Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.
LONDON, July 21.—In one of the fiercest riots which has marked the suffragette propaganda in Great Britain, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militants was arrested today with six of her followers.
The fight with the detectives came when the officers tried to arrest Mrs. Pankhurst as she was entering the Pavilion Music Hall, where her daughter Sylvia and other prominent suffragettes were holding a meeting.
Mrs. Pankhurst was seized after a violent struggle, and when the frenzied women saw their leader in the hands of the officers they charged upon them, using hats and all sorts of weapons to ward their leaders away from the attacks of the officers. Six other women who were the ring-leaders in the attack on the officers, also were taken into custody.
Mrs. Pankhurst was taken to Holloway jail.
The detectives yesterday by having a fellow militant have her hands manacled behind her back, and by having the soldiers surround the militant and beat her with their rifles, she had been led into a trap and she bears the brunt of it.

The revolutionists, it is said, have occupied two American-owned plantations there and have threatened to attack the port. The Navy Department will send one of the warships now at Tampico to Frontera as soon as Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt receives the request of the United States Consul from the State Department, which is expected shortly.
At the War Department it was said today that permission will be granted to General Obregon, the rebel leader, to visit Los Angeles.

END IS SEEN OF MEXICO REGIME

Will Not Last Year Out, President Says—Stronger Successor Is Hoped For.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The United States does not intend to recognize the Huerta government in Mexico, because that administration is reported to be tottering to its ruin and is not expected to last the year out.
This was the gist of President Wilson's discussion of the Mexican situation with the Washington correspondents today. The President said that at present he is doing nothing but studying the Mexican problem so as to be able to discuss it thoroughly with Ambassador Wilson when the latter reaches Washington Friday.
But he indicated clearly that the administration does not intend to recognize Huerta, no matter what advice the Ambassador gives.
The Chief Executive has been advised on the highest authority that President Huerta is losing his grip. It is not considered good policy to recognize a government which has but a short time to live, and the United States will reserve its approbation for another and stronger regime, which, it is hoped, will succeed the Huerta Government.
The President today indicated clearly that there would be no further steps in the Mexican matter until after the White House conference scheduled for Friday.

HOUSE GIVES CANDLER A CHANGE

Reconsiders Adverse Action on New County After Hot Debate. Hardeman Scores Lobby.

After one of the stormiest sittings of the present session, the House of Representatives today agreed to reconsider its previous adverse action upon Candler County by a vote of 22 to 68.
During the progress of the debate on Candler the House was bitterly arraigned by Mr. Hardeman of Jefferson for its slow progress to date, which charge was quite vehemently resented by Mr. Blackburn of Fulton and others.
Mr. Whitwelder, of Muscogee, whose call for the previous question on Thursday last was held responsible for Candler's slaughter then, in moving to reconsider today, explained to the House that he had made his motion in entire good faith, and if he had made a mistake, he stated that his mistake he was not visited on Candler. If he had hurt anybody's feeling or said anything he regretted not to have said, the gentleman from Muscogee begged everybody's pardon.
The House then passed.
This apparently paved the way for a peaceful vote, but it soon became known that a peaceful vote was not in sight.
Mr. Hardman vehemently protested reconsideration, and in doing so gloriously renounced the thimble which he had been wearing and gracefully far behind in his business, and that too much time already had been wasted on new county status and constitutional amendments.
Mr. Hardman's wholesale denunciation of the House for its haste and tardiness was quickly resented. It was contended that the present House, instead of being behind in its work, is really far ahead as it enters its last 25 days than any House for many years past.
The Appropriations bill is ready for the House's consideration, and Chairman Clegg has given notice that he will call it up Tuesday.
This will put it before the House at least 10 days earlier than usual.
The tax act, it was contended, will reach the House in record-breaking time, and the House committees have worked overtime reporting bills.
Representative Blackburn challenged Mr. Hardman to name any legislatures within the knowledge of either man, both of whom are veterans of the House, wherein any bill of general importance, particularly the appropriations bill and the tax act, was reported within the first 25 days of its session.
Mr. Hardman did not name such a Legislature, but he held, nevertheless, that the present House had been unnecessarily slow.
The gentleman from Jefferson declared that the whole trouble lay at the door of the proposed new counties, and said that he had been "hounded" so persistently and so vexatiously that he could not even find places to eat and sleep in comfort in Atlanta.
As the vote was proceeding, at least 40 members arose to explain their votes, and at times the debate became very personal and full of feeling.
Mr. Whitwelder, of Muscogee, was the storm center of the bulk, as a rule, but it was evident enough that he was not the only one who was not in a good position. It is doubtful whether any other new county propositions will come up this year.

Today's officer of the day was E. W. Beck. The officer of the guard was J. H. Nutt. Both are of Griffin.

PROTEST OF SOLICITOR DORSEY WINS

Presenters Evidence Showing Indictment of Negro Would hinder Frank Prosecution.
Here are the important developments of Monday in the Phagan case:
The decision of the Grand Jury of Fulton County not to bring at this time an indictment against James Conley.
The information that there is a strong probability of another postponement of the trial of Leo M. Frank.
The Grand Jury's refusal to reopen its investigation of the Phagan murder mystery was a decided victory for the Solicitor after that body overriden his request that no action be called to take up the matter in any of its aspects.
A report that Judge L. S. Roan who will preside at the Frank trial, had granted his desire that the case be put off until fall, gave rise to the expectation that another postponement will take place, and that the date probably will be set for some time in September.
The defense also is said to be in favor of a continuance. Luther Z. Hooper, chief of counsel for Frank, said Monday that he did not contemplate asking for further delay, but thought that it would be a hardship on the jurors to hear the case at this time of the year. He made it plain that he would not oppose any move for a continuance.
The Grand Jury Monday decided to take no action at this time looking to the indictment of James Conley, accused of Leo M. Frank in the murder of Mary Phagan.
The Grand Jury came to its decision after Solicitor General Dorsey had presented a mass of evidence to show why the indictment of the negro would hamper the prosecution of Frank. After more than an hour's conference the Solicitor issued this statement:
"I am requested by the Grand Jury to say no action will be taken at this time on the James Conley matter, and that that body will not pay any

Shoots Husband Who Stayed Out Too Late

SAVANNAH, July 21.—As a result of a quarrel with his wife, Joe Dore is in a critical condition in a hospital with a bullet wound in his left breast, just over the heart, and his wife is in a nervous wreck from her experiences. Both admit the wife fired the shot. Dore has been operated on and the bullet extracted, but his condition is so serious that his post-mortem statement has been taken.
The trouble between the couple seems to have followed the late arrival of Dore at home.
Mr. Dore had not named such a Legislature, but he held, nevertheless, that the present House had been unnecessarily slow.
The gentleman from Jefferson declared that the whole trouble lay at the door of the proposed new counties, and said that he had been "hounded" so persistently and so vexatiously that he could not even find places to eat and sleep in comfort in Atlanta.
As the vote was proceeding, at least 40 members arose to explain their votes, and at times the debate became very personal and full of feeling.
