Ball 'Trust' Inquiry Resolution Not Dead

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Representative Gallagher, of Illinois, denied today that his resolution on the investigation of the so-called baseball trust was dead.

There have been reports, Gallagher admitted, that the House Rules Committee, to which his resolution has been referred, was hostile. He declared, however, that he would not be deterred by such reports. He declared that he would press for a public hearing.

He said that he would press for a public hearing. He said that he would press for a public hearing.
