Penn Mutual Settles Insurance Claims—Viscera of Fertilizer Man Eagerly Sought.

JACKSONVILLE, June 24.—The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company has just paid $100,000 in cash on three policies held by the late E. O. Painter in that company. One policy for $50,000 and one for $3,000 were paid to the widow, while the third for $47,000 was paid to the estate.

H. S. Hill, supervisor for the company, came here, closed up the transaction and left for Philadelphia in a few hours.

No policies held in other companies have been settled.

Three Interests Seek Painter's Organs.

BALTIMORE, June 24.—Determined that if the viscera of E. O. Painter, the late Jacksonville fertilizer man, are to be turned over to anyone, he shall be the one to receive them, C. D. Abbott, the Coroner of Jacksonville, arrived in this city to-day. On the same train came ex-Judge J. A. Stewart, of Deland, brother-in-law of the dead man and personal representative of the Painter family, who is equally determined that the family shall receive the coveted organs. Attorneys for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company are just as determined that the one-time vitals shall go to Dr. George Whipple, of Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Three Factions to Meet.

The warring factions will meet this afternoon before Judge Duffy in the Circuit Court. The bonding company with which Painter had an accident insurance policy for $20,000 will demand that the organs be placed in the hands of a receiver on the ground that the analysis has not been completed. Coroner Abbott will demand that the organs be turned over to him on the theory that he has jurisdiction until an official verdict is given. Judge Stewart will contend that the analysis has been finished, no trace of poison found, and that the organs should be given to the family of the dead man.

Coroner Prepared to Fight.

Coroner Abbott has brought a deputy sheriff, J. M. Haddock, of Jacksonville, along with him to back up his fight. The deputy is armed with all of the authority of the State of Florida to seize the organs, and he is just as determined as is the Coroner that they shall come into possession of Justice Abbott.

"By law those organs are still in my hands," said Coroner Abbott when seen at the Emerson Hotel shortly after his arrival to-day. "It was I who ordered the analysis, and until my jury has given a verdict in the case the body of the dead man is certainly in my possession.

"Until Saturday I understood that the report of the analysis sent me by Dr. Glaser was of the entire viscera. Then I learned that the analysis was only of Mr. Painter's stomach, and so I have hurried to Baltimore to take possession of the organs and see that the analysis of all of the organs is made.

"I may let Dr. Glaser complete the analysis or I may put them in the hands of some other chemist. But you can rest assured that I am the one who will have to say by whom the analysis shall be made."

100 Men See Boys Try to Rescue Man

JANESVILLE, WIS., June 24.—With a hundred fellow workers watching his death struggles from a high railroad bridge, Sullivan Lackel was drowned in Rock River with only two 11-year-old boys trying to rescue him.

Benefit Ball to Aid Yanceys; Fund for 7 Nearly at Standstill

The fund for the widow and six children of Dave Yancey, the brave court deputy who was stabbed to death by a negro, is almost at a standstill.

Several of the deputies have been busy in the past few days selling tickets to a ball to be given Friday night at the Owls' Club, and through this it is hoped to raise $300 or $400. The tickets may be had at 25 cents each from N. A. Garner or D. L. Goodlin, Jr., in Solicitor Dorsey's office, or from Harry E. Latham, at the office of the Solicitor of the City Court.

Following is a letter received Monday by The Georgian from an unknown person who inclosed $1 to be added to the fund:

"I intended sending my mite long ago, but procrastinated. There must be many more like me, for big-hearted Atlanta means to help that good family. Hence, please keep on asking. Much more will come."

Following are contributions which have not previously been acknowledged by The Georgian:

Princess 'Pat' Again Reported Engaged To German Prince

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian.

BERLIN, June 24.—For the second time in seven years the engagement of Princess Patricia, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, British Governor General of Canada, to Prince Adolph Friedrich, heir to the Duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, was "reliably reported" to-day.

Princess Patricia, known as the "most lovely and most likable of the English princesses," has been reported engaged many times. Among those mentioned as the possible husband of the beautiful princess were King Manuel, while he was crown prince; Count Turin, a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel; the Duke of the Abruzzi, Grand Duke Michel, the Marquis of Anglesy and King Alfonso.

The princess is 27 and the prince 31 years old.

Mary Tribble Grows Weak; Hope Lessens

Little hope was entertained Tuesday for the recovery of Mary Tribble, the 7-year-old girl whose two weeks of mysterious paralysis is supposed to have resulted from eating chalk with poisonous coloring matter.

The decline in her condition was noticed at 5 o'clock in the morning. Dr. Simon L. Katzoff sought to restore a normal circulation by an hour's massage, and he substituted an electric treatment for this with the same end in view, but with little effect.

Dr. Katzoff is not at all convinced that the girl was poisoned by the chalk. The same symptoms, he believes, might have been caused by any one of a half dozen other circumstances.

Judge Newman 70; Doesn't Stop Work

The celebration of his seventieth birthday did not make Judge William T. Newman, of the United States District Court, pause on his work Monday. Had not a number of telegrams of congratulation come to the court room, few would have known that the distinguished jurist had just reached the Biblical threescore and ten years.

Judge Newman has been a resident of Atlanta since the war. He was City Attorney in the seventies, and was made a Federal judge during the administration of President Cleveland.

Dies as He Phones Physician for Wife

W. B. Henson, of 28 Clark Street, Monday went to his telephone to call a physician to his sick wife. A few minutes later he was found lying dead in an adjoining room.

Seemingly he was in the best of health. He just had returned from a pleasure trip to Gainesville.

W.C.T.U. PLAN DEFEAT OF ANDERSON BY PRAYER

Bitter Attack Made on Savannah Candidate for Senate Speakership—Called Saloon's Ally.

With a bristling attack by Mrs. T. E. Patterson, W. C. T. U. State president, women temperance workers of the State to-day took up in earnest the fight on Senator J. R. Anderson, one of the two leading candidates for President of the Senate, which convenes to-morrow.

State Senators were [illegible] with letters protesting against [illegible] candidacy and denouncing [illegible] Savannah man as a foe of [illegible] and an ally of the liquor [illegible]

Prayers will be o[illegible] in the fight, women [illegible] joining in pleas to aid of [illegible] prevent the election [illegible]

Judge Allen is Anderson's most formidable opponent and has vigorously denied that his rival had the fight won. What effect the women's attack will have is problematical, but it means that the opening session of the Senate to-morrow will be no tame affair.

Mrs. Patterson's Letter.

Here is the letter local temperance workers have received from Mrs. Patterson, writing from Griffin:

"Dear Friends and Co-workers:

"Senator J. R. Anderson, of Savannah, claims a majority vote for President of the Senate. Now, behold what meat this Caesar has fed upon that he has grown so great. He has fought the temperance forces at every point, led the filibuster, delayed legislation, defeated prohibition measures and all in favor of the liquor interests. He represents a community that openly defies the State laws. He is personally interested in the brewery and is secretary and treasurer of the Brewers' Association of his city.

"He has recently sent out a statement saying he opposed the saloon, but favors beer. This is the Model League's trick to conjure with. Mr. Anderson is so notorious for liquor and that gang that his elevation to this position would be heralded throughout the nation as a great victory for the brewers and distillers, and, indeed, it would be. Georgia led the late prohibition movement, and to thus repudiate it at this time will hurt the cause the nation over.

Sees Peril in Election.

"If Mr. Anderson is elected to any place of power, we will suffer to thus place him where he might become Governor of the State, where he could defy the law of the State and manipulate everything, for the liquor interest is too hazardous to even consider.

"Our men are asleep, and only a few of those awake to the situation seem but little concerned. Oh, women, to your tents! Pray as you have never prayed! Lay this matter, by God's help, upon the hearts of the praying men and women of your community. I do not mean stay on your knees, but I mean to get this matter so on your heart that it is never a moment off your mind for the next few days, and that sincere desire, like incense from the altar, ascend unceasingly to God for the defeat of this enemy of our State and cause.

Urges Prayer on June 24.

"Then, on June 24, let us fast and pray that God's will be done in the election of a safe man as President of the Senate.

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. If you are not moved to white heat over the situation, pray God to move you. Study Isaiah 58, get the conditions of prevailing prayer, and, like Jacob of old, hold on until He bless thee.

'Continued Sultry Weather' Best That Forecaster Offers

Not even a cloud interposed itself between the sun and the city of Atlanta Tuesday, and the result was a sultry and sweltering day. Although the temperature was only 88 at 12 o'clock and 89 an hour later, it seemed much hotter.

The outlook for cooler weather, based on a fall in the maximum temperature Monday, signally failed to materialize Tuesday. The 89 maximum mark of the day before was exceeded shortly after 1 o'clock Tuesday, and 30 minutes later the mercury was hesitating less than one-tenth of a degree below 90.

"Continued warm Tuesday night and Wednesday," was the prediction.

At 7 o'clock Tuesday morning the temperature was 73. An hour later it was 81. At 10 o'clock the 84 mark was attained. At 11 o'clock it was 86, and then came the 88 and 89 marks with the mercury still rising.

Festival Concerts Planned for Every Sunday in Future

Officers were elected and a special committee named to confer with the Auditorium Committee of the City Council looking to less interruption of the Sunday concerts, at an annual meeting of the Atlanta Music Festival Association Monday afternoon.

The Auditorium Committee, of which V. H. Kriegshaber is chairman, will seek to remedy the condition whereby Sunday concerts often are canceled because of poultry shows, conventions and other auditorium affairs. A determined effort will be made to have concerts every Sunday.

All of the old officers were elected, including W. L. Peel, president; George W. Wilkinson and Ben Lee Crew, vice president; C. B. Bidwell, treasurer; Victor L. Smith, secretary, and R. S. Wessells, assistant secretary.

Indian Teacher to Be Buried by Army

The funeral of Thomas Jefferson, an aged inmate of the Salvation Army Industrial Home, who died Sunday night following injuries received last Thursday from being struck by an automobile, will take place at Westview Cemetery at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Jefferson, for eighteen years a teacher on an Indian reservation, had been an inmate of the home for about two months. He was 70 years old.

All the men living at the home will attend the funeral, and the pallbearers will be selected from them. The regular Salvation Army service will be held over the grave and the band will play "Home, Sweet Home."

Committee Meets to Fix Convention Date

W. A. Wimbish, chairman of the committee appointed by President Moore, of the Chamber of Commerce, to fix a date for the State convention to discuss the disposal of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, has called a meeting of his committee for Tuesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

In addition to fixing the date of the convention, which probably will be early in July, the committee probably will arrange the basis of representation for the gathering. It is proposed to have delegates here from every county, as well as representatives of various lines of industry.

Seeress Disappears With Macon Jewels

MACON, June 24.—Madame Thelma, who has been in Macon for several months, advertising and practicing as a fortune teller and seeress, has suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. Jewels and other valuables of patrons worth several thousand dollars are also missing. She told her customers to let her sleep over their jewels for two nights and she would be better able to tell their fortunes.

Private detectives have been employed to locate the woman, with the view of prosecuting unless she returns the valuables.

Little Miss Lobbies For Father

Burwell Banks on His Daughter

Mascot in Race for Speakership

Lyra Reid Burwell, 3 years old, and her father, William H. Burwell, of Hancock County, to whom he will owe a large measure of his success if he wins speakehship of Georgia House.

"You Are Going to Vote for My Daddy, Aren't You?" She Says, and It's Hard to Resist.

Representative William H. Burwell, of Hancock County, who is a candidate for Speaker of the House, believes in mascots.

That's the reason why he had his charming little daughter, Lyra Reid, open his headquarters.

Also, it is why he brings her down every day to keep house for him, while he buttonholes visitors and runs down into the lobby now and then to see what the enemy is up to.

Little Miss Burwell is just three and a half years of age, but already she has developed a keen political intelligence.

She knows her papa needs to jolly along his friends and keep them interested in his cause nowadays, and she governs herself accordingly.

She is an exceedingly bright little lady, and her powers of conversation are marked for her rather youthful estate.

She can say, and does, in the most winsome of manners, "You are going to vote for my daddy, aren't you, mister?" to every visitor who seems worth cultivating.

Few, so far, have been able to resist her.

If every promise she has exacted stays put, the gentleman from Hancock will win the Speakership in a walk, and will owe much of his victory to his charming little daughter, moreover.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast for Atlanta and Georgia—Local thundershowers Tuesday and Wednesday.

GOVERNOR NAMES EXPO COMMITTEE

There was much exposition talk in the Capitol Tuesday morning. Governor Brown announced the Georgia Commission for the Panama Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915, while a request was received from the Anglo-American Exposition to be held in London in 1914 that Georgia arrange for an exhibit there.

Announcement of the Georgia Commission for the San Francisco Exposition is interesting, in view of the fact that it has been pending before the Chief Executive of Georgia for several years.

Following are the commissioners appointed:

From the State at Large—Frank Weldon, Esq., of Atlanta; ex-officio members, the Commissioner of Agriculture and the State Geologist; First Congressional District, Jacob Collins, of Savannah; R. C. Nealy, of Waynesboro. Second, Major R. E. L. Spence, of Albany; W. W. Banks, of Tifton. Third, Frank Lanier, of Americus; Charles Jack Shipp, of Cordele. Fourth, J. D. Massey, of Columbus; Lee Mandeville, of Carrollton. Fifth, R. F. Maddox, of Atlanta; J. R. Smith, of Atlanta. Sixth, Charles B. Lewis, of Macon; B. S. Willingham, of Forsyth. Seventh, John M. Vandiver, of Rome; E. P. Dobbs, of Athens; Dr. J. S. Daniels, of Danielsville. Ninth, Colonel S. C. Dunlap, of Gainesville; R. T. Jones, of Canton. Tenth, Thomas W. Loyless, of Augusta; Albert S. Hatch, of Augusta. Eleventh, O. R. Ashley, of Valdosta; J. W. Quincey, of Douglas. Twelfth, H. H. Stanley, of Dublin; J. Hunter Johnson, of Jeffersonville.

BOTH SIDES CALLED IN CONFERENCE BY JUDGE; TRIAL SET FOR JULY 28

Dorsey, Beavers and Lanford Summoned to Appear June 30 With All Affidavits They Have Secured Relative to the Phagan Slaying Case.

Just before the conference with both sides in the Frank case started Judge Roan intimated strongly that he would set the case for July 14 or July 28 and hold it in some more commodious court room than the one in which he sits on the fourth floor of the Thrower building. Judge Roan's personal inclination leans to a date in July, and it is not likely that the State or defense will object to acceding to his wishes.

The date was definitely fixed for July 28 at the conference.

The first important legal move by the defense in the battle for the life and freedom of Leo Frank, accused of the strangling of Mary Phagan, was made Tuesday in the issuance of subpenas duces tecum for the prime movers in the prosecution of the factory superintendent.

The following have been subpenaed to appear:

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, who will prosecute the prisoner.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who took an active part in the collection of evidence.

Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford, who was the leader in obtaining incriminating affidavits.

Pinkerton Detective Harry Scott, to whom is generally given credit for the admissions gained from Conley.

All other city detectives who have worked on the case.

All of them are ordered to produce any affidavits they may have bearing on the case in court June 30, indicating that the defense will be prepared to go on with the trial at that time.

Judge Roan, however, had called a conference of the attorneys on both sides of the case for 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when he announced that he would set the date definitely after the attorneys had been given an opportunity to say whether or not their cases would be in shape to present if the trial were called the last of this month.

Plan to Use Same Evidence.

The startling move on the part of the defense was taken to mean that Frank's lawyers propose to use to free their client the very evidence the detectives and Solicitor General have collected to send him to the gallows.

The most significant demand is made upon Chief Beavers, who is commanded to bring into court the famed series of affidavits made by the negro sweeper, Jim Conley. It is evident that Attorneys Rosser and Arnold, who are conducting the defense, intend to tear the contradictory stories of the negro to tatters and make his statements appear so utterly ridiculous and improbable that the jury not only will refuse to accept them, but will interpret them as an effort of Conley to get from under the blame for a crime that he committed himself.

Chief Beavers is asked to bring into court the written statement made by Conley May 18 in the presence of Detective John R. Black and Pinkerton Detective Harry Scott; also the affidavit sworn to by Conley before G. C. Febuary in the presence of Chief Lanford and Detectives Black and Scott May 24, the affidavit made by Conley May 29, the affidavit made by the negro May 29 in the presence of Lanford, Campbell and Scott and all other written statements of the negro in the possession or control of the Chief.

Girls Also Are Called.

Chief Beavers is asked, in addition, to bring all the statements of Newt Lee, the negro night watchman; Monteen Stover, the girl who testified that Frank was not in his office when she went for her money; W. M. Matthews, and Miss Grace Hicks, the girl who first identified the dead body as that of Mary Phagan.

The defense has persistently ridiculed the stories of Jim Conley and characterized them as cunning fabrications to shift the blame on Frank's shoulders.

With the other affidavits, which for the most part are given credence by the defense, the attempt will be merely to show that the evidence which the prosecution holds to point toward the guilt of Frank only more firmly fixes it upon the shoulders of the negro sweeper, and that the State from time to time has shifted the ground on which it based its theory that Frank was guilty.

Hooper Calls Move a Trick.

Frank A. Hooper, associated with Solicitor Dorsey in the prosecution, branded the move of the defense as a thinly veiled trick to impeach the testimony of the witnesses called by the State, and said that it was not at all unlikely that the subpenaes would be resisted.

He intimated his belief that it was the intention of the defense to use the affidavits as a comparison with the testimony of the affiants when took the stand in an effort to pick out every discrepancy and thus seek to discredit the witnesses.

Before the conference between Judge Roan and the attorneys on the opposing sides began in the afternoon, the judge announced that he would be the one who would set the date for the trial, after consulting the convenience of the attorneys.

He said that he desired to preclude the possibility that the case would be called for June 30 and the witnesses summoned and then one or another of the attorneys ask for a postponement. He expressed it as his purpose to carry the case through to its completion once it was started.

The judge said that he did not believe it right, in view of the warm weather, to call an umber of witnesses and then delay the case further. He said that after the attorneys on the two sides had been heard he would set the date himself.

Arnold Not Decided.

Reuben Arnold, one of the attorneys for the defense, said that he did not see how the defense could make any definite agreement on the date at this time, becaus of the possible contingencies that might arise before the trial. Solicitor Dorsey has announced that he was prepared to go ahead with the trial at any time.

That Leo M. Frank will go at once on trial for his life next Monday when he is brought before the court on the charge of strangling little Mary Phagan was the strong probability discussed in court circles Tuesday.

The prosecution has announced that
