FRANK IN THE GUILTY MAN SAYS FRANK; CONLEY ACTS PART IN KILLING

"I don't know who is guilty, but I do know that the man who murdered Mary Phagan ought to be hanged."

Leo M. Frank made this statement to Sheriff C. W. Mangum, when he made his tour of the prison Friday. Mangum said this was the only statement or reference to the crime Frank had made since he had been in the Tower. He said Frank looked him squarely in the eye and talked like an innocent man.

Entire satisfaction with the present status of the Phagan case was expressed by Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford this afternoon.

"I am thoroughly content with the results of our work," said Lanford. "It is now a question for the jury to decide as to whether Leo M. Frank or Jim committed the killing."

As a sensational climax to the confession of his part of the Mary Phagan tragedy, Jim Conley, negro sweeper, was taken to the National civil factory Friday afternoon, where he enacted by movement every detail of the events that took place in the building of mystery after the death of the little girl.

With the detectives noting every sentence that fell from the ready lips of the negro, Conley started from the exact point at the top of the stairs on the second floor where he says Leo Frank met him, and went through the grim drama with a realism that convinced all who listened and watched that he at last was telling the whole truth.

He reproduced the conversations that passed between him and Frank, he lay down full length at the rear of the metal room to show precisely how the body of the little girl lay when he first saw her as he was led to the rear of the building, as he says, by Leo Frank.
