'BEAR CAT RAG' IS FROWNED UPON BY THIS DAINY ATLANTA DANCER

Miss Theodora Aline Warfield.

She appeared in classical poses with Geraldine Farrar and won local fame.

Successful Operatic Career Is Predicted for Gate City's Premiere Dansuse.

Which do you prefer—to do the "bear" or a classical dance? An Atlanta girl who professes classical dancing to the more modern rag is rather unusual, yet pretty Miss Theodora Aline Warfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Warfield, of No. 27 West North avenue, declares that she can not say why people dance the graceless modern dances, when the Grecian and other classical dances are far more artistic and almost as easy to learn.

That is, they are easy to learn if you have talent. Since Miss Warfield has two years old she has been dancing, and always she is evolving new steps. Her dancing is not like Isadora Duncan's or Maude Allan's, or any of the famous classical dancers. It is entirely her own, and her friends declare it is the prettiest and most graceful possible.

Miss Warfield has appeared on the stage in Atlanta. She was the premiere dansuse at the past two performances of the Kirmans, and was given great applause. She was presented with a beautiful silver-increased vase by the Eliza Lodge, in recognition of their appreciation of her talent. At various private entertainments Miss Warfield has danced also, and has always won admiration and praise by the beauty and grace of her dancing. Every one who has seen her dance has urged that she go on the stage, and her parents intend to prepare her for the opera. In addition to being a dancer of rare grace and beauty, she has an attractive voice, and it is being cultivated with her dancing.

Two years ago Miss Warfield sang in Atlanta with Geraldine Farrar, and Miss Farrar was enthusiastic in her praise. After studying a course at a school here, Miss Warfield will go abroad to study languages and advanced artistic dancing. A wonderful career is predicted for her. There is no doubt that she will add her name to Atlanta's already brilliant hall of fame.

ARRESTED AS FIREBUG IN OWN ROOM

C. A. Vaughan Taken by Police When He Rushes in House to Save His Clothing.

As he rushed into the burning building to save his belongings, C. A. Vaughan, an employee of the Boston Trading Company, was arrested by Call Officer Watson Saturday morning, and is held on suspicion of having set fire to the home of Mrs. A. C. Klapper, of 256 East Hunter street, which was badly damaged by the flames at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

The fire, the firemen state, started in a closet in Vaughan's room, on the second floor. The roof was burned off the building, causing a loss of about $500. Vaughan was charged with trying to burn the building by Mrs. Klapper. According to the story she told the police, she quarreled with Vaughan before he went to his room, and Vaughan made threats and then went into his room.

Call Officer Ovar Phone. A few minutes later she says, he hurried downstairs and went downtown. Half an hour later he called her on the telephone and asked if everything was all right, she says, and one of the other boarders who answered the phone told him the house was on fire. Vaughan immediately left his office and rushed to the scene of the fire. Mrs. Klapper was standing near the door wringing her hands, when Vaughan appeared and started into the house. She intercepted him.

"You've burned my house!" she screamed. "I'll have you arrested." Mrs. Klapper began struggling with Vaughan, and Call Officer Watson came up. At the request of the woman, who declared she would prefer a formal charge against him, Vaughan was arrested and taken to police headquarters.

GRAND JURY SPLIT BY LATEST MOVE

Public Opinion Forces Consideration of Move to Indict Conley for Phagan Slaying. Solicitor Dorsey is fighting vigorously the movement in the Grand Jury to indict Jim Conley Monday for the murder of Mary Phagan, despite the bombardment of letters from many citizens and by the sentiment of some of its own members.

It is for the consideration of these letters and petitions, asking the reopening of the Phagan matter, that the meeting has been called. That it will result in the indictment of the negro is thought certain. It was in the face of Solicitor Dorsey's bitterest opposition that the meeting was called at all. Foreman Beattie issued his denials after a previous Grand Jury had been defeated in its efforts to reopen the case with a view of indicting Jim Conley and after Dorsey explicitly had expressed his strongest disapproval of such a move.

Council Battle Coming.
With the first skirmish won by those in favor of the indictment of Conley, the hottest battle is yet to be waged behind the closed doors of the city hall. The question first will be on whether the grand jurors consider it proper to take refuge in the boardroom. The investigation whose first chapter resulted in the indictment of Leo M. Frank on the charge of slaying Mary Phagan, Solicitor Dorsey will lay before the body for the first time all of his reasons for desiring a postponement of any further investigation until after the trial of Frank.

What, Woman Jury?
Should the solicitor be driven back from this position by the Grand Jury action, disregarding his wishes and taking up the investigation, he will be forced to take refuge in the boardroom and make his fight against the indictment of Conley.
