JUDGE ROAN

Judge L. S. Roan.

FIGHT TO RECOVER ZACHRY CHILDREN

Case Will Be Taken to Richmond Superior Court—Divorce Proceedings Do Not Interfere.

AUGUSTA, Aug. 12.—Attorney C. E. Dunbar announces that he will bring action before Judge Henry C. Hammond, of the Richmond Superior Court, for the recovery of the Zachry children.

By a decision of the Supreme Court yesterday Judge Hammond must hear the evidence in the case. The entire matter is, therefore, reopened, and Dunbar believes that he will recover the children on his next attempt. Ordinary Walton heard the case at first, and he decided that Zachry should have the custody of the children. Subsequently divorce proceedings were brought by Dunbar for Mrs. Zachry, and he asked Judge Hammond to hear the case and decide whether the father of the mother should have the custody of the children.

Judge Hammond declined on the ground that ordinary Walton had already decided the matter. Dunbar reminded him that at the time the matter was heard before Walton divorce proceedings had not been instituted.

Hammond said it made no difference and that he had no right to hear it. The Supreme Court has ruled that he had and has the right.

Kneel in Streets To Pray for Rain

MARSHALL, MO., Aug. 12.—In the hope of checking the disastrous drought that has done great damage in this section, prayers were not only offered in all the churches here, but citizens knelt in the streets and prayed for rain. Following church services, at which pastors called on their congregations to offer personal prayers for rain, many business men, while waiting home knelt in the street and offered up prayer.

Turks Threaten New War on Bulgarians

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 12.—The Turkish Porte to-day threatened to declare war against Bulgaria unless Bulgarian soldiers ceased their slaughter of defenseless Turkish peasants. According to reports sent in from Turkish military officers in Adrianople, many Musulman men and women are being killed daily in Thrace.

TRAGEDY RE-ENACTED TO PROVE STORY OF CONLEY IMPOSSIBLE

Spectacular evidence was to be introduced in behalf of Leo M. Frank, accused of the murder of Mary Phagan, Wednesday when Dr. William Owens, well-known Atlanta practitioner, entered court to testify that in the presence of three men he had re-enacted the disposition of the girl's body as described by Jim Conley, and that it could not possibly have been done in the time specified by the negro.

The time element in the story has always been considered the

Millionaire Brewer To Labor on Roads

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 12.—St. Louis County has country homes in St. Louis County are planning house parties for August 20 and 21, when the guests will be expected to work on the roads on "Good Roads Day," set aside by the Governor.

Edwin Kemp, the young millionaire who temporarily has retired from the brewing business, and who has become a farmer, has sent out invitations for an overall party, to be held at his country home.

Philadelphia Girls In Ty Cobb in Skirts

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 12.—This city has a new baseball hero, Dorothy Maylan, eight years old, played shortstop on the girls' team of the Germantown Boys' Club and averaged eleven chances without an error.

But more remarkable was her record with the bat. This diminutive girl made two home runs, three two-baggers and two singles in seven trips to the plate. One of her home runs came with the bases full.

Massacre of Rebels Continues in China

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. SHANGHAI, Aug. 12.—Government troops are obtaining no quarter to the southern rebels. The ferocious Woo Sung were captured by the Federals to-day and nearly all the rebel defenders were killed.

Girl Tells of Trip to Reno as Diggs' Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Marsha Warrington, the 15-year-old Sacramento girl whose flight to Reno with Maury I. Diggs resulted in her present trial on a charge of violating the Mann white slave law, resumed her story on the witness stand to-day.

Miss Warrington said that after eating luncheon in a cafe on their arrival in Reno, she, with Diggs, Drew Campbell, jointly indicted with Diggs, and Lola Norris, went to a hotel, and under assumed names, registered as maid and wife. The following day, she said, they moved to a bungalow that Diggs and Campbell had rented for 6 months. They lived there as man and wife, she testified.

Mountaineer Frozen Dangling Over Cliff

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MICHENA, Aug. 12.—Mountain guides near Lehman to-day discovered the frozen body of a mountaineer hanging over the cliff in the Sierraz Mountains. The man, who was a guide, had fallen from a precipice and his clothing had caught in a getting tree limb.

vote was taken at 5:15 o'clock after a night of acrimonious debate. Wall street has claimed many victims, both high and low, but few sagas have afforded a more pathetic spectacle than that of Governor Sulzer, standing alone after having fought his way up the political ladder through fifteen years or more of grueling battle.

To controvert evidence produced by the Prantley legislative committee, which showed that Governor Sulzer had used money contributed to his campaign for stock speculation, Mrs. Sulzer, was prepared to go upon the stand to testify that she induced her husband's name to check without his knowledge and used them for stock purchases. Even this noble wifely sacrifice, declared the Governor's opponents, would not save him from political annihilation when the impeachment proceedings are actually begun by the managers appointed by the assembly.

Governor Sulzer's friends, including Republicans, Democrats and one

Commissioner and county boards of assessors, will be inaugurated Wednesday or Thursday. Both Mr. Stovall and Mr. Sheppard made strenuous efforts to get the floor immediately after the passage of the bill with a motion to reconsider, but were ruled out of order at their first attempt by Speaker Burwell. Then Ed Wohlender, of Missoula, stepped into the breach with one of his filibusters, and their opportunity was gone. They have served notice on the House, however, that they will make a motion to reconsider at the earliest possible opportunity.

Friends of the measure, however, who passed it after one of the most spectacular fights in the history of Georgia, declare that they have no fear that the efforts of Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Stovall will succeed. Backed by the approval of Governor Sulzer, who issued a statement Tuesday night that the House deserved the thanks of the State, they have no fear that their work will be destroyed.

10-Year-Old Girl to Christen the Nevada

RENO, NEV., Aug. 12.—Eleanor Anne Shebert, ten years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Shebert, of this city, and a niece of Governor Osie, has been selected to act as sponsor at the launching of the battleship Nevada, now nearing completion at the Fore River Works at Quincy, Mass.

Little Miss Shebert will break a bottle of wine over the prow of the ship as she names it after her State about October 1.

Dr. Owens was one of the first witnesses called Wednesday and the three men who helped him re-enact the tragedy were to follow him.

A man named Brent took the part of Conley in the strange rehearsal and William A. Fleming took the part Conley said Frank enacted. Dr. Owens and a man named Wilson acted as timekeepers.

JUSTICE IS AIM OF BOTH SIDES IN TRIAL OF FRANK; SQUARE DEAL IS CERTAIN

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

In considering the Frank trial, particularly with respect to the length of it and the thoroughness of the evidence of the hearing, it must be borne in mind that the establishment of justice is the main object of both sides, and that, therefore, patience and delay are absolutely necessary to those who would be fair and not only to Frank, but to the State also.

As Frank himself has said, State's counsel that he is: "It is not so much a question of convicting Leo Frank as it is a question of convicting the murderer of Mary Phagan."

The Justice General, Hugh M. Dorsey, is entitled to full and complete justice for the careful and painstaking labor he has put into the case. It must be conceded that he is utterly conscientious and sincere in his endeavor to convict Frank. Frank has been duly indicted during the trial.

It is the duty of the State to prosecute with all the time and resources available to it to convict all indicted persons, if he did not do so in the Frank case, the State would not be entitled to a square deal. And it is equally as much the duty of the State to see to it that the State gets a square deal as it is that Leo Frank and Helen Acosta should see to it that Frank gets a square deal.

Dorsey Given Credit. The Justice General has made out a most impressive case against Frank. Moreover, with such circumstances and positive facts as he thinks he possesses, he is the sound or otherwise, and that is for the jury to say. He has established a charge against Leo Frank that can not and will not be averaged without difficulty and circumvention of fact.

The subjects has handled himself extremely well in the exercise of his credit for that. He has avoided the common trap to be a good man, an exceptionally able man in a position that summons to the most trying of all official positions. No man can make me believe that Hugh Dorsey would be an instant back to his own legal brain the evidence brought against him. He has done it. He has done it. He has done it.

No Question Over Expense. The defense will raise the question of expense later, and that too, as it should. However, much we may wish to see Phagan buried, but neither the State of Georgia nor the County of Dalton will contribute a cent of the expense of the trial. The State will pay the expenses of the State in the trial of a human life in a many, reputation and good fame, an established and established household, and all of that not raise a protesting hand in the circumstances.

The State under the direction of the Justice General has made a most impressive case against Frank. The State will pay the expenses of the State in the trial of a human life in a many, reputation and good fame, an established and established household, and all of that not raise a protesting hand in the circumstances.

Former Neighbor Of C.B. Dalton, Who Attacks Character

Cooper's son sat on his knee while the father was on stand.

V. S. Cooper, farmer of Walton County, who testifies he would not believe Dalton on oath.

Frank, without making a mistake, showing a sign of unusual excitement in the work. The fact that Frank has been indicted for the murder of Mary Phagan, because he had been the chief witness in the Phagan case, has been an impossible situation.

How Battle May Turn. Now, why was it that the State, in the trial of the Phagan case, did not make a mistake in the trial of the Phagan case, did not make a mistake in the trial of the Phagan case, did not make a mistake in the trial of the Phagan case.

QUERY WRINGS CRY OF AGONY FROM MOTHER; WIFE SOBS SILENTLY

Mrs. Rae Frank, mother of Leo Frank, caused a dramatic scene in court Wednesday afternoon by rising in her chair and denouncing Solicitor Dorsey as he was making charges of grossly improper conduct on the part of Frank with young girls in his factory.

The Solicitor was asking Ashley Jones, an insurance man, if he ever had heard of a story that Frank had taken certain liberties with one of the factory girls, giving her name.

Mrs. Frank, who had been sitting in the gallery, burst into a cry of agony when she heard her son's name mentioned. She was sobbing and her face was pale.

Attorney Hooper gave Owens a long cross-examination to demonstrate that the re-enactment of Onley's story could be taken as an accurate measure of the time required for the disposal of the body.

Attorney Arnold again threatened to move for a mistrial when the Solicitor began his cross-examination of Jones.

Dorsey asked Jones if he had not heard of Frank holding young girls on his lap in his office and taking other liberties with them.

"That is outrageous," shouted Arnold. "I shall move for a mistrial if such a question is asked again. It is most unjust and prejudicial that the gossip of crack-brained extremists should be allowed to come before this jury."

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 75.

Georgia's Senate and Her Children

"And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me-- Even so, it is not the will of your Father who is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish." Matt. 18:5-14.

A child-- A girl-- All men would help her. House Bill No. 4 will save girls who are children in years. The PRISON COMMISSION has favored the Bill.

The PENITENTIARY COMMITTEE of the House has approved it. The COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS with WHEATLEY of Sumter as Chairman unanimously recommended its adoption carrying a $30,000 appropriation.

And men believe that GOVERNOR SLATON approves the measure. Yesterday, Tuesday, the HOUSE COMMITTEE ON RULES, whose Chairman is the Speaker of the House, BURWELL, with BLACKBURN of Fulton its Vice Chairman, put the Bill upon the calendar.

The forty-six who opposed it did not do so with the thought of harming girls. They misunderstood. At heart--if they consider--they too approved the JONES-MILLS' BILL establishing the "Georgia Training School for Girls."

It is no one man's measure--no group of men can claim it--it is a law for the want of which girl children of Georgia have suffered. You would not continue to hurt and degrade them--you, too, would help.

To-day the Bill is in the Senate. The COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS of that body, whose Chairman is Senator W. W. STARK, now has it under consideration; and the Senate RULES COMMITTEE will doubtless see that it is heard.

The President of the Senate, RANDOLPH ANDERSON, of Chatham, has long favored a Reformatory for girls in Georgia. And since the question of taxation and finances has been settled, the only argument against the bill has been removed.

Of it, The Morning News of Savannah has rightly said: "It is hard to see how anybody can truthfully say that it would not profit the State to spend $30,000 in that way." The Senate will doubtless pass the Bill as it was adopted by the House, without an opposing vote. All Georgia will approve.

FRANK'S CLASSMATES AT COLLEGE TELL OF HIS GOOD CHARACTER

A vicious attack by inuendo only by Solicitor Dorsey upon the character of Leo Frank and a sensational interruption of his questions by the prisoner's mother were the features of the Frank trial late Wednesday afternoon. The man on the stand, Ashley Jones, denied absolutely any knowledge of the things the Solicitor indirectly charged.

Dr. William Owens followed the sensational incident with a description of the reenactment of Jim Conley's story and to show that the event he described could not have happened in the time he specified.

"Mr. Jones, you never heard of Frank having girls on his lap in the office?" Dorsey had asked.
"No, nor you neither!" cried Frank's mother.
"Keep quiet, keep quiet; I am afraid you will have to sit here and listen to this a long time," said the Solicitor.

Mrs. Frank broke into tears and was assisted from the room, crying: "My God, my God!"
Mother and Wife Sit With Bowed Heads.

The Solicitor's examination of Jones had been of a most sensational nature and during the portion of it leading up to the interruption by Mrs. Frank the mother of the defendant and her daughter sat with lowered heads listening to the questions and answers.

Following the outbreak, Attorney Arnold jumped to his feet and shouted: "Your honor, this is outrageous. We are not responsible for the lies and slanders that cracked-brain extremists have circulated since this murder occurred."
"I will rule that the Solicitor can not ask anything that he has heard since the murder," replied Judge Roan. "He can ask on this cross-examination what happened before."
"Your honor," returned Solicitor Dorsey, "I am not flourishing about this. I am going to present a witness to prove the charges."

Attorney Arnold interrupted the speaker.
"Your honor," he said, "if any more of these gross slanders are brought up, I am going to make a motion for a new trial."
Owens' Testimony Admitted.

Judge Roan ruled Wednesday afternoon that the testimony of Dr. William Owens should be admitted over the objection of Solicitor Dorsey. He said he had some doubts of it but that he would let it go to the jury.

The decision was a most decisive victory for the defense. It enabled Frank's lawyers to introduce testimony in regard to a striking reproduction of the events connected with the disposal of Mary Phagan's body as described by Jim Conley for the purpose of showing that it would have been absolutely impossible for these events to have taken place between 12:50 and the time that Frank left the factory for home.

As Solicitor Dorsey was making an impassioned plea for the exclusion of the testimony and describing the terror that must have hastened the movements of the little factory girl's murderer, Mrs. J. W. Coleman, Mary Phagan's mother, broke down utterly and wept for several minutes.

Court opened in the afternoon with the attorneys arguing the admission of Dr. Owens' testimony. Luther Koser cited case after case in which evidence similar to that proposed by the defense had been accepted and allowed to stand.

Solicitor Dorsey contended that the witness was not testifying as an expert but was giving his opinion on a matter concerning which he was not qualified to judge as the witness.

Conley's story was repeated to testify that only three others he knew of the time that they took the parts of Conley and Frank were present and had minutes to carry a burden representing the body to the incident and return to the office.

Conley testified that he saw Leanne Quinn enter the factory before 11:45 a.m. and Menden Grover came in. The two girls met in the hallway between 12 and 12:15. Quinn said he did not get to the factory until about 12:20, and that he saw neither of the girls.

BOTH SIDES AIM FOR JUSTICE IN THE TRIAL OF FRANK

With Judge, Jury and Counsellors Performing Duty Well, Square Deal Is Assured.

By Jas. B. Nevin. In considering the Frank trial, particularly with respect to the conduct of it, and the thoroughness of its administration, it must be borne in mind that the chief object of both sides, and that, therefore, patience and order are absolutely necessary in those who would be fair—fair not only to Frank, but to the State also.

As Frank Hooper himself has said, State's counsel that he is. It is not so much a question of convicting Leo Frank, as it is a question of convicting the murderer of Mary Phagan.

The Solicitor General, Hugh M. Dorsey, is entitled to full and complete credit for the careful and painstaking labor he has put into the case.

It must be conceded that he is utterly conscientious and sincere in his endeavor to convict Frank. Frank has been duly indicted—Dorsey is the Solicitor General.

It is the duty—the sworn duty—of the Solicitor to prosecute with all the vigor and resources of his command all indicted persons. If he did not do that in the Frank case, the State would not be getting its square deal. And it is quite as much the province of Dorsey to see that the State gets a square deal.

Dorsey Given Credit. The Solicitor has made out a most impressive case against Frank, moving with such circumstances and positive facts as he thinks he possesses—be they sound or otherwise, and that in the jury's mind, he has established a charge against Leo Frank that can not, and will not, be overcome without the scrutiny and circumspection of effort.

The Solicitor has handled himself in a good way—the deserving credit for that. He has abundantly proven himself to be a good man—a conscientious man—in a position that sometimes is the most trying of all official positions in Georgia.

No man can make me believe that Hugh Dorsey would, for an instant, ever let Frank escape the awful charges brought against him, if Dorsey did not BELIEVE Frank guilty as much as he does. Frank Hooper, Dorsey's splendidly organized assistant.

GIRLS WHO TESTIFY FOR DEFENSE OF FRANK

MISS REBECCA CARSON

MISS CORINTHA HALL

So many people are undertaking to analyze and consider meticulously a case such as the one Judge Roan now is hearing, make the all too frequent mistake of jumping at conclusions.

You hardly can figure what the controlling effect of a bit of evidence may be, unless you endeavor to apply that evidence in all directions possible, and in the light of your best and most discriminating intelligence.

For instance, the defense is endeavoring to show that Frank on the afternoon of the murder engaged in three hours' most interesting electrical work, without making a mistake, or showing a sign of unusual excitement in the work.

The State, however, is endeavoring to show that Frank may have done and did do this work in the morning before the murder, when his mind was free of the guilty knowledge of bloodshed, and cites as a further circumstance to prove that he might have done the work in the morning the fact that he had received an unusual volume of business upon the afternoon, which he never had declined positively.

How Battle May Turn. Now, what will be the effect of these two contrary theories upon the mind of the jury? If the jury believes Frank did the work in the morning, and not in the afternoon, although it be shown that he may not have attended the ball, and the defense's theory of calmness upon the part of Frank in the afternoon, nevertheless, one prop to sustain the State's case, the prop which the part of Frank would be removed, of course but not more.

But suppose the jury finally believes that Frank did do the work in the afternoon, as is claimed, it likely would conclude that he hardly could have done it with the weight of Mary Phagan's murder upon his conscience, and the State would THEN be in the unfortunate attitude of having committed unsuccessfully a theory of the defense, thereby embarrassing the State's PEAK of it, and thus necessarily embarrassing its importance!

State Calls More Witnesses; Defense Builds Up an Alibi

In anticipation of the close of the defense's case, the State Tuesday afternoon subpoenaed a number of new witnesses to be called for the evidence that Frank's character was "put in issue." It was said that Solicitor Dorsey had prepared against this move by the defense by getting affidavits from many persons who claimed to know the defendant.

An effort by the State to obtain testimony reflecting on the morality of Frank was resisted strongly by the superintendent's attorneys Tuesday. Solicitor Dorsey failed to get the answers he desired from the witnesses, Philip Chambers, a 15-year-old office boy, but Attorney Arnold moved that all of the testimony bearing on this matter be ruled out, although the boy had testified favorably to Frank.

The jury will be asked to believe that Frank did this and so, because through a process of elimination it will be shown that Frank alone could have done this and so.

200 Want Ad Fiances Swindled, Is Charge. PRINCETON, IND., Aug. 13.—More than 200 men are said to have been victimized of the alleged marriage frauds worked by Miss Ora Mann Paris 33 years old, assisted by her father and mother. The three were held today charged with using the mails to defraud.

10-Year-Old Girl to Christen the Nevada. RENO, Nev., Aug. 13.—Eleven-year-old Nellie, ten years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Sobert, of this city, and a niece of Governor Latham, has been selected to act as sponsor at the launching of the battleship Nevada, now nearing completion at the Fore River Works at Quincy, Mass.

minute, but Harry Scott, Pinkerton detective, testified that it required the negro six or seven minutes to write one note dictated word by word. Assuming that Conley required only half the minimum time designated by Scott, it would have taken him twelve minutes to write the four notes at Frank's dictation, bringing the time to 1:15.

The defense lawyers will be able to argue that this took at least an additional five minutes, bringing the time to 1:20—ten minutes after Frank arrived home, according to the alibi set up by the defense and at the same time he arrived home by the testimony of one of the State's own witnesses, Albert McKnight.

Knelt in Streets To Pray for Rain. MAINEHURST, Mo., Aug. 13.—In the hope of checking the disastrous drought that has done great damage in this section, prayers were not only offered in all the churches here, but citizens knelt in the streets and prayed for rain.

Tunks Threaten New War on Bulgarians. CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.—The Turkish press today threatened to declare war against Bulgaria unless she ceases to persecute the Bulgarian Christians.

WOMAN HEADS SCHOOLS. COLUMBUS, Miss. Aug. 13.—Miss A. J. H. H. has been elected principal of the Public City. Also, Miss Magnolia Kennedy, who was appointed to succeed Miss Clayton, who recently resigned, after having conducted the school for a number of terms.

State Charges Premeditation. Attorney Frank Dorsey decided it was the opinion of the State that the pre-arrangement of Mary Phagan was premeditated. He was asked to show that this was premeditated.

Several pieces of testimony during the day break at the story of Jim Conley. Miss Hall said that Lemmie Phagan did not arrive in the factory before she left at 12:05. Conley said that when he received Mary Phagan, whom he saw at 12:05 and 12:10, she was carrying the factory at 12:05 o'clock.

Miss Corinthia Hall and Mrs. Emma Clark testified that they were not in the factory shortly after 1 o'clock when Conley said Frank exclaimed "I am glad to see you" and that Frank was alleged to have a part.

Following church services at which citizens shared their congratulations to other persons praying for rain, many business men, while walking home, knelt in the street and offered prayer.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 75.

Georgia's Senate and Her Children

And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me. Even so, it is not the will of your Father who is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish. Matt. 18:5-14.

A child— A girl— All men would help her. House Bill No. 4 will save girls who are children in years.

The PRISON COMMISSION has favored the Bill. The PENITENTIARY COMMITTEE of the House has approved it.

The COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS with WHEATLEY of Sumter as Chairman unanimously recommended its adoption carrying a $30,000 appropriation.

And men believe that GOVERNOR SLATON approves the measure. Yesterday, Tuesday, the HOUSE COMMITTEE ON RULES, whose Chairman is the Speaker of the House, BURWELL, with BLACKBURN of Fulton its Vice Chairman, put the Bill upon the calendar.

The VOTE WAS 115 TO 46. The forty-six who opposed it did not do so with the thought of harming girls. They misunderstood. At heart—if they consider—they too approved the JONES-MILLS BILL.

It is no one man's measure—no group of men can claim it—it is a law for the want of which girl children of Georgia have suffered. You would not continue to hurt and degrade them—you, too, would help. To-day the Bill is in the Senate. The COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS of that body, whose Chairman is Senator W. W. STARK, now has it under consideration; and the Senate RULES COMMITTEE will doubtless see that it is heard.

The President of the Senate, RANDOLPH ANDERSON, of Chatham, has long favored a Reformatory for girls in Georgia. And since the question of taxation and finances has been settled, the only argument against the bill has been removed. Of it, The Morning News of Savannah has rightly said: 'It is hard to see how anybody can truthfully say that it would not profit the State to spend $30,000 in that way.' The Senate will doubtless pass the Bill as it was adopted by the House, without an opposing vote. All Georgia will approve.

When the statement was read, Judge Hoon said that he had no objection that the statement was accurate in that it shows that the evidence was not in the hands of the State.

Former Office Boy Called by Defense. The witness was called and Frank Dalton's home swear his character is bad.

Noted Organist of England Plays Here

Atlanta music-lovers will have the opportunity next Sunday of hearing Eugene Wynn, one of the most famous English organists, in a free concert at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival Association. During the next few weeks a number of the most prominent organists in the country will be heard in concert at the Auditorium in the contest for the place of city organist left vacant by Dr. Percy Starnes' resignation. Mr. Wynn, however, will not participate in the contest, his appearance being a special attraction arranged by the association. Stetson Dyck, a noted English organist, and Clarence Reynolds, organist at the Ocean Grove Auditorium, are two who will try for the place.

Tango Puts Ban on Tight Corset Style

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 13.—The alt shirt, the tango and turkey trousers are approved and the tight-fitting corset taboo with Miss Ruth S. Dennis, the danceuse. Diag Ignored Because Of Diplomatic Error

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—A cableman to a local Japanese newspaper from Tokyo today said: "As the government of Mexico has ignored the diplomatic usage of the international intercourse etiquette by sending an envoy to Japan without consulting and making arrangements with the Japanese government for the mission, General Felix Diaz, Japan advised the government of Mexico that there is necessity of careful consultation beforehand."

FIGHT TO RECOVER ZACHRY CHILDREN

Case Will Be Taken to Richmond Superior Court—Divorce Proceedings Do Not Interfere.

ATLANTA, Aug. 13.—(Attorney, C. L. Dunbar announces that he will bring action before Judge Henry C. Hammond, of the Richmond Superior Court, for the recovery of the Zachry children. By a decision of the Supreme Court yesterday Judge Hammond must have the evidence in the case. The entire matter is, therefore, reopened, and Dunbar believes that he will recover the children on his next attempt. Ordinary Walton heard the case at first, and he decided that Zachry should have the custody of the children. Subsequently divorce proceedings were brought by Dunbar for Mrs. Zachry, and he asked Judge Hammond to hear the case and decide whether the father or the mother should have the custody of the children. Judge Hammond declined on the ground that Ordinary Walton had already decided the matter. Dunbar reminded him that at the time the matter was heard before Walton divorce proceedings had not been instituted. Hammond said it made no difference and that he had no right to hear it. The Supreme Court has ruled that he had and has the right.

President Urges Action on Opium

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 13.—None of the four persons wounded by revolver bullets in last night's rioting between citizens and industrial workers of the Milk Trust, according to doctors today. The trouble was brought on by the waving of an American flag in the face of an I. W. W. orator.

Boston Judge for Free Divorce Law

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 13.—There should be a more liberal divorce law, if not one actually patterned on the free divorce of Norway, Judge Albert A. Avery, of the Quincy and Braintree District Court, declared. "There would have to be the proper judicial arrangements if divorce were to be free," he said, "and where there are young children their welfare and disposition should come before the inclinations of the parents. "That it is unpeppery to make two people live together if they have ceased to care the right way."

BOTH SIDES AIM FOR JUSTICE IN THE TRIAL OF FRANK

With Judge, Jury and Councillors Performing Duty Well, Square Deal is Assured.

By Jas. B. Nevin.

In considering the Frank trial, particularly with respect to the length of it, and the thoroughness and fairness of the hearing, it must be borne in mind that the establishing of justice is the main object of both sides, and that, therefore, patience and poise are absolutely necessary in those who would be fair to Frank not only to Frank, but to the State also. With the average citizen, the dominating and uplifting factor in the Frank trial should be largely an abstract proposition.

As Frank Hooper himself has said, State's counsel that he is: "It is not so much a question of convicting Leo Frank as it is a question of convicting the murderer of Mary Phagan."

The Solicitor General, Hugh M. Dorsey, is entitled to full and complete praise for the careful and painstaking labor he has put into the case. It must be conceded that he is utterly conscientious and sincere in his endeavor to convict Frank. Frank has been duly indicted—Dorsey is the Solicitor General.

It is the duty—the sworn duty—of the Solicitor to prosecute with all the vigor and renewsness at his command all indicted persons who did not do that in the Frank case, the State would not be getting a square deal. And it is true, as the province of Dorsey to see that the State gets a square deal as it is that Luther Hooper and Frank should see to it that Frank gets a square deal.

With such circumstances and positive facts as he thinks he possesses—be they sound or otherwise, and that is for the jury to decide—he established a charge against Leo Frank that can not, and will not, be removed without due trial and due consideration of effort.

The Solicitor has handled himself extremely well—he reserves unflinching credit for that. He has abundantly proven himself to be a good man—in a perfectly plain man—in a position that sometimes is the most trying of all official positions in Georgia.

How Battle May Turn. Now, what can be expected of these two contrary theories upon the mind of the jury? If it is required, in his instructed judgment, that much time, it was clearly in order for Frank's counsel to advise, and for Frank himself, to possess their souls in patience while the State's counsel—the people's advocate—was doing his job.

Neither the State of Georgia nor the county of Fulton will squabble about the expense of the trial, nor the time of it, particularly in view of the state in issue—a human life, a name reputation and good name, an erasable habit and united household, and all of that—nor raise a protesting hand in the circumstances.

In case of the mind now being tried in the Fulton County Court both the State and the defense does well to make haste slowly.

The State, under the direction of the Solicitor, has built about Frank a mighty wall of circumstances, the which to scale it requires the ultimate integrity of the defense.

MISS REBECCA GARSON.

MISS CORINTHIA HALL.

say, reader, not for me—the saying finally is the jury's business, isn't that right? So many people, in undertaking to analyze and consider intelligently a case such as the one Judge Town now is hearing, make the all too frequent mistake of jumping at conclusions.

You hardly can figure what the controlling effect of a bit of evidence may be, unless you endeavor to apply that evidence in all directions possible, and in the light of your best and most discriminating intelligence.

For instance, the defense is endeavoring to show that Frank on the night of the murder engaged in three hours' most intricate clerical work, without making a mistake, or showing a sign of unusual excitement, or a sign of unusual excitement.

The defense will argue from this, that Frank is not likely the murderer of Mary Phagan, because, if he had been, the clerical work as aforesaid would have been impossible to do.

How Battle May Turn. Now, what can be expected of these two contrary theories upon the mind of the jury? If it is required, in his instructed judgment, that much time, it was clearly in order for Frank's counsel to advise, and for Frank himself, to possess their souls in patience while the State's counsel—the people's advocate—was doing his job.

Neither the State of Georgia nor the county of Fulton will squabble about the expense of the trial, nor the time of it, particularly in view of the state in issue—a human life, a name reputation and good name, an erasable habit and united household, and all of that—nor raise a protesting hand in the circumstances.

In case of the mind now being tried in the Fulton County Court both the State and the defense does well to make haste slowly.

State Calls More Witnesses; Defense Builds Up an Alibi

In anticipation of the close of the defense case, the State Tuesday afternoon subpoenaed a number of new witnesses to be called in the event that all of the testimony bearing on that Frank's character was put in issue. It was said that Solicitor Dorsey had prepared against this move by the defense by getting affidavits from many persons who claimed to know the defendant.

An effort by the State to obtain testimony reflecting on the morality of Frank was resisted strongly by the appointed attorneys Tuesday. Solicitor Dorsey failed to get the answers he desired from the witnesses, Philip Chambers, a 15-year-old office boy, but Attorney Arnold moved that all of the testimony bearing on that Frank's character was put in issue.

The lawyer contended that he would move for a mistrial if any further testimony of the sort which he branded as irrelevant and immaterial, as well as being defamatory, slanderous and highly prejudicial. He was sustained in his objection.

Alibi Established. The State had progressed considerably in establishing what it proposed to make an iron-clad alibi for Frank on the day of the murder, which occurred Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Selig, Frank's neighbors, with whom he lives, both testified that Frank arrived home Saturday afternoon for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. Miss McKnight, a negro cook, swore to the same statement. This would have made it impossible, according to the contention of the defense for Frank to have had any part in the crime as it is described by the state.

Allowing ten minutes for Frank to catch a car and get home, this would have necessitated Frank leaving the factory at 11:10 o'clock. Conley said it was four minutes before 11 o'clock when he set the clock in which to wrap the body of Mary Phagan and carry it to the front of the factory and down the elevator. This gives but fourteen minutes for the disposal of the body, the writing of the four pages of the letter, and the carrying of the body, and everything else that would have to be done before Frank left for home.

Several pieces of testimony during the day struck at the story of Jim Conley. Miss Hall said that Lemmie Quinn did not arrive in the factory before she left at 12:30. Conley said that Quinn preceded Mary Phagan, whom he saw next to a window in the factory, who entered the factory at 12:05 o'clock.

Miss Hall and Mrs. E. M. Emch, a clerk testified that they were not in the factory shortly after 1 o'clock when Conley said Frank exclaimed that these two women were coming.

Following church services at which pastors called on their congregations to offer personal prayers for rain, many walked home, but citizens knelt in the streets, and prayed for rain.

Other important developments of the day were the showing up of the court and changing record and report of the State. The witness who were women frequently were in Frank's office. The announcement by the State of its theory that Frank planned the attack on Mary Phagan day before last took place, and the testimony of Miss Hattie Hall and Miss Margaret Kennedy, which was introduced to show that this theory was untenable.

State Charges Premeditation. Attorney Frank Hooper declared it as the opinion of the State that the pay envelope of Mary Phagan, which was handed Helen Ferguson Friday night and that it was refused for the deliberate purpose of getting the Phagan girl to the factory the next day. Margaret Kennedy testified that she was with Helen Ferguson when she drew her pay and that the girl did not ask for Mary Phagan's pay.

MORE WITNESSES FROM DALTON'S HOME SWEAR HIS CHARACTER IS BAD

Judge Roan will let the jury know because under these circumstances it would be fact and not opinion.

Dorsey—This witness can not testify on the time it took Frank to choke the little girl.

Attorney Arnold (jumping up and crying)—Of course, he doesn't know how long it took Conley to choke her.

Judge Roan—Think I understand the question now. There is no evidence here, Mr. Arnold, that they went through the movements as rapidly as Conley did, and that they would only be an opinion.

Arnold—These men went as fast as they could.

Judge Roan—But the negro next said how fast he walked.

Arnold—Is your honor going to bind us by the unopposed story of a negro?

Judge—Your honor, experiments show it is purely for establishing relevancy. Even the negro could not go through the same movements again in the same length of time.

Dorsey—Your honor, these men were not under pressure. They had not just choked a poor little innocent girl to death.

Judge Roan—They are not to be disposed of the body. I challenge them to do any other thing.

Attorney Arnold—If anyone of these men would urge such a proposition, you would not pay any attention to it.

Judge Roan—They are not to be disposed of the body. I challenge them to do any other thing.

Dorsey—I didn't mean that. I have respect for your opinion, but my authorities are clear that no expert testimony based on test outside of the facts is inadmissible.

MEMO AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 75.

Georgia's Senate and Her Children

And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me--

Even so, it is not the will of your Father who is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

Matt. 18:15-14.

A child--

A girl--

All men would help her.

House Bill No. 4 will save girls who are children in years.

The PRISON COMMISSION has favored the Bill.

The PENITENTIARY COMMITTEE of the House has approved it.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS with WHEATLEY of Sumter as Chairman unanimously recommended its adoption carrying a $30,000 appropriation.

And men believe that GOVERNOR SLATON approves the measure.

Yesterday, Tuesday, the HOUSE COMMITTEE ON RULES, whose Chairman is the Speaker of the House, BURWELL, with BLACKBURN of Fulton its Vice Chairman, put the Bill upon the calendar.

Without this, the measure would have been lost. Among those helping to pass it were NUNNALLY of Floyd and SHUPTRINE of Chatham. And for it BARRY WRIGHT did splendid service.

THE VOTE WAS 115 TO 46.

The forty-six who opposed it did not do so with the thought of harming girls. They misunderstood. At heart—if they consider—they too approved the JONES-MILLS' BILL establishing the "Georgia Training School for Girls."

It is no one man's measure—no group of men can claim it—it is a law for the want of which girl children of Georgia have suffered.

You would not continue to hurt and degrade them—you, too, would help.

To-day the Bill is in the Senate.

THE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS of that body, whose Chairman is Senator W. W. STARK, now has it under consideration; and the Senate RULES COMMITTEE will doubtless see that it is heard.

The President of the Senate, RANDOLPH ANDERSON, of Chatham, has long favored a Reformatory for girls in Georgia.

And since the question of taxation and finances has been settled, the only argument against the bill has been removed.

RURAL CREDITS ENDORSED BY PRESIDENT

Wilson Says Next Task Ahead of Him and Congress Is to Give Aid to Farmers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The following statement was issued at the White House today embodying the views of President Wilson on rural credits:

"Again and again during the discussion of the currency bill it has been urged that special provision should be made in it for the facilitating of credits of the farmer in the country who stand in need of agricultural credits as distinguished from ordinary commercial and industrial credits. Such proposals were not adopted because such credits could only be imperfectly provided for in such a measure. The special character of the bill is its immediate and chief purpose could not be made to reach as far as the special interests of the farmer require."

"Special machinery of a distinct system of banking must be provided for rural credits are to be successful and adequately supplied. A Government commission is now in Europe studying the interesting and highly successful methods which have been employed in several countries of the Old World, and its report will be made to Congress at its regular session next winter. It is confidently to be expected that the Congress will at that session act upon the recommendations of that report and establish a complete and adequate system of rural credits."

"National Welfare Involved. There is no subject more important to the welfare and industrial development of the United States; there is no form in which it could be more week a greater honor or privilege to take part because I should feel that it was a service to the whole country of the first magnitude and of national importance. It should have accompanied a good hand and hand with reform in our banking and currency system. If we had been ready to act wisely and with full knowledge of the matter were able."

"There has been too little Federal legislation framed to serve the farmer directly and to give him the benefit to his real needs. We long that the farmers of America enjoyed such an immense natural advantage over the farmers of other countries, and so intelligent and enterprising and so at ease with the comparative soils of our great country that they could have made the most of it. We have not exaggerated the capacity of opportunity and the disadvantages from which we are suffering and have too often failed to recognize them when we did not know what they were."

"In other countries a system of rural credit has been developed which has relieved the farmer, but has put him under a heavy burden of debt. It is not possible to have a rural credit system which is not a burden on the farmer, and it is not possible to have a rural credit system which is not a burden on the farmer, and it is not possible to have a rural credit system which is not a burden on the farmer."

"And there will be. Not only is the Government commission to report, which is charged with advising the Congress of the best methods yet employed in this matter, but the Department of Agriculture has undertaken a serious and systematic study of the whole problem of rural credits. The report of the committee, which is being prepared, will certainly afford the needed machinery of relief and prosperity to the people of the country, and that very soon."

"Winper a Piquant Brunette. Miss Hurst is a striking type of a vivacious brunette. Her face scintillates smiles of good cheer. There were all types of beauty in the contest—perfect blondes with eyes of blue, hazel and green, girls with pink cheeks, girls with dark brown hair and big dreamy blue eyes, and various shades of brunettes. But the smiling face must have had the slogan for a 'Half Million Club' booster than any for she got the most votes."

"An order for the booster buttons immediately will be placed. Though Miss Hurst is sponsor for the club, she will lose her identity on the buttons, except as she is remembered as the girl. And, of course, everybody will remember that."

"Wires Lack to $50,000 Club. There will be no name on the buttons, only the slogan of the Half Million Club. It was a triumph of the city, but in acknowledgment of her election she wired."

"Wires Lack to $50,000 Club. The next step will be a formal organization of the '50,000 Club.' Before many days the beautiful buttons will be distributed and a concentrated effort to boost Atlanta's population to $50,000 by 1920 will begin."

Confirmation of Moon and Steed Ends Fight Begun When Brown Took Seat.

Confirmation by the Senate Wednesday morning of four appointments made by Governor Slaton settled a controversy of long standing in regard to the official status of Professor A. H. Moon, of Appling County, and Walter E. Steed, of Taylor County, as members of the State Board of Education.

Senator Cullison is reported in a serious condition in a Connecticut sanitarium and, although the anxiety felt by majority leaders concerning the death of a favored member of the Senate, the same situation as that obtaining before Mr. Clayton's appointment. Before Senator Johnson's death the vote on the tariff bill stood 49 to 4 in favor of the measure. His death would result in the Democratic majority of 49 is restored.

BATTLE TO SPEARHED SULZER

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY VOTES AFTER ALL-NIGHT SESSION TO TRY EXECUTIVE AS GRAFTER.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Governor William Sulzer was impeached by the New York Assembly today by a vote of 73 to 45. The specific charge in the indictment of "high crimes and misdemeanors" was that he used money contributed to his campaign for speculation in Wall street.

The vote was taken at 5:15 o'clock after a night of acrimonious debate. Wall street has claimed many victims, both high and low, but few cases have afforded a more pathetic spectacle than that of Governor Sulzer, standing alone, and having fought his way up the political ladder through fifteen years or more of grinding battle.

To prevent evidence produced by the Frawley legislative committee, which showed that Governor Sulzer had used money contributed to his campaign for stock speculation, Mr. Sulzer was prepared to go upon the stand to testify that the indicted husband's name to checks without his knowledge and used them for stock purchases. Even this noble sacrifice, declared the Governor's opponents, would not save him from political annihilation when the impeachment proceedings are actually begun by the managers appointed by the assembly.

Governor Sulzer's friends, including Republicans, Democrats and one lone Progressive, made a spirited fight, but the antagonists were strong in numbers and logic and were able to prevail.

While the all-night battle raged Governor Sulzer remained calm in the executive mansion, the people's house, as he called it, refusing to see any one or to be seen. Comforted only by his wife, he remained in lonely vigil until after dawn, when a messenger informed him that he had been impeached. Tears streamed down the Governor's face when he heard the news.

Governor Sulzer will be tried by the Senate and a majority of the judges of the State Court of Appeals, the evidence being presented against him by managers appointed by the Assembly.

Directly after the vote had been taken in the Assembly, Speaker Smith appointed Assemblymen Van Woeck, Cole and Bradley to inform the Senate officially of the impeachment.

Speaker Smith announced also that no time would be lost in preparing the articles of impeachment for presentation to the court, but Mr. Sulzer has twenty days in which to prepare his defense.

DEFENSE LETS DOWN ALL BARS FOR ATTACK ON FRANK'S CHARACTER

Lemmie Quinn, foreman in the metal department of the National Pencil Factory, told a story on the witness stand Wednesday in the trial of Leo M. Frank which gave the lie to another of Jim Conley's courtroom statements.

Conley testified that he saw Lemmie Quinn enter the factory before Mary Phagan and Monteen Stover came in. The two girls entered some time between 12 and 12:15. Quinn said he did not get to the factory until about 12:20, and that he saw neither of the girls.

Quinn had not demonstrated how well his story will stand up under the cross-examination of Solicitor Dorcey at Ramoth Arnold had not quite concluded with the direct examination when the noon recess was taken.

Aside from the testimony of Quinn, the forenoon was marked by the opening of the gates for all of the character testimony against Frank which the State wishes to produce.

Three witnesses were produced by the defense to testify to Frank's good character. When the first one was called Solicitor Dorcey objected, saying:

"I don't see how his testimony is material, your honor, unless the defense intends to make the defendant's character an issue."

"That's exactly what we propose to do," retorted Arnold. Challenge to State To Do Its Worst.

The crowded room of spectators knew that this was a challenge by the defense for the State to do its worst. Frank's lawyers deliberately had introduced Frank's character into the trial, apparently indicating that they had no fear of the evidence which the prosecution might bring forth.

It is known that the State has made elaborate preparations for an attack on the young superintendent's character with stories of gross immorality.

Solicitor Dorcey was asked Wednesday how many witnesses he expects to call.

"I don't know," he replied. "It largely depends on the number that the defense calls and the nature of their testimony. Those called by Attorney Arnold at the forenoon session were: Alfred L. Lane, a merchant of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a classmate of Frank's at Pratt Institute from 1898 to 1902.

Philip Nash, clerical engineer, Ridgewood, N. Y., and a classmate of Frank's at Pratt Institute during the same period. Richard A. Wright, a consulting engineer, Brooklyn, who knew Frank at Pratt Institute and also at Cornell University.

All testified as to Frank's good character.

Office Boy Called to Aid Frank.

Frank Payne, former office boy at the factory, was asked to particularize as to certain incidents mentioned in his testimony of Jim Conley and O. B. Dalton. He said that he never knew Mary Phagan to have women in his office, although it was his custom to be at the office at the times Conley and Dalton testified that these gay parties took place.

A full three-quarters of the forenoon was consumed in a legal wrangle over the admissibility of Dr. William Owens' testimony. Dr. Owens was ready to testify in regard to the reproduction of the alleged movements of Conley and Frank in disposing of Mary Phagan's body, as Conley testified them on the witness stand. Judge Ross reserved his decision until afternoon.

Quinn was questioned minutely in regard to the time of his visit to the factory as soon as he was called to stand. Attorney Arnold began by having him detail his movements throughout the day from the time he arose in the morning.

The foreman told an apparently straightforward story, although the Solicitor did not have time for cross-examination before the noon recess was taken. He said that he never saw Frank's office frequently in the morning, but that he was present for trial and veracity was his motto. He said he would not believe Jim under oath.

Quinn Over Enactment of Conley's Story.

The defense was able to get only as far as the reading of the excerpts from Conley's testimony as far as it related to the actual movements of the day when the judge decided that he would reserve his decision until afternoon in the dispute over Dr. Owens' testimony.

With one man making the role of Leo Frank and two others timing every movement, the four actors in the drama went to the factory and proceeded through the actions which the story described in telling the story of the body's disposal.

Even the victim of the tragedy did not go unrepresented. A sick child with cerebral weighing 115 pounds, the weight of Mary Phagan, was called

BOTH SIDES AIM FOR JUSTICE IN THE TRIAL OF FRANK

With Judge, Jury and Councilors Performing Duty Well, Square Deal is Assured.

By Jas. B. Nevin.

In considering the Frank trial, particularly with respect to the length of it and the thoroughness of the progress of the hearing, it must be borne in mind that the establishing of justice is the main object of the trial, and that, therefore, patience and peace are absolutely necessary in those who would be fair to the State and to the defendant.

As Frank Hopper himself has said, State's counsel that he is; "It is not so much a question of convicting Leo Frank, as it is a question of convicting the murderer of Mary Phagan."

The Solicitor General, Hugh M. Dorsey, is entitled to full and complete praise for the careful and painstaking labor he has put into the case.

It must be conceded that he is utterly conscientious and sincere in his endeavor to convict. Frank has been duly indicted—Dorsey is the Solicitor General.

It is the duty—the sworn duty of the Solicitor to prosecute with all the vigor and conscientiousness at his command all indicted persons of whom he did not do that in the Frank case, the State would be getting a square deal. And it is quite fair to the province of Dorsey to see that the State gets a square deal as to that latter Hopper and Housar would see to it that Frank gets a square deal.

Dorsey Given Credit. The Solicitor has made a most impressive case against Frank, moreover.

With such circumstances and positive facts as he thinks he possesses—he be sound or otherwise, and that for the jury to find, he has established a charge against Leo Frank that can not, and will not, be overruled without a complete acquittal of the State.

The Solicitor has handled himself extremely well—the deserving ungrudging credit for that.

He has abundantly proven himself to be a good man—an exceptionally able man—in a position that sometimes is the most trying of all official positions in Georgia.

No man can make me believe that Hugh Dorsey, for an instant, seeks to fix upon Leo Frank the awful charge brought against him, in the case, did not BELIEVE Frank guilty.

As much may be said of Frank Hopper. Dorsey's splendidly equipped assistant.

In making out his case against Frank, Dorsey took his time—he employed ten days establishing his case, before he closed.

He was right in doing that, if it required, in his mature judgment, that much time. It was clearly in order for Frank's friends, relatives, and for Frank himself, to possess their souls in patience while the State's case was being put on.

No Quibbling Over Evidence. The defense will take quite an long time, perhaps longer—and that, too, it should be, however much they may wish to see things hurried a bit.

Neither the State of Georgia nor the county of Fulton will quibble about the expense of the trial, nor the time of it, particularly in view of the stake in issue—a human life, a man's reputation and good name, and all of that—nor raise a protesting hand, in the circumstances.

In case of the kind now being tried in the Fulton County Court both the State and the defense do well to make haste slowly.

The State, under the direction of the Solicitor, has built up a case which is a wall of circumstances, which to scale it will require the ultimate ingenuity of the defense.

One does not know whether the defense can scale that wall or not—maybe it can. It has made marked progress—thus far at least, so it seems, it may get completely over. It isn't over yet, nevertheless.

The best thing to do is to keep your mind honestly open—to keep it impartially impartial between the State and the accused—as the jury is required to do.

The well-learned citizens will be prepared to say, after the hearing is completed and the verdict has been rendered, "Well, that is the TRUTH of the matter, for it is a finding brought about through a process of fair trial, and it is the duty of an Anglo-Saxon civilization, which is an ever-progressing civilization, to do its utmost to see that justice is done to the best extent that human nature is able to approximate it."

...readers not for me—the saying finally is the jury's business. Isn't that right? So many people, in undertaking to analyze and consider intelligently a case such as the one Judge Hoar now has before him, make the all too frequent mistake of jumping at conclusions. You hardly can figure what the controlling effect of a bit of evidence may be, unless you endeavor to apply that evidence in all directions possible, and in the light of your best and most discriminating intelligence. For instance, the defense is endeavoring to show that Frank did the deed, and did so work in the morning before the murder, when his mind was free of the guilty knowledge of bloodshed, and cited as a further circumstance to prove that he might have done that, and so, to deny the fact that he had received an invitation to attend a ball game at Frank Hopper's splendidly equipped assistant.

State Calls More Witnesses; Defense Builds Up an Alibi

In anticipation of the close of the defense case, the State Tuesday afternoon subpoenaed a number of new witnesses to be called in the event that Frank's character was put in issue. It was said that Solicitor Dorsey had prepared against this move by the defense by getting affidavits from many persons who claimed to know the defendant. The jury will be asked to believe that Frank did not do this and so, because Frank, having done something else could not at the same time have done this and so, to deny the fact that he had received an invitation to attend a ball game at Frank Hopper's splendidly equipped assistant.

MOORE WITNESSES FROM DALTON'S HOME SWEAR HIS CHARACTER IS BAD

Judge Roan—He was going to introduce actual time tests.

Judge Roan—Will it be, then, because under these circumstances it would be fact and not opinion.
Dorsey—This witness can not pass upon the time it took Frank to close the little girl.

Attorney Arnold—Dorsey, in an attempt, of course, to do it, to show how long it took Conley to choke her.
Judge Roan—I think I understand the question now. There is no evidence here, Mr. Arnold, that they went through the movements as rapidly as Conley did, and I think it would only be an opinion.

Attorney Arnold—But the negro never said how fast he walked.
Attorney Arnold—Is your honor going to bind us by the unsworn story of this negro?
Dorsey—Your honor, establishing relevancy is purely for establishing relevancy accuracy. Even the negro could not go through the same movements again in the same length of time.

Judge Roan—They or anyone else can not influence me to do anything wrong.
Dorsey—I didn't mean that. I have respect for their opinions, but my testimony based on tests outside of court is inadmissible. If Dr. Owens can get up here and testify that he thinks Conley could not have done it as he said he did, he might testify that he could have committed the crime. Then he could produce witnesses after witness to show that Conley did have time to do what he said he did.

Attorney Arnold read several affidavits.
Judge Roan—What is the reason this witness can't be called back this afternoon? I will rule on it now, if your gentlemen insist, but I would rather you produce your authorities, to see if you can find any Georgia cases.
Dr. Owens was excused until 1 o'clock.

SCHOOLS FUND IS RESTORED BY THE HOUSE

Senate Amendments Reconsidered and Bill Returned in Virtually Its Original Form.

Forced to follow the lead of the Senate in the matter of tax reform legislation, the House of Representatives turned the tables Wednesday morning by disagreeing with practically every amendment offered by the Senate to the House general appropriations bill. Now the Senate will be obliged to come to the House in the matter of disposing of the revenues of the State. The bill as finally completed by the House at 1 o'clock and which will be sent to the Senate at once for further action restored virtually every detail of the measure which passed the House two weeks ago.

The consideration of the Senate amendments brought about an unusual situation which finally resulted in a complete victory for education in Georgia, the members showing by almost unanimous vote that they are unwilling for any of the higher educational institutions of the State to suffer through lack of funds.
Leaders of House Active.

In view of the passage of the tax bill Tuesday, leaders in the House brought out the bill with the intention of restoring it to its original shape by disagreeing with the Senate amendments.
Several members who declared they were unwilling to make appropriations in excess of the estimated revenues, started a fight to agree to the Senate amendments, led by Mays of Johnson. On the first vote Mays had strength enough to induce the House to agree to the Senate amendments.

"Even so, it is not the will of your Father who is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish."
Matt. 18:5-14.

A child—
A girl—
All men would help her.
House Bill No. 4 will save girls who are children in years.
THE PRISON COMMISSION has favored the Bill.
THE PENITENTIARY COMMITTEE of the House has approved it.

The COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS with WHEATLEY of Sumter as Chairman unanimously recommended its adoption carrying a $300,000 appropriation.
And men believe that GOVERNOR SLATON approves the measure.

Yesterday, Tuesday, the HOUSE COMMITTEE ON RULES, whose Chairman is the Speaker of the House, BURWELL, with BLACKBURN of Fulton its Vice Chairman, put the Bill upon the calendar. Without this, the measure would have been lost. Among those helping to pass it were NUNNALLY of Floyd and SHUPTRINE of Otham. And for it BARRY WRIGHT did splendid service.

THE VOTE WAS 115 TO 46.
The forty-six who opposed it did not do so with the thought of harming girls. They misunderstood. At heart—if they consider—they too approved the JONES-MILLS BILL establishing the "Georgia Training School for Girls."

It is no one man's measure—no group of men can claim it—it is a law for the want of which girl children of Georgia have suffered.
You would not continue to hurt and degrade them—you, too, would help.

To-day the Bill is in the Senate.
THE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS of that body, whose Chairman is Senator W. W. STARK, now has it under consideration; and the Senate RULES COMMITTEE will doubtless see that it is heard.

The President of the Senate, RANDOLPH ANDERSON, of Otham, has long favored a Reformatory for girls in Georgia.
And since the question of taxation and finances has been settled, the only argument against the bill has been removed.
Of it, The Morning News of Savannah has rightly said:
"it is hard to see how anybody can truthfully say that it would not profit the State to spend $300,000 in that way."
The Senate will doubtless pass the Bill as it was adopted by the House, without an opposing vote.
All Georgia will approve.

BATTLE TO IMPEACH SULZER NEW YORK

New York Assembly Votes After All-Night Session to Try Excutive as Graft.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Governor William Sulzer was impeached by the New York Assembly today by a vote of 79 to 45. The specific charge in the indictment of "high crimes and misdemeanors" was that he used money contributed to his campaign for reelection in Wall street. The vote was taken at 6:15 o'clock after a night of acrimonious debate.

Wall street has claimed many victims, both high and low, but few cases have afforded a more pathetic spectacle than that of Governor Sulzer, standing alone after having fought his way up the political ladder through fifteen years or more of grueling battle.

To controvert evidence produced by the Fraxley legislative committee, which showed that Governor Sulzer had used money contributed to his campaign for reelection, Mrs. Sulzer was prepared to go upon the stand to testify that she had not used her husband's money to check without his knowledge and used them for stock purchases. Even this noble wife's sacrifice, declared the Governor's opponents, would not save him from political annihilation when the impeachment proceedings are actually begun by the managers appointed by the assembly.

Governor Sulzer's friends, including Republicans, Democrats and one lone Progressive, made a spirited fight, but the antagonists were strong in numbers and logic and were able to prevail.

While the all-night battle raged Governor Sulzer remained alone in the executive mansion, the "people's house," as he called it, refusing to see any one or of her. Comforted by his wife he remained in lonely vigil until after dawn, when a messenger informed him that he had been impeached. Tears streamed down the Governor's face when he heard the news.

Governor Sulzer will be tried by the Senate and a majority of the judges of the State Court of Appeals. The evidence being presented against him by managers appointed by the Assembly.

CULBERSON ILL; TARIFF IN PERIL

Loss of Texas Senator's Vote
Would Put Wilson's Reform
Bill in Danger.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—News of the serious illness of Senator Culbertson, of Texas, today disconcerted the feeling of relief among Democratic leaders occasioned by the announcement of the appointment by Governor O'Neal, of Alabama, of Representative Henry J. Clayton, chair of the House Judiciary Committee, to the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Johnston.

Senator Culbertson is reported in a serious condition in a Connecticut sanitarium and, although the anxiety felt by majority leaders concerning the death of or enforced absence of Senator Culbertson will throw the vote back to the same alignment as that obtaining before Mr. Clayton's appointment is causing much concern.

Before Senator Johnston's death the vote on the tariff bill stood 49 to 47 in favor of the measure. His death reduced the Democratic majority to one. This no one would obtain and the dependable Democratic vote of the vice-president could not in any event come in to stay. The change of one vote would shift the majority to the Republicans. With the appointment of Mr. Clayton as a Senator ad interim, the Democratic vote of 49 is restored.

TAX BILL IS PASSED; FOES IN NEW WAR

If Representatives Sheppard of Sumner County and Stovall of Liberty County stand by their guns during the two remaining sessions of the Legislature, a deformed fight to induce the House to reconsider its action in passing the Senate tax revision bill, providing for a State Tax Commissioner and county boards of assessors, will be inaugurated Wednesday of Thursday.

Both Mr. Stovall and Mr. Sheppard by strenuous efforts to get the floor immediately after the passage of the bill with a motion to reconsider, but were ruled out of order at their first attempt by Speaker Harwell. Then Ed Wohlwend, of Muscogee, stepped into the breach with one of his filibusters, and their opportunity was gone. They have served notice on the House, however, that they will make a motion to reconsider at the earliest possible opportunity.

Friends of the measure, however, who passed it after one of the most spectacular fights in the history of Georgia, declare that they have no fear that the efforts of Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Stovall will succeed. Backed by the approval of Governor Hinton, who issued a statement Tuesday night that the House deserved the thanks of the State, they have no fear that their work will be destroyed during the short remaining time of the session.

Several members who voted against the tax bill declared Wednesday morning that in view of their friendship for the administration they will not support a motion to reconsider, even though it come from Sheppard and Stovall, recognized leaders of the anti-tax reformers in the House.

AFTER FERCE GLASH OF ATTORNEYS, JUDGE RESERVES HIS RULING

A hot legal battle was waged between the attorneys in the Frank case Wednesday over the admission of testimony relating to a dramatic reproduction, movement by movement, of the disposal of Mary Phagan's body as described by the negro, Jim Conley.

The defense was able to get only so far as the reading of the excerpts from Conley's testimony, so far as it related to the actual movements of the day when the judge decided that he would reserve his decision until afternoon.

With one man taking the role of Jim Conley, another the part of Leo Frank and two others timing every movement, the four actors in the drama went to the factory and proceeded through the actions which the negro described in telling the story of the body's disposal.

Even the victim of the tragedy did not go unrepresented. A sack filled with material weighing 110 pounds, the weight of Mary Phagan, was carried from the rear of the metal room to the front of the factory and down the elevator to the basement.

Dr. William Owens was called to the stand. He was one of the timers. He said that William A. Fleming, a contractor and builder, took the part of Leo Frank and a Mr. Brent the part of Conley.

Dorsey objected on the ground that the judge had ruled out evidence as to the time it required Conley to re-enact the disposal of the body.

Arnold replied that this pantomime was done under one of Conley's "lying affidavits," and not as he told of it on the stand.

Numerous authorities were cited by both sides. Judge Hoan finally announced that he would reserve his opinion until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and Dr. Owens was excused.

It took defense men sixteen minutes and a half to re-enact the bare details of the disposition of the body. To this, if the testimony is allowed, the defense will explain, must be added the time the negro was in the clothing eight minutes—the time it took to write the notes; the time consumed in the conversation the negro reported, the alleged exchange of a husband in his correspondence, become charged and then ask for money to come to her fiancé.

JUSTICE IS IN MIND OF BOTH SIDES IN TRIAL OF FRANK; SQUARE DEAL IS CERTAIN

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

In considering the Frank trial, particularly with respect to the length of it, and the thoroughness and fairness of the hearing, it must be borne in mind that the establishing of evidence in the mass of evidence on both sides, and that, therefore, patience and care are absolutely necessary in those who would be fair-both not only to Frank, but to the State also.

STATE WILL CALL 50 MORE WITNESSES

Defense Forces Dalton to Admit Jail Record

EXTRADITION CLAIMS OF ZACHRY DENIED

GOVERNOR O'NEAL APPOINTED SENATOR

Executive's Action Comes as the Supreme Court Reverses Ruling Favoring Father.

The Supreme Court Tuesday reversed the decision of Judge Hammond, of Augusta, awarding the custody of the children to the father, thereby compelling the sensational case in which request papers by Governor Cole Beale for Zachry were refused by Governor Blanton Tuesday morning.

According to the ruling of the Supreme Court, the decision awarding the children to the father is reversed and remanded to Judge Hammond's court for further hearing. The ruling further specifies that Judge Hammond may exercise his discretion in awarding the custody of the children, which is contrary to the opinion rendered by Judge Hammond, who held previously that he was forced to award the children to Zachry because of a previous judgment.

The effect of the ruling will be to put the whole matter back in the Augusta courts, with the possibility that Mrs. Zachry will be awarded the custody of the two children.

Governor Blanton based his refusal on the fact that no state law had been violated by Zachry in South Carolina and that the whole case was against the defendant's own will. Mrs. Zachry to obtain the custody of the two children.

One of the most spectacular fights for the extradition of a citizen ever recorded in Georgia occurred in the Governor's office Monday afternoon, when counter charges were hurled in by counsel for the defense and the State of South Carolina, and at one time a personal mix-up between Attorney Dunbar, representing Mrs. Zachry, and Attorney Chalmers, representing Mr. Zachry, who charged that the case had been prosecuted with all the "indignities" of a trial. Mr. Dunbar could summon a jury narrowly averted by the Governor.

Staten Draws Life

"You may not be enthusiastic as you like," said Governor Blanton to Mr. Phinney, "but you can't do those things. That will not do here."

The hearing was as unique as it was spectacular. With the Governor sitting on both court and jury, attorneys for the defense and plaintiffs were allowed to argue their cases to their hearts' content with frequent interruptions by the Governor, who kept close tab on every bit of evidence offered.

In addition to the three attorneys for Zachry, Cohen and Dunbar, of Augusta, and West, of Thompson's E. D. Cary, Mayor of Harlem, the defendant's home town, testified in behalf of Zachry. Attorneys Henry Hart, of Columbia, S. C., and Dunbar, of Augusta, represented the State of South Carolina.

Mayor Cary, of Harlem, created a sensation when he testified that he had on one occasion pulled Mrs. Zachry and her mother off Zachry following an attack. Mrs. Zachry, he declared further, had said in his presence that if he did not get her children she would have to kill her husband.

Kidnaping Charge Irrelevant.

The climax of the hearing, was reached, however, when the attorney for Governor Beale virtually admitted to Governor Blanton that the charge of kidnaping, as incorporated in the request papers, was not relevant and that practically all that Mrs. Zachry wanted was the custody of the two children.

In substantiation of the latter fact, Governor Blanton referred to a letter which he himself had received from Mrs. Zachry, in which she declares, it seemed that all that Mrs. Zachry wanted was the children. This testimony of the Governor and the startling admission of Attorney Beale, broke down the whole argument of the Blanton, and really marked the turning point in the hearing.

MEDICAL EXPERTS WHO TESTIFIED FOR DEFENSE IN THE FRANK TRIAL

WILLIS F. WESTMORELAND. T. H. HANCOCK. J. C. OLIMSTEAD.

JUDGE ROAN RULES OUT NEW ATTACK ON FRANK'S CHARACTER

Here are the important developments Tuesday in the trial of Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of Mary Phagan.

It is announced the state will call more than fifty witnesses in rebuttal of the defense's evidence.

State announces its theory that Frank planned a criminal attack upon Mary Phagan the day before she came to the factory for her money.

The court and chalmers record of C. B. Dalton, the State's witness who testified that he had seen in Frank's office, was shown up by the defense and admitted by Dalton.

Four acquaintances of Dalton testify that they would not believe him under oath and that his reputation for truth and veracity is bad.

C. E. Pollard, expert accountant, testifies that it required him three hours and eleven minutes to compile the financial sheet that the defense claims Frank prepared the afternoon of the murder.

Mrs. Hattie Hall, stenographer, says that Frank did not work on the financial sheet Saturday morning, the day of the crime.

Jim Conley's declaration that Emma Quinn came into the factory and left before the arrival of Montem Stover, who came at 12:05 o'clock, is challenged by the testimony of Miss Hall, who swears Quinn did not enter the factory before she left at 12:02 o'clock.

Magnolia Kennedy, worker at the pencil factory, testifies she laid her hand and Helen Ferguson's shoulder when they drew their pay and that the girl did not ask for Mary Phagan's wages. She says Schuff paid off. Miss Kennedy says hair found in lathe looked like slain girl's.

Slender intimations made by Solicitor Dorsey in questioning Will Chambers, a boy in the factory, who denies alleged conversation, are ordered ruled out.

Attorney Arnold threatens to move for a mistrial if any further intimations of this sort are allowed to be heard by the jury.

Minola McKnight, cook in the Frank household, gives evidence against that offered by her husband and declares detectives tried to make her swear to lies. She admitted she signed the affidavit reporting alleged conversations between Mrs. Frank and the prisoner, but insisted it was a lie and that she signed because the detectives threatened to lock her up if she did not.

Miss Corinthia Hall and Mrs. Emma Clark Freeman testified they saw Frank at the factory at 11:35 and left at 11:45.

This seems like a strong blow at Jim Conley's story that Frank said to him, "Here comes Corinthia Hall and Emma Clark," when he told him to hide in the wardrobe after the murder--or about 1 o'clock.

However, while Conley swore to this in his third affidavit, after the discrepancy had been pointed out, he said he saw the stand he wanted sure what Frank said.

Emil Sellig, Frank's father-in-law, testifies to the prisoner's actions at home the day of the murder, and says they were in no way unusual. Several discrepancies in his story compared with his evidence before the coroner's jury are showed up.

Emil Sellig, Leo Frank's father-in-law, was sealed late Tuesday afternoon to testify to the time Frank left and returned home at the various times on April 26, the day Mary Phagan was slain.

It was announced Tuesday afternoon that the State had subpoenaed between fifty and sixty witnesses to be on hand Wednesday in readiness to give rebuttal testimony as soon as the defense rests.

Emil Sellig, in effect of the relatives of the accused to be called, Mrs. Sellig followed her husband.

Sellig declared that he did not see Frank leave Saturday morning, but said he sat luncheon with Frank in the afternoon. Frank arrived home at 1:20, Sellig testified, and had on him no scratches, bruises or marks of any kind. According to his recollection, Frank's demeanor was in no way unusual.

He said he ate with Frank, Mrs. Sellig and Mrs. Frank, the number saying the table a few minutes after Frank's arrival to attend the Grand Opera matinee.

Sellig said that Frank returned at night about 8:30 and remained there the rest of the night, going to bed shortly after 10 o'clock.

Solicitor Dorsey gave the witness a grilling cross-examination and sought to impeach the testimony by reference to Sellig's evidence before the coroner's inquest. The Solicitor was called by the defense Tuesday afternoon, to discredit the story of Albert McKnight who testified the first week of the trial that he had seen Frank come home Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, go hastily to the sidewalk and then leave at once on his return to the factory.

O. W. Barnhart, an architect and contractor; Henry Wood, secretary of the County Board of Commissioners, and Julius Fischer, contractor and builder, were the other witnesses. All testified they had visited the Sellig home at 68 East Georgia avenue, where Frank lives, and had found that no one could see what they saw from the sidewalk.

Theneago, Albert McKnight, described in a feeling Saturday after-

Children Hurt While At Play, Near Death

HUNTSVILLE, Fla., Aug. 12--As the result of an accident at their home yesterday afternoon two children of H. W. Harmon, aged 4 and 7 years, are at the point of death, one with a crushed skull and the other with a badly mutilated face. The accident took place while they were riding on an improvised "flying jenny." Both fell while it was revolving fast, the rods striking them as they attempted to get out of the way. The "flying jenny" was made with 2x2s and scantling on a stump with spike driven through the middle.

At a recent mass meeting in the First Methodist Church a committee was appointed with R. E. Pettus as chairman to work under the direction of Dr. T. E. Dyer, county health officer, and organize a crusade against the white plague, which has increased 50 per cent since last year.

Proposed Rate Cut From West Rejected

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 12--Just Freight Rate Association to-day voted unanimously to reject a proposition for reduction of rates from the West to North Carolina, proposed on the grounds that the reduction would not put the State on a competitive basis.

The Governor and other State officials are considering the proposition.

SULZER BATTLES IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS

SAYS ELLIS FIRED TO SAVE OWN LIFE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 12--James Calhoun, a chauffeur, 42, on the stand by the defense Tuesday morning at the preliminary trial of Leo Ellis, who shot and killed Louis Pat Henry, of Montgomery, on the street here on the night of July 31, said he saw Ellis and another man talking together, heard an oath and then saw Henry attempt to draw a pistol, and the shooting followed immediately.

Chief of Police Doster testified to finding a pistol under the wounded man's body after the shooting.

Citizens Will Work On the Public Roads

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 12--Prominent citizens of Jefferson County outside of the city, are announcing intentions of doing personal work on the roads of the county on Good Road Day, in accordance to the proclamation of Governor O'Neal testified August 14-16 as the day.

The Jefferson County promises to do as much as any county in the State of the Good Road Day and so encourage the movement as is warranted by the assertion that it will be permanent.

Convict Recaptured After Second Escape

GADSDEN, Aug. 12--William Kennedy, aged 31, principal in the Pierce-Kennedy feud, who is 42 months in prison in the penitentiary at Wetumpka, and who, about ten days ago, escaped and was captured at his home near here a few days later, escaped again last week and was recaptured yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Butler, of Calhoun County.

Kennedy will be again taken to the penitentiary.

Leaves Big Fortune To Wife and Children

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 12--The will of James B. Butler, banker, merchant and farmer of New Hope, who died several weeks ago, has been probated. The executor is James C. Butler, a son, and W. D. Claybrook, a son-in-law, and their bonds are fixed at $70,000, indicating that the value of the estate is about $150,000. The will directs an equal division of the property among the widow and sons and grandsons.

The estate consists of plantations in Madison, Marshall and Morgan counties, the principal interest in the big mercantile house that bears his name and the bank at New Hope, stock in the First National Bank of Huntsville and majority holdings in the oil mill at Albertville and an oil mill in Birmingham.

Another Entry for Birmingham Mayor

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 12--The campaign for President of the City Commission of Birmingham has been entered considerably by the entry of Massey Allen, a young attorney of Birmingham, who on the 1st had announced his candidacy. He takes a bold stand against George H. Ward, former Mayor of Birmingham, who is an unopposed, demands a strict regulation of the liquor traffic.

Clement L. Wood, Socialist, at one time Recorder of Birmingham, is making a strenuous campaign and delivering addresses every day.

The election will be held September 16.

NEGRO CHURCH FESTIVAL

Bethel, the oldest negro church in Atlanta, will hold a Labor Day celebration at the Spawford during the week of September 1.

PLAN 16 STORIES ON BROWN AND ALLEN SITE

Dr. E. L. Connally and associates will soon start the construction of a sixteen-story office building on the site of Brown & Allen's drug store, southeast corner of Whitehall and Alabama streets. If plans which are under way are consummated, an announcement was made officially at noon Tuesday that Dr. Connally has been in consultation with W. L. Bloodhart of New York and Atlanta, and other architects, from whom he has received tentative plans.

In fact, an engineer representing a local architect surveyed the ground last week and made measurements of the site in the building. Mr. Connally could not be reached for an expression as to his plans, and his son, Thomas W. Connally, refused to be quoted.

Such a move has been in contemplation for several years. Two years ago Dr. Connally had an architect plan a ten-story building and since then he has had more or less definite intentions to erect a building that will be a credit to the section and to the city.

The structure which Dr. Connally is planning will cost probably $75,000 and will be a distinct addition to the line of attractive buildings on Whitehall. It will probably be known as the Connally Building, after its builder, who likewise erected the old structure.

The present building is 30 years old and is almost worn and is to be torn down. About a year ago a brick wall was placed in the center. The structure is three stories and of brick.

FRANK TRIAL WITNESSES SURE, AT LEAST, OF ONE THING--A 'GOOD RAGGING'

By JAMES B. NEVIN.

Reader, providentially gentle, if not also so, glad, be joyful, and be filled with exceeding thankfulness that you have not been summoned to master which way, as a witness in the Frank trial!

If you are a witness in the Frank case, you are skating on a large, fat chance that you have been summoned--most everybody has--but all these nice things aforesaid, if you haven't.

And even at that, knock on wood! The trial is young yet--it is not quite three weeks old, three weeks count--and there still is time for somebody or other to remember that you may know something or other about something or other that may have something or other to do with the case.

Anyway, if you can't be glad and all the rest of it, be just as glad as nearly all the rest of it as you can, while the being in good, or in anywise promising.
